

Globe of the World

By JACK BELLINGER

(Editor's Note: The Collegian here presents the initial column of "The Globe of the World," written by Jack Bellinger, graduate student in Willamette University. For four years he was a member of the staff of the Oregon Daily Emerald, at the University of Oregon, on which he served as news editor and a member of the editorial board.)

"The tumult and the shouting dies; The captains and the kings depart!"

These lines from Rudyard Kipling's "Recessional" are apropos to the death of Kipling and his monarch, King George V. The death and burial of Kipling was overshadowed in the headlines of the newspapers by the final illness, death and funeral for the King of England, together with the accession to the throne of King Edward VIII, the erstwhile Prince of Wales.

The ashes of the man who extolled the virtues of Gunga Din lie in the darkened poet's corner of Westminster Abbey. He has been regarded as a writer who extolled imperialism; but it was not Kipling who was the Imperialist, it was the age in which he lived. He wrote of his own day and times, and that period of history was characterized by the expansion of empire throughout the world.

Listening to the sound of horse's hoofs and carriage wheels passing along the streets of London as the funeral procession of King George was broadcast to the dominions and to world at large brought to mind the unity of the peoples of the earth. Can it truly longer be said that "East is East and West is West, and Never the Twain Shall Meet?"

One of the principal reasons why Oregon is not now a part of the vast British Empire and the flags on the public buildings across the street are not flying at half-mast is the fact that Jason Lee, founder of Oregon Institute that later became Willamette University, himself born almost on the boundary line between Canada and the United States, worked diligently and with much foresight in his efforts to arouse the interests of the American government in this then virgin territory. His trips to Washington, D. C. were largely in the interests of putting before Congress and the president the urgency for action if they wished this country to be a part of the United States. Students of an institution founded before this region was either British or American can well afford to remember that international and world interests must have a deep place in thinking and actions of the present day.

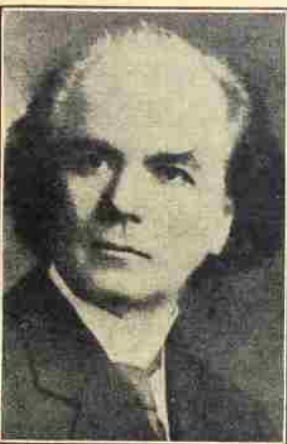

"Land of the Empire Builders, Land of the Setting Sun..."

These words from the Oregon state song remind us that this commonwealth was built up in a day of expansion. The ways of the world change and we become a people secure with that which we have. The opposite extreme to the policy of imperialism is a policy of isolation, and today as our congress tries earnestly to provide this nation with neutrality legislation that will guard against possible future wars, we hear the cries of the extreme isolationists who cling to the old so-called doctrine of the freedom of the seas, a line of thinking that helped lead us into the World War, as any careful studying of the speeches of Woodrow Wilson and others entrusted with the power of making decisions at that time will show.

Harvard astronomers are reported to have discovered a window in the great galaxy, the Milky Way, through which can be seen the stars of another universe than ours in a vast sea of space. Anyone who has looked up to the perfectly clear sky above from a restful position in a sleeping bag at the top of the Cascade mountains, within the shadows of the Three Sisters, and pondered as to just what it was all about, can be peculiarly aware of the significance of such a statement. Maybe we know little or nothing of mathematical and astronomical law, but we know what it is to wonder at to what lies beyond this terrestrial sphere.

Violinist Coming

Jan Kubelik, noted violinist, will appear in recital in Willamette gym March 13.

Kubelik and His Violin to be at Gym

An eloquent reminder of a past age of music, which existed before the World War, is the concert to be presented in the gym March 13 by Jan Kubelik, world famed violinist.

This tour is the artist's first coast trip for more than 14 years.

The World War compelled Kubelik, an Austro-Hungarian subject, to abandon his plans for further tours of the United States.

On this tour, the 20-year-old son of Kubelik, will be presented as pianist and accompanist.

Jefferson Elected Wesleyan Prexy

The Wesleyans held election of officers at their last meeting. Those elected were: President, Oswald Jefferson; vice-president, John Finkbinder; secretary, Murlal Lane; treasurer, Howard Cramer; and social chairman, Ruth Cramer.

On Wednesday, February 12, the Wesleyans have planned a luncheon. Dr. Frank Smith, supervisor of Japanese missions on the Pacific coast, will be the speaker.

The Deputation team will go to Pratum next Sunday, February 9, where they will present a program.

Famous Lecturer To Speak Here

Willamette students will be given the opportunity of hearing one of the foremost lecturers Thursday, February 13, when Frank Smith, internationally known lecturer on foreign relations speaks in chapel.

The subject of Mr. Smith's address will be the "Relationship of Japan and American Pacific Coast Problems."

