MICHIGAN MEETS DEFEAT AT HAND OF WILLAMETTE

Eastern Visitors Prove Poor in Logic and Delivery; Varsity Squad Far Superior

2-1 DECISION IS RENDERED

Notson Comes Back with Old-Time "Punch" and Logic; Emmons, Southworth Strong

After a long and hard conflict, Willamette's three debaters won a decisive 2 to 1 battle over the Michigan Aggies last Thursday evening in the chapel. The visitors, who upheld the negative on the World Court question, fell down both in logic and delivery, especially in the rebuttal.

Southworth, Emmons and Notson, arguing on the affirmative, centered their debate around the fact that the World Court was separate from the League of Nations and that the Court would unify the 16 international labor organizations and investigating commissions.

Dobben, Briston and Hollenbach, on the negative, based their argument on the fact that the international public opinion of each nation was not developed enough to insure harmony in the World Court, and that behind every judge there would be nationalistic tendencies of hatred, greed and militarism.

The affirmative speakers gave the negative the idea that there would be dangers arise from the World Court. The negative, then, emphasized the danger to a greater extent, saying that it would risk the safety of the American people to join in with a dangerous proposition. In the rebuttal, the negative argued that in entering the Court the United States would have to go down to the level of the haphazard European nations, challenged the affirmative to present practical evidence that the idealistic Court had proved to work, and the affirmative replied with quotations from a great many authorities, including Root and Hughes, which referred to the firm basis of law upon which the Court would stand, and to the many international commissions that were now functioning under the Court.

Considering the fact that the Michigan men had won 13 debates on their way to Oregon, and also that they had an excellent record for their last season debates, it was considered quite an honor for Willamette to win. The judges were: Prof. H. E. Rosson, U. of O.; Frank Hilton, Attorney, Portland, Oregon; Prof. W. H. Dreeson, Oregon Agricultural College.

DEBATERS WILL MEET W. S. C.

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock Willamette university will meet Washington State College in debate on the question, "Resolved, That the United States Should Enter the World Court Under the Harding Reservations." Washington State College has an experienced team, and will prove formidable to the Willamette team. Robert Notson and Ralph Emmons will uphold Willamette's side in the debate. Notson and Emmons make a very efficient team, and seem to have the ability to work in perfect harmony with each other. Both have exceptionally fine delivery, and both are remarkable at rebuttal. This they showed in their recent debate with the Michigan Agricultural College when they demonstrated once again that the east cannot always conquer the west. Not long ago Washington State College managed—barely—to wrest a basketball victory from Willamette, but it looks as though Willamette stands an excellent chance to turn the tables in this debate. The Willamette students are especially anxious for Willamette to win this debate, as it will then be possible to ring the victory bell for the second time this week. That would make it two weeks running that the bell will have been rung twice a week for separate victories.

Next Monday evening, also at 8 o'clock in the chapel, Willamette will meet the University of Southern California in debate on the same question. In this debate Robert Notson and Ralph Emmons probably will again comprise the team, although there is a chance that Ward Southworth may take one of the places.

LAUNER-HOBSON PROGRAM TAKES CHAPEL PERIOD

The new Chickering grand piano, which stands in Waller hall chapel, was well dedicated by a short concert given by Prof. Launer, and Prof. Hobson, in chapel, Thursday, April 3.

Prof. Launer played as an opening number: "I Fell Like a Motherless Child," by Coleridge-Taylor. This he followed with "Nocturne in B Flat," by Chopin, and "St. Francis Walking on the Waves," by Liszt. As an encore Mr. Launer played "Country Gardens," by Percy Grainger.

"Alcala," by Messager, "Now Sleeps the Crimson Rose-Petal," by Rodger Quilter, and "Run Along Home," by Lillie Strickner, were the numbers sung by Professor Hobson.

Professor Launer finished his concert in chapel Friday, April 5. "The Circuit Rider," the music of which, Cecil Teague of Portland wrote, was played to its first audience by Prof. Launer at that time. "Prelude," by Chopin, and "Turkey in the Straw," were the other numbers that Mr. Launer gave.

