Wilder's "Our Town" Junior Play Selected

Pulitzer Prize Drama Depicts Small Town Through New England

Climax presentation of May week-end this year will be the junior play, "Our Town," Pulitzer prize winner, Thornton Wilder's prize winner, "Our Town." The production, depicting the American small town with characters of a solid New England background, has been regarded as Wilder's home-story of life. Stage magazine refers to the play as a "tender and respectful comment on living and dying." "Our Town" is said to include the span and meaning of life on earth.

Wilder builds his thought on amusing and clever drama with an approach that depends for its effect upon the concentration and pantomime of the actors.

The three episodes of the plot cover a period from 1901 to 1913. First episode concerns daily life; the second treats love and marriage; the third reveals his characters in a cemetery. Characters portraying the incidents are the Webbs, who live on one side of the street, and the Gibbs, who live on the other. Howie Newsomes, the milkman; the music master and the church ladies aid to develop the plot. A stage manager who comments to the audience during the progress of the play gives an element of comedy along with his interpretations.

Wilder's drama, which won the Pulitzer award in 1938 for its writing and its ideas, has been produced many times before American audiences and has been presented several times in Oregon.

Under the direction of Mrs. Oppen troupes for the cast are now being conducted.

Indian Mounds At Harrisburg Hide Relics

Last Saturday, March 9, a group of Willamette students under the direction of Bill Laughlin journeyed to an Indian mound near Harrisburg for the purpose of excavating.

According to Bill the results of this expedition were "very successful." The party uncovered four skeletons, which were identified as two adults, a child of about seven years of age, and a boy of fourteen. Around the neck of the boy was found a very unique shell necklace. The shells of this necklace were identified as coming from Southern California. The necklace also sported an abalone shell pendant. This piece of jewelry was considered to be the most remarkable discovery of the expedition.

Other Indian relics discovered including arrowheads, scrapers, and another necklace.

Bill says that the group has barely scratched the surface of the mound. It will take several weeks to complete the work on it. They plan to go out again next Saturday, March 16, to continue their research digging.

First Diploma Portrays Old Wallamet Character

By ELIZABETH HAMILTON Miss Emily York received no "sheepskin" when she left our alma mater. You see, the year she graduated was 1859. Whether or not the date infirmities the material for her certificate of graduation, we cannot know. Of one thing only are we sure: her diploma is on thick drawing paper of generous proportions. And the water marking, which shows plainly when an inquiring spirit holds the document to the light is "J. Whelan, Turkey Mill." We wonder a little about that "Turkey Mill." Just as we wonder why it is paper at all, rather than the traditional parchment.

A more amazing feature than this, however, is the script. Two of us novices in the antiquities of Willamette gazed in practically speechless admiration at the ro-

Don Smith's Book Leaves Out In Week

Sixty Best Poems By Willametonians Shows Cross-Section

"Leaves," a book of poetry by the students of Willamette will be out for sale about one week from now, according to Don Smith, editor of the volume. The book is to contain sixty of the best poems of a group of Willamette students.

The idea of a student publication of this kind isn't altogether original, but it is the first attempt of its kind in several years. The purpose of the book is to give a cross section of the work being done by the students in their spare time and to give an idea of the type of work now being developed by the coming authors of today. A like project was carried out in 1927 when a book of poems and short stories was prepared by the students of Willamette and titled "Willamette Writers," since that time many of the contributors to that work have risen to prominence in literary work.

The title of this week was inspired by way that the poems were written, on note book leaves and on the margin of notes, they seem to fall on the editors desk also as leaves might. Although the work is a cross section of the work of the students much of it is outstanding, among the outstanding contributors was Betty Cramer.

The book is being in the Willamette print shop by Larry Gaderian and will be out for sale within two or three weeks. The price will be nominal and will make a good souvenir, according to Mr. Smith.

Walter Erickson, registrar, has recently been appointed to act as a committee member for the evaluation of Battle Ground high school in Battle Ground, Wash., and will spend March 17 to March 20 there. He was selected by H. W. Thorsen who is state high school supervisor for the state of Washington.

The purpose of this survey is to help each school to determine the effectiveness of its present program based upon criteria formulated by the cooperative study of secondary school standards at Washington, D. C.

Erickson's assignments will be to act as a member of the guidance committee, the social science committee, and the committee on activities. His subject assignment will be to act as chairman of the business education group and of the health and physical education committee.

