

PRESIDENCY TO JEWETT

MAXWELL BALL WILL EDIT THE COLLEGIAN

No Treasurer Elected Yet

The Student Body Election of last Thursday resulted in Howard Jewett being chosen president for the ensuing year; Genevieve Avison, vice president; Aetna Emmel, secretary; and there being three candidates for treasurer, no majority resulted. The race will be continued between Grover Gates and Arlie Walker. Maxwell Ball, the famous literary shark, will edit the Collegian, while Roland Jeffrey will embody its best management.

All of the newly elects are wide awake, hard working students, hence the varsity is to be congratulated on the good outlook, pointing to a competent student administration.

HOWARD JEWETT
President-Elect of Willamette Student Body

COMET ON TIME

Promptly on time as the astronomers had predicted, the Comet of 1915 sailed into view. At nine o'clock on May morning the students were studying the heavenly visitant in pairs, as is usual on such occasions. Vain were all appeals to any mundane affairs. Everyone was busy discovering what a charming souvenir of the year 1914-1915 had been produced by the class of '15.

PRES. DONEY'S IMPRESSIONS OF WILLAMETTE

Mr. Ira L. Ketchum, a member of the well-known new student committee, received the following statement from President Carl G. Doney. The president's impressions will interest all the friends of Willamette:

It is a pleasure to comply with your request to give my impressions of Willamette, with especial reference to the prospective student.

A visit of two busy days to a school should afford one a fair idea of the merit and demerit of the institution. My knowledge of Willamette University is therefore about what the prospective student is able to acquire before he becomes a student in residence. It is probably fair to believe that my judgment of the University is free from partisan color or excess of enthusiasm.

The student coming to Willamette will find a charming site in an exceedingly beautiful city, an "atmosphere" of cultural value among a people who are certainly quite above the average. He also will find the buildings and equipment of his school both comfortable and ample for the work he purposes. Moreover it is a well merited tradition that Willamette has always maintained a faculty of the highest standing. A serious business conference with the Trustees Committee on Faculty enables me to say that the one question moving them is that of securing instructors of our standing efficiency. And in the determina-

"AMERICAN CITIZEN" PLEASES

Queen Leila I and Her Retinue Witness Fine Dramatic Production of Junior Class

With glaring footlights, and crashing orchestra strains, the curtain raised on "An American Citizen" last Saturday evening at the Grand Opera House. Pushing and crowding their way, a huge mob endeavored to find seats in the auditorium.

The play opened shortly after the arrival of Queen Leila I, who, with her attendants, occupied the beautifully-decorated upper boxes.

The action of the play was snappy, and all of the actors got into it with a swing that held the interest of the audience from the time the curtain went up until it dropped on the last scene.

Just enough humor was dispersed throughout the play to relieve the tension of the intense dramatic scenes which gripped the audience and held its attention throughout. The first act was a scene in the law offices of Barbury, Brown & Cruger, where the discovery was made that Brown had escaped with a large amount of money and the two partners were left in the lurch, endeavoring to devise some means of settling the trouble.

The plot of the play centers upon the strange disappearance of Brown and the efforts to find him. The story weaves about the character of Mr. Cruger, alias Carew, Beatrice Carew, later his wife, and Brown, her ex-fiance.

In the interpretation of Beatrice Carew, Miss Francis Gittins even far exceeded the expectations of her friends. She was at perfect ease and carried her part well. It was a most difficult role to play in that she was placed in so many different situations, but fate seemingly helped her to overcome all. Miss Gittins is naturally well fitted for the part which she played.

J. R. Bain, the leading man, Mr. Carew, also showed that he had missed his calling, and that his rightful place is on the stage. Mr. Bain has appeared to good advantage in many plays given at the University.

Howard Jewett, in the part of Brown, the villain, proved himself to be the right man in the right place. The boldness and daring of the villain Brown were well displayed in his interpretation of the character.

