After-Dinner Dances Feature Introduction of Candidates

The six representatives for Willamette's "1944 Pin-up Girl" were selected Wednesday evening by the V-12 platoons at the campus's first night of after-dinner dances. Each woman's living group introduced its three candidates at the mid-week dance, after which the platoon in attendance voted for their favorite "Pin-up Girl," to rule over the Junior class's "Pin-up Party" dance next Saturday.

Class of '47 To Help Move SB Office

Freshmen, under the direction of Kangaroo Kourt boss, Bill Haunaska, will move associated student material from its present home in room 4 Eaton hall, to the new student body office in the basement of Waller hall Tuesday. All student body and general manager's business will be conducted through this office, according to Dr. Robert E. Lantz, general manager.

The new office will be open from 8:30 a.m. until chapel time and from 12:30 to 4:30 or 5:00 p.m., under tentative plans now in the making. Beverly Nordean and Barbara Shirley will operate the office. Miss Nordean is a senior scholar and Miss Shirley is a freshman.

The new setup will make all student activities such as publications, bookstore and the Bearcat Cavern convenient and accessible, Lantz stated. All are located in the Waller basement.

Lantz will maintain his present office in Eaton hall but only for student consultation and class work.

Extra Study Hour Slated For Navy

Navy men will have an extra hour of study as the result of a new ruling announced this week. Lausanne men will be allowed to study in a designated area from 2300 to 2400 if they wish. YMCA men may get their extra hour by requesting early call in the morning. The extra hour was granted primarily to provide extra study time during examination periods, according to Lt. (jg) Marshall E. Woodell.

It was announced also that men participating in Freshmen Glee will be expected to practice with their respective classes even if the periods come during study hours. Reveille will be at 0630 instead of 0600 during the week of February 6 to 14 and calisthenics and drill have been cancelled.

Find Things 'n' Fuss In Eaton, Room 4

Any article lost about the campus is apt to have been placed in the student file in Dr. Robert E. Lantz's office, Eaton room 4. Likewise anything found around the university sans owner, should be turned in by the finder to room 4.

All holders of student body cards are entitled to a Fussler's Guide, which enables the fusser to fuss over the attractive address book at his leisure.

Cards should be presented at Eaton room 4 and a guide book will be exchanged for one punch.

Olive Torbet was the Alpha Phi Alpha coed selected by the first platoon of Company A, while at the Alpha Psi house it was Gloria Brough who took the fancy of the men from platoon two, Company A. Beta Chi's Viola Jacobson captured the heart of the men of Company B, first platoon, while the second platoon of that company chose Paula Smith from Fredrickson. Jan Patterson of Delta Phi won over the men of Company C, platoon one, and Kappa hall's Elaine Cloude received the most votes from the men of C-2.

The woman who will be queen or "Pin-up Girl" of the junior dance, will be elected by those attending on the night of January 29.

Dick Maxwell, president of the junior class, announced the committees for the dance this week, with Ed Ferguson named general chairman. Jack Christerson and John Cotthoff are in charge of programs, and LeRoy Hale will take over publicity. Co-chairmen of the decorations committee are Carl Plass and Bette Burkhart, with "Spike" Ferguson, Beth Nordean, Lloyd Nyhus, Betty Provost, Jim Dyer, Mary Acheson, Rod Broken-shire, Louise Wristley, Bill Wetmore, Jean Wing and Louis Fortino assisting.

The 104th Cavalry band will play for the affair, and admission has been announced as follows: Seventy-five cents per couple (with activity tickets) and one dollar per couple (without activity tickets). Programs will be ready for distribution in the business manager's office next Friday.

The dance is to be informal, and freshmen, sophomores and seniors are all invited, according to chairman Ferguson.

'Jack Dalton' Cursed In Chapel Today

By Jan Johnson

Hey, hey, hey, hey!! Everybody with us here in this little box? Okay, now that your attention is riveted in breathless suspense, here's the big announcement — don't forget about that exciting extravaganza, "Curse You, Jack Dalton," the melodrama that will hold the public spellbound in today's chapel. See you there, midst mingled tears and laughter, swoons and excited girlish squeals (that Leonard Steinbock's a killer as a villain.) Other members of the cast pay him one of the highest compliments a fellow-actor can bestow when they say enthusiastically, quote, "Lennie's just a natural for the part," end quote.

WSSF Drive to Begin Tuesday

The 1944 campus World Student Service Fund drive will be opened Tuesday at a special chapel at which Prof. John L. Knight will speak. The drive, sponsored for the benefit of foreign and refugee students, is handled annually by the YWCA and YMCA groups.

A goal of $750 has been set for Willamette, according to Ethel Jean Cain, chairman. Fol-

$8100 Total on First Day Puts Bond Drive Past Goal

Five Week Grades Due

Grades for the second five weeks period will be recorded in the dean's office by Saturday, according to Dean Chester F. Luther. Women's living organizations will not be able to secure grades of members until next week. These grades are handled through the office of Dean Olive M. Dahl.

Williams and Irwin to Resign As Co-Managers of Cavern

Following the regular meeting of the Cavern policy board Wednesday evening, it was announced that the resignation of the co-managers of the Cavern had been received effective March 1. Virginia Irwin will leave in March to enter nurses' school and Velora Williams will not be able to continue as co-manager or manager. Applications for a new manager will probably be accepted by the Cavern board in February when more information will be available.

The cavern board voted in favor of the request of the bond

Pay Phone To Be Ready Next Week

The pay phone will be ready for student use the first of next week, Robert W. Fenix, business secretary, said yesterday. The school has been unable as yet to purchase a phone booth, but as soon as the booth is obtained the phone will be installed. The booth will be located under the front steps of Waller hall, so that students may use it at any time of the day or night after University closing hours. Although the phone in the business office will still be available, the booth phone will enable students to make long distance and private calls.

Upon the request of the student council, a bulletin board has been purchased for the head of the stairs in Eaton hall to be used for special announcements. Special sign paper most suitable for the board will be furnished by the council. Just outside Eaton 1, a religious bulletin board has been installed and will feature all future religious announcements.

The new switchboard for Eaton hall has arrived and will be installed by the end of the week, but will not be completely ready for about five days. Students have been employed to operate this switchboard, but Fenix reports that someone is needed from 9:50 till 10:45 a.m. Anyone having time vacant and wishing to work on the switchboard should contact Fenix in the business office.

lowing Knight's speech, pledge slips will be passed to students. A person will be named in each living organization to collect the pledges, Miss Cain stated. Other members of the committee are June McMillan, Mildred Froh-matter, Betty Jeanne Smith, Mary Nims, Ruth Wahlgren and Olivia Olson.

The fund is distributed through a central New York office to students in China, Germany,

'Pin-up' Boy to Be Selected By Sale of Bonds, Stamps

Willamette's navy "Pin-up boy" will be selected by the sale of war bonds and stamps in a new Fourth War Loan Drive idea announced this week.

