Veteran Prof Of Language Dep't. Passes

Death Comes As Surprise
To Many Friends and Acquaintances

Associated With Faculty
As Language Prof.
Since 1907

Willamette University students and faculty mourn the loss of Professor William Elwood Kirk, 69-year-old educator, who died Saturday morning from complications following an attack of influenza.

His death came as a surprise to the campus as only the week before his death he was conducting classes in the university. Thursday night serious complications set in and he lapsed into a coma from which he never emerged.

Since 1907

Professor Kirk will be greatly missed by his faculty and student friends. All held him in the highest esteem and respect. He did not confine his friendships to just his classes but for all students he always had a cheery "good morning." Professor Kirk took an active interest in the Classical club.

Professor Kirk was a noted ancient language professor and had been identified with the university faculty since 1907. He served as professor of English literature and language for four years, then accepted the position as head of the ancient language department, holding it since that time.

Graduate Work

He was born in Cecil county, Maryland, in 1868, and was married to Iva Howard in 1900. From the University of Nebraska he received his bachelor and master's degrees. He also did graduate work at Columbia university and the University of Chicago.

Previous to his coming to Willamette Professor Kirk had served as principal of the Edgar, Neb., high school; as professor of Latin and Greek at Nebraska Wesleyan college; and as president of the Wesleyan academy.

He leaves to mourn him a host of friends, his widow, and three sisters — Miss Viola Kirk, San Diego; Mrs. D. W. Lynne, Delaware; and Mrs. Joseph Gifford, Maryland.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon with the Rigdon mortuary in charge.

Dr. Chambers' Talk Advanced a Week

Dr. O. R. Chambers, of Oregon State College will speak at the meeting of the University Vespers to be held March 7, instead of the March 14 meeting as was previously announced.

The meeting time for the March 7 meeting has been changed from 6:30 to 8:00 in order to give the speaker ample time for his address.

Dr. Chambers is well known for his talks to campus people and the student interest they always insure. A notable feature of his addresses is to be found in the fishing stories and similar anecdotes which he invariably introduces.

The University Vesper group is making a strenuous effort to gather a sizeable attendance for the March 7 meeting. Such a thoroughly worthwhile speaker as Dr. Chambers should not be missed, is the feeling of the group. Willamette students and their friends are urged to take advantage of this opportunity.

C.P.S. To Be Host Junior Forensics

Freshman and sophomores of the Willamette debating squad will motor to Tacoma for the Junior college tournament at the College of Puget Sound March 12 and 13.

This tournament is an annual affair sponsored by the College of Puget Sound speech department.

Clemes Chosen In Oratory Tryouts

Old Line Contest To Be Held On Willamette
Campus This Year

In the tryouts for the state "Old Line" Oratorical contest February 26, Bill Clemes was chosen to be Willamette's representative this year.

Willamette is host this year for the contest, the date for which is March 10. The winners of the contest receive the following awards: fifteen dollars for first place, seven and one half dollars for second place, and honorable mention for third.

George McCleod was winner for the men's division in 1935, and Constance Smart was winner for the women's division in 1936.

Last year's contest was won in the men's division by an Oregon State man.

Editorial Staff Year Book Given

Editor of the Wallulah, Guy Helms, announces that his staff is now complete. The many activities of the school year have prevented the list from being completed until this time.

Editor Guy Helms
Associate Editor Helene Truelsen
Associate Editor Basil Anton
Photographer Max Hauser
Photographer Charles Perry
Classes Betty Lane
Activities Esther Vehrs
Organizations Arlene Fairclough
Athletics Paul Sturges, Dan Moses, Rosemary Huffman.
Mounting, Phyllis Pythian, Marian Steigerwald.
Law Marian Minthorn

Many of the engravings have arrived back from the Portland Engraving firm and Editor Helms reports that work is progressing nicely.

Artists Work On Posters For Play

Members of "Paint Spots" are busily engaged in work on scenery and posters for "Twelfth Night." The plans of the organization call for a large number of giant-sized posters to be spread around the town at different points of vantage and handbills to be distributed to the crowd leaving Freshman Glee Saturday night.

Miss Fowler, advisor for "Paint Spots," and head of the art department, has full charge of the "Twelfth Night" scenery work and reports that good progress has been made.