Miss Beryl Holt, as Aunt Carola Chapin, "brought down the house" in

PRESIDENT-ELECT JEWETT MAKES STATEMENT

In answer to the request of the Collegian, Mr. Howard Jewett, president-elect of the Student Body presents the following statement:

"To state a policy to be carried out during the coming year is rather difficult at this time, however there are a few things to be kept in mind in the general administration of Student Body activities. Chief among these is 'thoroughness.' It is not the number of things that we do that places our school at an advantage, but the thoroughness with which we do them. Quality is far superior to quantity. It is not the size of an undertaking but the quality of the result which counts. A little thing well done means progression. A big thing half done means retrogression. There is 'pep' enough in our Student Body to accomplish much. What we need is concentration upon the activities that count most. Depend upon it that it will be our policy to undertake no enterprise without first giving it a dose of 'concentrated pep.'"

SOPH BANNER DISAPPEARS

Campus Mystery is Exploded

(Nerve-thrilling scoop.)

Ladies and gentlemen, prepare for the worst as the mystic mystery of mysteries is now to be revealed. On the morning of April 30 a large blue and gold banner with a big "17" on it attached to the flagpole on Eaton Hall was seen swaying gracefully in the breeze. The banner was a magnificent one in comparison to the usual flags which adorn the coveted flagpole some times during the school year. But while thus tossing in the four winds Frosh heads were busy. As all doors were barricaded and the pipes to the roof did not appeal to the Alpine love of daring, no apparent effort to remove the obnoxious piece of bunting was made. A group of Frosh were elected to re-paint their numerals on the grandstand roof and while working there one of their number chanced to gaze skyward and lo! the banner had disappeared. The explanation is simple: "Proc" and "Vick" had blown past the tower on their invisible aeroplane and had gently consigned the colored draperies to the inside of their coats. If anyone had chanced to look they might have been seen, but, as they worked at the rate of a mile a minute in the lowering, the two gentlemen in question were on exhibition in the heavenly court only thirty seconds. The banner now reposes, "Proc" and "Vick" know where. This is the truth; all rumors now existing as to the alarming activity of one "Hawkshaw" Clark or other sundry faculty members is hereby declared null and void, for the mysterious invisible aeroplane which bore the crew is alone responsible for the confiscated prize.

KEYES ORATORICAL CONTEST SATURDAY, MAY 8

The oratorical contest, in which the Law students will participate, will be held Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the chapel of Waller Hall. This is some thing that has not been in effect in the past. Attorney Walter E. Keyes is offering a gold medal for the orator who wins first place in the coming contest. There are four or five entered and it promises to be a hotly contested one as the law department numbers among its midst some

W. U. TRIMS CHEMAWA 5-1

"Ad" Practically Holds Redskins at His Mercy. Willamette Team Find Batting Eye

With Adams pitching stellar ball and his teammates finding their batting eye, the cardinal and gold nine brought another victory to Willamette by defeating Chemawa on the local diamond on Saturday afternoon, 5-1. The game was tense from the start, each team playing good ball, although Chemawa was prone to error at critical moments. The game soon developed into a pitchers' duel with the odds in favor of Willamette "Ad."

The first inning saw Hauser lacing out a three-bagger to right field, but the men following failed to connect with the ball.

Brown, Chemawa's dusky second baseman, drove a terrific fly through a window in Eaton Hall in the second canto. Although a foul, it was the longest made on the field this year.

It was not until the last of the fourth that Willamette started to score, although Doane had previously singled over second. Flegel opened up with a hit through first and reached second on errors. Booth followed with a hit to left field, Flegel coming in with the first tally. Booth reached third when Doane grounded out to second. Vickery walked; Shisler fled out to center field while Booth came home. Vickery was out stealing second.

In the fifth Chemawa was at "Ads" mercy after James began by hitting to left field. Cottonweir fanned, Silas grounded out to Gates, and Saunders fanned.

The last of the sixth was interesting for the fans, when with one out Booth reached first on errors and advanced to third on errors, with Doane following on his heels. Shisler then landed one over second on which Booth and Doane scored. The remarkable thing was that two runs were made with one single during the inning.

The seventh saw the two "Ads" pitching fast ball, the men going out in one, two, three order.

In the eighth Doane grounded to short, who overthrew first and, aided by a wild peg to center field, brought in the fourth tally.