Representatives for the glamour boy position were nominated Wednesday morning by each of the six platoons, and whenever a student or faculty member buys an amount of bonds or stamps he is entitled to add that amount to whichever "pin-up boy" he desires. The sailor with the highest price on his head at the end of the bond drive will be christened "Willamette's pin-up boy."

A special bulletin from the War Bond front says that the campaign topped its goal on the first day, with a total of $8100 in sales of stamps and bonds, according to the figures released by Stan Skillicorn, chairman of the drive. In Willamette's first Victory Drive, under the chairmanship of Mark Hatfield during the summer semester, the goal was also passed on the first day, and by the end of the campaign, a total of $26,710 had been raised.

Doug Meeker was selected as representative for the first platoon of Company A, John Slater for the second platoon of that company, Dick Strellman for the first platoon of Company B, Clifford Bach for the second platoon, "Doc" Peters for the first of C and Dave Van Liew for platoon two, Company C.

The V-12 unit's Minute Man flag, received for the battalion's 99.6 per cent allotment for war bonds, will be presented to the navy unit at the regular inspection on Saturday, and will fly under the ensign on Waller hall throughout the bond drive, according to Skillicorn.

Norma Wooton, in charge of campus solicitation, has announced that each woman's living group will take over the bond and stamp sale in the Cavern each day. The schedule puts Kappa hall women on Mondays, Delta Phi on Tuesdays, Beta Chi Wednesdays, Alpha Psi hall on Thursdays, Alpha Phi Alpha on Fridays and Fredrickson hall on Saturdays.

Willamette's goal of $5000 was one-fifth of the way before the drive started, according to Skillicorn. A civilian student, who asked that her name be withheld, presented the committee with a $1000 bond during Friday's "kick-off" bond show.

4th Alumnus Due Soon

The fourth quarterly issue of the Alumnus, Willamette's newscaster for the members of the alumni, is to be off the press early next week, says Prof. Murco Ringnald, editor of the paper. It is expected that copies will go out in the mail to about 2500 alumni.

This issue is playing up Freshman Glee, postwar planning, and new developments on the campus such as the switchboard, the sale of the Sig house, the fourth war loan bond drive, the continental war fund and the Wallace scholarship.

Personal notes of the alumni will be featured as usual. Mrs. Helen Murdock, alumni secretary, handles the addresses and mailing.

drive committee to turn off the mickelodian for one week as their contribution to the drive. When a person buys his stamps and bonds he will have his choice of pieces and they will be played for him.

In spite of the $25 purchase of equipment for the Cavern, sundae glasses, cups and saucers, the Cavern is rapidly crawling out of debt. In a financial report presented at the meeting it was stated that the Cavern was now in debt only $21 compared with approximately $100 at the beginning of the July semester.

Under the guidance of the new manager the Cavern floors and walls will be repainted and redecorated during the week between semesters. The tables in the booths will again be secured to the floor and, if possible, they too will receive a new coat of paint.

Bishop Baxter At Graduation

Bishop Bruce R. Baxter, former president of Willamette, will be the main speaker at the winter commencement exercises March 7 it was announced yesterday. The graduation will be the first chapel of the new semester and will be held in Waller hall.

The traditional academic procession will be held and Dean Melvin H. Geist is in charge of the special music. Ten seniors have filed petitions for graduation on that date.

Students Leaving Should Arrange For Wallulahs Now

Civilian students who are graduating in March, navy students who will be transferred elsewhere at the end of this term and all other students who may leave school before June should leave their names and forwarding addresses at the office of the student body general manager if they wish to obtain a 1944 Wallulah. Students who leave and who have purchased only one student body ticket must pay two dollars in order to receive the book.

France, Switzerland, Russia and to refugees in the United States. The money is used to provide books, medical supplies and food for these students. All amounts donated from here will be credited to the local Community Chest fund.

Forerunner of the WSSF was the Student Friendship Fund which was raised during the first war. Willamette students in 1917-18 contributed $1165 to it.

Off the Record

As was said recently, off the record to civilians and navy men alike by one member of the faculty, any professor of the social sciences who has not at one time or another been listed in the black books for having spoken one word too many in cause of articulate truth, is not worth his salt. All of which somewhat parallels what was said some time ago—"Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free"—but, brother, don't think you'll be a popular figure because of it.

Though in times of war, people recognize the necessity of "holding their peace" for a larger victory, Americans as a whole have never seemed to learn to squawk when squawking might have done the most good.

In the recent class room extemporaneous offering, it was said that Americans, no matter where, might do well to expose a few moulding liberties to the sun, in addition to giving them a vigorous airing. Who knows—government might even profit from it!

Undoubtedly, the group counts for much in what it offers the individual, but, lest we forget, the individual is often able to do something for a too closely knit group. Thank God for those who think.—M. O.

Someone to Listen

Students like nothing more than for someone to listen to what they have to say whether it be of world shaking importance (in their minds) or merely the latest gossip. And naturally when they have something to say about persons or things which they contact, often they hope that their criticisms or praises will be attended to and evaluated.

And so it is with hope that we watch the developments of the recent meeting at which the order was reversed and students openly criticized the faculty, and what's more, the statements were repeated to the faculty. They were not meant to be offensive and perhaps they will help to better relations between the two groups.—L. B.

SCUTTLEBUTT

A Home Run . . .

Chalk up another hit in Friday chapel history. The Fourth War Loan committee's big Bond Show last week really did right by the drive. If the show's cast can work up that much energy for Uncle Sam, we ought to be able to do more than our share for the great cause.

Sinatra never heard anything like the earth-shaking applause given JOHN SLATER by both the ladies and the gentlemen. There were even a couple Iron Lung cases: MARYANNE WITTLIFF and DOROTHY SYMES were caught swooning at the end of "My Ideal."

The SORENSON, McLAIN, PARKER fan dance, a repeat from "Suike's Palace," one of the summer platoon shows, gave the show a slightly off-colored bur-le-que touch. And did they get the whistles—and the applause! Darn clever these boys of second platoon, company B!

Ah, but the hit of the show—WALT SKRONDAL (alias Bing Crosby)! Never before has anyone who wasn't, sounded more like Bing. (Confusing, isn't it?) And orchids, too, to the "Dig Down Deep" group: PAT LAMB, SUZANNE ZIMMERMAN, JEAN ROWLAND, MIKE CAROLAN, CHUCK STRONG, ANDY BOHO, JOHN SLATER (versatile, isn't he?), STAN SKILLICORN and LEROY HALE. And a great big white orchid to the Mighty Willamette Art Players, whose tear-jerking skits were just that: LOIS PHILLIPS, roller skating DARLENE DICKSON, Little Rannie Looney JEANETTE MACK, LEONARD STEINBOCK (who murdered Gloria Shlotzblot AND "The Old Spinning Wheel"), WARREN DURHAM, CLARK ROBB and JACK WATSON.

