'Best Last Year's Goal' Slogan For Campus Chest Campaign

"Beat $1250!" is the cry likely to be heard around campus these days, as the Campus Chest campaign is launched full strength to collect more than last year's total of $1250.

Highlighting Tuesday, October 15, convocation will be original color slides showing foreign schools and universities where money from previous Campus Chest drives has been put to work. Other color slides will show additional benefits made possible by the Campus Chest funds.

In charge of this guaranteed non-propaganda program will be Ted Cook, manager of the drive, who will strive to show the student body how their dollars will be divided and spent. Also appearing on the program will be Laszlo Dezsofi, Hungarian student, whose attendance at Willamette is made possible through the combined funds of Unesco, YMCA, and the YWCA which together receive 30 per cent of the amount collected during the drive.

citations; Larry Sterling, campaign; Carol McMinnee, publicity chairman; and Chuck Pfister, publicity assistant.

The Campus Chest drive is Willamette's only drive during the school year to aid the various Salem charities. Each student will be contacted by a representative in his living organization, and is urged to give at least one dollar.

Folks Given Special Issue

A special Parents' Weekend issue of The Collegian is inserted in this edition. Parents' Weekend Manager George Hoyt, and Collegian Editor Lucy Myers laid plans for it last spring and the entire Collegian staff completed the operation.

Copies of the insert will be mailed to the parents this weekend and they will also be distributed as programs during the actual event, October 18, 19 and 20.

Special advertising which would be of interest to visiting parents was secured from motels, hotels, and restaurants, and the copy, which deals exclusively with Parents' Weekend, was assigned to Collegian reporters.

Changes Due For Fusers

"Galley proofs of the Fusers' guide will be posted in the various living organizations on Monday for corrections or changes before the Guide goes to the final press," stated Carol McMinnee, co-editor.

"Furthermore, all corrections must be made by Wednesday, October 9, if the student expects to have his name and address as he wants them in the Guide," she emphasized.

Independent town students will be contacted about changes or corrections in the galley proof at the WITS meeting Monday. Additional proofs will be available in the Collegian office.

Representatives from the living organizations assisting Miss McMinnee and co-editor Jane Dedrick are Jim Brentlinger, Toni Folsom, Justin Hardy, Mark Teppola, John Sweeney, Jan Beggs, Jan Coucy, Cynthia Shaw, Betty Strausz, Mary Owens, and Margaret Shaffer.

Because of late registrations, the Fusers' Guide will probably not be ready for distribution to the student body until around October 21, the editors announced.

Living Reps Sell 'Series' Tickets

A limited supply of tickets for the 1957-58 Distinguished Artist concert series is now available in each living organization. Reserved seats are still on sale at Stevens and Son Jewelers, downtown.

Tickets may still be purchased from one representative in the living organization. The representatives are Pi Beta Phi, Mickey Daum; Chi Omega, Mary Turner; Delta Gamma, Carol Frey; Alpha Chi Omega, Ann Yoder; Phi Delta Theta, Pete Leveton; Sigma Chi, Dick Hill; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Howard Nelson; Beta Theta Pi, Gene Parrett; Doney, Arla Roberts; Lausanne, Rogene Alger; and Baxter, Michael Faley. Each representative has eight tickets.

Student tickets cost $4.50 for unreserved seats and $6.00 for reserved tickets. Tickets may also be purchased from Esther Gwilliam at the Delta Gamma house if it is not possible to contact one of the representatives of the living organizations.

Law Students Edit Handbook

Students in second and third year law are now hard at work on the first of this year's four issues of the Legal Handbook. Beginning with meetings on Monday and Friday of last week, the staff set up its policies and organized duties. It is expected that students will complete editorial work on the issue within about three weeks.

Members of the staff are advised by Dr. John C. Paulus who is beginning his eighth year in that position. Staff members, he said, are placed according to their scholarship at the school. Since the task is an extra-curricular activity, students are not required to participate though it is a very good opportunity for experience, Dr. Paulus said.

George L. Wagner of Portland is the editor in chief of the project, assistant editor is Duane Ertsgaard of Salem and business manager is Russell Gooding. Twelve second and third year editors also work on the project.

The project was undertaken by the school in 1947 when it was apparent that there was a necessity for some type of advisory booklet. After a consultation with many Oregon lawyers, Dean Seward Reese recommended this type of booklet and, according to Dr. Paulus, it has proved itself very worthy.

Instruction and rulings of the judge to the jury in the case of each of the issues which have been appealed to the Oregon Supreme Court are the main object of the booklet. Each issue consists of 48 pages and issues are distributed to all members of the Oregon state bar.

Jo Hansen Heads Operetta Cast

Jo Hansen will play the female lead in the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "Trial by Jury," to be presented Friday, October 18, as a part of the festivities for Parent's Weekend. The sparkling satire concerns a breach-of-promise suit.

MISS HANSEN will portray the plaintiff, Angelina, the jilted bride for whom the trial takes place. Cast as the defendant, Edwin, is Keith Neubauer. The case is tried by Judge Pete Van Horn, whose satire and ingenious manner settles the case. Counsel for the plaintiff, and the sergeant-at-arms for the comical court, will be played by Keith Pailthorp and Dave Scott, respectively.

Besides the main solo leads, there will be a chorus of twenty members, divided into three separate choruses, the six men of the jury, the six bridesmaids who attend the trial to give Angelina moral support, and eight spectators. These parts have not been publically disclosed as yet, but will be listed next week.

First WITS Meeting Scheduled for Monday

Willamette Independent Town Students have scheduled their first meeting of the year for Monday at 7 p.m. in the NW History room. Purpose of the meeting is to elect a president to replace Dan Newberry, who is resigning. Also scheduled is the formation of plans for the year's activities.

Primaries Now in Progress; Runoffs Slated for Next Week

Primary elections for class officers are now in progress with runoffs scheduled for Monday and Tuesday.

Dick White, second vice-president, was heard urging all students to cash in on their student body card, which cost $12.50. He strongly recommends that all students use their cards and be sure to exercise their privilege of voting.

Frank Tannehill and Jerry Brackins are the nominees for treasurer, while Warren Campbell, Wayne Haverson, Bob Armanino, Lucy Myers, and Jim Person are running for sergeant at arms.

NOMINATED for president by the class of '59 are Del Cummings, Warren Walker, and Tom Honl with Fred Wade, Dick Audley, and Pete Leveton running for vice-president.

The juniors nominated Carolyn Miller, Pat Renshaw and Mary Jo Smullin for secretary and Sue Snyder, Barbara Clark, and Linda Berry for treasurer. Nominated for sergeant at arms are Bill Joseph, Ted Neff, and Gorman Colling.

LAST YEAR'S winners of Glee, the class of '60, have Bob Clark, Ron Walker, and Gordon Jones running for president. Nominated for the position of veep are Pete Blewett, Diane Roeding, Ann Bercaw, and Laurel Tiller, while Deanna Bruning, Myrna Mangels, Sue Palmer, and Toni Folsom are running for secretary.

John Caldwell, Janice Bean, Peggy Doerfler, and Barbara Pfaff were nominated for treasurer. The strapping young men nominated for sergeant at arms are Ed Johnson, Hal Sisson, and Terry Kent.

LAST, BUT NOT least, the freshman nominated Dan Clair, Gene Gripenrog, Jerry May, Kevin Midlem, and Jim Moore for class president. Gary Cox, Ed Hall, Sue Jenkins, and Dale Mortinson were nominated for vice president, while Kayla Henry, Kate Moretti, and Carolyn Schrag were running for class secretary.

Ann Harper and Karen Drier were nominated for treasurer, and Tom Chase, Bob Craig, and Lee Thurber are running for sergeant at arms.

Polls are being manned in Collins and Eaton from 8 to 3 by members of BAGs and SAX. An innovation is a booth in front of the library, which will be open 7:45 to 8 a.m., 10 to 11 and 12:30 to 1.

