

HOMECOMING OCT. 19: W. U. VS. COYOTES

Theta Alpha Phi Presents
"The Late Christopher Bean" October 18th

WINDY HENDERSON MGR.

Play Manager Will Be Chosen Soon; Many Try Out for Parts

Willamette university's traditional homecoming will take place on the campus the third week in October, the main attraction being the game with the College of Idaho, on Saturday evening, October 19. It is understood the Coyotes have an exceptionally strong team this year, but as yet the starting line-up has not been available.

Winthrop Henderson was elected homecoming manager at the executive committee meeting held last night at the Leslie Sparks' residence. The manager will have charge of all plans for the welcoming of the alumnae and all campus activities for this weekend.

The night previous to the game the Oregon Alpha Chapter, Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic honorary, will present a three act comedy, "The Late Christopher Bean." This play is one of Sidney Howard's greatest successes. It was first produced in Baltimore and New York in 1932 as a record run play, but is not generally known here on the coast. This play will be presented in the Salem high school auditorium, in order that the large crowd may be accommodated.

Tryouts for this play were started yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and will be continued today. Professor Rahe is in charge. Anyone carrying 12 hours work and making the required grades is eligible to try out.

BEQUEATHMENT VALUABLE ASSET TO UNIVERSITY

Twenty-five hundred dollars was left by the late Mrs. Lauterman for the use of the Willamette university student body. Fifteen hundred dollars of this sum will be placed in the general endowment fund and the remaining thousand in the revolving loan fund.

Mrs. Lauterman was elected to the board of trustees in 1933 and was to have served until 1936. She is survived by her husband, J. H. Lauterman, who is the proprietor of the Argo hotel.

Frosh Glee Comm. Led By Benner, Serenade Theme for W. U. Bards

It may seem strange to members of the freshman class that they are to sponsor one of the outstanding events on the college calendar, but it's true. The one tradition which especially distinguishes Willamette from other universities is the annual Freshman Glee. This competitive musical highlight, to which hundreds of relatives, alumnae, and friends come from all sections of the state, will be held the night of the first Saturday in March, according to announcement this week. Miss Helen Benner, senior, who for three consecutive years has composed the words and lyrics of the winning songs, is chairman of the event. Her assistants will be Paul Hauser and Helen Purvine.

For the benefit of the freshman class and new students let it be explained that one day in chapel next semester the freshman class president will issue a challenge

EXEC. COMM. MAKES PLANS FOR BUSY YEAR

The student executive committee met last night with the graduate manager, Leslie J. Sparks, and the faculty representative, Dean F. M. Erickson.

The members of the committee are Bronk Williams, president A. S. V. U.; Helen Benner, vice-president A. S. W. U.; Dwight Aden, second vice-president A. S. W. U.; Esther Black, secretary; Alice Speck, editor of the Wallulah; Lillian Graham, editor Collegian; and Kenneth Manning, John Oravee, Harlan Sheldon and Don Armpriest from the four classes respectively.

Plans were discussed for the student body meeting to be held in chapel Friday. At that time a faculty representative will be elected by the student body to meet with the committee.

Various budget expenditures were discussed, and action will be taken at the next meeting.

Appointments were made for homecoming manager, frosh glee committee constitutional revision, and forensic managers.

The committee will meet soon again to discuss further the plans for homecoming and the Whitman banquet.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION COMM. READY FOR TASK

Tajbot Bennett has been named chairman of the constitutional revision committee to act during the ensuing year by the student executive committee. Randall Kester and Clarence Conn are to be assistants to Bennett.

It is the duty of this committee to re-adjust and add all necessary parts of the constitution and present the changes to the student body.

October 2 Date for Coffee House Open

Miss Louise Anderson, president of the Coffee House, announces the initial meeting for this year, next Wednesday evening, October 2. Although this will not be an open meeting, there will be an announced date when all those interested in individual writing may attend. This is the only campus literary society whose primary objective is to promote constructive criticism and creative writing among literary students.

Meetings are held bi-weekly, and productions of its members will be discussed there. Miss Anderson plans for a chapel program this year, when the members present their best works. Membership is by invitation and those who wish to join may submit their best compositions. No restriction is made on the form or style of writing.

The other officer for the year is Miss Una Lee, secretary-treasurer.

GLEE CLUB TELLS 'ELIJAH' TO BE GIVEN

Ralph Gustafson, sophomore from Portland, was elected president of the Men's Glee club at a meeting Monday night during which Prof. Marshall outlined plans and changes in organization which will affect both the Men's club and the Treble Clef club. Otto Wilson, Salem sophomore, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Instead of having the men's and women's vocal groups performing separately, as they did last year, Prof. Marshall plans to return to the Philharmonic Choir, the organization with which Willamette gained much publicity during its trip to the Chicago World's Fair three years ago. This group will consist of around eighty voices.

During the first part of the year the combined club will journey to nearby towns with the idea of keeping Willamette in the limelight as much as possible. During the first semester, also, the group will spend much time practicing for the opera "Elijah," which will be given soon after the beginning of the second term, according to present plans.

After "Elijah" it is probable that the organization will again consist of men's and women's groups, each club going on with its own separate program.

DON ARMPRIEST IS YELL CROWN PRINCE

Bill Hansen has asked Don Armpriest, freshman from Salem high, to assist him as yell king. Don has assumed the title of crown prince and will start working with Bill on the plans for the rally before the O. S. C.-Willamette game Saturday.

The pep staff announces the organization, in the near future, of a Willamette Rooters' club. This club is to be composed of ten members from each class, thus comprising a total of forty members exclusive of Anna Mae Urath, Song Queen; Bill Hansen, Yell King, and Don Armpriest, the new Crown Prince.

The club will be divided into committees—the rally committee, the skit committee, the excursion committee, and others. It is expected that this sort of an organization will carry out pep projects better than has any such group before it.

University Class Will Meet Sunday

Mrs. Bruce Baxter will be the guest of honor and chief speaker at an informal gathering of the members of the University Class of the Methodist Episcopal church at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Findley on next Sunday afternoon.

The group will meet at 3:30 o'clock for a social hour and short program. Ralph Gustafson will sing several numbers and Mrs. Baxter will tell of people whom she has met during her extensive travels. Miss Bartholomew, recently from Corvallis, where she was a leader in student work in the "church beside the campus" and now director of religious education in Salem First church, will be there to greet the students.

James Pyke, president of the University Class, urges everyone on the campus and especially the freshmen to attend this meeting as it will offer them a chance to meet both Mrs. Baxter and Miss Bartholomew as well as spend an interesting and entertaining afternoon.

ALIBI ODE

To the Editor:

I'm in a whirl,
Can't even think.
It's not a girl,
It's my freshman dink.

I lended it to sophomore,
Who wanted to pose,
And faithfully swore
To return it again.

But now he's absconded
The rascal, the rat,
And left me stranded
Without a hat.

—Anon.

VESPERS TO MEET SUNDAY AT CRESTO

For those interested in religious service on Sunday evening, University Vespers will be held in Cresto cottage on the Willamette campus Sundays at 6:30 P. M.

Officers for this semester are: President, Warren Peters; worship, Jean Hollingworth and Dolly Dingle; social, Marjorie Thorne; deputization, Gwen Gallagher; secretary, Mary Ring; treasurer, Frank Thomas.

According to Warren Peters, president, "the purpose of University Vespers is the challenging of young people to face the reality of a Christ-like life. We aim to go farther than petty discussion. We are asking those who attend to come with an open mind and a willingness to give something to the meeting. In short, we want to make University Vespers as much a part of the student's college life as his or her daily curriculum. In addition to the regular Sunday night meetings, we plan to hold frequent parties."

