FOREWORD

DURING the ninety-two years since the founding of Willamette University, twenty-five volumes of the Wallulah have found their way into the life of the institution. Each volume tells a story in itself, awakens a particular "set" of memories, and places these "reminders" of happenings in our college life in a more or less imperishable form. Individually, each book tells a single story. Entirely, the books portray an ever-changing, ever-growing and progressing history of the student life of an institution which has changed and grown as regularly as the times which have brought about this change. The staff of the 1936 Wallulah will be well satisfied if Volume XXIV presents as clearly and as interestingly a unit of time in our student life as is found when we examine the 25 volumes preceding this one.

DEDICATION

ALMOST one hundred years ago the members of Phi Beta Kappa Society of Harvard University listened with rapt attention to the speech of a young Bostonian, Ralph Waldo Emerson. In the intervening century, Emerson's words have gone tingling through many a heart responsive to the challenge of the ideal. His subject was ostensibly "The American Scholar," but by his arresting interpretation of scholarship he expanded the subject to include a prophetic vision of the ideal possibilities of society. He sought the answer to the question why there was so much concentration of thought placed on the delving to the solution of minute details and yet, when the minute details were solved, they were put to no use towards what the real purpose behind the thought should have been, the betterment of humanity and the desire to raise its level to one more ideal, more universal in its scope. Now, although we have traveled a great distance from those days, the scholar is still faced with the same question—why should man allow his thoughts to force him in the way they desire? Why should not he accept the knowledge gained through his study, govern it and turn himself from the professional thinker into Man Thinking.

THE final and perfect desire would be the making of the material results of his thought his instrument and not his end, and with such instrument achieve a result far above that present existing one whose materiality keeps the eyes of us so close to it that we move only within each of our closed material systems, never getting our thoughts to that real end. Scholarship is the only way we have, tortuous and painstaking as it is, to achieve that perfect result, but it must be scholarship directed in the right way. It is through past experiences that we learn the better way, the more efficient one of discarding the unnecessary and accepting the new and far more reaching in its scope. Our modern inventions which permit man to have more time to question the why of his being; modern inventions which after man has begun to question himself permits him personal acquaintance with others and an opportunity to discover that they too are beginning to think; modern inventions, which after man has considered himself and then considered others, has permitted them all to come together and striving and helping together drawn themselves to a higher level than ever before achieved.

WITH such marvels in mechanics, economics, chemistry, and physiology arising perpetually around us, it is clearer than ever before that man's thoughts must develop as perpetually in order to govern these things lest if we do not grow with and above them they will govern us. Our school is not of a technical nature, but rather one which teaches discipline of our thoughts and mental development in this right way, and we look forward to the part which this institution will have in bringing about this result. It is the minds which are growing here in the present that will be the minds which make for us the world of the future. It will be these minds which as they grow will change us into the Man Thinking, the ultimate end for which scholarship is striving. With that view in mind, it is to the Willamette University of the Future and its part in such development, that Volume XXVI of the Wallulah is dedicated.

IN MEMORIAM

*Our birth is but a sleep and a forgetting:
The Soul that rises with us, our life's Star,
Hath had elsewhere its setting,
And cometh from afar:
Not in entire forgetfulness,
And not in utter nakedness,
But trailing clouds of glory do we come
From God, who is our home:
Heaven lies about us in our infancy.
Shades of the prison-house begin to close
Upon the growing Boy,
But He beholds the light, and whence it flows,
He sees it in his joy;
The Youth, who daily farthest from the east
Must travel, still is Nature's Priest,
And by the vision splendid
Is on his way attended;
At length the Man perceives it die away,
And fade into the light of common day.*

A friend—an advisor—an educator. This word picture aptly portrays any member of Willamette's faculty.

University

THE University year book is a permanent student possession. We are proud of the high standard which the Wallulah has set for itself in former years and of the distinct achievement of this year. Photographs and descriptions can at best record only partially the attainments of the year. Impressions received, purposes created, friendships cemented and characters deepened cannot be represented upon the pages of a book. May the pictorial presentations and the verbal descriptions recall to your memory those deeper meanings of a Willamette year.

The chief contribution which any institution of higher education makes is through its faculty. Willamette is proud of the character, scholarship and personality of its teachers. Thoroughly trained for their positions and genuinely dedicated to the cause of education they are touching with understanding and helpfulness succeeding generations of university students.

The Willamette student body is characterized by earnestness of purpose, eagerness to learn, a true sense of proportion withal a remarkable solidarity. The hackneyed comparison of a university student body with a huge family has unusual significance here. There is an abundance of that difficult to define, but easy to recognize quality, school spirit. A young person is in good company when upon the Willamette campus.

As we look to the future of the University with its expanding resources and widening opportunities it is our desire to move forward without weakening the connections with those standards and ideals which have, for nearly a century, made Willamette distinctive. We are proud to be known as a Christian institution and we believe that this implies a willingness to follow truth wherever it may lead and to recognize light from whatever quarter it may come.

My best wishes and highest hopes and expectations go with the graduating seniors and remain with all those who will be upon the campus next year.

Board of Trustees

Under the direction of this Board the policies of Willamette are established. Two meetings are held every year at which faculty members are elected and appropriations voted. A committee of nine meets once each month to conduct current business.

SINCE the inception of the American college, prophets of doom have foretold its collapse. Even now the voice of the prophet is loud with assurance that the day of the college is past; that the lower half of the four year unit shows unmistakable signs of forming an alliance with the high school and the upper with the university and professional schools.

But despite the prophets the outlook for the college was never so bright, certainly not for the college which is well established through forethought of its friends; which has a clearly defined and ably administered educational program; in short, a college which knows where it is going and how to get there.

Changes will come and those changes will be far reaching. Not even in the years of the Renaissance have so many changes come so fast as in the present and if industry, public affairs and the products of thought suffer change, shall not education? The college that can distinguish between essentials and the passing show that can most readily and quickly adapt itself to new conditions will have the advantage in the days just ahead.

New buildings and a new faculty will replace the old, for the old, whether buildings or men, does not readily lend itself to new demands. The student body will be selected with more discrimination; students will be sought, not numbers; college attendance will have lost some of its glamour. A new program of work in accord with a new concept of the purpose of the college and a new procedure will replace the old—library and laboratory investigation and independent study under expert guidance will be substituted for assigned lessons and the traditional recitation. The student will study subjects rather than departmental courses; ability to create will rate higher than capacity to absorb; college work will relate itself much more closely to off-campus interests.

Yet the purpose of the college will remain essentially that of the founders. Christian character may be thought of more than formerly in terms of clear thinking on great issues and faithful performance of duty, seeking for all that which one wishes for himself. Yet the goal will still be Christian character with a broad outlook upon life, an appreciation of the fine and beautiful in music, art and literature; an understanding of a few of the problems of the day and a desire to work for the betterment of humanity.

FRANK MORTON ERICKSON.

Dean of Women

FROM the office of Dean of Women I greet you, wishing that it were within the possibilities of the human being to stay young here with the incoming classes. I may or I may not be here when you arrive, but even though I am not here physically, I shall be with you in spirit, hoping to be able to inspire you in some way to help in creating the Willamette which we who are now here can see in our imagination. We wish for you the thrill that we have had in our share in the upbuilding of this school. It is the Willamette of the spirit rather than the campus and buildings to which all of us would rather belong. It is only as you can see our vision that you will be able to be the brick, or perhaps only the pebble within the brick, that forms the structure of education that we of the present generation of Willamette can vision. Therefore, I greet you with yearning and almost with envy for your share in what we have had a hand in building.

OLIVE M. DAHL.

Dean of Men

THE WALLULAH is an institution of significance in its own right, and rightfully occupies a place of prominence upon the campus. In it the Willamette Spirit is epitomized, giving expression to what has been, but also to what shall be. It is the story of growth through multitudinous activities, in, and through which, the deeds and dreams of Willamette are expressed. The excellency of this book should promote, in the mind of the reader, a desire to do something well. In the years to come this volume should stir the student's memory of his college days and move him to an increased devotion to Willamette and its ideals.

DANIEL H. SCHULZE

NELSON S. SAVAGE

Business Secretary

Mr. N. S. Savage, as Business Secretary of the University, has served for fifteen years during which time he has made an enviable record for that office. Mr. Savage has charge of the collection of all bills of the University and it is at his office that the endowment income from the committee in charge and the monthly checks covering Willamette's apportionment from the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church are received. The student body fees, as well as tuition fees, are paid to the business office. The student body fees are turned to the graduate manager for distribution among the various activities on the campus and the tuition fees serve to partially meet the expenses of the University. It is largely due to Mr. Savage's efficient methods and sound business policies that the University is so stable financially.

In addition to the work directly connected with his office, the helpful attitude displayed by Mr. Savage toward the financial problems arising among the students has gained for him the respect and admiration of both student and faculty. Students find the office of the business secretary a welcome place to which to come for advice in solving their questions as to making their finances cover the many demands made upon them during their life at the University.

Registrar

Mrs. Dan Schreiber, quite recently herself a student of Willamette University, is particularly well fitted to carry on the duties of Registrar. Being herself just a few years out of college, she perhaps better understands the problems confronting the students than anyone else, and for this reason often acts as a link between the Administration and Student Body.

One of the most important duties of the office of Registrar is that of promoting a campaign to advertise Willamette University and to interest prospective students. Correspondence is carried on with high school students and a careful record kept of the information gained. Additional tasks of the office are the consulting with and assisting students, and the keeping of the many necessary records of the University. During the past few years, Mrs. Dan Schreiber, as Registrar of the University, has proved herself efficient in the fulfillment of all duties of that office. Her friendly spirit, along with her desire to be of assistance to all students makes it a pleasure for both old and new students to consult with her at registration time and during the school year.

MRS. DAN SCHREIBER

Graduate Manager

Under a system installed in 1929, the management of the funds of the Willamette Student Body lies in the hands of a graduate manager, who is appointed by the Executive Committee and serves as a member of that group. It is the duty of the manager to handle the finances and to help prepare the budget for the school year. At the beginning of each year, the student managers of the various activities, of classes, and of the general fund are required to present a budget of their expenses to this executive and to make regular reports to him. Due in a large part to the capability of Lestle J. Sparks, this system of handling the finances has proved very successful.

A special bookkeeping system is kept for each department whose funds are handled by Mr. Sparks. In this system, every expenditure and credit to the Classes, Wallulah, Collegian, Law School, Music Department, Athletic Departments, Student body social fund, Forensics, etc., is carefully recorded. The office of the graduate manager also oversees the issuing and sale of tickets to all athletic and student body functions, and issues the student body tickets and handbooks. In addition, Mr. Sparks acts in the capacity of an advisor to the editors and managers of the Willamette publications and to the managers of the various projects undertaken during the school year.

LESTLE J. SPARKS

Alumni

During the school year 1935-36, a Willamette organization established a map of the world in Eaton Hall on which was placed markers designating the present location of Willamette graduates in various parts of the world. Markers are placed in Shanghai, China; Russia; India; London, England; France; Holland; the Philippine Islands; the Hawaiian Islands and Alaska.

The local organizations of Salem and Portland several times during the year sponsor social functions at which local alumni meet and enjoy reminiscing over their college days while they keep their local groups busy planning and carrying out activities for the benefit of the University. The Willamette Alumni organization is a far-reaching group whose acts greatly help the University in every way.

The ties that bind Willamette University alumni close to their alma mater and to the associations and friendships of undergraduate days, do not yield to time. It is one of the advantages of a small college that the bonds of loyalty are drawn tighter and persist through the years. Alumni organizations of Willamette University are scattered throughout the United States. Some of these groups may be found in Berkeley and Los Angeles, California; Boston, Massachusetts; New York City; Chicago, Illinois; Seattle, Washington, and Portland and Salem, Oregon. Although no alumni groups have been organized in foreign countries, Willamette is represented by its alumni throughout the entire world.

SENIOR SCHOLARS

EACH year the various department heads select the most promising junior major in their field to act as an assistant throughout the student's senior year. Selection is based on scholarship and fitness to benefit by the appointment. The duties of the senior scholar are to make special studies of the teaching methods, examine and criticise papers, and assist in the laboratories.

STUDENT
Administration

BRONWYN WILLIAMS

President of the Student Body

BRONK WILLIAMS, as President of the Associated Students, is the one member of the Associated Students who mostly closely symbolizes that group. His task is the most important on the campus, as he acts as the representative of Willamette University at meetings of college student representatives and serves as an important student connection with prospective members of our student body.

The Executive Committee controls all matters concerning the entire student body. Expenditure of all Student Body funds must receive the approval of this committee. Members of the group include the student-body president, first and second vice-presidents, secretary, the editors of the Collegian and the Wallulah, a representative from each class, a faculty advisor, and the graduate manager. Meetings are held once a month.

Honor Code Committee

WITH the purpose of perpetuation of the honor code on the Willamette campus, this committee functions in opposing "dishonesty in examinations, unfair work on notebooks and essays, improper use of library books and materials as well as property of others, and the employment of all illegitimate methods not herein specified", as in violation of Willamette's standards.

Library Committee

This group was originally organized to manage the discipline in the Library, but its purposes have now been broadened by the aim of creating a wider interest in the cultural facilities offered by the University library and acting as a contact group between the students and administration of the University. Sponsorship of recreational reading contests have served in a large manner to bring this about.

Wallulah Advisory Board Constitutional Revision Committee Interclass Rivalry Committee

The Wallulah Advisory Board, made up of the editors and managers of the previous year's and the present year's annual publication, functions as an intermediary between the Executive Committee and the Wallulah. Acting also in an advisory capacity to the present publication, it renders invaluable services during the year.

Swisher, Black, Speck, Savage

The Constitutional Revision Committee, which is composed of three members, has as a duty the formulation and presentation of all proposed amendments to the constitution of the A. S. W. U. An extensive re-writing of the present constitution is contemplated by this group as a project of the future.

Conn, Kester, Felker

The Interclass Rivalry Committee has charge of all forms of interclass rivalry, which consist of basketball, tennis, baseball, passball, swimming, softball and freshman glee. The committee is composed of a chairman elected by the student body and one representative from each class.

