

Dr. Jones Will Speak Friday To Students

Noted World Traveller to Address Large Group At Armory

His Philosophy of Life Gained as Missionary To Be Main Topic

Dr. E. Stanley Jones, missionary to India, and one of the most popular lecturers today, will speak of his philosophy of life based on his experiences in the missionary field at the armory Friday evening at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Jones is the author of seven books, the last two of these are: "Christ's Alternative to Communism" and "Victorious Living." In the opinion of Dr. Bruce Baxter, hearing Dr. Jones speak is one of the greatest experiences that can come during college life. "No citizen is more in demand before university groups, especially in the Orient, than E. Stanley Jones," avers Dr. Baxter. "He has such a selfless point of view and living that those hearing him will have their philosophy of life changed by the experience of hearing him."

Dr. Jones was once elected as a Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church. He returned to the conference the next morning and informed the men gathered there that he could not accept the appointment because he had to go back to India to complete his missionary work.

Band Goes in For Drill Formation

The Willamette band has become, for the first time, a first class drill organization, as was displayed, after a few short practice sessions under the direction of Ralph Nohlgren, between halves of the C. P. S. game.

All of the students who attended the C. P. S. game last Friday know of the fine performance of the band. They had worked out a most effective drill in conjunction with the American Legion Pipe and Drum Corps of Salem. They paraded during the fireworks display and finished with a "W" formation. Even though they had practiced only twice, the drill was carried off without an error.

There are now 28 members in the band and the leader states that there is room for several more. With additional members the drill could be accomplished without the necessity of consolidating with the Drum Corps. The band hopes to be able to buy uniforms soon, but no definite plans have been made.

On Friday evening, December 18, the band will present a concert at Waller Hall. The program is now being planned with a very interesting selection of numbers and two soloists. More complete details will be announced later.

Scribe Hunts for News; Finds That Food Is Main Topic of Discussion

I know, my dear children, I should start my message today with some zippy saying as does our Uncle Willie; but I have not the heart to do it. In fact I shall make the candid announcement that I have just made the most momentous discovery of the age, tell you about it, and let it go at that.

Doubtless tomorrow morn will find my name emblazoned on Portland editorial pages with the rest of Willamette's deep thinkers.

So in order to facilitate this publicity I shall condescend to give my name. I am none other than your old friend Snoopy, the Snoopocrat and I'm here to tell you anything I darn please.

Monday last took me down into the lower recesses of a building (I know now that it may not be one) known as Waller Hall. I

Overtime Work For Music Heads

Music School Activity Reaches New High As Enrollment Jumps

At the six weeks mark for this year, the first in which the bachelor of music degree has been offered at the Willamette school of music, music school enrollment was found to have increased to the extent that instruction department heads must teach full time with additional class hours set for evenings and Saturdays.

General increase in enrollment for the university is responsible for a portion of the music school enrollment increase but a major part of the new students were attracted here by the degree.

Curriculum enlargement required for the new degree places the Willamette music school on a par with professional schools according to local music heads.

Negotiations for entrance to the National Association of Music are under way under the direction of Prof. Cameron Marshall, dean of the music school. Full legal membership in the association requires two years after the first application.

Among those attracted here by the new degree is W. R. Hallman, head of the music department and teaching of voice of the Portland Bible Institute. He will be heard in recital later in the year.

Sophs Decide On Type of Sweater

At a sophomore class meeting immediately after chapel, Tuesday, November 3, the class decided to have grey class sweaters with blue numerals, carrying out the blue colors.

After much discussion on the different types of sweaters and the different makes, the Will White sweater was chosen as superior, and the class decided to buy the sweaters from the Man's shop, exclusive handlers of Will White sweaters in Salem, and a Collegian advertiser.

The sweater committee was instructed to make all the arrangements with the shop for the ordering of the sweaters. Wilmer Willis, chairman of the sophomore class carnival booth reported a loss of $1.82 was incurred in the operation of the booth.

East India Topic Of Discussion at Internat'l Club

Muriel and Barbara Jones were hostesses for the East India dinner of the International Club on Wednesday evening at their home. Members were asked to remove their shoes before entering the house and the meal was eaten with the fingers while sitting on the floor, in true Indian fashion. Following a short business meeting at which James Pyke presided, Mr. Jones showed a number of slides which he had photographed in India. He also showed many curios which had come from India. Each of the 23 members were given a peacock feather as a favor. The next meeting of the group will be November 11.