The ninth inning still saw Chemawa fighting hard, when Saunders reached second on errors. Brown followed with a drive to the rough right field on which Saunders scored. Brown was out at second, Hauser grounded

LEILA I. IS CROWNED

CEREMONY IS BEAUTIFUL AND GORGEOUS

Many Notables in Procession

Saturday, May 1 was the high tide of Willamette May Day festivities, when the coronation of the queen took place. Long before the royal procession emerged from the sacred precincts of Kimball College, a great crowd had gathered around the roped-off area between Waller Hall and Science Hall. The platform on which was placed the royal throne, was constructed between the two great cottonwoods which stand just to the left of the path. Directly in front of the throne, at the outer edge of the large roped-off circle, was the May Pole, with its wide streamers of green and white (Senior colors) securely pegged to the lawn. Between the May Pole and the throne was an open space of soft, springy grass, where the dances were performed. Finally, the expectant crowd which has been estimated all the way from 1,000 to 1,500, was

MATTHEWS TELLS OF YOUTH'S DREAMS

For the benefit of the students who were not present at the vespers Sunday, a brief synopsis of Prof. Matthews' address, "Youth's Dreams" is herewith printed. His text was taken from the biblical account of Jacob's dream. He symbolized this as the criterion by which to judge our dreams and ideals.

Dreams are our ideals, hopes and plans of life, not only our fancies.

There are six important features of a dream, the first of which is the earth. "In your dreams keep on the earth. You can not die and go to heaven unless you get a start on earth." The second is heaven. "Every one of us wants to land in a good place. Keep in your dreams the loftiest conception of heaven, for 'too low they build who build beneath the sky.'" Thirdly, "always consider the will of God, He who is your preserver, creator, master and judge." In the fourth place, have angels in your dreams, for they are the messengers between you and your God.

The fifth feature is the ladder. Be sure and have a ladder in your dream. It is the symbol of ascent.

Think of your ladder as Jesus Christ. On Him the whole world ascends. Our efforts are also essential, and consist of our activities in the elementary, commonplaces on earth. Any man's ladder which does not reach to heaven is too short. In the last place "be sure there is a promise in your dreams. The promises should consist of services that are the result of your professional career, or whatever your life work may be."

"As a personal test for yourself, ask this question. If I should keep on for ten thousand years as I am at present, where should I land?"

DOBIE'S AGGREGATION TO APPEAR ON TUESDAY

Willamette Team Expected to Give Northerners a Fast Game.

D-o-b-i-e will be here with his baseball machine on next Tuesday. Just what to expect Thompson hardly knows, but it is safe to predict that their team will be strong. This is Dobie's first year in the baseball chaperonage, but he seems to be making good, if comparative scores count. As Willamette is the first team Washington meets on this trip, their team will likely be in tip top shape. A fast game will likely be played. Who will pitch for Willamette Thompson has not yet stated.

OUR HONOR ROLL

We would not question for one moment the validity of the student body election of last Thursday. No doubt the general will of the students was expressed by those who took part in the election. Furthermore, we have absolute confidence in every officer who was chosen. With those elected at the head of affairs next year, Willamette is assured of one of the best years of her existence.

But our kick comes in regard to the total number of votes cast. It is a fact that less than one half of the students entitled to vote took part in the election—the exact one of the year.

Of course you may say that you were not concerned, it made no difference to you, all candidates were worthy; you may give this or that excuse for your neglect of duty. We grant that any of the candidates nominated were worthy of the offices to which they aspired, we grant that the election did not concern you, but our objection is based upon the general principle of the thing.

Our sorrow comes when we consider the habit the negligent ones are forming. Many of the students are legal voters of the finest government the sun ever shone upon. It is the finest government because the people of that government have made it so. Could such a system, so democratic, so progressive, have been built and supported by a small proportion of those charged with the responsibility of its sustenance? Not while cheap Irish politicians are plentiful.

To him who neglected to vote last Thursday, we say: after you have left your alma mater, and you are attaining success in your chosen profession, many are the friends of other days who will be looking to you as their pattern, and then your habitual negligence as a citizen—no matter how careful and successful you may be in administering your private affairs—will cause its greatest injury.

You shirkers of duty, you qualified voters who did not appear last Thursday—we have all of you spotted. Instead of publishing your names upon an honor roll, we want you to read this article.

You do not need to let anyone know that you shirked last Thursday; you may have a valid excuse. But reform, reform. You can never be a good American citizen, and much less a good "Willametter" unless you reform.

