Baxter Hall Open House Set Glee Songfest Held March 6; Ducats Scarce

Deadline Met; 225 Men Move Into Quarters

Bishop Bruce R. Baxter residence hall for men opened its portals to 225 students February 7 as the $750,000 brick structure was completed on schedule after 10 months construction. Open house for alumni and general public has been scheduled for March 21-22 with the alum emphasis on the Saturday afternoon activities.

The memorial blends beautifully with the other buildings on campus and is located on the Northwest corner—just behind the College of Law.

Four fraternity groups—Beta Theta Pi (Kappa Gamma Rho), Phi Delta Theta (Alpha Psi Delta), Sigma Chi (Sigma Tau), and Phi Alpha, a newly organized local which plans to petition Sigma Alpha Epsilon—are housed in the four appendages of the letter H with the Independent men residing in the larger center section.

A central kitchen, under the able recipes of Burton "Pop" Cray, shoots food to the five separate dining rooms. Lorena Jack is head of the University residences and her staff is responsible for the facilities and upkeep. Room and board is billed at $205 per semester.

Five house mothers reside in each section. The Independents have Mrs. Gayle Morris, the Beta Theta Pi, Mrs. Blanche Proctor; Phi Delta Theta, Mrs. Zella James; Sigma Chi, Mrs. Rachel McWilliams; Phi Alpha, Mrs. Elizabeth Higbee.

Men are housed two-to-a-room in the fraternity wings and the independent section has single, double and triple rooms. Huge windows offer plenty of daylight and closets, drawers, study desks and elongated book shelves are of the built-in variety. Each section has its own game room, living room, guest room, and chapter room. A wide variety in the decoration schemes has been noted.

The building was designed by Pietra Belluschi and constructed by the Guy F. Atkinson company.

ALUMNI BALLOTING

Under provisions of the new constitution the nomination of alumni officers for the coming year must be completed by April 5th. Section 7 of Article IV from the constitution is presented on page 6 and gives the details of procedure.

Second Semester Sees 1158 Enroll

Second semester enrollment figures released last week by Registrar Harold B. Jory revealed 1158 students are enrolled including 53 special pupils. The figure includes the College of Law matriculation and that of the College of Music.

Of the total enrollment, 540 are veterans. The Law school instructs 98 currently and music 76.

Stassen Addresses Students On Willamette Campus

Harold E. Stassen, who is currently making a strong bid for the republican presidential nomination, launched a four day tour of Oregon—his second in a year's time—on the Willamette campus, Friday, February 20, when he addressed a student convocation in the gymnasium.

Stassen arrived by plane at McNary field and was escorted to the campus by political dignitaries. The former governor of Minnesota who served as a Naval officer during World War II and later as President Roosevelt's appointee to the United Nations had an 18-hour a day agenda ahead of him for the four days in Oregon.

His chief appearance was before the Oregon Editors and Publishers gathering in Eugene and receptions were slated in Eugene, Bend, Corvallis, Stayton, Scio, Lebanon, Sweet Home, Woodburn, Silverton, Albany and Brownsville.

Stassen's campaign director in Oregon is Robert A. Elliott of Portland. The energetic midwesterner is expected to return to Oregon again before the May primaries for a tour of eastern and central Oregon, concluding with an address in Portland to attempt to line up Oregon's 12 GOP delegates to the national convention.

It's Freshman Glee time again round the Willamette campus and the annual songfest promises to be no less colorful than the eventful previous ones.

The date is Saturday, March 6. Dick Endsley, Hood River, heads the affair this year and the theme is again "Serenade." With the swollen university enrollment, the Glee committee is swamped with requests and probably the fewest number of alumni tickets in history will be available. Ducats are being handled by a student committee and only paid up alumni will receive any consideration at all for the special one-ticket ration.

SEATTLE VISIT

President G. Herbert Smith was a guest of Seattle Alumni on a recent visit to that area. The meeting was held in the home of Jay D. Coulter.

Message from Alum Head

Dear fellow alumni:

Things have really been moving fast around the campus—the biggest event being the completion of the new dormitory. I had occasion to visit it today for lunch—good food and wonderful accommodations. If I hadn't gone to Willamette off and on for ten years already I would go back to school again and live at the dorm.

Election of officers is not far off. I am hoping to hand the gavel over to someone who will have the time as well as the desire to really build up the alumni organization. In competition with my practice, the church and Harold Stassen's campaign for my time our organization has received the short end, which I regret.