During Thursday afternoon appointments for those students interested in an interview with Mr. Smith may see Miss Woods for an engagement. He will be free for appointments between the hours of 4:00 to 5:30 in Chresto.

Students Find All that Glitters Not Gold; Faculty Member Accused

With the strain of exams over, the subsequent "let down" is noticeable concerning curricular and extra-curricular activities generally.

Students cudgel their brains until the wee small hours every night for the last week or so of the old semester—and for what? True, there is a blissful period of relaxation after the last exam, but even that is usually marred by registration plans for the next semester. And even for those rare and much hated individuals that always get things done on time, who have all the numberless cards filled out and the cussing and discussing with the supervising prof completed, not to mention the little matter of the costly visit to Mr. Savage's office, this short interlude between semesters is spoiled because of the terrific study habits gained during exam week.

6 MEMBERS ADDED TO LITTLE THEATRE COUNCIL GROUP

William McKinney, president of Little Theatre announced Tuesday evening that at the theatre group meeting that evening the Little Theatre cabinet was increased by the addition of six department chairmen.

The new members of the council were suggested by President McKinney and sanctioned by the organization. The chairmen are: Costume department, Lois Webb; stage, Marjorie Thorne; makeup, Ray Drakely; program, Jane Fisher; advertising, Richard Van Pelt, and treasurer, Melvin Holt.

From now on each meeting will feature a skit in some field of dramatics, pertaining to the group which it is presented by.

During this semester membership cards are to be used by the members.

SPEECH DEPT. PLANS DISCLOSED BY RAHE

"Debate's busy season is at hand," declared Prof. Herbert E. Rahe of Willamette's Speech Department. A recent breathing spell in forensic activities followed the excursion to San Francisco where our debaters made a fine record. An early forensic season was completed by the Keyes Oratorical Contest, won by Marnetta Jones, and the State Extempore Contest at Albany. These preliminaries are beginnings of an extensive debate season.

On Tuesday, February 11, the State Debate Series begins at Willamette. The first round of debates will take place at that time; the dates of the remaining rounds have not been announced yet. Messrs. Dwight Aden, Delmar Ramsdell, Howard Campbell and Carl Felker will represent Willamette. The question for debate is as follows: Resolved: That strikes and lockouts should be prohibited by law. Preparation for this new tournament and new question demands much time and effort from the speech department.

Also on February 14, the University of Washington Freshman debate team will compete with Willamette's contestants. As is customary, this annual debate will be non-decisional dual argument. A new procedure including direct cross-questioning on the stage will be employed. This type of debating is not common because of its difficulties; therefore, this dual debate has created an undue amount of excitement and anticipation among forensic circles.

Every member of Willamette's debate teams will have an opportunity to show his abilities at Linfield, February 20-22. For the first time at the Linfield tournament, a sweepstakes cup will be presented to a college receiving greatest number of points in all contests. Since Willamette made a very fine record last year, Prof. Rahe is very hopeful and optimistic about this year's success.

CAMPUS EUGENICS CLASS MON. 7:30

Monday evening at 7:30 Professor Peck will deliver the first of the series of five eugenics lectures in Chresto Cottage under the sponsorship of the campus Y. W. C. A.

The session has been planned to last an hour. The first part of the time will be spent with the lecture, and during the remaining minutes questions will be answered and a general discussion will be held.

These will be the first lectures of this kind ever held at Willamette and open to the student body. The Y. W. C. A. cabinet want it to be strictly understood that these meetings are for all Willamette men and women.

W. U. Notified of Scholarship

Claremont Colleges of Claremont, California, have announced that they shall offer scholarships open to Willamette students for the academic year 1936-37, according to acting president, William S. Ament.

These scholarships will be awarded on a competitive basis, and they will be applicable toward tuition for the academic year. Students receiving them may work in any of the departments of graduate study.

Applications must be received by March first. Forms for application may be obtained from the Recorder's Office, Harper Hall, Claremont, California.

In addition to offering scholarships, the administration will be of any possible assistance in securing loans or part-time employment where such help is needed.

WHOISMAN?

For this issue we've chosen that tall, dark Freshman known to basketball fans as the "beek Greek."

His huge dark eyes and broad smile have attracted many a co-ed. His basketball ability is unquestionable, and he claims his success due to his lucky dog "Ga Ga," who has been a constant companion during his basketball career.

He is a member of Alpha Psi Delta, and great things are expected from him on the maple court.

WESLEYANS SEND DEPUTATION TEAMS

Deputation teams, under the sponsorship of the Willamette Wesleyans, will appear at four nearby Methodist churches Friday, February 9, Sunday, February 16, and Sunday, February 23.

