Federal Aid Of Students To Continue

Program About the Same As Last Year; $930 Ready for Work

Between 85 and 100 Are To Be Assisted By National Plan

The N. Y. A. campus program is to be continued this year almost exactly as it was last year. Approximately $930 is to be distributed on this campus. Between 85 and 100 students will receive from $9 to $15 each month for work done under this plan.

Students will do clerical, campus, and research work under this plan. They will assist at the administration offices of the public school, at the blind school, at the high school library, and at the city library.

Three major considerations in determining eligibility for employment under this plan include need, character, and class attendance of the student.

Theoretically no student is eligible for federal aid who would be able to attend the university without it. This point of eligibility is checked carefully by the campus investigating board.

Character of the applicant is also checked carefully before employment is forthcoming. If the student under consideration has been previously enrolled here an average grade of C plus is usually required. If the student is a freshman his high school record is used as reference.

Any eligible applicant must also be registered either for a full course or a minimum of 12 hours. Dean F. M. Erickson is local N. Y. A. director and Miss Pearl Swanson is the program head on the campus. All N. Y. A. applicants for employment should be made at her desk in Dean Erickson's office.

Students who have applied must keep the Dean's office informed as to their address and telephone number if they expect to be called for work, Miss Swanson warns.

Student Labor Set-up is About Same Says Dean

The student employment situation this year appears to be about the same this year as last, Dr. Daniel Schultze, dean of men, reports.

The number of students in search of employment has risen above last year's figures, but it is estimated that employment increases will almost equal the increased demand.

Students wishing to do work other than N. Y. A. work are asked to make their applications at either the office of the dean of men or the dean of women.

In former years all work applicants left their names at the office of Dean F. M. Erickson. According to a recent arrangement only those wishing N. Y. A. employment apply at Dean Erickson's office and women at Dean Dahl's office.

Freshmen Await Future Trials of Upperclassmen; Lose Cord Privilege

Last year they were lofty, unapproachable seniors, in a position to wield paddles and perhaps use the fountain for other than drinking purposes. But time marches on and these same dignified seniors now find themselves again—freshmen.

Freshmen; what dire consequences are brought to mind with the mention of this loathsome word? How many upper classmen have lost hours sleep attempting to introduce new, tortuous, and embarrassing situations applicable to these aforesaid freshmen. Of course the question always arises as to whether the upper classmen are capable of shackling these ingenious brainstorms to the sometimes rebellious newcomers. Only time can answer this.

Beside these new "situations" there is the older, founded, and

Luther Succeeds Matthews as W.U. Mathematics Head

No New Courses Planned Until After Senior Opinion Shown

Dr. Chester F. Luther comes to the campus this fall as head of the Willamette university mathematics department. He will take the place held by Dr. James T. Matthews until last spring, when he retired from full time teaching.

"I am having to learn things along with the freshmen and have even been following them about seeing the campus and hearing the lectures," he said during a recent interview.

Dr. Luther is a graduate of Stanford university where he has taught for the past eight years.

The new mathematics head does not plan to start any new courses this year. He considers the courses now offered as basic ones in his department.

There is a possibility that new courses will be offered sometime in the future, Dr. Luther said. This step will not be taken, however, until after individual conferences have been held with math majors.

The new faculty member expressed himself as highly satisfied with Salem as a place of residence, although he had some difficulty finding a home for his family when they arrived recently.

Annual Noise Festival Is Set For Sept. 25

The annual W. U. noise parade, staged last year in a pouring rain, will roar and clatter through the downtown streets tomorrow night, led by the pep staff.

The occasion will combine noise float competition with pre-game rally activity, carried on in preparation for the Albany football game.

Various campus organizations will enter noise floats in competition for the greatest sound volume. The latest entrants signifying their intention to enter a float is the brand new 1936 freshman class.

Prizes are offered for the noisiest competitors. Salem merchants are scheduled to furnish the prizes which, if advance dope can be trusted, are well worth making a racket about.

The parade will be led by a truck bearing Dorothy Dingle, song queen, Lillian Graham, student body vice president, and Bill McAdams, acting yell king. Don Armstrong, elected yell king last spring, has transferred to the University of Oregon.

It is expected, also, that this truck will include a piano to be used in singing rally songs at a downtown intersection.

Big Mike Balkovic, former all-conference tackle and now employed here as assistant coach, will make a long pass from the top of the First National Bank building during the course of the evening. The person fortunate to catch the football is promised passes to the Albany game.

All Willamette students are urged to be on hand to assist in the evening's pre-game activity.

Freshmen Elect Temporary Heads

Student body President George McLeod spoke to the Freshmen for a few minutes Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 in Waller Hall, telling them of the student body functions planned for the very near future and instructing them as to their class officers. President McLeod opened nominations for a temporary secretary for the freshman class. Those nominated were Geneva Selander and Vivian Noth, both of Salem. Miss Noth was elected and at once began with the minutes of the meeting.

Nominations were then opened for a temporary chairman of the freshman class whose duty it is to conduct the freshman class meetings until a permanent class president is elected. Dick Walker, Bill Burgett, and Jim Robinson were nominated and Dick Walker of Portland was elected.

President McLeod turned the meeting over to Mr. Walker who opened nominations for a permanent freshman representative to the executive committee. Nominated were Max Hauser, Tom Gabriel, Bob Hill, Barbara Chapter, and Olive Clemes. Max Hauser was elected to this position.