Remember, nothing is more refreshing and pleasant than the visits back to the campus among the old friends and classmates. Plan now to attend the dedication of the new dormitory (watch for the date in March) and Alumni Day at the end of the school year.

With best wishes to you all,
Steve Anderson, President,
Willamette Alumni Association.

Steve Anderson, '37, popular president of the Willamette alumni association, and a community church and political leader of note, received another honor last month when he was chosen the Junior First citizen of Salem, a recognition bestowed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and presented by Frank Bennett, '21, now superintendent of public schools in Salem.

Alums are asked to visit Saturday afternoon, March 20 if at all possible. Formal invitations will not be sent to all alumni.

The President's Report...

The college year 1947-48 goes down in Willamette's long history as the year of the greatest development in our plant. On February 7, 1948, 224 men students moved into the new facilities of Baxter Hall and the four fraternity units. This building has been completed at a cost of more than $750,000 including furnishings. It is interesting to note that the new building equals the price which the Board of Trustees set on the entire campus several years ago when the State of Oregon was considering the purchase of the Willamette campus as a site for the erection of the new capitol.

The erection of the new building sets something of a record for construction in these days. On March 7, 1947, the bids from the construction companies were received by the Building Committee of the University. Actual decision to proceed with the building was not reached until the Board meeting on March 11. Exactly eleven months to the day that the bids were received, the new building was occupied. This record would have been impossible had it not been for the loyalty, interest and service of Mr. George H. Atkinson and the Guy F. Atkinson Company and their associates, who have done the work on the building. During the next five years $250,000 remains to be raised to complete the financial program on Baxter Hall.

The erection of our building to house men students has completely overshadowed the other building that has been going on.

During the summer of 1947 the University occupied the new Health Service building directly east of the gymnasium. This Health Service provides office and clinical facilities for the nurse and doctor and infirmary facilities for both men and women students. It is an excellent addition to the campus and serves a great need as was indicated during the recent epidemic of influenza.

In October, 1947, the University occupied the new music annex and art building. These buildings were moved by the federal government from Camp Adair and placed along the mill race in the southwest section of the campus. The music annex is used for instruction in instrumental music, band and orchestra. The art building houses the entire art department. These two buildings have relieved the pressure on the music hall and Eaton Hall.

The work on Bush Pasture athletic field was continued and the entire tract was seeded in the early fall so that the turf has been developing all winter. It will be maintained during the summer months and should be ready for use by fall, if our seating facilities can be furnished by then.

We are eager to have the alumni of the University visit the campus, either at the time of the dedication of the new building in March, or on Alumni Day, to see the developments of the campus.

G. HERBERT SMITH

Faculty Gets Pay Boost

A new and higher salary scale for the faculty of Willamette was approved by the board of trustees at its regular mid-year meeting held February 23 in Collins hall.

The schedule, graduated according to educational preparation and experience, is expected to provide an increase of something over $200 on the average. The board also authorized a special salary grant to faculty and staff for the current year in view of increases in living costs.

Willamette students will face no increase in tuition next year, but will have to pay approximately 10 per cent more for board and room. President G. Herbert Smith stated that with the new rates the university charges for tuition and for room and board would rank among the lowest for institutions of comparable rank.

Members of the present faculty were all re-elected with the exception of two under temporary appointment. Ralph Dobbs and Josef Schnelker were raised in rank from assistant professor to associate professor of music.

To protect the turf now flourishing on the new athletic field at Bush's Pasture park, the board authorized the construction of a permanent wire fence about the tract. It is anticipated that work on a section of the grandstand and field house may start next summer.

Charles K. Mills, student body vice-president, was married to Frances Purdue Tycer Saturday night, February 14, at the First Presbyterian church by Dr. Chester W. Hamblin.

Dr. Herbert Rahe, who has seen many a good Willamette forensic team trip home with Sweepstake honors, has another capable crew of talkers in his 1948 lineup and among them is Bob Sayre, Beaverton, who doubles as forensic manager. The team sopped Western State honors at Whitman, ventured to Salt Lake City where they again came home with top honors and then gained the grand award at College of Puget Sound a fortnight ago. Left to right, Jerry Igo, Elliott Motchenbacher, Charles Mills, Bob Sayre, Tom Bartlett, Jack Gunn. Seated is Dr. Rahe.

Triad Takes in Local Alumni

Glee Songs For 48

FRESHMAN SONG—

Words—Jean Rickli and Margaret Powell.