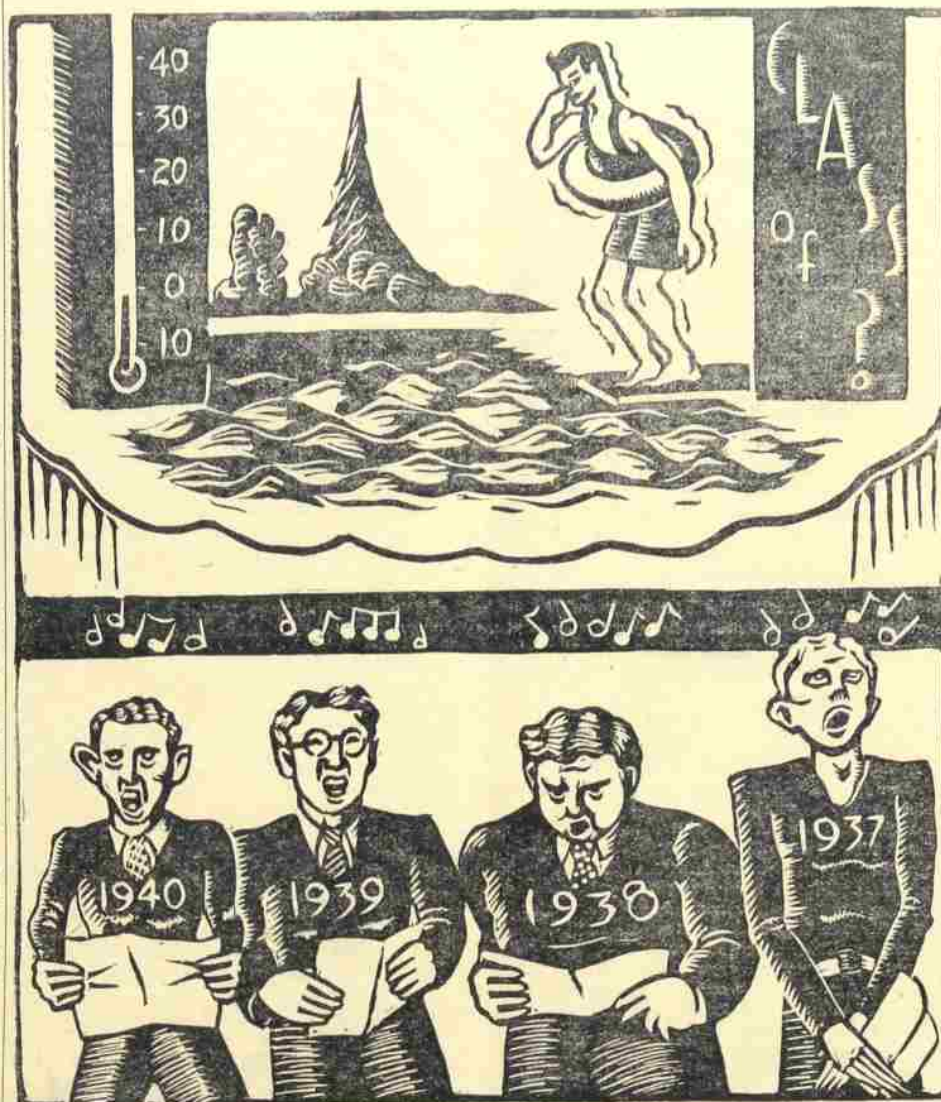

"Twelfth Night" Character Sir Toby Belch Rests Heavily Upon Slender Form of Youthful Actor

Between bars of the "St. James' Infirmary Blues" Lloyd Riehl, manager of the Wallulah spends most of his spare time trying to make a Sir Toby Belch ("Twelfth Night") costume fit—a costume which needs about ten pounds of cotton to make his stomach big enough to fit the part.

Lloyd tells us that if he had come to college ten years later, the expenses of the play could have been cut in half because he intends to have a stomach at the age of forty that would do justice to Sir Toby Belch—or to any other Sir, for that matter.

If interest means anything, Lloyd Riehl should capture all honors for the best performance of the play. He goes out after a Wallulah advertisement or two, then returns, dons his Sir Toby outfit and proceeds to jump

No-Decision Tilt With Idaho Held By Debate Teams

A two man debate team from the University of Idaho defended the affirmative on the minimum wage and maximum hour question in a no decision debate with Willamette's Charles Gleiser and Aldus Smith Tuesday afternoon, March 2, in the Little Theatre.

This was the last of a series of around-the-country debates for the Idaho team.

The debaters, Orland and Lee, left their home school February 17 and have been traveling about the country debating other schools up to now.

They left for home soon after the debate.

A three girl debate team from University of Washington gave an exhibition of debating in the form of a symposium on the question of "Consumer Cooperatives" before a group of speech and debate students Wednesday evening, February 24, in the Little Theatre.

The symposium is a no-decision discussion, the points on both sides of the question being advanced by two of the speakers, leaving the third to cross question and draw the conclusions.

Law School Grad Speaks at Chapel

State Senator Expresses
Hope That Students
Watch Law Body

Robert Duncan, law school graduate of '09, now state senator for Malheur, Carney, and Grant counties, gave an informative talk on the workings of the state legislature in a chapel program Tuesday, March 2.

Speaking in general terms, he said: "It is not always possible to bring to office the best qualified men." Senator Duncan emphasized education as a need for good legislation when he said: "Party government will be effective when we train for the office."

"Legislators appreciate lobbyists, and we use them for feeling out both sides of the question." In reference to the present prejudice towards lobbying, Senator Duncan said: "It is an exaggeration of fact and in general, incorrect."

Duncan hoped, in conclusion, that the students would watch the legislature and not be afraid to advance any view they may have relative to good legislation.

Ticket Campaign Begun This Week

Little Theater Guild held their regular bi-weekly meeting Monday, March 1, to discuss finances of the Little Theater dance held the previous Saturday evening and to discuss plans for pushing ticket sales for "Twelfth Night," which it is backing.

A drive was started for second semester dues which must be in by March 15 in order to have a page for Little Theater in the Wallulah. A report was made by Mrs. Oppen as to the progress on the costumes and scenery of "Twelfth Night." It was planned to distribute handbills announcing the play to townspeople as they leave the gymnasium after Freshman Glee.

Athletes Have High Grade List

Dean Schultze reports after looking over the probation list for the past semester, he finds that proportionately speaking, there are less athletes on the probation list than regular students.

Exact figures on the matter will be out at a later date, he reports.

Chapel Stage Lighting Gets Belated Change

The lighting of the Willamette chapel stage last week-end enjoyed a rejuvenation when a crew of men from the Bosler Electric Co. took over the task of changing the controls from their previous position beside the east door to the side of the platform.

This work was undertaken jointly by the management of "Twelfth Night" and the administration. A new light for the chapel pipe organ was also installed at that time.

The controls are now arranged so that either dimmer or bright light may be had by the operator on the platform.

Trustees Meeting To Be In March

At a meeting of the Willamette board of trustees to be held on March 6th the matter of a new library will receive consideration.

The city of Salem recently offered to move the old postoffice building onto the campus to be remodeled and set up for a Willamette library. At the March meeting the board will decide on this matter.

Heat of Student Ire Carries on From Budget Reapportionment To Glee, Putting Campus in Froth

Student body budget reapportionment activity, which has been spreading rapidly since the beginning of the new semester, has been either directly or indirectly responsible for a sizable tumult on the campus as Freshman Glee draws near.

It all started when heads of several campus organizations decided that next year their respective organizations would be the recipient of the financial assistance so richly deserved during past years.

Everybody decided that the only way to procure these long withheld funds was to go to work early—and politically. Members of each organization immediately became firmly convinced that, in previous years, they had been collectively robbed by high powered politics.

This year, was the vow, things will be different. That is the reason Louise Herschberger, chairman of the constitutional revision committee, is keeping very quiet now.

NYA Work Swells Purse of Students

Ninety-six Is Total of Number Who Receive Government Help

Ninety-six Willamette university students are employed through the national youth administration, better known as NYA, this semester, as shown by the records of Pearl Swanson, NYA administrator for Willamette university. Of the total, 53 are women and 43 men.

