

FIRST "NAIL AND BEARD" MEET SET

Contest Unique One for W. U. Campus; Is Expected To Be Popular

LET 'EM GROW, SAY MEN

Filings Litter Sororities as Coeds Try for Newly Spiked Tips

The Collegian will sponsor a "beard and nail" contest during next week. The judging will take place at the Student Body Skate. The contestants will be judged and prizes will be awarded as follows:

1. Man with longest beard.
2. Man with most unusual style beard.
1. Girl with the longest finger nails.
2. Girl with most unique manicure.

This will no doubt be the most unique contest of its kind ever staged at Willamette or in Salem. The prizes will be presented to the men by Lillian Graham, Collegian editor, and to the girls by Ty Gillespie, Collegian manager.

Brook Williams, Student Body President, has signified his intention to enter the race along with the famous "touchdown twins," John Oravec and Dick Weisgerber.

To enter the boys must register with the Collegian editor, and all girls notify Ty Gillespie. All applications must be in by Wednesday noon.

Much interest has already spread among the girls and from advance hear-say, females have been practicing the art of finger nail styles for some time.

Esther Black, vice president of the A. S. W. said: "It is a most novel idea, and a perfect climax for the student body skate."

No decision has been arrived at, as to what the prizes shall be, but no doubt a fine Gillette razor and a pair of Kriss Kross nail clippers would be most fitting.

W. U. Alumnus Is New College Prexy

Dr. George Allen Odgers, alumnus of Willamette University, will be formally installed as the president of Gooding College on the afternoon of Thursday, December 12. Dr. Andrew Warner, president of the board of trustees of the college, announced today.

Dr. Odgers was elected president of Gooding College on June 11, and assumed the office on July 1. He attended universities of Nebraska, Washington, and Hawaii, and Stanford university after he left Willamette, and these five institutions are the only ones invited to send representatives to the inauguration.

Willamette Debaters Place Second In All-Coast; Thirty Schools Compete

Winning second place out of a competition of 54 teams, Willamette's representatives finished a debate tournament Wednesday evening, November 27, in San Francisco. Professor Herbert E. Rahe coached the team, composed of Lawrence Morley and Howard Campbell, who received this honor. Thirty colleges were represented, with the University of Southern California winning first place. The meet was held at the San Francisco State Teachers College in connection with a convention of the Western Association of Teachers of Speech. Willamette won eight debates out of the ten in which they competed.

Actual debating began in the early afternoon on November 25. The preliminary rounds lasted for two days in which each team competed with at least five other schools. All decisions of these first debates were withheld until the complete five rounds had been conducted. Out of the entering teams, 34 were eliminated in the preliminary rounds by receiving

Map of World Now Set Up In Eaton

The map of the world which now stands in the lower hall of Eaton, was made possible through the donations from the alumni association and the proceeds from the Valentine Magician show.

The map is wired with small electric lights to show the "hot spots" in world news. Small pennants will be used to designate the homes of former Willamette people, living out of the United States.

This is the only map of its kind to be in any college or university of this country. The purpose of the map is to aid students in keeping in touch with world events and the activities of Willamette's alumnae.

Singers Schedule Year's Last Prog.

The Song Men will appear twice next Sunday in Portland previous to a busy post holiday season schedule.

Dr. Bruce Baxter and the Willamette Song Men will present their final broadcast before Christmas vacation next Sunday, December 8, at 5 p. m. The broadcast will be released from radio station KOIN as usual.

The singers will remain in Portland after the broadcast for a program at the evening service of the Sunnyside Methodist church. Here it is expected that Prof. Cameron Marshall and the group under his direction will sing for about a half an hour during the course of the service.

Numerous requests for engagements have been submitted to the Song Men, and it is expected that they will be busy filling as many of these engagements as possible after the holidays.

U. of O. LEADER POPULAR

Speaker Will Outline Student Volunteer Convention in East, December 28

Dorothy Nylore, a member of the Wesley Foundation staff at Eugene, will speak to an assembly of Willamette University students Friday in the chapel at Waller Hall.

Miss Nylore has been active in Wesley Foundation work for some time, and is a popular leader in young people's work at the University of Oregon.

During this last summer Miss Nylore traveled to Japan where she spent the major portion of the summer with Dr. Kagawa, famed Japanese religious educator. In Friday's chapel she will tell of her experiences with Dr. Kagawa and of the knowledge gained by her during her stay with him.

The Student Volunteer Movement Twelfth Quadrennial Convention to be held at Indianapolis, Indiana, December 23 to January 1, will also be outlined and explained by this educator in her talk Friday.

The Willamette quota for this national meeting is six. Many members of the student body are in sympathy with this student work, and ten applications have already been received by campus men and women who wish to make the trip.

The names of the students chosen to represent Willamette at the convention will be announced at the end of this week.