Innocent Bystanders . . .

Some GLEEful boys got into the right Glee spirit last week and gave the frosh a taste of things to come; namely, the mill stream. But poor sophomores ED HILLIS and CLARKE BROWN got a little more of the spirit than they expected; namely, the mill stream. And although a sailor is supposed to be used to water, Clarke and Ed didn't quite appreciate the dunking—especially in full uniform.

Lights Out! . . .

That darn coffee maker in the Cavern blew another fuse the other night and kept production in both the restaurant and the Collegian in darkness and at a standstill for an indefinite period. The Cavern was crowded enough so that it was fun, but the Collegian office didn't appreciate the delay. Said Society Editor BETTE BURKHART, "I am working hard on my page for this week's edition when suddenly the lights are going out. I ain't workin' on no paper with the blinkers off. At a time like this, I am going in the Cavern. Oh, boy!" Had the lights been on, Bette would have found ED FERGUSON, RON RUNYAN, DUANE CROGAN, JACK BUNNELL, DON DEVOIR, BOB HESS and BOB HOPE engaging in a bit of gin rummy. (Oh, yeah!)

Our Apologies . . .

Last semester's V-12 graduates, now at midshipmen's school in the east, especially approve of the envelope containing the latest edition of the Collegian. (Thanks, fellows.) HERB RHODES, last summer's assistant editor, reports that the whole paper is scanned through religiously each week by the former Beareats, and dream man BOB SHERIDAN is especially disappointed when no new word of dream girl WILMA FROMAN is forthcoming. Nary an edition went by this summer without mention of Miss Froman (the Scuttlebutt Queen) and her memoirs. So now it can be told—Sheridan's Theta Chi pin is being exhibited by Wilma daily. Congratulations!

Selected Shorts . . .

Ah, Spring! JOHN STOCKMAN and MARION CAKE—need we say more? . . . JAN PATTERSON looking under every Cavern table for BILL CATE during the blackout Tuesday night . . . Attention GLOVER, MORRIS and KINSEY—three new girls enrolled in Salem high this week! Look into it! . . . MARJORY MAULDING desperately attempting to explain to ED FERGUSON that she would not trade more than half of the dances at the Intersorority deal tomorrow night . . .

Our friend, the good professor of journalism is the last on the Scuttlebutt parade this week. On his way home to correct his freshman English papers, RINGNALDA accidentally picked up some of the Russian papers LEONARD STEINBOCK'S pupils had turned in. RING was happily reading and grading all the English themes, when he suddenly came across one he couldn't read. "H-m-m," he thought, "these freshmen are poor writers," so he gave the paper a C. This continued for some time, until he had graded all the unreadables with C before he found out that they were the Russian papers.

Byrd Culls at Eventide

By Pat

Kiddies, I'm in a joyous mood—a very joyous mood. The forthcoming Glee has accomplished what all the past lectures on the subject have failed to do. SPIRIT has returned to the WU campus. We have had a wonderful brawl and all sorts of people were pulled apart and thrown into the mill stream. Oh, I DO love to see a good brawl and with last Thursday's promising beginning, I expect to see more hi SPIRITS displayed. Maybe we'll even have a real fight on the steps of the Old His Temple like in the good old days BN (Before Navy). Bones will be broken, blood spilled, clothes torn, heads bashed in. SPIRIT—it's wonderful—builds real men, a healthy mind in a strong body and all that.

SPIRIT—it can accomplish what nothing else can. It inspires the mature college mind to great deeds of culture as well as of phys courage. Seniors, remember in the nostalgic past when we were Freshmen and someone painted swastikas and "Deutschland uber alles" on every window in Eaton, then bolted the doors so no one could get in the building? Wasn't that manly? What courage! What ingenuity! What SPIRIT!

SPIRIT—it makes the tired soul young again—makes the blase senior return to childhood, happy, carefree, riding his little tricycle . . . makes the weary junior doff his long trousers for the more comfortable baby dresses, and exchange the adult bottle for the pure baby bottle . . . makes even the aged college president exchange his dignified robes for the carefree garb of the student. SPIRIT—it overcomes all the sham of blase modesty and pride. I love the true humility of the spirit shown when a staid student can appear on the campus clad in naught but a sheet or a barrel. SPIRIT, it's wonderful!

Goodness, kiddies, I've carried myself away into an ecstasy of SPIRIT and patriotism. I just can't constrain myself. Step right up, someone, and I'll beat your brains out and then you can break my arm an' then we can both jump in the mill stream screaming praise of our Alma Mater as we sink beneath the gentle waves.

Introducing - - -

Musical Miss Merritt

Once again our "Introducing" spotlight falls on a personality who needs no introduction. (Silly, isn't it?) But here goes, anyway:

Readers of the Collegian, may we present Miss Evangeline Merritt—Miss Merritt of the golden tonsils, Miss Merritt of the teaching profession, Miss Merritt of the talented Merritts, and Miss Merritt of the sparkling personality and dazzling wit. Put them all together, they spell the one of the nicest bits of femininity ever to hit the Willamette campus.

If there is anyone in our vast reading public who has not met La Merritt, we eagerly suggest you do so immediately—you've been missing a lot.

And what a background! A graduate of the University of Missouri, she studied under Queena Mario (famous Met star), Dr. Charles A. Baker (of the oratorio field), and came through with an M.A. degree from the Eastmann School of Music. (That's good—very good!) Before returning for the degree, she was a voice instructor at the College of Emporia, Kansas.

To the fact that Miss Merritt can sing, there is no doubt. But we were interested to know just how she liked the idea of coming so far West to teach.

"It all started," she said, "when some of my best friends bragged up your Northwest country, until I thought I'd scream. (Please—no cracks about my singing.) Well, I'm from Missouri, I had to be shown. So I came out to see. And I love it very much!"

Miss Merritt gave a lot of praise to the Willamette music faculty, which she claims is super-cooperative, lots of fun, full of vitality and enthusiasm and downright good. And that's something, coming from a lady whose brother is head of the Harvard music department and who is no slouch herself when it comes to teaching tomorrow's sopranos, contraltos, tenors and baritones their "Ah, ah, ah, ah, ah, ah, ah's" (sung to the tune of "Do, re, mi, fa, sol, la, ti, do.")

"I have to admit," she continued, "that I was all for the Army before I came to Willamette. But now things are different. These V-12 boys are so friendly, such a nice calibre of fellows—even Glover, Morris and Kinsey fascinate me. I love the navy!"

Anyone with any doubt as to Miss Evangeline Merritt's singing, musical ability, talent, or personality doesn't have to take the word of this column . . . we suggest you be present at her first local concert in Waller hall next Wednesday evening at 2015 and see for yourself!