CAMPUS NOTES

Along with other pleasant features of May Day is the return of graduates and former Willamette students to the campus to relive past festivals and enjoy the present ones. Miss Pearl Bradley, '13, Miss Gertrude Reeves, '13 and Miss Lottie Penn, '14, all instructors in the Lebanon High School, came to spend the week end and also visited classes on Monday. Miss Aggie Alford, '14, who is teaching near Eugene, spent the week end and also visited classes on Monday. Miss Eleanor Ruby, ex-'16 visited with Miss Kuntz, returning to Portland on Sunday. Other visitors from Portland were Miss Ruth Tasker, Miss Ione Lewis, Miss Zoe Bartholomew and Philip Bartholomew.

On May Day Joe Gerhart returned from his home at Emmett, Idaho, being called home a couple of weeks ago on account of the death of his father.

Rev. Mr. Hutton, representative of the Anti-Saloon League of Oregon, was a chapel speaker on Monday morning. He presented most interestingly the duty of the individual to his country, from the text, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's." He emphasized the responsibility of leadership that rests upon college men and women in their capacity of Christian citizens.

A letter from Miss Edna Krenning, who was professor of English literature during 1913 and 1914, states that her health is very much improved. This news will be welcomed by many friends at Willamette to whom she sends her greetings.

Mr. E. H. Anderson has presented the library with a very valuable book. It is a large, heavily-bound volume, containing the biographies of the uplanders of Oregon, who resided in the Willamette Valley. It also contains many portraits.

An early start in the morning of May fifteenth will be the first feature of the geological trip to Silver Creek Falls. Prof. VonEschen expects about thirty-five or forty to go, as the advantages are not only open to the members of the geology class, but to the student body as a whole. The trip will be made in auto trucks, and will be made in one day. All students intending to go should notify either Mr. Gillette or Miss Perkins, so favorable arrangements can be made.

In order that the students might attend the funeral services of Mr. F. W. Page, held at the First M. E. Church at ten thirty, Thursday morning, Dean Alden declared that after the chapel exercises the remainder of the day should be considered a holiday out of respect and sympathy for the bereavement of the Misses Page, members of the Student Body and faculty. The students marched out in a body and down to the church, where Doctor Avison preached a fine sermon over the flower-covered casket of Mr. Page, an address of Christian hope and comfort.

The students and faculty extended sincere and sane sympathy and love to those of our community who have suffered this great loss, which is so common to humanity and yet so little understood and unexpected.

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS ADD SPICE TO BIG STUDENT FEED

In spite of the "liquid sunshine" that drove the crowd to seek shelter on the stairs of Waller Hall, Lausanne Hall, or any other available shelter, the student feed on Friday was as jolly an affair as any in previous years.

All the morning sounds of industry had permeated the atmosphere as a result of the following conglomerate efforts. Hayner had strained his vocal instrument gently exhorting a bunch of Freshmen to clean up the athletic field, from whence also had arisen the smoke of Gehenna as the accumulated trash of years was burnt up. Gralapp had been softly swearing under his breath at a variegated assortment of sophs and frosh on the east end of the campus. Harvey Tobie with saws and axes had superintended the mutilation of the trees; Reetz had held sway over a few Sophs around Waller Hall; Hixon had marshalled the theologues in a general attack upon the over-enthusiastic vegetation, while Pfaff had endeavored to lick into shape a crew of academy boys. Professor VonEschen and Sherman and Coach Thompson had manfully whitewashed the fence around the athletic field on behalf of the faculty.

And when he has won his degree, he will have an alma mater so rich in past achievement and in present greatness that he will always thrill with the thought of his noble ancestry. Miss Enid Elliott, in the role of Georgia Chapin, portrayed well a character who is a friend to everyone and who considers others before herself.

Miss Genevieve Avison, representing the aristocratic English Lady Bunn, was a typical representation of the lady who aspires for social position.

John Gary, with characteristic aptness, played the part of Sir Humphrey Bunn.

Arlie Walker, as Peter Barbury, a middle-aged business man, acted his part well, and showed usual originality in the interpretation of his part.

Tinkham Gilbert played well the parts of the college boy home for a visit and the butler with the French accent.

Fred McMillan created considerable laughter in his appearance as Simms, the pneumatic-tired butler.

Miss Laura Ross was a perfect imitation of the jaunty, cute French maid.

But for a laugh, it was only necessary to glance at the make-up of Mercury, the vice president, secretary, etc., of the Stove Polish Co. This part was well fitted to Keith Chappel, and we can take a glimpse into the near future and see movie advertisements announcing that the

At last every one was served (at least once) and by the time the happy throng were ready to vacate the stairs and all the various corners, the sun was again shining.