In less than a month between two and three thousand students will be gathering in Indianapolis for the Twelfth Quadrennial Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement. This group will include representatives from some five hundred colleges of Canada and the United States and a dozen foreign countries. It is because of a genuine interest in the World Mission of Jesus Christ that they are coming together for five days of study, fellowship, and prayer.

Sparks Collects Material for Text

A text book, the material for which was collected by Leslie J. Sparks, physical education instructor at Willamette University, was published recently.

This book is for use of the physical education majors in the elementary schools of Oregon. Sparks indicated that it had been prepared from "the practical standpoint," with rules listed with detailed instruction and diagrammed illustrations.

Sparks, who had charge of the general arrangements for placing the text in print, was assisted in collecting the subject matter by Miss Taylor, Miss Telford, Miss Hales, Mrs. Kirk, and Miss Top. The editor-author, judging from the reception of the book at the present time, is optimistic concerning its widespread adoption by Oregon schools, for which it was primarily prepared.

Salem Symphony, Armory, Fri. 8 p.m.

The Philharmonic Symphony orchestra of Salem, with Jacques Gershkovich conducting, will present its first concert of the season at the Armory, Friday evening, December 6th.

There are sixty-two players in the orchestra, many of whom are Willamette students.

The program will feature Haydn's "Surprise Symphony" and the "Carmen" suite.

A special block of seats for Willamette students may be had at the box office the night of the concert, or tickets are on sale at Will's music store.

P. E. Majors Hear Prof. Baushey Tue.

Prof. Baushey, of the University of Oregon P. E. department, spoke to the W. U. Physical Education majors Tuesday evening in Chresto. The topic for discussion was "The Monroe Experimental High School." The new program for physical education is adapted to serve high schools and is for both men and women. It includes Athletics, P. E., Inter-mural and Health projects.

Leslie J. Sparks introduced the speaker and Esther Black presided over the business meeting.

Professor Egbert S. Oliver, whose recently published book has been accepted as a textbook by the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

OLIVER RECEIVES NOTIFICATION THAT BOOK IS POPULAR

Professor E. S. Oliver of Willamette University English department received notification last week from Doubleday, Doran Co., publishers, that "Readings in Ideas and Form," English text for colleges, which he edited, has been adopted as a standard text by the University of Washington and the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Professor Oliver's selection of essays for college English students has been highly praised since its appearance last year. A sample is the following quotation from a member of the English faculty at Wellesley College, "Wholly admirable for the interesting and vital style in which the material is presented and for the sound and thoughtful selection of that material."

The book is also being used by English professors at the University of Denver, Chico State College, Sacramento Junior college, State Teachers Colleges of Indiana, and Wittenberg college.

Miss Genevieve Thayer expects to be quite charming and interesting to the student body. Students are urged to read the poster announcement that will be posted on the campus at the end of this week.

On Monday and Tuesday the same play will be given with a double cast. Those participating Monday are: Lois Webb, Irvin Potter, Dorothy Lipps, William Utley and Bill Clemes. On Tuesday the actors are: Betty Lane, Harry Fredericks, Rosalie Goulder, William Utley and Bill Clemes. The other plays will be given later in the week with a cast of Marian Averill, Howard Campbell and Malcolm Waltman.

Light refreshments will be served both afternoons.