Ertz—The Modern Art Display Strong Test of Student's Mind

By Mary Moses

A student who seemed to be trying to go down all of the stairs well at once appeared on the third floor of East Wednesday. The unusual behavior merited an investigation, so he was examined for symptoms to ascertain the affecting malady. They proved to be a glazed expression of the eyes, convulsive shaking of the head, indicating a negative reaction, and a repetition of the word "Ertz."

The cause of the condition was discovered by a discerning doctor who would rather he remained anonymous. His diagnosis found the cause of the offending mania to be the long row of pictures hanging between the art department and room 35.

"The human mind is capable of enduring only the things to which it is conditioned," he said. "This poor boy is young and has only been exposed to the comparative tranquility of plane crashes, train wrecks, Pearl Harbor and the Johnstown flood."

"When he was suddenly exposed to the art department's display, he quite understandably snapped under the strain. Looking at the pictures is a strong test of any mind."

"Ertz, ertz, ertz."

Rook Ego Hi As Frosh Glee Approaches

The latest rumor around the campus has it that the frosh are planning on winning the '36th annual Glee! The reason for this inflated ego so early in the game is that yesterday three songs, written and ready to sing, were presented to the class for approval.

Royal Hart, Glee manager, asked his committees to turn in the amounts of money needed for their work and it will be divided accordingly. Sketches of ideas for decorations were presented by Gordon Schoewe, chairman of decorations, and it was also announced that a committee was already at work on marching formations.

General committee chairman, John Stockman, has received the go ahead sign for the use of Chresto, Waller and the Music hall for practice. Practice schedules will be posted next week when the other classes have chosen their songs and are ready to practice. Stockman has also received permission to schedule practices for the chapel periods the week before Glee.

Walter E. Erickson, dean of freshmen, has had lists of the classes the navy fellows belong to posted on the bulletin board at Lausanne. It is expected that the navy fellows will march with the class they registered with this semester.

Erickson Goes To Pre-College Guidance Meets

Walter E. Erickson, director of admissions, will attend Southwest Washington Pre-College Guidance meetings to be held in southern Washington cities April 24-28. This organization which has been in operation for the last five years was discontinued last year because of the transportation difficulties. High schools along the Washington side of the Columbia river will be visited during these four days to acquaint them with college life. A similar program was presented to high school seniors in Portland last week.

A small magazine entitled "Mapping Your Education" is published by this committee and is distributed to students interested in college by their high school principals who tell the seniors about the various colleges and the benefits of a college education. The pre-college guidance committee tells the students what to expect from college and what may be gained by attending college, and also assists them in choosing the college to attend according to the course they wish to pursue.

Torgeson On Campus

Kenneth Torgeson, junior history major last year and holder of the McCullough scholarship, was on the campus this week while on his way to Portland. Torgeson has returned to Oregon from Paris Island, Georgia, after receiving a medical discharge. He was in the marine corps reserve. While on the campus, Torgeson was a member of Alpha Psi Delta.

Crescendo Club Here Thursday For Chapel

The Salem high school Crescendo club will have charge of the Thursday chapel next week, according to Dean Melvin H. Geist. The musical program will include instrumental numbers and appearance of vocal groups under the direction of Mrs. Lena Belle Tartar, vocal music supervisor of the high school. The Crescendo club is a musical organization made up of students in the high school.

Prof. John L. Knight will speak on behalf of the WSSF drive at the Tuesday chapel. On Wednesday, Rev. B. D. Clifford of the Calvary Baptist church will speak.

Pierstorff New Math Scholar

With the late addition of a senior scholar in mathematics, the complete list of students doing that work this semester has been compiled. Luellie Pierstorff was announced by Dean Chester F. Luther, professor of mathematics, as senior scholar in that department. Previous to this week there has been no senior scholar in that department this semester.

Other students who assist professors in their major fields are Margaret Ewing, economics; Dwaine Brewster, chemistry; Lois Phillips, drama; Mary Jean Huston, education; Jan Johnson, Jacqueline Judd, Bettie Ellen Payne and Margaret Pemberton, English; Pat Byrd, German; Marge Maulding, history; Phyllis Gueffroy and Dorothea Graham, physical education; Dorothy Estes, political science; Ray Short, psychology-philosophy; Sybil Spears, geography; Eleanor Todd, sociology; Pat Ryan, Spanish and comparative literature; Leonard Steinbock, Russian and Nadene Mathews, journalism.

Inter-Faith Council Forms

Presidents of the campus religious groups met this week to discuss plans for the Inter-Faith council which is being organized as a directive body for religious interests on the campus. Future meetings will be held on the second Monday of each month.

In addition to the president, a representative from each group will serve on the council.

Organizations to be represented on the new council include YM and YW, Inter-Varsity Fellowship, Vespers, Jason Lee Fellowship, and the Willamette Methodist student council. Prof. John L. Knight, counselor on religious life, will serve as advisor.

Contributions Nearing Goal

More than 82 per cent of the total amount sought for the Centennial War Fund, created to provide a sinking fund for emergencies which may arise in the postwar period, has been collected, according to an announcement made by the committee yesterday.

$41,020 of the $50,000 set as a goal has been collected to date. Of this, $29,745 was in cash and made up of 226 contributions. The committee for the fund has set the summer commencement as the deadline for collecting the total amount.

Willamette First in Debate, Second in After-Dinner Talks

By winning five out of twelve debates, Willamette's representatives placed first in the practice triangular meet held at Linfield college last Saturday.

Representing Willamette were John Pike and Dave Teeter, and Clark Robb and Rich Wicks. Linfield college won four and Pacific university had three wins.

According to present plans, another tournament will be held on the Willamette campus next Saturday. This meet will be with Linfield and Oregon State college. The annual Linfield conference will be held the second week of the new semester.

Darlene Dickson, senior scholar in speech, won second place in the state after-dinner speaking contest which was held in connection with the Salem Toastmaster's club meeting Monday night.

Other representatives included Barbara Wood of Linfield college speaking on "Two Way Stretch," who placed first. Oregon State college and Pacific university were also represented.

Miss Dickson's winning speech was entitled "Food, Facts, and Figures." The general topic of all talks was "American Waist (Waste) Lines."

President G. Herbert Smith acted as toastmaster of the event.

Journalists To Visit Journal

Members of the Introduction to Journalism class and their instructor, Prof. Murco Ringnald, will visit the Capital Journal Tuesday afternoon. There they will be shown different phases of editing, business and printing in the publishing of a daily newspaper.

Members of the staff, and Ronald Hoven, a Willamette student and an employee of the Journal, will explain and show the facilities for gathering, editing and printing news.

Any other students interested in journalism and publishing are invited to join them in visiting.

Hoven said yesterday that students should be at the Journal by 1:30, or before if possible if they wish to see all the phases of newspaper publishing and printing.