Mosher, Sutton

Homecoming Committee

Freshman Glee Committee

May Day Committee

Under the direction of this committee, Homecoming at Willamette proved a huge success. More than adequate entertainment was furnished the alumni and students in the nature of a football game, a carnival, a banquet, and a play. Various campus organizations cooperated in entertaining the "grads."

Henderson, McKinney

The Freshman Glee Committee, composed of three upperclassmen and a manager elected from the freshman class, has supervision over the annual Freshman Glee. It selects the type of song, decides on the number of verses, and arranges for the judging. This year, members of the committee with Ray Drakeley, Glee manager, successfully presented an unforgetable Freshman Glee.

Campbell, Steigerwald,
Drakeley, Smith

The May Day Committee, headed by Guy Heimsoth, was most successful in supervising the entertainment for Willamette students and their week-end guests. A play, a breakfast, a luncheon, tennis, track, the May Day exercises and a concert by the Songmen provided delightful entertainment.

Anton, Steigerwald, Huffman,
Unrath, Yocom, Heimsoth

With the entry of each new group in the fall is created a separate and distinct body—the class—that binds in spirit through activities for the succeeding four years that same group of students—a bond of comradeship and loyalty to its inception.

CLASSES

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

• IN 1932, a group of Freshmen—already brimming over with class spirit—thereby set out on a course that was destined to make them famous; they sailed through their college career with an enthusiasm which has fixed their name permanently in Willamette's history.

But there's no use to avoid the source of all their fame since the Class of '36 will always be remembered as the one that was victorious in Freshman Glee for four consecutive years! Their first and last triumphs came through serenades, and a loyalty and a fight song have also been to their credit—Helen Benner's music and a class worthy of presenting it enabled them joyously to take possession of the coveted banner of victory each time after Dr. Matthews had ponderously delivered the decision.

Music, in fact, has been right in the line of interest of this group; for Betty Boylan, Earle Potter, Carl Rhoda, Helen Benner, Maurice Dean, Kathryn Smullin, Louise Anderson, Margaret Savage, and Hortense Taylor have all added their share of musical honors.

Constance Smart and Marnetta Jones brought honors to themselves and to Willamette by their outstanding achievements in oratory. Marnetta Jones and Del Ramsdell were prominent in debate. Outstanding work in dramatics was carried on by Betty Boylan, Doris Unruh, Del Ramsdell, and Dorothy Durkee.

Both men and women have been prominent in athletics. Lois Underwood, Florence Du Rette, Winifred Gardner, Esther Black, Amoka Coates, Wanda Landon, and Esther Gibbard were representatives in women's sports. Esther Black was awarded a gold basketball for being on the All Star basketball team for four years.

Men who turned out for sports were Don Burch, Kenneth Manning, Harold Hoyt, Talbot Bennett, Manfred Olson, Bronc Williams, Luther Chapin, Carl Rhoda, and John Oravec.

The Seniors may graduate this year with perfect confidence that they will be remembered long in Willamette's history; for they have left records in all the school's activities which are sure to stand as a remembrance of their competence and energy.

● HELEN BENNER. She committed the unforgettable by writing four winning Freshman Glee songs and ended her college career by "vice-presiding" the student-body through one of its jolliest and best social seasons.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

• CLASS HISTORY for a certain group of Freshmen began on September 18, 1933, when an aspiring crowd was listed as the Class of '37. As Sophomores, this same group could be told by the sweat-ers they wore—bright blue ones with gold numerals. Now that they are Juniors, they have taken outstanding places in almost every line of activity on the campus.

Those who occupied places in the field of dramatics were Martha Warren, William Miller, Robert Anderson, Gwen Gallaher, and Frank Pemberton. Martha Warren and Gwen Gallaher had leading parts in the play, "Mr. Pim Passes By."

A large group made themselves outstanding in forensics; Bill McKinney, George McLeod, Lawrence Morley, Randall Kester, Marjorie Thorne, Margaret Howerton, and Bill McAdam helped to gather in honors to Willamette and to the Junior class.

In their first year the present Junior class put on an original Freshman Glee, with the Medieval theme carried out. They worked hard to place in the judging; but, despite their efforts, they lost and had to take to the Mill Stream. The next year, however, they undoutedly accepted the challenge to compete again, only to have to swim once more. For their third try, they entered into the spirit of Glee a little more warily; but this time at last, the spell was broken: Juniors were awarded third place, thereby saving themselves from another plunge! They were almost as delighted as if they had gotten the banner; for now they could think of next year's Glee with a far greater degree of confidence.

Certainly the class had its share of athletes. Most outstanding were Dwight Aden, Bill McAdam, Don Brandon, Bob Vagt, Darrell Newhouse, Verdell Ragsdale, Bill Stone, Charles Versteeg, Bill Sutton, Don Burch, Harry Mohr, Ty Gillespie, and Joe Harvey.

Girls who were active in sports included Anna May Unrath, Rachael Yocom, Lucille Brainard, Lillian Potter, and Martha Warren.

Members of the Class of '37 were by no means backward in finding their proper places in campus activities; and, though they were a little slow about making a place for themselves in the past Glee's, they have plans to catch up in the Glee that's left for their Senior year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

• IN WHITE wool sweaters with red numerals, the Class of '38 made itself known as an up-and-coming group of Sophomores. Few campus activities could be found which did not include in their membership some of this energetic crowd as their most enthusiastic workers.

To show their readiness and eagerness to help in any work that needed to be done, the Sophomore girls formed an organization, the "Tacks"; with Dorothy Dingle as president, they made promising headway in fulfilling their purpose of service.

Those who showed outstanding abilities in the field of music were Mary Jeanette Sargent, Ralph Gustafson, Lois Burton, Mary Elizabeth Kells, Kendall Teisinger, Ina Bennett, Marian Chase, and Leonard Ranton.

The class was represented in dramatics by Margaret Faxon and Mary Elizabeth Kells, while in forensics Charles Neville, Melva Belle Savage and Lorene Tompkins took an active part.

Under Ralph Gustafson's capable management, the Sophomores put in hours of practice—both early and late—for weeks before Freshman Glee and made a valiant fight for first place. Rising above the third placement received last year to second place this year, they have made it their aim to take the banner next time!

Boys who were especially outstanding in athletics were Dick Weisgerber, Elliott Becken, Lawrence Nunnenkamp, Bill Beard, Ralph Gustafson, Norris Joyce, Harlan Moe, and Al Heumann.

Girls taking part in sports were Frances Faber, Marguerite DuRette, Ruth Yocom, Carroll Gardner, Cornelia Hulst, Irma Oehler, Rosemary Huffman, Una Lee, Lorene Tompkins, Mildred Conlon, Ruth Cramer, and Marie Wilson.

With only two college years behind, Class of '38 has made remarkable headway. Now, during the other half of their course, they expect to show how they can carry their successful start through to a noble ending.

FRESHMEN CLASS HISTORY

• THE CLASS OF '39 lost no time in letting its presence be known on Willamette's campus. Colorful Frosh ribbons and caps bobbed up at every turn to dazzle the observer; but, more than that, the lively, spirited enthusiasm of the class managed to find its way into all departments and activities before much time had elapsed.

At Homecoming, Freshmen showed their willingness to carry on Willamette's traditions by getting up at 5:30 in the morning to accomplish a customary task: the boys raked leaves from the campus and worked up an appetite while breakfast was prepared in Chresto by the girls.

Early hours were nothing new, then, by the time of Frosh Glee, when all the class cheerfully arose at 4:00 o'clock to put in hours of practice. Ray Drakely, manager, and the general committee, composed of Marian Steigerwald, Bob Smith, and Howard Campbell, did an excellent piece of work in making this year's Glee one of the finest that Willamette has ever had. And when Freshman boys had to take a dip in our famous Mill Stream for being in the losing class, they were by no means reluctant about their swim! They seemed to enjoy it, in fact—partly because of the sunny weather; indeed, some of the girls even took a plunge to pay their share of the penalty.

In the music department Flavia Downs, Burtis Preston, Helen Woodfin, Maynard McKinley, Mary Virginia Nohlgren, Ray Drakely, Esther Nelson, Jack Billeter, and Leonard Olson immediately took prominent places.

Freshmen showed their outstanding dramatic ability in Theta Alpha Phi's presentation of "The Late Christopher Bean"; for most of the roles were played by members of the class of '39: Bill Clemes, Elizabeth Sears, Malcolm Waltmon, Howard Campbell, and Melvin Holt. Malcolm Waltmon also had one of the leading parts in "Outward Bound."

In debate, Bob Smith and Howard Campbell did much to make places for themselves.

Athletics, too, had a long list of participants, which included Bill Anton, Oscar Specht, Gene Hill, George Billings, Gerald Gastineau, and John Kelly.

Girls who took part in sports were Barbara Kurtz, Jean Anunsen, Ruth Ramsden, Phyllis Phythian, Margaret Gary, Jean Lauderback, Alice Chandler, Maxine Hill, Martha Okuda, Marjory Jones, Mabel Lenz, Loye Bogardus, Ruth Tscherner, Margaret Gillette, and June Johnson.

The promising start that has been made by the class with such buoyant energy indicates a brilliant future for it and for Willamette.

LAW SCHOOL

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY College of Law in this year 1935-36, in the same spirit of progressiveness as has characterized the activities and accomplishments of the Liberal Arts School, has made many notable and material advancements, both in the increase of faculty and student body and in the improvements of the library.

As an explanatory foreword, mention should be made that the College of Law is the only professional school or department in the University at the present time; and thus the average student entering the Law School does so with the understanding that he is preparing immediately for his life work, and with the firm resolve and expectation to devote more hours of intensive study than he had in his pre-law course and to forfeit all but the minimum of outside or extra-curricular activities.

The purpose of the College of Law to train and equip men and women to render service in the practice of law is the aim for which the school seeks to develop in its students a scholarly knowledge of the fundamental principles of law and equity, with the history of their development and reasons underlying them, a practical understanding of court practice and procedure, including the preparation of legal documents and the trial of causes, legal methods of reasoning and habits of thought, intellectual power and acumen, and a high sense of honor and professional duty.

For the past number of years the Law School has been taking gradual steps and making every effort possible to obtain standardization and admittance to the Association of American Bar. To that end, some 3,000 volumes of texts, encyclopedias and law reports have been added this year to the library through donations and purchases, and new additions made to the space and facilities of the library including numerous stacks and accommodations for typewriters.

At the present time, the library itself consists of five rooms, three of which are known as "quiet rooms." In the other two rooms the students may use their typewriters and engage in as much discussion as they wish over the questions confronting them in their study of law. Each of these two rooms is equipped with a separate set of Oregon Reports as are the "quiet rooms", along with sets of encyclopedic references.

Another material improvement has been the permanent retainer of two more full-time professors and various other attorneys who teach one or more special subjects, making a total of seven members, all working under the able direction of Dean Roy M. Lockenour. Due to a great extent to the future standardization of the law school, there has been a marked increase in the enrollment during the year. The class enrolled this year has an increase in membership over last year's class of fifteen students, a fine improvement, considering that many of the larger schools on the coast have reported a decrease in the number of students engaged in the study of law this year.

Classes are held in the forenoon on the third floor of Waller Hall and in the Law Library five days of the week. The method of instruction employed is a combination of lecture and recitation. Since the classes are small, the student is afforded ample opportunity to recite and take part in class discussion. The casebook method of instruction is followed in nearly all courses with only a few using a combined casebook and textbook. Individual thinking is encouraged and intellectual independence is developed. Here the practical side of legal education is emphasized at all times, but not to the detriment of the theoretical. Especially strong courses are offered in evidence, pleading, and practice and procedure.

Practice court work is required of all students, and to carry out this requirement, a Moot Court session is held for two or three hours on Wednesday mornings in the trial-practice courtroom.

Moot court is conducted by the Senior members who are assisted by Juniors with Professor Claire M. Inman presiding as Judge. Mr. Inman in accordance with his usual routine

"Your Honor,
If the Court
Please"

presents a hypothetical statement of facts upon which the students draw their briefs and present the matter to the court and also to the jury in some cases. At various times during the year the testimony of the fictitious characters as witnesses has afforded the court much humor. A vote to determine the most popular witnesses would probably end in an unanimous ballot for Ralph Barber and Jim Burdette, whose spontaneous humor in their speech perpetually added merriment to the serious occasion. But this is a small matter compared to the most valuable practical experience that the would-be attorney gains from his Moot Court work.

The Student Body, an organization separate from the Associated Students of the University, has proved more active this year than usual, having presented several speakers of interest and also having been responsible for one of the most successful college dances of the year.

Members of the bench and bar who delivered lectures during the year are J. O. Bailey, Justice of the Oregon Supreme Court; Ralph Campbell, Assistant State Industrial Accident Commissioner; John H. Carlin, Member of the State Tax Commission; Willis C. Hawley, Ex-President of the University and Former Congressman; John C. McColloch, State Public Utilities Commissioner; George Rossman, Justice of the Oregon Supreme Court; Isaac H. Van Winkle, State Attorney General; and Willard H. Wirtz, Attorney for the State Corporation Department.

The success in maintaining and improving the excellent standards of the Willamette College of Law is undoubtedly due to the tireless efforts of Dean Roy M. Lockenour. In past years Willamette has had more graduates from the Law School pass the State Bar examination than any other law school on the Pacific Coast, and an even higher record was made in the Bar Examination given in 1935 when the graduates of this Law School passed the Bar 100 per cent.

The turning of each leaf in the calendar finds the campus dressed for the celebration of some particular activity—be it grotesque signs for Homecoming, songs and formations for Freshman Glee, or the beauty and newness of Spring that comes for May Day.

ACTIVITIES

Around the Campus

College certainly does funny things to people. Here is Exhibit A for the defense. The gentleman with the bald pate has since found some very excellent hair restorer and is no longer in that shiny condition that earned him the monicker of "Alice the Goon."

Freshmen can never restrain their desires to roam and here we have some getting fooled. Question: Is the man on the horse or the horse on the man?

More freshmen wondering what to do next. On the right a couple of gentlemen trying to find a funny pose for a Wallulah picture without success.