TENNIS SEASON LOOKS BRIGHT

Emmel and Mickey, Lettermen, Are Out; Five New Men Loom as Varsity Candidates

The tennis prospects are very promising this year with two lettermen, Emmel and Mickey, besides a host of hopefuls. The most likely looking candidates are: Walsh, Bell, Findley, Rugele, Von Eschen. Other candidates who are making a bid are J. Nunn, C. Nunn, Ed Guyer, Chang, Douglas, Blatchford, Bateson, and Carter. None of this squad are seniors so all will probably be available for at least two years.

The preliminary tryout matches are lined up as follows: Rugele vs. J. Nunn. Von Eschen vs. E. Guyer. Bell vs. Blatchford. Walsh vs. C. Nunn. Findley vs. Chang. Rugele vs. Bateson. Findley vs. Douglas. Bell vs. Carter.

These matches will be played this week with the finals coming in a week or ten days.

At present no definite schedule has been worked out but probably the junior week end match will be with Oregon on May 9. Other matches will be arranged with O. A. C., W. S. C. and Whitman.

BECKENDORF TO EDIT WALLULAH

Lowell Beckendorf was elected Wallulah editor for the class of 1926 at a special election held by the sophomore class. Mr. Beckendorf has had much experience in news writing and is highly qualified to be the right man for the position. "Beck" is writing for the present Collegian and was Freshman editor of the Collegian for his class. He was also on last year's Collegian staff.

Ralph Emmons, who was recently elected to the editorship, resigned on account of the fact that his newspaper work has disqualified him to be listed in the annual and that as a debater, he will not have much time to spend on the book.

With such a leader as Beckendorf at the head of the staff, it is without doubt that next year's book will be a bigger and better one than ever before in the history of the school.

Charles Nunn was elected manager of the Wallulah for next year at the first election when Emmons was elected editor. Nunn is well known among the city business men through his connection with the Collegian. Beckendorf is a member of the Sigma Tau Fraternity.

CLASS OF '24 TRIUMPHANT FOR TWO SUCCESSIVE YEARS

Kathleen La Raut and Ruth Hill Have Winning Song; Freshmen Lose Only By Margin

The class of 1924 won the 16th annual freshman glee last Saturday night at the armory by a very narrow margin over the freshman class. The sophomores and juniors took third and fourth places respectively.

The glee is an annual affair regularly sponsored by the freshman class of the university. According to the rules, the challenge to the song contest is to be made to the other classes at least six weeks prior to the affair, and each entire class must render a song of a type which is specified practically a year beforehand. Committees of disinterested experts are chosen to judge the merits of each song as to words, music, rendition, and adaptation.

The judges for the contest this year were: Words, Roy, Blaine E. Kirkpatrick, F. M. Jasper and Harold Eakin; music, Prof. T. S. Roberts, Miss Lena Dutton and Miss Lena Belle Tartar; rendition, Edwin Socolofsky, Mrs. Louise Robertson and Mrs. Odell Savage Olling; adaptability, Paul B. Wallace, Mrs. Belle Socolofsky and Miss Alta Ross.

The decision was very close, indeed, with a number of tying votes. The final count stood as follows:

Rendition		Adaptability		Words		Music
Seniors	Juniors	Seniors	Juniors	Seniors	Juniors	Seniors	Juniors
1	4	1	2	1	2	1	2
3	4	1	4	3	1	3	1
4	3	3	1	1	3	2	2

This year's seniors were also the winners in last year's glee with their "Dream On" serenade song, which has become increasingly popular since its first triumphant appearance. When sophomores, the class of 1924, took fourth place and when freshmen they placed third.

After a foreword by President Ellis of the freshman class, in which he welcomed the guests of the evening and formally opened the program of the glee, Prof. Launer played "Marche Militaire," by Schubert-Tausig, in a pleasing manner. Following the senior and junior songs, Sadie Jo Read entertained with a reading. The sophomore and freshman songs were then given, followed by a violin solo by Iva Claire Love entitled "Spanish Dance" by Sarasate. While the judges (Continued on page 4)

DEBATERS TRIUMPH OVER MISSIONARIES

Willamette won the debate with Whitman College last Monday evening by a unanimous decision of the judges. The debate was on the question, "Resolved, That the United States Should Enter the World Court Under the Harding Reservations."