Classes Use History Room

Geography and library science classes are now being held in the northwest history room of the library. This is only a temporary war measure, as the law classes have taken over the seminar room. The seminar room was formerly used as a classroom, but was given over to the law school for use last year when the heating situation made it impossible to still use the law building, now the naval administration building.

Music College Instructor To Sing at 8:15 in Waller

In the series of recitals by members of the faculty of the Willamette college of music, Miss Evangeline Merritt, soprano, will be presented Wednesday at 8:15 in Waller hall with Bennet Ludden as pianist.

In one of her groups, Miss Merritt will sing two new songs by professors of the Willamette music faculty. Lewis Pankaskie's "Sleeping They Bear Me" and Bennet Ludden's "I Hear An Army," with "The Distracted Maid" and "The Shoemaker" by Peter Warlock will make up her fourth group.

Miss Merritt's first group will consist of four songs from 15th century French minstrel-ry of Bayeux, arranged by Gustave Ferrari: "L'Amour de Mol," "Gentilz Galkans, Compaignons Du Raisin," "Helias! Que Je Suis Desolee," and "Ne l'Oserai-je Dire." Her second will be "Vier Ernste Gesaenge" by Johannes Brahms. The third will be four songs by Maurice Ravel, "Sainte," "Le Paon," "Le Martin-Pecheur," and "Tout Gai."

Students and faculty members are especially invited to attend the recital, which is open to the public.

On Behalf of the Visiting Firemen

Some people (and I've even talked to 'em) think they have it tough . . . but there's nothing tougher than writing fashions during war time. Why, everybody just wears their old clothes!

Maybe I should call this On Behalf of the Kitchen Pots and Pans . . . and remark how the lovely burnished bacon grease (salvaged, of course, of course) looked on its way to the butcher. But even that bores me . . .

Or maybe I should join the Navy and let the government take care of everything . . . but then I'll worry like Durham about the laundry and the press in my pant . . . trousers.

There are a few lassies around who live up their wartime costumes . . .

Betty McGee and Laurie Garow wear brightly colored plaid shoe strings . . . but they're lucky . . . they have shoes!

And Mary-Moses has that good-looking soft mouse-grey box sport coat . . . 'n it looks ever so good with her white blouse collar on the outside.

But that's only three . . . really a minority.

It's even a hardship to buy new clothes, cuz people just stand and glare 'n stare. Unpatriotic, they call it. I'm even afraid to buy mittens and my hands have frozen so long I'm afraid to drop 'em for fear they'll break.

The only thing that's half way cheering is seeing Clint Cameron on the campus . . . but golly, it was raining 'n he wasn't even carrying his big black umbrella . . . oh, well . . . I guess you can get used to anything in the navy.

I wish I could just pass these trials off 'n give out with that Saffron personality smile . . . but I can't.

Or get a lift out of wearing my hair parted down the back and braided high on either side 'n look as good as Shirley Blackman or Nancy Merki . . . but I can't.

That's why this is like this . . . I'm sorry . . . but what's a gal to do?

Submit your answers immediately . . . for personal contact call 1112.

Platoons Change Houses

Willamette's six navy platoons will shift the locale of their inter-platoon-women's houses fireside dances Wednesday evening.

Kappa hall coeds will be hostesses to the men of platoon One, Company A, under the leadership of George Miller, while Johnny "Pin-up Boy" Slater takes the men of platoon Two, Company A over to the Alpha Phi Alpha house.

Dick Steeves will bring the first platoon of Company B over to Alpha Psi hall and two of B will dance with the Beta Chis on upper State street. Doug Parker is the platoon leader.

Fredrickson hall will open its doors to Andy Boho's platoon One, Company C. Platoon Two, Company C will take the long trek up to the Delta Phi house, under the leadership of Norm Stunkard.

Campus Engagements Revealed At House Dinners and Parties

Engagements revealed on the campus this week numbered four. Though this season is not yet spring it must be well on its way. The following engagements were announced:

Gladys Crawford

The engagement of Miss Gladys Crawford and Mr. Thomas Stern was announced Wednesday evening, January 12th at the Alpha Phi Alpha sorority house during dinner.

The tables were attractively decorated with white candles and polished fruit. A streamer with a walnut was attached to each place, and at a signal from the bride-elect the streamers were pulled and the small message taken from the walnut announcing the engagement. White cakes with Tom and Gladys written on the top in frosting were served with Miss Crawford cutting the cakes.

Miss Crawford is active in campus affairs and a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, and Alpha Phi Alpha sorority. Miss Crawford's home is in Portland. Stern is connected with the Navy V-12 program here at Willamette and was in Pearl Harbor at the time of the bombing and later saw action off Midway. His home is in San Francisco.

Beverly Nordean

Holding the romantic spotlight this week is Miss Beverly Nordean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Nordean of Baker, whose engagement to Mr. Charles K. McColloch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. McColloch, of Portland, was announced Sunday evening at an beautifully arranged buffet supper for which the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Charles A. Raffety, was hostess at their Court street home. The party was given in honor of Miss Janette Olson of Portland.

The buffet table was centered with an arrangement of white floating candles and yellow daisies in a silver bowl.

Red roses graced the rooms.

The news of the engagement was revealed when the honor guest received a special delivery letter from the parents of the bride-elect.

Miss Nordean is a graduate of St. Helen's Hall junior college in Portland, and received her degree from Willamette last spring. She is now doing graduate work at Willamette, and is a senior scholar for Dr. Robert Lantz. She is a member of Beta Chi sorority.

McColloch is a senior at the Willamette law school and is a member of Delta Theta Phi, national law honorary, and is also a member of Kappa Alpha, national fraternity.

Guests for the engagement party were Janette Olson, Sybil Spears, Pat Tracy, Stella McKay, Betty Jeanne Smith, Florence Lee, Marjorie Sipes, Jeanne Webb-Bowen, Helen Craven, Mary Jean Houston, Beth Nordean, and the hostess, Mrs. Charles Raffety.

Jane Huston

Taking the romantic spotlight last week was Miss Jane Oliver Huston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver B. Huston, when her engagement to Maurice Craig Fitzsimmons, seaman, first class, United States Coast Guard and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fitzsimmons, was announced at a tea for which the bride-elect and her mother were hostesses at their home on the North River road.

Miss Huston received informally with her mother and Mrs. Fitzsimmons. Tiny white folders tied with ribbon and bells enclosed heart-shaped pictures of the couple which revealed the news.

Bouquets of early spring flowers adorned the rooms. Centering the tea table was a bouquet of paper white narcissus, white carnations and violets, flanked with tall white tapers.

Mrs. Leona Johnson poured and assisting were the Misses Barbara Patterson of Portland, Mary Jean Huston, Doris Berwick, Jean Newman and Shirley Anne Bailey.

Fitzsimmons was graduated from Willamette in '42 and is now in active duty in the Pacific.