WHITMAN IS DRUBBED BY WILLAMETTE

Ole Olson Hits Old Stride as W. U. Outfogs the Missionaries

BEARCATS CHAMPS AGAIN

Oravec and Weisgerber Give A Colorful Last Game Demonstration

By Roy Ferris

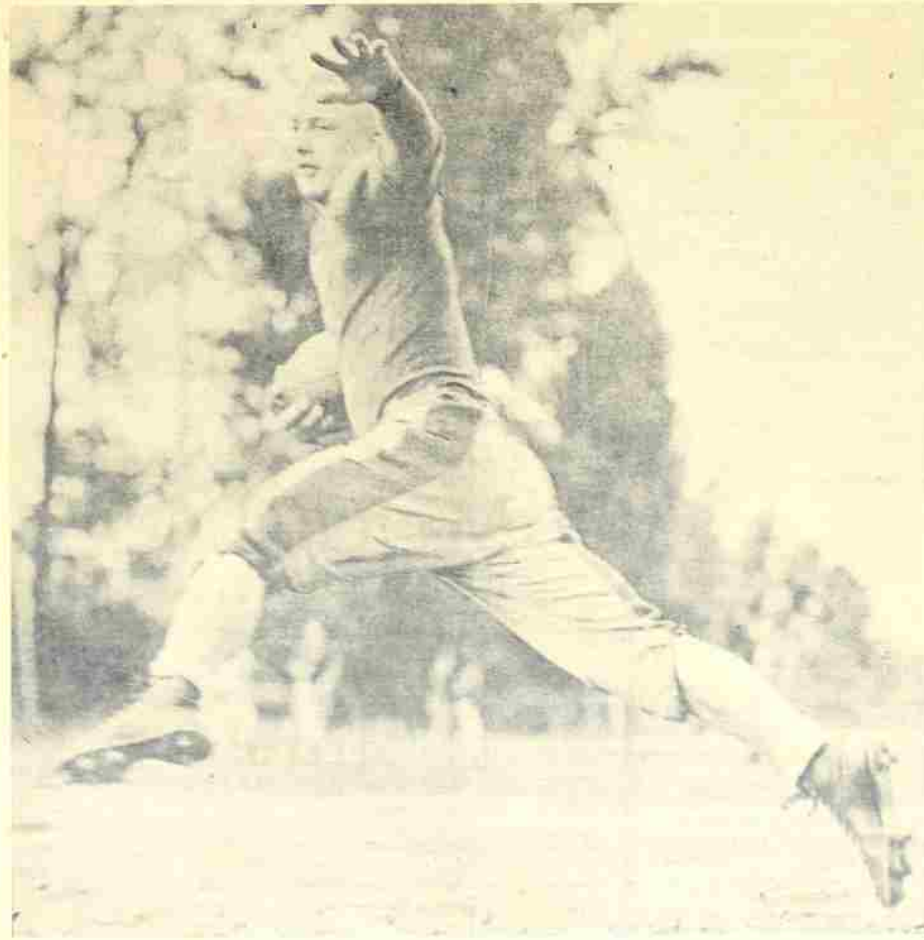

In one of the most exciting games since the beginning of their annual Thanksgiving Day grid battles, the Willamette University Bearcats turned loose an avalanche of power to defeat an equally great Whitman College eleven, 10 to 0 in a low hovering fog that covered an excellent turf on Stadium Field in Walla Walla. The victory gave the battling Bearcats their second consecutive Northwest conference championship and ran their string of victories in conference play to 14.

Whitman keyed to a pitch against the high-touted Bearcats started out cautiously and after running the kick-off up to their own 35 elected to kick after two tries at the heavy Willamette line. Willamette kicked right back and it looked for a few minutes like the game would develop into a kicking duel.

Oravec made a nice return on a beautiful kick by Whitacre, and after a series of line smashes, Weisgerber hit a hole off-tackle, danced, sidestepped and shook off the Whitman secondary for a thrilling 35 yard run that carried the ball from the 50 yard line to the Whitman 15. Here the Whitman defense stiffened and Willamette tried a place kick from a different angle—the ball glanced from Weisgerber's toe and came to rest on Whitman's own one yard line. The Missionaries kicked out of immediate danger. Whitacre was keeping his kicks high and Lynch and Cummins, Whitman ends, were successfully hampering "Scooter" Oravec's usual long returns.

In the second quarter Whitman started off by attempting a pass but Captain Dietz was rushed by the Bearcat forward wall and he threw the ball into the arms of Stone, Willamette right-half. Willamette was again off to another drive with Olson, who replaced Rhoda, Oravec and Weisgerber power driving their way by center and off-tackle smashes. Oravec then faded back to about the Whitman 45 and shot a perfect pass down to the Whitman 22 yard line where Stone made a desperate leap in the air to take the ball from the hands of three Missionaries.

Once more the bombarding backfield drove down to the Whitman one yard line but the Mission line was still determined to stop the rampaging Keonemen. Oravec smashed at the left side of the Whitman line but was stopped for practically no gain. Willamette had one more down but this time Weisgerber hit into a (Continued on Page 4)

Johnnie "Scooter" Oravec in action is something Salem football fans will long remember. Oravec, star back for four seasons, is under serious consideration for a birth in the western backfield when east meets west in the annual California New Year's Day classic.

Spring Trips Shall Repay the Rock Breakers for Their Winter Worries

Not one of our geology classes ever ends without at least one reference to other scientific pilgrimages we will set forth upon in the spring. Let there be mentioned some spot in Oregon holy to geology, then observe the class's expression of worshipful hope and see the radiant transfiguration to starry-eyed expectation when Prof. Clark adds in hushed and reverent tones:

"We will see that on one of our trips next spring!"
Often this scene is repeated several times during the period. And the expectancy and eagerness is not all exhibited by the younger students. Prof. Clark is the most enthusiastic of the bunch. In this fact can, perhaps, be found part of the reason for our interest in our subject. Some wise person named three things as the principal requisites for a good teacher: high intelligence, pleasing personality, and an ardent interest in his subject. Geologically speaking, those characteristics seem to be successful.
And so, next spring, when the majority of Willamette's student population is awaiting our text book abstractions, we will be rolling through flowered valleys, through spiky forests, and even green hills, stopping at intervals to gumbol among the clean things of Nature. While you will be struggling to absorb some recalcitrant fact we will be enjoying ourselves sensuously and knowledge will be sinking unobtrusively into our souls. You will be moldering over musty tomes and we will be strolling among the beauties of awakening nature. We will not think of you when we wind up the great Columbia gorge. We will have forgotten the somber class rooms and the midnight electricity as we explore the Pacific beaches. We will depart with a hope and return with a vision.