Museum Open To Students; Clark Curator

Indian Relics, History of Salem Items of Un-usual Interest

The Willamette University Museum located on the second floor of the gymnasium was officially opened last week for the ensuing school year.

Hours during which students are welcome to visit the Museum according to a schedule arranged by Professor Herman C. Clark, curator, are the following: Every afternoon from 1-5 except Friday and the morning hours from 9:30-11:20 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

Among the articles of special interest on display in the Indian collection is a bow which was once the cherished possession of "Sitting Bull."

Eyeglasses made by a blacksmith in the Oregon Missions at Portland are found among the treasures handed down from early pioneer days. In the same department is a piano—the first or second to reach the Pacific coast from the east.

An important item in local history is a photograph affording a bird's-eye-view of the city of Salem in the year 1876.

Willamette Who's Who Choices Made

Willamette's contribution to the "Intercollegiate Who's Who," which is collected and compiled annually at the University of Alabama, was turned in to proper officials early this week.

One percent of the student body in every school of the United States is eligible for membership. Last year only twelve institutions of higher learning in the entire nation failed to turn in a report. This year University of Alabama heads hopes to make it unanimous.

Present leadership and influence on the campus and potentialities for future value to humanity comprise the general basis for selection.

Those selected to represent Willamette in this year's edition are Lillian Graham, Randall Kester, Jim Pyke, George McLeod, Ross Gladden, Lawrence Morley, and Dwight Aden, who was also in the list last year.

Besides Aden the last year's list included Bronk Williams, Martha Jane Hottel, George Self, Julia Johnson, and Helen Benner.

Little Theater Selects Members

Selecting candidates according to a previously announced code of rules the Little Theater Guild membership committee recently placed on the bulletin board a list of new members eligible to attend the next regular meeting of the organization, scheduled for Monday, November 9, at 7:30 p. m.

Those selected include: A. J. Kempenaar, David Stahl, Ed. Mineman, Wilmer Willis, Martha Jane Hottel, Arnis Jones, Lulu Benson, Beatrice Gillette, Lyle Bogardus, Grace Jackson, Phyllis Phyerlan, Margaret Gillette, Hal Cattle, Irma Oelker, Helen Peterson, Sophia Hughes, Louis Henschberger, Lanelle Chaplin, Marjorie Craney, Margaret Mackenzie.

Those not present at the meeting will be dropped from membership list, according to the announcement.

Art Organization Holds First Social

The Craney home was the scene of a Paint Spots pollock dinner Tuesday evening at which it was decided to sponsor a chapel program with one of Portland's leading cartoonists as the speaker. This is to be done in connection with the National Art Week of November 8 to 14. An art exhibit is also planned, to be held in Chresto Cottage. This is to be financed by the money which

Blue Key Plans For Scholarship

Annual Scholarship to Be Given for First Time This Year

Two Upperclassmen Will Receive Aid at Start of Second Semester

Centering about the awarding and continuance of the Blue Key scholarships, to be offered on this campus for the first time next semester, the year's activity was mapped out at the first regular luncheon meeting of the group last Wednesday noon at the Greenwood Cafe.

A drive for funds for the scholarships was begun last year under the direction of Galen Dean, last year's president. A tentative plan was made for the awarding of the scholarships which called for actual beginning of the plan the second semester of this year.

At the Wednesday's meeting the group adopted a series of more detailed arrangements. Chief among these was the provision calling for a preliminary list of men eligible for the scholarships to be submitted by Dean F. M. Erickson and Dean Daniel Schulte for consideration of the Blue Key membership.

Selections made by the deans will be in accordance with a draft of code requirements drawn up by a committee appointed by Dwight Aden, president. In general selection will be made according to the actual need of the student and his value on the campus.

Two scholarships of $25 each will be offered to two upper classmen at the beginning of next semester according to the present arrangement.

Continuance of this fund depends upon the ability of the group to earn enough each year to pay for them. Included in the tentative activity schedule for the year, for the combined purpose of campus service and earning money for the scholarship fund will be the handling of tournament programs and the annual spring musical.

President Aden appointed Warren Peters, Collegian manager, to investigate the program situation and details for the musical were deferred until a later meeting.

Arrangements for the participation of Blue Key members in the entertainment of high school debaters, to be on the campus this year for an all-state tournament, were discussed.

The treasurer's report on the father and sons' banquet showed a slight profit.