Marnetta Jones will be in charge of the team program at the Fremont Methodist church, Fremont, Oregon, February 16. A male quartet, composed of Lawrence Edwards, Bob Buxton, Eugene Hibbard, and James Pyke will assist her. Cloyd Riffe is the quartet accompanist.

Lawrence Burdette is to head another group at the Sellwood Methodist church, Portland. Burdette and his group will appear on the same Sunday as the previous group, February 16. Burdette will probably be assisted by Helen Benner, Kuulei Emoto, and Marjorie Thorne. The personnel of the group has not yet been definitely announced.

The Centenary Wilbur church, Portland, will be visited by one of these teams Sunday, February 23, and Gene Hill will conduct a program at the Pratum Methodist church, Pratum, in the evening of February 9. Further details concerning the Centenary Wilbur team will appear later.

Oswald W. Jefferson, deputation team manager for the first semester, has been chosen to act in that capacity for the rest of the year.

Coffee House Has Radio Broadcast

Last Thursday, January 30, a broadcast was given over KSLM by the Coffee House. During the program original selections were given by Marnetta Jones, Mrs. Vehrs, Louise Anderson, Florence Zweifel, Charles Cater, and Florence DuRette.

The first constitution of the organization Coffee House was passed upon and accepted at the last meeting.

At their next meeting plans will be discussed concerning new prospects.

Writers Hear Work of Fellow Scribes

The regular meeting of Coffee House was held Wednesday evening at Willamette Lodge.

Miss Louise Anderson, president, presided over a short business meeting.

During the hour many interesting bits of Willamette creative writers were read and criticized.

Dalbert Jepson, violinist, will be the soloist. Dalbert is one of the city's most promising young violinists and he has chosen to play Mendelssohn's concerto with orchestra accompaniment. He studies violin with Edward Hurliman of the Portland Symphony; and is a junior at Willamette University.

Several Willamette University musicians are playing in the orchestra this year. Among them are Avis Sherwood, Lenard Olson, Marian Stewart, Margaret Savage, Alice Chandler, Barbara Jones, Norman Janice, Bert Broer, Raymond Johnson, John Whiteaker, Frank Tyler, Flavia Downs, and William Bush.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased from the Wills Music Store. Special price student tickets may be bought from Dr. Baxter, Margaret Savage and Hortense Taylor.

Thayer Teaching New Drama Class

With the new semester Miss Genevieve Thayer has introduced a new class to those students interested in dramatics. It is called "Fundamentals of Acting" and is a three-hour course.

Nearly thirty are enrolled, and these have been divided into smaller groups, enabling more personal attention.

The course includes instruction in the regular things; at present the subject is pantomimes. The pantomimes will serve in the development of poise, control and development of the emotions and stimulation of imagination.

Specifically to train students along these lines, the course is also intended to help the individual to understand better the production of plays. It is part of a great dramatic movement which has manifested itself in the United States in the last few years. The general tendency of this movement has been to lift the American standards of drama.

Miss Thayer says, "The individuals in my new class were extremely funny the first day, being unused to this type of work, but they are showing improvement and soon will get into the spirit of it."

Wallulah Staff Increased by Ed.

Wallulah Editor Speck and Manager Swisher, have decided on several new members of their staff.

To date the following are working on the book: Katherine Headrick and Guy Heimsoth, assistant editors; Lloyd Reihl and David Clark are managerial aids.

Others are: George McLeod, Dave Johnson, Margaret Magee, Parnell Cupper, Lorene Thompson, Bronk Williams, Julia Johnson, Pauline Winslow, Margaret Nunn and Marlon Averill.

New Semester Brings Spring Attractions in Social and Athletic Events

In the struggle to obtain money enough to register, few Willamette students have found time to sit down and meditate upon coming events in the second semester. Ah, but those who have started the stark realities in their naked faces have found the greatest joy from contemplations. In fact, thoughts like these are exceedingly comforting and delightful. However, this is all beside the point of what they could be.

To the feminine sex, spring will take on a new atmosphere. Not only has spring sprung but leap year has leaped. With the twittering of the birds in the wind-swept trees, young co-eds a-hunting go for men. What pleasant thoughts! What expectations! The year of greater freedom is here with its lovely spring and flowers. All restrictions are thrown to the winds; the game goes on. For the boys second semester (Continued on page 3)

BOOKS

In "Mary Peters," Mary Ellen Chase has written a most interesting study of an unusual girl, sketched against a fascinating background of foreign ports and of the narrower but distinctive life of a Maine village. It is divided into four parts, entitled respectively The Sea, The Village, The Land, and The Sea. Mary as a child was on a sailing ship, visiting strange and colorful ports, gathering into her receptive mind pictures which remained with her and influenced her always. When later she and her mother settled down to live in a small Maine village, she was still conscious of the broader horizons her experiences had given her. The life of the village, which has, without too much "local color," still a quietly distinctive flavor, is vividly presented. Besides Mary, the characters of the indomitable Sarah Peters her mother, of the petty Ellen, and of the likable and unstable Jim Pendleton are especially well-drawn. In Mary's childhood the sights she saw, which the reader envies her, and the books she read, which the reader recognizes, are shown in their influence upon her. In later years, which come up to the present time, although externally her life might seem to be a confining one, she never loses her broad viewpoint, and manages unaccountably to be deeply happy. Mary's mother, Sarah Peters, said after a very

Would Freshman Glee be spoiled for Willamette students if it were broadcast? Would the presence of a mike ruin the atmosphere that Glee has retained the last quarter century?