Ward Southworth and Victor Carlson upheld the affirmative for Willamette University, and Kirshen and Thompson upheld the negative for Whitman College. Both Kirshen and Thompson had developed convincing arguments upon the Harding reservations, but under the terrific fire of the affirmative rebuttal their arguments melted away like so much candy cotton.

Ward Southworth and Victor Carlson backed their arguments with a vast supply of authorities, and were upon their ground during the whole of the debate.

That was the very ground on which the negative lost out. They gave seemingly very logical arguments against the argument of the affirmative, but when that argument was brought under the analysis of affirmative, it was found that the negative had very little authority to justify their stand.

CIRCUIT RIDER UNVEILING IS TO FEATURE W. U.

Willamette University will take an active part in the dedication of the Circuit Rider, April 19.

"The Circuit Rider," written by Mary Carolyn Davies will be read by Pres. Carl G. Doney. The combined Willamette Glee clubs will sing the song, "The Circuit Rider," the music of which was written by Cecil Teague, organist of the Majestic theatre Portland. "America" and "America, the Beautiful" will be sung as special numbers by the Glee clubs.

Joe Nee, representing the Student Body of Willamette University, will give the pledge to the flag, while the Glee clubs stand at attention.

The Circuit Rider will be draped in American flags and unveiled by Mr. Booth's four grandsons.

Week-end visitors at Sigma Tau were: Sheldon Cackett, Ramon Dimick, James Caughlan, Robbin Fisher, Ted Mizner, Dave Lawson, Lyman Marsters, Bruce White and Lawrence Davies.

REPORT MADE ON HOOP TOURNAMENT

The future success of Willamette's annual basketball tournament has practically been assured by the promise of a group of local business men to underwrite the expenses of next year's series. This action virtually guarantees us the tourney for next year and makes its success in the following years almost certain.

This promise to guarantee expenses came only after the final report had shown the recent tournament to be a complete financial success for the first time in our athletic history. This is a distinct achievement and too much credit can not be given those in charge of the affair.

The final report shows that more than $2400 was taken in at the gate. This is about $500 more than the contests have ever netted before. Miscellaneous costs amounted to $523; entertainment for the teams while in Salem cost $407; while transportation costs totaled $341. Not only was the amount sufficient to pay all the expenses of the teams for the first time, but it was also able to entertain several of the teams at hotels.

The success of this year's tournament is attributed by Coach Rathbun to the student organization, and also to the support of Salem business men, among whom more than a hundred season tickets were sold. It is also pointed out that rosters from the various high schools helped swell the attendance, there having been more than 600 out-of-town people present for the semi-final games. Furthermore, complimentary tickets were done away with, except to the press, the police and the visiting teams. This policy alone saved a large amount of money, for, in all, there were about 120 requests for passes.

Kelso Receives Scholarship

Gordon Kelso, senior, has received a $400 scholarship in the University of Oregon School of Business Administration for next year. Mr. Kelso was last year manager of the Collegian, a Sigma Tau, and Websterian. Senior scholar in chemistry and assistant, and an employee of the State Highway Department at the State House.

COUNCIL SEEKS BASEBALL FUND

The athletic council in their meeting after chapel Tuesday decided that baseball would continue and that it would be financed out of the general surplus fund of about $450. It was estimated that baseball would use nearly $300, and track and tennis very little.

It was recommended that the A.S.B. books be checked up to determine the exact surplus on hand. The funds for athletics are entirely separate from the other spring expenses, such as May Day and incidentals.

"AH-HA!" DIOGENES WOULD SAY

(Dramatization of Diogenes meeting Ralph Emmons after his resignation from the job of Wallulah Editor.)

Diogenes (Enters clad in obscurity carrying friend lantern. Sets lantern down on the stage. Glances down wing. Springs back with surprised look. Picks up lantern and holds in front of him to gain a better view. "Ah-ha! Ah-ha!" (Faint noise is heard of approaching footsteps). (Acts very nervous. Sighs expectantly. Sets down lantern). "He (slow and deliberate) wouldn't accept the Wallulah job because he wanted to devote all his time to varsity debate; willing to let the one who put out the lights take the honors. He has only one objective and no time for anything else." (Gives imitation of proud father when nurse announces, "It's a boy!" With a sigh of despair such as Roosevelt gave when he received the announcement of his election to the presidency, picks up lantern and blows it out. Clears stage.)

