

STUDENT COMMITTEE SELECTS PRESIDENT

MISS JESSIE YOUNG OF SENIOR CLASS TO GUIDE STUDENT BODY FORTUNES.

FIRST CO-ED SO HONORED

Ray Smith and Lottie Penn Chosen to Fill Other Vacancies.—McCaddam Wins Megaphone.

At the first meeting of the Executive Committee, Miss Jessie Young, of Portland, was elected president of the Student Body, to succeed Harry McCann, who has gone to Northwestern to complete his course. Ray Smith was chosen to take Miss Young's place as vice-president and Miss Lottie Penn will fill the position of secretary left vacant by the secretary-elect, Miss Grace Edgington, to return to the University this fall.

As far as can be learned, Miss Young is the first woman ever to receive this honor of the Student Body presidency. At the spring election she was chosen vice-president and her promotion to the higher position has received general approval. She is at present president of the University Y. W. C. A., belongs to the Adelante Society, and has served as president of the Junior Liberal Arts class, president of the Lausanne Hall club, and associate editor of the 1913 Junior Annual.

Ray Smith, '13, is president of the Philodorian society and was last year president of the Oratorical Association, besides taking an active part in other school activities. Miss Penn, '14, is prominent in the Y. W. C. A., Adelante Society, and various other lines of work.

From a number of likely candidates, the Committee selected Glen McCaddam, '15, of Rathbun, Idaho, to act as yell-leader. "Mac" has had little experience wielding the big megaphone, but his stentorian voice and boosting spirit qualify him for the position.

MISS FOX SPEAKS ON BIBLE-MISSION STUDY

First Y. W. Meeting in New Quarters Led by Northwest Secretary.

The Y. W. C. A. meeting of last week was the first to be held in the new room on the first floor. These quarters, though not so commodious as the former ones, will be far more convenient and central, and will no doubt be a popular resort for the girls who wish to study between classes.

Truly, no Y. W. C. A. meeting could be more worth while than the one led by our field secretary, Miss Fox. Friday her mission was to present the matter of the Association study classes, which she did most persuasively, for there is an earnestness and enthusiasm about her which cannot fall to quicken something of the same spirit in her hearers. Another treat of the afternoon was a solo by Miss Shumway, "O, Loving Father."

It is not yet too late to register for the Bible and Mission Study classes. Anyone interested may consult Miss Bartholomew in regard to the former or Miss Casebere in regard to the latter work.

The football game scheduled last Saturday between O. A. C. and Pacific was cancelled by Pacific. They had not recovered from the Washington High game sufficiently to be in fighting condition.

SECRETARY KNOX TO SPEAK IN SALEM

Philander C. Knox, secretary of state in President Taft's cabinet, is to speak in Salem Thursday, October 24, according to advices recently received from the Republican State Committee. He is stumping this section of the country for President Taft and will discuss the campaign. The place of the meeting has not yet been announced, but will probably be in the Armory. Definite announcement will be found later in the Salem papers and in next week's Collegian.

At Wednesday's chapel service, Dr. Avison, pastor of the First M. E. church, took occasion to urge every student eligible to vote to register for the coming election. He emphasized the duty of casting one's ballot conscientiously in the interest of good government. His remarks were especially in regard to the city primary election which takes place Nov. 4, the day before the state and national elections. Party lines will be blotted out in this election, the great fight being between the champions of good government and the "whiskey" element. Every student who can establish Salem as his residence was urged to give his support to the good government forces.

Since Dr. Avison's talk, Dr. B. L. Steeves, upon whom great pressure has recently been brought to bear, has announced that he will run for mayor, heading the Good Government ticket. Dr. Steeves is an alumnus of Willamette, former lieutenant-governor of Idaho, and one of Salem's most prominent men. He is a trustee of Willamette University, and an active supporter of numerous good causes, and his ability and integrity are unquestioned. He should receive the support of every Willamette student.

1915 BEAUTIES GET INTO SOCIETY COLUMN

Sophomores Masquerade as Hindus, Actresses and Gay Deceivers.

The Sophomores held their first party last Saturday evening, when they were entertained with a masquerade at the residence of Bruce McDaniel. The decorations were in green and white, the class colors, and the house resembled a miniature fairy land when the Hindus, Chinamen, Indians, Puritan Maidens, Chorus Girls, etc., began to arrive.