Would it mean that Glee would be used as an advertising agency; or would it be regarded as a feature wholly of musical, and historical value to Willamette people?

Without any question Willamette Alums would thrill to hear even the tramp of feet to the platform, but would the tramping be uneffected by such an action?

The Northwest is aware of the unique feature of Glee at Willamette and whether or not they would respond favorably to the long pause between numbers is a question.

The period of time for the hookup would be one hour. Would 60 minutes be long enough to broadcast a favorable impression of Willamette's age old tradition, with one of the Northwest's best announcers?

(Student comment addressed to the Collegian would be appreciated.)

The University of Texas, in an effort to bring the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi to its campus, sent the president of the local chapter at Purdue university a letter reading something like this: "Texas occupies all the continent of North America, except a small part set aside for the U. S., Canada, and Mexico. If all the hogs in Texas were one hog, he could dig the Panama canal in three roots and one grunt."

Last Sunday night Eddie Cantor, banjo-eyed screen and radio comedian, announced on his broadcast that he was sponsoring an essay contest against war. Every man, woman or child in the United States is eligible to enter, and the prize is the creation of a fund setting aside $5,000 to pay for four years in any university chosen by the winner. The subject of the contest is "How Can America Stay Out of War?"

Miss Lillian Graham, Editor, Willamette Collegian.

Dear Miss Graham: Another student with whom I am intimately acquainted has decided to leave law school because it is not standard, and because he cannot have his credits transferred to a school of good standing.

When is this situation going to be remedied? It is a well-known fact that students in law who get C's prefer to drop at the end of the first semester instead of taking the chance of being asked to leave at the end of the second. If they leave under such circumstances, they cannot return, they cannot transfer their credits, and therefore they have in fact accomplished nothing.

When is something definite going to be done? We have heard many promises, and some of us, who might take law here should the school be standardized, are anxious to know. Very truly yours, that all the professors encourage reading the papers. And, furthermore, who can tell when W. C. Jones will question his class concerning the economic status of "Spinachovna" in the course of one of his objective tests. But what good does all this do between semesters?

DAVID N. JOHNSON.

(Mr. Johnson's letter will be answered in next week's Collegian.)

It might be mentioned at this point that the head of the department of economics and business administration at Willamette is being charged with third degree hypocrisy by a certain group of campus men and women who observed him applauding the chapel speaker, the ex-governor of Colorado, last Wednesday.

Getting back to the subject at hand, after the hectic post-semester week-end—is there peace for the student. There is not. Picture yourself in his shoes. After working all semester for the goal of one week-end during which study is useless even if there was any desire for it, the week-end turns out a flop—and here is the old grind again. And to complicate matters the schedule is usually in a tangle, with the time made most irksome as the result of unpleasant professional interviews.

But then the old silver lining usually begins to show about Thursday—provided one has not yet found out the worst on final exam-grades.

Blue Key to Sell Candy at Tourney

Galen Dean, president of the Blue Key, has received word that that organization has the concession on the programs for the State Basketball Tournament, and also on the candy sales for this event. This year all proceeds will go into the scholarship fund which this organization is raising. This fund will make it possible for some deserving student who would otherwise be unable to attend school next year to continue with his education.

Leap Month To Be Busy One For Students

FEBRUARY, the leap year month, promises to be a most interesting one for everyone on the campus. The calendar is already full, which will keep the men and co-eds going to and from basketball games, parties, and dances. This coming week-end Willamette will be hosts to C. P. S., who will come to Salem for two games, which promise to be very exciting.

The Delta Teth Gime! girls will entertain with a gay party following the game. February 14th, a week from Friday, will be church night for all Willamette students.

The next morning one will see Lausanne Hall girls cleaning windows, and their rooms ready for open house that evening, which is always an annual event. On Sunday the 16th, Sigma Tau's will entertain with their Sweetheart Dinner, as will the Kappas.

Both the sororities and fraternities will initiate their pledges this month.

The sad and mournful countenances of the few Lausanne girls, deserted by the usual post-exam homeward exodus, brightened once again at the gay party which was given for Miss Agnes Corthell.