Nominations were then closed and Dolly Dingle, student body song leader led the class in a few peppy Willamette songs. After a few minutes of singing the class meeting was adjourned.

OLYMPICS—ALMOST

Rae Yocom, Willamette girl javelin star, placed fourth in Olympic trial competition representative of the entire United States. She missed a free trip to Europe by two inches when it was decided that only the first three should have places on the team. The story appears on the sports page.

Bearcats to Face Albany Friday on Sweetland Field

"Spec" Keene's two-year defending Northwest conference champion Bearcats will make their 1936 debut tomorrow night under the lights of Sweetland field at 8:15, against the scrappy Albany Pirates.

There are many innovations concerning the clash: it is the first collegiate contest for a team coached by Don Faber, former Willamette athlete, now mentor of the visiting Pirates; the game launches the conference's new round-robin schedule; it is the first of ten games to be played by the Bearcats in the space of ten weeks, and it will be the first collegiate action for many freshmen of both teams.

For Faber, the preliminary homecoming (the traditional homecoming is October 30 and the College of Puget Sound game) appears doomed for disappointment. The Pirates have little or no chance of upsetting the heavier more powerful Bearcats, and will probably base all their hopes on scoring at least one touchdown.

That Coach "Spec" Keene, Willamette's veteran grid mentor, is taking no chances on a dope upheaval, however, is indicated by his lineup. Every one of the starting eleven players has won at least one letter under Cardinal and Gold pigskin colors.

Another strong indication is the weight of the starting eleven. The line will average 203 3/4 pounds per man, and the backery (Continued on Page 4)

Week-end Barn Party To Begin Campus Society

Campus social activity begins with a bang next Saturday night when campus men and women go to the Salem high school gym to enjoy a barn party staged under the direction of Lillian Graham, associated student body first vice president.

A novel feature of the evening's activity will be the departure of students from Eaton hall in horse drawn wagons. All campus men and women wishing transportation to and from the campus are asked to gather in front of Eaton hall at 8 p. m. or before to take their places in the wagons.

A local orchestra, the members of which are veterans of many barn parties, will furnish the music. Cider and doughnuts will make up the refreshments.

Chaperones for the evening include Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Keene, Dr. and Mrs. Luther, Prof. and Mrs. E. S. Oliver, and Miss Constance Fowler.

Sub-committee working under the direction of Miss Graham are Dwight Aden, general arrangements; George Self, hall; Bill McAdams, decorations; Barbara Crookham and Irma Oehler, food; and Lawrence Morley, transportation. Morley is the horse wrangler.

The orchestra will play from a hayrack improvised for use as platform. Decorations will follow the general idea of the barn party, including pumpkins and corn-stalks.

Another unique feature of the affair will be seen in what is termed as an introduction committee. This step is taken for the purpose of insuring good circulation of freshmen and other campus newcomers among campus upper classmen.

In connection with this plan George Self will pass out paper pumpkins at the door to each dancer. These symbols will be pinned to the shoulder and will bear the name of the wearer. Other members of this committee include Dwight Aden, George McLeod, Martha Warren, Martha Jane Hottel, Lillian Graham, and Bill McKinney.

Clark to Offer Sunday Course

Students who have been regretting the fact that "Records of Jesus" just couldn't be crowded into their schedule, will welcome the news that Professor Herman Clark is to teach a class Sunday mornings at the First Methodist church. The subject will be "Studies in the Bible."

Freshmen, whose contacts with Professor Clark have been all too brief, will find this an excellent opportunity to get acquainted with their professor.

"Studies in the Bible" will be a brief course, lasting only from September 27th until Christmas. The time is now 8:45 instead of 10:00 as formerly.

New students are especially welcome for this means the making of early contacts with fellow students.

Speech Vets Return For Active Year

Keys Contest is to Be First Competition For Campuses

Debate Trip to South a High Point For Forensic Year

The speech department of Willamette is planning an extensive program for this year.

The speech team will have as its nucleus eleven experienced men and women. Among these are Laurence and Ellsworth Morley, Randall Kester, Robert Farmer, Waldo Hiebart, Marjorie Thorne, Helen May Beal, Constance Smart, James Pyke and Wayne Williams.

One of the first contests that Willamette students will take part in will be the Keys Oratorical Contest on this campus. This event is open to any student who qualifies in the preliminary trials. The finals for the contest are usually held in chapel with a first prize of $15 being awarded the winner. Second prize is $10.

Following close after the Keys contest is the State speech contest. In this contest there are after dinner speeches which are open to both men and women, but in which usually only men speak, separate contests in extemporaneous speaking for men and women, and the peace oratory contest. It was in the peace oratory contest that Constance Smart placed third last year. This contest offers the largest prizes of all the state contests. Prizes are $50 first prize, $30 second prize, and $20 third prize.

One of the most important outside trips for the speech year will be a trip to Los Angeles during the Thanksgiving vacation. At this same time Professor Rahe will attend the convention of the Western Association of Teachers of Speech, which is to be held in Los Angeles.

Last year in the tournament in connection with the convention of this association Willamette's team placed second in competition with fifty teams. Professor Rahe is expecting Laurence Morley of that team to continue his good work in the debating fields.

This year the Pacific Forensic League Conference will be held on this campus during spring vacation. Members of this league are Stanford University, Whitman College, University of Southern California, Oregon State College, University of California at Los Angeles, Willamette University, University of Arizona, University of Idaho, Pomona College, University of Washington, and the University of Nevada.