Varied Program to Be Given By Faculty, Local Musicians

Chamber music will be featured Wednesday evening as five faculty members of the College of Music and two of Salem's leading musicians present a varied program.

THE PERFORMANCE will begin at 8:15 in the recital hall of the music school with a sonata by Rossini. It features two violins, a cello and a double bass, a very unusual combination of instruments.

This sonata is light and tuneful, showing the Italian influence. Dr. Willis Gates and Victor Palmason, string instructor of the Salem public schools, will play the violins. Allan Gove the cello, and Maurice Brennan the double-bass.

WELSH AND IRISH folk songs will be sung by Mrs. Clorinda Topping as the second group on the program. The tunes are simple folk melodies from the British Isles that were arranged by Beethoven when he was commissioned by an Englishman to compose a work for violin, piano and cello. Mrs. Topping will be accompanied by Ralph Dobbs, piano; Dr. Gates, violin; and Allan Gove, cello.

Final number on the program will be Schumann's Piano Quartet No. 47. Although written as a piano quartet, it incorporates a piano, a violin, a viola and a cello. Don Schroder, also an instructor in the Salem schools, will play the viola.

Both Schroder and Palmason are members of the Portland Symphony.

Kickoff Given At Law Meet

Tenth annual kick-off dinner for the law school drew some 175 law students, their wives, faculty members, justices of the state Supreme Court and their wives to a banquet in Meier and Frank's Oregon Room recently.

Justice Randall B. Kester, guest speaker, giving his "Observations on the Practice of Law," recalled his undergraduate days at Willamette and commented on the outstanding students the law school has trained. He explained that in the last Oregon Bar examination, five of the top ten papers were written by Willamette law school graduates. This fact "gives some assurance that your instructors will be of high caliber," he added.

Justice Kester also pointed out to the students the great responsibilities of the "fascinating" law profession, as he termed it.

Law School Dean Seward P. Reese gave some interesting statistics on the marital status of law students: Slightly over 50 per cent of all the 120 students enrolled are married, but of the first-year students, about three-fifths are married. There is a total of 83 children of law school students.

Master of Ceremonies for the dinner was law school Student Body President Robert Thompson.

Enrollment Up To New Peak

An increase of 20 students over last fall's total has already been shown one week after registration, announced Registrar Harold B. Jory. The total number of registered students now stands at 1150.

Of this total, 964 are enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts, 67 are enrolled in the College of Music, and 119 in the College of Law. The men students, as usual, lead in the total registration with 726 to the 424 women students.

Of the 964 liberal art students, 365 are freshmen; 272, sophomores; 150, juniors; 135, seniors; 30, special students; and 7 are graduate students.

The College of Music shows 18 freshmen, 12 sophomores, 11 juniors, 16 seniors, 8 special students, and 2 graduate students in its total of 67.

A decided increase in the total of registered students in the College of Law was made this year. There are 48 first year students, 33 second year students, 35 third year, and 5 unclassified. There is also one woman student in each of the three years and one unclassified woman student.

Students have until Monday to add classes. Courses may be dropped until October 26.

Band to Provide Music for Games

Good rousing music is in store for spectators of coming football games this year, according to the plans of the university band. The 45-member band, directed by Maurice Brennen, will provide all home games with music from the sidelines and will also present half-time marching stunts on the field, weather permitting.

Several novel features are being planned for mid-game programs. Director Brennen is officially keeping quiet, but he hints that the band intends to bolster the efforts of the Bearcats to capture the coveted wagon wheel from Lewis and Clark at tomorrow night's game. This wheel has been a coveted prize between the two schools for several years.

Goodbye, Laryngitis

Our congratulations to the living organization song leaders for their decision to eliminate the competition from the Parents' Weekend Sing. This falls in with the spirit of the weekend, which is to show our parents what the university as a whole is like, emphasizing the unity of the student body rather than individual living groups.

Because the sing falls so early in the school year this time, difficulties are presented by the fact that new pledges have not had time to learn old house songs and that no one is able to spend much time on practicing. While it is conceivable that the quality of the songs may not be quite as high as it has been in previous years, we predict that perhaps for the time the students will enjoy singing, because they won't be encumbered with worry and tension about performing in a contest.

The atmosphere of the sing should be easy and relaxed on the students' part, as they serenade their parents, and we imagine that the parents will enjoy this happy atmosphere much more than they would the awarding of a gold cup.

We hope that there will be no hard feelings on the part of any living organizations, but we imagine that they can see the reason of expending a little less energy on preparing for a competition to have a little more liveliness to show our parents.

Norwegian Student Likes Study and Bridge; WU Fraternities Sponsor Three Year Course

Being a Sigma Chi this semester doesn't mean that Jan Aaseth will be next semester. He's the only man on campus who will have been with all four fraternities by 1959.

One of the persons sorriest to see him go to another house in January will be the Sigma Chi house-mother, Mrs. McWilliams. Both ardent bridge fans, she and Jan can be found at any hour concentrating over their deck of cards.

But whether it's bridge, girls, or food, nothing can keep Jan (rhymes with Don) from his studying. A three-year scholarship, sponsored in part by the four fraternities, is some of the reason for his being here.

HIS BROTHER, a graduate of Oregon State College, recommended Willamette to Aaseth last year. So, with everything arranged, he boarded a Norwegian ship at Rotterdam just 23 days ago, for a trip over the Atlantic ocean to New York. The next leg of his journey to Salem was a bus ride across the continent. All this traveling and he arrived here only a day late.

"From what I had heard, I had expected much more rain," Aaseth grinned. "But I'm happy. Norway's climate is much colder—and the snow is what I'll miss."

But he brightened up when he found several enthusiastic skiers here. Among the other things he appreciates about Willamette are the girls. And the feeling is mutual.

THIS SUMMER, in time squeezed from his work in an industrial chemical concern, Aaseth worked up a gal-attracting sun tan playing golf. "I am planning to be on the golf team here," he said. "At least they told me that." His score racks up to a low seventy.

Though Norwegian is his native tongue, it is difficult to tell. His English is more correct than that of many Americans and he speaks almost without an accent. He began English in the fifth grade and continued it all through school, along with Danish, French, German and Swedish. Thinking in English, there are only a few words he doesn't understand in his classes, but when that happens "there is a shake-up" in his head.

AMERICANS DON'T seem to be able to grasp his Norwegian name, which no American yet has pronounced correctly the first time. The two A's at the beginning sound somewhat like O's.

It has been three years since Jan graduated from school in Norway. A different school system gave him seven years in grammar school, three in what corresponds to our high school, an examination, and then two more equal to the first two years in an American college. The only required schooling is the grammar school.

"COLLEGE students in Europe are older than those in the United States," Jan explained. "Because of this there, are not so many rules — a girl doesn't have a certain time to be in, there are no certain hours for study. They believe that by that age, if a person wants to study, he will. But of course, it is only on the week-ends that students do anything social."

There are other customs different in Europe. For instance: "I'm the only person who eats with both my knife and fork. By European standards Americans have very bad table manners — and," he laughed, "it works the other way, too!"

"THE FOOD here is different — I just can't say how. In Norway we have boiled potatoes for every meal. The bread here is so white, almost like cake. We are fed brown bread because it is better for you."

In three years, after graduating from Willamette, Jan will look over his financial condition and try to get his masters, perhaps at Stanford, perhaps on the East Coast. He wants to go back to Norway, where his major in economics will come in handy in the shipping business.

"QUITE A FEW students are coming to America to study," Jan said. "It is a real break to be able to study in a different language. I wouldn't say there is much difference between the European and the American universities, but, of course, I haven't been here long. I would say that our elementary schools are better than the schools here," he added.

One of the best things about Willamette for Jan is that mail takes only two days to get here from home — Oslo, Norway. But you can be sure that whatever his interests, his studies, his fraternity, Jan Aaseth is happy. That's the kind of person he is.