Bob Minton as "Priscilla" captivated the hearts of all with her winsome smiles and charming gown—which fitted too quick, however. Miss Leila Lent as a Hindu kept the crowd guessing, while Miss Young as a Chinese girl was thoroughly masqued. Miss Stella Graham won the applause of many as a Japanese girl, and Miss Keith Van Winkle stirred the hearts of many a "Him" when she appeared in Indian costume.

Harry Irvine made an ideal chorus girl and carried his part through with the greatest of success.

The other costumes were likewise excellent and helped to make a general, all-round good time.

Numerous games furnished entertainment for the evening.

During the evening a wreath of condolence was presented to the class by a messenger from the Freshies, having this motto upon it, "Love thy enemy—so as to get up close and get a crack at him."

WILLAMETTE LOSES IN OREGON CONTEST

STATE UNIVERSITY VICTORIOUS IN FIRST IMPORTANT GAME OF THE SEASON.

EARLY MEETING HANDICAP

New Rules Shown to Favor Heavier Offensive Team—MacRae and Francis Varsity Stars.

In a clean, hard-fought contest, Willamette was defeated by the University of Oregon football team by a score of 12-0, when the two teams met at Eugene last Saturday for the first time in three years. While considerably outweighed in the line and handicapped by lack of time to develop a consistent defense or a strong offense, the Willamette team put up a game fight and it is safe to say that had not the Oregon team had the advantage by reason of two weeks extra practice, there would have been little to choose between the two. As it was, the score fairly represents the strength of the teams, as Oregon deserved to win by just about two touchdowns.

The game was the first important contest in the Northwest and served to show something of the working of the new rules. The features made most apparent was that the four downs gives a very material advantage to the offensive team. Oregon's first touchdown could not have been made without the extra down.

The first touchdown came near the end of the first quarter. Willamette, after receiving the kick-off, had been forced to punt, and had successfully blocked Oregon's efforts to gain through the line. Suddenly, Cornell, Oregon's diminutive quarter, got away for a brilliant 35-yard run and was only stopped on Willamette's six-yard line. The full four downs were required to put the ball over, Hall making the touchdown. Goal was not kicked.

The second quarter gave no advantage to either team and the ball for the most part remained near the center of the field. A placement was attempted by Francis, but went wide.

Oregon backs got loose for several long gains in the third quarter. Once after Cornell had carried the ball 20 yards to the 3-yard line, Willamette secured the ball and MacRae kicked. Breedwell got loose and carried the ball almost to the goal, and the touchdown was scored on a forward pass across the goal line.

The fourth quarter was uneventful except for a 35-yard run by Erskine, after intercepting one of Oregon's passes. Just before the close of the game, a series of smashing line plays brought the ball close to Willamette's goal.

Lack of scrimmage practice was evident in Willamette's tackling, but the opposition of her light line to Oregon's heavy men was good.

One of the features of the game was the superb defensive work of Francis at right end and MacRae at full-back. In backing up the line, MacRae was battered up about the head and chest and will probably be out of the game for some time. Blackwell also showed to advantage against his heavier opponent and Homan played a consistent safety.

The open field running of Cornell was brilliant and the whole Oregon backfield was fast and shifty.

The showing of the varsity in this contest is sufficient to give rise to the prediction that by the middle of the season it will be a most formidable.

WANTED—YELLS.

Yell-leader McCaddam is making some additions to the collection of Willamette yells and songs. Every student is urged to hand in something with a little "pep" and "go" to it, so that Mac may have plenty to pick from. Have them ready by Friday morning if possible, as Mac wishes to collect them at chapel that morning.

TENNIS ASSOCIATION BESTIRS ITSELF

Officers Elected and Courts Put in Shape for Fall Playing.

In a chapel speech last Thursday morning, Dr. Sweetland revived much interest in tennis. At the called meeting immediately after the chapel exercises about one hundred and fifty students proclaimed their interest in the game. The Doctor told of expected tourneys next spring with O. A. C. and U. of O., in addition to the annual meets with Pacific. He also proposed that the courts be put in shape this fall, and asked for immediate action upon the part of the students.

There was some talk of asking the student body to extend its supervision over the tennis activities, but owing to a desire for immediate action, it was decided to elect officers for the tennis association and proceed at once to prepare the courts for fall practice. Later the proposition of asking the student body to assume control of tennis will be considered. There will be another meeting soon to decide upon plans for the present.

The officers elected were: President, Miss Lottie Penn, to succeed Miss Frances Pohle; vice-president, Ralph Stearns, to succeed Percy Stoute; secretary-treasurer, Miss Gertrude Eakin, re-elected; manager, George Currey, to succeed Harold Jory.