Willamette is allotted $930 monthly for NYA work. Individual assignments vary according to the need of the students. The assignments vary from 30 to 50 hours per month or $9 to $15 in wages.

Types of work done include typing, mimeographing, library work, tutoring under special conditions, remedial and corrective work, other various kinds of clerical work, and manual labor.

Students work in the Salem public library, state library, high school library, Red Cross office, Marion county health office, state school for blind, Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., Salem, public school offices, Chresto Cottage hostess, laboratory assistants, personnel records, NYA payroll, athletic equipment supervisors, manuscript typists, appointment office, music hall, and English projects.

New York Trip Prize For Essay

An all-expense trip to New York City, plus a total of $1,000 in cash prizes, is being offered students in a prize competition sponsored by Advertising Age, The National Newspaper of Advertising, Chicago, for essays on "How Advertising Benefits the Consumer."

The contest is open to all undergraduate students in colleges and universities, according to word received by the managing staff of the Collegian.

Essays are limited to 1,000 words, and must be mailed before midnight, May 1, 1937, to be eligible. The writer of the best essay will receive $250 in cash plus an all-expense trip to New York City. Second prize is $100, third is $50, and ten honorable mentions of $10 will also be awarded.

There is no entry and nothing to buy. A full list of rules may be found on the bulletin board of Eaton Hall.

New Students At Chresto Potluck

The third of a series of potluck dinners held at Chresto Cottage honored the new students of the campus. It was designed to acquaint the incoming students with Willamette songs, traditions, faculty, and student body.

Entertainment for the evening consisted of the singing of school songs and an explanation by Dr. Matthews of the traditions of the school.

Lillian Graham, first vice-president of the student body, who has charge of the series of dinners, reported that all present seemed to enjoy the evening and that more than enough food was had by all.

Mill Stream Calls Losers Of 29th Glee

Frenzied Practices and Early Hours Mark
Preparation

Ladd and Bush and KOIN
To Sponsor Radio
Broadcast

With only 56 hours left in which four classes can call out their members at unearthly hours of the night and early morning to plunge into a frenzy of song and formation practice, rivalry for the big event of the Willamette campus approaches rapidly the white heat of actual competition.

Since the completion of the platform early in the week, half-tearing song and formation leaders have been harassing their flocks with threats of the mill stream in an effort to smooth out the presentation for the twenty-ninth annual Freshman Glee.

Winning Streak Broken

With a four-year winning streak of the class of 1936 broken by graduation, with the class of 1937 twice losers, and with the class of 1939 having enjoyed the icy waters of the mill stream, the Glee this year promises with its novelty theme to surpass all past attempts.

The winning class will set a record as important as that of the class of 1936. Twenty-eight Glee classes have been presented and each class — Freshman, Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors — has won seven times. The twenty-ninth will tell the tale.

Bets Banned

Despite a ban placed on betting by a conservative faculty who did not enjoy the antics of past shoe shining acts, library shaving, and chapel alarm-clock announcements, many patriotic and confident students wager the hide off their backs in the enthusiasm of the occasion.

Freshman Glee Manager, Dayton Robertson, reports that everything will be in readiness Saturday evening for the time-honored announcement of Dr. James T. Matthews as he slowly calls out "Third place goes to—"

Songs Judged

Sealed and placed in the safe of Graduate Manager Sparks are the decisions on words, music, and adaptability to await the fateful evening's decision on formation.

Freshman Glee has grown from the original presentation, where the rules required that each class must have at least eight participants, to its present size, where last year's Freshman class had 100 members and this year's management limits the number of tickets to two. Glee began with a presentation in Waller, moved to the First M. E. church, thence to the Salem armory in 1917 and soon to the newly built gym where space now proves to be inadequate.

To Be Broadcast

Following precedent set in 1936, due to state and nation-wide interest, the Glee will again be broadcast over station KOIN by Art Kirkham through the courtesy of Ladd and Bush of Salem, and KOIN of Portland. The hours of the broadcast are from 9 to 10 p. m.

Freshman Glee is the only musical competition of its kind and size in the United States, and Freshman Glee is a disease peculiar to Willamette students, caused by the fact that unsympathetic professors interpose six-week exams between the feverish rounds of Glee practice.

Old-timers and grads, returning to the campus to witness the event tell strange tales of former Gleees, but the mill stream gurgles on its way waiting unconcernedly for the losers of the twenty-ninth annual Willamette Freshman Glee.

WHAT—NO DIRECTOR?

The senior class was without a formation leader when they met for early glee practice this morning at 4:30.

Warren Peters, head of the formation committee, failed to put in an appearance during breakfast. Finally two fellow seniors drove to his house and knocked loudly.

"Who wants me, what's going on here," said Peters as he stuck his sleep-tousled head through the door. All was explained in due time and Peters returned to the gym to take charge. A lapse of memory was the best excuse he could find.

MARRIAGES

Jack Bellinger, graduate student at Willamette last year, will be married to Miss Mary Louise Martin March 7, in Friendship chapel of Trinity Methodist church of Pomona, California. A reception at the home of the bride at Claremont, Calif., will follow, and on the following day they will leave for Los Angeles, from where they will sail for Japan, March 11. Mr. Bellinger has accepted a professorship in English at Ooyama Gaguin university, Tokyo, Japan.

Mr. Bellinger was engaged in newspaper work in Salem last year. He and Miss Martin were graduates of the same class in the University of Oregon.

were closed Monday for the funeral.

PERSONALS

Miss Eugenia Savage, '27, has returned to Salem and is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Savage. She is on a year's furlough following five years' service as one of the Columbia River Branch of Methodist missionaries. She was head of the music department of Hwa Nan College in Foochow, China. Enroute home she visited Miss Elizabeth Smith in Honolulu, and stopped in Yokohama.

Miss Savage spent the year before going to China, studying music at the University of Southern California.

Dr. Ralph M. Stolzheiser, '26, has accepted an appointment to the Psychiatric hospital staff in Hartford, Conn. He and his wife plan to drive east.

Following graduation from the University of Oregon Medical school, Dr. Stolzheiser interned at Medical Lake hospital in Washington, then went to St. Luke's hospital in Spokane. He has taken special work in the psychopathic hospitals of the state of Washington.