"Scooter" is through. John Oravec who has been one of the coast's best backs and the best all-around player ever at Willamette, has ended his university football career. We salute you, Johnny, and wish you all the luck in the world. While you played you gave everything you had; and that was plenty good. We only wish that more of the students would be willing to enter the various activities with the same spirit that you showed in your four years on the football squad.

You have won distinction, not only for yourself, but for Willamette and your team. Never have you stolen the show because you personally intended to—you have been bigger than that—often when you have carried the crowd—five, ten, twenty, thirty yards down the field and on to the goal for the Bearcats its been done in a spirit to bring victory to Coach Keene and your team.

During your four years here the team has looked to you to pull through the tight lines and you have done it—done it well!

Editor Willamette Collegian,
Salem, Oregon.

Dear Editor:

In the Collegian of November 21st is an article stating that the students of Willamette are planning to landscape the campus; as an alumnus of the institution I am much interested in this undertaking. When the members of the late special session of the legislature were considering the purchase of the campus I became quite anxious, fearing that the old Willamette campus was to be given up. In my early student life I attended the old Oregon institute; was there when we moved over to the present Willamette campus.

There is nothing that can and will add to the beauty and attractiveness of the grounds so much as flowers and shrubs properly placed.

May I be permitted to suggest that two young ladies and two young men of artistic taste be selected to undertake this work? A landscape gardener could give suggestions for carrying on the work.

Willamette university is decidedly a progressive institution. We have a new and progressive president. It is timely that the students of the institution have conceived this undertaking. I congratulate them upon the undertaking.

Respectfully yours,

J. L. Carter, '68.

Away With Compulsion!

A bill to eliminate compulsory military training in schools and colleges has been introduced by Senator Nye of North Dakota and Representative Kvale of Minnesota. The bill would amend Section 40 of the National Defense Act authorizing the establishment of Reserve Officers' Training Corps units by inserting the proviso that no unit shall be approved at any school or college "until such institution shall have satisfied the Secretary of War that enrolment in such unit (except in the case of essentially military schools) is elective and not compulsory." Of the 228 R.O.T.C. units now in existence, 73 are already voluntary, 37 are at primary military schools and are therefore exempt under the terms of the proposed amendment, and 118 are at civil schools and colleges where military training is obligatory. The bill is aimed at this latter category, and would eliminate virtually all the controversy and disturbances that have arisen in the past few years over the subject of required drill. As Senator Nye points out, the bill would not affect the supply of student officers created for the United States Army, because the last two years of training, necessary to get an actual commission, are already voluntary at all institutions. Meanwhile, passage of this Bill would be a tremendous step towards liberty of action for individual students.

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority members at Ohio State were all a-dither one morning recently when they awakened and found a large blue-feathered gentleman bird standing on one leg on their garage chimney. Many cast suspicious glances at one another. Finally someone called the police, who captured the intruder of the sorority girls' sanctum. The co-eds, however, were much relieved when they learned that the bird was not a stork, but a long-billed blue heron.

W. U. METROPOLITAN CLUB MEETS

About seven newcomers to the metropolitan area were greeted by a group of about thirty older graduates of Willamette University at the first fall meeting of the Willamette University Metropolitan club on October 25 at the Union Methodist Church in New York City.

In response to an avid interest on the part of the alumni who have been away from the W. U. campus for several years, Carl Marcy, '14, and Dave Moser, '35, each gave a summary of recent events in Salem and at the University from his own supply of first-hand knowledge. Margaret Bowen Storey, ex-'23, who was in charge of the program, decided to systematize the isolated bits of information which other members of the club brought to the meeting, and dedicated the latter part of the evening's program to an impromptu revival of the days of Collegian reporting and composition. The result at the end of the evening was four complete editions, each of which contained one or two authenticated facts.

A program for the club for the remainder of the academic year was proposed. It provides for six more meetings, the last of which will occur in June. Also, the officers of the club are preparing a directory of alumni who now reside in the East. This will be distributed to all members of the club. Information from this directory about any alumni may be secured from Mr. F. D. Leamer, 463 West Street, New York City, who is the president of the club for the current year.

Among those present who will be remembered by the present generation of the student body were Elizabeth Clement, Donald Clark, Lowell Eddy, Lorraine Sheldon, Mildred Kester Marcy, Carl Marcy, Ross Knotts, Fred Harris, David Moser, and Margaret Notson.

Contributed by Arthur V. Holtenberg, '31.