The annual revolution of the frosh produced the usual results. Set down in this graphic history is a picture of riot-inciter Paul Sturges about to get his where it hurts. This will hurt him more than it hurts you or me.

Snow is something new to Miss Kuulei Emoto, late of the Paradise of the Pacific, but she seems to bear up pretty well under the arctic rigors.

There's some more people just waiting for something.

My, what's this. A bunch of the boys were whooping it up out in the middle of Oak street. Below: the same bunch of mugs after they served their time. They gave them a new suit of clothes, two dollars and a train ticket.

Around the Campus

Just a meeting of the lame duck society. Gentleman on crutches is John Kelly with his first sprained ankle, legitimately received during basketball season. His second sprained ankle came as a result of his over eager participation in the festive dances around the May pole.

This is not a Veteran of Future Wars putting in a claim for his future bonus. This fellow has already been through a war and won't get any bonus. His powder horn is dry but as usual he has a flame in the lantern.

The Alpha Phi Alphas won the Homecoming pitcher, seen at the bottom of the pitcher, for this: "There's no place like home," say the APAs, "Thank goodness."

We don't know just where they are going but it does seem that Dr. Shultze's V-8 would provide swifter and more comfortable locomotion than George Self's vehicle.

Aha, the lamb and the wolves. The reason Dr. Baxter looks so glum in this picture is because he's wondering what the press will do to the statement he has just finished making. Reading from left to right: Scoop, Prexy, Scoop, Scoop.

Coy little rascals, aren't they. Mr. Pietela, in background, is trying to sign up a player for his ball club via the Indian sign language.

Why, Mr. Markham, the man with the stogie. And such taste in neckwear. You must have been talking to Steve Anderson.

Just a contrast—Spring vs. Winter or are them blossoms on them trees? And spring flowers underneath?

Around the Campus

Freshman glee comes but once a year, thank goodness. After two weeks of prancing up and down and sideways on a shaky platform and trying to iron out the cadenzas the show goes on and on and on and pretty soon the seniors have won again and its all over but the shouting. Here is some of the shouting.

The silent gentleman who isn't seen in the picture is one in whose shoes everybody is glad they aren't in. He was crazy enough to make a bet about pushing a peanut. The peanut had nothing to say about the matter. Neither did the sorry fellow's peanut pushing proboscis.

Freshman glee isn't Freshman glee without a few bets but it's pretty hard to get good odds. The Seniors, heavy favorites, paid off 2 to 1 this year but the long odds were on the juniors to show which they did, surprising everybody, including the juniors.

The Freshmen, exemplified by the boy in blue on the left, were known as the Minute Men. For a minute everybody thought they'd won.

The lady that's known as June in January as well as in February, March and thirty days hath September gets along famously with a bunch of freaks from the circus. Basilious Hanzantonious looks on in his usual dignified silence.

Flavia wrote the freshman song and then with a friend took the plunge when all went black. In the picture she's trying to pump a few gallons of water out of her portside car.

It must be funny for Annie Mae Unrath is certainly enjoying it. "What a card," says Annie, "dealing herself a new hand and trumping her partner's iron clad ace in the same motion." The card is Ray Drakeley, froshprex, doing the kind of stuff a frosh president is expected to do. He would have won only the Red Sox were a little too handy with the bat.

The next photo is self-explanatory.

With Indians on both sides of them the frosh took their life in hand and paddled furiously down the raging torrent for God, for home and for country but mostly to keep warm.

A collage of black and white photographs from the 1930s and 1940s, featuring students in various settings. The photos include: a woman in a dark dress and white collar; a group of people in a park-like setting; a group of students in formal attire standing outdoors; three women in mid-century fashion; a group of four students in caps and gowns; two men in suits; a group of students in a vintage car; a group of students in a field; a man in a suit; a group of students in a line; and a group of students in a car. The photos are arranged in a collage format, with some overlapping and others separate.

In the spring, as the poet says, the young man's fancy lightly turns to what the girls have been thinking of all winter. Here in a charming pose is Miss Dorothy (Dolly to you) Dingle, campus belle second only to the Victory bell, thinking it's about time a certain law student was chucking the Blackstone for lighter matters.

There is nothing like getting back to earth in the spring and here we have two opposite schools getting right down in the earth. In the lower picture of excavating activities Dr. Baxter, a pretty good shoveler himself, is giving the operation expert supervision.

Aha! Royalty caught without the royal robes. Queen Winifred, sans train, sans crown, sans posies, sans in my spinach. Nearby a couple of skookum siwash chiefs confer in whisper over the prospects of ever having a sunny funk day.

A sad note is struck. Ouch! Omar the Dentmaker, now gone to that final bourne, the wrecking lot, bears up wonderfully under an awful load. Omar could stand anything.

Recorded for prosperity in these artistic snapshots is the record of these joyous, carefree days when the juniors or seniors up and hit for the ocean without anybody even suspecting it, not one person. Sure, that's right.

What can the matter be? The unidentified gentleman seems to have an interested but orderly audience. He probably just learned that the Pacific, seen rolling on, thou dark blue ocean roll, in the background, is the same ocean they have down in California.

This is a happy party but we aren't sure why. At the right is none other than John Morse Ross, playboy of the western world. The tennis racket will be used to catch a few fireflies so that Fly-by-night Ross can study their mating habits.

Around the Campus

Queen for a day. Sunshine and organ-dy and flowers in full and riotous bloom. These are the choice flowers of old Willamette, regal, beautiful and serene. Stately Queen Winifred and her two attendants, the two lovely and charming Esthers, enjoying spring's magic witchery before the appointed hour when the garland of blossoms is to adorn the locks of the Queen of the May.

Hail to the Queen! Throned in her majestic right in a setting of white pillars, remnants of a glory that once was and is to be, the Queen looks on while her vassals do her honor in the once-yearly games and processions that mark the coming of the month of flowers, of gay blossoms and sweet fragrances. Over all this and more she rules by right that is divinely hers—for a day.

Lads and lasses, pastel clad, weave the spider wisps about the May pole. Slow and stately to the tune of some old minuet they wind the ancient symbol with gay ribands while mute crowds look on and the queen nods in approval. Older than eons, almost as old as man himself, is the ceremony of the winding of the May pole, its origins lost in pre-history, its traces a task for musty old scholars alone.

She wears the crown but no less a queen without it. From the pale hands of her predecessor Queen Winifred receives the crown of roses while she kneels in humility to the spirit of Nature. And the dances and processions go on.

NATURALLY, the aim of every editorial staff is to present an accurate picture of the events of the school year, to give it such personality that it will not be merely a calendar of events, but when read and examined, will re-awaken in us poignant memories, revive old emotions, so that we will live again our college days.

However, the 1936 Wallulah staff has attempted to go even further and to present not only happy dreams of "yesterday", but also the vision of an even better "tomorrow." In doing this, we have discarded many of the old and staid ideas, held sacred to year-book publication, and seek to present new, original and different ideas, along the more modern trend. There is a joy in re-living the past, but there is also a joy, perhaps even greater, in dreams of the future, and if this book serves as a connecting link between the two, then the diligence and painstaking effort of the staff of volume XXVI Wallulah will be rewarded.

FINANCIAL responsibility of the Wallulah requires a large expenditure of time, money and careful planning. Ely Swisher has assured this year's publication to be a financial success because of his tireless efforts to place this book on a sound financial basis. Through his own pleasant personality and his efficient staff, he has succeeded in this purpose to the fullest extent.

Mr. Swisher was appointed to this position because of the successful work done by him on previous Wallulah staffs. Lloyd Riehl, sophomore, ably assisted the manager in the direction of soliciting advertising, collections, and the final distribution of the book itself. The success of this book, although on the surface it is due to the plans and dreams of the editorial staff, would not be possible without the sustained effort and careful management of the Wallulah managerial staff.

WILLAMETTE'S weekly newspaper, the Collegian, with its clear cut presentation of campus news and student life, is distributed to the members of the student body each Thursday noon. As one of the most important molders of student opinions, the Collegian editor, Lillian Graham, has shown her adaptability in the general confidence placed in her by the students in supporting her leadership. Through the attention of the entire editorial staff a more comprehensive, more modern and influential newspaper has been presented to the Associated Students during the school year of 1935-1936.

In addition to the regular publications, Miss Graham has published extra editions on important occasions which were distributed to the townspeople and high school students throughout the state. In this way, the Collegian has greatly aided in advertising Willamette University to the people of Oregon.

Wieneke

TY GILLESPIE was chosen to fulfill the office of Collegian Manager and has been found to be well qualified in that position. His duties as manager consist chiefly in supervising the work of the managerial staff members and assuming the responsibility in financing the paper.

The reason for the financial success of the Willamette Collegian during the past year may be credited to the efficient work of the business staff members. The Collegian, formerly a bi-weekly paper, has through the diligent efforts of this staff become a weekly newspaper, and thus has become that more influential in the reflection of activities and the events and lives of the students, while at the same time shaping their opinions. Also, the importance of student patronage of those firms advertising in the Collegian has been emphasized so that a friendly spirit has been greatly developed between the solicitors for advertisements and members of the business firms.

Lillian Potter

Handbook

LILLIAN POTTER, editor of the 1935 Handbook, published an unusually complete, convenient and attractive "Rook Bible." This little book is published by the Associated Student Body and is presented to each of the students at the first of the school year to acquaint him with customs and traditions of Willamette. In addition to containing the messages of welcome from Dr. Baxter, president to the A. S. W. U., and the presidents of the leading campus organizations, the Handbook contains useful information regarding organizations, athletics, prizes, the school calendar, school songs, lists of student body and class officers, and inter-fraternity and inter-sorority rushing rules. The book is particularly useful to the freshmen because it gives them much useful information during their first days at Willamette.

Student Guide

SINCE its start in 1933, the Student Directory, whose best known appellation is the "Fusser's Guide", has been published every spring by the manager of the Wallulah. This useful little book contains a copy of advertisements to be published in the forth-coming Wallulah, a calendar of all scheduled social events, a list of Willamette faculty with their addresses, a spring sports schedule, a general telephone directory, and a directory of the entire student body with the address and telephone number of each member.

As Ely Swisher, editor, so cleverly wrote his forward to the "Fusser's Guide"—"Need a date? Consult the student directory. When's the next baseball game or track day? See the athletic section. What's happening socially? You'll find it in the social calendar. Going shopping? Patronize those who back Willamette", the Student Guide has served adequately to meet all of these needs.

FORENSIC

Herbert E. Rahe
Debate Coach

THE ENTIRE debate season for the year 1935-36 has been unusually successful and holds one of the highest records on the coast. The squad as a unit has gained high honors and each individual has participated in several intercollegiate debates. The record which they have made will undoubtedly draw much forensic material for Willamette in the future.

Climaxing a very successful season of both debates and forensics the woman's debate team represented the University at the Pacific Forensic League's large tournament held in Los Angeles in April. Managed by Constance Smart the team was able to schedule many debates with schools before they reached Los Angeles. Miss Smart and Miss Marjorie Thorne represented Willamette before Fresno State College, Stanford University, San Francisco State College, the University of Southern California, and the University of California at Los Angeles, on their way to attend the League contests. Their successes in these debates very fitly closed their 1935-1936 season in forensics.

Among the individuals who make up the men's varsity debate team there are some outstanding persons who came to the front and remained there throughout the season. Randall Kester and Laurence Morley, expert debators, represented the masculine debators of Willamette at the Pacific Forensic League at Los Angeles. Mr. Kester entered the extemporaneous contest after having won second place in the state meet at Albany and represented as a contestant at Linfield. Mr. Morley entered the after dinner speaking contest also sponsored by the Pacific Forensic League at Los Angeles.

A brief survey of the many laurels won on this trip shows us that Randall Kester is the second best extemporaneous speaker on the Pacific Coast. George McLeod is the third best orator. Prof. H. E. Rahe won the presidency of the Pacific Forensic League. Willamette's women lost only one debate from an entire trip through southern universities. Men's debate team tied for third place in the Los Angeles tournament. Randall Kester's excellent second-place speech was in regard to the topic "War and War Threats in the Far East." For the good work done by him he was awarded an individual loving cup.

George McLeod, president-elect of Willamette Student Body and winner of a number of oratorical contests, went to Los Angeles with the representatives of the teams and presented his oration entitled "Electrical Holding Companies." In the final contest, he defeated representatives from such schools as Leland Stanford University. In addition, Mr. McLeod presented a five-minute speech before the Los Angeles Breakfast club. His message, called "Just Beyond the City Limits," received more comment and ovation than any other speaker, and won for Willamette a permanent place in their memories.

Mr. McLeod has acquired a large record of brilliant successes in oration and this added to his reputation as well as that of Willamette.

The combined group at Los Angeles was made up of contestants from schools such as Whiteman, University of Southern California, Oregon State College, Pomona College, University of Idaho, University of Arizona, University of California at Los Angeles, University of Washington, University of Nevada and Stanford University, all of which contribute the best competition possible on the Pacific Coast.

Coach Herbert E. Rahe who accompanied the debators on their trip south has put in a hard but productive year in his work with forensics and debates and deserves a great deal of credit for their fine reputation, and for the honor they have brought to Willamette.

The most outstanding speech event of this year, however, was not found in what Willamette did for itself directly, but what it accomplished through offering opportunity to others. In April the Willamette University Speech Department sponsored a State High School Speech Contest in interpretation and extemporaneous speaking.

Over eighty students and teachers attended with approximately twenty high schools participating, including Salem, Parkrose, Grant, Myrtle Creek, Myrtle Point, Stayton, Dallas, Oregon City, Independence, Gresham, Sheridan, St. Helens, Dundee, West Linn, Parkdale, Albany, Corvallis, Franklin and Clatskanie.

As host to this contest Willamette ably upheld its reputation and sees the promise for even better forensic years to come.

"The Late Christopher Bean"

THE LATE CHRISTOPHER BEAN" which signaled the opening of Willamette's annual homecoming week-end was presented by Theta Alpha Phi on October 18th. Under the direction of Professor Rahe this three-act play by Sidney Howard was performed for the pleasure of those celebrating the returning of past Willamette graduates. The finished manner in which it was performed afforded the audience a great deal of pleasure. The complications of the Haggett family when they learned of the valuable paintings in their possession were capably interpreted by a well-chosen cast.