The organization was formerly called Campus Vespers, and is an advanced branch of Epworth League.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MEMBERS CHOSEN

One member from each class was recently elected to the Executive Council, the most powerful and important committee of the Willamette student body.

The seniors elected Kenneth Manning, a candidate for student body president last spring. The juniors surprised everyone by selecting Johnny Oravee. After a hotly contested campaign and revote Harlan Sheldon was elected from the sophomore class. Don Armpriest, this year's Yell Crown Prince, was made the freshman representative.

All Law Men Pass Bar Exam

One hundred percent of the men from the Willamette Law school who took the Oregon State Bar examination were admitted to the bar. This record was not equaled by any other school in the state.

The Willamette men who passed the examination were: Wallace Douglas, George Duke, Wesley Browton, Lawrence Brown, Jack Grant, Melvin Goode, and Ralph Skopel.

Stuart Foster, Yakima, Washington, was the only member of the graduating class who did not take the examination. He is expected to take the Washington state exam soon.

LARGEST FROSH CLASS SINCE ?? BEGINS STUDIES

Student Body of More than 650 is Expected; Largest Ever at W. U.

Two hundred twenty-five freshmen have enrolled up to date and, although more are expected, this is already a 17 per cent increase over the total freshman enrollment of last year, and will be the largest ever enrolled.

The number of transfers has also increased noticeably. At present the number of transfers registered is 24.

A great many of the freshmen came to school expecting work and Dr. Shulze reports that, although he had no idea that he would be able to place more than a part of the students who applied, he has now supplied virtually all of them with enough work to enable them to stay in school.

In actual numbers, there are 225 freshmen now registered and the total number of freshmen registered last year was 187. The total enrollment now is 615 in comparison with 519 this time last year.

After October 1, any student not fully registered must have a fool-proof excuse in order to go to school this semester.

From all reports this year first year class made remarkably few mistakes in registering leaving most of the enrollment troubles to upper classmen.

CUBS ORGANIZED TO SUBDU FROSH

Everett Gary, West Linn, was elected president of the Cubs at a recent meeting and Douglas Sharp vice president, and Ralph Gustafson, Portland, secretary. New members of the organization were elected at this time.

Members of the Cubs, irked at their inability to humble the freshmen after chapel yesterday, are determined to "bear down" harder today, and impress the first year men with the fact that being initiated into Willamette University is definitely serious business.

The new men are Al Heumann, Vern Blerson, Francis Sherwood, Bob Smith and Roy Ferris.

Besides the back which is to be administered to each freshman if someone of the class does not admit defacing the senior bench, the customary hark will be administered for no hat and no "rook bible." Members of the Cubs insist that these rules will be enforced rigorously from now until the end of the initiation season.

Student Library Committee to Act

Mr. Spencer expects to organize the Student Library Committee as soon as possible. The first meeting will be held Friday night.

The committee will soon compile a reading list to be used in the annual library book review contest. During the summer about a hundred and twenty-five books were added to the collection, and eight or ten of these books are now under consideration for the reading list. About 25 of the new books were donated by the Rex A. Pickering Memorial Peace Library, organized by the Kimball School of Theology during the years when that organization was a part of Willamette university. These books deal almost entirely with world peace.

At the present time the library is, for the most part monopolized by freshmen who are becoming initiated to the workings of the library through the English department. After this process is completed, the library assistants will have time to place the new books on the shelves.

About nine students have enrolled so far in the Library Science class, from which the library assistants will be selected later in the year.

MISS WELL SUB. PROFESSOR

Janet Well, W. U. '34, is substituting for Prof. E. O. Oliver for a few weeks until he recovers from an attack of scarlet fever.

Corvallis Excursion For Bearcat Boosters Leaves Campus 12:30

90 W. U. Pepsters Will Invade Bell Field—Tickets To Be Sold Today in General Manager's Office; Sale Starts at 1:30.

The executive committee acted last night in favor of an excursion to the Corvallis vs. Willamette game Saturday. Three Greyhound busses will leave from Waller Hall on the campus Saturday at 12:30 p. m., and return immediately following the game. The student body will make the excursion possible by paying a part of the expenses.

Tickets will be on sale in the general manager's office this afternoon at 1:30. The transportation will cost each person 35c for the round trip. (Only for first hundred buying tickets). Admission to the game will be 25c with A. S. W. U. student body tickets.

The total price of the excursion has been set at 60c for the trip so that everyone may attend. It is probable that this will be the only excursion this year, since the other games are to be played too far from Salem for students to attend.

Only the first hundred people who buy tickets from Mr. Sparks' office will secure transportation for 35c. If it is necessary to take another bus it will be necessary for the students to pay the usual Salem-Corvallis fare.

The yell king and song queen will be on the trip and plenty of fun and merriment is being planned before the game, which will be called on Bell Field at 3:00 o'clock.

The wish has been expressed that at least 150 rooters back the team on the Oregon State invasion.

STAFF ANNOUNCED FOR WALLULAH

Ell Swisher, manager of the Wallulah announced this week that he would start work on this year's year-book about the first of October.

The people to aid Swisher in the managing of the book will be Lloyd Riehl and Billy McReynolds. During the next month several others will be also chosen to aid in securing the advertising.

Miss Alice Speck, editor of the publication, has also chosen her staff to include the following people:

"Page Kaiser!" Mascot Needed To Aid Bearcats

"Oh, where, oh, where, can our little dog be?" That is the question which everyone is asking their friends about Kaiser, the mascot. From the first day of school just two years gone a huge German police dog by the name of Kaiser, became the mascot of Willamette. He made friends with everybody, especially the water-boy for the football team. They inaugurated a first-class Mutt and Jeff show. The police dog was as huge as a house, and the paid practically hid its carrier. The lad was just tall enough to look comfortably over the dog. His light brown hair and freckles made the couple look as though they were really brothers under the skin. Together, they would scurry to the team and set down the water with a proud grin. They were helping with the struggle.

Loyalty was a virtue with Kaiser. He was loyal to his owner; he never looked at another institution save Willamette; above all, he always remembered his friends. Though his acquaintances would fill a book, he never forgot a pretty "pass" or a familiar "mug." He knew every little freshman and all the mighty seniors. Although the girls were jumpy with jealousy, he was very intimate with the local football heroes. Nonetheless, he got along famously with the women.

When the football team journeyed to San Jose, Kaiser traveled along. The friends of Kaiser smuggled him aboard the train so that he would not have to be carted to the baggage room. Alas, he uttered a friendly bark at the conductor from under the Pullman seat. That ended Kaiser's career as a Pullman passenger. An always, he helped the brawny eleven bring home the bacon. ## 10 Demandments For Frosh

How are these for the upper classes to demand of the freshmen?

1. Thou shalt not wear any other school letter or emblem.
2. Thou shalt respond willingly to requests of upper-classes to work on the campus.
3. Thou shalt not enter chapel except by the north door.
4. Thou shalt doff thy green lid when passing a faculty member on the campus.
5. Thou shalt not sit on the senior bench.
6. Thou shalt not loiter in the halls.
7. Thou shalt at all times be courteous to upper-classmen.
8. Thou shalt wear thy green lids and ribbons without any complaint or growling.
9. Thou shalt observe all Willamette traditions.
10. The greatest of all: Thou shalt consider thyself a non-combatant when punishment for the violation of these rules is administered.

These are words of gentle advice and they face every wearer of the green cap as he treads on the campus.

With the seeming harshness of these rules the freshmen have much for which to be thankful. In years previous cruel sophomores have inflicted rash punishment upon their frosh brothers, and in every case something in tradition and in custom has sanctioned their deeds and likewise the freshmen have found something in custom as grounds for believing they were unjustly treated.

Who To Enforce Tradition?