Illuminated World Map Will Show W. U. Grads Work and World Events

Contributions toward the expense of this map will be appreciated. Any alumnus who desires to aid may send a check to the university, in care of Fay Sparks, alumni secretary.

BOOKS

In "Half Mile Down", William Beebe, well-known naturalist-author, recounts in an attractive manner some of his experiences in exploring beneath the surface of the tropic seas around Bermuda. He himself divides his book into four sections: Emotional, Chapter I; Historical, Chapters II-III; Pragmatic, Chapters IV-VI; and Technical, Appendices. The first chapter is entitled A Wonderer Under Sea, and deals with the fascination of submarine exploring.

Here, speaking of his experiences he says, "One thing we cannot escape—forever afterward, throughout all our life, the memory of the magic of water and its life, of the home which was once our own—this will never leave us." Following this are chapters on the history of diving, sketching it from the mythical descent of Alexander the Great through various progressive forms to the modern bathyspheres employed by Beebe and his staff. Very interesting are the parallels drawn between animal and human divers. The remainder of the book treats of the varied and interesting experiences of Beebe and his staff in their explorations. The dangers, the humorous incidents, the sensations and the strange sights of the submarine world are fully described. For those who wish to go into the experiments more technically, there are various appendices containing accounts of the different descents, descriptions of the organisms observed, diagrams of the bathysphere, and other material which lends value to the book and might be of great interest to some, but which would

RAMBLING SHOPPER By UNCLE WILLIE

Hi-de-ho, me pals and gals! Have you sent your letter to Santa Claus yet? Prof. Sherman suggests that you send your Xmas gifts early to insure a gift in return. An do nothing seals the package better than a T.B. stamp.

Now this ain't no dirt column, but Uncle saw Hilda "Chubby" Crawford guzzling a milk shake at Woolpert & Legg's fountain the other day, and Chubby blushed when Uncle unearthed the secret of her charm. Seems like everytime Uncle goes into W & L's store he sees the fair sex of Willamette there secretly mooching a milk shake. It's even Kay Smullin's weakness.

Uncle hates to mention this, but being filled with the spirit of St. Nick (remember, boys, he didn't say "spirits") he cannot refrain from reporting his encountering Marjorie Thorne and Helen Marcy window shopping the men's clothing stores. Of course Uncle can understand why Helen would be interested in men's gifts this time of year, because she has a brother Don, but Uncle knows Marjorie has no brother. There's something in the air, boys, besides the high cost of living.

Uncle just has to tell this little incident, he received straight from the Kappa house. Our office Beau Brummel, none other than Typhoon Gillespie, was asked two weeks ago for a dance date with a certain lovely lass from the Freshman class. Ty blushing replied that he was sorry, but some other gal had beat her to the draw. Where-upon said lovely lass asks if he has this coming week-end open. Ty replied yes, so the deal was closed, the contract signed, and the lovely lass had her wish realized. But where the howl comes in is her parting remark, to-wit: "I just thought I'd better get my bid in before the other girls did." The moral to this, dear children, is Do Your Xmas Shopping Early.

Who makes the best corsages in town, and how does she do it?

Sigma Tau Honor Co-eds At Dinner

Sigma Tau fraternity honored a group of co-eds recently at a delightful Thanksgiving dinner. The dining table was centered with winter fruit, pumpkins and squashes. The house emblem was worked out in fruit on the table. Tall red tapers lighted the dining table. Clever place cards with red carnations attached marked places for the guests. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gatzke were chaperones.

Malcolm Waltman was in general charge of the dinner assisted by David Clark and Jack Alton. Honored guests were the Misses Charlotte LaDue, Jermyne Upston, Harriet Childs, Joan Hollingworth, Betty Yotter, Josie Acklin, Jane Fisher, Ruth Tsharnberg, June Dahlgren, Elsie Lundberg, and Kathryn McClary.

Hosts were Ross Gladden, Winthrop Henderson, Malcolm Waltman, John Robison, Jack Alton, Howard Campbell, Joe Harvey, David Clark, Ely Swisher, Paul Hauser and Al Heuman.

Uncle found out that Helen Brethaupt can make the choicest hanging gardens for the loveliest gal-friend's shoulder. Prices from one thin dime on up. Make her admire you, pals; buy her a Brethaupt corsage.

Uncle just can't account for TV's popularity with the fair sex, unless it's the crease in his pants, or the shine on his shoes. Anyway, you'll look better if you let the Shyne Shop give your duds the once over before the dance, fellows.

Samples is the fondest thing Uncle is of, especially candy samples, especially Schaefer's candy. Uncle is proud to announce that Jack "Streamlined" Billeter is now Campus Representative for Schaefer's Drug Store, and will take your orders for that 5 lb. box of assorted chocolates, especially wrapped for Xmas, for only 1.35. What could be sweeter for the sweetheart? (Especially.)