Two places in the membership, left vacant when two of last year's initiates failed to return to school, will be filled when action is taken on a forthcoming list of recommendations from the offices of the deans.

For the remainder of the year the group will gather regularly for luncheon meetings every two weeks.

Open House at Chresto Is To Begin Schedule

Saturday night Chresto Open House programs a regular feature of last year's social calendar, will begin again when students gather next Saturday evening at 7:30 at Chresto cottage.

These "drop-in" affairs were started here partially as the result of influence from offices of the deans. They are for the purpose of providing a center at which students, otherwise unoccupied for the evening, may congregate.

A variety of games and entertainment will be in progress throughout the evening. Those who do not wish to play games will be welcome for conversation upon anything from politics to how to raise a child.

Refreshments are scheduled for one of the last items of the program.

Treble Clef Club

Organized on the basis of a 50 voice membership, the Treble Clef club recently began its year-by-year practice schedule.

Rehearsals are scheduled weekly Tuesday afternoons at 4 p. m. for an hour and a half. A series of concerts are planned for later in the year.

Contestants to State Contests To Be Selected

Tournament Divided Into Four Sections: Six Go to California

With the selection of contestants for approaching State contests as one of the objectives, the Willamette Speech Department is holding a tournament within its own squad. The tournament has four divisions: Extemporaneous-speaking or men, extemporaneous-speaking for women, after-dinner speaking for men and women, and four rounds of debate for men and women.

From the extemporaneous-speaking contest for men will be chosen a student to compete in the State After-dinner Speaking Contest to be held at Oregon State College during the week of December 11.

Students will be chosen from the first three divisions of the tournament to represent Willamette in the State Extemporaneous Speaking Contest at Pacific College during the third week in January.

The debate tournament will be used as a guide for selecting six students who will represent the University at Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast Forensic Meet scheduled for November 23-25. The debate rounds, which all interested students may attend, began Wednesday, November 4. They will continue Thursday at 3:45 and Friday evening at 7:30, in Eaton Hall. Marjorie Thorne is Woman's Debate manager, William Clemes, Men's Debate manager, and Lawrence Morley is general manager.

Last year Laurence Morley and Randall Koster won second place in the Men's Division of Debating at the Pacific Coast meet in California. They will compete in the same contest this year.

Mr. Rahe has announced that the Keyes Oratorical contest preliminaries will be held on Nov. 9 at 8:15. All students planning to participate should report to him.

Hiebert Speaks To Wesleyans Monday

Willamette Wesleyans met Monday noon at Kimball Hall with John Hiebert, recently of India, as their speaker. He gave an illuminating address on the casts of India and their leadership at the present time. He feels that Ghandi has not done as much as possible for the lower groups and that the new leader, Dr. Ambedkar (Ph.D. from Columbia University) himself an untouchable, is leading them to greater freedom. Bill Clemes, a member of the group who has also resided in India for some time differs with Mr. Hiebert's opinion in some ways and has agreed to give his views at the meeting next Monday. He is also going to explain somewhat about the political situation between India and Britain. The music for this meeting was furnished by Ariss Jones.

Songmen View Sperry Chorus Radio Contest

Application by the Willamette Songmen for entrance in Sperry Male Chorus Parade competition was announced at a recent rehearsal by Prof. Marshall, director.

The possibility that the Songmen, if accepted, would be forced to compete at an early date would probably eliminate any possibility of their entrance, Marshall said. Although the group is in their fourth week of regular practice, he does not believe they are ready for early competition.

Competition among the male choruses singing for the Sperry hour is a comparatively recent development. Last year the Songmen appeared on a similar program conducted by the Sperry Company but the contest had not been announced at that time.

This year's organization, composed, for the most part by singers from last year, believe that they will stand a good chance in the Sperry competition if the application was not submitted too late for acceptance.

Large Attendance At Alum Banquet

New Faculty Members Are Introduced By Dr. Bruce Baxter

The annual Homecoming banquet, which was held October 31, at 5:30 p. m. in the Fraternal Temple, was attended by a hundred alumni. Hark McGilvra, '25, president of the association, presided.

Speakers called upon were Paul Sturgis, university press agent; C. M. Imman, '05, professor in the law school; Dr. Bruce Baxter, and Prof. W. C. Jones.

Dr. Baxter introduced the two new faculty members and their wives, Dr. and Mrs. White and Dr. and Mrs. Luther. Dr. Waldo Zeller, '23 and '25, new Salem resident and former football star, and Kenneth Manning, '35, who will be farmed by the Yankees next spring for baseball training, were introduced by Mr. McGilvra.