Manager Currey at once bestirred himself, and with the aid of a squad of men, has put two of the courts in first class condition. If the present ideal weather continues, there will be greater enthusiasm in fall tennis than ever before.

HOLLINGSWORTH AND RUSSELL FAVORED

Rulers for Seniors and Freshies Are Finally Elected.

On Thursday, Oct. 10, the Freshies "went and did it." That is, they elected their class officers. Sam Russell of Spokane is to pilot the class; Genevieve Avisca of Salem was selected as the vice-president; Aetna Emmel of Sherwood, Howard Jewett of Salem, and Charles Ohling are secretary, treasurer and sergeant-at-arms, respectively.

The fight for president was quite exciting, developing into a three-cornered contest. Jewett of Salem High Richter of the Academy, and Russell each had a strong following.

Seniors Follow Suit.

Monday at 12:15 the immortal Seniors chose officers for the year. Carl J. Hollingsworth, president of the Y. M. C. A., will be president, and Miss Lulu Heist vice-president. Mr. Kenneth Mickey will serve as amanuensis, Oliver Matthews as treasurer and Jesse Young as marshal.

The Senior law class has been increased by the addition of two new students in the personages of D. N. McInturff of Washington and D. W. Miles, who has had other law work at the University of Iowa.

ENDOWMENT CAMPAIGN ACTIVELY RENEWED

PASTORS ENTER INTO WORK OF COMPLETING THE $500,000 FOR WILLAMETTE.

$75,000 IS AMOUNT NEEDED

Autos Pressed Into Service Sunday—Layman Spoke to Large Newberg Audience.

President Fletcher Homan and Vice-President Todd, with the assistance of several prominent pastors, members of the faculty and business men, renewed their endowment campaign Sunday. Ten Methodist pulpits were filled by Willamette representatives. The charges which they supplied will be thoroughly canvassed during the week and so the good work will progress until the Salem district has been worked.

$75,000 must be raised to complete the $500,000 of endowment which Dr. Homan started to raise three years ago. The present campaign plans include considerable work in Portland, Salem and Eugene districts. The next three weeks will be spent in territory adjoining Salem. Ten pulpits will be filled each Sunday of this campaign, and the following week the members of the congregations will be visited by W. U. representatives.

Willamette is being heartily supported in her effort to secure this endowment by the business men of the city. Several have offered the use of their autos and some have appeared in public in behalf of the campaign.

Dr. Homan spoke in Oregon City. Rev. R. N. Avison, pastor of First M. E. Church, filled the pulpit in McMinnville and Dilly. Rev. A. C. Brackenbury, pastor of Leslie Church, spoke in Lents and Clackamas. Rev. Hiram Gould of Forest Grove supplied two other charges. These pastors will spend the early part of the week canvassing the people of the congregations to which they spoke.

Prof. H. C. Cooley and Prof. J. T. Mathews represented the faculty in the pulpits. Prof. Cooley is a former pastor, having supplied a charge in the East. Prof. Mathews, who did some very effective work for Willamette in the campaign through Eastern Oregon last August, supplied the First M. E. pulpit Sunday.

These plans could not have been as effectually carried out had it not been for several Salem citizens offering their autos. E. T. Barnes took Dr. Avison to McMinnville in time for the morning service. C. P. Bishop carried Vice-President Todd to Newberg. Mr. Bishop added to this service a good address, which was well flavored with the business man's viewpoint. Paul Manning furnished the transportation for Prof. Cooley that he might speak to the Y. M. C. A. in the afternoon and return to Dallas for the evening.

Definite plans could not be announced for the complete campaign when this issue went to press.

BROWN LEADS SENIOR LAWS.

The Senior laws, at a called meeting Thursday evening, elected the following officers: President, G. G. Brown; vice-president, Schmidt; secretary, Mabel Wellburn; treasurer, Fern Hobbs; sergeant-at-arms, Reinhart; reporter, Chas. W. Erskine.

Mr. Brown was president of the Junior laws of last year and is a very capable man. He is chief clerk of the state land board.

"THE WILLAMETTE SITUATION EXPLAINED."