At 11 o'clock, promptly, the doors were flung open, revealing to the eager guests the large, stately kitchen. During the evening various entertaining diversions were enjoyed.

Whoopie (and candy) were made to the tune of popping... (popcorn). Excitement was added when the popcorn burned and the fudge froze solid.

Among those present were Dean Olive M. Dahl, who distinguished herself by fletching candy with one finger, Miss Ina Bennett, attired in a gorgeous creation of red with lace insets, Miss Mildred Conlon, whose flannel frocks featured a clever motif of matching buttons.

The honor guest, Miss Corthell, not at all daunted by the fact that she was now possessor of the Corthell millions, was attired in a luscious "lei" of chocolates, presented by our distinguished visitor from Hawaii, Miss Kiuilei Emoto.

Everything in the establishment having been consumed, the party broke up at a late hour.

Oh Lord! We pause for the nonce To render up thanks, For 'scaping this once The thinning of the ranks.

But Lord! It was a close thing, A very narrow shave, That psych test's sting I'll carry to my grave.

How I hate That awful pest, Who ever doth prate Of an "A" in the test.

Delmer: "While you were at your girl's house did it ever dawn on you...?" Guy: "Oh no, I never stayed that late!"

I took my girl For a stroll in the Park. She said Her hands were cold So I held them for her. Pretty soon She said she was Cold all over. I Gave her my Overcoat. Now she Won't speak to Me. I wonder Why?

She: "What, he insulted you by offering you a drink? What did you do?" He: "I swallowed the insult."

"Cheer up, old man, drown your sorrow." "Fraid to: they'd get me for murder."

What's this we hear about Prof. Jones not having his lesson the other day in his law class. Feet of clay!

"Were you presented in court while in England?" "Yes, and had to pay a five dollar fine."

"Just think, old top, in Japan you can get a wife for 50 cents." "Well," drawled the cynic, "a good wife's worth it."

Post-Exam Party At Kappa House

As a recuperation from exams the Kappas gave an informal party Friday evening. Dancing was enjoyed as well as games. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Those present were the Misses Blanche Roddy, Marion Wakefield, Frances Ella, Phyllis Phythian, Julia Philp, Ina Bennett, Helen Hammond, Dorothy Ellinger, Helen Carlson, Helen Ragdus, Alice Speck and Luella Cora.

The hosts were Jimmie Barnett, Bob Anderson, Ken Peterson, Don Marcy, Verdel Ragsdell, Bill Clemes, Bill Fisher, Frank Pemberton, Don Burch, Ellsworth Marley, Galen Dean, Wayne Doughton and Lawrence Nunnenkamp.

RAMBLING SHOPPER By UNCLE WILLIE

Hi-de-ho, all ye flunks and flunkies! Now that the faculty have celebrated their semi-annual "open season" on students, it behooves Uncle to thank his pal Bill Thome for that homecoming slogan, to-wit, "Buffalo Idaho." Uncle had to use part of it last week.

A charming young miss, in reply to Uncle's question concerning grades, replied that her's weren't anything to write home about, but at least they were better than her sister's, because her sister's "outside interest" took so much of the sister's time. Yowser, pals, never let your studies interfere with your "outside interests." That's how Emil Schaefer can make such delicious peanut clusters and sell them for only 19c a pound. His "outside interest" was so sweet that his candy had to be good to satisfy her.

Having received compliments and other verdicts on his grammar lesson last week, Uncle feels the urge coming again, so here goes. For our example this week, Roy Farris suggested "spit," but that's such a nasty word, especially if you're tongue-tied. However, we can color it up a bit by taking the plural "spits." Now all of you can see how quickly the word has become the name of a species of dog. Pala, if she is making you lead a dog's life, present her with a Breithaupt corsage, and will she love ya!

Now the past tense of our word is "spats." Uncle had to ask one of his friends what "spats" meant, and he said that "spats" were something like horse-collars more apt to be found on Jack-asses. But, Uncle has discovered that they are nothing more than substitutes for socks. However, there are no substitutes for those lovely zig-zag scarfs Montgomery Ward are offering this week, and even though your neck isn't zig-zaggy, you'll find one to fit it.

And now we come to our future tense, and Uncle's etymological study (we'll both look that up

It has been in this manner that mankind has risen from barbarianism to civilization which we have? Professor Shapely tells us that the cockroach has survived 200,000,000 years of cosmic change and storm and keeps right on his efficient way. Mankind, he warns, must use what knowledge he has or perish.

Within the next few weeks initiation will take place in several college living halls. Woo to the wee Rook! Long may he stand! Of course, all this will be grandly climaxed with the Inter-Sorority Formal at Castilian Hall, stamping ground of many a white-sided Indian. Swing and swirling is the reward for member and pledge alike.