Music—Martha Benard.

WILLAMETTE GIRL

At night the millstream gently flowing,
The crescent moon is bright above
We sing to you of our devotion,
Listen to our song of love.

The branches stirring as the winds blow,
Their murmurs whispering from above,
And all the scene is etched in moon-glow,
The setting for our song of love.

And all the scene is etched in moon-glow,
The setting for our scene of live Willamette girl, will you remember

Our serenade in all your dreams?
To us you'll always be the emblem

Of the girl who reigns supreme.

Willamette girl, you'll live forever

A queen, that we will always praise,

Your memory we'll ever cherish,
The sweetheart of our college days

Your memory we'll ever cherish,
The sweetheart of our college days.

SOPHOMORE SONG—

Words—Patricia Parsons.
Music—Gloria Stone.

SERENADE OF WILLAMETTE

Verse:

We love our college memories,
And they remain forever.

So to our Alma Mater
We sing these praises:

Chorus:

Serenade, our serenade to you,
To your loveliness, our dear Willamette

Serenade, we sing our song to you
In our happy thoughts of you remain

The dreams you've made come true.

Your romance lingers;
Your beauty haunts me.
In all my fondest hopes
I know you will be there.

Serenade, our serenade to you.
Now we sing of memories of you
Willamette, of you.

JUNIOR SONG—

Words—Jim Purdy and Edith Fairham.

Music—Edith Fairham and Aldene Gould.

MOONLIGHT REVERIE

The moon is rising over Waller,
And my thoughts tonight are all of you.

I came to Willamette and found you,

The one of all my dreams.

Since I have met you life all look new,
The clouds have lifted it seems.

Come walk beside the millstream,
Reflecting the bright starlight,
And dream with me a beautiful dream

That is waiting for us tonight.

This serenade to you I bring,
My heart I give you, too.
To memories we've known I'll always cling,
My Sweetheart of Willamette U.

The moon is rising over Waller,
And my thoughts tonight are all of you.

SENIOR SONG—

Words—Kay Karnopp.

Music—Robert H. Johnson.

SERENADE OF DREAMS

Oh, darling please don't sigh.
What I said was all so wrong,
Willamette without you
Is life without a song.
Come smile and dry your eyes,
For the night has just begun.
My heart like Eaton's tower
Takes fire with setting sun.

Let's stroll by Collins
And down to the 'Cat,
Sip soda with straws for two.
Then sit in the dark
And count the stars
And kiss like we used to do.

Then as the magic night
Binds our lives so close, it seems
A spell is cast, we'll sing
Our serenade of dreams.

The haze bewitched moon will build, dear,
A pathway of gold above.
And you'll know as old Waller melts into
The sky,
Willamette was meant for love.

Bureau Expanding

Willamette's placement bureau is expanding and one of its particular phases is the liaison work between various school administrations and the graduating seniors who aspire to be teachers. You can be of aid to the placement director by informing him of any known positions.

CANDIDATES PAIRED

Ten candidates for the Varsity Queen honor were selected from a field of 31 last week by the "W" club.

They include Loraine Allen, Seattle; Edith Anderson, Beaverton; Alene Axelson, Salem; Barbara Bates, Salem; Martha Durette, Gervais; Kathleen Kinder, Portland; Jean Mills, Salem; Nancy Phillips, Albany; Pat Ryan, Vancouver; Mary Scott, Bend.

Lewis Moulds Mighty Potent Casaba Crew

The man of the hour around Willamette athletic circles these days is a man named John and his three "sons"—Bob Johnson, Jim Johnson and Ted Johnson.

Hot Stove fans around Willamette sat back with contentment as Jerry Lille and his footballers waltzed to the Northwest conference championship undefeated and the old-timers stood convinced the younger generation would uphold the "Spec" Keene tradition.