The officers in this league are: Herbert E. Rahe, president, Willamette University; Robert S. Griffin, vice-president, University of Nevada; and Leland T. Chapin, secretary-treasurer, Stanford University.

A trip under consideration is one into the Middle-West at Christmas vacation. This will be sort of a barnstorming tour.

Again this year Willamette University will be the host for the State Speech Contest for high school students. There will be all the different types of contests.

This year the Willamette squad will compete in the McMinnville tournament.

Loan Applications

The present arrangement for the administration of student loans calls for loan applications to be made at the offices of either Dean Dahl or Dean Schultze before October 26.

Applications of the men should be left with Dean Schultze and those of the women, with Dean Dahl. The office of Dean F. M. Erickson, dean of the university, will not accept loan applications this year.

Vespers Meet

University Vespers, the place where friendships are made, will welcome all new students Sunday evening. A social hour, beginning at 5:30 is being arranged by Eugene Hilliard.

At 6:30 Jean Hollingsworth, Vespers President, will lead on the subject "Salutations." She will be assisted by Phyllis Russell, who will conduct the devotions.

Dr. White New Head of W. U. History Dept.

School Year of 1935-36 Spent Teaching at Oregon State

Dr. Lyman C. White comes to Willamette campus this fall to fill the vacancy made by the retirement of Dr. George H. Alden, former history department head.

Dr. White received an A. B. degree at the University of Iowa and a Ph.D. degree at Columbia University in 1933.

Since this time he has taught at Beuna Vista college, Iowa, and also at Oregon State college, where he substituted for Dr. Magruder in 1935-36.

Dr. White is also an author and traveler, having written "The Structure of Private International Organizations" and having traveled in Europe, Mexico and the Orient.

The White family are scheduled to arrive here this week.

Law-Arts Major Offered In New Six Year Course

Furthering a move to make the Willamette law school one of the most modern in the northwest, a new ruling has been effected.

A student may now major in Political science or Economics for three years in the liberal arts college, and then transfer to the law school where he may take one year of law and receive his A. B. degree.

Before this time any student who did not complete four years in liberal arts before entering law school had to complete law school to gain his A. B. degree, with his law degree.

The requirements of both the College of Liberal Arts and the law school must be met before the degree is awarded. Since this is the case a student who wishes to take advantage of this new ruling must present not less than 26 hours nor more than 30 hours of law work which is added to his liberal arts work before his course is completed.

This new plan has several distinct advantages. First among these is that one year of law combined with economics or political science forms an excellent basis for a business career and anyone who would like courses in business law, but who would not like to take the full law course will lose nothing by this combination course. Before anyone who did this would receive the course but would not receive the degree for his work unless he completed law school.

Symphony Broadcast

The Standard Symphony Broadcast on Thursday evenings and other radio musical programs of quality will be made available to students on the second floor of Kimball Music Hall beginning September 24.

Tonight's Standard Symphony program of one hour will be given from 8:15 to 9:15 o'clock.

Students are invited to hear all or any part of the program. In order that the music may be heard to best advantage all are requested to come in and leave the room quietly.

Notice of later programs will be announced on the Eaton Hall and Music Hall bulletin boards.

Improvements Noted on Campus; Lausanne Hall Undergoes Change

Extensive alterations have taken place on the campus during the past summer. Perhaps the largest project was the transformation of Lausanne Hall. Mrs. Bruce Baxter took a prominent part in the change of the hall. Under her leadership the entire first floor of Lausanne has been recarpeted with a thick carpet of apple green. The foyer of the hall has been repainted and large mural paintings fill the two walls near the main staircase.

The guest room at Lausanne has been entirely refurnished with early American period furniture, and the room has also been recarpeted.

The carpet which was formerly on the third floor and the rubber carpet which was on the third floor has been put on the back stairs.

Added Courses Attractive To Music Majors

Bachelor of Music is De- gree Offered By New Curriculum

Association Requirements Met in Latest Move By Music Heads

With the addition of selected music courses the Willamette school of music becomes a fully qualified professional school this year.

Previous to the '36-'37 school year a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in music was offered. The addition of new courses now makes it possible for the student to obtain, not only an A. B. major in music, but also a Bachelor of Music degree.

The enlarged curriculum for this year enables the Willamette school of music to meet requirements by the national association of music schools.

The interest created by this step has resulted in increased enrollment at the school. Prof. Cameron Marshall, music school head, reports.

Although the majority of music students attracted by this curricular improvement will come to Willamette for the first time this fall, in many cases students already enrolled here have indicated their intention of changing major in order to take advantage of this new offer.

Besides having facilities for professional musical training the school is also well adapted for instruction in the teaching of music, both privately and in public schools.

New Lib. Course Given Students

Mr. James Rubey, new Salem librarian, will this year introduce a new course of library science into Willamette. This course will be of special benefit to students interested in library work and to those who wish to improve their selection of references and bibliographies for regular college work.

The first semester's studies will include reference work and the second semester's bibliographical work. The course will be open to sophomores and upper classmen if they have or are taking French, Spanish, or German. It will be given three hours a week—Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Rubey was research assistant at the Library of Congress for five years and assistant librarian at the geological survey library for two years. In both positions he was in charge of reference and bibliography.

Cookie Jar Begins

Because of its success in the past, Cookie Jar will begin its second year today by giving all old and new students an opportunity to get acquainted with each other.