Laurie Garow

Kappa Hall residents were recently surprised to hear of the engagement of Miss Laurie Garow to Elbridge Woodard, aviation cadet.

Dinner guests were presented with red, white and blue winged clips, with the names Laurie and Woody attached. Colorful posters decorated the walls of Kappa, announcing the engagement.

Miss Garow is a recent transfer student from Linfield college, and is a pledge of Beta Chi sorority. Woodard is stationed in Victorville, California. No immediate plans have been arranged for the wedding.

The surprise was also revealed at the Beta Chi house during their regular house meeting Tuesday night when they received a box of candy telling of the engagement.

Sir Realism Will Reign Supreme at Formal

Intersorority will present "Sir Realism" to guests at their winter formal tomorrow night. The dancing hours have been changed to 9:00 till 12:00 and the name of the orchestra is being withheld. It will be in the chamber of commerce hall.

With Sir Realism reigning supreme decorations will carry out the theme surrealistically. A checked false ceiling of green and blue will be effected by crossing the streamers. The huge mural will be a surrealism of sorority girls on the campus and in the houses. Dorothy Hoar, chairman of the committee promises something entirely different along the decorations' line.

The guest list from the houses follows:

Alpha Phi Alpha

Double Header Saturday Night 'Cats Play Oregon, Tillamook Tomorrow on Home Floor

Something new has been added! This weekend, basketball fans will be treated to a casaba rarity—a double header played by the same team in a single night. Yes, the Willamette Navycats, apparently not satisfied with one battle a day, will meet both Tillamook Naval Air Station and Oregon ASTU. These games are scheduled for Saturday night and the Tillamook game will begin at 7:30, to be closely followed by the Oregon affair. Tonight, the 'Cats tangle with the Pacific Packards from Portland in the third game between the two teams, starting at 8 o'clock.

As for tonight's contest with the Packards, it should be another closely fought battle as each squad has one victory over the other. Pacific annexed the first meeting 40 to 36

Jeff Fullback May Enter Willamette

Hopes for a strong football team next year were upped a bit with the possibility that Floyd Simmons, sensational fullback for Jefferson high school in Portland, may enter Willamette university as a V-5 student. Simmons has already passed his tests and now it is merely a matter of which school he will attend. He led the Portland interscholastic football league in scoring and was a unanimous member of both the Oregonian and Journal All-Star teams.

In the opinion of Al Lightner, sports editor of the Oregon Statesman, Simmons is the best prep fullback he has seen for the past dozen years. He played on Sweetland field this year against the Salem Vikings and was a sensation, averaging over 5 1/2 yards a try in carrying the ball 18 times.

Women Start Badminton

The badminton tournament for the Women's Athletic department is well under way, according to Miss Gayle Currey, women's athletic director. The first game of the ladder was played Monday with team II—Barbara Delfendorf and Mary Alice Bartholomew—defeating team IV—Marion Carter and Dorothy Koachmeider—by a 15-10, 15-6 score. On Wednesday, team I—Virginia Pope and Carol Smith—defeated team III—Joyce Feiden and Virginia Hobbs—15-0, 15-2.

Women swimmers, under the direction of Phyllis Gueffroy, are now mastering the elementary back-stroke. Upon mastering that stroke, they will go into more difficult swimming techniques.

Zimmerman Wins Sports Honor

Additional honors were heaped upon the head of Willamette's Suzanne Zimmerman this week as she was chosen "Oregon's Number One Woman Athlete." Miss Zimmerman is national champion back-stroker and a member of the famed Multnomah club swimming team of Portland. She attended West Linn high school before coming to Willamette this fall as a freshman. She is a Beta Chi pledge.

Sports Shots...

Long Island, Kansas sends one of those rare exceptions on this year's Willamette team, an out-of-state man. That person is George Russell, a guard who, despite never having played any previous college basketball, has gotten into more than his share of games this year, even starting a few.

George lived in the Kansas town until he came to Salem with his parents in 1942. He attended Willamette university one year, after spending a single semester at Kansas Wesleyan, in Salina, Kansas. He went to Long Island high school.

"Russ" is a few days short of 20, weighs about 175 and is six feet tall. In high school he was a three-sport letterman, not a very common occurrence with athletes. He made three letters in basketball, two in football and one in baseball.

Here at Willamette he is studying pre-engineering but recently took the V-5 Naval Air Corps exam, passed it, and hopes to be one of the lucky eight that will be accepted for a 16-months training period leading to a commission in the Navy Air Corps.

Following the opinion of many of the other Navycat hoopsters, George selects Jack Butterworth of Albina as the best individual player he has faced this season. Albina's Hellships, of course were the best team.

Ben Director

One of the leaders of the Willamette scoring parade since the first game of the season is Ben Director, playing forward for the Navycats this year. Ben has been out the last two games but hopes to return to the squad very shortly.

He is only 19 years old, one of the youngest members of the team. He weighs about 150 pounds and is five feet, nine inches tall. Director attended Lincoln high in Portland four years, earning three letters in basketball. He also went to the University of Oregon but did not participate in athletics.

Ben is a pre-dental student and intends to continue the tooth-pulling art after the war. He has one term left after the present one expires.

Since popping in 15 points the first game of the season, Director has been a consistent starter. He is a steady floorman, makes few bad passes and is a good shot. Although a southpaw, one of his best shots is a whirling one-hander from the right side. Director picks Morry Stremich of Albina as the outstanding man he has played against all year. There seems to be no diversity of opinion as to the best team, because Ben points to Albina as a walkaway.

First Platoons of 'A' and 'C' In Intramural Playoffs

C2	1	2	56	61	.333
B1	1	2	57	67	.333
A2	0	3	41	58	.000

The C1's kept their slate clean by rolling over B1 last Friday 19-14 and A1 trounced the highly touted B2's 35-9. These victories assured C1 and A1 of playing in the playoffs.

The C1's held a 15-5 lead at halftime, but their defense crumbled in the first minute of the fourth quarter as the B1's scored eight points before the first team of the victors could get back into the game. Bob Deagle paced the winners with eight points and was followed by Brad Schade with five. Lynden Watts scored six points for the B1's.

A1 used 11 players as they unmercifully walloped the B2's. At the end of the first quarter the score was 14-3 and the rest of the game was a walkaway. B2 lost big Mel Samuelson, high scoring threat, via the foul route before he was able to score a point. Bill Cate was high scorer with seven points, followed by George Ottum, Jim Davidson and Chuck Anderson with six. Lloyd Kinsey paced B2 with four points.

Willamette Coach Duke Trotter plans to suit up his entire squad for Saturday's conflicts and use all possible men in both games. The 'Cats naturally want to win the Tillamook affair badly but will not risk any chance of losing the second game by using only the first five or six men against the Airmen.