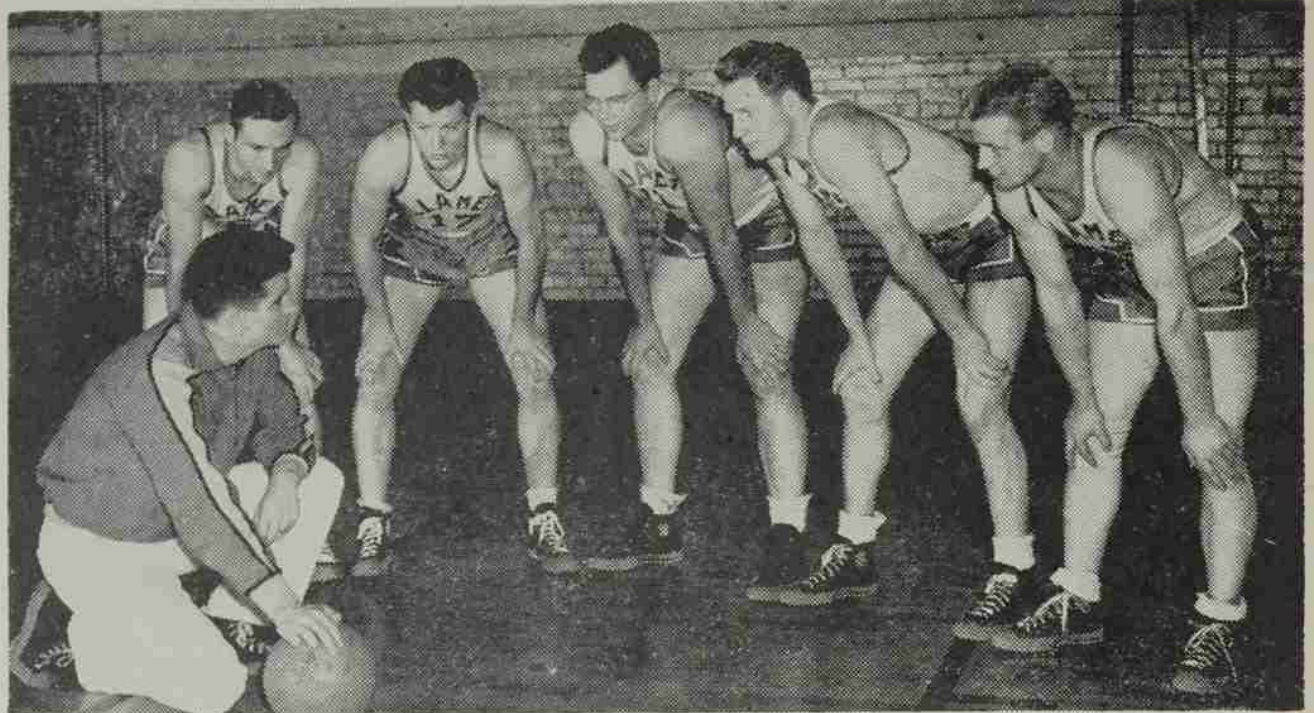

Now comes this man Lewis. He has moulded a title contender after the Methodists finished a poor fourth last year. At press time the 'Cats are in second-spot with an 8-won, 2-lost record right behind College of Puget Sound, which boasts a 6-won, 1-lost mark. And what's more, Willamette is definitely on the map of the nation basketballically speaking, whatwith Bob Johnson second highest in individual scoring in the entire Northwest and considering the Bearcats knocked off University of Oregon and dropped one only by an eyelash to OSC.

Furthermore, the three Johnsons have another year of eligibility which predicts an even brighter future for '48. Immediately, the alums have reflected to the 1929 and 1939 teams which boasted torrid records. Remember the days of Harold Hauk, now Salem high three sport mentor, Gurnee Flesher, currently dean of men at the same institution, Ed Cardinal, now in the milk distributing business in San Francisco area, George Seales, a cannery man in Salem, and Dwight Adams, director of Stanford Village at Stanford university?

A decade later came that 1939 championship outfit which placed four of five men on the first string all-Northwest conference team—Otto Skopil, Salem attorney, Bill Anton, operating a restaurant in Denver, Howard Eberly, killed during the war, Bob White, a California professional baseball pitcher, and the fifth member of Howard Maple's club that year, Cece Quesseth, who was paradoxically chosen the team's most valuable player, is now a member of the Oregon bar, and residing in Salem.

Return of many pre-war traditions has seen beards cropping up all over the campus.

SPORTS

Johnny Lewis (kneeling) explains a play to his potent Willamette basketball brigade which winds up its Northwest conference season play March 2 at Lewis and Clark. The Bearcats at Press time have a firm hold on second place in the NW pennant race after having been in-and-out of first place playing hide-and-seek with College of Puget Sound. From left to right, Bob Johnson, high scoring forward; Bruce Barker, letter winner in 1946 and reserve this year; Jim Johnson, agile center; Bob Baum, one of two holdovers from the 1947 club, and Ted Johnson, no relation to the other two of the same name but a hard driver and set-up man.