Some members of the class of '39 showed an unsuspected amount of class pep by painting a white '39 on the senior bench. When the students arrived for their seven forty fives, the bold ensign of the infant class was staring the world in the early sunlight.

Sophomores gazed—but little did they do. The much anticipated struggle after chapel was completely over-looked. Whether or not the Cubs were not ready to enforce law and the traditions, we do not know, but we are sure that they are falling far below their here-to-for standard of order. In the speed of yesterday's activity we may find our campus cluttered with Frosh banners, numerals, and other infant's playthings.

We might suggest that if the organization entrusted to handle such matters does not act soon, that under the supervision of the upper classes the freshmen should be taught to respect the institution.

The time is well at hand when all new people should know and understand the background and future of our institution, and it is directly up to those of us here before to carry out the plans of those who have gone before us.

With the keen competition in many of our industries of today, the need for more intensive study upon the part of our modern youth is more in evidence than ever before in the whole of American history. Different forms of employment that were open to young men and women in former years no longer exist. Preparation for life that prevailed a few years ago no longer satisfies; the training of today's youth must be of a different nature than it was yesterday.

One of the most important of changes has had to do with the idea of coaching students to adjust themselves to their surroundings and to the different changes which are being made before their very eyes. Some of the most prominent innovations have to do with politics, the economic cycle, social aspects, and, most important of all, the different methods of education installed in our public schools and colleges.

The need for a well-balanced education such as one can receive in the junior colleges is of paramount importance to every student in the country.

The opportunities and responsibilities of youth, future citizens of the country, are greater than they have ever been in the past. The destiny of this great and bountiful nation depends upon the foresight of youth, and not, as some may erroneously think, upon the shoulders of our elder men.

Man's greatest discovery is the ability to find himself. Many times the latent abilities of a person are concealed in a misty haze of doubtfulness and fear of showing what he really is.

He who does not put in use his gifts and qualities fades and deteriorates just as unused machinery will become obsolete and rusty. Man must fix his mind on one ambition and focus all his mental and physical powers toward that goal. His conscience is his compass, and he should never allow indecision or any obstacle to change his course.

Multitudes have let other influences interfere with their innate aptitude, and consequently they have become failures or are still struggling in mediocrity.

Come on, fellows, give your classmates a break! Shall we call you slackers? What else could we call those freshmen who have not shown up nor intend to show up before the soph hazing committee. This group of "rugged individualists" which both sophs and frosh will sooner or later ferret out and give them all that's due—is severely penalizing his fellow classmates, who are receiving double the paddlings and work they would ordinarily get because these shirkers are not taking their share.

Just to show that every once in a while we agree with people we wish to say we agree with the executive committee on the present housing of student offices.

From Glenmorie comes word of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. George H. Atkinson (Mildred McKilloan), both ex-W. U. The infant weighed four pounds at birth and will remain in an incubator at Wilcox Memorial hospital in Portland until she has reached normal weight.

A second child, Catherine Jean, was born in August to Mr. and Mrs. William McAllister (Jean Middleton), '28, and '31, of Medford, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Fasnacht (Marie Rostin), '26, and ex-W. U., have a third child, Margaret Jane, born July 3. Mr. Fasnacht is superintendent of the Bandon, Oregon schools.

MARRIAGES

A recent wedding was that of Miss Janice Fawcett of Salem and Raymond Bassett, '22, Salem attorney. The couple motored to St. Louis, Mo., where Mr. Bassett attended the National American Legion convention. After a three weeks' trip they will return to Salem to make their home.

HIGH SURGICAL HONOR AWARDED TO DOCTOR HUBERT WILKEN

Dr. Hubert T. Wilken of Santa Monica has just been awarded a fellowship in the American College of Surgeons, an honor much desired by ethical surgeons. Announcement of the award comes from Dr. George Orle, chairman of the board of regents of the college.

The fellowship will be formally conferred on Dr. Wilken at the annual meeting of the college in San Francisco, October 28 to November 1. The fellowship address will be given by Dr. Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California.

Mrs. Margarette Wible Walker, '19, of Los Angeles, writes that Dr. Wilken is president of the Los Angeles Willamette group. Dr. Wilken received his A.B. degree in 1921 from Willamette. Mrs. Wilken will be remembered as Vivian Isham, ex-W. U. They have three children, a girl 12 years old, and twin boys, 10 years of age. Both Dr. and Mrs. Wilken are very active in the affairs of Santa Monica, where they have recently purchased a new home in a fine district. Dr. Wilken has a large and modern office and is very successful in his profession.

Laff Lines

This week the Collegian wishes to dedicate "Laff Lines" to Willam.

We read where the Eskimo translation for "I love you" is "Univaggaertuninananjuanjuaarsaq." No wonder the nights are so long up there.

Question and Answer Dep't. by Good Ol' Uncle Hannibal Himself. Dear Uncle Hannibal: My gums have become soft, and my teeth are beginning to fall out. What can I get to keep them in?—Anxious.

Dir. Anxious: Try a seegar box.—Uncle Hannibal.

"Honey," he said, after the first five minutes, "will you all marry me?"

"Why, this is all so southern."

"Have you any wild ducks?" asked the customer at the lunch counter.

"No, sir," the facetious college lad answered, "but we can take a tame one and irritate it for you."

Major: "The enemies were advancing as thick as peas."

Cadet: "What did you do?"

Major: "We shelled them."

And with a faint misgiving I give to you Joe Penner's theme song: "Buy a Waterfowl!"

Pearl Peterson: What's the matter, why so sour?

Jack Hayden: Oh, I wrote an article on milk and the editor condensed it.

We read what a feller out West in Colfax shot himself for cheating at solitaire.

Col. Fitzmaurice X. Blubberbrain's inventions: Eggless egg-shells to prevent there being a mess when dropped on the floor.

Fenders for grapefruit spoons.

Alarm clocks without a bell for students who don't take rook.

Maxim silencers for celery eaters.

Electric toasters with no cord, for people who don't eat toast.

A combination button hole, doughnut hole, and hubway tunnel puncher.

PAGE KAISER

valor was sung from the windows of the train so that all California might hear of his bark.

An animated incident occurred at a pep rally where he felt excitement was needed. Always willing to oblige, he leaped at one of the yell kings and nearly scared the poor fellow out of his pants.

During one game, he picked up a helmet and, without being ordered, trotted out upon the field. In front of a bare-headed player, he dropped the headgear and then marched nonchalantly away.

Kaiser enjoyed the best of society, and was always fed the juiciest scraps. He never failed to make himself comfortable at any social function. One afternoon he curled up in the best chair at the Beta Chi Sorority and dozed himself of some sleep. He delighted in romping through the fraternities where he would paw at all the closed doors until they were opened to let him in. His privileges were unlimited, and he was constantly using them.

Alas, we have Kaiser no longer. By some stroke of fate he didn't come back. Now the water-hoys is moaning and the football team is groaning. Worst of all, our freckled friend, the companion of Kaiser, needs affection. Who will supply it? Do I see many feminine lily-white hands fly high? By the way, we only want a dog. In a work—Page the Kaiser.

There was chop suey on the menu, but hte waiter wiped it off.

BOOKS

Two books of this year cater to the growing interest, especially on the Pacific coast, in the Orient and its relation to the Western world. They are "Twilight in the Forbidden City" and "The Great Wall Crumbles," and they deal with the interesting subject of the removing of the barriers in China and the consequent introduction of Western influence in that country.

"Twilight in the Forbidden City," is written by Reginald E. Johnston, an eminent English authority on China and Chinese affairs. Prefaced with a word from the Emperor himself, to whom the author had the distinction of being tutor, the book throughout gives authoritative information, especially from the point of view of the imperial house and that little-known personage, the emperor. Interest is added by many photographs and other illustrations. The author covers his subject completely and with a display of real knowledge.