Will Postpone Constitutional Change Reading

Proposed Amendments to Follow Vacation Herb Davis Announces

First reading of the proposed constitutional amendments previously mentioned in the Collegian has been postponed until the first Friday after spring vacation, Herb Davis, constitutional revision committee spokesman, announced this week. Voting will take place the following week.

The amendments pertain to issues vital to almost every department of the university both in scholastic and extra-curricular ways.

Outstanding among the amendments is the question of the disposition of law school student body funds. The lawyers favor an increase of their share of the money from thirty to 112 dollars. The change in the control to the Collegian or school advertising and the provisions for better selection of Collegian and Wallah editors will be among the other major questions.

The part to be played by students in the Honor Code committee in the future, better control of class nominations by having every class make its selections on the same day and vote for all officers on the same ballot under the supervision of the second vice president, are the other issues to be considered.

Every student should hear the reading of the amendments in order to consider them intelligently before voting, Davis emphasized.

W. Erickson To Evaluate High School

Walter Erickson, registrar, has recently been appointed to act as a committee member for the evaluation of Battle Ground high school in Battle Ground, Wash., and will spend March 17 to March 20 there. He was selected by H. W. Thorsen who is state high school supervisor for the state of Washington.

Dragon Quintet Captures Oregon "B" Championship; Quarter-Finals Completed

Buckaroos Blast Ashland Bid, 31-27 While Fishers Beat Lebanon, 44-21 And Vikings Bounce Bulldogs, 27-12

By JOE VAN WINKLE

Monroe high school, Salem, Pendleton, and Astoria advanced to the semi-final via their victories in the quarter-finals of the state high school basketball tournament in the Willamette gymnasium yesterday. Monroe high school's smooth passing Dragons won the state B championship from the scrappy Butte Falls outfit in the first overtime of the tournament 42-38. In the other quarter-final games Salem downed the Baker Bulldogs 27-12; and Pendleton bested Ashland 31-27, and Astoria defeated Lebanon 44-21.

This evening the state B championship from Monroe will play the defending champions from Salem at 7:30 in the semi-finals, and the Pendleton Buckaroos will play the Piping Finns from Astoria at 8:30.

In the consolation round yesterday Griswold high school from Hells bowed Westport out of the tournament 24-24; Klamath Falls showed North Bend out 26-27; the scrappy Indians from Chemawa eliminated the No-Name league champions from Tillamook 22-21, and Oregon City's surprise quintet defeated the University High boys 23-25.

Monroe Lead Safe In the B league championship game the Monroe quintet held a safe margin throughout the contest with the score 24-17 lead at half-time, but in the second half the scrappy team from Butte Falls led by Eddie Ellis and Bob Hoops rallied and tied the score at 38-38 just before the game ended. However, in the overtime the taller Monroe quintet held the Butte scorersless while scoring two baskets themselves. Wallace of Monroe led the B champions with 18 points.

Salem had little trouble defeating the Baker Bulldogs especially after they got rolling in the second half. Holding a four-point lead at half-time the defending champions steadily pulled away from the Baker quintet, who were closely checked and noticeably off on their shots. Scotty Seburn, with 10 points, was high point man for the game, but an apparent newcomer to the honor rank has been capturing the fans' eye. Big Russ Satter has thus far shown himself to be the best center in the tournament and aided considerably in yesterday's win with his stalwart play.

Eggers Sparks Buckets The Pendleton Buckaroos took an early lead with a 12-7 score at half-time, led 14-24 at the end of the third period, and coasted on to victory. Responsible for the Buck victory was Eggers, stubble headed forward for the eastern Oregon quintet. Eggers held Ashland's star guard, Janderson, who scored 18 points against Chemawa, to a measly 7 points and scored 11 points himself for high point honors. Schmidt was a stalwart on the backboard for Pendleton, and Janderson again was an outstanding player for Ashland as he led their last quarter drive that brought them within four points of the Bucks.

Astoria had another easy evening as they rolled over the Berrylickers, 44-21, and were never in danger. Lebanon took a first-quarter lead, but their lead was erased before the first quarter ended. Although Levoyd and Seburn were high for the winners with 11 and nine points respectively, Lebanon's Simpson was high point man with 12 points. Astoria was especially effective on the tip-in and ripple shots which Lebanon seemed unable to check. Lebanon's high scorer, Bob Madley, was ejected from the game late in the first half on four personal fouls.

Willamette Coaches Up today, as a matter of inserted personal opinion, Willamette has three coaches left in the tournament. Harold Hanks' defending champions from Salem and Glen Ledbetter's Blue Mountain champions are playing at 7:30 and 8:20 p.m. tonight in the semi-finals.