Miss Veva Garrett, '34, teacher of dramatics and public speaking and director of physical education for women, at Pacific college, Newberg, has tendered her resignation, which will take effect at the close of the current college year. She has been at the college since 1935.

Mrs. Joseph O'Neill (Helen Sellig, ex-'26), of Klamath Falls, is visiting in Salem at the home of her parents. Her husband is a graduate of Willamette law school and is practicing in the southern Oregon city. The O'Neills have two talented daughters, Joan and Marilyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Landis (Altha Miller, '27) and son Richard now live in Marshfield.

Word has been received by Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Uiter (Alma Pohle, '12) of Salem, that their son Robert has been placed on the faculty of the University of Southern California for two classes in Principles of Governmental Administration.

Robert, who was graduated from Willamette in '36, was the first of our graduates to receive a scholarship from U. of S. C. In June he will receive the degree of Master of Science in Public Administration. This June will also be the 25th reunion of his mother's class of 1912.

Dr. W. B. Morse, '91, prominent Salem physician and surgeon, showed his motion picture films of Death Valley and adjacent California points at the special program feature for the Salem Credit Women's Breakfast club's recent session. He also told of his visit through the famous castle of "Death Valley Scotty."

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Price (Robert Mills, '34) were recent Salem visitors at the home of Mrs. Price's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mills. The Prices live in Camas, Wash.

Thomas on the forensic squad! Such is the boast University of Denver may justly make. Proof that the institution is indeed proud of its colorful graduate is the following item from the Denver Clarion.

"Lowell Thomas, prominent news commentator, author, and donor of the Lowell Thomas speech trophy to the University of Denver, received his master's degree from here in 1916.

"This first experience with newspapers came when he sold them in a Western saloon at the age of 12. A reporter for a country paper was his first actual role of newspaperman.

"Within a few years he held the position of managing editor of three papers in Cripple Creek and before he was old enough to vote he was writing political editorials.

"While studying for his M. A. degree at the University of Denver, where he was prominent in forensics, Mr. Thomas continued his newspaper work as a reporter for Denver papers."

From the Eugene campus comes an optimistic bit of news concerning psychology.

"If your mother wanted you to grow up to be like Abraham Lincoln, don't feel too bad, she could have picked a harder task.

"Abraham Lincoln and George Washington only had IQ ratings of 125, according to a compilation

Murmurs of the Old Millstream

Everything plays second fiddle this week to the king of all Willamette activities—Old Man Freshman Glee. We hope the old boy doesn't reverse procedure and throw the judges into the mill stream. Unlikely as the possibility is, it's fun to think about.

We're willing to bet that there were few people on the campus last Monday who weren't very much surprised when none other than Dean F. M. Erickson temporarily took charge as Latin instructor.

Dean Schulze reports that the probation list is longer this semester than any semester he can remember. We're just a little bit relieved that grades came out before this rumor spread. At least we're pretty sure our name isn't among those present on Dean Schulze's list.

Campus comment in regard to Miss Flora Thurston's talk in chapel last Friday has been distinctly favorable. It seems that many of the more serious minded have no objection whatever for having a speaker on marriage relations scheduled in place of the regular student body meeting.

Everybody has developed a "more dough for our activity" bug. George McLeod, usually a peaceful specimen, seems to have turned against humanity. If he doesn't dodge out of corners into deep shadows people bound him about added percentage until he has no time to even look at a law book.

They tell us the senior formation represents Indian sign language for "three trails up a mountain." We haven't heard much about the others but one of them looks like "one hop into the drink" to us.—V. P.

read by Dr. L. F. Beck, psychology professor, to his class in adolescent psychology yesterday. Look where you would have been if mother had picked someone like John Stuart Mill and Francis Galton, who held the top of the list with intelligence quotients of 195 and 200."—Oregon Daily Emerald.

From the enchanting islands of the Pacific we hear news of University of Hawaii.

"Co-eds at the University of Hawaii have discovered they need only to step to a nearby bush to obtain a supply of lipstick. Any bush won't serve the purpose; it must be a Bixa orellana bush, the seed-pods of which contain magenta-tinted seeds of about the same consistency of drugstore lipstick."—Daily Californian.

Are you in favor of "Flunk Insurance?" Then notice this suggestion from the Oregon State Barometer.

"Down at the University of Oklahoma there has been installed a rule whereby all students who flunk a course must pay into the college coffers an amount corresponding to the number of term hours they have flunked.

Now there is an opportunity for some eager-eyed young student to help pay his college expenses.

There is in England an insurance house which goes by the name of Lloyd's. Lloyd's will insure you against anything from triplets to the "hoof-and-mouth" disease. It is not improbable that it will insure the uncertain student against flunks.

However, Lloyd's undoubtedly would spend much time in ponderance before issuing very good odds to most of us.

At Mt. Angel college and Seminary students publish a bi-weekly newspaper called Pacific Star which contains jingles like the following:

I eat my peas with honey.
I done it all my life.
—Makes the peas taste funny.
But it keeps them on my knife.
—Dolly Dimples.

Heat of Student Ire

suffered a partial change of objective.

Consequently Graduate Manager Leslie Sparks' hair is (or hairs are) turning gray and he has not been his same sweet self all week. The alumni and everyone else wants glee tickets. The students don't like everybody else getting tickets because they want more and better tickets for themselves. Furthermore, they're still incensed in no small degree about the budget.

So everybody is yelling bloody murder at everybody else—and at the graduate manager most of all. From all indications it won't be long until he has located the dog house in which Herschberger and McLeod have already taken up residence. They'll need a fourth for bridge—but maybe the dog will do.

Scholar, Gentleman, Teacher

Dropping into Room 1 in Eaton many times during our three years at Willamette, we often found chatting there two venerable gentlemen of the faculty—the one, Dr. Matthews, the other, Professor Kirk.

We never knew Professor Kirk as well as we perhaps might. We used to hurry to catch up with him to walk a block or two to school, but when we had caught up he would always tell us to hurry along, that his legs could not go as fast as in earlier days. Then he would humorously remark that only professors could be late for class.