Tavern vs. Cavern Barcats - Bearcats

Bob Notson, Willamette alum, member of the board of trustees and managing editor of The Oregonian, was chided recently by his sports staff when they laid a clipping on his desk in which the following typographical error appeared in the heading:

Barcats Lead
All Way. Trip
Badger Five

Bush Ball Field Next on Slate

With the University's main construction job—Baxter hall—pretty well out of the way, thoughts now turn to Bush's pasture where the new athletic field will be erected shortly.

The turf has already been planted and there is a slight possibility next year's football season may be run off on that grid-iron. For this season's baseball, however, the diamond-'Cats will have to utilize Waters Park, home of the Salem Senators, (certainly no hardship), but where they will practice remains a problem.

Sparks S'Book Wide Acclaim

After 20 years of publication, "Les" Sparks finally hit the nation's sports sheets with his basketball scorebook. The genial education prof woke up one morning last month to find his scorebook described in the United Press wire service and then several radio sports shows took up the data.

As a result—after two decades on the market—Sparks was besieged by requests from all over the country. His meager price had remained at pre-war price, too, and Sparks vows he merely mailed them out for the fun of it. But things have gone commercial: Frank Bashor's sporting goods outfit took over the production and there's already more orders than available books.

JOHNSON OUT

Bob Johnson, who at one time was second-high in individual scoring in the entire Northwest, coast conference included, sustained a chipped ankle bone in the Portland University game, shortly before the end of the basketball season.

The scoring ace was badly missed in the succeeding games.

'W' Club Men Slate Dance

Invitations will soon be in the mail to former members of the Willamette "W" club who live in the immediate vicinity and who would be able to attend the Varsity Ball Friday night, March 19.

The dance last year was acclaimed the "year's best" so far as decorations were concerned. Contestants for the honor of Varsity Queen include the entire freshman class and elimination continues until five girls vie the final night for the Queen's crown. Downtown merchants—press time list includes Holly Jackson jewelers, Howard Maple sporting goods, Gardner Knapp printing and Bishop-Moderne studio—will donate various gifts to the winning candidates. Glenn Woodry's orchestra has been billed to play and Radio Station KOCO will broadcast 30 minutes of coronation activities and dancing.

Earl Hampton is president of the Lettermen's club this year.

WU Graduates In Coach Jobs

The Willamette valley is rapidly filling its coaching ranks with former Willamette university athletes. A run down the list of schools in this vicinity shows:

"Jiggs" Burnett at Woodburn, Bobby Daggett at Dallas, Jerry Gastineau at Silverton, Verdell Ragsdale at Mt. Angel, Bob Perry at Sacret Heart, Ollie Williams at Aumsville, Harold Hawk at Salem high, and further away Doug Olds at St. Helens, Bunny Bennett at Franklin in Portland, Ben Schaad at Salem Academy, Bill Hanauska at West Salem, and on and on.

Gridcats Get Shirts From Bishop's

Twenty-seven lettermen of Willamettes' Northwest Conference football champions were presented with emblemed sport shirts at the half of the Willamette-C.P.S. basketball game, Friday night.

The maroon Pendleton shirts were donated by Bishop's clothing store and distributed by Dick Cooley, their advertising manager.

Bishop's also sponsored the broadcasts of the Willamette football games throughout last season.

BEARCAT CLUB IN PORTLAND

Members of the Portland Alumni have organized a luncheon group which is called the Portland Bearcat Club. They met before the football game with Portland to honor Jerry Lillie and more recently a luncheon was held at which John Lewis was their guest.

Organization of the new club was largely due to the efforts of Ed Averill, Fred Arpke and Robert Notson.

The Coach's Letter

Dear Alumni:

I am happy to have this opportunity to give a brief resume of the athletic picture at Willamette. Both Coach Johnny Lewis and myself are enthusiastic about the University's future in intercollegiate athletics. We believe with just a little help and cooperation of interested alumni that we can field teams of which you will be justly proud. The Bishop Baxter Men's Dormitory is certain to be a big asset in attracting prospective student athletes. When sufficient money is raised to complete the athletic facilities at Bush's Pasture it should prove a real magnet to any students interested in athletics.

Our football team enjoyed a good season in again winning the Northwest Conference championship. Since we lost but four boys from our squad, prospects are bright for the season of '48. This fall we have added the University of Idaho to our football schedule and there is an excellent chance that we will play the University of Hawaii in either 1948 or 1949.