Group singing of Willamette songs was led by Anna Jo Fleming, '35, supervisor of music in the Marshfield schools, and by Mary Allen Miller, '31, of Woodburn. Both are former song queens. Prof. Leslie J. Sparks, '19, showed motion pictures of "Campus Capers," or "Kangaroo Court," freshman initiation.

Mrs. Ida M. Babcock, '88, Salem, was the earliest graduate present. Her graduation preceded by more than a quarter century that of our own Dr. James T. Matthews, also among those present, who was with the class of '94.

Members of the association not living in Salem, who attended the banquet were:

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Hollingworth, both '13, Dr. ('14) and Mrs. Neal Zimmerman, Jim Nutter, ex-W. U., Theo Bennett Martin, '11, Mr. and Mrs. Refn Jackson, '21 and '22, Mr. ('23), and Mrs. Ronald Hewitt, Margaret Ghorumley, '31, Margaret Wiencko, ex-W. U., Luman Ney, '35, all of Portland; Margaret Lange, ex-W. U., of Bandon; Rose Naef, ex-W. U., of Tait; Mr. ('32) and Mrs. Jesse Deetz, of Estacada; Lena Medley, '31, of Lebanon; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McGilvra, both (Continued on Page 2)

Plans Concluded By Paint Spots For Art Exhibit

Paint Spots concluded plans for Art Week (next week) on the campus when it met Tuesday night for a buffet supper at 263 North 13th street.

President Ralph Woodall announced that the club had the chapel period for Tuesday, November 10. They expect to have an illustrated talk by an artist from one of the leading Portland papers to stimulate art interest.

A collection of prints by Modern French painters will be exhibited in Chresto along with a small exhibit of work from the art classes.

In the library there will be a display shelf of art books and magazines for those interested.

It was found impossible to obtain an exhibit of paintings by Oregon artists for the library, since there is a conflicting exhibit in Portland. The club still plans on obtaining such an exhibit later in the year when it will be possible to keep the paintings on display for several months.

Twenty Crazy Reasons Why Speech Professor Rahe Is a Genial Fellow

After six weeks in this temple of higher learning we are prepared to make some startling deductions.

Probably the most interesting and amusing class in our schedule is our speech subject. Three times a week we climb some three stories of stairs, exhausting our breath to such an extent as to give much the appearance of a dog after running 50 miles. We no longer shut the door, but our Prof. Rahe ticklesly feels the movement of our stomach muscles in accordance with chapter two, page twenty in our manual, to see if we are breathing correctly. We find we are not and so broken heartedly take a seat.

In this period there are some very odd students to say the least. One of them is a girl with very red cheeks and no sense of ethics or embarrassment. She has a very

Bearcats Off To California For Grid Wars

Trainload Football Men Scheduled to Start For Southland

Bulldogs Expected To Provide Toughest Competition

Twenty-seven strong Willamette's mighty Bearcat gridsters shoved off for California at 10:22 a. m. this morning for their pair of intercollegiate football contests slated for this weekend and Armistice day, with Fresno State's Far Western Conference champion Bulldog outfit and the Whittier College Poets, two of the toughest outfits in the sunshine state. Accompanying the team were head coach Roy "Spec" Keene, graduate manager, Leslie Sparks, football manager Vern Klerson, and Paul Sturgis, W. U. publicity man.

Those making the trip include: Ends, Co-captain Versteeg, McAdam, Weaver, Abbott, and Erickson; tackles, Vagt, Newhouse, Sirnio, Kahle; guards, Hogenson, Becken, Yada, Rogers; centers, Urell, Waldron, Peters; backs, Hogg, Shaffer, Bennett, Co-captain Weisgerber, Brandon, Beard, Gallon, Russell, Mosier, Burnett.

The trip is Willamette's second to the southland in three years, the Bearcat's last journey across the state line coming in 1934 when they downed San Jose State 21 to 6. It is unquestionably the biggest athletic assignment the local school has ever undertaken.

Fresno's brilliant eleven has had more than unusual success this season and with the advantage of playing on their own gridiron will probably enter the game as favorites over the Cardinal and Gold outfit. The Bulldogs, with a line just as hefty as the Bearcat forward wall, rely mainly on

Carnival Cup Won By Kappa Kapers

Kappas Win Third Year In Row for Carnival Prize Competition

Every year the Kappa Kapers entertain the alumni and students in their booth at the annual homecoming carnival. This year for the third consecutive time the Kappa Gamma Phi fraternity won first in carnival competition and this time a cup will become one of their permanent possessions.