Willamette mourns the passing of Professor Kirk. He belonged to that group of men who feel that a teacher's duty does not end with the classroom recitation, that perhaps a professor might help to enrich a student's life by guiding him to something worthwhile.

May the scholar, the gentleman, the teacher of the type of Professor Kirk never disappear from the faculty of Willamette University.—E. M.

Welcome—To a Friendship

Freshman glee prestige has grown steadily since the long ago day when the four classes vied against each other in song upon the stage of the old Waller Hall chapel.

Pre-lecture publicity has reached the heights of mention during national network news broadcasts in the past two seasons. Perhaps the crowning step has been the new broadcast feature of the glee itself, which was begun last year.

But through all these indications of recent fame there is still apparent, at glee time, the element of whole-hearted competition and universal festivity. This spirit invades, not only every corner of the campus, but serves to draw friends of Willamette from all over Oregon and neighboring states.

Always has this spirit been present at freshman glee. It has served as a sort of collegiate thanksgiving festival, the force of which never fails to effect all who are present.

To this festival of song and good spirit, then, we welcome those who come as newcomers or as guests. This event is the one in which tradition, custom and improvement—the old and the new—have combined, successfully.

Here is not merely an annual event. It is a campus history which becomes the more readable as one's knowledge of Willamette lore increases. The welcome, then, is more than a welcome to a celebration. It is a welcome to the opportunity of becoming really acquainted with Willamette.

Growth and Progress

If present indications are correct freshman glee is soon to step out with further progressive changes.

For one thing, the gym does not give adequate quarters for the staging of an event which evokes such wide interest as does freshman glee. Students want their friends and relatives there. Alumni wish to witness their alma mater's foremost event of the year.

The resulting crowd always fills the gym to capacity—and even then many would-be spectators are disappointed because they are not able to gain entrance. Now these people are able to find solace, to some degree, from the radio. Either a place of greater seating capacity must be found or a decision must be reached concerning who is eligible to see the glee.

Distribution of tickets, also, must suffer a change before long. Bill Burget, head of the freshman ticket committee for this year, proposed a new plan which was designed to give everyone equal chance at good seats without the endless waiting in line Friday morning at ticket windows. But graduate Manager Sparks said, "No," very flatly. And, as this is Willamette, that was that.

But we predict that drastic changes are in the offing. Meanwhile, no such minor difficulties as now exist will ever seriously mar the attraction of freshman glee.

Student Editorials

TO THE EDITOR:

2-24-37

In the Collegian of February 13, 1937, it was stated that Warren Peters, "not being among the invitees of either of the campus functions," had patronized a local theatre for the evening's recreation. We hope Mr. Peters enjoyed the evening, but we regret that he misunderstood the announcement of the "Hitch Hiker's Party."

For the benefit of Mr. Peters and others who may have waited for a personal invitation to the party, we would like to say that there was no invitation list.

It was called an "Independent Party" in the Collegian. This was true in that those on the committees were not members of fraternities or sororities. However, since most of those students, especially the girls, were busy with their dance, and since there is no

Independent's Men's organization, and since D. T. G. officers did not act in their official capacities, and since there were girls, including myself, who are not members of D. T. G. nor even the Y. W. C. A., it would really be hard to say that there was any one group backing the party.

It must be realized that there are now several hundred students on this campus who do not belong to the fraternity-sorority group, and there might have been a few of that group, who for some reason were not going to the dance. It was for all these that the Hitch Hiker's Party was given.

Please realize the Herculean task of sending invitations to so many—a list of seven hundred or more.

So those who missed the Hitch Hiker's Party because they did not receive an invitation should

COLLEGIATE QUOTES

By Gene Hill

Shall we eliminate "Hell Week"? Washington State has now added its name to the rowing list of schools that say "yes."

"Hell Week" and its related initiation practices were frowned on by over 80 per cent of student ballot casters in last week's campus opinion poll.

Asked, "Should Hell Week Be Abolished," 99 of the 120 ballots returned said "yes." Of these 99 per cent were fraternity men, 20 per cent were independents, and the rest gave no designation of affiliation.

Imagine having had Lowell

watch for the next affair, whether it be called "Independent" or not, and consider themselves invited.

Yours truly,
HELEN E. RIDLEY.

Editor's Note:

There are two types of feature stories—those of the factual nature and those of the more facetious and humorous nature. The article about Mr. Peter's M. C. escapade was of the latter type.

International Club Are Hosts For Masquerade

The International Club was host to the International Club of Oregon State at a costume party given at the Episcopal Parish House last Saturday evening. Dancing, the entertainment for the evening, was enjoyed from 8 to 11 o'clock. The recreation room was decorated with a Mardi Gras motif; brightly colored balloons and streamers were suspended from the ceiling and sketches of holiday scenes lined the walls. Music was furnished by a public address system. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Luther, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Schulte were special guests. During the evening punch and cookies were served by Julia Foglesong and Dorothy Cutler, while later in the evening prizes were awarded for the best costumes. John McNeese was awarded first prize, William McKinney second prize, and Martha Jane Hotel won a special prize for the funniest costume. Al Vosper and Ralph Woodall received honorable mention for their costumes.

Guests from Oregon State for the party were Mel Yaden, Mary Fujii, Harry Abe, Lillian Sato, Thomas Toyota, Mignon Wall, Miki Kageyama, Mits Takasumi, Howark Fujii, Sadegh Ahl, Mas Takasumi, and Thomas Ogura.

Hosts and hostesses to Oregon State included Margaret Taylor, Louis Herschberger, Helen Burdick, Martha Akuda, Chiyo Saito, Olive Clemes, Martha Jane Hotel, James Pyke, Harry Mosher, Ardele Yaden, Eugene Hibbard, Margaret Coan, Marie Bendiksen, James Cheatham, Julia Philip, William McKinney, Evelyn Welch, Brock Williams, Helen Ridley, Raymond Johnston, Jessica Kinsey, Grant Ridley, Barbara Jones, Al Vosper, Hannah Kaufman, Ted Ludden, Carolyn Woods, Ralph Woodall, Virginia Bendiksen, John Voss, Echo Johnson and John McNeese.