While the audience sat in breathless silence following the close of the powerfully gripping second act, a small voice from the (nigger) heaven was heard to say: "Whoa! Stop the scenery!" It is rumored that the stage manager threatened to send the poor creature back to its owners, but one can't believe everything.

AGGIES TAKE DUAL MEET ON FRIDAY, 106-24

Combined Methodist-Redskin Forces Unable to Land Many Places in Meet With O. A. C.

O. A. C. walked away with the dual track meet between Chemawa-W. U. O. A. C. on Willamette field on Friday by a score of 106 points to 24.

Attel Irwin, representing Willamette, proved the sensation of the low hurdles by taking first place. Our frisky little academic indeed surprised himself, as O. A. C. was counted as a sure winner.

Bagley took first in the javelin, with a throw of 156 feet, five inches, which is better by three feet than the Multnomah-Oregon record of the same day. Frank is not yet up to his form of last year in the throw.

Steeves came out third in the 100 yard dash. "Although getting a late start, I am sure Steeves will be a good man in track," said Thompson. "In the high jump, too, he shows exceptional form. He ought to be a point winner before the season is over."

In the pole vault Doane split points with two O. A. C. men for first place. Pfaff came out third in the discus.

Kintus Jim, Chemawa's premier runner heretofore, was in poor form, dropping out in the mile.

Smith of O. A. C. was painfully injured in his first try in the pole vault and was obliged to withdraw for the rest of the day.

In reviewing the events, Thompson said, "Well, the meet showed what we have been trying to do. The fellows know we are within sound of the gunshot. We really took more points than I thought we would, as I counted on Chemawa for more."

The final placements for the first three counts in the additional events were:

Javelin throw—Bagley, Willamette first, 156.5; Elder, Chemawa second, Foster, O. A. C., third.

High Jump—Bryant, O. A. C., first, 5 feet 8 inches; Fendal and Hogan both O. A. C., second and third.

Discus throw—Cole, O. A. C., first, 123 feet 4 inches; Johnson, O. A. C., second, Pfaff, Willamette third.

880 yards—Coleman, O. A. C., first, 2:22; Reynolds and Dewey, O. A. C., second and third.

100 yards—Kadderly, O. A. C., first, 10:03; Anderson, O. A. C., second and Steeves, Willamette, third.

220 yards—Kadderly, O. A. C., first,

24:3; Anderson, O. A. C., second and Rogers, O. A. C., third.

440 yards—Kadderly, O. A. C., first, 56:1; Damon, O. A. C., second and Anderson, Chemawa, third.

120 yards, Beard, Hogan and Straughan, O. A. C., time, 17:2.

Shotput—Johnson, O. A. C., first, 39 feet 1 inch; Foster, O. A. C., second and Elder, Chemawa, third.

Mile—Reynolds, Dewey and Tillery, all of O. A. C., time 4:58.

Broad Jump—Adams, O. A. C., 20 feet 9 inches; Fendal and Beard, O. A. C., second and third.

The two mile was won by O. A. C. in 10:31:3. Hopgood, Luckeny and Blackdun placing respectively.

The mile relay was easily won by O. A. C., Chemawa and Willamette having no regular men for the event.

After drifting through half the season without a captain the track men who won points in intercollegiate meets last year met recently and elected Emery Doane captain of the 1915 track team. Doane has been one of the best all around athletes Willamette has had during the past four years and is a good man for the position. He pole vaults, broad jumps, and puts the shot at ease and can be depended on for points in every meet. Emery won his track letter in the dual meet on Saturday when he tied with two O. A. C. men for first place in the pole vault at 10 feet, 9 inches.

Hear Rev. St. John Tuesday.

WILLAMETTE TO PLAY OREGON AT EUGENE SATURDAY

Bezdec's Fledglings Will Be Met for Second Time This Year.

Coach Thompson's proteges will journey to Eugene on Saturday to try their luck with the Bezdec aggregation in a return game. Adams is probably destined to yield the horsehide globe for Willamette, while the chances are good for Tuerk to be on the mound for Oregon. O. A. C. defeated Oregon 20-6 in the last game between the two institutions but the latter will probably have worked their "erraticism" out of their system by this time and will come back strong.