First Diploma

Board of Trustees. The letters were grim, tall, and proper, as if the Board of Trustees in 1859 was as formidable a body as Boards of Trustees are generally considered to be—as upright, as stern, as unbending.

The exact date was July 29. Perhaps Miss York earned her diploma by "Endurance," as well as by "Scholarship and Moral Worth." How many diplomas would be granted today if school lasted into the sultriness of July? Of course, Miss York had been born in Illinois, so perhaps Oregon summers were cool to her.

The whole paper was duly signed by Francis S. Hoyt, president, and Chester A. Terry, secretary. No doubt, it was rolled and tied with ribbons when Miss York received it. Probably she kept it with her in those years from 1859 to 1872 while she was teaching school and sending more students to Willamette. Certainly, it was framed and hung on the wall in her home when Miss York became Mrs. Moore. Today, the gracious gift of her family to us, it is cherished in the school vaults, along with other mementoes of those glamorous days when diplomas were handwritten on art paper marked "Turkey Hill" and Willamette was written Wallamet.

Professor Asks Students to Take His Name In Vain

March 15.—(ACP)—Dr. S. Winston Cram believes that students should take his name in vain, for he urges all in his class not to cram for his final examinations. And to add to the effectiveness of his no-cramming edict at Emporia (Kan.) State Teachers College, Prof. Cram says his students may use "ponies" when they write their answers to his quiz problems.

Says the professor: "This plan serves as an impetus to the student to put in a worthwhile review program. He won't have to clutter up his mind with numerous equations which he can't remember. It makes for more constructive review instead of cramming."

So we hereby initiate a movement to create more Crams and less cramming in all collegeland!

Donald and Maurine Nordlund, brother and sister, earned perfect grades at Midland college last semester.

Distinctive Contests Cord Crawl Features

By DORIS HAROLD

Members of the W club and their guests swung out last Saturday night at the annual W club cord crawl at the Moose hall. Approximately sixty-five couples, including chaperones, enjoyed themselves immensely to the tunes of Dick Barton and his seven national All-stars.

Entertainment for the evening included several distinctively W club contests and a door prize. Francis Rierson, winner of the door prize, received a pass which will admit him to future W club dances until 1950. A miniature toy washing-machine was awarded Jack Hack as an incentive to douse his "distinct cords" at least once a year.

"Jiggs" Burnett "bare-ly" carried the most boos in the "love-liest legs" contest by a narrow margin over "Horsey" Lonergan. His prize was an exquisite bottle of distinctive perfume.

As chief subsidizer for "Spec" Keene, Mrs. Marie Keene carried away the laurels. By doing so, she received a special certificate of proof.

No one was bounced, but Mrs. Leslie Sparks was discovered reading palms without a license! Also noticed among the illustrious was Bill Phillips, Sr., wearing a letterman's sweater including 7 stripes and a star.

Punch was served under the direction of "Spike" Baird.

Committees in charge of arrangements were headed by Leighton Blake, George Srinlo, Buddy Reynolds, Art Gallon and Pete Williams.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. "Spec" Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Maple, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. M. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hall and Mr. Phil Bell.

Mrs. Kinney Says Alien Aid Begins With Ourselves

"We must begin with ourselves in helping our alien friends who come to this country to make the most of what they have to offer," Mrs. Martha Kinney told the students in chapel Tuesday.

"America is new and young and has problems and injustice but whether or not it will ever be an entirely Christian country depends on us," she said.

A Cappella Choir Renders Numbers In Chapel Hour

The university A Cappella choir, directed by Dean Melvin Geist sang four numbers in chapel Wednesday. They were: "Vanka and Tanka," "Dark Water," a Negro spiritual, "My God and I," a Latvian spiritual and "I Love Willamette U," which was sung by the entire student body.

FADS and FASHIONS

By Margaret Moulton

Throngs of high school basketball players, other students, local supporters, and basketball enthusiasts have taken over the campus the past few days of this week. Colors of high school letterman's sweaters have made the campus bright and colorful. Noticed were Baker's gold and purple, North Bend's gold and brown, Butte Falls' green and white, Salem's maroon and black, and the various reds and whites of Tillamook, Ashland, Chemawa and Oregon City.

Social activity other than the basketball tournament is limited this week end to a Lausanne Hall skate for tonight. Customary skating costumes of skirts and sweaters or blouses will be seen.