WITH ONE ACCORD

The Freshman deserve rare praise for the excellent management of Willamette's sixteenth annual glee.

None can say that it has not been the most excellent down to the smallest detail that anyone in the present student generation has seen.

With one accord—"Congratulations, Freshman!"

OLD WHISKERS!

Yesterday, old Whiskers, we sat up there on that hill above your house and watched you sawing wood. We were trapped in by a down pour of rain which was beating the smoke from your chimney back to the ground unmercifully—but the roof above our heads was kind and the fire was generous and crackling.

We envied you. You were not puzzling over brain-racking, nerve-wrecking books, nor a thousand other things that unpry the mind from its natural processes—things that destroy the soul's harmonies. Here you were dwelling in silent places. And, Whiskers, it's in the silent places that the god of Wisdom broods! You were in a wilderness of knowledge; you could eat the locust and honey life. You know nothing of pretentious men, men with galling betrayals, men who purse their lips and wash their hands—and play a divine comedy—as if, any just god would hear their prayers!

Then the sun came forth in its effulgence. We set forth to visit you. Far back through the trees we heard the measured stroke of your axe. Now and then we caught glimpses of the blue through the thick fir trees; the water dogs slipped through the sedges and cresses; the chipmunks scampered up the trunks; and the heavy banks of fern blades were weighed down with water.

Here was a whole world at your command, old Whiskers! All that those books contained—and more that the writers may never know about—and things that they will never understand, not if they studied them for a million years—was written right here at your feet.

Then we came upon you from over the top of a narrow hill. You started a conversation and told us how you sat in your shank yesterday and envied us with our, sealed, education.

Then you turned and asked us if we would send you a history book so you could find out all about this church scrap in New York and learn all about politics!

Funny, old white Whiskers, yesterday we should have envied you!

THIS BROAD-MINDED STUFF!

We must be deucedly narrow and we hate to admit it. But we sure can't see through the riddle that some of the petition signers present. They sign two petitions for candidates that are running for the same office. Now you broader minded folk, you can see through this perfectly. There is no inconsistency there. But it's a bad puzzle to us. We envy you. You can be perfect friends to W. J. Bryan and Charles Darwin. But we can only see Bryan's side of the question, although we do admire Charles Darwin, we enjoy his point of view. It keeps us from being too positive that we are right in everything, and helps us to know what the other guy's talking about. You don't understand us. You can't. This is narrow rot to you! You go on signing a dozen petitions if they come your way, Mr. Influential Broadminded. We'll sign only the one for the person we think is best qualified for the office and when we get to the polls we'll vote the same way.

It's all in the breadth and we're so deucedly narrow that we can see through this kind of stuff!

Phaculty Philosophy

Get this straight. If you love me, well—I forgive you. If I bore you, that is different, and I can never forgive you.

"Heaven help those that are caught helping themselves."

How easy it would be to get an office or job if the candidate could use his funeral sermon as a letter of recommendation.

What is done cannot be undone.

I really do not know how honest people are to manage, for what is mayonnaise without oil?

The chapel talk on carving cherry seeds hit everybody in the room.

How sad it would have been if the jolly carver had not discovered his mistakes until it was too late to mend.

How infinitely sad if the images he carved in cherry stones had been vicious things, robbing the sinful worker of all his virtue and poisoning the lives of other people.

And the springtime is here. Hurrah! Now the young man's fancy—and the maiden's prayer—

But remember this: All the rewards are at the end of the race. That sublime E, that may-be-welcome P, that cash prize, that diploma—they all are bestowed at the close of the semester.

Democracy means letting everybody in on it. Well, it is all admirable enough to open up the opportunity. But some of us can't get in, and others having got in cannot do more. For even democracy cannot furnish brains, or beautiful dispositions, or will power, or lovely violet eyes.

Oh jolly little comrade
On the lawn,
Did you wake this morning
Just at dawn?

Did you laugh to feel
The warm sun;
Were you glad the day
Had just begun?

Did you joy to see
The green grass—
Did you hear the gentle
Winds pass?

Were you glad for songs
Yet unsung?
Did you sing because
Life is young.

Were you glad as I
That Winter's past?
Were you glad that Spring's
Come at last?