Under the caption, "The Willamette Situation Explained," the O. A. C. Barometer, in the issue of Oct. 6, gives considerable space attempting to explain why the annual football game with Willamette was not scheduled. It seems that Coach Dolan's stand in refusing to play Willamette has caused some criticism from the students of the Corvallis institution. But, from the Barometer's standpoint at least, there can be only one side, for we read, "Coach Sweetland absolutely refuses to play under Conference rules." That excuse may satisfy Dolan and the Barometer, but it certainly can have no force with any one else, even with O. A. C. students. From time out of mind the two institutions have met in athletic contests. When the Northwest conference was formed and O. A. C. joined it, relations remained the same. For financial reasons and because her size did not insure teams of Conference class, Willamette has never asked to be taken into the Conference. But this fact has never prevented the teams representing O. A. C. and Willamette from meeting. At the time of the annual football game last year, Dolan promised to save a date for a game this year. This promise he repeated on different occasions during the winter. Then, suddenly, he is conscience-stricken. He cannot think of allowing his tender charges to come in contact with the unregenerate crew from Salem. No, indeed, not unless they enforce conference standards! Whatever the excuses offered, there can be only one explanation. Dolan is afraid. For two seasons, O. A. C. has won by the merest chance and Dolan is not sportsman enough to take the chance again. Two other circumstances prove this beyond the shadow of a doubt. One is that Dolan scheduled a game with Pacific, a non-conference school; the other, that he confided to a man prominent in Oregon college athletics that O. A. C. had for two years won from Willamette by luck, and that he could not afford to be beaten by them. Willamette has taken her defeats in the past without quibbling. When she has a chance to win, she is denied a place on the schedule. By such means Dolan is injecting the professional spirit into his athletics and thus defeating the very end of intercollegiate sports.

The statement following that quoted at the beginning of this article is manifestly unfair. It reads, "That is, he (Coach Sweetland) reserves the right to play any man he sees fit, regardless of scholastic standing, previous record, or anything else." The Barometer assumes that non-membership in the Conference is synonymous with no requirements for places on athletic teams. To make such an assumption is absolutely to disregard the facts. In regard to amateur standing and scholastic requirements, Willamette is not in the least inferior to O. A. C.

We are glad that Dolan's attitude is not the attitude of the Corvallis athletic management or student body in general. His jurisdiction ends with football and it is altogether probable that in the other branches of sport the two schools will meet with the same friendly feelings as of old.

TO HAZE OR NOT TO HAZE.

Something very much like hazing took place Thursday night. The occurrence was, in itself, quite trivial, but hazing is one of the features of college life which has been missing from Willamette for a number of years and this is a poor time to revive it. Class rivalry seems to be innate in the makeup of every normal Freshman and Sophomore, but if it must have a violent outlet, it should be under proper supervision. This is recognized almost universally among colleges, and the old-time hazing bees have given way to contests of strength and ingenuity under the supervision of upperclassmen or faculty members. If the two underclasses must "mix," let us adopt some such plan, but at all events, let us keep clear of the old-style hazing, which, besides being senseless and brutal, is the worst sort of advertising for a school.

USE THE COLLEGIAN BOX.

As The Collegian office is not now shared by the Y. M. C. A., it will be used exclusively by members of the staff, and not as a lounging room, as heretofore. A box will be placed in the main corridor of Eaton Hall for announcements and contributions from others than the staff.

It will be to the interest of the various organizations to drop announcements of the time and place of meeting in The Collegian box. Students can help us, also, by jotting down local items which would probably escape our attention, and depositing them in the same place.

Please bear with us this once, kind reader, if this issue of The Collegian takes on the aspect of an election bulletin. By another week the various organizations will have forgotten who their officers are and so will be prepared to enjoy a "successful and prosperous year."

NORTHWESTERN AN IDEAL SCHOOL SAYS McCAIN

Before Harry McCain, ex-president of the Student Body, left for Northwestern, the editor asked him to write something about the oratorical contest in which he represented Willamette so well, and about his impressions of Northwestern. The letter fulfilling that request is published in part:

"Of the National Contest I haven't much to say. You all know the result. It was a great contest, a great crowd and wonderful enthusiasm. I represented 'Old Willamette' the very best I could. Under the conditions, considering everything, I think the best man won. Mr. Wideman, the winner, is not only a great orator; he is a delightful man to know.

"A word about Northwestern. I thought last summer after my visits to the universities named, that for undergraduate work I would prefer Northwestern. After being here this short time, I am more than ever convinced that I was right. The faculty, equipment and educational environment are about all that are to be desired. One of the most delightful things about it is the spirit of the students; it is thoroughly democratic and intensely permeated with high ideals. I believe the Christian spirit is stronger here than at any school which I have ever visited. The enrollment this year is greater than ever before. There are above 1200 strictly Liberal Arts students. The academy, which is entirely distinct from the college, also has a record attendance. The schools of Medicine, Law, Dentistry, etc., are all filled to overflowing.