Off-Campus Rules Cited

Dean Rieck reminds all men students who are living off campus that they are required to fill out an off-campus housing blank and have it approved by the dean of students. He asks that men fill out these blanks, which may be secured in his office, as soon as possible.

Events Board To Rule Dates

As most of you can see by now Willamette has more than many activities and social events during the fall semester. Your student body office would be in never ending confusion if there were not at least some rules to abide by. Student organizations as well as school officials are required to schedule the various events of their groups with the student body office by petition and request to the Activities Board.

This board, which meets every Tuesday at four in Eaton, considers the request of the organization which wishes to schedule an event and usually grants the group the requested date. Naturally there is sometimes a conflict in dates, in which case the earliest request is granted. If one of your group cannot attend the Activity Board meeting simply leave your request in the student body office where there are special forms.

The ASWU officers have the power to cancel an event that has not been through the proper scheduling channels. We have made exceptions in the past but with so many things on the agenda we'll be enforcing the rules. Help us out and let us know about your meetings. Then we can help you out by publicizing your event.

Lighted Candle to Symbolize Weekend

George Hoyt awaits the arrival of every Willamette parent.

Theme for this year's Parents' Weekend will be a lighted candle burning in a window, which will symbolize, according to Manager George Hoyt, the care and watchfulness that the parents have had for their children in the twenty or so years before they came to college. It is a way of thanking the parents for what they've done for their children, he added.

Since last spring managers and committee chairmen have been organizing and making plans for this mass parents' visit. The drama and music departments are deep into rehearsals for Gilbert and Sullivan's satirical operetta, "Trial by Jury."

Before the presentation of "Trial by Jury" in the Fine Arts Auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday, October 18, parents and children will dine at the restaurant of their own choice in Salem; Meier and Frank department store is putting on a special dinner for Willamette parents.

Both Friday and Saturday evenings all living organizations will hold open houses for the parents so they may see at first hand where and how their children live.

The program Saturday will begin with a meeting of all parents in the Fine Arts auditorium at 11 a.m. President Smith will present the welcome and the formal business of the Willamette Parents' Association will follow.

Master of Ceremonies George Hoyt will introduce Dr. Noel F. Kaestner of the psychology department, who will present the academic side of Willamette, the liberal arts aspect. Wayner Carr, student body president, will tell about the student activities on campus, the non-academic side. Mrs. Isabell M. Hoyt will explain what it is like to be a Willamette parent.

Lunchtime will find everyone gathering in the gym for barbecued beef, rolls, and all the fixings including Arden Ice Cream's ice cream of the month served free of charge. Between 12:45 and 2:30 all faculty members will be gathered in the library and available for talks with parents and students.

Parents and faculty will meet more casually for coffee in the Baxter hall lounge at 2:30 while students are making final preparations for Willamette's traditional all-school sing which will follow at 3:30 in the gym.

Saturday evening each living organization will host its parents as guests for dinner. On campus barbecued chicken will be served and the sorority houses will have their own specialties.

McCulloch stadium at 8 p.m. will be the scene of the Willamette Bearcats versus the Whitman Missionaries. Halftime entertainment will be provided by the marching band, which promises special entertainment.

Weekend Begun by Mothers All Campus Sing to Feature No Competition as Innovation

By the Parents' Weekend
Publicity Dept.

Ever wondered why Willamette has Parents' Weekend? Somebody did, so he asked and found out that it came about because of a group of insistent mothers.

WE WERE like most other campuses and had the standard Dads' Weekend which is so prevalent throughout the American college picture. This went on for four or five years at Willamette until the insistent mothers, mentioned above, insisted. What did they insist? Mostly that they wouldn't let their husbands come alone to the campus.

There could have been ulterior motives for not letting them out of their sight, but we here at Willamette would rather think that they were interested in the students, the campus, and the faculty of Willamette University.

THIS ALL happened eight years ago, and since the time of the first Parents' Weekend this event has come a long way. When the present seniors were freshmen all the parents had to climb the mountainous banks of stairs to the offices of the professors. Last year we moved into the library for the faculty visitation, a change which proved very successful.

FOR THE first time, this year we have added to the weekend program the all-campus sing which we hope will be very successful. Along this line of firsts for this year comes this special edition of the Collegian which is primarily being sent out to inform the parents of more of the activities and interesting things being put on for them.

As television is comparatively new to Oregon, we are for the first time going to use it for publicity of the weekend. KPTV in Portland and KOIN are both going to come to our aid with interviews and news for the parents' benefit.

Our good old stand-by, radio, is ever at hand to reach with news of Parents' Weekend those parents who are TV-blind.

Parents' Weekend has come a long way from its old 'hurray, Dad's Day' of the past but it is hoped that the weekend will improve from year to year and that more and more parents will attend.

Hoyt Praises Weekend Execs Who Prepared for Many Folks

By GEORGE HOYT
Parents' Weekend Mgr.

There are many many people involved in Parents' Weekend this year. Assisting general manager, George Hoyt was Jerry Brackins, who has done all the pencil wielding and envelope-licking (if you got a letter about Parents' Weekend, those are probably her initials in the corner). Jerry has also been handling all mailings to the parents.

DRIVING Sylvia Quiring has been the gal who has made decisive gains in our promotion and publicity this year. With the Hermiton post office as her headquarters, Sylvia built up a strong committee composed of Ralph Litchfield, Barbara Pfaff, John Kaufman, Nettie Hansen, and Dot Manker.

Searching out the personalities on radio and television Litchfield has come up with a number of interviews on local and surrounding area stations. Barbara Pfaff, along with Charles Ruud, director of information at Willamette, are the blanket-crews for information on Parents' Weekend. Their red-hot typewriters produced all news releases about the weekend.

INVOLVED John Kaufman, along with his assistant manager's obligations, is doing all the campus publicity, assisted by Laurel Tiller. Kaufman will hang the signs and Laurel will fetch them back from the Willamette squirrels and re-hang them.

With artistic balance at her command, Nettie Hansen will cover the bulletin boards with a total pictorial of the weekend's activities. By the light of the midnight oil, Dot Manker and the Collegian staff successfully got this sheet on the press.

WAY LAST Spring it was Bev Hamman who rounded up the faculty and ironed the bugs out of last year's faculty visitation. This fall, Bev will have them all in the library to save you climbing all those steps to their offices.

For food, find Heidel. John Heidel, along with Ed Andrick and the cooperative University Food Service have done all the hashing of the menus for the lengthy weekend. (For indigestion find Purvine.)

FIERY PETE Blewett, red hair and all, is the strong arm and back for everyone else. Pete, along with the members of Sigma Alpha Chi, sophomore men's service honorary, will wrestle furniture and clean up after the barbecue.

With scrutiny you could find the finger-prints of the members of Beta Alpha Gamma, sophomore women's service honorary, on the teaser post cards that were sent out at the first of school. Mickey Daum, with her schedule, and Mickey Daum with her whip, had the BAGS handing out post cards in the registration line.

ABSOLUTELY organized Joanne McGilvra with the adequate staff of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's scholastic honorary, will be Past years have seen song contests by the living organizations on May Weekend complete with judges, prizes, and the color of uniform dress. Last spring, however, the all-campus sing was moved up to Parents' Weekend this fall due to the already jam-packed May Weekend schedule.

Instead of competition, this year's songfest will be presented merely as a tribute to the parents. No judging or awards will be used, so that the organizations will be considered equally by the parents.

Each organization will sing two songs of its own selection. Song leaders for the groups are doing the planning and they are: Lausanne, Anna Rosbergs; Doney, Jo Hansen; Alpha Chi Omega, Gail Boden; Chi Omega, Carolyn Risley; Delta Gamma, Anne Lasswell; Pi Beta Phi, Catherine Casper; Baxter, Roger Huntman; Beta Theta Pi, Ron Kingsley; Phi Delta Theta, Tom Caylor; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Bill Lewis; Sigma Chi, Bob Clark.