The part of "Abbey" as played by Elizabeth Sears was the center of interest and very rightly so for she gave a convincing portrayal of the "pillar of the family." William Clemes as Dr. Haggett, and Margaret Faxon as Susan Haggett developed their parts very smoothly and deserve considerable credit for the success of the play. Constance Smart as Mrs. Haggett, and Doris Unruh as Ada Haggett won the approval of the house for their sincere interpretations. The other characters who supported the leading roles were Melvin Holt as Warren Creamer, Howard Campbell as Tallent, Malcolm Waltmon as Rosen and Delmar Ramsdell as Davenport. As a unit the cast was to be congratulated upon the clever manner in which the play was produced.

The efficiency of the production staff also deserves a great deal of credit, for under the direction of William McKinney with Marjorie Thorne as stage manager the working parts behind the scenes went unusually smoothly. Their assistants were Laurence Morley and Randall Kester with Catherine Faxon, Phyllis Pythian, Bob Nelson, Dick Smith, Bob Ramage, Betty Lane, Marquerite Clark, Betty Craney, Esther Gibbard, and Gwen Gallaher helping on the stage set. Costume managers were Marian Minthorn and Lois Webb. Property managers were Richard Van Pelt and Cornelia Hulst. Other members of the production staff were: Publicity manager, Patrick O'Connor; Electrician, Harry Mosher and Frank Reid; Ticket manager, Waldo Mills; Make-up manager, Genevieve Thayer and Prompters, Dorothy Durkee and Betty Boylan.

"Outward Bound"

FROM the very choice of the play for Willamette's mid-season dramatic production one may foresee the ambition necessary to make such a performance possible. The very popular three-act comedy by Sutton Vane, "Outward Bound", was selected for presentation at the Salem High School Auditorium on January 18th. It was the longest and probably the heaviest play ever attempted on this campus, and was given under the able direction of Dramatic Coach Professor Herbert E. Rahe, assisted by Miss Genevieve Thayer. The unusual setting and idea is portrayed by a plot concerning eight persons who are dead but not aware of the fact. They sail on a ship outward bound for an unknown port with all the confidence in the world that they are still live human beings.

The well-chosen cast included Mary Elizabeth Kells as the young girl who was not quite dead yet, Ann; Art Lamka as her husband, Henry, and Lloyd Riehl as the bartender, Scrubby. These three gave exceedingly efficient interpretations of their parts. They were highly commended for the sincerity with which they performed. Their supporting cast, however, proved very valuable for in a play of this type the entire unit must show a uniform amount of talent.

The part of Mrs. Clivedon-Banks, taken by Lois Webb was capably done, and Dorothy Lipps as Mrs. Midget added a great deal to the professional aspect of the play. Warren Peters as Mr. Lingley and Frank Pemberton as Mr. Thompson completed the happily chosen cast.

The production staff proved very efficient under the general direction of Dorothy Durkee. The art director was Miss Constance Fowler, assisted by Betty Lane, Kathryn Faxon, Catherine Thompson, Phyllis Phythian and Margaret Nunn.

The stage manership was ably done by Guy Heimsoth assisted by Randall Kester. Marjorie Thorne was the property manager, ticket manager was Doris Unruh, program head was Irvin Potter, publicity chairman was Delmel Ramsdell, electrician was Harry Mosher, chairmen of costumes were Loye Bogardus and Marion Minthorn, and manager of the make-up was Genevieve Thayer.

"Mr. Pim Passes By"

AS A fitting close to the dramatic season of Willamette for the year 1935-1936, "Mr. Pim Passes By", by A. A. Milne was ably sponsored by the Junior class as part of May Week-end. The clever comedy, gay in situations and characters was produced and managed in the best near-professional style. It was produced in 1921 in London by the Moroni-Olson Players and later by the Theater Guild Players in New York. It is the second Moroni-Olson play attempted on Willamette's campus this year.

Miss Genevieve Thayer as the director polished the fine points until the cast gave an unusually smooth performance. Martha Warren in the part of Olivia Marden showed much talent, and Randall Kester gave an understanding performance of George Marden. Gwen Gallaher did the most outstanding work as George's niece, Dianah, and was met with a great deal of cooperation by the performance of Al Tebault as Brian Strange. Other capable actors in the play were Constance Smart as Aunt Julia Marden, Jane Fisher as Anne and William Utley as Mr. Pim.

Little theaters all over the world have done this play and the fact that it has always been successful mean not a little to Willamette's outstanding production of it.

The managerial staff did a fine piece of work on the business end of the play under the capable leadership of Bill McKinney. The various departments connected with production functioned as if they were truly experienced in this work. Assistant director was Marion Minthorn, stage manager, Marjorie Thorne, publicity manager was Ty Gillespie, costume manager Lois Webb, property manager Helen Purvine, electricity manager Harry Mosher, ticket salesman James Pyke, program director George Self, head usher Lucille Brainard, make-up manager Ray Drakeley and prompter Marian Averill.

The success of the play and indirectly of May Week-end was no doubt due to the exceptional performance of the characters in their interpretation for an appreciative audience, in great realism, of a play of this type with the splendid managerial support they were offered.

MUSIC

Professor Cameron Marshall

Head of College of Music

Willamette
Songmen

College of Music

UNDER the direction of our widely known and loved "Prof." Cameron Marshall, the Willamette University School of Music is expanding rapidly. This year for the first time is obtainable the Bachelor of Music Degree, authorized by the Board of Trustees of the University. With this new recognition of the worth of the department will come still greater achievement, the beginning of which we see this year.

Besides the organized groups of singers, there was assembled this year a new male quartet. This foursome, composed of Kendall Teisinger, Ralph Gustafson, Maurice Dean and Ross Glad-den, appeared a number of times in and around Salem and Portland. A "Baby Quartet", Ewald Franz, Leonard Ranton, Bert Preston and Ray Drakeley, sang at town functions as well as making an appearance at Portland.

The year 1936 marks for Willamette University the First Annual Music Festival held on the campus May 1, 2 and 3, directly preceding National Music Week. During this event was heard the outstanding performances of the year of both the Songmen and the Philharmonic Choir, the latter being the presentation of "Elijah."

Ray Drakeley
Manager Freshman Glee

"Winners
One Hundred Per Cent"

All during the year the Music School was actively working in cooperation with the rest of the University. Soloists for chapel programs, which have been broadcast daily over KSLM, were supplied. Musicians for every type of occasion were requested and obtained. And through the regular course of events, broadcasts, practices, and, in particular, the Valentine's Day Love Song program, "Prof." is growing more and more a part of the tradition of Willamette.

Freshman Glee

March 7, 1936, marked the date of Willamette University's biggest and best Freshman Glee, managed by Ray Drakeley. The Freshman Class proved their talents in making the Gym a really lovely setting for the Serenade Glee. The Seniors, with the aid of the winning combination of Helen Benner, who wrote the best of her four winning songs, and Carl Felker, the originator of another effective formation, achieved the singular triumph of their fourth consecutive glee, while the Juniors, by winning third place, spoiled what they had hoped would be a four year loss record. Sophomores placed second, and the Freshmen swam the Mill Stream.

This twenty-eighth annual Freshman Glee marked a new high in Willamette Glee. All of the songs, as well as formation, were noticeably superior to those of former years. Competition was keener, if possible, than formerly. Through KOIN and the Ladd & Bush Bank was made possible the broadcast of this year's Freshman Glee, an innovation greatly enjoyed and appreciated by thousands of alumni and interested friends.

Men's Double

Songmen

The most active music organization this year has been the Songmen. This group has become well known and recognized not only all over the state, but also throughout the Pacific Northwest. During the first semester, bi-weekly broadcasts were heard over KOIN in Portland, and later in the year the group were given the honor of being chosen by the Sperry Flour Company to present, on a Coast hook-up, one of a series of programs by outstanding male choruses on the Pacific Coast.

The Songmen have represented the University in several towns during the year, and their annual tour, late in March, was pronounced an absolute success. Accompanied by Kathryn Smullin, soprano, and Hume Downs, violinist, as soloists, they made sixteen appearances in six days, singing in several Portland High schools, as well as in West Linn, Vancouver, White Salmon, Hood River, The Dalles and St. Helens.

The climax of the year came in May, when, as a part of May Day festivities and the Music Festival, this group sang a concert, their biggest of the year, in the Willamette gymnasium, assisted again by Kathryn Smullin and Hume Downs. The accompanist for the Songmen this year is Flavia Downs.

The final appearance of the Songmen was on May 15 when the group assisted on the program of the dance recital of Miss Barbara Barnes.

Philharmonic Choir

By far the most outstanding work of the Philharmonic Choir and Treble Cleff Club, music group and organization on the campus, was the presentation of Elijah on Sunday night, May 3, in the University gymnasium. The public was invited and accepted the invitation with such enthusiasm that the group sang to a capacity house. One hundred voices blended together to beautifully present a wonderful work.

"Elijah"

"Elijah" is an oratorio of scripture set to music. Mendelssohn, composer of this work, seems to have caught the vision of the heroic character of the Old Testament and with religious zeal set this portion of the Bible to music as no one else could. The prominent scenes of Part I of the Oratorio have to do with three of the major miracles performed by God through His Prophet Elijah; giving life back to the dead man who was the son of a widow, calling down fire from on High to consume the sacrifice of the slain bullock after the priests of Baal had failed in their efforts, and bringing rain to the drouth stricken country.

Part II of this Oratorio deals with Jezebel's persecution of Elijah and how she made every effort to bring this great servant of God to naught. Elijah's escape into the wilderness and his humble petitions to the Lord to take from him this scene of woe are portrayed in the soul-stirring air: "It is enough, O Lord; now take away my life, for I am not better than my Fathers."

The climax of this gripping story is reached with the angels appearing before Elijah with the Lord's message; the journey of forty days and forty nights to Horeb; the pathos of Elijah's final pleading with the Lord; the fiery chariot with fiery horses carrying Elijah by a whirlwind to heaven.

The Philharmonic Choir and Treble Cleff Club were assisted in the presentation by the following soloists: Kathryn Smullin, soprano; Helen Benner, contralto; Kendall Teisinger, tenor; and Maurice Dean, baritone. Assisting soloists were: Flavia Downs, Gwen Gallaher, Ralph Gustafson and Ross Gladden. Pianists were Mary Virginia Nohlgren and Ina Bennett.

On Sunday, May 10, most of the group went to Portland to broadcast over KOIN a one hour program of selected choruses and arias of "Elijah."

As often in the past the ringing of the Victory Bell has fired us with enthusiasm. Spec's championship teams of the present re-awaken our pride in the Bearcats, always true sportsmen.

ATHLETICS

ATHLETICS

Athletic Administration

Roy S. Keene

Director of Physical Education and Athletics

THE 1935-1936 sports year at Willamette marked the end of the first decade of the reign of Roy S. "Spec" Keene as director of Bearcat athletics. In the three major sports under the guidance of the former Oregon State college athlete—football, basketball and baseball—Willamette won its second straight Northwest conference grid title, a fifth place in the hoop standings, and placed a baseball nine in the field that gives every promise of repeating its 1935 successful conquest of the western division of the Northwest conference.

Three other sports are listed in the Bearcat calendar—freshman basketball, track and tennis. To Lestle J. Sparks, the genial general manager of the student-body, goes the title of head coach for trio of important Willamette athletics. The 1936 season, his 13th at the helm, finds Coach Sparks with a promising but young track and field squad, a rook basketball quintet that came through in typical Bearcat frosh style—with a record of 29 victories against only seven defeats, and a young tennis team that promises successful seasons to come in the next three years.

Graduating from Oregon State in 1929 after a brilliant collegiate athletic career, Roy Keene spent five years in coaching Corvallis high school and Oregon State freshmen teams, and helping with the Beaver varsity as assistant mentor. In 1926 he came to Willamette to embark upon the start of one of the finest records ever established by a coach in the northwest.

From 1926 through 1936 the smiling "Spec" has ruled as director of athletics for Willamette, in addition to his multiple-coaching duties. During that decade each season has seen a gradual further build-up in Bearcat sports. Today, that building up is nearing its climax, with Willamette recognized as one of the northwest's outstanding athletically minded institutions, and rated near on a par with Pacific coast conference schools such as Oregon and Oregon State.

Indeed, against these very two rivals, Willamette this year split a two-game basketball series, and in baseball, won six out of seven tilts. Only in football can Oregon's largest colleges claim a supremacy over the Bearcats, and before Coach Keene has reached the climax of his brilliant coaching work, Willamette will again rate tops in the northwest, just as it did 20 years ago in the old Northwest league.

But coaching records cannot be built upon words alone, and though modest, hesitant "Spec" will not, this year's Wallulah proudly proclaims to the world the Willamette sports record of Roy Keene.

Assistant Coaches

Balkovic, Jones, Keene, Maples, Hauser.

First of all, football, the king of sports. In ten seasons under "Spec"—three championships, and a record of having won 29 conference games while losing 12 and tying 2. All told, listing both conference and non-conference games, Willamette has won 41 games and lost 29, but it is noteworthy to point out that 15 of these defeats have been administered by heavier and more powerful Pacific coast conference teams, namely Oregon, Oregon State, Washington and Washington State. The titles came in 1929, 1934 and 1935.

Baseball—In nine seasons thus far (this being the tenth under Coach Keene), two championships, three second places and four thirds. This is truly a remarkable record, that a Willamette baseball team coached by "Spec" has never finished lower than third in the Northwest conference standings. These nine seasons of conference games have produced 50 wins and 20 losses. Outside the conference, against such teams as the arch-rivals Oregon and Oregon State, Willamette has more than held her own, winning 35 games and losing 30. The championships were won in 1930 and 1931.

Basketball—A third brilliant ten-year record: five championships, in 1927, 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1933, one second, two thirds, one fourth and one fifth. Thus, with a mark of 67 basketball victories against only 19 defeats, the 1936 Wallulah concludes the greatest string of athletic achievements in the history of Willamette, those of Coach Roy S. "Spec" Keene.