"Athletics at Northwestern look especially bright in prospect. The return to intercollegiate football, the new gymnasium, and other things are beginning to show their effects. The football team is heavier than for years. The first game (October 5) with Lake Forest, will give us a little chance to get the dope for the Wisconsin game which follows a week later.

"Hoping the best things for Willamette this year, I am yours very truly, HARRY G. McCAIN.

"P. S.—I am enclosing $1.25 for The Collegian. Send the back numbers. My address is 1737 Orrington Ave., Evanston, Ill."

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR MOOT COURT

Law Organization Plans for More Effective Work.—Randall Holds the Reins.

At the Moot Court election of the Law department Chas. Z. Randall was elected president, E. K. Paisicki clerk, and John R. S. Hart of the Junior class, bailiff. Randall is a former student of the University of Oregon, and has had a year's experience in the law office of Frank Holmes.

It is planned to have the Moot Court only twice a month, instead of four times, as there seemed to be a lack of interest and preparation when they were held so often. But the cutting down of the number of sessions will not in any way lighten the work, as it is planned to divide the class into two sides, and as each case is read before the Court, one side will make the complaint and the other will answer. At the end of the year a banquet will be given at which the side having done the best work will be the guests. In this way it is hoped to kindle enthusiasm and thus make the Moot Court work more profitable and interesting than ever before.

L. P. A.'S ELECT.

Those interested in great reforms are usually enthusiasts. There is nothing lukewarm about the zeal of the members of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, as was shown by the meeting held Monday noon for the election of officers. Mr. Paul Irvine, who worked faithfully for the success of the Interstate Oratorical Contest, held under the auspices of the League in May, was elected president by a narrow margin over Glenn J. McCaddam. Miss Sadie Boughey was elected vice-president on the second ballot. Hugh Price was chosen as the Association's scribe, while the cares of the treasurership devolve upon Harry Irvine. F. S. Francis was chosen reporter.

While the Association has not decided upon a definite program for the year, it is planning to carry on active work. Last year's work was most successful and fruitful and the good work is to be carried on with renewed energy.

PHILODORIAN AT HOME.

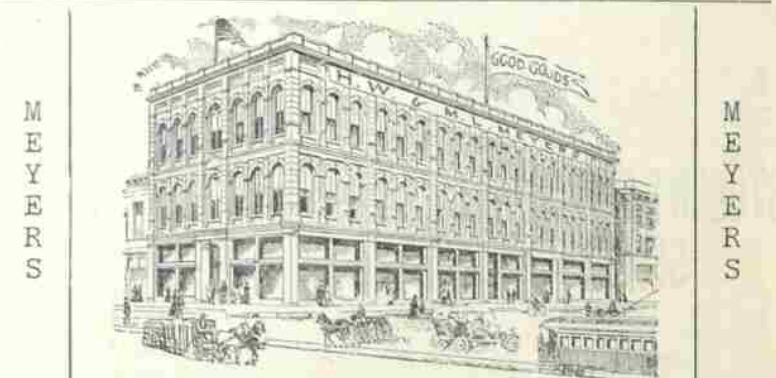

One of the most delightful social events of the fall was the Philodorian "At Home," last Saturday afternoon. The reception halls were decorated in brilliant harvest colors with autumn leaves and salvia.

The first part of the afternoon was spent in playing parlor games. After a rousing game of "When Patty Went to College," the members of the society and their visitors chose partners and performed a grand march around the big halls and into the dining room.

The dining room was beautifully decorated in gold and white chrysanthemums. This color scheme was also carried out in the refreshments. Salad, gold and white ice cream, coffee with wafers, cookies and mints were served.

The patronesses of the occasion were Miss Reynolds and Mrs. Goltra who was the first president of the Philodorsians. Among those present were Mrs. Gaylord Patterson, Mrs. R. B. Walsh, Mrs. Henry D. Kimball, Mrs. E. Sherwood, Mrs. E. H. Todd, Miss Kremming, Miss Chappel, Miss Mae Hopkins and Miss Theodosia Bennet, besides the society members and a large number of their university friends.

PROF. COOLEY ADDRESSES Y. M.

With "The Philosophy of the Bible" as his subject, Professor Cooley addressed the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon. The address was marked by an interesting, instructive and scholarly style.