JORY ADDS NEW POSITION

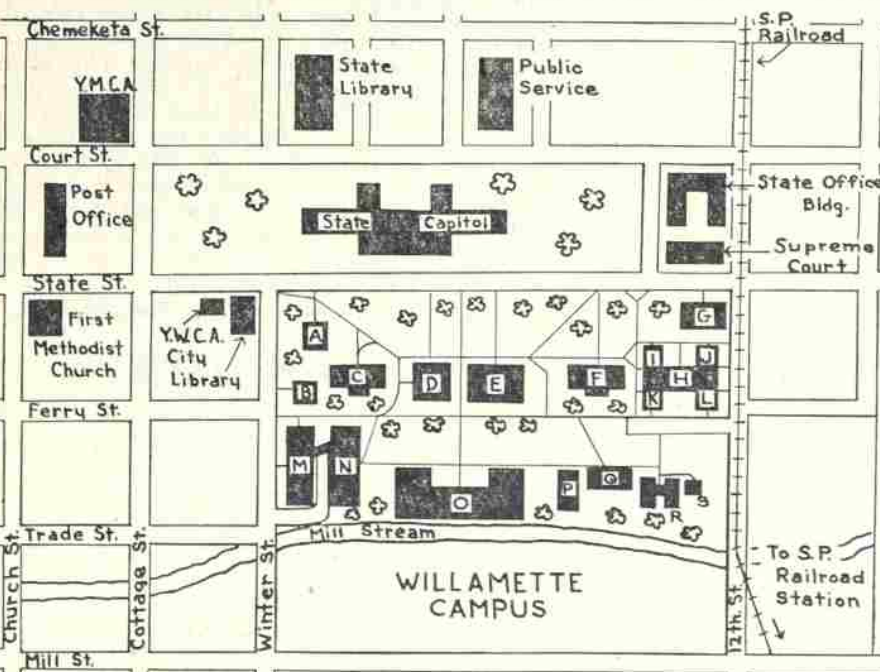

H. B. Jory, registrar, will take on additional duties and represent Willamette at many Eastern Oregon high schools this year, as a part of the admissions program for securing new students.

Parents' Groups Plan Annual Meet

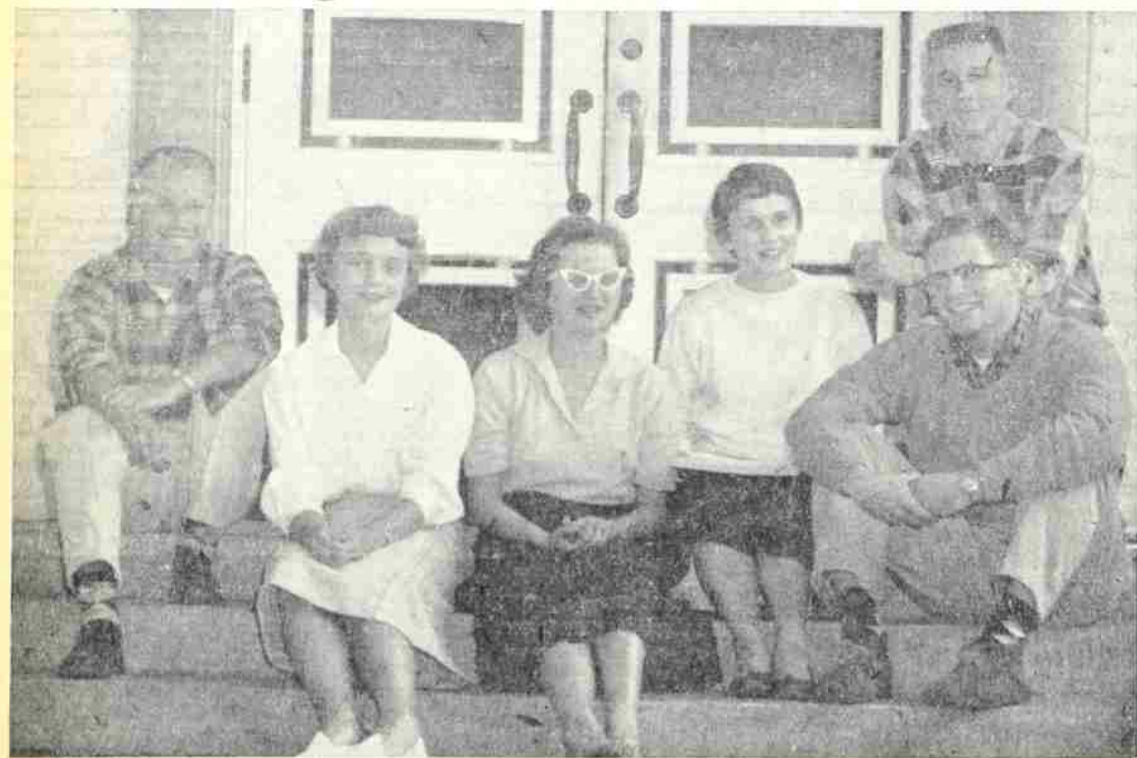

The Parents' Association of Willamette University, which is the organization that came into effect with the creation of the weekend, serves to unite the parents of Willamette students.

Each year as part of the Parents' Weekend, it holds its annual meeting where the election of officers and the business of the day is taken care of. The officers that will preside this year will be Mr. Eugene Card of Roseburg, Oregon as president; Judge Ivan McIver of Yakima, Washington to fill the vice president's chair; and as this year's secretary is Mrs. Warren A. McMinimee.

Along with this organization the Mothers' Club of both Portland and Salem come to the aid in any work that has to be done. The hyper-active Mothers' Club of Portland, headed by Mrs. Charles Carpenter, is burning up the telephone wires with invitations that bear obligations. The Salem Mothers' Club is also active and will be represented at the weekend.

Hardworking Committee for Moms 'n Fathers A Candle for You . . .

The candle will be burning in the window for you at Willamette University on Parents' Weekend because this is something that you as parents should not miss. It is something that parents should do more often—visit the campus. All too often parents ship their offspring off to the campus for the most formative years of their lives without knowing or understanding the situation into which their children are going. Parents' Weekend now gives you a chance to see and appreciate some of the things that will be topics of conversations at home when the cherubs come in for the weekend.

You will have a chance to meet the faculty, the people that are influencing your sons' or daughters' minds; to appreciate some of the goings on of the campus and how we live, but yet, more important, you can sit down for a minute or two and talk to your son or daughter.

All this is offered to you, the parents of Willamette students, and we sincerely hope that you are making Parents' Weekend one of the most important events in your fall schedule of activities.

See you at Parents' Weekend! The candle will be burning in the window for you.
George Hoyt, Parents' Weekend Manager.

Salem to Welcome Mom, Pop; Write Early for Reservations

Parents planning to visit Willamette for Parents' Weekend, will find many pleasant accommodations and restaurants available especially for them. Motels and hotels belonging to the Chamber of Commerce and the Motel and Hotel Association will charge only single rates for visiting parents. A wide variety of available accommodations may be found in the Salem area with rates starting from $4.

HOUSING INFORMATION and rate schedules will be sent to parents who apply to the Secretary of the Hotel and Motel Association, Box 150, Salem.

Parents will not even have to worry about parking tickets, for they will be provided with free parking stickers by the Chamber of Commerce.

THE FOLLOWING hotels and motels are among those recommended to the Chamber of Commerce: The Gables Motel at 2395 S. Commercial, features kitchens, television and a playground for the youngsters. Located downtown is the Hotel Marion with its Oak Room, a well-known Salem restaurant. Rates for rooms start at $5.00.