Nor have Willamette's records been less spectacular and brilliant under Coach Lestle Sparks. Although track, in modern years, has never been one of the university's most popular sports and therefore not one of its most successful ones, this year's team gives promise of reviving the interest in track and field events. Thus far, two meets on a busy schedule of seven have been concluded, finding Willamette finishing fifth in the first annual University of Portland invitational relays, and Pacific nosing out a close 74 to 56 win in the first dual meet of the year in Sweetland bowl.

Tennis, for the last three years highly successful, at last lapsed into the natural come-down, and this season is forced to virtually start all over again. Gone are all but one member of last year's team, but in their place, two freshmen and two sophomores, who assure Willamette of further court successes in future seasons.

Freshman basketball is a pet subject at Willamette, for Coach Sparks seemingly cannot fail to turn out a good team. In the last three years alone his teams have recorded over 75 victories, 27 of them coming this season.

Hansen, B.

Unrath, A.

Armstrong, D.

PEP STAFF

ANNA MAY UNRATH, song queen, and Bill Hansen, yell king, assisted by Don Armstrong, have more than done their part in forming organized rooting and cheering groups who so moved their efforts along that the individual noise and lung power was many times increased in volume at all Willamette events. In addition, this trio sponsored several noise parades, rallies before some of the games, and various other entertainments for the student body.

WILLAMETTE BAND

DURING the several years of its existence, the band has yearly grown to become one of the major forces striking up a new and greater thrill of enthusiasm in the hearts of its listeners whenever its members appeared in their white uniforms at athletic events. Under the leadership of Wes Roeder, director, it has developed a wide-ranging repertoire.

In addition, the band has appeared in chapel, has entertained in concert, and has sponsored several feature entertainments.

TACKS

TACKS is an entirely new organization to the Willamette campus, being organized in the fall of 1935. With service as the main objective of this group, the members of Tacks have been outstanding at all public gatherings where they have lent their services. Paralleling the men's organization of Cubs, this organization has so successfully functioned that a brilliant future is predicted for them. Any woman of the sophomore class who desires, may become a member of this group.

The officers are Dorothy Dingle, president; Irma Oehler, vice president and Barbara Crookham, secretary.

There have always been countless "odd jobs" during the year that needed to be taken in hand; and very often they have been hurriedly cared for as a last minute after-thought. This year, however, the girls of Tacks tried to make themselves as handy and as helpful as the small objects from which they took their name; willingly they took charge of any work that was not specifically designated to any other organization.

A constitution, of course, was necessary, and little time was allowed to pass before a committee was hard at work in getting the group formally organized. Within a few months the constitution was completed and, after it was read before the assembly, was readily accepted.

One of the first projects undertaken by the group was to serve at the Whitman Banquet. So well was this accomplished that, soon after, they likewise took over the large Father and Son Banquet. Later, in the midst of the beauty and rush of May Week-End, the Saturday luncheon for all high school guests was successfully managed by the same organization. Costumes for the May dances, too, were arranged for by this club.

Ushering was also in the field of endeavor for Tacks' members. Jan Kubelik's concert, the Songmen's concert, and the Philharmonic Choir's presentation of Elijah were another part of this group's work.

Credit for the Christmas tree placed in Eaton Hall before the holiday season goes again to this spirited group; for, despite the usual confusion of such a season, they managed to put up a tree which carried out the cheer of the festive occasion.

Charter members of Tacks feel that they have made the start; but they are looking to next year's sophomore girls to step right in and carry on the work to much greater extents. Present members plan to help the incoming ones by putting on an installation ceremony for them and for the new officers that will be chosen so that next year's Tacks may assume responsibilities right at the start of the school year, 1936-37.

FOOT

A HARD driving Willamette football team raced to its second consecutive Northwest Conference championship during the 1935 campaign, turning back the challenges of four conference elevens, and whipping Dud DeGroot's powerful San Jose State College Spartans. The Oregon State Beavers and Washington State Cougars, formidable Pacific Coast Conference arrays, turned in the lone victories over the Bearcats. This was "Spec" Keene's tenth season at Willamette, and his fourth Northwest title. His proteges have won their last thirteen conference games.

Johnny Oravec, 150 pound halfback from Rockaway, New Jersey, concluded four brilliant years by being chosen on the Associated Press' Little All-American. He was also given honorable mention on the AP and UP all-coast teams. Oravec was a four year all-conference man and this season served as honorary captain. In four years he broke away for 41 touchdowns, and amassed a grand total of 249 points. In 1934 he was the second highest scorer in the nation, runner up to Shepard of Western Maryland University.

Five other dashing Willamette luminaries placed on the 1935 Northwest Conference all-star team. They were Dick Weisgerber, crunching 210 pound fullback; Bronk Williams, fire-eating center; Darrell Newhouse, husky tackle; Harold Hoyt, watch-charm guard; and Charley Versteeg, rugged end. Weisgerber, who has won national recognition with his point after touchdown kicking, ran his record to 32 successful tries in 41 attempts, and in addition booted the first field goal of his college career in the Whitman game.

Willamette's offense juggernaut clicked off 1232 yards on 335 plays. With a rugged line blocking fiercely, and battering Ole Olson, Carl Rhoda, and Bill Stone running interference, Oravec and Weisgerber, famed Touchdown twins, cracked off most of the yardage. Oravec piled up 582 yards in 167 scrimmage plays, 373 yards on 31 punt returns; 160 yards on six returned kick-offs, and 87 yards with five intercepted passes; punted 14 times for a 40 yard average, best game being in the rain against Pacific with 44 yards on six kicks. Weisgerber grabbed up 331 yards on 78 assaults at the line, averaged 37 yards on 43 punts; 50 yards on eight kick-offs, converted 10 out of 12 kicks for point after touchdown, and collected one field goal.

Oravec, Weisgerber, Newhouse, Versteeg, Hoyt, Becken, Williams, and Stone saw more than 300 minutes of action. The lettermen were: George Abbott, Portland, end; George Erick-

Playing brilliant football in the season's opener the Keene men drove to a surprising 14-0 victory on September 21 over the powerful San Jose Spartans who came north to avenge Willamette's 21-7 upset victory over them in 1934. The Bearcat line outcharged the husky California forwards and left gaping holes for a terrific first quarter drive that culminated in a touchdown plunge by Weisgerber. Later in the contest Oravec twisted away on one of his famed scoring sprints. The highly touted Californians failed to threaten until the closing seconds of the battle.

The football magic of Lon Stiner and his spectacular forward passing Orangemen from Oregon State subdued the Bearcats in Corvallis on September 28. Joe Gray, O. S. C.'s fleet-footed halfback and his team-mates were in whirlwind form. Willamette fought gamely for an upset victory but trailed 7-0 at the half time. With superior reserve strength the Beavers ran the count to 26-0.

The following week in Pullman, Washington, the Salemites were over-powered 33-0 by the zestful Washington State Cougars. Streaky Ed Goddard, Washington State's all-coast halfback, broke away repeatedly. Willamette, however, reeled off eight first downs, and sparked by Carl Rhoda during a sensational passing attack moved to the WSC seven yard line.

lamette thrilled a homecoming crowd of 2500 fans with a razzle dazzle 47-6 victory under the arcs of Sweetland field on October 19. The regulars ran the count to 35-0 midway in the third period, than gave way to an inspired reserve squad who turned on the heat the remainder of the way.

Gaining momentum, the Bearcats steam-rolled over College of Puget Sound 15-0 in a night game at Tacoma, October 26. After a first quarter safety, Weisgerber boomed across the goal line in the second period. Leading 9-0 midway in the final session, Oravec sprinted away for the final tally.

Armistice Day was celebrated by whipping Anse Cornell's Badgers of Pacific University, 13-0, in the sticky glue of Sweetland Field in the midst of a drenching blizzard. Oravec, in his last home game, scintillated beautifully in whirling away for a pair of touchdown runs in the initial quarter before he bogged down in the ankle deep mud. In the latter part of the contest Pacific advanced to the two yard marker before losing the ball on downs.

The Conference title was cinched on Thanksgiving Day in Walla Walla when a hopped-up Bearcat eleven disappointed an inspired team of Whitman Missionaries. Whitman, with a fine season's record, including a victory over the University of Idaho, fighting valiantly to revenge a 75-0 defeat suffered from the Bearcats in 1934, put up a dogged defensive battle. Weisgerber gave his team-mates a 3-0 lead in the first half with a soaring field goal. Later Willamette on a sustained drive sent Olson battering into the Missionary line for a touchdown. Whitman never threatened offensively, failing to reach mid-field.

Oravec, Rhoda, Hoyt, and Olson finished their collegiate football careers in the Whitman encounter. Oravec has never been equalled. His twisting, whirlwind ball-packing has carried the cardinal and gold through eleven consecutive conference victories to date. Rhoda, transfer from Oregon Normal, is a great ball player who has experienced plenty of competition, yet has never become discouraged. Hoyt, vest-pocket guard, will be remembered long after his football days at Willamette for being the fifth man in the opposing team's backfield. When he wasn't making the tackle for himself, he was making way for another team-mate to get the glory. Ole Olson, all-conference fullback in 1932 and 1933, is undoubtedly the hardest hitting fullback the Bearcats have ever had. Olson ranks as one of the finest Willamette backs of all time and his graduation will leave a great problem for Coach Keene to solve.

The traditional Whitman battle was the most spirited of the season. Held scoreless during the first and most of the second periods, the Bearcats tallied their first score on a place kick by Weisgerber from the 25 yard line shortly before the half ended.

Willamette pushed over its touchdown after a sustained drive without relinquishing the ball as the third period started.

Olson went over from the two yard stripe after the pigskin had been placed in scoring position with long runs by Oravec, including one for 27 yards, one for 18 yards, and another for 34 to the Whitman two. Weisgerber's kick for point after touchdown was good.

Playing against virtually the same team that defeated them 75 to 0 last year, Whitman's freshmen and sophomores showed a strong defense. Three times they held for downs deep in their own territory before Weisgerber's field goal broke the scoreless tie.

Willamette was stopped on the Whitman 14 early in the first quarter, advanced to the 22 soon after, where a field goal attempt failed, and was held for downs again on the Mission one-yard line before the drive occurred that gave Weisgerber's educated toe its chance.

Whitman kicked from behind its goal posts to its own 40, where Oravec fumbled and recovered on the 43. After an incomplete pass and fake reverse, which netted two yards, Oravec's pass to Weaver was good for a first down on the Mission 24. Three bucks by Oravec and Weisgerber were good for only six yards and Weisgerber dropped back on the fourth down to boot the oval squarely between the posts.

After the Bearcats added seven more points in the second half, the Mission defense stiffened and Willamette was unable to get within scoring distance again though the ball was in Whitman territory most of the time. The Missions' only threat was made in the final quarter when wide runs by Dietz and Whitacre carried the ball to the Willamette 25, where it was lost on fourth down fumble, Oravec punting out of danger.

That one thrust, except for a Willamette fumble recovered by Whitman on the center stripe, was the only time the Missions carried the oval to mid-field.

Although he got away for several good gains in the first half, flashy Johnny Oravec was generally a marked man and the Bearcat attack depended mainly on the power drives of Weisgerber and Olson. These two virtually provided Willamette with two fullbacks, both on offense and defense.

Dietz and Whitacre starred in backfield for Whitman while Lynch and Cummins at ends smashed much of the invader's interference to aid the Whitman defense.

Willamette's most outstanding victory was the decisive defeat they handed to San Jose State College Spartans, one of California's better known elevens.

Jaunty Johnny Oravec and the bruising Bearcats that ran in his pack sent the Spartans home on their shields as they waded through Dud De Groot's eleven for a 14 to 0 victory before a record breaking home crowd of 3500 that jammed Sweetland Field to the last bleacher seat in a night game under the arcs on September 22.

At half time there were fireworks, beautiful and boisterous, but the real fireworks of the game were provided by Cannon Cracker Oravec, the slashing, dashing 155 pound quarterback who for the second season gained high national honors.

Aided by a line of fighting fools Johnny found the little holes and big holes and was the fair-haired boy that the Spartans, fighting hard every minute couldn't stop. He rolled up 130 yards of the 167 that Willamette gained against the Spartans, exclusive of his dashing punt returns.

It was Johnny who started in the closing minutes of the first quarter the drive that netted Willamette's first touchdown. It had been a punting duel up till then while the two teams sized each other up. Then, with the ball on the Willamette 40 yard stripe, Johnny saw a hole where the San Jose left-tackle should have been and was off for 17 yards before he was hauled down by Stockdale, the San Jose safety. Another try netted a couple of yards, but on the next play Willamette was offsidess and back-tracked five. Johnny tried it again but was held for a short gain and then swept around the San Jose right end and hammering down the field with only the safety to stop him. Jim Stockdale nailed him but Johnny had carried the ball to the San Jose 24 stripe.

Dick Weisgerber took the ball and ploughed his way through the center of the line to the 18 yard mark. Johnny took it again for another end sweep and was forced out of bounds on the San Jose 12 for a first down. Olson made three ramming tries at the center of the hard pressed Spartan line and planted the pellet on the three yard line as the quarter ended.

Again as the second canto opened Oravec called his own number and slipped around right end to place the ball on the one foot line for a first down. He lost a bit on the next play but Dick Weisgerber returned the ball to the one foot line and Johnny plunged through right tackle for the first score of the game.

Willamette came back knocking on the San Jose door as the fourth opened. After Becken recovered a fumble on the Spartan five, but Oravec lost five yards on an end try, Olson was stopped by Azavendo, and Oravec's pass was intercepted by Peach on the Spartan three yard line.

It put San Jose in a hole which became a bigger hole when Johnny returned Stockdale's punt to the San Jose 26 and Oravec, Olson and Weisgerber rotated as ball packers as they punched it through to a first down on the San Jose ten stripe. Weisgerber picked up three yards and Johnny in two tries again put the ball on the one foot line for another first down. Dick Weisgerber rammed into a solid line of Spartans and was hurled back, but the ball had gone into goal territory and Willamette had its second touchdown. Again Weisgerber's kick for point after touchdown was good.