San Carlo Company To Play Soon in Portland

The high spot of the local musical year will take place March 17 to March 21, when Fortune Gallo will present the San Carlo Opera Company in its twenty-seventh annual tour, in Portland at the Paramount theater. The company includes Fortune Gallo, general director; Carlo Peroni, musical director; Angelo Cannato, assistant director; Luigi Raybaut, stage director; a well-known group of soloists; a brilliant chorus; a corps de ballet, and the San Carlo Opera Orchestra.

The repertoire includes a group of all-time operatic favorites. Beginning March 21, "Carmen" will be given, with an incidental ballet; Thursday, "Il Trovatore"; Friday, "Rigoletto" and the Venetian Ballet; Saturday matinee, "Madam Butterfly" with Hizi Koyke; Saturday evening, "Samson and Delilah" with Coe Glade; and Sunday "La Boheme."

The personnel of the soloists includes Bianca Saroya, Hizi Koyko, Lucille Meusel, Joseph Chekova and Anna Leskaya, sopranos; Estelle Lenci, Florence Wyde, Charlotte Bruno, and Philine Falco, mezzo-sopranos; Arnoldo Lendi, Dimitri Onofrei, Kenneth Sakas, Francesco Curci, and Rolf Gerard, tenors; Mario Valle, Mostyn Thomas and Stefan Kosakovich, baritone; and Harold Kravitt, Natale Cervi, and Fausto Bozza, basses. Premiers with the ballet will be Lydia Arlova and Lucien Pridemore.

The 1937 season will make the fourth appearance of the San Carlo company in Portland. For two years performances were given at the Auditorium but the added facilities of the Paramount make them more enjoyable there.

Prices will be on the usual basis, comparable to the Paramount Concert Series. The first six rows of the orchestra will be $1.10; the next twelve, $1.65; the next eighteen, $1.10; the loge seats, $1.65; the first balcony, $1.10; and the second and third balconies, 85 cents. These prices will include the federal tax. In all, there are only 1670 seats, comparable to the several thousand in the Auditorium, so that the atmosphere is much more conducive to appreciation.

Tickets can be obtained from the Paramount theater, if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. The box office sale will begin Monday, March 1, at J. K. Gill, in Portland.

Little Theater Group Sponsors Large Dance

The Little Theatre Guild, speech, drama and debate groups sponsored a very successful dance Saturday night at the Fraternal Temple. Indirect lighting was provided by red and blue floodlights. Music was provided by "Tup" Church and His Deacons. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Rahe, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Royer, and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Wellings.

Those present were the Misses Loyal Bogardus, Merriam Williams, Elizabeth James, Margaret Magee, Barbara Kurtz, Helen Purvine, Edna Savage, Antoinette Irish, Melva Belle Savage, Carol Smith, Madeline Kappauf, Marian Stiegerwald, Dolly Dingle, Margaret Ayers, Doris Unruh, Lillian Briggs, Lillian Hart, Lois Burton, Mary Jeanette Clark, Dorothy Lipps, Margaret Engdahl, Ariss Jones, Edna Thoman, Helen Hammond, Ina Bennett, Evelyn Welch, Martha Jane Hottel, Elizabeth Zook, Marian Walling, Lunelle Chapin and Phyllis Phythian. Escorts were Lloyd Richi, Bill Sutton, Charles Gleiser, Maynard McKinley, Bob Smith, Ralph Ransom, Manfred Olson, Pat Crossland, Leroy Casey, Grayson Anderson, Bill Anton, Bill Clemes, Art Lamka, Earl Potter, Joe Blanchard, Mel Viken, Larry Nunkamp, Laurence Gudarian, Billy Utey, Tom Stacer, Ivan Keener, Dick Van Pelt, Bob Smith, Guy Heimsoth, Bronk Williams, Harry Mosher, Art Olson, Harlan Sheldon, Bruce Carlin, Verdel Ragsdale and David Stahl.

Friends of Miss Luella Corn will be glad to know that she is recuperating satisfactorily from the illness that necessitated her leaving school.

Condolences are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Barber (Margaret Faxon), whose small son, David Cameron, died last week.

A week end guest at the Alpha Psi house was Bertie Glaisyer of Oregon State.

B X Girls Give Dance Friday

The freshman members and pledges of Beta Chi entertained with an informal dance at the Beta Chi house Friday night. The living room and dining room were decorated with spring flowers and pussywillows. Punch and cookies were served late in the evening. Mrs. F. A. Elliott was a special guest.

The committee in charge included Miss Leone Burdick, Miss Dorothy Wright and Miss Betty Lou Lacey.

The group included Miss Irma Calvert, Miss Leone Burdick, Miss Betty Lou Lacey, Miss Dorothy Wright, Miss Elizabeth Zook, Miss Margaret Moulton, Miss Ethel Denham, Miss Rae Hungerford, Miss Geneva Pond, and Miss Marial Wassam; and Henry Frantz, Bob Smith, Bryce Logan, George McLeod, Bob Brady, Al Vosper, Frank Hunt, Maynard McKinley, Kendall Tysinger and Corliss Berry.

Dinners Given Friday Night

The Delta Phi and the Alpha Psi Deltas exchanged dinners last Friday evening, when half of each group was host and guest at the chapter houses. At the sorority the table was decorated with pine twigs and red candles and set for fourteen. The Misses Martha Roddy and Helene Trulsen served. Hostesses at Delta Phi were Mrs. F. A. Weil, the Misses Annette Jordan, Melba Ripelle, Loyal Bogardus, Barbara Crookham, Ruth Tscharnher, Mary Jeanette Sargent and Marian Steigerwald. Alpha Psi guests included Louisa Herschberger, Curtis Johnson, Keith Matthews, Bill Anton, Bob Wilson and Victor Crow. Following group singing at the table, dancing was enjoyed after dinner.

At the fraternity guests were: the Misses Anna May Unrath, Harriet Childs, Kay Ringe, Dorothy Dingle, Wanda Landon, Gwen Gallaher, and Helen Woodfin. Hosts were: Guy Heimsoth, Corliss Berry, Steve Anderson, Warner Crow, Sam Kyle, Frank Guerin, Bob Keuseher, Bob Anderson and Calvin Ritchie. Serving dinner were George McAllister and Bob Yen. After dinner Graduate Manager Sparks showed several reels of his motion pictures of campus life and sports.