"The Great Wall Crumbles," by Grover Clark, will probably be of more interest to the casual reader because it is briefer and goes less technically into the subject. The author states in his preface that all he can say by way of justifying his interpretation is that his chief interest since boyhood has been to understand what was happening in the Far East, and that he has spent many years there and has attempted to be impartial in his judgments. He says that in writing it he had in mind neither the specialist nor the scholar, "but the many friends who, though mainly occupied in other fields, seriously and sincerely want to know 'what it's all about'." Giving merely a brief historical sketch for perspective, he discusses clearly and in an interesting manner the present status of things in all its aspects, with many pertinent illustrations from his own experience, and gives finally his conception of the outlook for the future. It is an interesting and worthwhile book.

"Boy and Girl Tramps of America" by Thomas Minnehan, portrays in vivid and realistic fashion one of the less pleasant aspects of American life created by the depression. The author, dissatisfied with the usual objective sociological research methods of study left his classroom to live actually among the tramps of the road. He rode freight trains, slept in jails, was housed in missions, stood in breadlines, and went through all the usual experiences. Still dissatisfied with a mere statistical presentation of his interesting findings, he decided to write a book presenting his subject from the human side. "Boy and Girl Tramps of America" is the result. It is filled with anecdotes, conversations, attitudes expressed by the young tramps with whom he was associated. Their youthfulness, their backgrounds, and the conditions which they meet in their unfortunate circumstances give very interesting if at times rather unpleasant firsthand information about one phase of contemporary American life.

One of the very new books which will be put into circulation in the library is "Whitman: An Unfinished Story" by Stephen B. L. Penrose. This deals not with the poet, as one might expect, but with the nearby college at Walla Walla. Its author is the president emeritus of that institution. Beginning with an account of Marcus Whitman and the first pioneer settlements, it continues with the missions, the growth of Walla Walla and the founding and development of Whitman College. It emphasizes finally the continuing growth expected of the school, expressing wishes for its greater future. Such a book, enthusiastic as it is about its subject, would add to the fame of any college. A similar book would prove an asset to Willamette.

Janet Well, Willamette graduate in 1934, is substituting for Prof. E. O. Oliver for a few weeks until he is sufficiently recovered from his attack of scarlet fever to return to work.

To Be Seen On the Screen

NEW ROMANTIC TEAM SCORES

A new and outstanding romantic team makes its bid for screen prominence in the Fox Film production, "The Farmer Takes a Wife," which comes on Sunday to the Grand theatre.

Janet Gaynor and Henry Fonda, the romantic leads in the forthcoming production, gives promise of being the new sensation of the screen. Fonda, who is a newcomer, never having appeared before in a film production, has been identified with the speaking stage only, and registered a hit in the same character in the stage play that he essays in the picture.

Miss Gaynor and Henry Fonda are two young people who fall in love with each other while working on the Erie Canal.

Miss Gaynor is a canal-boat cook, born and bred on the waterways and completely in love with the life on the canal. Fonda, on the other hand, is a farmer by nature, working on the canal for the sole purpose of earning enough money to buy his own farm.

The opposed ideals of the two lovers adds a zest and charm to the romance that is altogether fascinating and delightful.

Supporting Miss Gaynor and Henry Fonda are such outstanding players as Charles Bickford, Slim Summerville, Roger Imhoff, Andy Devine, Jane Withers and Margaret Hamilton.

"The Farmer Takes a Wife" was produced by Winfield Sheehan and directed by Victor Fleming. The new film was adapted from Max Gordon's stage play of the same name, and is based on the novel "Romeo Haul" by Walter D. Edmonds.

WHILE AT THE STATE THEATRE SUNDAY

That dashing romantic and carefree amateur detective, Captain Hugh (Bulldog) Drummond, is once more rushing to the aid of a damsel in distress. But this time he lands in a hospital before he ever sees the damsel, and that is how Jack Hulbert gets a chance to double for him in "Alias Bulldog Drummond," with Fay Wray co-starred as the girl.

Jack Hulbert himself supplied the basic idea and J. O. O. Orton, Sidney Gilliat and Gerard Fairlie wrote the original screen play in collaboration with "Sapper," author of the Bulldog Drummond mystery stories.

The adventures of Drummond's alias all take place in a single night and start when Jack Pennington, gentleman, athlete and a simple soul always looking for excitement and the chance to be a hero to a pretty girl, crashes into Bulldog Drummond, whose brakes have been tampered with by the criminals.

The accident puts Drummond in the hospital. . . and Jack in his shoes, and they put him in a spot where he is doomed to die by a half-crazed old fellow who leads a gang of clever and daring jewel thieves.

The action takes place mostly in the lair of the thieves, which has a cleverly contrived secret entrance through an unused and boarded up subway station. There are trap doors, hidden amplifiers, a circular staircase, and many of the picture's most breathless thrills take place in an art museum and in a subway train driven by a maniac.

Claude Hulbert, borrowed from Warner Bros. First National, plays the role of "Algy," who is no less befuddled by the mystery than Drummond's alias. This is the first time the two brothers, Jack and Claude, have been teamed together on the screen. Fay Wray is once more the heroine in need of a rescuer. Others in the cast are Ralph Richardson as the crazy Morelle, gang leader; Gibb McLaughlin in his usual butler role, and Paul Graetz and Cyril Smith.

The direction was in the hands of Walter Forde, who has directed such thrillers as "Rome Express" and "The Ghost Train."

FROSH GLEE

the stage and lining up and going through some selected formation which, it is hoped, will catch the fancy of the judges and crowd. Each class is being judged as soon as the piano sounds the first note, and the critical air is held until the class sits down again with the last chord. Woe be unto that unworthy individual who gets out of step, or trips on the stairs coming down.

As added zest to the Glee, tradition requires that the men of the lowest judged class jump into the mill race at Monday chapel period. This year's junior class has had the distinct honor of immersing their chagrin in the icy waters of the beloved mill stream. The only part that the faculty takes in the Glee itself is the announcement of the winning class, which has been done by Professor Matthews for many years.

Last, but not least, is the feverish wagering of bets before the Glee, and the screaming results when bets have to be paid. Pennants are rolled around the side-walks, boys dress like girls, girls dress according to their bets, some loser will wander around the aisles of Chapel during the service, and each class will present a parody of an opponent's song.

To be fully appreciated, Freshman Glee must be participated in, but a warning to the freshmen—that mill stream is terribly cold and wet in March.

THIS 'N' THAT

And mighty strange it seems to me That with the mob of rooks We have cavortin' around Willamette's grounds That those we know as the "Mighty Cubs" Were forced to polish The reverse sides of each Other's pants, while Froshdom Was lookin' too. But all the rest of us there present At the "polishing bee" Appreciate The fact that they The "Mighty Cubs" Put on a show To please the folks Who stood about and Watched the fun. But anyhow, We still can't see Why Cubs sawt Cubs and Burn each other's pants with Boards, while freshmen laugh And just walk off with Nice cool pants when The party's over.

—I thank you.

Pledge Lists Announced By Fraternities

Concluding several weeks of extensive rushing by the Willamette fraternities, over 50 men on the campus have been pledged to the houses. The first list was released by Dr. Robert Gatzke and Dean Frank Erickson last week. Since that time many have been added.

Alpha Psi Delta fraternity announce the pledging of Frank Guerin, George Abbot, Basil Anton, John Kelly, Paul Sturges and George Billings, all of Portland; Charles Roblin, Louis Hershberger, Maynard McKinley, Art Lampka, Bob Buxton and Clyde Wiegand, all of Salem; Ray Burby and Brant Gard of Pasadena, Cal.; Ed Howell and Ernest Mosier of The Dalles; Hal Cattley of Canby; John Ferguson of Mason City, Wash.; Glenn Heimsoth of Los Angeles; Ron Hagg of Roseburg, and Henry Woodbury of Custer City, Kan.