After the receipt of grades, we can always look forward to a general spurt of intellectual activity. Everyone is saying that a tragedy most not happen again and so studying becomes prevalent on the campus. This trend is even evident now. Don't worry. It won't last long. C. P. S. GAMES IN OFFING FOR BEARCAT FIVE

Results Might Decide Who Wins the Race for Conference Honors

VISITORS HAVE GOOD REP

Erickson Out With Injury; Manning Shifted to Guard Post

A crucial week-end is just ahead for the Willamette University Bearcats as they play host to the College of Puget Sound in a two game series on Friday and Saturday nights.

A pair of victories would give the Bearcats the right to put on rose colored glasses to face the rest of their conference games, since the C. P. S. squad has already trounced Pacific twice in no uncertain manner.

Both of the teams will start Friday night with clean records, the Bearcats having won their only previous conference tilt from Albany 42 to 20 Monday evening. Advance odds favor the Washington five however, for unless the Bearcats can fill the hole left by the loss of George Erickson, and produce a combination who can display the ability they flashed against Union Oil or SONS, they are liable to end up on the short end of the score.

CPS has an impressive pre-conference record, having upset the powerful Gonzaga Bulldogs, in addition to giving Idaho an awful scare. They have a tight, fast setting defense that usually bogs down their opponents scoring plays, and has worked efficiently even on very large floors.

Their captain, Otto Smith, is largely responsible for the effectiveness of their defensive power in addition to being a sharpshooter from mid-court. Vaughn Stoffel, the smallest man on the team is the other ace who gives opponents dizzy spells. He is the fastest man on the team, and scored 60 points against Coast Conference teams this season in five contests.

Erling Tollefson, forward, and Ralph Sandvigen, towering 6 foot 6 inch center are the other veterans who will be in the starting lineup against the Bearcats.

Keene announced yesterday that the Willamette starting list would include Weaver and Versteeg at guards, Bill Anton, the Battling Greek, at center, Jerry Gastineau at one forward, and either Mullen, Brandon, or Nunnenkamp at the other forward post.

In the event that Anton's ankle bothers him before the game ends, either Gastineau or Mullen will be shifted to center. Kenny Manning, a veteran at forward has been shifted to guard, due to the scarcity created by Erickson's ankle injury.

Friday night the Frosh will tangle with Camas high in the preliminary at 7 o'clock, and on Saturday night the Salem high school quint will tangle with the formidable Astoria Fishermen.

Speech Dept. Plans

(Continued from page 1) to the Peace Oratorical Contest will be Constance Smart. She will present her oration at the University of Portland on February 14. Topic of Miss Smart's selection has not been disclosed, but the general theme will be International Peace. This contest rewards the winners more than any other tournament. First prize receives $50; second place $30; third place, $20. Therefore, Miss Smart, well-known debater and recent contestant in Albany's women's extempore tournament, is encouraged by pecuniary rewards.

Already Prof. Rahe is working on plans for the Oregon High School Extempore Speaking and Interpretation Contest. This tournament was originated last year for the benefit of the high schools of Oregon. Willamette will be hosts to representatives of Oregon's secondary schools on April 10 and 11. Preparations are going on as fast as possible in order to produce a more efficient and satisfactory tournament.

LEAP YEAR REMINDER
A little flattery now and then is cherished by the best of men.

"On the Bearcat Front" ROY FERRIS

"SPEC" WAS WORRIED
Poor Spec! Was he worried or was he worried? Our fine coach was just worrying his head off a few days ago and now everything looks rosy (at least that's the way I look at it). About two weeks ago after more or less after assuring the Bearcat mentor of his last defeat, he stammered and said: "Ah! we'll be out of this slump soon."

You see folks, what put Spec "on the spot" was that early season stand against Drake, Oregon and Oregon State. He had us all talking to ourselves and if anyone would have shown us something that resembled the Northwest basketball crown we would have assured them that it was Willamette's.

And then came that awful after holiday "let down." However, we might blame it onto injuries but that's just kidding ourselves. We'll admit that those injuries didn't help us any but it was that "let down" that any club will suffer and let's be thankful it happened when it did and not as the Bearcats swing into their heavy conference schedule.

Now, Spec has the boys in the right frame of mind and all the exams and etc. are by-gones. He has them full of enthusiasm and working hard in preparing for the Logger invasion this week end. All the more reason why everyone should go out to (Oravec flat), the first floor of the gym, and see the revived Bearcats, who brought down the Octane percentage on '76 and pulled down the Pirate flag with a sizeable score, do their stuff against College of Puget Sound. It's a big tough week end double-header on Friday and Saturday nights and the local quintet will need everyone's support. Let's go!