THE Willamette basketball quintet was again eliminated in the Northwest Conference race, unable to regain the brilliant form that carried them to titles in 1929, '30, '31 and '33. The cardinal court artists wound up in fifth place with three wins, and five losses. During the entire season they won 10 out of 26 games played.

The Bearcat hoopsters made their most brilliant showing at the beginning and conclusion of the season. They opened in the first week with a startling eight point victory over Oregon, battled Drake's champions of the middlewest on even terms until the final minute, and then led Oregon State, and her sensational Wally Palmberg, until the final ten seconds of play, when the Beavers scored a frantic basket that gave them a shaky one-point margin. 30-29.

The Keene-men were unable to again scintillate in spectacular style until midway in the season's play when they outrushed the veteran Union Oil independent five of Portland 33-29, and in the last week of the season when they flared to a 38-24 win over Portland University, and then advanced to the finals of the A. A. U. playoff at McArthur court, Eugene, as they were nosed out 32-30 by the impressive Oregon Normal School Wolves.

In conference play Willamette defeated Albany 42-20 and 31-25, split the Puget Sound series in Salem, winning the opener 39-23; but losing 39-49 the following night. The fast breaking Whitman Missionaries were extended at Walla Walla to take the measure of the Keene-men 43-38 and 32-28.

Probably the hardest fought battles of the season were the traditional battles with Whitman on the Missionaries' home court. For years Willamette and Whitman have put up terrific battles before huge crowds and this year in Walla Walla witnessed as brilliant and bitter a contest as usual.

In the opener a whirlwind, one-man scoring performance by Frank Clark, Whitman guard, for 23 points brought the Missionaries the first win in the two game series and kept them atop the Northwest conference standings.

Willamette leaped into a startling early lead, 10 to 0, to stagger the high sailing Missionaries, undefeated in conference play, but Clark's sensational scoring spurt pulled Whitman to even terms at 18-18 and then to 25-21 at halftime. Clark scored 17 of his 23 points in the frenzied first half.

Mike Reser and Oscar Bierwagen came to his aid in the second half and quickly pulled Whitman into a 30-23 lead, but the Bearcats came back fighting to tie it at 33-33 with Weaver and Versteeg leading the attack. Three quick field goals put Whitman safely ahead again.

F. Reser took second high scoring honors with 12. Versteeg was high for Willamette with 11.

The following night, February 15, one of the largest basketball crowds in the history of Northwest conference basketball watched Whitman make it two straight over Willamette. Never behind but constantly threatened, the Missionaries came through 32-28.

Whitman drew first blood when Reser, high scoring forward, potted a long shot. Versteeg tied it from a rebound; Reser sunk another howitzer, Beard retaliated and then Clark, with a free throw, gave Whitman a lead it never relinquished.

The Missionaries forged on to a 13-6 advantage, the Bearcats twice cut the margin to a basket, but just before halftime Clark came in with two goals to run the count to 19-13.

Clark, Captain Miller and Reser waxed hot as the second half opened, running the score to Whitman 29, Willamette 15. A parade of Bearcat substitutions ensued and they had all the best of the scoring thereafter. Beard, Gastineau, and Versteeg played fine ball for the losers with Geist, Whitman center, dominating over Willamette's freshman star, Bill Anton. Reser's shooting and the floor work of Miller and Clark stood out for Whitman.

The most outstanding showing of the season along with the rousing win over Oregon came in the 33-29 upset win over the Union Oil independent five, the best quintet in northwest circles outside of the collegiate ranks and one of the finest in the entire country.

The Bearcats were trailing 18 to 6 when Keene suddenly sent in an entire new quint, Mosher, Brandon, Nunnenkamp, Weaver, and Versteeg. They went to work and showed right off the bat the same dashing, rushing, fast-passing fight that shot Willamette to the top flight in its first three games. By half time the Oilers had seen their big lead slashed away to four points, 18 to 14.

"Spook" Robertson, ex-Oregon University all-star and captain, caged a long one to open the second half and that was the last pair of points that the Oilers got for 10 minutes as the Bearcats went murderously to work on the Oiler basket. Don Brandon dumped in a basket, Jerry Gastineau tossed in a free throw, Charley Versteeg slid under the basket and holed out a goal and only one point remained between the Bearcats and the startled Portland aggregation. Larry Nunnenkamp stood deep in the court and dropped one in to put Willamette in the lead and after that the Bearcats were never headed although the Oilers were never more than five point behind.

Charly Versteeg was the big gun of the Bearcat attack. Versteeg rang up 14 points for the Bearcats, dropping them in with either hand from any angle. It was his sharpshooting that always pushed the Bearcats up a notch just when it seemed that the Oilers were about to forge ahead.

Twenty-three personal fouls were called and two men left the game on fouls.

The Oregon battle was one of the sweetest victories Willamette has eked out in recent seasons. The highly-touted Webfeet, fell behind 7 to 0 at the outset. It was lanky Bill Anton, playing in deadly earnest, and little Harry Mosher who gave Willamette her early lead.

Big Sam Lieberwitz and dusky Chuck Patterson, negro center, came back with a desperate counter attack for Howard Hobson's Eugene giants, but the battling Bearcats, paced by Gastineau and Versteeg in the closing moments held off their fiery challenge.

The following night it took "Lefty" Palmberg, the coast's finest ball player, and Wilbur Kidder, to cut down a five-point Willamette lead to give their frantic Oregon State College team-mates a one-point victory.

Wilbur Kidder, lanky, red-headed center, dropped in a cinch shot for two points that put the Staters in the lead and gave them the ball game a few seconds before the final gun.

Willamette's surprising quint, playing its third hard game in three days, displayed a bang-up exhibition of fighting basketball and held the lead through most of the contest. In spite of a close-checking Beaver defense that kept the Bearcats away from the basket, the Bearcats, by virtue of Jerry Gastineau and Charley Versteeg's long shots, more than held their ground against the team that last year were the finest in the Northwest.

Palmberg, dashing forward from Astoria, sparked the Beavers in their hard-won victory. It was Palmberg who dropped in first a one-handed twist shot and then a long howitzer to cut down Willamette's five-point lead when but seven minutes were left to go in the game. He and Hub Tuttle, guard, led Oregon State, scoring with eight points each.

Jerry Gastineau, who was the main cog of the Bearcat offense in the first half, started the scoring with a long field goal and from then on it was a see-saw affair throughout the first half. Hub Tuttle, scoring eight points in the first half, was the factor that kept the Beavers ranging along with the Bearcats. The score was tied three times during the half. Tuttle, with 30 seconds to go, dropped in two free throws to give the Beavers a four-point lead as the half ended.

Apparently with the instruction from Spec Keene to cast off whenever possible, the Bearcats came back in the second half to bombard the Oregon State basket with long shots. Manning and Versteeg both connected and Mosher sank a free throw to tie the score at 21 all. Conkling got a free throw to put the Beavers again a point ahead but Erickson raised the ante with a long field goal. Mosher and Manning each connected again and the score was 26-22. The Bearcats had scored ten points in seven minutes while holding the Beavers to two points and both of them from free throws.

Kidder worked in under the Willamette basket to score Oregon State's first field goal of the second half and cut Willamette's margin to two points but Versteeg stood back on his heels and sank a prayer shot from center court and Anton slipped one in from beneath the basket to make it five points in the van.

Palmberg's two rapid field goals cut that down when seven minutes were left in the game and Kidder again worked his way close to the net to score the winning goal.

The Bearcats attempted desperately to score in the last seconds but the tight Oregon State defense kept them away from the basket and the long shots refused to click. Weaver, over tense, missed the foul shot that would have tied the score.

Three of Keene's regulars were freshmen. They were: "Lanky" Jerry Gastineau, 6 feet, 3 inches, Bering, Missouri; Bill Anton, 6 feet, 4 inches, the "Greek Warrior"; and lythe Walt Weaver, 6 feet, 1 inch, Neilsville, Wisconsin.

Gastineau boomed away for 85 field goals to lead his mates in scoring with 189 points. He was followed by Chuck Versteeg, veteran guard, who dinted the hoop for 168 tallies. Anton, a bulwark of strength at center, though hampered by injuries, broke awkay for 110 counters. Weaver, howitzer shooting guard, picked up 58 points. Capt. George Erickson, Claskanie, a junior, followed with 67. Other lettermen who figured strongly in the scoring were Harry Mosher, Salem; Bill Beard, Oregon City; Laurence Nunnenkamp, Tigard; Ken Manning, Gervais; Don Brandon, Versailles, Ohio; John Mullen, Marshfield, and John Kelly, Portland. Other members of the squad were Dwight Aden, Joe Harvey, Vern Ragsdale and Bill Sutton. Manning is the only senior lost to the squad for the 1937 season.

The only Willamette player breaking into the mythical all-conference selection was Chuck Versteeg, high scoring and clever guard.

Coach Lestle J. Sparks' Willamette freshmen played brilliant ball during a 36-game schedule. They turned in 27 victories, figuring in a three-way tie for the major league championship of the Salem City League. The Barkittens won second place in the play-off, losing to Grand Theatre.

The squad was led by high scoring Jack Aiton who scored 240 field goals and 36 foul tosses for a total of 240 points. The team was composed of Jack Aiton, Ernie Mosier, Rex Pierce, Oscar Spect, Ray Orren, Frank Guerin and Dexter Russel. THE Willamette Bearcats will enter the race for the 1936 Northwest Conference Baseball pennant with the strongest pre-season showing that a cardinal nine has made in years.

"Spec" Keene's alert lineup swept a three-game series with the Oregon State Beavers, won three out of four starts against the University of Oregon Webfeet, jostled Mt. Angel in a free hitting double bill, and nosed out the Penitentiary lineup during the first month of the season.

Keene, as this book goes to press, is grooming his luminaries for the gruelling conference race for the western division crown against the Albany Pirates, Linfield Wildcats, Pacific Badgers and Puget Sound Loggers. If they repeat again as western division titlists they will face the eastern winner, either Whitman or College of Idaho for the championship in Salem late in May.

This spring the Bearcat diamond artists opened against Oregon State in Corvallis, winning the opener 12-0 behind Jerry Gatineau's spirited pitching. They followed this initial advantage with a double header win over the Beavers, 7-0 and 9-7. Unable to consistently whip Oregon for a number of seasons, Willamette dropped the opener at Eugene 11-2 in a miniature dust storm, but staged a rousing come back the same afternoon with a 5-2 revenge victory. In their first home test the Keenemen played beautiful ball both afield and at bat to conclude the Oregon series with 4-2 and 9-8 wins.

The Bearcats were pushed hard to eke out a 1-0 victory over the Oregon State Penitentiary lineup. In the late innings Rex Pierce, freshman infielder, layed on one of Crosswhite's tosses for a double to bring in the winning tally. Mt. Angel was the next victim, falling before a home run barrage headed by Bill Sutton 17-0 and 4-0.

Perennially one of the Northwest conference's strongest entries, this year's Bearcat squad has all the qualifications of a championship team. Eleven members of the youthful squad that last season swept the western division are again members of the Bearcat varsity.

High-light of this year's team is a "Big Five" pitching staff. Two three-year veterans, Don Burch of Silverton, and George Erickson, of Clatskanie, head the list.

Following them to the mound are Larry Nunnenkamp and two highly promising freshmen, Jerry Gastineau and Walt Weaver. Burch and Gastineau, in their initial appearances shut out the Oregon State Beavers, while Erickson allowed only two runs in eight innings of mound work.

To match this capable group of hurlers, Coach Keene has Kenny Manning, slugging three-year letterman, first baseman; Bill Sutton, smooth fielding Portland second baseman; Stub Hariman, the brilliant sophomore short-stop who last year was hailed as one of the finest infielders ever to perform in the Northwest conference, and Bill Beard, Oregon City veteran, stocky third sacker who connected for two home runs in the Oregon State series.

Rex Pierce, big freshman from Portland, appears to be the only candidate with any chance of breaking into the veteran infield combination. At present Pierce's hard hitting just about balances Sutton's smooth fielding. Bill, however raised his stock by booming out a pair of soaring homers in the Mt. Angel battles.

In the outfield Dwight "Elmer" Aden, the team's leading hitter for the past two years, has his centerfield berth cinched, and the speedy left-hander is already clouting the ball at a near .400 clip.

But the other two positions will find Walt Commons and Al Heumann, lettermen, splitting their time with Verdell Ragsdale, a transfer from Oregon Normal, a speed merchant, who improves with every game.

The catching staff is also well supplied with capable performers, ace of whom is big Dick Weisgerber, the great New Jersey football star, who moves his 210 pounds around the back-stop position with surprising grace. Others are Bill Stone, Oregon City letterman, Harlan Moe, who saw some action last season, and Fred Weekley, a promising freshman from Camas, Washington.

TRACK

WITH many of Willamette's last year's track stars graduated, the beginning of the season found Coach Sparks pinning his faith on the nine men remaining in school this season, Carl Felker, two miler; Luther Chapin, in the mile; Ty Gillespie and Eugene Hibbard, in the half mile; James Pyke and Bob Clarke in the sprints and hurdles and Bob Vagt, Bill McAdam, and Darrell Newhouse in the weights, plus whatever promising new material would show up among the members of the freshman class.

Willamette's track season started off with bang on Friday afternoon, April 10, when at the interclass meet the Freshmen track artists came through with unexpected strength to score an impressive victory on Sweetland field. Boding well for the Bearcat future, brilliant performances in the sprints and a near clean sweep in the javelin featured the consistent scoring attack of the frosh track and field stars. The first-year men piled up a total of 78 points in the 14 events. The junior athletes, although they romped home first in six events, scored only 42 points. Sophomores due to the all-around ability of a real work-horse, Norman Hogenson, were third with 19 counters and the seniors trailed with 14 points.