All students are invited to drop in any time between 3 and 5 o'clock at the Educational Temple of the First Methodist church for cookies, tea, and a bit of relaxation in a crowded week.

Improvements Noted on Campus; Lausanne Hall Undergoes Change

The girls living room on the second floor has also received attention. Bright cretonne drapes are hung at the windows and matching cretonne pillows fill the davenport. A collection of current magazines is on hand in the living room for the pleasure of the occupants.

For years the hall occupants have been annoyed each winter by the drainage of water into the basement. This water flooded the basement, often creeping up into the firebox of the furnace where it put the fire out. Now a large ditch has been dug in the ear of the hall which goes below the basement floor level. New drainage tile has been laid and this will alleviate all the inconvenience of former years.

Eaton hall has come in for its share in improvements this year. (Continued on Page 3)

Another Year—Another Class
WITH the unbeatable combination of a live administration and a big, peppy freshman class there's no reason why campus activities should lag this year. The frosh look plenty good and we know from experience that George McLeod isn't going to get much rest from student affairs this year, even if he wants it. One reason for this is First Vice President Graham.

Nothing promotes school spirit like the good old fall sport, football. Willamette's home schedule this year is the most extensive one for many years. Conference competition for the fall is keen, according to sports authorities.

As usual, the Bearcats are liable to come through with more than their share of victories. But, even if they drop a game or two, rooters are due for some unusually good ball games this year.

Tough Red Tape

AN ancient form of hypocrisy still hovers over Willamette's social program.

Next Saturday's "barn party" must remain so termed only because of two very thin strands of red tape continuing to bar the way.

Admittedly, social enjoyment is enhanced slightly by the feeling of "breaking the rules." Perhaps Willamette students would not feel quite at home without it.

Nevertheless, at some time or another, the student is reminded of his highly supervised grade school days. Iron-bound rules, handed down by the board of trustees on some long ago day must either be revised or become irksome.

It is true that certain faculty and board members are working hard for revision of campus social rules. Certain others appear to be working just as hard against it.

We wish definite action could be arranged soon. Then we could either find something else to object about or take up arms like a Spanish rebel.

News Policy

DURING the ensuing year it will be the policy of the news staff to print, with the cooperation of Collegian readers, news edited first and foremost with regard for reader interest.

This is your paper, campus men and women; your criticism is welcome. "We" hope our blunders will not be appalling enough to cause it to become too caustic.

With the rush of registration out of the way, the many campus organizations will launch their varied programs. These clubs cover so many subjects that each student should find little difficulty in choosing those of interest to him.

A new student organization, the English Club, will soon be formed to take over the activities of the older Shakespeare Club and allied groups. Membership will consist of English majors, and associated membership will be extended to minors in that field. The interests of the new group will relate to all phases of English, such as literature, creative writing, and dramatics, and will correlate with other student activities, such as music, art, education, and the sciences. Tentative plans provide for monthly meetings, with the variously interested groups meeting at shorted intervals. Meetings will be informal and will give scope for individual expression. Notice of meetings will be published later.

The Little Theater Guild, after completing a very successful year, financially and dramatically, will begin the year by election of officers. The membership will again be limited, so those interested in dramatics should watch for further notices as to meetings and tryouts.

French Club, under the guidance of Dr. Vazakas, elected Neil Ervin as president for this semester. She will be assisted by Naida Carroll as secretary. This organization is for those registered for French classes or who have some knowledge of the language.

Coffee House, the creative writers club, will be scouting for new members, but as membership is by invitation only, those who have something to offer in this line should contact Charles Cater or members of the club.

The Science Club has not yet elected officers for this semester, but will do so in the near future. Science majors and others interested in this department are eligible for membership, and should see Frank Thomas for further details.

Westeyans, an organization for those interested in Christian service and living will be headed by Ted Ludden. His is strictly interdenominational, and announcements will be made later as to the meeting time and place.

Fraternities Give Rushing Parties

Fraternity rushing began in earnest Monday night, with parties given by all three houses, and ended Wednesday noon, with bids being turned in at that time. Preceding the reception Monday night, Alpha Psi's were hosts at a canoeing party on the river for twenty guests. Welners were toasted around the campfire, school and house songs were sung, and stunts were given by fraternity members. After the reception, Kappa's entertained with a stag party and serenade. Ice cream, cookies, and a song practice made up the earlier part of the evening; later, songs were sung at all houses and Lausanne. Sigma Tau also entertained Monday night with a canoeing and swimming party. A record of no "tip-overs" is thought to have been established.

Tuesday night an informal party was given by the Kappa Gamma Eho's. Dancing was the evening's entertainment, with punch and cookies served later. Alpha Psi Delta entertained with a line party at the Capitol, concluding the evening with one of the famous Alpha Psi milkshake feeds at Parker's. The Sigs were hosts at the Salem Golf course for an afternoon of golf, and entertained at night with a line party and stag party later at the house.

Miss Yotter To Be Married

Of much interest to Willamette students is the news from Glasgow, Montana, of the engagement of Miss Betty Yotter to Kenneth Fink of Kansas City, Mo. Their marriage will take place late in December, after which they will leave by motor for Kansas City, where Mr. Fink is connected with a utility company. Miss Yotter was a student of Willamette last year and a member of Beta Chi. Mr. Fink is a graduate of the school of engineering of the University of Kansas.