Judges of the booths were: Mrs. Royer, Forest Mills, and Professor Oliver. They based their decisions on three things—popularity, originality, and appearance. Delta Phi placed second and Alpha Psi Delta placed third.

According to Anna Mae Unrath, chairman of the carnival committee the event was a financial success, and over 5,000 tickets were sold. Miss Unrath appreciates the support of the organizations and of her committee, but she expresses the hope that campus organizations will in the future give more support to homecoming activities in general.

This Week's Bouquet

The portion of blossoms that didn't end up in Washington this week go to Ralph Nohlgren in particular and members of the band in general. And if members of the American Legion drum and bugle corps who cooperated with the band last Friday night would pay tuition and drop in at class once in awhile we'd like to give them a share too.

That showy drill formation was the result of a surprisingly small amount of very concentrated practice—and we suspect that Director Nohlgren has played around a little with one of those big silver sticks before he came here.

A Lausanne hall resident attempted several times one night last week to climb the fire escape. Falling, because of a tight skirt, she got a bright idea. Dismissing the boy friend she shed the skirt and, with it draped jauntily over her arm, tried again. Who says Lausanne is not proud to greet her own? At the head of the fire escape the modest lass was cordially welcomed by the house mother.

It is rumored that, at Reed, men are allowed in the girls' living quarters until midnight upon certain nights and vice versa. But the worst — or best — is yet to come. Reed students feel they are grossly mistreated because they can't stay all night.

More than twenty Willamette students gave, as their home addresses, the state of Montana. E. Swisher, senior biology major, claims the position of dean of the Montana delegation because of favorable publicity he gained for the state when he shipped a box-full of Montana rattlesnakes to the campus a couple of years ago.

The "W" club is the target this week—the reason—because of its high handed ruling of "no dates" at football games.

Support from the rooting section was admittedly improved at the C. P. S. game, but that was a direct result of improved coordination between the yell kings and the student section and not because of the changed seating arrangement.

The Willamette section sounded better on the Puget Sound yell, under the expert leadership of the C. P. S. yell staff, than it did on its own yells.

Football games, like movies, are a form of entertainment, to be enjoyed as the spectator sees fit. "W" club initiation plans are working well—but who said anything about including upperclassmen in the annual fall ceremonies?

TO BE SEEN ON THE SCREEN

STATE

Members of Lausanne Hall will be interested to learn that the State theatre will show "Girl's Dormitory," a starting Saturday with a mid-night pre-view. The vivacious and cute little Simone Simon heads the cast, which originally was meant to star George Brent and Ruth Chatterton. She gives an excellent portrayal of an adolescent girl "head over heels" in love with George Brent, who takes her affections lightly. He cannot see her love, even after she matures into beautiful womanhood. How this delicately told love story reaches its end can only be appreciated by viewing the picture itself.

Announcements at the theatre indicate that great interest is being shown in the coming premier showing of "Nine Days a Queen," and that tickets are already being reserved for this picture.

GRAND

Football fans have a treat coming! Beginning Saturday at the Grand, "The Pigskin Parade," starring Stuart Erwin, will bring to Salem one of the most hilarious pictures of all times. It's more than collegiate, colossal, or whatever words you have for it. Imagine a dinky college being mistaken for a leading university, and sent an invitation to participate in the Rose Bowl fracas. Then picture the proselyting done on Stuart Erwin, who takes delight in throwing muskmelons 99 yards, and kicks with his bare feet! The make-shift team which finally goes to the Rose Bowl game and upholds the honor of their Alma Mater in one of the funniest and riotous games ever filmed, brings the picture to a successful close with half the audience lying in the aisles, and the other half trying not to become hysterical.

Besides Mr. Erwin, the picture boasts Patsy Kelly, Jack Haley, and the Yach Boys, who as backfield men sure know their sharps and flats.

a student. There is absolute silence for about a minute and a timid voice pipes up, "Who, me?"

Upon being affirmed that is he or she is it, there is a loud stamping to the front of the class as the victim faces the group. The next five minutes are taken up with coughing, nose blowing, hair combing and shirt tail sticking-inning. After these preliminary preparations the speaker (?) is ready.