Dr. Cooley showed that the Bible teaches a philosophy of life, bearing on all phases of human conduct. The Jews, without a flag or a country, contributed truths which live through the ages. They also attempted to account for the appearance of sin and to discover a remedy. Theirs was the first teaching of a brighter glance into the future. They realized as others must realize that whatever future may hold in store, there is something of joy and of misery for each one.

The Bible is more than simply a solution of problems. It teaches a working philosophy, manifesting itself in the lives of comforting and uplifting service.

To know the entire philosophy of the Bible is not necessary in order to enjoy the fruits of the spirit. One need not understand all the mysteries of life in order to enjoy it.

PRESIDENT HOMAN EASTWARD BOUND

President Homan starts for the East this morning in the interest of the Willamette endowment campaign. At St. Paul he will stop for a conference with James J. Hill, with regard to the future welfare of the University. Continuing to New York, he will be present at the meeting of the General Educational Board which holds the keys to the Rockefeller educational fund. President Homan has been commending Willamette to the good graces of this Board for some time, and it is quite possible that it will respond with something more substantial than good wishes. The trip will cover a period of three weeks.

TEUTONIA BEWEGT SICH UND ERWACHET BEAMTEN

The Teutonia, or the German Club of the University met last Saturday night at Lausanne Hall and held its regular biennial election of officers.

This society was organized only last year and has now one year of illustrious history behind it, having rendered some very interesting literary programs and staged several plays with a high measure of success. Plans have already been made to do some work of a dramatic nature this year and to stage at least one classical drama in the Opera, which is to become an annual event, taking place some time in the spring. Professor Walsh, who has had considerable previous experience, will have entire charge of drilling the cast and staging the play.

The society now has a membership of about twenty-five, and invites all students interested in the study of the German language and desiring a more fluent conversational ability, to join.

Following are the newly elected officers: president, Wm. Schreiber; vice-president, Louis Hepp; secretary, Eunice Miller; treasurer, Grace Thompson; reporter, Gertrude Reeves.

STUDENTS ROYALLY RECEIVED BY LEAGUE

The Epworth League of the First M. E. Church gave their annual reception to the students of Willamette on Friday evening in the Church parlors. The receiving line stood at the north end of the room. Willamette spirit, which has been prevalent in all of Willamette affairs this year, was present, and everyone seemed to have a fine time. Three hundred attended.

There was a short program which met the approval of those present, and Perry Reigleman was called back a number of times to tell the listening crowd of "Casablanca."

Second Years Elect Officers.

The second year Academy class held its first meeting Wednesday to elect officers. Vesta Mungin was elected president; Frances Harper, vice-president; Getta Jennings, secretary; Norman Hill, treasurer; Arthur Hoffman, athletic manager; J. Aoki, sergeant-at-arms; Areta Jones, reporter.

The Adelantes have issued invitations for Saturday, Oct. 19, when they will be at home to new girls.

Miss Inez Goitra spent the week end with friends in Eugene. She saw the Willamette-Eugene game.

Ralph Homan traveled as far as Albany as Assistant Coach, but missed the train and was the only one to be greeted by the Willamette rooters on Saturday evening.

The board of trustees of Albany College is planning to erect an entirely new college plant. The new campus, which has already been purchased, is on the road from Albany to Corvallis, about one mile from the center of Albany.

CUPID CONTINUES TO SMITE 'VARSITY FOLK

Everett Hobson, better known as "Dub," who graduated last year from the medical school, is among the latest to fall victim to the wiles of the "fair god." "Dub" and his bride are holding forth at Scio.

The matrimonial ranks were further swelled recently at a double wedding, when Marguerite Belknap became Mrs. Clovis Kelly, and Harlan Belknap took unto himself a wife. Both Marguerite and Harlan Belknap are old students of Willamette. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will be located at Portland, while the Belknaps will live on a farm near Monroe.

HALL NOTES—EPIDEMIC STRIKES LUISIE ANN

Grippe and "Heinweh" Strike Miss Pennington's Family.

Mildren Bartholomew and Ruth Tasker spent Sunday in Portland and report a splendid time.

Rosamond Gilbert and Areta Jones took their usual week end trip home over Saturday and Sunday.

A special nurse is being contemplated, as an epidemic of both grippe and homesickness is passing from door to door all over the Hall. Well filled trays of tempting dainties may be seen daily carried by some charitable hand who is trying to carry on the Golden Rule. The "Ah's" and "Oh's" of passersby often being signals of the sudden and dire illness decided upon by that individual. Mabel Goynes, last week a patient, has turned nurse to two roommates on the third floor. The Ryan Hospital has just turned out the last patient, but its nurses have been dispatched to Edith Lorenston and Hazel Smith, and both are now convalescent. Books, flowers and medicine have been donated in profusion and fumigation is threatened if the epidemic does not wear out soon.