The balmy weather and sunshine of this week have brought out many spring jackets to replace winter coats. Since Glee all-white shoes have once more come into their own along with the ever-popular saddles. Observations indicate that black and brown saddles are about equally divided among the coeds of the campus, their choice depending upon the colors of the clothes in their wardrobes. As for the plain white shoes, drastically new trends in them have been evidenced. Low neocassins are running close rivals to saddles with countless numbers of them being worn. Bernice Marcy, Virginia Crummer, and Eileen Lester have been seen about the campus wearing this type of shoes. Then June Brasted had a very plain higher cut shoe on this order with elastic at the sides and no lacing. Novel are the side lacing noticed in shoes worn by Mary Hensley and Eve Shellito. Pat Cornany has shoes with heavy wooden soles which would appear to be a burden, but she seems to get along all right with them.

HELP CHRESTO Caramelized apples are on sale during the state high school basketball tournament by the campus YMCA and YWCA in front of Eaton Hall. The funds derived from this sale will be used for the benefit of Chresto Cottage, student union building.

Refugee Will Relate Life Of Naziland

Mrs. Alexander Levy of Portland, refugee from Germany, will speak to Willamette students in chapel Wednesday. She and her husband, a Jewish surgeon, and two sons—one in high school and one in college—were forced to leave Germany two years ago.

Mrs. Levy will tell something of German youth and of the experiences of her family. She is brilliant and accomplished and in recent months has been much in demand as a speaker. Although learning English since coming to America, she speaks easily and fluently. She and Mr. Levy are both German-born.

Lately she has received several anonymous telephone calls informing her falsely that meetings have been scheduled to address have been called off, apparently to prevent her from speaking. Dr. Baxter will speak Thursday.

Willamette once again is playing host and sponsoring the state high school basketball tournament...

REPRESENTATIVE GROUP

With the exception of the fact that the Portland high schools are not represented, the tournament at present is bigger, more representative, and better organized than it has ever been.

DOUBLE ELIMINATION

To insure the presence of the best teams from the districts in the tournament it seems obvious that a double elimination plan would be the logical way to achieve this goal.

PORTLAND TEAMS

Another improvement which might be made in the tournament would be to include the Portland teams. This would eliminate a multitude of material in the Portland high schools from the tournament.

First Round Of Tournament Sees Upsets

Lebanon Downs Uni. High and Baker Drops Klamath Falls

Monroe high school, Butte Falls, Baker, Salem, Pendleton, Ashland, Lebanon, and Astoria survived the opening round of the state high school basketball tournament in the local gymnasium Wednesday.

The upper bracket matches played in the afternoon were all thrillers with each team coming up from behind to win in the last quarter.

Westport overcame a six-point advantage held by Butte Falls and with one minute to go gained a one-point lead; however, Butte Falls took a two-point lead by a field goal and free throw made by Eddie Ellis and won, 29-27, with less than a minute to go.

Klamath Falls in a thrilling game also came from behind and attempted to stall with a one-point lead, but the classier Baker quintet stole the ball away and gained a 27-26 margin of victory by virtue of a crumpled shot with five seconds to play.

Led by big Russ Satter, the defending champions and favorites of the 1940 tourney from Salem overhauled a scrappy and surprisingly strong North Bend quintet to win in a last quarter drive 34-37.

In the last of the favorites Coach Glenn Ledbetter's Eastern Oregon champions from Pendleton showed the No-Name league champions from Tillamook out of the tournament by a 26-22 score.

Ashland led by the phenomenal shooting and ball handling of Charley Jandreau, who made 18 points himself, defeated the classy Chemawa Indians, minus their backbone, 30-22. The Indians played their usual smooth passing game but did not have a scorer who could match the ability of Ashland's little scoring star.

In the final game of the day Astoria easily outscored a scrappy Oregon City quintet, 40-17. The Fishermen looked every bit their part of one of the tourney favorites as they took an early lead and maintained it throughout the contest.

Spring Practice To Be Resumed

Spring football practice will start again next Monday, March 18, after the tournament is over.

Coach Keene says that when practice continues next Monday, the boys will wear pads and will be put through light scrimmages all week.

After this next week of scrimmage, "Spec" hopes to have turnouts about two or three times a week for the rest of the year.

Intramural Ball After Vacation

Softball Teams Must Be Registered Soon

Following spring vacation, the intramural softball season will get under way.

This year Pete Williams, intramural manager, is laying plans for a new system to be used in place of the old method of playing all teams in one league.