In basketball our team has brought Willamette more favorable publicity than any basketball team in the past ten years. The boys have an excellent chance of winning the conference championship. The townspeople of Salem are showing great interest in Johnny Lewis' team since our outstanding victories over the University of Oregon, Portland University, San Joe State and University of British Columbia.

The outlook for spring sports does not appear very favorable. We have the athletes and the coaching available to field championship teams, but neither the baseball nor the track team have any idea yet where they are going to practice. When the new athletic field is completed, I am sure Willamette will prove to be a leader in the spring sports program as well.

The alumni could contribute a great deal to the success of Willamette's athletic teams. The newly organized Bearcat Alumni Club in Portland is definitely a step in the right direction, and their support is most encouraging. What can you as interested alumni do? The answer is quite simple.

First, you can inform Mr. Lewis or myself of outstanding athletes in your particular locality. You can talk to the boy or his parents and tell them how much Willamette has to offer. You might bring the boy to the campus for a visit, or bring him to one of our athletic contests. We would be most grateful if you would merely get the boy to write us a note so we could establish a personal contact.

Secondly, many outstanding student athletes are lost by us to other institutions because the boys do not have sufficient money to pay all of their tuition. If those of you who are financially able could send in a little money, we would be able to establish an athletic scholarship fund. This would enable us to assist some outstanding and deserving young men.

The third problem that faces us in the athletic department is the securing of employment for the boys with whom we work. The boys need part-time work here in Salem while attending the University. Christmas and Spring Vacation always brings many requests for employment. Several boys have already asked me to help them find a job for this summer, so if any alumni can give us leads for summer work they will be greatly appreciated.

Another important way you could be of service is by getting acquainted with us. We would like to have you write, drop in to the office for a visit or come to some of our games. We welcome your suggestions for improvement in our athletic program, your sure-fire touchdown play or the name of any athlete would be an asset to Willamette. In the seven months I have been at Willamette, only eight alumni have shown sufficient interest in the athletic department to write us a letter.

In conclusion, I would like to say that I am most happy to be associated with Willamette University. The administration has been most cooperative, and it has been a real pleasure to work with the high calibre of men we have here at Willamette.

Sincerely,
Jerry Lillie
Director of Athletics

Cage To Be Used

Coach Johnny Lewis announced last week that a batting cage will be constructed again this year for Bearcat biffers to gain an early season batting eye.

The cage will be a slot affair which will allow three chuckers throw to three batters all at one time with no danger of being hit to any of the six. It will be constructed on the west end of Sweetland field.

New Publication

During the week of February 16th, there will be mailed to all practicing attorneys in the State of Oregon, and Willamette graduates elsewhere, a copy of the first issue of "The Willamette Series of Legal Hand Books." The first issue of this publication is the beginning of a series of issues dealing with instructions to juries as commented upon by the Supreme Court of Oregon. The first issue deals with instructions given in the fields of Adverse Possession, Assault and Battery, Assignments, Attachment and Execution, Attorney and Client, Automobile Accidents. The next issue will deal with instructions with respect to automobile accidents, which start where the first issue stopped.

It is the purpose of the publication to give to attorneys much needed material of maximum utility. One of the issues to come out in the near future will deal with appellate procedure and will include a check list for the preparation of records for appeal.

The faculty editor for the series is Prof. Kenneth H. York, and the students' board of editors includes Richard Wicks, editor-in-chief; Frank Pozzi, Donald Alderton, Russell Helterline, Clarence Wicks, Bruce Williams, and Arthur Wilson.

Legal Aid Clinic

The Legal Aid Clinic, which was started on October 15, 1947, has been busier than had been expected. The Clinic is sponsored by the Marion County Bar Association. Its offices are in the College of Law Bldg. It is supervised by Prof. Quentin Johnstone, and interviewing is done by third year students. Any person who can not afford legal assistance may apply to the Clinic for legal aid. The students do the interviewing, do the necessary research and prepare legal documents which are needed in that particular case. Legal Fraternities

Delta Theta Phi, honorary legal fraternity, has been having a dinner meeting each month, attended by active and alumni members. The speakers at these meetings have been prominent men in the legal profession in the State of Oregon, who have addressed the group on problems of interest to law students. A dinner meeting is to be held on Wednesday, February 18, at the Golden Arrow Restaurant. At this meeting Justice James T. Brand, justice of the supreme court of Oregon, will speak on his experiences as a justice in the war crimes trials at Nuremberg, Germany. Justice Brand recently returned after spending eight months on a high court of international justice. He will be introduced by Justice Hall Lusk, also of the supreme court of the State of Oregon.