Gals, what could be nicer than to go home for the holidays wrapped up in a little doo-dad you can find at the Little French Shop. If you're not going home, then go to the dance on one of their lovely creations. If you're not going to the dance, then go to bed in one of their boudoir suggestions. If you're not going to bed, well, Uncle had better go.

Guess Uncle had better sign off now. He hears that Hank Riehl beat out Frank Pemberton for the role of the drunk in the play "Outward Bound." All Uncle can say is, he didn't know Hank had it in him.

P. S. Some of youse mugs may be Outward Bound, others may be muscle-bound, but all of youse will be spell-bound when you lamps the picture that Jestem-Miller took of Uncle and Auntie. Yowser, and we only broke one lense, too; and that wouldn't have happened if Auntie hadn't been there—'cause we disagreed on how we should smile.

To Be Seen On the Screen

STATE

Lovers of fine arts will be glad to know that the State theater is returning the famous English production "Henry the Eighth," Thursday and Friday of this week. It will be remembered that this play was the production in which Charles Langton scored his first great triumph, and for which he received the highest award in moviedom.

Mr. Lewis of the State Theater, who is a smart and dramatic critic of some merit, returned this picture with the benefit of Willamette and other college students in mind. Those who have not seen it as yet should avail themselves of this opportunity.

GRAND

A technical innovation that may have revolutionary effects on black and white motion pictures is given its first real test in Jesse L. Lasky's lavish new musical "Redheads on Parade," which comes Saturday to the Grand Theater.

The startling new process which was made possible by the combined efforts of Grover Laube, chief film technician at Fox Film Studios, and Charles Dudley, head makeup artist, accomplishes a breath-taking change in the color of the players' garments during the taking of film scenes.

In "Redheads on Parade," the process is used in the big production spectacle and achieves a unique effect as the clothing of the chorus and principals alternately change color.

Photographically, the scheme for changing colors is accomplished by the use of special filters, additional lighting and a new special film. The assistance of the makeup artist was required to create a makeup which would remain the same through the various changes.

John Boles and Dixie Lee are the romantic leads in "Redheads on Parade," which features forty-eight of the nation's most gorgeous redheads in its elaborate choruses. Jay Gorney and Don Hartman composed the songs for the picture.

HOLLYWOOD

A new and outstanding romantic team makes its bid for screen prominence in the Fox Film production, "The Farmer Takes a Wife," which comes on Sunday to the Hollywood theatre.

Janet Gaynor and Henry Fonda, the romantic leads in the forthcoming production, give promise of being the new sensation of the screen. Fonda, who is a newcomer, never having appeared before in a film production, has been identified with the speaking stage only, and registered a hit in the same character in the stage play that he essays in the picture.

Supporting Miss Gaynor and Henry Fonda are such outstanding players as Charles Bickford, Slim Summerville, Roger Imhoff, Andy Devine, Jane Withers and Margaret Hamilton.

Program for the Week
Friday and Saturday—Two features. Tim McCoy in "Fighting Shadow," and second feature, "After the Dance," with Nancy Carroll and George Murphy.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday—"The Farmer Takes a Wife," with Janet Gaynor and Henry Fonda.

Wednesday and Thursday—"Here Comes the Band," with Ted Lewis, Virginia Bruce, Nat Pendleton, Harry Stockwell, Donald Cook and Spanky McFarland.

Basketball Starts With Six Veterans Back

HOOPMEN BEGIN EARLY PRACTICE

30 Answer First Call; Six Lettermen Report, 3 Forwards, 3 Guards

ROOKS MAKE STRONG BID

Center is Needed Baldy to Complete Strong Outfit; Manning Good

With basketball no longer just around the corner, but actually here, Spec Keene has deserted the gridiron with the Northwest crown under his arm, and is now ready for the equally important task of manufacturing a good hoop team. At the first regular practice Monday afternoon, six lettermen—three forwards and three guards—were out ready to defend their positions on the squad. Ken Manning, two-year man, looked particularly good for so early in the season. Mosher and Brandon, the other two returning forwards, were also dropping them in with surprising regularity.

Harvey, Erickson and Versteeg are the three veteran guards back for another season. Others who were on the varsity squad last year that reported were Aden, Beard, Nunnenkamp, Sutton, Vagt and Newhouse.

Joyce, Moe, Van Otten, Lindstrom, Carlin and Lentz are members of last year's rook squad who have graduated to the regulars this fall. Gastaneau, Weaver, Kelly, Anton, Specht and Muller are the new men who will practice with the first string, at least until the squad is cut for conference games.

Only two or three practices have been held to date, and most of the work has been merely for the purpose of limbering up for the stiff practice which will begin in earnest next week.

A definite schedule has not been completed, but the Bearcats will have games with several strong independent squads, Oregon and Oregon State, in addition to the regular conference contests.

"On the Bearcat Front" ROY FERRIS

What a ball game! That was what everyone said after the Willamette-Whitman game last week.