Kappa Gamma Rho have pledged Leonard Olson, Robert Nelson and Ward Wieneke, all of Portland; Kendall Teisinger of Sydney, Mont.; Mervin Brink of Tiller; Wilmer Willis of Los Angeles, Harlie Cornett and Vernon Forbes of Bend, and Bill Fisher and Ellsworth Morley of Salem, Delmer Ragsdale of Baker, Rex Pierce of Portland, Al Tiedholdt of Roseburg, John Hamman of Grants Pass and Al Kreutz of Tillamook.

Sigma Tau's pledge list includes Jack Aiton of Helena, Mont.; David Clark and Malcolm Wainman of Portland, Howard Campbell of Dallas, Karl Kahle of West Linn, Herman Estes of White Salmon, Wash.; Bob Smith, Bob Clarke, Donald Armpriest, Jim Fowler and Harry Fredericks, all of Salem; Bill Morris of Oakland, Ore.; Gerald Gastineau of Yankton, Mo., and Harold Lambertson of Port Townsend, Wash.

Alpha Phi Alpha Entertain

Saturday night after the victorious football game the Alpha Phi Alpha girls entertained with a successful victory party. All members and their dates were cordially invited. The affair was very informal and light refreshments were served.

Those who attended were Mrs. Brock, housemother, the Misses Ruth Vocum, Rachael Vocum, Lunelle Chapin, Dorothy McDonald, Helen Knight, Ann Knight, Edythe Glaisyer, Helen Peterson, June Dahlgreen and Norma Fuller.

The Messers. were Bruce Carlin, Dean Cadie, Wayne Doughton, Bill Fisher, Howard Campbell, Albert Foster, Max Taggart, Irvin Potter, Kenneth Beauchamp and Roy Ferris.

Mrs. Elliott Left for East

Mrs. F. A. Elliott, housemother at Beta Chi sorority, left the first of September for an extended visit in the east. She will be gone about three months and is planning to attend several conventions. Miss Beryl Holt is acting as housemother in the absence of Mrs. Elliott. Miss Holt is a teacher at the Salem high school and a former graduate of Willamette.

Lausanne Holds Riotous Party

Bursts of laughter, groans of dismay, and shrieks of horror might have been heard issuing from Lausanne Hall last Friday night by anyone with nerve enough to remain in the vicinity. Cabbage Theater night it was, initiation for all the new girls. After hilarious and breath-taking adventures the girls were officially received into the organization.

This body is more active than is perhaps realized by many on the campus. Parties, dances, and other events are planned to give the girls of Lausanne a social life in keeping with the other organizations at Willamette.

Evans Hamilton and Bob Houck, former graduates of Willamette and Bob Banning, a former student and now living in Portland, were entertained by Kappa Gamma Rho last week-end.

Sigma Tau fraternity had as their guests over the week-end Mr. John Gilhousen of The Dalles and Mr. Stearns Cushing, former W. U. grads.

Gerald Sherman and his brother Keith of Whitefish, Montana have been visiting on the campus the past week and at the Sigma Tau house. They both plan to return to school next fall.

Miss Wanda Landon spent the week-end in Eugene visiting friends.

Miss Pauline Moore, former Willamette student and now attending Monmouth Normal visited friends in Salem last week.

International Students To Be Honored At Y.W.C.A. Tea

Honoring Miss Keunlei Emoto, the exchange student from Hawaii, and Miss Chicksoon Choi, scholarship student from Korea, the Y. W. C. A. girls will be hostesses for an informal tea Friday afternoon from three to five o'clock at Chresto cottage. All students on the campus and the faculty are cordially invited.

Miss Julia Johnson will introduce to the line which will consist of the honored guests and Miss Helen Knight, president of the Y. W. C. A. The cabinet will assist informally about the room in receiving the guests. A musical program will be presented during the afternoon. An attractive arrangement of fall flowers will be used on the tea table guarded by tapers. Mrs. Bruce Baxter and Mrs. Frank Spears will alternate at the tea urns. Miss Anoka Coates is in charge of serving and will be assisted by a group of freshmen girls. Miss Roberta McGilchrist is arranging the decorations, while Miss Edna Savage is planning the refreshments.

Miss Bartholmew Feted at Lausanne Dinner

Honoring Miss Mildred Bartholmew, new director of young people's activities at the First Methodist church, the girls of Lausanne Hall gave a delightful dinner Sunday. Other guests of honor were Dr. and Mrs. Baxter and Dr. and Mrs. Milligan.

The guests were seated around a large table decorated with tapers and tiny bouquets. After dinner the new girls were given the opportunity to make the personal acquaintance of the honor guests, while the other girls renewed friendships of last year.

Miss Phelps Honored

Miss Savilla Phelps, popular fall bride-elect, was honored with a delightful kitchen shower Wednesday evening with Mrs. Phil Huth and Miss Barbara Elliott sharing hostess honors at the Huth apartment at the Hazelhof. Fall flowers were used about the rooms and on the supper table. Miss Phelps' marriage to Harold Busick will take place Sunday in Portland.

Those bidden to honor Miss Phelps were the Misses Ruth Fick, Carolyn Braden, Dorothy Dalk, Jeryme Upston, Esther Giffard, Margaret Nunn, Margaret Helzel, Rattie Ramp, Margaret Savage, Jane Fisher, Mrs. Dan Schreiber and Mrs. Stanley Maves.

Alumni Entertained

Alpha Psi Delta entertained many week-end guests who came for the Willamette-San Jose game. All were graduates and former students and members of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity.

Those enjoying the week-end were Ronald Hewitt, Joseph Scott, Percy Sweet, Robert Sweet, Miles Woodworth, James Nutter, Melvin Crow, Steve Anderson, William Tull and Clarence Ellis.

Mrs. C. E. Weston has been visiting her daughter Rosamond at the Beta Chi house.

Miss Naomi Hewitt, graduate of '34, attended the Willamette-San Jose game Saturday.

Miss Lois Underwood has been at her home in Oregon City the past week and has now returned to resume her studies.

The Misses Martha Warren and Dorothy Durkee have now returned to Willamette and will continue with their studies this year.

Miss Jessie Pyron visited friends on the campus last week. She is now in nurses training at St. Vincent's hospital in Portland.

Mrs. Maxine Ulrich Cushing and Miss Rose Naef, alumnae of the University, were guests of the Alpha Phi Alpha house during the last week-end.

Miss Holt Honored By Beta Chi's

Miss Beryl Holt, housemother at Beta Chi sorority was the guest of honor at an informally arranged party at the chapter house following the San Jose game last Saturday evening. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served from the dining table which was centered with fall flowers.

Those honoring Miss Holt were the Misses Ila Mills, Melva Belle Savage, Rosamond Weston, LaVerne Norton, Marguerite Clark, Dorothy Gormley, Jean Hollingsworth, Margaret Nunn, Eleanor Trindle, Frances Ellis, Esther Giffard, Dorothy McGee, Jeryme Upston, Ruth Bunzow and Charlotte Litchfield.

Escorts were the Messers Kenneth Hanson, Otto Wilson, Bud Flint, Bill Schermerhorn, Louis Stitt, Winthrop Henderson, John Robinson, Ray Newland, Mervin Brink, Kenneth Peterson, Kenneth Manning, Karl Kahle, Delmar Ramsdell, Everett Gary and Steve Anderson.

Jolly Jaunt Held Wednesday

A Jolly Jaunt was taken by all the freshmen and new girls and their big sisters to the country home of Dean and Mrs. Farnk Erickson Wednesday afternoon. This is an annual affair and helps to better acquaint the students. Games were played during the afternoon and refreshments were served before jaunting back to town. Miss Esther Giffard was in charge of the affair.