On the South Pacific highway is the Mt. View Motel. The 10 units' price rates begin at $4. The Rose Garden Motel, recommended by Duncan Hines and the AAA, is located at 3350 Portland Road. Many of the units have kitchens. Prices start at $5.50.

THOSE WISHING to stay downtown may stay at Hotel Salem with rates ranging between $3.50 and $5.50. The Sunnyside Motel with seven units is located at 4360 S.

Pacific Highway. Prices of rooms start at $4.50.

A WIDE VARIETY of restaurants are located in Salem where one can order a fast meal or enjoy a leisurely evening out.

American and Chinese dishes may be had at the China City located at 3555 S. Commercial. It opens at noon and closes at 1 a.m. on weekdays and Sundays. On Saturday it is open until 3 a.m. Double Boy hamburgers are a specialty of the Meadow's restaurant at 524 State.

FOR AN ENJOYABLE dinner one may go to the Colonial House, located at 5000 S. Pacific Highway. A restaurant located in the downtown area featuring a varied menu is Nopp's Golden Pheasant. Chuck's Steak House has a lounge and dancing in the evening. It is located at 3190 Portland Road. Steak in a pleasant atmosphere can be found at the Ranch, located at 3260 Portland Road. Sloppy Joe's Drive In, 1170 Center, offers quick dishes and dinners within three blocks of the campus.

"The city of Salem, its merchants and townspeople have shown a very real interest in our weekend and have cooed to our aid a number of times. This sure gives you a great feeling, to have the whole town behind a University function," was the heartfelt comment of weekend manager George Hoyt.

Uncle Tom's Crabbin' By Tom Loree Parents, This Is Willamette

For you freshmen who are no doubt wondering just what this noise is, you are at the moment reading a column. A column is an article of the type which one writes when the paper has run out of news and is faced with either putting in something like this or labeling a large blank space "doodle area" and letting it go at that.

As the pen is mightier than the checkbook, a column can be powerful force in the moulding of flexible young minds. Last year we (which means me, but you always say "we"—safety in numbers, you know) put on an intensive campaign to storm the state capital and turn the statue of the gold pioneer around to face the campus. I can say without fear of exaggeration that the monster rally for storming the capital drew one slightly frayed monster, two small boys, and a rather uninterested dog who was later found to have been working for the opposition.

But enuff of the bragging department, and on with the business at foot (lost my reading glasses). Do you have a problem with letter writing? (Now, don't be ashamed of it. Hold up your hand. It's really quite normal.) Have you put off telling your folks that you have made it to school? Here is the answer! Just clip this handy form letter, fill in the blanks, and sent it off to your folks, to wit:
Dear _____ (Ma, Pa, Spot, or Uncle Gertrude):

I have made it to school and am in fine health and all is going well but for a little thing called studying and there is one thing — I need some money. I am living in _____ (Doney Hall, The House, Baxter, solitary confinement) and it is simply _____ (bad horrible, worse, no answer). The courses I have all look interesting, particularly _____ (ROTC, Paper Clip Bending, PE, Fundamentals of Tea Pouring). We are shortly about to have a little function called Parents Weekend (you've right, this is the commercial) which I hope you can find the time to come down for. It will start Friday, October 18, with registration and wind up Sunday morning. In between there will be all sorts of fun and games, like the _____ (junior-senior taffy pull, football game, Varsity Varieties). There will also be a _____ (play, parents' meeting, beanbag demonstration) that I think you will be especially interested in. Don't forget to bring some money. You'll enjoy meeting all the other parents, and there will be an afternoon devoted to meeting the faculty. I'd like you to meet Dr. _____ (Ringnald, Smurd, Wassenbom) who is teaching that course in _____ (Orange, Lemon, ROTC, Kumquat). Drop me a line at good old _____ (Ramjet, Rocket, Pulse jet, Model T) telling me when you'll arrive.

Your _____ (son, daughter, ex-husband, faithful dog).

Remember, filling in this form will not only save writing this letter, but if they come down you can put off the next one for a month or so. As an additional attraction, for every person who brings in a filled form plus 53 rook lids (complete with heads) we will have free (with a slight handling charge of $74) 6300 lbs. of genuine dodo guano and two tickets to an authentic Roman orgy.

If you are still a little dubious about inviting the folks down, next week we will put out a column on what to say to them as you take them on a tour of the campus, or, "Look at what the ivy is holding up, ma!"

'Jury' Songful Verdict Vocal

Hark, the hour of ten is sounding! Hearts with anxious fears are bounding;
Hall of Justice crowds surrounding,
Breathing hope and fear—
For today in this arena;
Summoned by a stern subpoena,
Edwin, sued by Angelina,
Shortly will appear.

With this verse, the Gilbert and Sullivan play "Trial by Jury" opened for the first time March 25, 1875. This tuneful mockery of all trials has been performed innumerable times in the 82 years since.

Originally conceived as a curtain-raiser for Offenbach's "La Perichole," "Trial by Jury" was actually given as an after-piece, soon becoming evident as the main attraction. The actual time of preparation for the production of the play was a tribute to the amount of work that can be done in very little time. The words, music, and all rehearsals were completed in three weeks.

"Trial by Jury's" subject, breach of promise, is as close to contemporary life as Coca Cola. It is treated in the humorous vein by which mankind revenges itself on its established institutions. "Trial by Jury" has always been a favorite of audiences for its simplicity, light-heartedness, and gaiety.

Gilbert must have found writing "Trial by Jury" a delight after the dull days in a law office. For Sullivan, it was a holiday in melody from the church and orchestral music whose composition had made him nationally famous.

DRESS UP, MOTHER AND DAD, YOU'RE COMING TO COLLEGE!

"What do I wear?" is a frequent moan of the new college student, and since parents coming to visit for Parents' Weekend may feel the same uncertainty, this column, hopefully, has the answers.

Of great importance to all who visit this section of Oregon is a warm coat that doesn't mind being rained on, and shoes of the same mind. We use umbrellas here often.

The Friday night operetta, "Trial by Jury," will be held in our new auditorium where many community as well as Willamette theatrical events are held. The most appropriate dress is a suit, or fairly dressy dress, heels, hat, and gloves. These will be worn to open house at the living organizations directly after the operetta.

The busiest day of the whole weekend is Saturday so do wear fairly casual and comfortable clothes, because this will be a long day. A meeting of the parents is first, followed by the barbecue lunch, followed by the faculty visitation in the library, followed by the all-campus sing held in our "warm when crowded" gymnasium, followed by—Whew! a rest until dinner. You might wear "layer" type clothes, so you can shed some when it gets too warm and add some when out in the cold again.

The evening events start with dinner at your son's or daughter's living organization, from which you will go directly to the football game. Though we promise our Willamette team will furnish a heated game, the stadium may be just the opposite. You might even bring a pair of mittens or earmuffs for this evening. After the football game, coffee will be served at the living organizations.

Sunday church will end your weekend. Hope you enjoy "coming to college."