Y.W.C.A. Gives Parties For New Students

Y. W. C. A. social activities began Tuesday night, with the annual Girls' Personality Party in the gym. It was a costume affair, for Big and Little Sisters, with refreshments served later, in Chresto. There was an informal program, arranged by Dorothy Dingle. On the same night the Y. M. C. A. gave a stag party for freshman boys, at the Y. M. C. A.

Swimming, games, and food were the three big points of the evening. Wednesday afternoon was the Big Sister tea in Chresto, with hours, 3 to 5, honoring the Little Sisters. The line consisted of Julia Johnson, Martha Jane Hottel, and Mary Jeanette Sargent. Melva Belle Savage was in charge of the affair. Mrs. Paul Ellis and Mrs. Daniel Schulze poured while the Big Sisters served. Musical selections were given by Mary Virginia Nohlgren.

Tonight is the Y.M.-Y.W. formal reception in the gymnasium at 7:45. Dean Schulze, Dean Dahl, Dean Erickson, George McLeod, Julie Johnson, and Mrs. Bruce Baxter, will be in the line. Decorations will consist of balloons, palms and flowers. Carrying out the fall idea, the programs will be in book form. Besides the conversation, musical numbers will be given by Ralph Gustafson and the Beta Chi trio, Rosalie Gaudier, Mary Virginia Nohlgren and Luella Corn. Marguerite Smith is in charge of decorations, and Betty Galloway is chairman of the refreshments committee.

Summer Rushing Pleasant Prelude

With many large and small affairs already held and a gay round of them yet to come, sorority members have spent a busy summer planning rush parties for the new women entering Willamette this year.

Beta Chi opened the summer rushing season with an evening bridge party in the gardens of the Asa Fisher home. A miniature waterfall cascading into a pond and colorful Japanese lanterns formed a picturesque background for the affair, which was enjoyed by about 45 members and guests.

Miss Melva Belle Savage was in charge of arrangements.

Alpha Phi Alpha gave an entertaining swimming party at Leslie pool late in August. Welner and marshmallows were toasted and the evening spent informally. Later in the month, Mrs. David Wright, Mrs. F. S. Amenson, Mrs. Inna Wells, Mrs. Charles Galloway, Mrs. Ray Yocom, and Mrs. Charles McElhinny opened their homes for a series of progressive dinners. After dinner the different groups attended the theatre, had a late supper at downtown restaurants, and saw the midnight matinee.

An all-day outing at Neskowin on August 23 was given by Delta Phi to entertain their prospective members. Surf and sun-bathing whetted appetites for the bountiful picnic lunch and dinner which the hostesses served. The committee planning the affair included Lois Burton, Marguerite Smith, Cathrin Headrick, Roberta McGilchrist, and Josie Aeklin.

A number of parties in Portland completed the summer rushing schedule for feted rushees. Miss Julia Johnson, Miss Edna Savage, Miss Lorene Tompkins, and Miss Muriel Ingham attended summer school at the University of Washington. Miss Julia Phelps and Miss Marion Wakefield attended the summer session at Reed college.

Returning early in September from a summer tour of Europe was Miss Martha Warren, Delta Phi. Highlights of her trip were visits to European capitals and art centers, a boat trip up the Rhine, an airplane trip from Cologne to Paris. Her return crossing was made on the Queen Mary.

Miss Josephine Camayer, graduate of the class of '35, went on a six weeks' summer cruise from San Francisco through the Panama Canal and up to New York, returning by the same route. Many interesting stops were made. She was accompanied by Miss Anne Sitton of McMinnville and Miss Betty Kleinsorge of Silverton.

Alpha Phi Alpha's are welcoming this week Mrs. Charles Wilson of Salem, who will be their housemother for the coming year. A number of parties are planned in her honor. The Alpha Phi house will also be opened soon in an informal "housewarming," to celebrate new acquisitions in the furnishing line.

John W. Nelson, ex-W. U., and Ina Buckingham, of Marshfield, were married August 15. Mrs. Nelson is connected with the Times business office and Mr. Nelson is advertising manager for the Coos Bay Times. They are at home in Marshfield.

Besides the conversation, musical numbers will be given by Ralph Gustafson and the Beta Chi trio, Rosalie Gaudier, Mary Virginia Nohlgren and Luella Corn. Saturday afternoon the Big and Little Sisters will have a Jolly Jaunt at Mrs. Frank Erickson's from 3 to 5. The affair will be very informal and later in the afternoon refreshments will be served. Julie Phelps is in charge.

Faculty Gives Formal Reception

The social side of Freshman Week began officially last Monday night, with the informal faculty reception for all new students. Hours were from 7:45 to 10 o'clock. Greeting guests were Mrs. Robert Gatke, Mrs. E. S. Oliver, Miss Clara Eness, and Miss Mary Schultz, and in the line, introduced by Dean Olive Dahl, were Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Baxter, Dean and Mrs. Frank Erickson, Dean and Mrs. Ray M. Lochenour, and Dean and Mrs. Daniel Schulze. Miss Lois Latimer and Mrs. E. T. Brown poured during the first hour, and Mrs. Lestle J. Sparks and Mrs. C. R. Monk the second hour. The evening was spent in games of various sorts. Mrs. Paul Ellis was in general charge, assisted by Robinson Spencer, Forrest Mills, and Miss Marion Morang. Dr. Robert Gatke was in charge of refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Roy S. Keene and Mrs. J. A. Mills.