The Walla Walla fans had plenty of praise for the big ball club from Willamette. I sat in the grandstand where I could get the real downright opinion of some of these Whitman backers as well as an excellent look at the game.

Several times during the first half the rolling-tide from Salem drove deep into Whitman territory to be stopped two or three times inside the 20 yard stripe and once on the one foot line. It is true that Willamette was up against one of the most beautiful coached defensive teams in the west and an offensive good enough to smother any other team in the Northwest Conference. And when I say the best defensive teams that is exactly what I mean. This includes Oregon, California, Oregon State, Santa Jose State and several Northwest Conference teams that I can't rate with either Willamette or Whitman.

Praise for anyone player would be very unjust for the other boys who to my estimation played their best game of the 1935 season. They were all outstanding; Oravee was an All-American if there ever was one. Whitman was playing the "Scooter" on every play but in spite of this the Speedster continually twisted from the arms of Whitman tacklers for big gains.

Olson hit like a pile-driver and turned in his best defensive play of the season. Hoyt played his usual good game to uphold his almost certain selection on the All-Northwest conference team. Rhoda kept up his steady playing in the quarterback position. Vagt proved his worth after slowing up in mid-season. Beckon was in Whitman's road all afternoon. Stone smothered Whitman's aerial threat. Versteeg turned in a great game that will probably give him a place on the Northwest conference team for the second time. Newhouse looked and played like a madman and it was over his tackle that Olson crashed over for the touchdown. Weaver more than held his own at the left end position and all in all, everyone who took part looked at his best to boost Willamette back once more to the highest honors of the Northwest conference. They were playing against a great Whitman team led by two fine ends, slippery Captain Deitz and Whitacre, one of the fests kickers in the country.

Hoyt Finishes Gridiron Career

One of the most important features of this game was that it didn't look like two eleven of the Northwest conference standard. Just too much advancement as far as football is concerned to be classified along with the others. It was easy to see why Whitman was able to defeat the University of Idaho of the Pacific Coast conference 7 to 0. To my estimation the two teams were so far above the average Northwest conference team that a comparison would be difficult. They looked like two Pacific Coast conference eleven and played like them.

Whitman Is Drubbed

stone wall as the entire Whitman secondary moved up to stop the play. Whitman punted temporarily out of danger but the determined Bearcats again turned on the power and advance right back to the Missionary 15 yard line. With three yards to go and the fourth down coming up, Weisgerber stepped back to the 22 and booted a perfect place-kick to put his team out in front 3 to 0.

In the second half it was a different Willamette team that came out to meet Whitman. They came out fired-up and threw an offensive attack that was unstoppable. It started when Captain Oravee took the ball on his own 25 for the opening kick-off and ran straight up the center of the field to the 50 yard line where the last Whitman tackler brought him down. From here the huge Olson, Weisgerber and Stone bombarded into the Whitman line making six or seven yards to a clip with Oravee occasionally scooting off tackle and around the ends for nice gains. On the ten yard line Whitman held them for no gain for the first time during the drive but Oravee on the next play tried the Whitman left end, broke into the clear, scooted down the sidelines and fell into the end zone for what looked to be a touchdown. However, his foot was out of bounds on the two yard line. On the next play Olson climaxed his four year career by plunging for the only touchdown of the game. Weisgerber's placement was good.

This was all the scoring done and the rest of the game saw an occasional sparkling run from both teams. Dietz, halfback of the Missionaries, as well as Whitacre gave the Walla Walla fans some thrills as they shook from the arms of the Bearcats for some nice gains. Whitacre proved to be a great scoring threat by running from a deep-punt formation and several times almost ran through the Willamette secondary. Willamette threatened several times and failed to let up her continual drives goalward.

FROSH CAGEMEN READY FOR GAME

Bill Fountain Preps to Play Here Thursday; Rooks Squad Powerful

The frosh basketball squad has been at it pretty steady for almost three weeks now, and Thursday night will see them in their first regular contest.

Bill Fountain high school will be their first opponent, and from reports will probably be a tough adversary.

The rooks have assembled a formidable array of former high school aces, and they expect to make short work of the prep school outfit.

The beginning lineup will probably consist of Jerry Gastaneau and John Kelly at forwards; Bill Anton at center, and Weaver and Specht at the guard posts.

These five have been promoted to varsity squad positions, but will undoubtedly play for the rooks the greater part of the season. Others who are likely prospects and will probably see action before much of the season is history are the following: guards, Guerin, Cornett, Gallin and Mosher; forwards, Anton, Smith, Forbes and McDowell; center, Pierce.

The rooks will probably enter the city major league this year, and that will pit them against some pretty tough teams. In addition they will schedule contests with numerous high school teams throughout the state.

Willamette Debaters

ette debaters lost this final one and thereby won second place for the school and medals for themselves.