Miss Elizabeth Fox, traveling secretary for the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Jones of Salem High School, were guests for dinner Friday. Miss Lottie Penn was a guest for dinner Sunday.

PHILODORIAN.

The Philodorian Society held its first open meeting last Wednesday evening. A large squad of the new fellows were present and a lively good time was enjoyed. To get into the spirit, immediately after President Smith rapped for order, the courtesies of the society were extended to the visitors. A red-hot, right-off-the-grid-iron parliamentary practice was indulged in. For fifteen minutes the senatorial imitators fought furiously for their rights, when a halt was called in order to hear from "our little big man," Perry Reigleman. Perry gave one reading, a treat that called for repetition or at least a similarity. Then Merton De Long gave a very practical and well founded extemporaneous talk along the lines of the application of one's energies, the relation of society life to college life, and the relation of college life in general to the world just beyond the campus. Mr. Jefferson gave a reading entitled "The Old Time Dance," following which Ray Smith rendered a piano solo. Adjournment. "For Our Dear Old Willamette" was sung by all as a fitting conclusion of the night's program.

Mildred Bartholomew and Ruth Tasker spent the week end in Portland.

EMERALD DOPES SITUATION

WASHINGTON, OREGON, PULLMAN PICKED TO MAKE RUN FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The Oregon Emerald presents the following statement of the football situation among the Conference colleges of the northwest:

Oregon, Washington, and W. S. C. football backers have all picked the 1912 Northwest Champs and dispelled all doubt in the minds of the untutored as to who will be the big noise on the gridiron this season. Whitman, Idaho, and O. A. C. supporters give out the impression that a dark horse is being groomed to kick over the dope bucket, show clean heels to the bunch and win in a canter. The first three named look strong on paper and offer good arguments as to why they should win. The last three are not arguing.

Washington State has the 1911 team practically intact and the valuable addition of a coach whose record approaches that of the wily Gilmour Dobie's. One thing is fairly certain about Johnny Bender. If the Nebraskan is given eleven able-bodied men, W. S. C. will have a team that will figure in the final accounting and with the number of veterans of Osthoff's team back in school this year, it looks like a good bet that Bender will turn out one of the best teams Pullman ever had.

Dobie says he is out after his annual championship as usual and is smiling over prospects despite his loss of veterans. The loss of Captain Sparger leaves the purple and gold without a veteran in the backfield, but the wily Scot smiles on. Nevertheless, Dobie can be counted on as usual. Dopesters sent their regrets to Seattle last year when Washington lost Eakins and Polly Grimm, but if any weakness existed in Washington's pair of tackles last year, no one ever found it out.

Archie Hahn predicts nothing for Whitman. There is only one thing about the Missionaries and that is that Niles is on the team and those who recall last year's struggle with Whitman on Kincaid field will readily understand that Hahn will have some kind of a team.

Pink Griffith is emulating the sphinx of Egypt and sheds no light on the Idaho situation. Griffith may be devising some new quirk in vivisectioned football to succeed Jimmy Middleton's famous "Idaho Spread" that startled football followers in 1907.

Sam Dolan makes no rash promises for the Aggies, but modestly admits that his machine may be a championship contender. The question of the eligibility of Houser, the Carlisle star, is worrying the members of the Big Six more than O. A. C.'s championship chances.

INDIANS TO MEET WILLAMETTE ELEVEN

Unless present plans are changed, the varsity eleven will meet the Chemawa Indians Saturday afternoon on Willamette Field. The arrangement is tentative but definite announcement will appear on the bulletin boards. It is probably that in this game, the substitutes will be given an opportunity to prove their mettle. Captain MacRae will not play on account of injuries received in the Oregon game. It is possible that he may not be in the game for the rest of the season, a circumstance which would materially weaken the Willamette backfield.

The strength of the Indians is unknown, as they have not yet appeared in public this season.

Lois Ashby Guides Third Year.

The third year Academy held their first meeting October 8, to elect officers for the coming year. The following were elected: President, Lois Ashby; vice-president, Dorothy Schussler; secretary and reporter, Rosamonde Gilbert; treasurer, Grover Gates; sergeant-at-arms, Mr. Schnabel.