Improvements Noted

An entire new roof has been put on the hall and all of the floors in the hall have been varnished. Room 4, which was formerly the recitation room of Miss Morang and Miss DeNise has been divided by a partition. One half of the room is now used as a printing room and contains the mimeograph machines and typewriters for the work of N. Y. A. workers. The other half of the former classroom has been given over to the offices of Dr. Luther, Dr. Vazakas, and Dr. Sherman. All of the fraternities and sororities have also been bitten by the improvement bug and new furnishings and decorations may be seen in all the houses.

cal sound emitting from the rubbing pant-legs?
This is truly the work of some stony-hearted individual, immune to the blatant wails of freshmen lost with the protective dirt of cords.

But by no means is this the only age old custom. The height of torture has yet to be reached. One is not to forget the ridiculous little skull caps (as if one could forget such an Oregon boot), to be worn on ones thick head. To wear one of these requires long years of practice in the sense of balance. Oh it truly is an art.

Oh! yes, to cap that is the denial given to freshmen to sit on the comfortable stone bench reserved for decrepit seniors. A pity too—it looks very inviting.

To continue with this article would take days—to write further restrictions governing freshmen campus life. The upper classmen may have brawn, but brains?

Rush Dance Is Great Success

Enthusiasm for the coming year waxed high last Thursday night when 150 couples of returning and incoming Willamette students enjoyed the semi-formal Inter-Society rush dance at Hazel Green park. Hostesses to the new women students and their escorts were members of Beta Chi, Delta Phi, and Alpha Phi Alpha.

Special musical features were Willamette songs, orchestrated for dancing, played by Harry Sporer and his orchestra. Bright pennants of many schools decorated the hall.

Patrons and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. Bruce R. Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Yocom, Dean Olive Dahl and Miss Jessie Wood.

The committee planning the affair was made up of members from each sorority. It included Rachael Yocom and Lunelle Chapin, Alpha Phi Alpha; Julia Johnson and Eleanor Trindle, Beta Chi; Lois Burton and Roberta McGilchrist, Delta Phi.

THE RAMBLING SHOPPER

By Uncle Willie

Hi-de-ho, mine frans! Once again Uncle takes time out from washing dishes to pen down a few doo-dads he has noticed during his perambulations of the week. Uncle takes great pleasure (since he's always accused of taking something) in dedicating this column to the Frosh.

By all the laws of something or other, Uncle should begin his column with a little story for the Freshmen. So he suggested to Bob Kuescher the story of "The Three Bears," but Bob thought many of the Frosh were too young to hear the naked truth now. Still, the sooner they learn the truth about the merchandise and service which Mr. A. A. Gueffroy will give them at his Commercial Book Store, the wiser they will be.

For the first time in his collegiate life, Uncle has some sympathy for the Faculty, which will try to learn the Frosh something. For instance, Uncle just happened to mention to Maravene Thompson, a pretty newcomer, that he was thinking of keeping a diary this winter, and Maravene said she thought it would be fun to run a place where you could get fresh eggs and milk all the time. For two hours Uncle sweated in explaining to that Thompson dame that what she had in mind was some place like the Meadow Grove Dairy. Of course, Uncle had to admit, a diary may have some "bull" and "bee-fun" in it, as well as some crowing, but that didn't make it a dairy. Then Uncle had to spend a few more hours explaining how it was possible for the Rieck Brothers to run the Meadow Grove without making their products reek. Oh my!

'Twas saddening to Uncle's heart to visit the Alma Mater Monday a. m. and watch the lambs of the 1940 fold romp o'er the green with beatings of joy and excitement. Little did they realize that the wool was being pulled over their eyes. Even Bill McAdams, Willamette's Bearcat Adonis, broke down and tearfully cried, "Wait 'til they've been sheared a few times." "Fleece stop," pleaded Lili Graham, and suggested that Uncle notify his incoming pals and gals about Miller's Store, where their every clothing need can be supplied without anyone being the goat.

Marguerite Smith saw Uncle in Woolpert and Legg's Drug Store Tuesday, and purposely walked in to grab some of the free samples of Nestle's Chocolate which Ervin Potter was forking over. Just for that, Uncle refuses to mention her name in his column, but will say that "though Ervin may run out of samples, W. and L. rarely run out of school and fountain supplies.

In his meanderings this week, Uncle spent some pleasant moments with old friends of Willamette students. There was Mr. F. G. Myers at The Spa, who has welcomed Freshmen students for over twenty years, and Mr. Ellis Cooley at Bishop's, who always finds time during his busy days to make his student friends at home. Mr. Emil Schaefer, Salem's premier candy-druggist, had a smile and warm handshake for Uncle. Loring Schmidt at the Grand Theatre welcomed us back, as did Mr. Ed Lewis at the State. Even "Frosty" Olson defrosted a bit and bade us a "hello."

So you can see that the merchants are glad to see Willamette students. Let them come to know you. Let them know you appreciate their support of Willamette activities by visiting their stores. And, who knows—maybe some day your name will be found in the archives in this column.

And so, like the window shade, I shall now roll up. Good-bye!

Yocom Fares Well At Olympic Trials

July 3 three hundred of the best amateur women athletes in the United States gathered at Brown University stadium in Providence, R. I., for their Olympic tryouts. Among them was Rachael Yocom, Willamette senior who was sent east for the tryouts through the combined efforts of Dr. Baxter, Willamette University, and Salem citizens.