NEW GYM APPARATUS HAS BEEN INSTALLED

During spring vacation, the bulk of the equipment for the new gymnasium, arrived and has been put in place. With its installation, the physical department is able to proceed for the first time with its regular program.

A special feature of this program is corrective education. The corrective room now ranks with the best on the coast. Bar stalls, chest weights and a quarter circle are included in the equipment, with bars and much hand apparatus. As soon as a student has taken his physical examination and is found to be in need of corrective work, he will be assigned to this room. This will all be supervised, individual work, the time of which will be arranged by appointment. A regular prescribed course of exercises will be followed, according to the type of work needed.

In the main gymnasium the climbing ropes and the traveling rings have also been installed and the mats and spring boards have also been received. All the lung testing apparatus has arrived and will soon be put in use.

Spring has come. The loving snakes, the belching frogs, the empty pool-rooms, the crowded dance halls, all attest the fact that earth's fairest beauties again greet our view. A theologian emphatically assured us the other night that man is not an animal. The news gladdens us for now we may be able to go through the warm weather without slacking up on studies or being bothered with old groanings which cannot be uttered. The Squirrel is a pagan, thankful for good old spring and all that goes with it. (The little dumbbell just read this and wanted to bet a box of candy that there would be a hard rain the day that this week's Collegian is published.)

Apparently for no reason, a little jingle has been pounding in our head. A dear dead aunt delighted in quoting it to us. We have no idea of its origin and we haven't a copy of it but we believe this to be a correct quotation:

"I heard philosophy sigh,
No rose without its thorn;
But sweet faith made reply,
Of thorns are roses born."

SAFETY VALVE

Beware when a thinker is let loose on this planet—Emerson.

Salem, Or., April 8, 1924.

Mr. Editor:

We of Willamette live in a world ideal world has its darker side, every honey bee has its sting, every machine has its monkeywrench in the gears now and then.

Willamette has a student body of more than average standards of conduct and morality, it has a faculty of men and women of high ideals who seem to strive to maintain these ideals.

But "for want of a nail the shoe was lost;

For want of the shoe the horse was lost;

For want of the horse the rider was lost;

And all for the want of a horseshoe nail."

Should any Willamette student be forced to endure degrading influences, should young ladies be forced to have individual instruction from a man whose very breath is steeped with the fire of intoxicating liquor, and whose conduct is that of a beast of low order rather than a Christian gentleman?

It seems hard to have to utter such accusations as these, or to believe that such statements are true. But we believe that the sooner a house-cleaning takes place the more enjoyable will be the living therein. Let Willamette University be what it seems to be, a Christian school with a Christian faculty striving earnestly to embed in the lives of its students Christian ideals.

Yours sincerely,

—A Disgusted Student.

Isn't it fun to tear paper up into bits and let it fall gently down upon the green lawn that happens to be long to Willamette University? You know, it gives the campus such an artistic look to see bits of white paper here and there. People who come to visit will be sure to admire it.

You wonder "why? who would do a thing like that?" Yes, everybody wonders and nearly everybody does it themselves. You wouldn't throw paper around in your home. Why throw paper around Willamette? It's your home. It's true that we, at times do such things unconsciously

(Who entertains tonight in Waller Hall)

You juggler of color,
You rhymer of rhymes;
You fun-loving layman,
Portraying the times.

A pumpkin, a parrot,
A broom, or a shoe,
A peel in the ash-can,
An old hag's brew—

Will run into rhymes,
And color beside,
Each stroke undulating
In gorgeous tide.

Not labeled and ready,
Like cans on a shelf,
But never mind that:
He'll speak for himself.

AUDRED BUNCH.

The 16th annual Freshman Glee occupied the main place on the week's social calendar. It was marked by the visit of many guests and former students.

The next all-school event will be the annual May Day festivities, for which extensive preparations are under way, promising a delightful week-end of diversion.

The following girls were present at a surprise dinner party, Thursday night in honor of Elizabeth Silver's birthday: Ila Comstock, Mabel Maddox, Helen Baird, Daphne Malstrom, Hazel Newhouse, Ethel Marks, Lillie Christopherson and Elizabeth Silver.

Miss Esther Paroungian and Miss Lorlei Blatchford, of Klaher, Washington, spent the week end at their homes in Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Jones of Oregon City, were the guests of their daughter, Blanche Jones, at the Alpha Phi Alpha house over the week end.