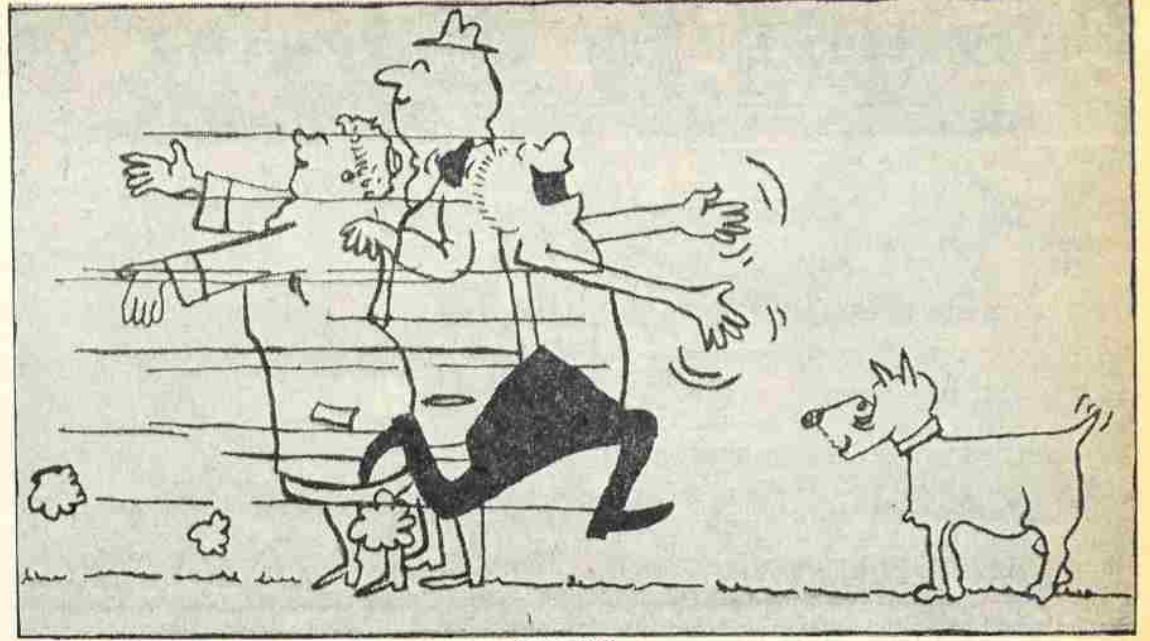

DON'T MISS THIS!

Our notorious Parents' Weekend manager, George Hoyt, and his equally famous publicity manager, Sylvia Quiring, are now turning to television and radio to advertise Willamette's Parents' Weekend.

The Gerry Lindsey Show, KPTV in Portland, will feature Sylvia and George on Tuesday, October 15, at 4 p. m., and "Mary Cullen on the Air" will interview this celebrated pair at 9 a. m., the same day, on KPOJ radio.

A HAT YOU'LL NOTICE

Indeed Parents' Weekend is an important occasion! One of the guest speakers (a WU parent, too) made a special trip from Portland all the way to San Francisco just to buy a hat for this event.

"FIDO!"

Students Deeply Involved in Weekend Plans

in charge of parent registration. Last year we counted hamburgers to find out how many people had been here, but this year if you see any of the Alpha Lamb's behind a registration desk, STOP.

With tact and modified force, the ad staff, coordinated by Barbara Roach, made this monster (the Parents' Weekend edition) financially sound.

Petition Deadlines Set

Hear ye, hear ye! Anyone interested in being blood drive manager or one of the two members-at-large for the publications board is strongly urged to turn his petition in to the student body office by noon Tuesday. Anyone interested in these positions may come to the office any time during the day and browse through past records and ask questions. Petitions are available in the SB office.

A PICTURE will tell a thousand words, somebody once said; and Jim Cline and Frank Bash put a whopping amount of people out of work. Jim did all of the Collegian photography and was the boy who sat up and stayed up nights thinking and taking pictures of candles. Bash, working with Barbara Pfaff, has taken all of the special feature pictures for off-campus publicity.

If you've got problems, Dick Audley, song-fest chairman, wants to know how you got them. He thought he had them all. With the in-again, out-again song-fest it has taken Dick up an interesting trail or two before the sing settled down to its normal situation.

SUZIE PALMER and Ron Walker, the candle committee, depreciated most of their investment looking for the place they could make the cheapest investment. A couple of tough, hard-bargaining businessmen, with consideration for the budget, are these two.

Poor Ron Kingsley, who was finally going to make a decent adjudicator sheet for the song contest, ended up without a job. No song contest, no adjudicator sheet, no Kingsley?

Where's Hoyt while all this has been going on? Just dictating!

Silver Wings Worn by Angels

Angel Flight, the women's auxiliary to the Arnold Air Society, will hold a "get-acquainted tea" on Sunday, October 6. Any girl who is interested in the functions of the organization should contact her dorm or house president or any of the members of Angel Flight.

Each women's living organization will select five women to attend the tea. There the girls will meet with the members of Angel Flight and Arnold Air Society and will learn more about the organization. Twenty to twenty-five of the most qualified girls will then be selected by the Arnold Air Society for membership.

The year's plans for Angel Flight include a drill team supervised by a qualified ROTC drill leader, work on the military ball, teas for the ROTC, guest speakers, and tentative plans for visits to air bases.

Uniforms for Angel Flight include air force blue skirts, white blazer jackets, white blouses, shoes and gloves, and regulation overseas caps. Officers this year are commanding officer, Carole Warren; executive officer, Toni Folsom; adjutant, Jean Pritchard; information service officer, Jean Galbraith; treasurer, Gloria Carver; historian, Deanna Bruning.

Barbecue Slated At Parents Event

Charcoal-broiled hamburgers and all the trimmings will be featured at the Parents' Weekend barbecue on Saturday, October 19, according to George Hoyt, Weekend manager. A crowd of 1500 is anticipated for the annual event.

The highlight of Saturday's activities, the barbecue will be cafeteria style, served from noon to 1:15 in the gym. Featured for dessert will be ice cream of the month donated by Arden Ice Cream company. Cost will be $1 for each parent and 70 cents for each student not living on campus. Students living in campus dormitories will receive tickets to the barbecue. John Heidel, barbecue chairman, pointed out that this cost will pay for all events of the weekend with the exception of the football game on Saturday night.

'Battle Axe,' WU's Record Put on Block

A perfect record will be at stake when the Willamette Bearcats tangle with the Whitman Missionaries in the annual Parent's Week-end football classic. The record which exists between the two arch rivals is the one amassed by Ted Ogdahl in five years as head football coach at Willamette—five consecutive victories over Whitman.

This record has enabled the Willamette student body to keep in their possession the huge "battle axe" which hangs in the basement of Waller Hall.

Although an Ogdahl coached team has never lost to Whitman, each year has seen both squads give their all, and from their efforts has emerged a real gridiron "donneybrook." Last year's classic was a prime example—a 7-7 tie.

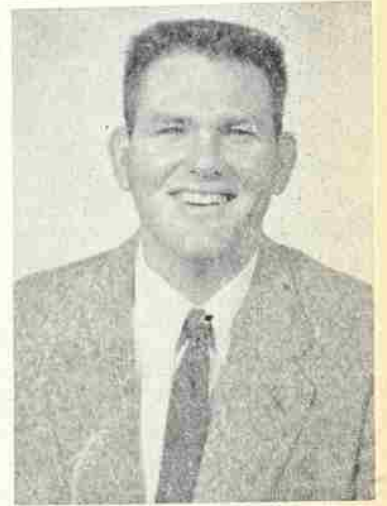

The outlook for Whitman this year is still uncertain. This could be the season when Whitman, after knocking on the door of fine teams, could produce a standout. The 1957 turnout was one of the largest, numerically, in many years. Much of the talent was, however, new and inexperienced.

In the past two seasons, Whitman has notched four wins in its first six games, but injuries and lack of depth have made the tail end of the schedules somewhat less than successful. This year's Missionary squad boasts such men as end Bob Schembs, 6-2 and 205, an All-Conference choice in 1956, and All-Conference and Little All-American choice George Sullivan.

Rest assured, Coach Ogdahl will once again have his Battlin' Bearcats primed for this football classic. Last year the Ogdahlmen were on the Whitman six-inch line and could not push it over. Six more inches would have meant a clean victory instead of a tie, and that would have meant a piece of the Northwest Conference title.

TED OGD AHL

JERRY LONG

Willamette's Mentors

Coach Ted Ogdahl is in his sixth season as head football mentor for Willamette University. He graduated from Willamette in 1946, returning to receive his master's degree in 1948. Coach Ogdahl's playing career was highlighted by three years of All-Conference, All-Coast selection, Little All-American, and a stint with the professional San Diego Bombers in the old American League.