Earlier in the year the fraternity handled the chapel program for the University, at which members of the fraternity explained the problems of the study of law which would be of interest to pre-law students.

There was an initiation of new members in December, 1947, at which there were present a great many alumni members, and also Robert W. Gilley, who is the marshal of the supreme senate, and a practicing attorney in Portland. Those initiated were: Clifford Olsen, Brice Smith, Alex Parks, Allen Lunt, Bob Ratcliffe, Sam Malli-coat, Martin Barstad, Donald McEwen, Clarence Wicks, Richard Allen, John Horton, John Stortz, Stephen Fouchek, Peter Faminow, and Victor Bovellev.

The McNary Inn of the national honorary legal fraternity Phi Delta Phi was installed at Willamette university on December 1, 1947. Prof. Prosser is on the Harvard Law School staff. Also present and assisting with the installation was district governor of the fraternity, Prof. Melton Green of the University of Washington Law School. The McNary Inn was formerly the Jason Lee Law Club. The installation of new members was held at the American Legion hall, followed by a banquet at the Golden Pheasant restaurant. At the banquet Prof. Prosser spoke on the history of the fraternity, its aims and objectives.

At a banquet early in January, 1948, Dean Ellis, counsel for the State Tax Commission, spoke on taxation as a field for specialization in the law. Members of the fraternity held review sessions for the first year law students in each course in which they had to take examinations at the end of the first semester 1947-48.

During the month of January a reception for the first year students was held at the American Legion hall. There was also a party at the Salem Country Club on February 13, to which first year men were invited.

Music Notes . . .

By Dean Melvin Geist

With a record enrollment of 76 music majors as well as a number of liberal arts students studying applied music, the College of Music has this year been in a position to expand greatly its program of music making.

Not only have the traditional bi-weekly Friday student recitals been presented but also a series of radio broadcasts each Wednesday night over station KOCO. These programs have featured on alternate weeks students, faculty, and other musical organizations on the campus.

Due to a substantial increase in personnel, the Symphony Orchestra was able to present in the fall a richer variety of music that has heretofore been possible. Featured on the program was Ralph Dobbs playing the Emperor Concerto by Beethoven. Later in the year Professor Dobbs performed with the Whitman College orchestra at Walla Walla. In exchange for this concert Leo Trebitsch of Whitman College will play with the Willamette orchestra in its spring concert. As a part of a newly projected spring music festival, the orchestra will also present a program of the music of Mozart, featuring Katherine Schissler, Senior pianist, Michael Carolan, Senior vocalist and Robert Gwinn, baritone. It is planned in the course of the spring festival to include solo recitals and chamber music ensembles in programs of both general and historic interest. Among those Seniors, members of the largest graduating class in the history of the College of Music, who will present graduating recitals are: Michael Carolan, Joan Johnston, Katherine Schissler, Geraldine Schmoker, Reid Shelton and Helen Wynn.

An unusual distinction for a Sophomore came to Betty Kuhlman, violin major, when she was chosen by the national president of the music sorority, Mu Phi Epsilon, as a music delegate to that organization's national convention in Cleveland this summer, at which time she will perform on special programs.

Sport fans will be pleased to learn that the University band will appear next fall in new uniforms, adding a much needed touch of glamor to the University athletic events.

The University choir will deviate from its usual tour itinerary and travel this year to eastern Oregon and Idaho. Alumni and friends in that section should anticipate the choral programs during the week following Easter Sunday.

Alumni Office Plans Work For Semester

Parents of students now enrolled in Willamette will receive for the first time an issue of the Alumnus. The many departmental reports in this issue reviewing the past semester's activities warranted the additional mailings. This will be the only issue sent to parents, according to Charles Barclay, Alumni secretary.

Barclay also announced today that Eileen Scott has taken over the position vacated by Georgia Roberts, who recently resigned to go to California. Miss Scott will be assistant publicity director and will assist Barclay in his alumni work.

A trip through Oregon and Washington is being planned by Barclay during early April and late March for the purpose of revitalizing Willamette alumni groups. Barclay and Travis Cross recently attended a Stanford alumni conference at the Benson hotel in Portland. Cross attended Stanford while he was in the Navy. Discussion at the conference centered around United States foreign policy and world affairs.