Most of the renditions usually start out with a funny (?) story. No one laughs. The speaker is still undaunted and goes on into the main portion of his speech.

About this time good ol' Prof. stops him and cross-examines the use of gestures and tone qualities employed by the victim. He is allowed to continue for amusement's sake but finally sits down amid a faint smattering of applause. Prof. Kahe then proceeds to give the speech with appropriate gestures and accompanying suggestions.

Another name is barked and another speech is given. Perhaps this fellow may start softly in using the range of his voice until the entire class is leaning forward in their seats to watch the wisdom dripping from the speakers' mouth. Suddenly he opens his mouth and larynx and pours forth from his chest a loud guttural declaration. The class jumps back at the outburst and hurls tingling screams.

About this time the bell rings but no one pays any attention to it.

About 4 o'clock the class flies out waving their arms and serving up their faces in horrible positions, all practicing tomorrow's speech.

worth, Miss Norma Fuller, and Miss Barbara Crookham will introduce the guests. Assisting in the dining room will be Miss Irma Oehler, Miss Cathrin Headrick, Miss Mary Elizabeth Kells, and Miss Lois Burton; while serving for the first hour are the Misses Cornelia Hulst, Ruth Bunzow, Frances Faber, Marion Chase, Esther Callison, and Charlotte Litchfield; for the second hour, the Misses Helene Trulsen, Helen Olds, Alene Fairclough, Josie Acklin, Phyllis Macy, and Katherine Ringe; the Misses Marguerite DuRette, Ruth Pemberton, Betty Taylor, Lois Miller, Beatrice Gillette, and Virginia Pugh will serve from five to six. before breakfast) voice ceased entirely and a gaunt figure slid out of the office. I remained obscured in the shadows.

But hilt, the discussion did not even pause—it continued in a rising crescendo; and suddenly three roaring carnivores rushed from the office and charged out the door.

I came from that ante-room a beaten and a broken man, woe, no, my friends, they did not do me physical violence in the haste of their onslaught, for I slipped beneath a stool just in time. Can you guess the reason? No, you in your innocence could not fathom the deep portent of the above chain of events. Very well then, I shall be obliged to interpret. Those three individuals who dispersed food with the vapidly of seasoned addicts have helped undermine our whole social structure.

Yay, verily. An office is a place in which to discuss business so if one discusses food instead of business we break a precedent which is the keystone to modern society. (Try not to follow me.) That precept is that an office is an office—a building is a building, a dog-kennel is a dog-kennel and so on down the long line of public institutions.

So, my poor fellow students, does that not rock the foundations of the Universe—well, the University at least—O. K. then, make it Waller Hall. But when the hour of reckoning is at hand, and a coffee and hot-dog stand is set up on every floor of Eaton Hall—remember it was I, the Great Snoopecrat that warned you.

THE RAMBLING SHOPPER

By Uncle Willie

Hi-de-ho, Soaks—uh, Folks! Pardon Uncle, but he just got caught in a little shower without his umbrella, and his present condition harks him back to his infancy, when he was a member of the Royal Order of the White Triangle.

First thing this week, Uncle wants to remind his pals and gals that it's the little things in life that counts. It may be even a small thing like a comma, which is still used by some students as an aid to writing, and is not to be mixed up with that trance-like state in which Jack Alton is generally found. For example, when Wayne Doughton, member of the firm of Doughton Hardware and the Class of '37, was treating Margaret Gary to the sights of the city one evening, things came to a pretty pass around 11 p. m., because there was no other sights to see. So Margaret, being polite, offered to call it an evening by politely asking this question, "Wayne, can I go home?" Now, pals, you can see that if Uncle hadn't used the little comma, he would have made Gary sound like she was mad, like this, "Wayne can I go home!" So even if it's just little things like commas, if it's in the hardware line—remember Doughton's.

Imagine Uncle's surprise the other day when he found none other than Mr. Sparks, himself, serenely enjoying a shoe shine at the Shynne Shop. It's not that prosperity is back, but that Mr. Sparks knows from actual experience that you get the best shine for your money at this little big shop, on High St. Shoe repairing and dyeing are also their forte, so if some of you dead dodos want to get dyed proper, remember the Shynne Shop.