Employing a Split-T offense and his newly devised "two-platoon" system, Coach Ogdahl led his Bearcats to a second place finish in the NW conference in 1957. This was despite the fact the team was made up mostly of freshmen and sophomores. A firm believer in the "two-platoon" system because it affords more men a chance to play, reduces injuries, and allows a player to perform at his utmost potential while in action.

This year's team possesses fair speed and weight, however, their finest asset is that they love to play football and are outstanding in their desire. Coach Ogdahl states in his own words, "They have as much desire as any squad I have ever coached."

Jerry Long, line coach, is in his third year at Willamette university, and has done much to instill desire and spirit into the Bearcat forward wall. Coach Long is a graduate of Franklin High of Portland, where he was All-City and played on the 1942 Franklin High team which was unscored upon for the entire season. Following high school, he attended Oregon State College and lettered two seasons at guard.

Before coming to Willamette, Coach Long tutored in the Oregon prep ranks. Among his high school coaching accomplishments was the outstanding job he did in molding a fast charging line at Astoria High, which went to the state semi-finals.

Coach Long has built two fine lines at Willamette, both of near equal strength, so that the "two-platoon" system might function properly.

WHEN THE Willamette University Bearcats leave the Portland airport Sunday, and wing their way toward that island paradise—Hawaii, it will mark the third such departure for a Cardinal and Gold team. The previous jaunts across the blue Pacific were in 1941 and 1952, with the Islanders coming to Salem in 1950.

It goes without saying that the most memorable trip thus far, and it probably will remain so, was the 1941 experience. The 1941 team was coached by Roy "Spec" Keene, now athletic director at Oregon State College. The star halfback on the club was Ted Ogdahl. The team left aboard the U.S.S. Lurline and arrived in Honolulu a week before the game, which was played on December 6.

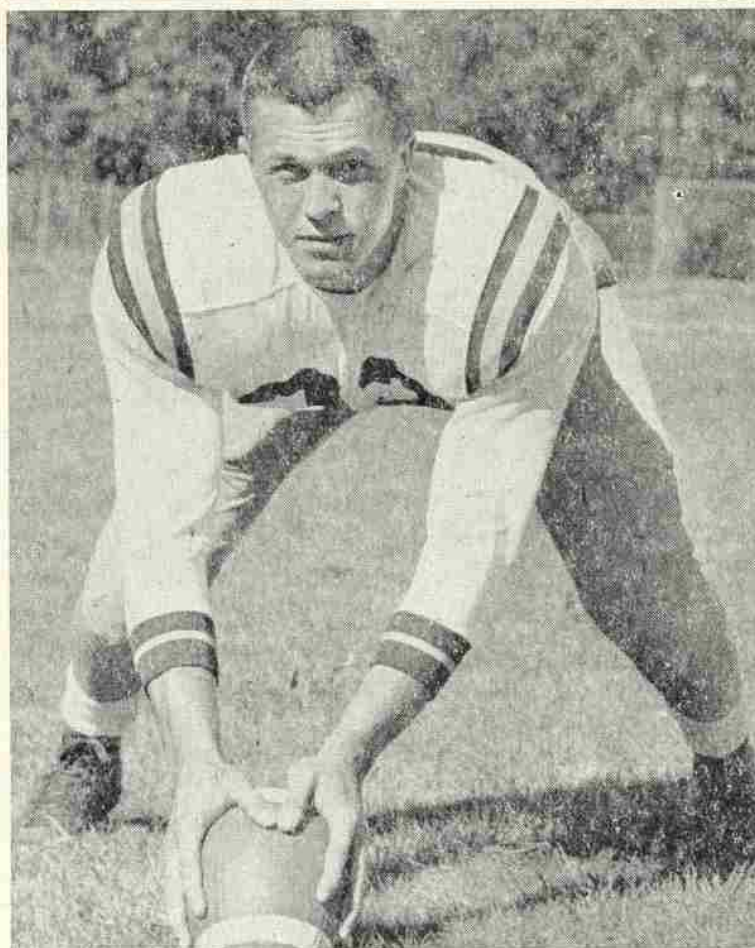

ON DECEMBER 6, the Willamette University Bearcats met the University of Hawaii Rainbows in a thrilling, rough and tumble affair, with the Rainbows coming out on top 20-7. Any excitement due to the game was quickly forgotten the next day—December 7, 1941. The team was about six miles from Pearl Harbor, which was plenty close enough. As soon as the air raid signals sounded the "all-clear," the entire Bearcat squad was put on 24-hour guard duty.

It wasn't until the Christmas holidays, that the footballers were able to sail for home. They were brought back on the U.S.S. President Coolidge, a ship rushed into duty to carry wounded soldiers back home. The members of the team took care of the wounded for the entire homeward trip.

IN 1950, the Rainbows came to Salem and battled the Bearcats to a 21-21 standoff. In 1952, Ted Ogdahl made his first trip to Hawaii as head coach of the Bearcats. This marked the first trip to the islands since the 1941 fiasco. The team stayed at the Edgewater Hotel in Waikiki and enjoyed a relatively quiet stay, as compared to 1941.

Once again Willamette and Hawaii battled to a tie. This time the score was 7-7, and all Hawaiian newspapers carried it as one of the finest games played on the home turf. This time there was no bombs popping—just shoulder pads—and the Bearcats flew home safe and sound.

THIS YEAR the team will leave Sunday the 5th, and play on the 11th. They will stay at the Edgewater Hotel in Waikiki, and hold daily workouts until game time. The 1956 edition of the University of Hawaii Rainbows is supposedly one of the strongest teams ever fielded at that school. Thus far this year they have played four games, winning three of them. They opened the season against the Hawaii All-Stars, dumping them 32-14. They beat Lewis and Clark 40-6, and last weekend they turned back Humboldt State 24-12. Their only loss was to a strong Utah State team—26-12.

MARY BEEBE is representing Willamette Young Republicans at the state-wide YR convention at Coos Bay this weekend. She is the federation executive board chairman and is in charge of the credentials committee at the convention.

Speakers at the convention will be Mead Alcorn, national Republican central committee chairman; Secretary of State Mark Hatfield, State Treasurer Sig Unander, and Jim Short, state Republican central committee chairman.

Willamette YR officers include Frank Bash, president; Kay Ruberg, secretary; Frank Tannehill, treasurer, and Emil Muhs, college executive board representative.

GINNY GRANT, Ann Bercaw, Ann Fields, and Toni Folsom are now BAGs, and were chosen for Beta Alpha Gamma, sophomore women's service honorary in a special tapping ceremony this week.

An open invitation to all students has been issued by the activities board which meets every Tuesday at 4 p. m. in Eaton Hall. And please remember EVERYONE must schedule through this group.

A "SCALPING GOOD BUSINESS" has been reported by Don Williams and Ed Grossenbacher who have turned barber this week. Williams and Grossenbacher encourage all Willamette men to take advantage of their services and will attack each customer with zeal never before matched.

FIRE OR FOG? was the cry of Baxter men who finally discovered a hot shower turned on full blast in a closed shower room was causing steam heat to roll down the halls.

GARY COX is now the newly elected chaplain of Baxter Hall.

ANY ORGANIZATION wishing to sponsor the Homecoming Ugly Man contest must present a petition to the Student Body office or Bob Boss stating their reasons for wishing to sponsor the contest, by Tuesday, October 15. The contest is profitable to the sponsoring organization because the votes for candidates are in cash.

ALICE WEBBER MANSFIELD, national vice-president of Pi Beta Phi sorority and Mrs. Stewart Tuft, Portland, Omicron province president, will be honored at a tea given next Friday, October 11, by the Oregon Gamma Pi Phis from 2 to 4 in the afternoon.

Antics to Improve Poor Game Spirit

Plenty of pep will be needed by Willamette Bearcats tomorrow night to insure the victory of their football eleven over their arch-rivals, the Lewis and Clark Pioneers, and to make sure that their student body president, Wayne Carr, does not lose his dignity by saddling a donkey.