Miss Charlotte Schneller spent the week-end at her home in Portland.

Bob Banning, ex-W. U., now resident of Portland, attended the game Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sparks entertained the W. U. Executive Committee Wednesday evening at their home at the dinner hour.

Breakfast Club to Entertain Steiner

The Salem Breakfast club is entertaining Lon Steiner, Carl Loddell and Larry Waldquist at one of its most interesting sessions of the year Friday morning.

The club's efforts to build up a large Salem crowd for the O. S. C. vs. W. U. game will interest all of Willamette.

The Willamette university band, under the direction of its new leader, Wesley Roeder will provide the music.

Fraternities Celebrate Victory

Alpha Psi Delta and Kappa Gamma Rho fraternities celebrated the victory of the Willamette-San Jose game with informal parties in their houses.

The guests at Alpha Psi Delta enjoyed dancing and were served light refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ramsdell were chaperones.

Honored guests were the Misses Jeryme Upston, Margaret Savage, Esther Giffard, Kay Epperston, Grace Bailey, Elva Selon, Charlotte Litchfield, Jean Marshall, Helen Keudell, Esther Black, Peggy Haight, Ruth Bunzow, Althea Stevens, Margaret Hauser, Doris Unruh, Margaret Gary, Lowelyn Corn, Viola Crozier, Betty Lane, Jeannette Aizhart, Valera Amort, Alice Speck, Joy Hershberger, Peggy Peterson, Edna Savage, Marian Steigewald, Dorothy Ferris, Ruth Wilson, Ruth Tscharnner, LaVonne Carr, and Jean Bartlett.

Hosts were the Messers Delmar Ramsdell, David Johnson, Kenneth Manning, Miles Woodworth, Joseph Scott, Al Pietila, Steve Anderson, John Edwards, Dekin Jones, Dwight Aden, Louis Hershberger, Everett Gary, Verne Adams, Roy Ferris, Bill Stone, Guy Heimsoth, Donald Hagg, Robert Yeo, Elver Rohde, Wilmer McDowell, John Kelly, Leroy Casey, Brant Gard, Hal Cattley, Maynard McKinley, Hank Woodbury, John Ferguson, Glenn Heimsoth, Frank Guerin, Clyde Wiegand, Art Lampka, and Bob Buxton.

Informal but merry was the party at the Kappa Gamma Rho house Saturday evening. Dancing was the diversion of the evening.

Guests were the Misses Eleanor Trindle, Helen Woodfin, Lois Bourgardis, Dorothy Ellinger, Lorene Tompkins, June Dahlgreen, Marjorie Thorne, Mary Jeannette Sargent, Esther Nelson, Julia Philip, Marian Wakefield, Frances Ellis, Willeta Smith, Dorothy MacDonald, Gwen Hunt, Harriet Childs, and Dorothy Murphy.

Hosts for the affair were Mervin Brink, Ralph Gustafson, Dan Baptist, Frank Pemberton, Verne Rlerson, Kenneth Beauchamp, Randall Kester, Charles Neville, Bob Clarke, Lawrence Morley, James Barnett, Kenneth Peterson, Kendall Tysinger, Harry Mohr, Bill Fisher, Wilbur Benson, and Ray Bowman.

F. D. Sanctions Site Expenditure

With President Roosevelt's official sanction of the $200,000,000 public works program, in which is included funds necessary for extending the present capitol grounds to include the campus also, probably the most important milestone has been passed in the struggle to enlarge the present capitol site.

This official action of the President is reinforced by growing public sentiment to the effect that the capitol site should not be changed, but merely enlarged.

The Grange, heretofore very reticent about sanctioning the spending of sufficient funds with which to procure the campus grounds, is unbending to some extent. Clackamas county grange council, representing 18 local granges, last week endorsed the acquisition of the university grounds as a part of the new site.

Poor Little Fellers

Poor fella . . . you come to a new school, and immediately those superior sophs start to persecute you . . . poor little fellows, you sit around in groups and think dark thoughts, and curse because you can't do a thing about it. But if there was no hazing you'd think you were slighted. Hazing is a good thing. In fact it is a very good thing—it just goes to show you—before you can start anything, if you were going to start anything, you're not supposed to start. In other words, it shows you that even though you might have been big guys in your high schools you are only a little inconsequential drop in a bucket that will always be a lot bigger than you. It shows you that superiors always have something you lack. If you learn that lesson you'll be a lot better fellow, and maybe you'll develop what you lack, and then be a lot better big fellow.

But don't let the sophs get you down. They're not superiors yet. They just happen to be little bit bigger dots than you.

RAMBLING SHOPPER By UNCLE WILLIE

Hi-de-ho, blokes, er—folks! Pardon us, but Uncle Willie has a new cavity that makes his tongue slip gears every so often. After last night's sleepless night (that sounds lousy, but it's English) he's been wondering if the guy wasn't a dentist who said, "Uncle Willie has the head that wears a crown."

Going back to Miller's last Monday to see what damage his column had done to Mr. Keith's dignity, Uncle Willie was tipped off to the following plot against him: Uncle was to be inveigled into the lingerie department, at which place one of the good looking gals was to take his picture, and said picture was to be published in their next Collegian ad. But they can't fool Uncle Willie. From now on Oscar the Office Boy picks up the ads.

Unbeknownst to them because his spy was hid behind a delicious milk shake, Uncle Willie has found out that Helen Purvine and Irma Oehler bought some things at Woolpert and Legg Drug Store the other day, and he hazards a guess it was war paint that the squaws will wear to the dances after Saturday's Beaver hunt. Even Miss Morange, the French Queen of Uncle Willie's Reign of Terror last year, popped in and then out again. But Mr. Woolpert and Mr. Legg appreciate even that much patronage. And take it from Uncle Willie, "Doc" Legg can sure concoct a mean milk shake, and you get plenty for only a thin dime. Bus tokens aren't accepted this week.

It won't be long now until themes will be due. Uncle Willie is trying to collect his just debts, but that's just as far as he gets. (You won't understand that last one if you've forgotten your baby talk.) He wants to take this old "mill" to the Typewriter Exchange and let Mr. Thos. Roen cure it of stuttering. If yours stutters, has fallen type, disintegrated ribbons, or a loose chassis, better get it fixed up pretty pronto.

Uncle Willie was the guest of the Grand Theatre last Monday, and he must confess that Salem does have one grand theatre now. New furnishings, decorations, and comfortable seats mark it as one of the most beautiful and luxurious show houses around these parts. When told that the picture next week would be "The Farmer Takes a Wife," Uncle had to hand it to the farmer. From Uncle's knowledge it's the wife that's always "taking" the man.

Say, fellows, how are you making out with that girl you've had your eyes on for the past two weeks? How's about some candy from the Spa to help break down that wall of indifference. Tell Mr. Myers your secrets, boys, and trust him—yeah, man, just trust him.

Or, if she's like Julia Johnson and can't eat sweets, take her to the AK-SAR-BEN for some good home-made ice cream, or chicken pie. (Julia can't eat ice cream, fellows, because it tickles her teeth. Buy her a cone and she'll go into convulsions.) During the repast you can read philosophy nailed on the walls. One card says, "Knockers don't win, and Winners don't knock," which reminded us that neither do some of youse guys' knocs.

SOCIETY NOTE: The Misses Joyce Harkwood, Rosalie Goldet, and Marcan Arrell entertained Professor Willie at a theatre party at the State Theatre last Friday evening. The picture, "The Informant," was greatly enjoyed by the Misses Joyce, Rosalie, and Marcan, and Professor Willie, due no doubt to the excellent sound reproduction which is to be found at this theatre.