So far this season, the Navycats have a record of four wins and nine losses but lately have been improving rapidly. In the Fees game, they looked like a group of seasoned veterans and except for foul-shooting might have won. Ron Runyan is leading the scorers at present with 63 points, closely followed by Bill Stroud's 60 and Ben Director's 52.

The last Tillamook affair was one of the wildest ever seen in that town, according to fans who were there. The Air Station squad contains numerous Ensigns, Lieutenant (j.g.s) and Lieutenants, but on the floor they were hardly treated as officers by the fighting Navycat quintet.

The Tillamook aggregation is said to be out for revenge in tomorrow's game and it should prove to be as wild if not wilder than the first contest. They apparently do not like the idea of mere apprentice seamen ruling over them on the basketball court. They will be led by Walsh who tallied 24 points against the locals in the initial game.

Busy Weekend For The 'Cats . . .

There'll be a tired bunch of boys berthed on the good ship Lausanne by the time they have finished out this week's grueling schedule. Reason for this is a three game weekend series starting with the Portland Packards this evening and the University of Oregon Armyducks and Tillamook Naval Air Base tomorrow night. It's been rumored that the complete squad will be allowed to sleep through next week's calisthenics.

The Packard tilt will find both teams out for the odd game in their three game series. The much improved 'Cats are expected to take this, the rubber game, although the Rose City visitors have a strong club headed by Ray Fflugrad, ex-Oregon State star.

Saturday night's doubleheader should draw a large crowd not only because of the keen competition anticipated but because of it being an infantile paralysis benefit. All gross receipts will go to this worthy cause and it is hoped that there will be a large representation of townspeople and students at the games. The Armyducks are an unknown quantity but the locals have already taken the air base five in a wild encounter at Tillamook although the latter team has one of the most impressive records in the northwest and will be out to even the score.

Oberst Has His Day . . .

There aren't too many apprentice seamen that have had words with officers and got away with it but this unit has one in the person of Ray Oberst, stellar member of the hoop squad.

In last week's skirmish against the air base Ray was continually having trouble with one of the opposition and didn't hesitate to let the guy know it. After the game Oberst's opponent came down to have a little fireside talk with him in the 'Cats dressing room and who should it be but a Lieutenant J.G. Oberst is still with us.

Table Tennis Tourney Getting Under Way . . .

Willamette's table tennis tournament will begin next week and will have a large field of entries. Over thirty have signed up in the singles, doubles and mixed doubles and lots of competition is forthcoming. Heading the entrants is Bill Wetmore, transfer from Portland university, and one of the leading table tennis devotees in the northwest. In his last tournament Bill was finalist in the Pacific Coast class A division. Main competition is expected to come from Ron Dekkert, here from the fleet, with Rick Wicks holding up the civilian end.

A1 Team Really Looks . . .

Definitely the team to beat in the intramural league are the A1 boys from the YMCA who slaughtered the B2 representatives 35-9 in one of last week's games. They have height to spare in Bill Blade, Dick Adams, Chuck Anderson and Bill Cate who average well above six feet and also have the speed needed to bring home the championship.

C1 clinched a berth in the playoffs by virtue of their convincing win over the B1 outfit but don't have the height or scoring punch to bring them the flag although they should give the A1 boys a fair battle.

This afternoon's games will find the twice beaten B1 team taking on the hapless A2 squad which has yet to break into the win column although giving B2 quite a scare a couple of weeks back. Company C will have dissension in the ranks when their member platoons fight it out in the opening game. This will be a close one but Captain Will Hunter's A2 boys will have to get the call.

V-12 Trainees Will Have Their Night . . .

As an extra inducement to get more of the battalions out for the basketball games they have been told of the gold braided Air Base five and their chance to ride them from one end of the floor to the other. The visitors are said to be liberally sprinkled with the yellow stuff and what an opportunity that presents for a lowly seamen rooting section. The players are expected to forget the "sir" angle for a couple of hours themselves and a little mayhem can be expected. It'll be fun to cut loose on the officers but some of the boys here would probably settle for a couple of chiefs or a pharmacist's mate. Three guesses which one, fellows.

Hoopsters Are Finally Hitting . . .

It took a long time for the team to find the range but since the new year they have really been teeing off and the local fans are hoping it won't be short-lived. A good example is the game with the Air Base when the Trottermen came through with 19 successful buckets out of 51 for a very good average of better than 37 per cent. Those especially potent in the scoring column have been Ron Runyan, Dick Maxwell, George Lund and Paul Folquet. Maxwell and Folquet have been coming along fast and are now measuring up to pre-season expectations.

This Week's Guest Star Is . . .

Ron Runyan who has been a potent factor in the Navy-cats sudden surge. Runyan is one of those rare specimens, an athlete who can excel in the classroom as well as in sports. He is undoubtedly one of the top all-around men in the battalion with his 80.0 in the physical fitness score, about five points above the next high, not far from a four point with a tough engineering major and is also a star in football and track.

Willamette Breaks Win Streak

All good things must come to an end and Willamette's brief three-game winning streak did just that last Friday when the 'Cats lost a heartbreaking 44-41 decision to Fee's Music Makers in the third and deciding game of the series. Halftime score favored the winners 22 to 17.

The Fees grabbed an early lead and maintained it throughout except for one short period in the second half when the score was tied. It was 6 to 0 before the Navycats could make a single tally, and that lead was soon lengthened to 16-7.

At this point Coach Trotter sent in a new lineup consisting of Oberst, Lund, Folquet and Runyan. Dick Maxwell was the only one of the starting five to remain in the game. This quintet gradually closed the gap until halftime found the Music Makers ahead by five points.

Fees stayed in the lead by three or four points until, with 10 minutes left, Folquet, Stroud and Brownlee started a rally. With Maxwell and Lund joining in a bit later, they tied the score at 32-all.

The Music Makers were considerably taller than Willamette and perhaps therein lies the story of the defeat. They frequently peppered the basket with five or six shots at a time before the Navy men could get the ball. Despite this advantage, Willamette managed to sink one more field goal than the opponents. It was on the foul line that Fees won the affair, dropping in 14 gift tosses as compared to the home club's nine.

Paul Folquet had a good night and made nine points. He, Brownlee and Stroud hit beautiful, long one-handed shots from far out to keep the 'Cats in the battle. With two minutes left, Oberst and Stroud dropped in a pair of long ones but it wasn't quite enough to catch the victors.

Dr. Pearce to Teach Basic English

International Communication Can Be Mastered in 60 Hours

By Ernest Dietrich

A two hour course in Basic English will be offered next semester, according to Dr. Helen Pearce, head of the Department of English. Basic English is a new language tool, originated by C. K. Ogden of Cambridge university, in collaboration with I. A. Richards of Harvard university.

The popular appeal of basic English lies in its use for international communication. A foreign person can, by diligent application, obtain a fluent mastery of basic in sixty hours. Students who plan on careers abroad in business, commerce, diplomacy, education, etc., will find a knowledge of basic of value, as a number of foreign countries, especially in South America, teach basic English in their schools and universities.