Hogenson, husky La Grande youth, scored 15 points, for individual scoring honors. Pyke, junior hurdler, and Chapin, star senior distance man, each took two firsts and ten points. Outstanding performance of the day was that of Dexter Russell, diminutive frosh sprinter. The speedy youngster was nosed out by a fellow class-mate, John Kelly, by a mere two inches in the 100, and then came back to score a brilliant victory in the 220-yard dash. The brilliant talent exhibited by these romping youngsters prophesied an excellent track team for Willamette's spring meets under the guiding hand of Coach Lestle J. Sparks.

TRACK

Willamette's opener in the Northwest conference was scheduled with the College of Puget Sound, but due to inclement weather had to be postponed. The following week Pacific University's young track team, made up mostly of freshmen and sophomores, spurred ahead in the last three events to defeat an equally young Willamette team 74 to 58 in a dual meet on Sweetland field. Pacific's success in the broad jump and low hurdles, in both of which it took first and second places, and in the relay gave it a victory over Willamette. Going into the final events, Willamette held a one-point margin, 54 to 53, in a meet that was close and hotly contested all the way.

John Kelly, freshman sprint ace, led the Bearcat team with 13 points and turned in one of the best marks of the meet with a ten flat in the 100 yard dash. Kelly also took first in what was supposed to be the 220-yard dash, but was taped an extra 20 yards by mistake, and a third in the javelin.

The quarter and half mile races provided the most thrilling finishes with Willamette men nosed out of first in the final stretch in both events. In the quarter mile Fishburn of Pacific sprinted ahead of Bob Clarke of Willamette in the last 15 yards after Clarke had led from the first turn. Harlan Sheldon, Willamette sophomore running his first competitive race, turned up as a dark horse in the half mile and led all the way only to be nosed out by Schmidt of Pacific on the home stretch. Luther Chapin, Willamette's veteran miler, easily distanced the field in the mile and turned in the second best performance of his career with a mark of four minutes and 45 seconds. Karl Kahle, freshman, who is expected to develop into a top-notch javelin heaver, started out well in his first dual meet by tossing the stick 160 feet for a first place.

TRACK

The next cinder event taking place upon Sweetland field was the annual Willamette valley interscholastic track meet scheduled by the University in conjunction with its May Day activities. Although falling far short of its record achievement of taking all but one first place, a feat it accomplished last year, the West Linn high school track team maintained its cinder path supremacy in the league by scoring 44 points for a first place.

As Coach Lestle Sparks prepared his team for their third encounter of the year, John Kelly, ace sprinter, had to be scratched because of an infected ankle and Harlie Cornett, freshman from Bend, was out with an injury received during practice, but in spite of these two major handicaps, Willamette placed first in all but two events in the triangular meet with the Salem Y. M. C. A. and Albany College. Willamette piled up a total of 104 points during the afternoon against Albany's 9 and the Y. M. C. A.'s 22. First places won by the Bearcats in the meet were the 100-yard dash, Russell; one mile run, Chapin; 440-yard dash, Clarke; pole vault, Cornett; javelin, Kahle; shot put, Newhouse; 120 high hurdles, Pyke; 880-yard run, Sheldon; discus, Newhouse; 220-yard dash, Clarke; two mile run, Brown; and the relay team, Hogenson, Gill-espie, Sturges and Clarke.

The following Saturday Willamette entangled with Whitman College at Walla Walla in a Northwest conference dual meet, and as this book goes to press, the Bearcats chances of coming out on top in this meet appear bright. During the last few weeks of school, Spark's fast competitors will entangle on May 23 in a four-way meet at Pacific University with Pacific, Linfield and Albany. The windup of the track season will be May 30 when Willamette again journeys to Walla Walla for the final meet of the year.

Tennis

THIS year's tennis team was considerably weakened by the loss of Talbot Bennett, Northwest Singles champion, and Harrison Winston, his doubles partner and No. 2 on last year's team, and Wendell Brainard who graduated. Competition for places on the team has been keen throughout the year, with considerable changing in positions brought about by a ladder tournament wherein a system of challenging for positions was established.

With an inexperienced team, built around Joe Harvey, the one returning letterman, prospects for a victorious season for Willamette netmen appear to be bright for this spring, and even brighter for future seasons, as there are no members of the team graduating this year, and three of the team are freshmen. Experience gained this year should provide Willamette with a formidable array of racqueteers in the coming seasons. Members of this year's team include Joe Harvey, captain; Bill Clemes, Kenneth Beauchamp, Aris Sherwood, John Hamen and Harold Lamberton.

Joe Harvey who was this year's captain, was a steady and inspirational leader for his team. Most of the matches have not been played at the time this book goes to press, but in view of his past experience, he is expected to come out victorious in many of his contests, even though playing the difficult number one position. Bill Clemes, freshman number two man, who learned his tennis in India, has shown a strong and steady game in his early season matches and from all indications will win many matches under Willamette colors. Kenneth Beauchamp, sophomore from Camas, Washington, has such a resounding drive and backhand that his balls find the corners with great accuracy and inspire even greater consternation in his opponents. Aris Sherwood, another freshman, has shown great promise and much is expected of him in his future years at Willamette. Harold Lamberton, a former sailor lad from Port Townsend, Washington, has developed a serve and backhand drive capable of troubling the best, and John Hamen, the third freshman member of the squad, promises to make the 1936 season the beginning of a series of outstanding years in tennis.

At the present time only three matches have been played, with Willamette losing to the strong University of Oregon outfit and Reed College's promising netmen, and winning from the Salem Y. M. C. A. in a local match. Matches have been scheduled for the last weeks of school with Albany College at Albany, Pacific University and Forest Grove, Oregon State College, and College of Puget Sound at Tacoma, Washington.

Freshman Basketball

THE 1936 basketball season saw Coach Lestle J. Sparks turn out a typically strong Willamette freshman team, one which won 27 games while losing nine during the season. All told, the Cardinal and Gold rooks piled up 1068 points, against 808 for their opponents.

Starting the year off with a potentially strong quintet, Coach Sparks saw his starting five virtually wrecked by the "graduation" of four rooks to the varsity basketball squad. Forced to completely rebuild his quintet at one time in mid-year he won 13 consecutive games before losing. At the end of the season the rooks were in second place in the Salem city league standings.

Bill Anton, John Kelly, Jerry Gastineau and Walt Weaver got the rooks away to a none too impressive start, winning three and losing two before the quartet "graduated" to the varsity.

From a constantly varying squad Coach Sparks finally produced a quintet that was adjudged by rival mentors as one of the state's outstanding hoop fives. Perhaps the secret of their consistent maple court success lay in their smoothness. Working with all the accuracy and team play of a championship varsity college team, the rooks wasted little time in individualism and wild shots. Quick breaking plays inside the scoring zone worked perfectly most of the time for the freshmen, thanks mainly to their ability to pass quickly and accurately to each other.

Jack Aiton, the speedy Montana youth who was almost unstoppable when "on," which was most of the time, garnered the most points, a total of 240 in the 29 games in which he competed at the forward post.

As his running mate Aiton had the back-bone of the squad, stocky Ernie Mosier, the clever ball-handling The Dalles freshman. Mosier, also the team's "bad boy", counted 153 points, for runner-up scoring honors.

Center for the rooks was lanky Rex Pierce, from Portland, who developed rapidly in each game. A world of strength under the baskets, a hard checker and good set-play man, Pierce was one of the main reasons for the success of Willamette's junior hoop quintet, as were his 129 points.

At the guards Coach Sparks developed the type of back-court men who are essential to a winning basketball team—guards who can check hard and closely, and score their share of the points when given a chance. Such a combination was that of Roy Orren and Oscar Specht, two Silverton stars. Specht counted 124 points during the season and Orren 109.

Stron greserves in the form of "Goose" Guerin, Dexter Russell, Harlie Cornett, Curt Johnson, Wilmer McDowell, Art Gallon, Dave Clark and Jim Hyland gave the rooks a decided advantage over their season's rivals.

ALPHA PSI DELTA PASSBALL CHAMPIONS

Heimoth, Hersberger, Anton, Monier, Gary,
Sturges, Heimoth, Guerin, Kelly, McCann, Aden.

Intramural Sports

FOUR intra-mural sports were carried on this year for university men—passball, basketball, swimming and kittenball. The passball, or touch-tackle football as it was formerly known, championship was won by the Alpha Psi Delta eleven. Kappa Gamma Rho's defending titlists in the hoop league won their second straight pennant by drubbing the previously unbeaten Fish Chokers in the season's finale. Swimming was conducted between rival classes and won by the sophomores. The final intra-mural sport, kittenball, is now in progress.

Under the direction of Les Sparks and his peppery assistant, Billy Sutton, the passball league was one of the most hotly contested in recent years, with the Alpha Psi's and Kappas the pick of the teams throughout the entire pennant race.

Passball

Billy Sutton, director of intramural sports found it difficult because of the early snow on Sweetland field to get his six passball teams under way in the series. The contest turned out to be one of great rivalry between the contestants, who although few in number, exhibited even more spark in their enthusiasm than in past years. Teams were entered by Alpha Psi Delta, Sigma Tau, Kappa Gamma Rho, the Physical Education staff, and the Independent A and B teams. To progress to the final play-off, by trouncing the Sigma Tau's 24 to 0 and blanketing the Kappa's 18 to 0, the Alpha Psi's regained the passball thrown from last year's champs, the Kappa's. In the championship contest, the Alpha Psi's uncorked a touchdown in the opening moments of the game when Pete McCann intercepted a pass and lateraled to John Kelly who ran for the first score. With only two minutes left in the game, they again scored as McDowell took a long pass from Aden. On the following kickoff, Felker intercepted a Kappa lateral and ran for the final touchdown. The end of the struggle saw the Kappas go down to a smashing 24 to 0 defeat.

Track

The 1936 edition of track began to take form April 10 when the annual interclass track meet was staged by Les Spark's players. As the result of this early contest, the men gained experience that greatly benefited them in later inter-school meets in the discovery of new talent. This year's team were the best to stack up in years, with the Juniors coming out on top.

KAPPA GAMMA RHO BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS
 Teninger, Burch, Mohr, Barnett, Vagt, Nelson.

Basketball

Ten teams entered the Donut league basket ball competition: Alpha Psi Delta, Sigma Tau, Kappa Gamma Rho, Law School, Fish Chokers, Independent A, Independent B, P. E. Staff, Freshman A and Freshman B. For the second year the Kappa's annexed the basketball title in the league. The winner was determined by a play off between the first four teams finishing at the top: the Kappa's, Independent A, Fish Chokers and P. E. Staff. In the final game of the play-off the Kappa's defeated the Independent team in the over-time game. The series games were hard fought contsts, and by no means did the victor have an easy time. The series continued through January, February and March until the State high school basketball tournament.

Swimming

The annual inter-class swimming meet took place early in December. An added attraction this year was the participation of the girls in some of the events. Bill Lemmon was in charge of the meet and was aided in his managing of the meet by a captain elected from each team. This was a very exciting meet, with both the freshmen and sophomore classes having the edge on the upper classes. Competition in the water polo game, relays, diving contests, breast stroke, crawl and free style contests were all well received by a crowd, members of it rooting for their respective classes. The sophomores came out on top in more ways than one and members of this team were Cathrin Headrick, Lorene Tompkins, Una Lee, Bob Ramage, Everett Gary, Bob Smith, James Kelley and Frank Shepherd.

Softball

As this book goes to press, the softball season is in full swing. Fresh from a number of pre-season games, the teams came out of training and began the long game of the regular season. Pre-season showing of strength of the teams entered seemed to point to the Law School and the Pill Pushers as close contestants for the final play-off. Al Pietila has assembled a strong line-up that is made up of three or four year lettermen in the donut league. The Law School has a pair of the best pitchers in the league in Canfield and Proebstel, and under the managerhsip of "Black Dan" McCallister, should be in top shape after a training season at Eola Springs.

The rest of the teams have been handicapped by poor conditions, having to train on Sweetland field under adverse weather conditions, but are improving rapidly with every game. The three fraternities, the Alpha Psi's, Kappa's and Sig's, seem to be evenly matched. The teams entered are Law School, Pill Pushers, Sigma Tau's, Alpha Psi A and Alpha Psi B and the Kappa's.

State High School Basketball Tournament

THE 1936 state high school basketball tournament, 17th in the annals of the prep association, produced a great championship team—Corvallis high coached by "Mush" Torson. Smooth passers, cracks shots and great fighters, the well trained Spartan quintet marched through four straight games, to claim the first title in the school's history.

Tournament fans, and there was 12,723 of them in the three-day annual session, got their first glimpse of the caliber of the flashy Corvallis five the initial day, when it romped through Ashland, 49 to 18.

Astoria's always powerful Fishermen, making a strong bid for their third straight prep championship, were next to fall, bowing under a great second half attack, 46 to 26, as a near capacity crowd roared its approval. An easy 34 to 25 victory over Bellfountain, state B school champs, awarded Corvallis one of the two coveted berths in the grand finals of the tourney.

Always pressed but never seriously threatened by Chappie King's "Portland Kollosals", Corvallis scored consistently and wound up with a well played 34 to 27 win.

Starting regulars on the team which produced for Coach Torson one of the high-lights of his entire coaching career, included Warren, center; Pflugrad and Blackledge, forwards; Kruger and Crockett, guards. Warren and Kruger, along with Kemnitzer and Hansen, of Franklin, and Sarpola, Astoria, were placed on the mythical all-state team selected by coaches and tourney officials.

Franklin, crippled just before the tourney by the loss of two outstanding performers, marched steadily through the lower bracket to the finals. Paced by the sharp-shooting Tommy Hansen, who piled up 45 points in his team's four games, the Quakers, Portland's B entry, downed Roseburg 35-29; Tillamook 37-32, and McLoughlin 36-23, before losing to the champions.

Bellfountain, known throughout the state as the "Giant Killers", was the crowd's favorite team. The speedy little court performers from Benton county whipped Umapine 35 to 15, and then claimed the first annual class B school championship of the state by downing Myrtle Creek 31 to 22. Subdued by Corvallis, Bellfountain came back on the last night to take third place with a sparkling 29-17 victory over the Mac-Hi Pioneers.

Fourth position went to Astoria and its great Ted Sarpola, who placed himself in Oregon high school's hall of fame by winning an all-state berth for the third successive year, a mark equalled only once before in tourney history.