The Cap and Gown dinner originally scheduled for last Thursday will be given next Thursday, March 11. Instead, the change was necessitated by the honor freshmen's grades not being out at the earlier date.

Miss Mignon Wall of Corvallis was the house guest of Mary Jeanette Sargent last week end.

BEARCATS SEEK NEW LAURELS

Champs Seek AAU Title and Colorado Trip

Albany First Opponent of Northwest League Kingpins

Willamette, Multnomah Club Ranked As Pre-Meet Favorites

Seeking to climax an already brilliant season by winning the state A. A. U. crown and a trip to Denver, Colorado, for the national championships, Willamette's Bearcats open play tonight in the state tournament in Portland. The Northwest Conference champs' first game is with Albany College and is scheduled to get underway at 7:45 on the Jefferson high school court.

32 Take Part

Thirty-two teams, representing the cream of the crop in Oregon basketball, are taking part in the meet. The eight independent quints opened play Wednesday night. The eight collegiate fives will play tonight. With the field cut in half, the quarter-finals will be played Friday night.

Saturday afternoon the top independent championship of the state and the two best college outfits will play for the state collegiate crown. Saturday night's tilt brings together the two winners, with the big trip to Denver, expenses paid, in the offing.

Tonight's schedule:

Four Games Tonight

6:30 p. m.—Southern Oregon Normal vs. Mt. Angel.

7:45 p. m.—Albany vs. Willamette.

9:00 p. m.—Oregon Normal vs. Pacific.

10:15 p. m.—Portland vs. Linfield.

Willamette has been doped as the pre-meet favorite in the collegiate division, but is sure to be tested by S.O.N.S., O.N.S. and Linfield.

Multnomah club looms as the best of the independents.

Have Chance to Knock V-8 Quint From League Leadership

CITY LEAGUE

Major
Gen. Finance	3	1 .750
Grand Theater	3	1 .750
Valley Motor	3	1 .750
W. U. Frosh	3	.250
Y Crunchers	1	3 .250
Oregon Paper	1	3 .250

With a chance to knock Valley Motor's league leading cagers from the second half race of the city hoop league's major division, Coach "Les" Spark's Willamette Frosh will swap baskets with the V-8's on the Parriah Junior high floor tonight in the feature game of the final round of tilts of the season.

Beat Financiers

The V-8's threw a monkey wrench into General Finance's plans of winning the championship without a playoff by knocking over the first half winners last week. The Frosh downed the Crunchers and Grand Theater beat Oregon Paper in other games.

Tonight's schedule also pits Grand against Oregon Paper and Finance against the "Y" five. Games are played on the Parriah Junior high floor.

Rooks Favorites

Though they have won only one game in the second half, the Rooks are slight favorites over the Motormen, through a victory over the now lofty V-8's in the first half and the five-game winning streak now boasted.

Little Cecie Quesseth, Frosh star, has fallen to fourth place in the league scoring race with a total of 67 points. Oswald Morley, Grand forward, leads with 73 markers.

The Freshmen ran wild last week and downed the Crunchers 41 to 28. Steve Staynor and Tom Hagar led scoring with 11 points apiece. Score:

SEEKS LONG TRIP

When Willamette's cage quint makes its bid this week end in Portland for the state A. A. U. championship and a ticket to the National Championship meet in Denver, Colorado, Bill "Rev" Beard, above, is expected to see plenty of action. The popular three-sports star is one of Coach Keene's most dependable reserves.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

By DAX MOSES

By winning three straight games in the playoffs last week the strong Independent A team became the intramural basketball champions of the school. The Independents thus boast the outstanding record of going through a whole season's play with only one defeat and that an upset victory for Alpha Psi Delta, a team which didn't finish high enough in regular league play to get into the playoffs.

The Fish Chokers were runners-up.

The 11 highest scorers in tournament play are:

J. Pyke, Ind. A's	26
N. Joyce, Fish Chokers	25
Blake, Fish Chokers	21
R. Orren, Swishers	16
G. Sirnio, Fish Chokers	15

G. Hibbard, Ind. A's	12
K. Kahle, Swishers	12
G. Burnett, Fish Chokers	11
R. Pierce, Swishers	11

Willamette's champion Independent A team will journey to Forest Grove to play Pacific University's intramural champion sometime next week, according to Les Spark, Willamette athletic manager.

Congratulations Independent A's! Here's your chance to add more laurels to those you have already won this season.

2nd week—Belle Brown 400, Helen Trindle 378, Erma Oehler 373, Lunelle Chapin 371; team totals, 1552.

3rd week—Belle Brown 422, Lunelle Chapin 399, Erma Oehler 384, Mary Clark 374; team totals, 1579.

Highest possible individual score—540 points.

Highest possible team score—2160 points.

The Badminton Ladder tournament is being held on Wednesday and Friday nights at the Y. M. C. A. The first game was with Oregon State. Women playing are Alice Young, Rachel Yocum, Barbara Chapler, Beatrice Moore, Florence Foster, Marjorie Herr, Dorothy Moore, Esther Arnold, Anoka Coates, Julia Query and Doris Schwabner. Men are Wes Roeder, Gus Moore, French Hagman, Wallace Tower, Norman Winslow, Verdel Ragsdale, Bud Zandon, Earle Carlin, Aris Sherwood and Dick Chambers.

Weaver, Versteeg, Porter

No pair of guards in conference history had much margin on the pair of Charlie Versteeg and Walt Weaver. Willamette's back-court artists this year. Assigned to guard the best forwards in the loop all season, Weaver invariably turned in fine performances and often outscored his opponent. Versteeg, a power on defense and a fine shot, is honored for the fourth straight year. No all-star team could leave off Whitman's classy sharp-shooter, Larry Porter. Porter was a fine guard and one of the best howitzer tappers in the conference. Tollefson, C. P. S.; Bullock, Whitman's rook star, and Sikstrom, Pacific captain, another guard-forward, were also listed.

Swimming classes under the instruction of Lorene Tompkins are progressing at the Y. M. pool. Backstroke, diving and treading water are the major interests of the girls at the present time.

ber and Erickson scoring heavily and Sparks playing fine defensive ball won 44 to 23 from the Independent A's in a challenge game Tuesday for milkshakes. After the game the P. E.'s celebrated their victory, (aided by George Serrito and Karl Kahle) by tossing referee Bunny Bennett into the mill stream.