In his book, Basic English and Its Uses, Richards states that basic English is made simple by limiting the number of its words to 850 and by reducing the rules for using them to the smallest number necessary for the clear statement of ideas. All this is done without any change in the normal order and behavior of these words in everyday English. The basic of 850 words may be rounded out by groups of words from various subjects, and the technical words from any particular field may be added. Even with so small a word list and simple structure, it is possible to say in basic English anything needed for general purposes of everyday existence. Basic serves in business, trade, industry, science, medical work and all the arts of living and exchange of knowledge, desires, beliefs, opinions and news which are the chief work of a language.

The General Basic English Dictionary uses basic words which give the senses of 20,000 other words in English. This careful choice of words indicates how basic acts as a framework in which words needed for special purposes take their place and form, and through which they take their sense. A knowledge of the 850 words as well as the rules by which they are put together is sufficient for conversation and writing in all everyday levels.

A person who speaks English, but has no knowledge of basic, could readily understand a person who could speak only basic English. The person who spoke full English, however, would find difficulty in reply to the basic speaking person, as he would not know how to limit his vocabulary so that it would fall within the scope of basic English understanding.

Aside from its potentialities as an international tongue, basic contributes to two fields: Emphasis may be placed on the fact that a knowledge of basic will help to interpret poetry and critical and philosophical literature. In assisting in the mastery of the English language, basic will be of value in clarifying interpretation of ideas in regular or full English.

The course on the campus has tentatively been scheduled for Tuesdays and Thursdays, third period, under Dr. Pearce.

Play Rehearsals Progressing

Rehearsals for Willamette's production of "George Washington Slept Here," to be presented February 4, are progressing satisfactorily, according to Dr. Herbert E. Rahe, director. The first act, completely memorized by the cast, has been thoroughly gone over, and rehearsals for the second act are under way this week. Rahe states, "I am particularly well pleased to find that the leading members of the cast are outstanding in voice."

The set for the production is being constructed by the Salem high school stage-craft class, under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Shisler.

A change in the cast has been effected, Chuck Strong now playing the role of Uncle Stanley, instead of LeRoy Hale, who was originally cast for it. Hale is playing the part of Steve.

Betty Bentley, sophomore from Multnomah college, has been appointed production manager. Miss Bentley was a drama major at Multnomah, and has managed productions there and at Lincoln high. Working under her on the production staff are Pat McCargar, Pat Otis, Mary East, Barbara Diefendorf, Alice Rose, Lois Phillips and Beverly Wells.

Publicity for the production is being handled by Jan Johnson and Miss McCargar.

Frosh Players Win and Lose

Willamette's frosh basketball team played two games, winning one and losing the other, last week. On Thursday in a city league contest, the first year men lost by one point, 35-34, to the 104th Cavalry team. With 28 seconds left in the game and the frosh leading 34 to 33, a Cavalry man cast off from the middle of the floor and swished the hump for the winning basket. Ron Dekkert with 10 points was high for the frosh.

Albany Plylock, an independent team from Albany, were victims of the Willamette yearlings in being upset 27 to 24 last Saturday night on the winner's floor. The game was close all the way and only a last period rally saved the conflict for the Frosh.

Koda-Chrome to Be Demonstrated

A special demonstration with Koda-Chrome will be given next Wednesday third period in the photography class. Henry Millie of Henry's Photo shop will explain the mechanics of photography with slides and projectors.

The photography class, under the direction of Miss Constance Fowler and Prof. Maurice Brennen, is studying the new photography by use of colored slides. The film used produces natural color pictures from chemically-treated slides.

WU Women Nurse's Aides

Twelve Willamette women were among the 45 Red Cross Nurse's aids graduated at a ceremony at the Methodist church last night. Mary Gray, nursing consultant in the Pacific area for the Red Cross, and Pres. G. Herbert Smith, were speakers. Judge George Rossman presided at the meeting and Mrs. Ernest Arneson of the local Red Cross headquarters capped and presented pins to the graduating aides.

University students receive two hours credit for the course after completing 35 lecture hours and 45 hours of actual experience. WU members of the class are Iola DeSart, Emma Lous East, Olene Mehlhoff, Betty Lou Morris, Betsy Mae Brunson, Marjorie Duckwall, Vesta Shinn, Pollyanna Shinkle, Mary Jane Simmons, Sybil Spears, Patricia Waters and Ruth Van Orsdel.

Faculty Group Hears Luther

Dean Chester F. Luther reported on the Northwest association of Higher and Secondary schools at a meeting of the Willamette chapter, American Association of University Professors yesterday in Christo. He discussed the purpose and activities of the organization which is an accrediting body.

The AAUP organization is open to all faculty members who wish to affiliate with a professional group in their field. Marion Morange, French professor, is president of the local chapter and Roy Lockenour, law instructor, is secretary.

John L. Knight

Youth Fellowship To Hear Knight

John L. Knight, assistant professor of religion and counselor on religious life at WU, will be the featured speaker at the biennial convocation of the Oregon Methodist Youth Fellowship in McMinnville next weekend.

Knight will speak Friday night, three times on Saturday, and once again on Sunday. Discussion groups, classes and business meetings will comprise the remainder of the conference which meets every two years.

'E' This Week

Once again taking away the honors, the first platoon of Company C, with Andy Boho at the helm, marched away with the first "E" pennant during last Saturday's inspection.

Lt. George C. Bliss announced the awarding of an "E for Excellence" flag to the platoon doing the best marching job during inspection, to be carried out each week while the V-12's are still around. As soon as the flag arrives, the "C" group will carry the banner until another platoon takes it away.

Fund Started For Exchange Student

The recent gift of fifty dollars, given to the YWCA by Mrs. Grace Goudy, former YW member and daughter of Everett S. Collins, has been placed in the reserve fund to cover living expenses for a foreign student attending Willamette.

The fund was started several years ago when a young student from Korea came to Willamette on a scholarship and found that her board and room had not been sufficiently taken care of. Later it was arranged for her through the university and outside help to stay at the dormitory. This was a great improvement.

In order not to have the same situation occur twice, certain individuals started a fund which was to cover expenses at WU after the war for a student either from Europe or Asia. Mrs. Goudy's gift has been used this way. It is hoped that the university will see fit to cover tuition fees at that time when the fund will be used.

Internationalists Talk 'Inflation'

The International Relations club meeting Thursday deviated from the accustomed topic when the panel discussion featured as its topic, "Inflation."

The panel speakers were Stephen Smith, professor of economics; Richard Wicks, senior and member of Alpha Psi and Blue Key; A/S Clark Robb, a junior and transfer from CPS, and Dave Teeter, sophomore, also included in the group.

After the speakers finished the first phase of the meeting, a general discussion with all of the club members participating followed.