Extended on the first day to whip Portland's champion, Benson Tech, by a 33 to 26 score, the Fishermen, playing their first year under Coach George Emigh, fell before Corvallis' terrific onslaught. But the defeat snapped Astoria back into winning stride, and the coast five marched through its final two tourney tilts by over-whelming scores.

Benson Tech, beaten for the second straight year in the opening round of games, salvaged some satisfaction from the tourney by claiming fifth place, with a narrow 31-28 win over a fighting Salem quintet.

But all honors for the outstanding tournament performance once more went to Ted Sarpola, who not only almost single-handedly defeated one of the strongest Tillamook fives in recent years, but also took the individual high-scoring title, with a total of 59 counters in four games, an average of almost 15 a game.

Sarpola was awarded the trophy for the most valuable man to his team at the close of the championship game. Fisk, diminutive McLoughlin high guard, was awarded the trophy for the outstanding player in the tournament, while Captain Wallace, of Bellfountain, was named the session's best sportsman.

The five winning places thus went to Corvallis, Franklin, Bellfountain, Astoria and Benson, in the order named. High scorers were Sarpola, of Astoria; Moore, Tillamook; Hansen, Franklin; Kruger, Corvallis; Kessler, Bellfountain; Blackledge, Corvallis; Walker, Tillamook; Stoneburg, Tillamook; Williams, Franklin, and Wallace, Bellfountain.

Women's Athletics

WOMEN'S athletics on the Willamette campus are in charge of Miss Alida Currey, director. With the assistance of Esther Black, senior scholar, and Anoka Coates, a senior major in the department, classes are conducted in field gym, clogging, archery, tennis, as well as courses in theoretical subjects, including Kinesiology, Corrective Physical Education, History of Physical Education, etc.

Extra activities during the year were evidenced in the pageantry of the May Day Festival once again under the direction of the Physical Education Department, with Anna May Unrath and Rachel Yocom, junior physical education majors as chairmen. The Olympic theme, carried throughout the program, centered around the English Sword dance, and the French Spear dance. Later in May, the majors in Physical Education organized and directed a Play Day for high school girls from neighboring cities. In a well filled day, the guests on the campus enjoyed almost every form of athletic entertainment in which they wished to engage.

Under the leadership of Miss Currey, the Women's Athletic Association has made available a full and interesting program in sports for the entire year. The Women's Athletic Association was originally instituted for the purpose of organizing girls interested in athletics, for the scheduling and supervising of these various activities, and inculcating a spirit of good sportsmanship among the sport enthusiasts by the encouragement of active participation in the games sponsored by them. Officers for the school year were Esther Black, president; Rachel Yocom, vice-president; Lucille Brainard, secretary. Girls managing the different sports were Martha Warren, soccer; Rosemary Huffman, basketball; Carroll Gardner, baseball; Ruth Yocom tennis; Frances Faber, hiking; Irma Oehler, volleyball; Florence Du Rette and Marguerite Du Rette, archery; and Una Lee, swimming. Meetings are held twice a month in the gymnasium.

Soccer

Soccer, the first major sport of the fall, met with a fine response. Managed by Martha Warren, the first few weeks were spent practicing techniques and skills.

Color teams were organized which induced a keener spirit of competition. Due to unsuitable weather the tournament games were postponed until early spring.

Girls have a private field for soccer situated near the tennis courts, ideally located near the gymnasium.

In the six weeks period of practice in soccer, girls develop much skill in the game. Of the fifty girls reporting for practices, twenty-three girls earning points were: R. Cramer, E. Johnson, D. Hayes, R. Tscharnier, M. Lenz, R. Huffman, H. Marcy, A. M. Unrath, C. Hulst, M. Okuda, R. Yocom, Ruth Yocom, I. Oehler, L. Tompkins, F. Faber, A. Coates, J. Anunsen, M. Hill, R. Ramsden, J. Lauderback, M. Warren, B. Kurtz, D. Ellinger, M. Gary.

Basketball

Girls' Basketball was one of the outstanding sports of the year. The great number of girls participating necessitated the division of girls into color teams which played tournaments, and by process of elimination produced at the end of the basketball season a championship color team.

Membership in the girl's all-star basketball team chosen by Miss Currey and a designated committee, has come to be a coveted honor, and competition for the various positions is very keen. Each year the choice of All-star players becomes more of a problem due to the increasing efficiency of girls in this sport. Chosen on the All-star team were:

ARCHERY

Volley Ball

Volley ball, the third major sport of the year, was conducted in the gymnasium, by Manager Irma Oehler.

The attendance this year was noticeably larger than it has been in previous seasons.

Four teams were organized for running off the tournament, and elimination by means of a round robin series resulted in Team B being champions. About thirty girls reported daily to attend the practices and take part in the tournament games played at the close of the season.

Archery

This sport under the joint management of Florence and Marguerite Du Rette, has completed a very successful season. The sport is divided into two divisions, one taking place in the fall and carried out in the gymnasium, while the other group is organized as a spring sport, and arching takes place on the girl's outside range. The archery tackle is provided by the department and instruction is given by Miss Currey. A much greater number of girls have this year shown their enthusiasm for this activity in physical education than in any past year.

Hiking

Hikes ranging from 5 to 15 miles weekly were under the supervision of Frances Faber. Credit is given 1 point per mile—200 miles being all one girl can earn in her college career.

Hikes were scheduled to various points around Salem, hiking taking place every Saturday morning and occasionally during the week. In spite of the fact that this is one of the most difficult sports in which to interest the majority of girls, every year certain enthusiasts are found. Girls hiking were:

Barbara Kurtz, Jean Anunsen, Anna May Unrath, Carroll Gardner, Lorine Tompkins, Frances Faber and Ruth Yocom.

BASEBALL

Swimming

Swimming, newly organized last year, has proved very popular as measured by the number of girls reporting for practices. Fifteen hours of practice are required to earn 100 points toward the point system. The tournament included free style, crawl, back stroke, side stroke, relay and surface dives. Swimming managed by Una Lee, has been permanently established as one of the major sports for girl's participation. The local Y. M. C. A. swimming pool was used. Organized swimming periods were divided into one-half of the period actual practice in strokes and various forms of swimming, while the latter part of the period was spent in playing water polo, diving and stunts.

Tennis

This year girl's tennis was marked by a stronger feeling of competition, although fewer girls reported for varsity participation. Games were scheduled with Pacific, Reed and Albany Colleges. The girl's varsity team was composed of:

Rachel Yocom, Rosemary Huffman, Ruth Yocom, Francis Faber, Lorine Tompkins.

Much of its success in defeating teams of other colleges is due to the coaching of the team by Lestle Sparks.

Intramural tennis for those not participating in varsity tennis was managed by Ruth Yocom. A greater response and increased interest was noticeable this year. 100 points were awarded girls putting in 15 to 20 hours of practice and taking part in the tournament.

Baseball

One of the most popular sports of the spring season was baseball managed by Carroll Gardner. Practices were held every day at 4 o'clock for one hour on the girl's athletic field. Teams were chosen and a series of games were played. Unusual interest was shown in the soft ball games and an enthusiastic spirit prevailed throughout the season. Outside games were scheduled with Linfield, Pacific and Reed Colleges and Oregon City high school.

THE Oregon Alpha chapter, established on the Willamette campus in 1920, includes in its membership those students who have exhibited acting, coaching or managerial ability, and have taken an active interest in dramatics. The purpose of the fraternity is to promote dramatic activity on our campus and to constantly strive to raise the quality standard of campus productions.

Theta Alpha Phi sponsors the Homecoming and Junior plays as well as several one-act plays throughout the season. Each spring the organization entertains with a garden party at which a one-act play is produced by the members. Once a month at evening meetings the time is devoted to the reading of the better plays of the year.

THE SCIENCE CLUB was organized in 1925 for the purpose of fostering on the campus a scientific interest, which spirit should most certainly be an important and integral part of every progressive scientific endeavor. The Science Club is composed of juniors and seniors having a high scholastic standing and majoring in one of the physical sciences. Meetings are held twice a month, having as their main points, demonstrations, discussions and occasional reports by students. By these discussions the members hope to delve a little deeper into the realm of science than their ordinary class work takes them and to follow out a few branches that would not otherwise be touched upon. More unusual meetings consist of field trips to interesting laboratories and to lectures by men distinguished in the field of science.

At least once a year the club gives a chapel program. Students, not members of the Science Club are often invited to attend the interesting meetings of the organization.

UNIVERSITY VESPERS is in reality but one of the older organizations of the campus renovated, revised, and resituated. Last fall, after several successful years of meetings in Chresto Cottage under the title of Campus Vespers, it moved to the new Educational Temple of the First Methodist Church and adopted the new title of University Vespers. Since that time it has been reorganized so that the morning University Class and the evening Vespers are under one head. Its activities are far from being entirely religious, for it takes an active part in campus life, has frequent parties, and sponsors that popular mid-week relaxation period known as Cookie Jar.

Variety is the keynote of the evening meetings, which are conducted by the student members of the group with the aid of a liberal sprinkling of outstanding members of the community as guest speakers. It is strictly an organization of the students for their own purposes.

In the morning University class some of the more serious aspects of the religious life in the world of today are discussed. One of the aims of the group is that each person do his own individual thinking.

The student council for the combined groups of Vespers and University Class are:

INSTALLED in 1926, the Blue Key National Honorary Service Fraternity is the only organization of its kind in existence. Its two-fold purpose is to promote a national student spirit by the exchange of ideas among various campuses and to serve as a point of contact between faculty and students and in this way, directing campus activities into the most profitable channels.

Membership in this fraternity is by invitation and includes only junior and senior men. The members pledge themselves to become worthy citizens and strive for the good of Willamette University.

The Classical Club was organized for the purpose of promoting an appreciation of Greek and Roman history and literature. At the bi-monthly meetings Roman and Greek civilization, interesting facts concerning the life of the Greeks and Romans, and informal discussions make this an altogether interesting and profitable organization.

THE PAINT SPOTS was organized in the spring of 1934 for the purpose of promoting more interest in art. Members of the group are selected because of their interest in art. General projects are carried out by the group each semester.

Two of the major projects carried out by the group were the taking charge of the scenery for the two campus plays, "Outward Bound," and "Mr. Pim Passes By." The set provided for "Outward Bound" was appropriately the scene on board a ship, while for "Mr. Pim Passes By" the scenery was modeled after an English interior. The group is to be congratulated on its excellent work for these productions.

THIS organization was developed on the Willamette campus for the purpose of creating a deeper interest in individual writing. There is no restriction in the form or style of the works of its members, but only inspiration and encouragement along with friendly constructive criticism is offered.

During at least one chapel program of the year, Coffee House presents its respective members who read their best works. The program includes pieces of poetry, prose and short stories.

Little Theatre Guild

ORGANIZED 1933

OFFICERS

[illegible]

IN THE fall of 1933, Professor Rahe organized on the campus the Little Theatre Guild. This organization has as its chief purpose the development of dramatic talent among the students, giving them a chance of additional training not found in the classroom and affording an opportunity for training students for major campus plays.

The group is entirely independent of other dramatic organizations on the campus. Entrance into this society is determined by tryouts held each fall, and the requirements for membership include ability and interest in acting, costuming, play-writing, make-up, or scenery.

The aim of the Little Theatre Guild has been the working on and the presenting of different types of plays throughout the year. Melodrama, characterization, comedy, farce, romance and mystery are all studied at different times. Much credit for the organization's success goes to Miss Genevieve Thaver and Professor Rahe.

Willamette Wesleyans

ORGANIZED 1922

Overview

[illegible]

THE Willamette Wesleyans were organized on the campus in 1922. This organization is open to any Willamette student interested in Christian life and development. It encourages the students to round out their college career by cultivating thought and feeling along religious lines. Noon meetings are held in Chresto Cottage where modern and campus religious problems are discussed. Interesting out-side speakers provide opinions on these problems from well-qualified persons.

THE CREED of the Young Men's Christian Association expresses clearly the spirit of this organization:

To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.

To lead students to membership and service in a Christian church.

To promote their growth in faith and Christian character, especially through the study of the Bible and through prayer.

To influence them to devote themselves in the united effort of all Christians to making the will of Christ effective in human society and to extending the Kingdom of God throughout the world.

International Club

IN 1931 THE International Club was established on this campus for the purpose of creating a closer relationship between the foreign and American students. The group is made up of sixty per cent foreign students and forty per cent American students. The club meets bi-monthly for discussions of international relations and in addition the group sponsors several affairs during the year for themselves and other students of the University. Officers are:

First Councilor: Laurence Burdette; Second Councilor: Ina Bennett; Third and Fourth Councilor: Kuulei Emoto.

KING WINTER ON THE CAMPUS

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY SALEM, OREGON

Approved by Association of American Universities

MEMBER OF AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN

WILLAMETTE is essentially a small college and has the ideal of encouraging smaller class groups and intimate personal relationships between student and teacher. It is proud that it can support a faculty of 46, and that, with a student body of 600, it can avoid the crowded conditions and the impersonality of the larger university. No student is "lost in the crowd" at Willamette.

Willamette, however, is able to afford approximately the same advantages in curricula in its College of Liberal Arts, College of Law, and School of Music as do the same schools in the larger university. The extra-curricular activities at Willamette in forensics, dramatics, athletics, music and publications are as highly developed as in the larger institutions. Willamette affords the additional advantage that each student enjoys the development of personality that comes from participating in activities of his own choosing.

College of Liberal Arts

A wide variety of strong courses lead to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Liberal electives allowed. Graduates are certified to teach in Oregon, Washington, and Idaho. Work leading to Journalism, Medicine, Law, Business, etc. For bulletin, Dean F. M. Erickson.

College of Law

A Law School with the great advantage of the State Courts, Law Library and official life. Lectures by leading judges and attorneys of the state. Graduates lead the profession. For bulletin, Dean Roy M. Lockenour.

School of Music

Instructors are American and European graduates. Courses in Piano, Voice, Violin, Pipe Organ, Theory, Public School Music, etc. Choir and Glee Clubs. For bulletin, Director Cameron Marshall.