NUMBER "11"

Before the student body this Friday a motion will probably be made to the effect that Johnnie Oravec's sweater should be preserved for future reference to a great character and a great football player. I don't think any campaigning is necessary for this measure as all one has to do is to think of the things the "Scouter" done on the gridiron and what he has accomplished for this school. Your vote will be OK to all concerned.

GET OUT THE "SPIKES"

Just a word to trackmen. Lestle Sparks is thinking seriously about sending out the training call in the very near future. This means that you had better get down the old spikes and start thinking about getting in shape. Sparks says he faces one of the toughest schedules in years and has a long program of preliminary training worked out before he lets the boys sprint on the oval around Sweetland field.

Y Swim Classes Show Advances

Several new records, and a marked general improvement in every respect have been the results of the Y swimming course offered to Willamette men and women, according to swimming instructor Burton C. Lemon.

Don Hogg took a couple of deep breaths, and the school record as he swam 210 feet under water. Whitaker formerly claimed the championship with a 180 foot mark.

Classes will be continued this semester, being held at the same time they were last semester, Tuesday and Thursday morning during the first three periods. An extra class is held on Saturday mornings at 8 o'clock. Others desiring to take the work which will include a course in life-saving methods may see Bill Lemon to arrange a time.

Athletic Awards At Chapel Friday

Awards day has been set for Friday's chapel with the members of a championship gridiron team receiving their reward.

Coach Roy S. Keene will present football certificates to the following: John Oravec, Manfred Olson, Carl Rhoda, George Erickson, Charles Versteeg, Bill McAdam, Darrell Newhouse, Bob Vagt, Harold Hoyt, Bronk Williams, Bill Stone, Don Brandon, Dick Weisgerber, Elliott Bucken, George Billings, George Abbott, Karl Kahle, Vernon Urell, Norman Hoganson, Neil Schaffer, Walter Weaver and Jim Hoge.

Three sweaters will be awarded. Al Heuman in baseball and Elliott Bucken, and Toto Yada, football.

After a month's slump whose only bright spot was a surprise victory over the powerful Union Oil five, the Bearcat hoop machine finally started percolating Monday evening as they rolled over Albany college 42 to 20 to win their first venture into conference ball.

After a first half that dragged the Bearcat hoopers found their range, and started laying in a barrage of shots that shoved them far into the lead. Versteeg again led the scoring as he plowed through the Albany defense for 11 points.

The only thing to mar the game for Willamette was the leg injury suffered by Captain George Erickson. It is the same ankle he sprained in football, and may take some time to heal sufficiently for play.

Inter Fraternity Party March 14

The Inter-fraternity Council held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening. Plans for an inter-fraternity dance to be held on March fourteenth were discussed.

The Inter-fraternity Council was organized approximately ten years ago, in an effort to bring about more friendly relations between the different fraternities and to act as a balance wheel or clearing house for the activities of the fraternities which are carried on in a collective way. Since the time of its organization, the different houses have been on much friendlier terms and it has done away with ill feelings at the time of pledging, and initiations. Dr. Gatzke was on the board which organized the Inter-fraternity Council, and since its organization has been president of that group. The council is composed of the president, vice-president, and manager of each house. As each house has three votes in all matters, substitutes for any of these officers may be made by the house having a vacancy. Any matters acted upon by the committee must be passed by the individual houses before the action may be considered final.

Lindstrom Is New Hoop Team Mgr.

Junior Lindstrom, sophomore and member of last year's freshman first string, was appointed basketball manager for the remainder of the season. The appointment was made at a meeting of the A. S. W. U. executive committee last Monday.

The managerial position was left vacant by the recent resignation of Kenneth Beauchamp who was selected as manager at the first of the season.

Norris Joyce, sophomore from Salem, was chosen as Lindstrom's assistant.

S.O.N.S. TOPPLED IN LAST WARMUP GAME

After humbling the dangerous Union Oil team of Portland in a 33 to 29 thriller, the Bearcats again slumped into their post-examination lethargy to take one on the chin last Friday night from SONS by a 37 to 26 score.

On the following night, however, they found themselves again, coming out of their doldrums to display some fast, aggressive ability that earned them a 43 to 31 victory from the Normal school combination.

They started out by piling up an insurmountable lead of 11 to 0 in the first few minutes of the game, and the Teachers never did recover from the shock.

The Saturday night contest marked the end to their pre-season campaign, with all following contests made up of all-important league series with Albany, Whitman, C. P. S., and Pacific.

FROSH GLEE OF 1936 WILL BE BROADCAST

Freshman Glee of 1936 will be released over a radio broadcast, was the decision of the executive committee after a heated discussion at their meeting last Monday.

Radio station KOIN, of Portland, has been suggested for the broadcasting rights, but no definite decision has been reached.

An hour is the maximum of broadcast time available, and some committee members questioned whether or not this short time was ample for the entire broadcast.