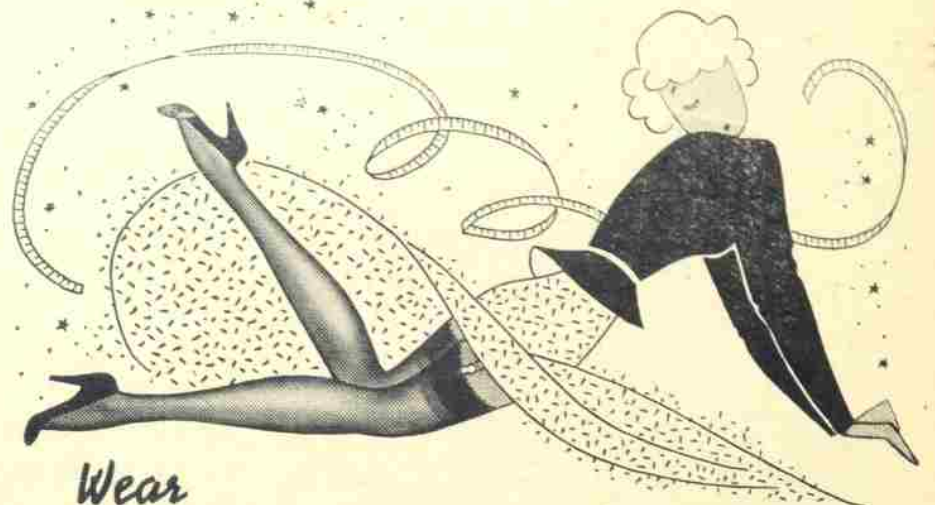

Latest reports from Dr. Gatke's domicile report that the good Dr. doesn't think so much of the Prophet system any more. In spite of his donkeyish night-mares, the "3rd Floor Governor" is bearing up well, and is eagerly looking forward to surprising one of his classes with another impromptu quiz. Uncle's love (purely Platonic, of course) for George Self,

Margaret Magee, and Ross Gladden, prompts him to recommend the purchase of a few pounds of Emil Schaefer's candies. By actual test, pals, Emil's toothsome sweets do soothe the savage beast. Do you Gatte the idea?

Uncle's reputation as a poet prompts this little ditty: Old Mother Hubbard Went to the Cupboard To get herself some— But when she looked there-in The bottle was bare, And her old man was wiping his chin.

Now, pals, if you'll guess the right missing word in the third line, and then go down to the 5 and 10c Grill, and tell Chuck Neville what the word is, Chuck will have Otto fix you up with the finest and biggest square meal you ever had—for only 20 cents. Of course you wouldn't believe Uncle if he was to rave about the pulchritude of the waitress, but ask Stan Peters—he's a connoisseur (or something) of art.

In spite of all the talks Marian Steigerwald hears about keeping her feet on the ground, she prefers to keep them encased in shoes. In spite of their strength, they're delicate (feet always have been a ticklish subject for Uncle), and pals, for those delicate tootsies of your own, you should crave the best. All you have to do is go down to Josie Acklin's papa's Bootery, and tell him to take care of your troubles. No fooling, pals, you'll get a boot out of it.

In closing, Uncle wishes to state last week's Brickbat against Warren Peters must have been taken too seriously by some near-sighted inhaler of liquid spirits, who threw the glass bottles in the general vicinity of Warren's head, which was reposing on one end of Warren's spine, while Warren reposed on the other end, at the C. P. S. game. Gosh, just think of the riot the Brick-batter would have caused if the bottles hadn't been empty.

P. E. Staff Gains Tie For Top Spot In Passball Loop

By defeating the previous undefeated Alpha Phi Delta passball team 12 to 6 last Monday, the physical education men advanced into a first place tie with them, each team having five victories and one defeat. E. Franz and Hal Moo scored the touchdowns for the victors while Dwight Catherwood tallied for the losers.

In last week's games Sigma Tau defeated the Independents 13 to 0; Alpha Psi Delta won from Kappa Gamma Rho 27 to 19; and Physical Education men beat Sigma Tau 25 to 7.

No games are scheduled for next week, but the following week the teams swing back into an active schedule with games listed as follows:

Nov. 16—P. E. Staff vs. Independents.
Nov. 17—Kappa Gamma Rho vs. Alpha Psi Delta.
Nov. 18—Sigma Tau vs. Independents.
Nov. 19—P. E. Staff vs. Kappa Gamma Rho.

By scoring one touchdown against the Alpha Psi's, Hal Moo of the P. E.'s lengthened his lead in the individual scoring race to eight points. He has tallied a total of 26 points—four touchdowns and one safety. Bill Anton of the Alpha Psi's and H. Mohr of the Kappa's are tied for second high scoring honors with 18 points for each.