Engagement Comes As Surprise

At the dinner hour Thursday evening at Delta Phi, Jeanette Corskile announced her engagement to Claire Ausman. The table was attractively centered with a white wicker basket of gorgeous deep red roses. Red hearts interlaced with white satin ribbon radiated to the edge of the table, and streamed gracefully down the sides. The secret was told at the dessert course when a tiny red cupid carrying a heart picture of the happy pair were found in the center of each dish of ice cream. Miss Luica Card, accompanied by Miss Marguerite Bridgeman sang, "Oh, Promise Me." The engagement was announced at the same time at the Alpha Psi Delta fraternity.

Miss Corshie is a member of the Delta Phi sorority and the Philodorian literary society. Mr. Ausman is a member of Alpha Psi Delta and of the Philodorian literary society. The best wishes of campus friends are extended to the young couple.

Junior Party Follows Glee

The Junior class indulged in a most jubilant party after the Glee in Christo cottage on Friday night. The class was honored by having Dr. and Mrs. Doney as their guests. Every one scampered around to find hidden Easter eggs. Then a mock glee was staged and the song written by Eloise Reed won the decision of the judges. Miss Reed received a large Easter egg as a trophy.

At the wind up of a grand march the crowd filed past the refreshment booth where Neapolitan ice cream and wafers were served. A jolly group of Juniors bid each other farewell and adjourned.

Miss Florence Saunders of O. A. C. visited friends in Salem last week, among whom was Laura Pemberton. Miss Saunders was a guest of Adella Gates Saturday for lunch, and Miss Saunders and Laura Pemberton were dinner guests of Enid Balton, Sunday.

At a feed in Laura Phipps' room in honor of Ethel Adams' birthday, Monday night, March 31, the following girls were present: Clara Smith, Irene Berg, Elizabeth McClure, Grace Linn, Laura Phipps and Ethel Adams.

John Givens spent the week end at his home in Portland.

Leland Chapin, Dr. McCormick, Lois Chapin, Albert Logan and Dorothy Owen, motored with Don Ryan to Eugene Friday evening for the oratorical contest.

Seniors Entertained at Von Eschen Home

Following their victory at the Freshman Glee, the seniors were delightfully entertained at the home of Professor and Mrs. Von Eschen. During the evening Miss Kathleen LaRaut gave a vocal solo, and Professor Launer gave several numbers on the piano. As a pleasing conclusion came a serenade by members of the alumni.

Attractive refreshments of sandwiches, egg salad, ice cream, wafers, and coffee concluded a pleasant evening.

Freshman Party at Armory

After the Freshman Glee program last Saturday night the freshman class remained in the Armory for the customary aftermath party.

The first few moments were spent in the jubilant singing of tributes to the members of the class responsible for the success of the evening. A short session of games, peanut hunts, April fool prizes, and punch and wafers then followed, and the party proper was over.

The committees in charge of the party were as follows: Eats, Mildred Tomlinson, Mildred Herwig and Laurence Schrieber; entertainment, Margaret Stolz, Mildred Jones and Keith Rhodes.

Guests at Delta Phi for over the week end were: Miss Ardella Dunlap of Falls City; Miss Esther Oliver of Corvallis, and the following alumnae: Miss Mary Notson, Miss Sadie Pratt, Miss Marguerite Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Marcy spent Saturday and Sunday as guests of their daughter Mildred.

Mrs. G. H. Tucker was a week end guest of her daughter, Mildred.

WILL DEBATE W. S. C.

Ward Southworth took a brilliant part in the debate with the Michigan Agricultural College. In the debate with Whitman he displayed a generalship in rebuttal that was highly instrumental in giving Willamette a three to nothing decision. Whichever way the team is made up the outlook for Willamette is more than favorable.

Mugs Passes on to Happy Hunting Land

Willamette's basketball mascot is no more. Willamette students in general and the Rathbun family in particular are mourning the death of "Mugs." This little bulldog, belonging to Coach Rathbun, has won her way into the hearts of Willamette students, and her loss will be keenly felt, for "Mugs" died last Sunday— from poison.

"Mugs" was a little over eight years old and during that time she has been mascot of a large number of athletic teams. Soon after she came on the campus she won her way into the hearts of Willamette students by her amusing antics at football games. During the past basketball season, she won loud applause with her tricks between halves of games. Now she is dead. No wonder "Frosty" looks so sad.