Pete is open to any suggestions by the students and he would like comments as to how they feel towards this set-up. He feels that this new system would create more interest in softball as it would eliminate games between top teams and those that are just mediocre.

As yet, no teams have been entered, and all aggregations wishing to compete in the intramural softball must sign up before spring vacation. This is necessary in order that a schedule may be drawn up and the teams may start play after the vacation.

TEN COMMANDMENTS OF SPORTS

- 1. Thou shalt not quit. 2. Thou shalt not alibi. 3. Thou shalt not gloat over winning. 4. Thou shalt not be a poor loser. 5. Thou shalt not take unfair advantage. 6. Thou shalt not ask for odds thou art unwilling to give. 7. Thou shalt not be unwilling to give thine opponent the shade. 8. Thou shalt not underestimate thine opponent nor overestimate thine own self. 9. Thou shalt not forget the game is the thing and should be played as a true sportsman. 10. Thou shalt not dishonor the game thou playest for he who playeth the game straight and hard wins when he loseth.

Willamette Ping-Pong Players Lose

In the city ping-pong tournament held in the Willamette gym last Saturday, all of the Willamette paddle wielders were defeated.

Runner up in the men's singles was Malcolm Dunbar who was whipped by Schull 21-19, 21-16 and 21-8.

Doubles crown went to Davis and Minto. In the mixed doubles Dunbar and Matthews were topped by Gueffroy and Olson 21-17, 21-18 and 21-18 in closely contested matches.

Women's singles championship went to Gueffroy because of default by Kelly.

Saturday's Heroes

The athletic career of Pete Williams found its beginnings in Halsey high school where for three years he was a leader in all major sports.

At Willamette we recognize Pete as a boy who was an outstanding guard on Bearcat elevens for two years. However, his ability as an all around athlete is shown by his earning three letters in football, basketball, and baseball while in high school.

He launched on his collegiate athletic career in 1934 as a freshman at the University of Oregon, where he won his numerals in both football and basketball playing with the frosh teams.

As a sophomore Williams attended Southern Oregon College of Education, where he won his letter in football. Here he was moved to guard, a position which he played even better than half-back. He proved his scholastic ability by making Theta Delta Phi honorary society. He was vice president of the Order of U.

Pete first made his appearance on the Willamette campus in 1938 playing regular guard with Willamette elevens for the next two years, he gained recognition as a Bearcat athlete. Gaining the respect of his opponents, he was placed on the all-conference team. He was also awarded the Russell T. Atkinson award, which is given to the outstanding athlete in school, and the Robinson Morris trophy for being the most valuable player on the team.

At the present time, he is intramural sports director. One hundred eighty pounds of fighting Bearcat, Pete always played to win. He played just as hard in the 60th minute as in the other 59. Playing in the line, he received little of the recognition to which he was entitled, recognition which he never desired. Bragging just isn't to be found in his make-up, modesty being his greatest virtue.

In recognition of the accomplishments he has made in athletics at Willamette university, we list Pete Williams among our Saturday's heroes.

Coeds Plan Big Tennis Season

According to June Brasted, number one player on the women's tennis team this year, the team will have its first match sometime in early April.

Several girls have been practicing diligently in quest of positions left open by graduating seniors.

Prospects for the coed team this year are better than they have been for several seasons, with many new girls seeking positions. Rankin and Ferguson, both from California, have been looking good in practice and will probably press June for her number one position.

The tennis team is supported by the W. A. A. fund. The girls will have several trips this year, playing most of the teams in the Northwest conference. Like the boys, the girls carry a five play team in each match they play five sets of singles and two sets of doubles.

Last year the doubles team of Yocum and Kirtz won the conference championship. Eleanor Perry will manage the team this year.

Alum Gives Scholarships At Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis.—(AP)—Good deeds have a way of rewarding both the offerer and the recipient.

Back in 1899, when a nickel was worth almost a dime, a young University of Wisconsin co-ed, temporarily in financial difficulty was given two $60 scholarships.

Today this alma lives in California, has never married, but for 41 years has benefited greatly by her university training.

In the Wisconsin Alumni association quarterly recently there was an item asking for aid from alumni for the university's needy students today. Remembering the aid she had once received, she wrote the Alumni association: "Ask your economics department how much $120 in 1899 is worth today; I'll give that to you to repay what the university once did for me."

The authorities contacted a statistician who, after great computation, gave the final result: "The $120 in 1899 is worth $235 today."