If those muscles are sore, atke a Turkish bath. Axtell is the only man who can supply you.

FROSH VANQUISHED 12-2

Academy Nine Sees Nothing But Runs and Errors in Frosh Ranks.

The Academy-Frosh batfest of last Tuesday was a real melodramatic wild west thriller with its numerous farcical situations and bonehead plays. Crawford pitched four innings for the Academicians while Vickery wobbled on behalf of the Frosh aggregation during the seven breathless cantos of petrified excitement. When Crawford's salary wing began to wane, Attel Irvin mounted the box and continued the hypnotic mystification of the Frosh. The first inning revealed a Frosh ascension and eight runs crossed the pan before the side was retired. The chief trouble of everyone was the labor involved in avoiding the ball. Special honors are to be conferred on Spiess and Eakin for the heady plays in the field. Everybody got hits even Prof. DeBra grooved his niche on the diamond floor. The Academy played a good game and their victory 12-2 was well earned.

of the brainiest and keenest men in the university; coupled with their experience in pleading cases before the bar the class of orations turned out will be of the first quality.

The orators were allowed to choose their own subjects and were not limited by any special restrictions. It will be of interest to hear just what subjects are chosen as there have been three contests already at the university this year; the old line intercollegiate, the peace, and the prohibition. The coming contest will be known as the Keyes Oratorical Contest, inasmuch as Mr. Keyes proposes to give a gold medal each year to the winner. With such a reward in view the contest will be one in which will grow in popularity, for a gold medal is something to be prized after one has finished school.

The judges for the contest have not been selected yet. Let every student be present and give the aspirants a good hearing.

COLLEGE SOCIAL LIFE

Occupying two of the upper boxes at the Grand Opera House last Saturday evening, Queen Leila I and her attendants witnessed the production of "An American Citizen." The boxes had been decorated in green and white snowballs and greenery carrying out this idea. In the party, besides the queen, were Dean and Mrs. Alden, Miss Bartholomew, Miss Thompson, Master Robert Bishop, Mr. James Crawford and Mr. Doane.

Detail in carrying out the queen's chosen scheme was evidenced in the dainty May Day costumes. Especially pretty were the white and green costumes of the May Pole girls—"fluffy and ruffy." The queen's attendants wore dainty pink gowns, while the little attendants wore white with dainty pink bows and ribbons. The folk dancers wore white with pink girdles. The dear little girls in their little dance wore white fluffy dresses, the big pink bows on their shoulders giving them the appearance of chubby little fairies.

The Grecian dance by a number of High School girls was especially beautiful, and the slow, graceful steps were in contrast with the lively folk dance.

The French minuet, which concluded the coronation ceremonies, was also a stately dance. These costumes were also pretty, and the French nose-gays each girl carried gave the finishing touches.

Miss Dorothy Flegel, of Portland, was the week-end guest of Miss Barbara Steiner, attending the May Day festivities on the campus.

Monday evening Prof. and Mrs. Sherwood entertained at a delightful little party at their South Salem home. The evening was spent in conversation, games and music and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and Miss Sherwood. The guests were the theological students their wives (that is the ones that have wives) and several invited guests.

The annual May Morning breakfast has again passed into history, leaving remains that are indeed gratifying to all concerned. What if the sun was not quite as warm as on a July day? Hot coffee, chocolate and the delicious waffles sold faster and tasted just that much better.

Artistic decorations and dainty menu cards made the breakfast tables pleasing to the eye, while waiting for the orders.

Work, hard work too, is pleasure on May Day, and people who just come to "eat" never see the fun going on behind the scenes. What a jolly crowd of waffle bakers there was in the back kitchen. "The proof of the pudding" is in the eating," and the number of waffles consumed was all the proof needed. Prof. Walsh, Alice Fields, Gertrude Eakin, Ronald Teeters, Paul Irvine, T. Gilbert and Max Ball were the crowd.

Clara Schnasse and Mary Cone made biscuits by the hundred, and to make us miss them more next year, they (the girls) made the biscuits better than can be described. Bruce fried ham, and "Queenie" and Paul Miller fried dozens and dozens of eggs. Other helpers in the kitchen were Addie Tobie, Emma Minton, Lucile Kuntz, Lola Cooley, G. Cunningham, Fannie McKennon, A. Jones and the noble Freshman dishwashers, Speiss, Keefer, Ketchum, Fletcher, Doxsee, Hayner, Lee, Lyons; and Rice and Bowers cleared the tables and played flunkies in general.