SENIOR CLASS WINS GLEE

convened, the classes nervously sang in an attempt to keep up their courage, until Prof. Matthews should make his exasperatingly wordy announcement and present the banner. On the armory platform stood two red brick columns upholding globes, imitation of the pillars standing before Eaton Hall. Lights shaded with cardinal and gold streamers gave another bit of Willamette atmosphere. The platform was banked with plants and flowers, which formed an attractive background.

The song this year was to be a song of loyalty and devotion of the same type as "I Love You Willamette U." and to be suitable for all school occasions. The music of the senior song, "Our Pledge," was composed by Kathleen La Rant, and

Ruth Hill wrote the words, which are as follows:

OUR PLEDGE

Oh Willamette, fairest name,
School we love forever more,
We shall strive to keep thy fame,
Tho we win or lose the score;
Singing ever thru the fight,
"I love Willamette U."
Aiming, striving with our might
Toward a worthy purpose, true.

CHORUS

Oh, dear Willamette U,
The school we love so well,
We pledge our love to you
And e'er your praises tell.
Oh, may we always be
Most worthy sons of thine;
We pledge our loyalty,
Willamette, school of mine.

College friends will go their way
And our world will hurry on,
Our strife last but a day,
And our cause be lost or won,
But thru all our lives we'll sing,
"I love Willamette U."
And to the end we'll bring
Our trust kept faithful, true.

"Forever True," the junior song, was composed by Volena Jenks, who wrote the music, and Irene Berg, who wrote the words:

FOREVER TRUE

College days and friendship dreams
In the eventide of years,
Bind in memories living gleams
The dear old school the West reveres;
Tradition weaves a silver glow
On her victories as they grow—
Then let Willamette's glories old

Live in her cardinal and her gold.
CHORUS
The spirit of old W. U.
Forever holds our friendships true.
Our golden dreams and memories
Have made their times her melodies.
The vision dreams of Jason Lee
Shall live to make her manhood free;
Then let her track and football game
Be worthy of Willamette's name.
All loyal sons shall love her more
For all the honors of her lore
Have met within her glories old
To live in cardinal and the gold.

The words of the sophomore song, "To Willamette," were written by Susie Church, while Ruth Heiteck composed the music.

TO WILLAMETTE

Sweetly as the years go by
Comes a thought forever new,
Fills us, thrills us with its meaning,
Loyalty to W. U.

CHORUS

A thrill in our hearts!
A song on our lips!
All voices attuned to thy praise,
Thy virtues have bound us
And hold us enthralled
In memory of our college days.
Never may thy glories die,
Fragrant memories 'round thee cling,
Mem'ries golden, joy o'erladen
Of our deepening love we sing.

Malcolm Medler is the author of both words and music of the freshman song, "We Love you, Old Willamette":

WE LOVE YOU, OLD WILLAMETTE

The school that has our honor
And love and praises hold,
Is you, our dear Willamette,
Our Alma Mater old.
We honor your professors
So earnest and so true,
We love your dear old campus,
We'll always fight for you.

CHORUS

We love you, old Willamette,
So good and pure and true,
We'll honor your traditions,
And ever see you through.
There's something in your spirit
That leads us up and on,
Our school, our dear old college,
We'll sing your praises long.

May we ne'er disgrace thee
In action, word, or thought,
As on life's flaming bellows
Our worldly fates are wrought,
But be true sons and daughters
And hold thy standards high
And fire thy living spirit
Till it shall never die.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Music—Alice Wells, chairman, Byron Arnold, Lloyd Thompson. Manager athletic events—Herbert Booth.

The May morning breakfast has long been sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and this year it will be managed by Miss Ruth E. Ross, chairman of the social committee.

Miss Esther Moyer has been elected manager of the junior frolic to be held on Saturday evening, May 10. She was elected by the junior class. The junior class also elected Hale Mickey manager of the junior play.

In as much as there seems to be no possibility of having a varsity baseball game Saturday morning the management expects to put on an interclass game at that time. The game will decide the interclass baseball standing and promises much excitement.

The student lunch on Saturday will probably be held as usual on the campus near Waller Hall.