PORTLAND CLUB BOOSTS

Willamette Jolly-Ups Are Numerous During Summer Vacation.

Last spring the Portland Club was organized among the students from the Rose City, who were attending Willamette University. The purpose of this club, whether so stated in its constitution or by-laws or not, was to promote good fellowship among the members, particularly during the vacation months, and to co-operate to bring more students from the metropolis of Oregon to this University.

The first social function of the club for the summer was held at the home of Miss Ruth Young on East Ankeny street early in July. The weather was ideal, the crowd was congenial, and a royal good time was the result. Professor Mathews was passing through Portland on his way to the eastern part of Oregon, and attended this gathering. Several students who are here this year for the first time were present on this occasion.

The next gathering of the club was in about the middle of August. It came at a time when a number of Willamette boosters were away from the city and in addition old Jupiter Pluvius had turned over his water bucket. Nevertheless, a jolly bunch congregated at the home of Carl J. Hollingsworth on 71st street, S. E., and before anyone realized it, it was almost time for the last car to depart for the city. It was at this session that Mr. Chas. B. Harrison, otherwise known as "Brick," joined the club, having accepted a position in that city.

And then on Labor Day, the Portland Club, or at least a small part of it, took an early train out of Portland for Estacada. Again we were favored with a few showers, and only the stout-hearted dared venture out. In all, about twenty members of the club with their friends spent the day at this delightful little burg, nestled away in the foothills east of Portland.

The final jolly-up of the season was held at the home of Merwyn E. Paget, the president of the Portland Club, at Oak Grove. Perhaps one reason for the enthusiasm among the old members was that they thought they must surely be getting almost back to Salem and Old Willamette. Mrs. Paget is a loyal alumna of the University, and always makes everything interesting when a bunch of students meets at her home.

Altogether, the season was very successful. An interest in school life was maintained throughout the summer among the members and undoubtedly many young people were influenced favorably toward Willamette University.

STUDENT VOLUNTEERS MEET.

Members and visitors at the first open meeting of the S. V. B. had the pleasure of listening to two interesting addresses Tuesday evening, one, "What It Means to be a Volunteer," by Miss Chappell, and the other, "Plans We Worked in Our Band," by Miss Louise Godfrey, lately appointed missionary of the Columbia River branch of the W. F. M. S. The large number present is a reflection of the work done last year and a prophecy of things to be accomplished this year. The S. V. B. has one open meeting each month, the first Monday evening, except when otherwise announced, at which all students are welcome. Many of last year's members are back and under the leadership of Miss Austin, the Band will be one of the live and potent influences around the campus this year.

JUNIOR LAW CLASS ORGANIZES FOR THE YEAR

The Junior Laws took the class period last Wednesday evening to organize and elect officers for the ensuing year. There are thirty Junior laws' enrolled to date.

A committee was appointed to confer with the Senior Laws on affiliation for mutual benefit.

The only contest for office came for the presidency. Perry Cotter and Rex Turner running a close race. Turner received the "plum." The other officers received unanimous ballots.

The officers elected are: Rex A. Turner, president; Ernest O. Traxler, vice-president; Murray C. Wheat, secretary and treasurer; Raymond Rowland, sergeant-at-arms.

WEBSTERIANS VOTE IN MANY NEW MEMBERS

The Websterian Debating Society rendered its first program on last Wednesday night. President William Schreiber opened with a few "feeble remarks" concerning his future policy and also briefly outlining the different classes and kinds of students that one finds in college. "Peggy" Paget, slated for a speech on "Campaigning for the Senatorship," told a "huge" joke in lieu of his speech, which he failed to deliver. "Holly" favored the society with a few clippings from a Portland paper and a large amount of news matter from Hood River. McDaniel and Jory rendered instrumental and vocal solos, respectively, while Jacob Stocker gave one of his usual well prepared speeches on "Seeing Europe." Minlon closed the program with an address on "The Present Day Social Problem."

After the program, the "Webs" voted into membership in the society the following men: Ralph W. Stearns, Harold Wieder, Howard Jewett, Alfred Hanke, John Gary, Harold Hockett, Geo. Odgers, Crawford Young, Foster Luce, Tinkham Gilbert, Emery D. Doane, Lester Proebstel, Harry Rice, Maxwell E. Ball, and Hugh D. Price. In addition to these, several other applications are pending, waiting the action of the society.

Lausanne was visited by the singing scop's Thursday evening, but the electric light was not alluring. Ash barrels, crates, and anything handy were all but too good to hide in.