CAMPUS BREEFS: The Misses Joyce Harkwood and Rosalie Goldet have discarded their Emily Post training in favor of the Y. W. M. Etiquette Classes, in anticipation for another future date with Professor Willie.

Bearcats Invade Corvallis This Saturday

CORVALLIS GAME IS NEXT ON LIST FOR BEARCATS

"This Year if Ever" Says Bearcat Mentor in Face of Big Injured List

Afternoon Game Scheduled With 25c Admission for Student Body Members

The best chance Willamette has had to take the Oregon Staters into camp since he arrived at Willamette many years ago: that is the way Coach Keene, Bearcat mentor, feels about Saturday afternoon's contest.

A big list of injured has somewhat darkened the rosy prospects, but in spite of them, the Maroon and Gold team is still plenty powerful, spark-plugged as it is by prospective All-American Johnny Oravec. The Oregon State combination is not as strong this year as it has been in the past few seasons, although it still has a formidable line that contains many of the old guard of a couple of years past.

Right in the middle of their line, they have a big fellow called Deming, who has the reputation of stopping them no matter what the size or speed. McClurg is another fellow in the line who will be a plenty tough customer to handle. All in all, however, the Beavers haven't got such a hot offensive, with their backfield particularly in need of a lot of smoothness.

In their game last Saturday against Linfield they looked anything but impressive, although they piled up a 31 to 0 shut-out. Both teams looked rather ragged, both having a better defense than offense, and not many points are made while playing on the defense.

Bill Stone, junior backfield man, sliced open his hand while chopping wood Tuesday evening, and although it was necessary to take a lot of stitches, he will be in the game and ready for service Saturday afternoon. It is the line that particularly worries Keene, for he has a hole to fill in the already weakened posts at tackle. Bob Vogt sustained injuries in last week's game that will keep him out for three weeks. McAdams was another victim, getting a broken hand when he tackled Stockdale who was attempting an end run.

Local fans are betting that Willamette ought to win, possibly by a touchdown, and maybe by one point. Once a touchdown is made, the Bearcats are almost a cinch to get the extra point, for Weisgerber has missed only five times since he started putting them through the goal posts a year ago. It is expected that Oravec will be able to break loose at least once during the sixty minutes of play, and if and when he does, it should be good for a touchdown.

Plans are that the game will be broadcasted over the facilities of KOAC the state college broadcasting station.

Tennis Prospects Good This Year

With three members of last year's squad back, including Northwest champion Talbot Bennett, Willamette should stand a good chance to regain the crown wrested from them last year.

Bennett has won the Northwest cup two years in a row, and went through last season with only one defeat, scoring wins over the Oregon, Oregon State and Washington No. 1 men, Harrison Winston, his doubles partner, who filled No. 2 berth last season has transferred to the University of Oregon, and Wendell Brainard, No. 4, graduated.

Harvey and Stone are the other two who are back. A jockey tournament will be held early in the spring to determine who will be the other members of the five-man squad.

Joe Harvey, Portland, a letterman last year in both basketball and tennis, has returned to school from Gearhart, Oregon, where he has been working this summer. He is now working at the Marion hotel and will resume school work at once.

Today's thought: Never argue with the undertaker. He always gets in the last dig.

ERICKSON RETURNS FRIDAY WITH OWN HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

Was Star Player Here Few Years Ago; Now Head Coach at Camas High

Walt Erickson, who achieved national honors in football a very few years ago under the tutelage of Spec Keene, will return to his old stamping ground, Sweetland field, this Friday evening.

This time, however, he will be on the bench worrying instead of his former role as star half-back. He is now coach of the Camas high school team which comes to Salem to meet the Salem Vikings.

A large nucleus of lettermen are back from the team which last year breezed through most of its contests undefeated. Erickson states that though his team is small, they make up for their size in speed and fight.

The Salem outfit has been put through a strenuous routine of training in preparation for the game, and with the exception of a couple of injured, are all ready for the fight of their lives.

The game will be held on Sweetland field on Friday night under the lights.

GUESSIN' with GARY

San Jose, a college of almost 3,000 disappointed us last week-end in not holding Willamette to one touchdown. When we received a lot of copy from their publicity agent telling of the prowess of the Spartans, it almost scared us. 18 lettermen and an entire first string of veterans rode evil to Willamette's chances, so we predicted a score of 7 to 0, Willamette—at least we picked the winner, so why worry about a little thing like 7 points more or less. As for this Saturday, 7-6 for Willamette sounds pretty close.

The mortality rate on backfield men is still pretty high, Bill Stone being the latest to join the ranks of the injured. It seems that Bill was out in the woodshed playing around with the ax when all of a sudden something happened. The result was a badly cut thumb that required a lot of stitches to mend. According to Stone however, a little thing like an almost missing thumb won't keep him out of the game Saturday when the Bearcats invade Corvallis.

The ace of the Golden Gate, DuBose, San Jose's 207 pound fullback marvel ran into a brick wall, in fact a half dozen brick walls when he tried his power-house drives against the Bearcat line last Saturday night. Only one first down was chalked up to San Jose, and that one came in the last minute of the game when a trick play worked.

On the first kickoff in the San Jose game, towering, hard-driving tackle, Bob Vogt ran interference for Johnny Oravec and hit a San Jose tackle so hard it showed a shoulder muscle clear out of place. In spite of this injury he played the entire first quarter and most of the second. In about the middle of the second period, he made a particularly hard tackle, and things went to pieces in his shoulder. Three weeks will be the time required for the injury to heal, and in the meantime the already low supply of reserve tackles will come into service. Baptist, Kahle, Woodbury, Billings, and Newhouse will bear the brunt of service at the tackle posts.

Oravec and Olson, Bearcat Backs Who Are Hard to Stop

Oley Olson and Johnny Oravec, all-conference backs who led the way in last Saturday's game in which the Bearcats wiped up the San Jose Spartans to the tune of 14 to 0. Oravec rolled up more than 135 yards gain through the Spartan defense wall, and is on his way to national fame again this season. Last year he received All-American mention, and was second highest scorer in the U. S. Olson is back again this year after a season's layoff, and is formidable as ever.

ED FRANTZ GETS COACHING POSITION

Edward Frantz, class of '34, and an All-Conference man in both football and basketball, has been selected for the job of coach and physical education instructor for the junior high school in Astoria.

Edward Frantz

lammie in several years, being the spark-plug and brains of last year's championship football team. Very seldom, if ever, did he make a bender in the difficult role of signal barker.

In basketball he was a lion on defense, and one of the hardest fighters on the team. In addition to his athletic prowess he was an honor student.

Swimming Classes Popular, Y.M.C.A.

During the past week over 50 men have enrolled to join the swimming classes being held at the Y. M. C. A. Most of the people in the class are freshmen on the campus, and since it is not yet too late to enroll, Y. M. C. A. instructors hope many upperclassmen will also take advantage of the offering.

The classes meet Tuesday and Thursday morning at the Y. M. C. A. pool at 7:45, 8:40, and 9:35. There is also a class which meets at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, for those students unable to attend at another hour.

Anyone who wishes to enroll for the class, should see Bill Lemon, local instructor.

Ex-Lincoln Star Enrolls at W. U.

Stan Peters, the boy who tossed the shot put over 50 feet, and who also captained Lincoln High's team in Portland last year, has enrolled at Willamette.

The addition of this 235 pounder to the reserve list of centers brightens the prospects for a strong middle line.

"On the Bearcat Front" ROY FERRIS

Beat Oregon State is on the lips of every Bearcat footballist as they swing into their final preparation for this week's battle with the Beavers at Bell field, Corvallis. The boys who carried the victory colors, Cardinal and Gold, over San Jose State last Saturday are confident of smashing Coach Lon Steiner's dam-builders to bits in their race for Northwest honors. The Beaver who barely nosed out Willamette's heavy, smooth rolling machine last year are one of the few teams who elected the Bearcats for an early season game.