The committee in charge, Rosamond Gilbert, Ruth Boyer and Helen Wastell, wish to thank all those who so "nobly assisted in the good cause."

Mrs. Lent, of Lents, Oregon, and the mother of Queen Leila I, spent Friday and Saturday at Lausanne Hall.

Miss Pearl Bradley was delightfully surprised at a pre-nuptial shower Saturday afternoon at the Graham residence, where she was the house guest of Misses Stella and Margaret Graham. Miss Bradley's engagement to Carl Hollingsworth, '13, was announced some time ago, the wedding to take place in June.

The guests were divided into separate groups, each group presenting Miss Bradley with a beautiful picture for her new home.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent and the guests included many of Miss Bradley's former school friends and classmates.

A week ago last Monday the members of the local Prohi Association met in regular session and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Arnold Hall, president; Earl Brunk, vice president; Ira Ketchum, secretary; Laura Ross, treasurer and Fern Wells, reporter.

The association is planning for some real hard work, and will seek a large membership at the opening of the school year.

LEILA I CROWNED

rewarded by seeing the long procession issue from Kimball, headed by the heralds in white, who sang "The Queen Approaches." Then came the Seniors, the Maypole dancers, the High School Grecian dancers, Lord Chamberlain Doane, Archbishop Jas. Crawford, little flower bearers, the little bearers of the crown, the queen's attendants, then the queen, followed by the Royal High Bearer of the train.

The procession filed through the crowd, which opened to allow it to pass, the dancers and seniors lining up on each side, making an avenue through which the queen and her immediate retinue might pass. She ascended the throne and sat down, the archbishop made his speech and crowned her, and it was all over but taking the pictures. Doane made a speech, Mendenhall's May Day chorus sang the "May Day Aria," and the dances began.

The folk dances and minuet were exceptionally good and deserve untinted praise. Miss Hofer's High School Grecian dance was done well, the dancers showing careful training and more than ordinary ability. It was very dignified and pretty.

But the best of all was the Maypole dance. Helen Wastell's light footed terpsichoreans did everything to those strips of bunting that could be done and yet never made a bungle. Everybody wondered how they could remember it all and do the other things they had to do at the same time.

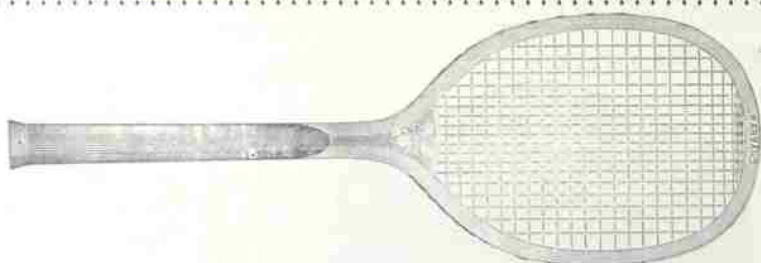

Miss Wastell is deserving of a great deal of praise and thanks for the very efficient manner in which she handled the dancing of May Day, as also are the dancers whom she trained. They were undoubtedly of good material or such good results could not have been achieved.

The queen was a model of dignity and graciousness. She seemed to embody the Spirit of Willamette and its May Day festivities. The movie man was working all the time, and we shall doubtless, before many days, see upon the screen, the affairs of the big hours of early Saturday afternoon.

runner. The next man up fanned, thereby giving Willamette the first baseball game of the season.

"Ad" was in splendid form, striking out his men almost at will. The Willamette team as a whole played a consistent and heady game.

Brown, Chemawa's second baseman hit the ball with dynamic power, but the foul line was his undoing. Hauser, the new redskin coach, seems to be well adapted to the national game and will probably make a success of the coaching process with his braves.

The lineups were:

Chemawa	Position	Willamette
Saunders	C F	Bain
Brown	2 B	Vickery
Hauser	3 B	Gates
Adams	P	Adams
Adams	SS	Booth
Jim	C	Doane
James	L F	Shisler

Silas	1 B	Miller

Hon. Thomas B. Kay, state treasurer, umpired the game.