Religious Week Set for April

The University campus is going all-out in preparations for a three day religious observance, April 13-15, when "Religious Emphasis" week is launched. Dr. Raymond Whitney, counselor of religious activities, is directing the endeavor with the cooperation of living groups which will sponsor firesides; the music department with a capella choir and recitals; the drama department with a production of the "Little Minister;" and other organizations which will sponsor coffee hour discussions and talks by guest speakers.

FACULTY ADDITIONS

Three second semester additions to the faculty include Francis Kells and Carl Hall in the department of art and Marion E. "Gus" Moore in the sociology department.

Moore is teaching a course titled, "Fields of Social Work", in addition to handling his full-time position as associate secretary of the Salem YMCA. Ted Ogdahl is assisting Dr. Robert Gatke by taking one of his sections in Problems of Government.

Speech and Drama News

By Dr. Herbert E. Rahe

The Speech and Drama Department was off to a good start with the successful production of "State of the Union." This was directed by our new professor in the department, Mr. Lloyd S. Jones. Mr. Jones comes to us from the Friends University in Wichita Kansas. For the first time in the history of Willamette University, a play was produced for more than one night. The play "State of the Union," presented in the chapel, was given three nights affording an opportunity for the actors to sustain a characterization.

The second major production given was "Bergeley Square," colorfully staged with authentic Eighteenth century set and costumes. This play was produced in the Salem high school auditorium two nights with a favorable reception. The third major production will be a musical, to be presented in conjunction with the Music school on May Week-End. The Drama budget included the purchase of some new lighting equipment and scenery, and we are looking forward to the day when we may use this equipment in a new campus auditorium.

The Willamette University Workshop, under the student direction of Joe Power, has also produced two radio shows each week. We have concluded a thirteen week series of "In This Our Age," a fifteen minute broadcast, presenting campus news and student opinion, and another thirteen weeks series of "Here Is the Music," presenting on alternate weeks faculty members and students from the school of music. We are now working on a half hour dramatic program, produced once a month entitled "And These Are the Words," featuring original adaptation by students of the university workshop.

Willamette's forensic squad made an impressive start in the fall of 1947 with the addition of several outstanding forensic students who had made fine records in high schools. The September issue of The Debater's Magazine made the prediction that "the two strongest squads in the state of Oregon will be found at Oregon State College and Willamette University." Subsequent events have amply justified this statement especially as it related to Willamette.

On December 5 and 6 the forensic squad took top honors among nineteen colleges from Montana, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon at the tournament held at Whitman College. Robert Sayre and Charles Mills won all their debates and thus won the senior men's debate. Jerry Igo and Elliott Motschenbacher took straight wins in the Junior varsity division. Besides this, three other firsts were taken in individual events.

During Christmas vacation, Sayre and Mills continued with straight wins in debate and with a first in oratory for Sayre at the Western Speech Association tournament held at Salt Lake City, thereby making the best record among schools from the Northwest.

Last week-end was another high point in forensic contests when the squad took sweepstakes honors at the College of Puget Sound tournament for novice competition. Here Willamette took five first places and thus made the total of 12 first places so far. Sayre distinguished himself by making the finals in all five events entered and by winning four firsts. Another invitation to the West Point national tournament seems assured and will be determined by the Linfield tournament this month.

If we make the West Point trip, we shall be glad to meet with alumni in New York City if it can be arranged. Oregon alumni members can help to promote our 14th annual high school speech tournament to be held here on March 12 and 13.

We cannot refrain from again thanking Morley and Thomas of Lebanon for giving us $50 last year to help on our eastern trip. The year preceeding was helped materially by the gift of $50 from another alumnus.

Educations Profs Plan Trip

Dr. George Martin, Dr. Russel Morris and Lestle Sparks of the education department will leave Thursday for a two-day trip to visit high schools in the Northwest and coastal regions of the state.

The purpose of the trip, which is the first of three planned, explained Martin, is to find out from students recently trained as teachers at Willamette what they have to suggest for ways of improving our training program.

"We also will meet with school officials who are in a position to recommend employment for other students receiving their training here," Martin said.

"This is the first time that there has been an extensive trip into the state for this purpose," Martin added. The other two trips are scheduled for March 24, at which time the schools between Salem and Portland will be visited, and April 15 and 16, which will cover the high schools in the southern and southwestern part of the state.