An antidote for any flagging spirits before the game will be provided in the form of a pep rally on the roof of Meier and Frank's parking lot Saturday night. Competition will be keen between the pledge classes of the various fraternities to top each other in enthusiasm and a good turnout is expected by members of the rally squad.

Tennis Court Meet Ends With Betrothal

The junior class of Alpha Chi Omega turned poets last Monday night as they read a series of poems announcing the engagement of Barbara Dennis and Walt Barrie. Tennis racket cookies, symbolic of an important meeting at the tennis courts, were served to sisters. Miss Dennis is a political science major, past Glee secretary, a member of BAGs, and AWS vice-president. Barrie will graduate from Portland State law school in 1958, and has attended the University of Maryland. The wedding is planned for the coming summer.

BARBARA DENNIS

Pledge Class Leaders Chosen

Enthusiastic pledges chose officers this week as they started a semester of working toward membership in their various fraternities and sororities.

New pledge class officers of Beta Theta Pi fraternity are Terry Kent, president; Skip Spence, vice president; Dorr Dearborn, secretary; Ian Dorsett, song leader and Joe Karmos, chaplain.

The Betas' 16-man chorus is practicing weekly. Song leader Ron Kingsley is working to arrange a varied program for serenades and other performances.

New president of the Alpha Chi pledge class is Sally Joseph. Jane Eagleson will serve as vice-president, Ann Laird as secretary, Hannah Meara as treasurer and Mary Edwards as song leader.

Bob Trelstad is the president of the Phi Delta pledge class and Bill Graham vice president as a result of recent elections held by that group. Other officers include Bill Richter, secretary and Chuck Carter, treasurer.

Carolyn Schrag is the president of the Chi Omega pledge class, Lois Koch is vice-president, Audrey Horton was chosen secretary-treasurer, and song leader is Langley Brooks.

President of the Sigma Chi pledge class is Larry Hamilton, who will be assisted by vice-president Furn Duncan, Secretary Doug Ward and Treasurer Pete MacDowell.

Gordon Jones was elected president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon pledge class recently when that group chose its officers. Assisting him will be his vice president, Mel O'Brien; secretary, Norm Davis; and treasurer, Jerry Darby.

Elected by the Pi Phi pledge class to be officers for the rest of the semester were Jean Thompson, president, and Betty Toy, vice-president. Nora Hounsell will be taking minutes, and Alice Stewart will handle the money.

Hard Running Willamette Rambles Over Pirates, 26-12

By PETE BLEWETT
Assistant Sports Editor

THE EXPERTS ate crow last Saturday afternoon as the underdog Willamette Bearcats triumphed over the favored Whitworth Pirates, 26-12. The Bearcats crossed the magic line before two minutes of the game had passed, and from that point on the visitors from Salem were never stopped. Whitworth tied it up with a touchdown in the middle of the first quarter, but bouncing back in the first period, Willamette scored again, not to relinquish the lead for the duration of the afternoon.

The Bearcats made their versatile ground attack pay off, piling up as many first downs on the ground alone as Whitworth amassed via both air and turf. Speedster Stan

Solomon led the way for the Bearcat's sharp rushing attack, striking paydirt once himself and setting up the other three T.D.'s with good running.

SOLOMON TOOK the opening kickoff and hustled it back 50 yards to the Whitworth 36, and only four plays later halfback Dale Shumway scampered over for the score. A wide extra point attempt left the score 6-0, Willamette leading.

Whitworth bounced back via the air route, knotting the score at six all, the Pirates' aerial attack clicked for two completions, netting 47 and 18 yards each, then the Whitworth backs pushed the ball over from the nine. The Pirates followed suit, missing the PAT and leaving the game tied.

THE SCORING not yet finished for the Bearcats in the initial period, quarterback Keith Driver fired two passes to set up a touchdown, and Denny Sarver raced the final 15 for the T.D. Making the kick good this time, Willamette pulled ahead, 13-6. Then not to be denied, the Bearcats struck paydirt once again before halftime. Capitalizing on a Whitworth fumble early in the second period, Willamette took four plays to move the ball from the 17 yard stripe into the end zone. Solomon packed the mail for 12 of the 17 yards, finally scoring on a one yard plunge.

Going through the motions in the third quarter, neither club put together a scoring effort. Then in the fourth period both teams traded touchdowns, Whitworth's coming on a blocked kick and the Bearcats' on a five yard chop by Jambura, climaxing a 55 yard push.

'Mural Action Begins Today

INTRAMURAL football at Willamette University will swing into action today at 3 o'clock in McCulloch stadium. Intramural director, Skip Wilcox, released the season's schedule and explained this year's program at a meeting of all intramural managers last Monday evening. Wilcox announced that there would be two leagues, with all games being played on the practice turf in McCulloch stadium on Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings.

Today's slate finds Baxter Hall meeting the men of Sigma Chi at 3 p. m., while Phi Delta Theta takes on the Betas at 4 p. m. The SAEs drew a bye for the first round of play. Tomorrow's action will pit the Sigs against the Independents in a 9 o'clock opener, with the Betas and Phis tangling at 10 a. m., and the Law School meeting Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the final of the morning.

Lewis and Clark Next for Bearcats

DESPITE THE fact that Willamette's gridders leave Sunday night for Honolulu to play the University of Hawaii, there has been just one subject on their minds this past week—Lewis and Clark. The spirited Bearcats have been working in earnest throughout the week for their opening Northwest Conference tilt tomorrow night with the Lewis and Clark Pioneers, in McCulloch stadium at 8 p. m.

Pass defense is still the main item of concern for Coach Ted Ogdahl's charges. The Whitworth Pirates were able to use the air-ways for a total of 222 yards against the Bearcats last weekend. Although the Bearcats have two fair defensive games to their credit, their pass defense has been extremely weak in both non-league games. With this in mind, Coach Ogdahl is anticipating that the Pioneers will take to the air in an attempt to nab their first win of the season.

More work on pass offensive has also been stressed this week, to give more versatility to Willamette's offensive attack which netted 306 yards on the ground against the Pirates. Thus far, Willamette has come through their first two encounters in good physical shape. With the exception of Jerry Tankersley's mild bone bruise, the Ogdahlsmen survived the Whitworth battle in fine condition.

Coach Joe Huston of the Lewis and Clark Pioneers expressed disappointment over the performance of Lewis and Clark's line play in their first two games of the campaign. The Pioneers first bowed to the University of Hawaii, 40-6, and last week opened Northwest Conference play with a 33-6 defeat at the hands of Linfield.

HOWEVER, EVEN in a losing effort, three Lewis and Clark backs had excellent records in the first two games. Huston gave a solid pat on the back to halfbacks Gary Grill, George Kane, and Dave Jeans. Freshman Gary Grill of Albany was the outstanding runner last weekend, getting the Pioneers' only touchdown on a 55-yard broken-field sprint, averaging 20.4 yards per carry and gaining long returns on two kicks.

George Kane, a 163-pound transfer from Boise Junior College, played his first game for Lewis and Clark last Saturday. Although Kane had been out for practice only a week and went into the Linfield game as a reserve, he averaged just short of seven yards per carry. Jeans has proved so far to be the workhorse of the squad and last Saturday he packed the ball 14 times. His 60-yard kickoff return in the first quarter was the most thrilling play of the game.

LEWIS AND CLARK will make some changes in their lineup for their encounter with Willamette. One shift will be the moving of Bill Stempel, All-Conference end who has been starting at tackle, back to end again. Other changes are expected in the LC lineup as the Pioneers will attempt an all out effort to defeat Willamette.

A sidelight of the game will be the awarding of the famed "Wagon Wheel," which now hangs in Lewis and Clark's gym. The Bearcats lost possession in 1953 to the Pioneers, and have failed to win since.