This year they will run into one of the finest eleven Spec Keene has ever put on the field. Not only will the Orange be up against the rulers of the Northwest conference but an evenly balanced aggregation with lots of speed and fire from end to end.

The new men who stepped into the nucleus of the Bearcat's forward wall which was left vacant by the graduation of four all-conference men, proved they can more than hold their own. Newhouse, Vogt and Billings, tackles, proved outstanding against San Jose while Williams and Beckon supplied the fire in the center of the line. Newhouse, Williams and Beckon proved to be new iron men by lasting the full 60 minutes of play while Vogt was less fortunate in having to leave the game in the second quarter with a severe arm injury. Billings took up the tackle job where Vogt left off and proved himself to be a very capable one.

Can Oregon State stop Johnny Oravec? If they can they are one of the few that has accomplished this almost impossible task. It will be my guess that when the Beavers start chasing Oravec, "Cruncher" Olson will be carrying a few bewildered Oregon Staters through the center of the line for six yards, or Weisgerber will be shaking off a few opponents on an off-tackle play. If this doesn't happen maybe the hard-hitting Bill Stone will start rolling off yardage.

The victory-hungry Bearcats are after Beaver hides and right now they are a good price. No other time is more opportune than the present for our good coach, Spec Keene, to annex a victory over his Alma Mater.

If the San Jose State game that Coach Keene is trying to get for a return engagement is arranged, football fans of Oregon, Washington and California will get to see two of the country's lightest and best linemen in action. These two men are Harold Hoyt, one of the best guards in the Northwest who

Hauser Sports Ed. Oregon Statesman

Paul Hauser, a junior at Willamette this year, has resumed his position as sports editor of The Oregon Statesman. For several years Hauser has been the power behind the sports page at that newspaper, doing that in addition to carrying almost a full schedule of classes at the university.

The Statesman has proved to be invaluable to Willamette teams, publicizing all games in the columns of their paper.

weighs 160 pounds, and Bronk Williams, tough, hard-fighting center, at another 160. Hoyt is playing his final year for the Bearcats and very seldom does he fail to get through the line against big 200 pound opposing linemen. In the last quarter of the San Jose game, Hoyt after being on the bottom of many plays broke through the line and tackled one of the San Jose hard-hitting backs for a three yard loss. His outstanding ability to play hard, consistent football through the entire 60 minutes and his great blocking ranks him as one of the most valuable players Willamette has ever had. Williams' great line work on offense lies in his ability of being a good ball snapper; taking the opposing center out of the play and then driving hard at the secondary backs till he has one or two completely off their feet. On defense Bronk eagerly awaits the chance to knock down opponents' passes and at this he is good to watch. It will be interesting to see Hoyt and Williams handle the big 200 pounders who play in the middle of Oregon State's line this Saturday.

The reporting of Stan Peters, center, who captained Lincoln High of Portland last year is expected to help the Bearcats out a great deal. Spec Keene has long been worried for a capable reserve to help relieve Williams at the pivot position and this big 235 pound Portlander seems to answer the call.

The loss of Bill "Speed" Beard is hard to take. Bill climbed out from under a serious pile prior to the San Jose game with a broken ankle. Beard's loss will be severely felt as he was expected to help out Oravec. Beard is the cream of the Bearcat's grid prospects and he can follow his inter-

HOMEcoming GAME SLATED FOR OCT. 19 AGAINST IDAHO

Night Game With Co-Champions Caps Celebration; Banquet Before Game

The biggest and most elaborate "Home-coming" Willamette University has ever seen, is the plan of Student Body President Bronk Williams, and Bill Hansen, yelling.

October 19 has been selected tentatively for this annual occasion, the early date allowing it to fall on the big home game of the season. "A natural" is what it is, for on that date the Bearcats meet the powerful aggregation from the College of Idaho. This night game will pit the two co-champions of the Northwest conference in a contest that will affect the final ratings, and probably decide the race.

The night before the game, a theatre party with Willamette coming in for a lot of yells, songs and general noise will be the feature attraction. The regular alumni banquet Saturday, and then the big game following it will climax the celebrations.

Coach Basler has another very strong outfit, and intends to save up for the game with Willamette in an attempt to show that Idaho really has a championship squad. Last year a slip-up in schedules prevented the two from meeting, and the result was that both ended the season with no losses chalked against them. The general consensus of opinion then was that the Bearcats, with half a dozen all-conference men would have triumphed had the two teams played.

Bob Vogt and McAdams Injured

Bob Vogt's shoulder injury will definitely keep him out of the Oregon State game this Saturday. The San Jose State game took an important step in hampering the Bearcats victory over the Beavers when the star Willamette tackle had to leave the game in the second quarter with torn ligaments in the shoulder. While in the game Vogt gave the fans a chance to forget about the all-conference man who left the tackle position open by graduation. Vogt's injury will probably keep him on the sidelines for at least three weeks. During this time Billings who showed up well after stepping into Vogt's shoes will probably start against Oregon State.

Big Bill McAdams, letterman end also received a bad hand injury. While going down on a punt early in the game McAdams was blocked unexpectedly from the side and lost his balance. The result was two broken fingers on the left hand and he was forced to retire. McAdams is confident in getting into the Oregon State game by wearing a heavy cast on his injured hand. If he can play he will probably take Vogt's position at tackle, while Erickson, Phillips and Abbot will alternate at the vacant end position.

The rest of the team pulled through the first game of the season in great shape. Unless further injuries develop in this week's practice session Spec Keene will be able to start a team in first class condition. Johnny Oravec spent the first part of the week in the hospital recovering from a bad cold. He is expected to be in tip-top shape when the Bearcats take to the field against the Beavers this Saturday.

Oravec and hits the line like a veteran.

Willamette's chances are seriously setback by Vogt's and McAdams' injuries. If the reserves can come through in great style the Bearcats have an even chance to beat the Beavers of Oregon State. Anyway I pick the Bearcats to take a close battle for their first gridiron victory over the Orange in many moons.

Madge Marwan, Ashland, and George Cannady, Portland, both of whom were in last year's graduating class, are attending school in the east on scholarships.

BEARCATS BEAT SPARTANS WITH SMOOTH ATTACK

San Jose Offense Crumbles Under Ferocious Power; 14 to 0 Final Score

Oravec Scores Touchdown; Does Most of Ball Toting; Vogt Injured

With a whirlwind offensive, and an impregnable defensive, the Willamette Bearcats stormed their way to a 14 to 0 win in their first contest of the season against the supposedly strong Spartans from San Jose State college.

It was almost an all-Oravec night, as the fleet-footed ace, aided by perfect interference, drove through and around the Spartan forward wall for substantial gains on almost every play. After a first quarter full of punt exchanging, the Bearcats gradually gained ground, and on the third play of the second period Oravec pilled through the middle of the line with such force that he went clear to the goal post before being stopped. Weisgerber converted for the extra point with a kick that sailed true through the goal posts as have done 25 of his last 30 attempts.

Again in the fourth quarter the Maroon and Gold machine rolled down the field, and this time it was Weisgerber who plunged over the final stripes for 6 more points.

San Jose's offense really didn't have much of a chance to start percolating since they were forced to play defensive ball the majority of the time. Only one first down did they make, and that came in about the last half minute of play when in a desperate attempt to score they tried a freak play which netted them about 10 yards before the ball carrier was finally stopped.

The lineups were as follows:

San Jose	Willamette
Barracelli	LE McAdams
Martin	LT Vogt
Azavedo	LG Hoyt
Swartzel	C Williams
Redman	RG Beckon
Hardiman	RT Newhouse
Laughlin	RE Versteeg
Sanders	Q Oravec