The first and second all-star teams will play next Tuesday for milkshakes, and the winner will meet the "colossal all-stars" on Wednesday.

ALL-STAR PLAYERS NAMED

Bearcats and Missions Each Get 3 Places

Anton, Weaver, Versteeg Named; C.P.S. Lands Two Spots

Pepin, Porter, Ed Geist Are Selected From Whitman Five

With one of the best collections of basketball material ever to perform on Northwest Conference maplecourts to pick from, the task of naming an all-conference team for 1937 presents a gigantic problem. However, after due consideration, the Collegian today announces its "pick of the pack" for the season just closed.

The eight-man team chosen, includes three members of Willamette's champion Bearcat five, three Whitman players, and two C. P. S. Loggers and what any coach wouldn't give for such an outfit.

Pepin, Morris, Smith

Forwards are Larry Pepin, Whitman's freshman speed merchant; Otto Smith, C.P.S., leading conference scorer, and Harold Morris, C.P.S. Pepin is one of the fastest men in the league, a fine guard, a clever dribbler and passer, and a crack shot. Smith, though plainly off in the Logger-Bearcat series, was the best shot in the loop. Morris, who plays either guard or forward, was named by the Bearcats as the best all-around Logger player. Runner-up honors went to Johnny Seim, Pacific, and Willamette's two stars, Jerry Gastineau and Larry Nunnkamp.

Anton, Geist

At center no one even came close to nosing out Willamette's great pivot-man, Bill Anton, whose sweeping pivot shot rolled up point after point this year. The 6 foot 4 inch Greek star was a fine defensive ace and controlled the tipoff regularly. Also named at center was Captain Eddie Geist, Whitman's lanky pivoter who outplayed every opponent but Anton. Ellertson, Pacific's defensive ace, and Long, Idaho's one-handed shooting star, were also honored.

Weaver, Versteeg, Porter

No pair of guards in conference history had much margin on the pair of Charlie Versteeg and Walt Weaver. Willamette's back-court artists this year. KOLUMN * KOMMENT

By BOB KEUSCHER
(Collegian Sports Editor)

Just a year ago, Willamette's hoopsters were contemplating their entrance in the state A. A. U. basketball met at Eugene. Prospects weren't any too bright for the 1935-6 edition of the Keene-men. They had won 9 and lost 15 games, and most of the setbacks had been from the hands of their prospective tournament opponents. In conference play the locals had finished in the second division with three wins and five defeats. The whole season left dismal memories.

Willamette entered the meet, drew a bye the first round, knocked over their first opponent, and entered the finals against the strong Oregon Normal Wolves only to lose a hair-raising 30-32 decision. Had the Bearcats won that game the trip to the national meet in Denver would have been theirs. For Union Oil, state champ, later withdrew and the teachers received the tickets to Colorado.

Tonight another Bearcat squad, conference champion, and victor of 20 of 26 games, enters the 1937 A. A. U. meet in Portland. Chances appear much rosier than a year ago, and if they get any breaks at all the Keene-men may take the journey to Denver—a just reward for the brilliant record Keene's team has compiled this year.

After a long and detailed compilation by Paul Sturges, Willamette university publicity man, complete conference scoring records have been released. They are listed below:

Bellfountain, Athena, and Myrtle Creek Expect To Return

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth and final article in a series dealing with the teams expected to qualify for the state high school basketball tournament scheduled for Willamette university, March 17-20.)

In district 13, first of the four "B" districts, four teams stand out as the pick of the pack. They are John Day, Arlington, Boardman and Athena. The latter school, remembered for its fine performance here in 1933, 1932 and 1933, boasts one of the strongest teams in eastern Oregon. Arlington and Boardman, likewise can hold their own in stronger competition and are unbeaten in their respective leagues. John Day appears as the strongest of the central Oregon fives.

At Arlington

The district representative will be decided this week end by a tournament on the Arlington floor.

Athena is the only team of the quartet that has shown here and boasts one all-state player—Jenkins of the '33 outfit.

In district 14, Myrtle Creek, last year's representative is again in the running and rules as the favorite for the trip to Salem. Other outstanding teams in southern Oregon are Central Point, Sam's Valley and Phoenix.

Amity Beats Ghosts

District 15 will be represented by Amity high—a neophyte to tournament play. The Amity quint won their place in the state classic by winning three games in a one-day district tournament at McMinnville last week. Victories were rung up over Nestucca, Westport, conquerors of Astoria, and Mill City, defending district title.

District 16 will undoubtedly be represented by last year's state "B" champs, Bellfountain's Giant Killers. Under a new coach, Bill Lemmon, Willamette grad of '35, the lads from the little town in Benton county have continued their winning ways and are now one of the outstanding candidates for the state championship. Opposition expected from Scio high, Thurston and Santa Clara has been eliminated from the race and apparently has left the district crown to the Giant Killers.

Districts Summarized

Here is a brief summary of the district races as they now stand: District 1—Still a battle between Baker and La Grande with the latter favored.

District 2—A tossup between Hood River and McLaughlin, who play for the championship this weekend.

District 3—Klamath Falls, a slight favorite over Bend.

District 4—Oregon City and Milwaukie about even.

District 5—Astoria a sure entrant.

District 6—McMinnville a clutch.

District 7—Corvallis, Eugene, St. Mary's. Take your pick.

District 8—North Bend should beat Roseburg and Marshfield.

Medford Loses Out

District 9—Ashland spilled the dope and beat out Medford at the last moment and will be here March 17.

District 10—Salem.

District 11—Probably Franklin.

District 12—Probably Lincoln.

District 13—Athena the favorite.

District 14—Myrtle Creek a good bet.

District 15—Amity.

District 16—Bellfountain a clutch.

Bearkitten Take Scio Basketeers For 6th Straight

As a warmup tilt to their crucial city league club tonight with Valley Motor, the Frosh Hoopsters smothered Scio high 42-17 there Tuesday night for their sixth straight win. Tom Hagar led scores with 15 points.

The Freshman second string, unbeaten all season, beat the Scio reserves 42-5.