July 3 was spent in practice, giving the athletes time to accustom themselves to the stadium, and their surroundings. Miss Yocom went east on the Portland Rose Limited and found, on her arrival, a javelin waiting for her. The javelin was sent her by Cliff Parker. With this same javelin Rachael threw a distance of 130 feet in the trials, placing second.

On July 4 the finals were held. Brown University stadium is one of the finest turf fields in the country and the seats are made of stone and represent one of the old Roman colosseums.

Promptly at 1 o'clock all participants in the tryouts marched in to the stadium behind a drum corps and band. The women marched six abreast down the center of the field and stopped in front of Governor Greene of Rhode Island. Governor Greene administered the Olympic oath to all the members. The American flag was then raised and the entire company gave the flag salute. Under the American flag the Olympic flag was displayed.

An order was given by the Governor for the games to proceed. The participants fell out of line and the trials were started at once.

The javelin tryouts started at 2:30. There were 20 women who competed in this event. Of the 20 only five threw over 115 feet. First place throw was 119 feet 3 inches. Rachael Yocom's throw was 118 feet 5 inches. This year because of the lack of funds the Olympic Board voted that there be only three finalists in each event instead of the four that had always been taken before.

It was this fact alone which kept Miss Yocom from a trip to Germany with the Olympic team. Rachael placed fourth, missing a berth on the team by 2 inches.

All of the participants in the tryouts were quartered at the Crown Hotel which was the official Olympic headquarters. During their stay in Providence the members were the guests of the state of Rhode Island and were given free entertainment everywhere they went. Each participant was given an Olympic badge with her number. This badge was a pass to everything.

Officials in the javelin event were Edward A. Bromage of Brown University, William Graham of Providence, R. I., and Lillian Deunen of Medford.

In preparation for the tryouts Miss Yocom worked under the tutelage of Spec Keene and Leslie Sparks for a period of about six weeks. Just before leaving Rachael went to Eugene where she was tutored by Bill Hayward, track and field coach at the University of Oregon.

Miss Yocom motored back to Salem with Mr. and Mrs. David Wright with whom she visited Niagara Falls, Yellowstone National Park, and other high spots in the different states.

When asked of her plans for future meets Miss Yocom assured us that she will try to obtain a berth on the Olympic team in 1940 and she plans to enter the national AAAU meet next year. The tryouts for the 1940 Olympics will probably be on the west coast since the Olympic games are to be held in Japan.

Albany Seeks To Dodge Jinx With Psycho-Analysis

By Warren Peters

Of special interest to Willamette students and fans is the report coming from Albany concerning the application of Psycho-analysis to the players of the Albany College football team. The report is authentic, and concerns one Garnier, master psychologist, who makes his living by psycho-analyzing folks.

Aside from the advertising fact that Garnier will appear at the State Theatre all next week, this reporter thought he saw a human interest story in the letter received by Prof. Garnier from Mr. Herman Cook, line coach at Albany College.

In no way is this letter meant to be printed as a token of ridicule. It was written sincerely, and the reader should appreciate it as such. To this reporter, it indicates the seriousness and earnestness with which Coach Don Faber is tackling his job at the Pirate camp.

Perhaps Coach Keene can strike up some sort of an agreement with Prof. Sherman during the coming athletic seasons.

Albany College, Albany, Oregon, Sept. 19, 1936.

Dear Prof. Garnier:

I wish to thank you for the aid you have given me in working out methods of handling a few of my men. Your analysis of their make-up was very accurate and indeed a great help in getting them to play a better brand of ball. I was ready to cut two of the boys from the squad, but by hearing your analysis of them I changed my method of handling these boys. They are rapidly becoming two of the best ball players on the squad.

The boys on my football team are inexperienced, but I am sure they will furnish plenty of opposition to all opponents.

I wish to thank you again and hope that you will be able to help others as you have helped me.

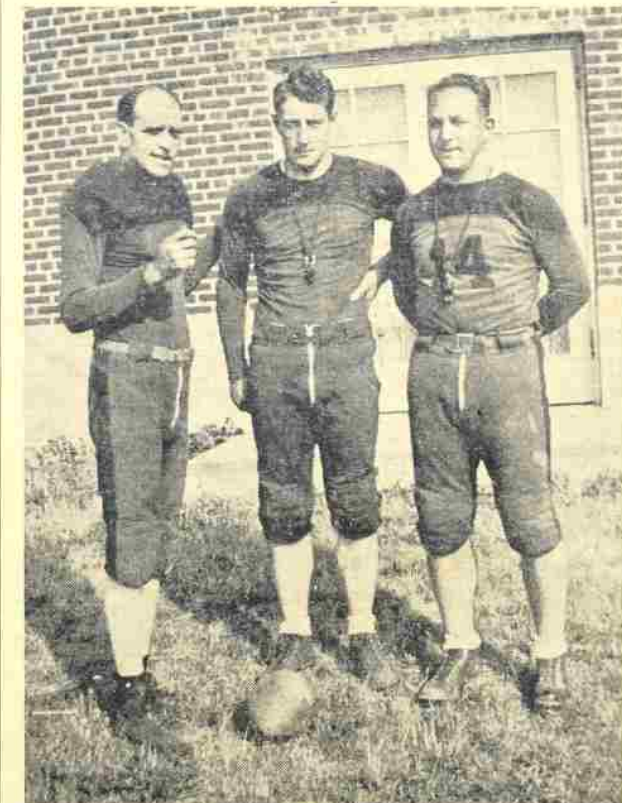

Respectfully yours, HERMAN COOK, Line Coach, Albany College.