Countless letters have been received from Willamette Alumni and friends, during recent weeks, requesting the broadcast of this traditional ceremony.

Members present at Monday's meeting report Dr. Baxter in favor of the broadcast.

Various arguments were advanced against the step, including whether or not the radio public would become bored by the wait between class presentations and whether or not the presence of a microphone and announcer would change the atmosphere of Frosh Glee of previous years.

The decision to give the radio a trial this year was reached when proponents of the plan compromised by agreeing to provide for the microphone to be out of sight and also that no public address system was to be used.

Art Kirkam will be the announcer according to a late report.

Bear Kittens Trim Theatre Quintet

The highly successful Bearkitten five continued its conquests in the City Y major league last night when it pulled a 20 to 28 decision over the strong Grand theatre aggregation.

Sparked by Jack Alton who accounted for 11 points and earned high scoring honors, the Frosh got off to an early lead and were never quite headed. This is the second time the Kitten have triumphed over the Theatre quintet.

Friday night at 7 o'clock the Kittens will meet Camas high of Washington and then again on Saturday morning at 10:30 they match skill with the same outfit. To complete their barrel full of activity, they take on Airline high on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Lineups for last night's game:

Scales 5 F 4 Mosier
Bone 6 F 11 Alton
Gemmill 3 C 2 Pierce
Steelhammer 3 G 5 Specht

FINAL SQUAD CUT MADE BY KEENE

The final cut of the season was announced today by Coach Spec Keene as he trimmed his varsity squad to 12 men.

Erickson, Versteeg, Brandon, Nunnenkamp, Anton, Gastineau, Weaver, Mullen, Manning, Mosher, Beard and Kelly were the even dozen men who survived the final axe.

These men will compose the squad for the rest of the season, and from them the players to make the trips to Whitman, Pacific and Albany will be selected.

This action eliminated the so-called Reserve team that has been playing pregame games during the early part of the season, with some of them graduating to the first string, and other being weeded out for the conference race.

BEARCATS TROUNCE UNION OIL SQUAD

One of the big surprises of the season, and the high point in achievement for the Willamette Bearcats came as the result of their 33 to 29 upset victory from the powerful Union Oil team of Portland.

After a first quarter that saw the Oilers pile up a seemingly safe lead of 18 to 6, the Bearcat reserves came straight from their Siberian Cream preliminary victory to cut the margin to 18-14 at the half time.

A slow start in the second half gave the Union Oil five a larger lead as "Spook" Robertson, former U. of Oregon terror, swished in four points. After that however, the Willamette reserves turned invincible, rolling in points before the startled eyes of the Portland outfit.

Versteeg was the powerhouse in the scoring, winning high point honors in both games, the preliminary with 8 points, and the varsity game with 14.

WHITMAN UPSETS GONZAGA BULLDOGS

Whitman college stepped into fast company during the past two evenings, and broke even with Gonzaga's Bulldogs, winning the first contest by a 52 to 41 landslide. Last night the Bulldogs reversed the decision, taking the Missionaries 57 to 45.

This demonstration bodes ill to the hopes of other Northwest squads, since the Missionaries have developed an efficient scoring machine centered around Clark and Raiser that will probably give opponents plenty of headaches.

INJURIES HAUNT BEARCAT CAGEMEN

Bad luck seems to be haunting the Willamette basketball forces. Just as the Battling Greek center, Bill Anton, was sufficiently recovered from a sprained ankle, George Erickson, key man for the Bearcat defense, and the most aggressive palyer on the squad, re-sprained his ankle, and will be out of the lineup for a week or more.

This injury, plus the fact that Ragsdale, another prospective regular, is also hobbling around on crutches has Spec Keene in a none too optimistic mood. Yesterday he predicted the Northwest Conference race would probably center around Whitman and C. P. S., with Linfield as another possibility to finish in the money.

The Bearcats are still far from out of the running, however, since they have no conference defeats chalked up against them as yet, and one victory over Albany. They will have ample opportunity to show their ability against conference competition this week-end when they will entertain the powerful league leading C. P. S. quintet in a pair of games on Friday and Saturday nights.

This series will be followed by two games each with Whitman and Pacific, and a return game with the team they defeated Monday night, Albany college.

Soph Gals Choose, Say 'Tacks' is Name

The Sophomore Girls' club which has been organizing this year, at their last meeting decided upon the name "Tacks," for their unique service organization.

The primary idea of the group is service, and at present the girls are planning to aid Miss Enness with her spring recital, and to serve at school banquets.

The organization is composed of sophomore girls, who will be members for their sophomore year only. The group meets once a month.

Katherine Hedrick is in charge of choosing a symbol for the organization.

The officers are: Dolley Dingle, president; Irma Oehler, vice-president; and Barbara Crookham, secretary.