Linfield College won first place in the women's division of debate. There was also a Junior College tournament and contests in oratory, extemporaneous speaking, and interpretive reading. Willamette entered no contestants in these other divisions.

In most cases each debate was held before only one judge. Debate coaches acted as judges, and not only rated the teams but the speakers, their faults, and their virtues. At the present time all the detailed information from these ratings is not yet available. The judges were not the final authority, however. Each debater rated every team he met in respect to debate ethics, knowledge of the question, brilliancy of personality, and so on. These ratings were tabulated after the preliminary rounds and, if the teams listed by the students were not already in the final contests, they were automatically given that honor. Thus the officials reasoned that one judge may make an error but 108 debaters can't be wrong.

Leaving Saturday night, November 23, the Willamette delegation arrived by train in San Francisco the next evening. Prof. and Mrs. Rahe and their son, visited friends in Oakland and San Francisco. Morley and Campbell resided at the William Taylor hotel. The two W. U. representatives returned Thanksgiving night but Prof. Rahe remained the rest of the week to attend the convention of speech instructors.

Weisgerber's Boot Beats Whitman

After the Bearcats had vainly attempted to buck the ball through Whitman's line for a touchdown, Dick Weisgerber, versatile fullback, booted a field goal to score 3 points and put the game on ice. This is Dick's second year of play, and he is a cinch to make the Northwest conference All-star team.

Prof. Rahe expressed his gratification at receiving second place. He felt that the trip was well justified. Prof. Rahe is noted for his ability and success in handling debate and speech contests. Never having debated with each other before, in fact never having heard each other speak publicly before, the two men from Willamette made a remarkable showing against such great competition. Morley is a junior this year and well-known for his prowess as a debater. Out of 32 debates in the last two years he has been a member of 29 winning teams. With Randall Kester, he won first place at the Linfield debate tournament last year. Campbell is a freshman and not as experienced as his partner. He was substituting for Kester, who was unable to attend this tournament. After four years of high school debating and a brilliant record as an extemporaneous speaker, according to Prof. Rahe, he proved to have a polished delivery and a pleasing voice.

FOOTBALL TEAM TO GET AWARDS

Keene Picks 24 Men to Get Letters; 7 Frosh Are Included on List

A total of 24 men were recommended by Coach Spec Keene to the awards committee as having fulfilled the requirements for official football awards this season.

Two members of the group, Captain Johnny Oravee and Manfred Olson, the man who scored Willamette's only touchdown in the Thanksgiving Day game with Whitman, won their fourth award, and in addition to their certificate they will receive the blanket emblematic of a four stripe man.

Those recommended to the awards committee were the following:

Fourth year: Captain John Oravee, halfback; and Manfred Olson, fullback.

Third year: Carl Rhoda, quarterback; George Erickson, end; Bill McAdam, end; Darrell Newhouse, tackle; Bob Vagt, tackle; Charles Versteeg, end; Harold Hoyt, guard; Bronk Williams, center; Bill Stone, halfback; Don Brandon, halfback.

Second year: Dick Weisgerber, fullback; and Elliott Beckon, guard.

First year: George Billings, tackle; George Abbott, end; Karl Kahle, tackle; Norman Hogenson, guard; Jiggs Burnett, halfback; Neil Shaffer, quarterback; Tats Yada, guard; Vernon Urell, center; Wall Weaver, end; James Hogg, halfback.

DR. SCHULZE SAYS MEN'S MARKS FAIR

Although the percentage of names turned in to the office of Dean D. H. Schulze remained approximately the same, the persons called in for conferences, in relation to their grade standard, varied greatly the second six week period from the first.

Of the 360 men enrolled here, 96 names were turned in for low grades the first six weeks and 95 the second. These 360 men are enrolled in approximately 1800 course hours. In this total number of hours there were reported only 62 failures among the men, or 3.5 per cent failures among the total of 1800 student course hours.

At the end of the second six weeks period 36 names disappeared from the list turned into the Dean's office but 31 new names were added. There was a total of 73 "F" grades turned in for the first six weeks and 62 for the second. The "D" grades for the men at the end of the first six weeks totaled 58 and at the end of the second period, 72, the latter two comparisons indicating that a substantial number of men had pushed their "F" grades up to "D" grades.

Dean Schulze expressed his opinion of this year's grades for men saying that he believed them to be "not too bad."

Abbott and Billings, Rooks Who Won Letters

George Abbott and George Billings, both ex-Portland stars who won football awards in their first season on the Willamette gridiron. Billings, who was an all-city selection last year, played for the Bearcats at tackle. Abbott was sick during the latter part of the season and failed to play the required number of minutes for a letter. He will receive his certificate anyway, since had it not been for illness, he would have more than played the necessary time at his position at end. Both will be back for three more years, and should secure regular berths next season.