For the first time in many years Willamette will go into the game without an all-year captain. Head Man Keene announced yesterday that Chuck Versteeg, three-year veteran end, and Dick Weisgerber, husky junior line plunging fullback, would act as co-captains for at least the Albany game. In addition to these two outstanding all-conference Bearcat performers, Keene will start Walt

PIRATE PSYCHOLOGISTS

Weaver, the versatile Wisconsin athlete, at the other end, opposite Versteeg. Tackles will be last year's two heavyweight regulars, both of whom have won three monograms — Darrell Newhouse and Bob Vagt.

Tats Yada, the 221-pound Salem Japanese junior, was rewarded for his determined pre-season bid for a first string post by being chosen the starting right guard. Opposite him will be another junior, Norm Hogenson, the big La Grande defensive ace.

Vernon Urell, hard-fighting Astoria letterman, gained the starting nod at center over Stan Peters and Bill Waldron, but all three will undoubtedly see lots of action against the Pirates.

The backfield is somewhat jumbled from the expected lineup, but offers a much heavier starting combination. Dick Weisgerber will call signals from his fullback position for Jim Hogg, hard-blocking Astoria sophomore; Don Brandon, the three-year veteran from Versailles, Ohio, and Neil Shaffer, husky sophomore from Kent, Wash.

Willamette will go into the game with a record of 14 straight victories in the conference, and from all indications, should have number 15 in the bag by the time the first half is over.

Second Season of Player Injuries Hound Bearcats

By one of the weird tricks of fate, Spec Keene's injury jinx has almost exactly paralleled itself in the last two years.

In 1934, during the first week of intensive practice, Billy Beard, promising sophomore halfback, suffered a broken ankle and was lost for the season. Soon after, Ray Burby, highly-touted California junior college guard, was stricken with appendicitis and likewise forced out of the grid sport for the year.

This year, the first week of practice saw Ed Bivins, 175-pound lanky freshman candidate from Santa Monica, Cal., dislocate his shoulder. Coach Keene sent Bivins home for a year, rather than take a chance on the shoulder bearing hurt again, fearing a permanent injury.

Then, exactly matching the Burby incident, Justin Weakley, light but promising halfback from Camas, Wash., was suddenly seized with an attack of appendicitis. He too was sent home for a year's recuperation.

Two other minor injuries have marred the pre-season training. Bill Stone, veteran blocking half, is out of the lineup with a badly twisted knee, as is George Billings, big Portland sophomore tackle, who has painfully bruised ribs. Both will be in suit tomorrow night, but it is extremely doubtful if Coach Keene will use them against the Pirates.

Tough Schedule is Faced by Gridsters

Friday night Willamette will formally launch her 1936 football schedule, undoubtedly the toughest one ever attempted by a team of the Northwest conference. Ten games in the space of ten weeks is the man-sized chaw the Bearcats have bitten off as their leap year aim. With the possible exception of the Albany clash this week-end, not one of the ten tilts can be considered a "breather."

With the Albany game and another week of practice—making three in all—under their belts, the Cardinal and Gold players will make their annual sacrifice on the Beaver altar. October 3 is the date of the Oregon State game, and, as usual, the powerful Coast conference eleven is a big favorite to down the Bearcats, who last accomplished the trick back in the early 1900's.

Following the traditionally sorrowful Oregon State game, and an inter-sectional duel with University of Nevada, Willamette returns to defense of her conference title, traveling to Caldwell for the annual College of Idaho clash. Then on successive week-ends, the team performs at home, meeting in a grudge battle that will decide a lot of co-championship issues, and then College of Puget Sound, which arrives to take part in the annual homecoming.

November finds the Bearcats on the road south for warmer climes, as well as the most difficult portion of their schedule. November 6 they tangle with Fresno State, 1935 champs of the Far Western conference. Armistice Day, the 11th, Willamette attempts what appears to be near impossible—a victory over Whittier College, two-year defending titlists of the Southwestern loop, with only four days of actual rest to its credit following the Fresno clash.

Two more home games, against Pacific University the 20th, and the traditional Bearcat athletic rivalry, the Missionaries of Whittier, on Thanksgiving Day, wind up the schedule, one that will probably add more gray hairs to Head Man Keene than have the games of the last four years combined.

The complete 1936 schedule is as follows:

Spec Keene is to Begin Eleventh Bearcat Season

Roy S. "Spec" Keene will launch his 11th season as head coach of Willamette university's football teams tomorrow night against Albany. In that single decade under his competent guiding hands, Bearcat elevens have risen from the lower division of Pacific Northwest grid rankings, to the uppermost positions on the ladder.

No greater sports laurels has any coach ever brought to Willamette than "Spec." His players have won places on All-American, Little-American, all-coast, all-Northwest conference and all-nation collegiate all-star teams. Nor is the winning of three conference grid championships any small feat.

The ten years that the veteran Oregon State College grad has been Willamette's mentor, have seen the Bearcats record 33 conference victories against 12 defeats, including the present unbroken string of 14 straight wins. Up and down the Pacific coast, in all games over that time, Cardinal and Gold elevens have rung up 46 wins, as compared to 31 defeats. Seventeen of these latter set-backs, however, have come at the hands of Pacific coast conference teams, namely Oregon, Oregon State, Washington and Washington State.