Then Irma said she'd be glad to give the amount, which will afford scholarships for four needy students. These recipients are supposed to be of the same high character of the generation in which this lady received hers.

Catholic University of America has organized the nation's first religious round table for law students and lawyers.

Good Prospects For Track Team

"Prospects look great for a very successful season," stated "Happy" Howard Maple, track coach, when interviewed while watching Ralph Farmer put the shot forty-five and a half feet.

Two outstanding meets on deck for Willamette track participation are the third annual Washington State Intercollegiate track meet in Pullman on March 23d, and the annual Hill relays to be held in Portland on the 30th. "Mapes" plans to enter Lane's Robertson and Rex Putnam in the 50-yard dash. Putnam also pole-vaulting. George Oseth is shaping up for the mile run, and Harold Abbott may be there to enter the 880. Al Walden is working out regularly with the shot and may also sprint in the 50-yard dash.

The following week will probably see Ken Lilly, Justin Weakley and Bob Ewing traveling with the team to Portland. Following these two meets are the regular scheduled meets with the conference schools. The Bearcat runners may get a chance to test their power against the men of conference schools in the two pre-season meets.

"Most of the men have been working out regularly, and the rest will be turning out next week, following the state hoop tourney. There will be a meeting of all track men in the gym next Monday at 11:20 to settle any more difficulties," informed Coach Maple.

Tennis Team is In Need of Men

Although the official tennis tournament will not be held until after spring vacation, several of the boys have already started to get in shape.

It is urged that any boys interested in trying for a position on the team start to practice, since there will be a position open for a new man.

For the past week Bud Gilmore and George Gutekunst, number one and two men respectively, have been pounding the cement east of the gym. Within a week or two after vacation, the Bearcat courtiers will play their first game.

Prospects are good for a successful season this year with lettermen Gilmore, Gutekunst, Gallagher and Downs returning. However, the number five position still remains to be filled.

Last year, the Willamette team wound up their season with championships in both single and doubles in the Northwest Conference tournament. This year the tournament will be held here at Willamette.

New prospects include Bud Moynihan, Dick Smith, Warren Bartelton and Harry Chadburn.

Golfers Will Qualify Soon

Team to Enter the Intercollegiate Tournament at Oswego

"Qualifying rounds will be held on Monday and Tuesday of the first week after spring vacation," stated Buddy Reynolds, playing-manager for the Willamette University golf team. "The following week, we are hoping to travel to Corvallis for a match with Oregon State College."

There have been about twenty letters written to various schools concerning matches this season, but only 15 matches are tentatively arranged. All answers have not come in as yet. The local team has definitely decided to enter the annual Intercollegiate Golf Tournament, this year to be held on the Oswego course on the 26 and 27 of April, and sponsored by Reed College of Portland. Willamette won that tourney last year.

A new regulation concerning away from home matches, as set up by Spec Keene and Les Sparks, limits the team to one trip a week for the season. This fits in nicely with the set-up, since most of the matches are home and home competition.

The Cardinal and Gold has bright prospects for a good season and a winning team, with four returning men from last year's squad. Orval Beardsley, Buddy Reynolds, Carl Mason and Bunny Bennett, along with outstanding new material in Charlie

Bickner. In addition, there may be found more golfers of ability when the qualifying rounds wind up.

W.A.A. Reporter

BY EVE SHELLITO

Here they are—those last minute plans and instructions. Instead of the scheduled trip to Hoodoo bowl for the whole week-end, WAA members will trek on up to Mt. Hood for Sunday only. Bad roads necessitate the change in location and the fact that so many members work Saturday makes it advisable to limit the excursion to one day.

And here are the instructions as to what and when: Time—5 A.M. to 6 P.M. Meet in front of the chapel at 5 in the morning. Bring your own lunch unless you plan to buy it at the Mt. or unless you figure on dining for the day. (Might we add that you can work up a whoppin' big appetite up there).

If you don't have your own equipment, you can obtain said same at either Parker's or Anderson's sporting goods stores. If you plan to go, make sure that your name is one of the twenty-five (25) on the list posted on the bulletin board. Although the bus transportation is absolutely free, there is room for only 25.

We've already advised you as to what to wear on the trip, but if you've forgotten ask someone who knows or refer to last week's column. Hoping to see all you loyal WAA-ers there at five on Sunday, we'll call this thirty. P. S. You don't have to be an expert to come and have a really swell time.

Bickner. In addition, there may be found more golfers of ability when the qualifying rounds wind up.