Bearcats Win 18th In Row; Score 13-0

Two quick touchdown thrusts early in the second quarter netted the Willamette Bearcats a 13 to 0 triumph over College of Puget Sound Friday evening on Sweetland field, the win not only pushing the locals further out in front of the pack in the Northwest conference and eliminating probably the greatest threat to the Cardinal and Gold's pigskin supremacy in the loop, but also marking the 18th consecutive league victory for Coach Keene's proteges.

The first half was all Willamette's, and the parental champs unleashed a sparkling passing attack along with their usual brilliant running game and put the game on ice in short order. The first score came on a sustained drive from the C. P. S. 30 yard line just after a pass interception by Hogenson and a subsequent lateral to Brandon had given the locals their second scoring opportunity. A pass, Beard to Versteeg netted 16 yards and another, Brandon to Beard, spotted the ball on the 4 from where Weisgerber carried it over on a run around left end.

The second score followed immediately after the kick-off when Remson's attempted punt went awry and gave the Bearcats the ball on the 13. Beard and Weisgerber alternated in carrying the pigskin with the latter carrying it over and converting afterward.

With Weisgerber and several other regulars on the bench during the second half, the Loggers put on several drives into Willamette territory and but for some fine defensive work at one time by Norm Hogenson and on others by Billy Beard, might have scored. Beard was a demon for interrupting the Logger aerials, while Hogenson cut off a sure score on a long run by Schwetz by making a spectacular tackle of both Schwetz and Remson on a lateral play.

Willamette made 9 first downs to 7, but C. P. S. gained 228 yards to 185 for the locals.

Presumably setting the stage for a gigantic championship struggle on Thanksgiving day, Willamette University and Whitman College mowed down C. P. S. and Linfield, their respective opponents, last week to maintain their positions at the top of the Northwest Conference grid race with unbeaten records.

Willamette turned back a surprisingly strong Puget Sound eleven, 13 to 0, for her fourth success of the season and 18th consecutive league win. The tilt was the last in league play for two weeks for the Bearcats, who this week invade California for a pair of inter-sectional tilts with Fresno State and Whittier College. The defending champs conclude the season with conference tilts with Pacific and Whitman on November 21 and 26, respectively, both in Salem.

Whitman, recovering from the 7-7 tie forced upon her by the lowly College of Idaho outfit the week before, unleashed a powerful offensive in smothering Linfield 25 to 0. The Missionaries' greatest obstacle before the Turkey day fracas in Salem is the tilt with C. P. S. at Walla Walla on Armistice day. The Loggers have improved rapidly all season, and may spoil Coach Borleske's championship hopes. Idle this weekend, Whitman finishes the season with three games in succession, a tilt with Eastern Oregon Normal sandwiching between the C. P. S. and W. U. contests.

This week's schedule pits Linfield's faltering Wildcats against Don Faber's Albany Pirates at McMinnville and brings together two of the cellar clubs—Pacific and College of Idaho—at Caldwell. Both games are slated for Friday evening.

The Pirates are expected to prove far more than a push-over for Henry Leary's gang and may squeeze through to their first loop victory since admitted to the conference. The Bucs have improved greatly under Faber's tutelage, a fact proven by their fine showing last week against O. N. S. and the week previous against Oregon Tech.

The Badger-Coyote clash is a tossup. Both have shown flashes of excellent play this season only to slump miserably in the next appearance. As both outfits rested last week, neither outfit has any advantage of rest and should enter the game in excellent shape.

power drives and feature a well-rounded quartet of backs that is certain to provide plenty of trouble. To date the Californians have beaten Whittier, California Ramblers, and Chico State, and held the powerful San Francisco U. team to a 14-0 score.

To combat the polished Fresno attack Keene plans to present much the same line of attack that bowled over C. P. S. a week ago—a combination of clever power slants through the line and a fine passing attack. Bill Beard and Dick Weisgerber, as fine a pair of backs as there are on the coast, will lead the offense.

While Coach Keene openly predicted a victory for the Fresno team, he did hold out some hope for defeating Whittier four days later. The Bards, though their lineup includes five all-conference men from last season, haven't hit their stride as yet this year. However, the Poets are sure to arrive sometime and may pick the inter-sectional clash for that moment.

The Bearcats are expected back in Salem sometime Friday, November 13.

Wallulah pictures of rooters and the pep staff in action were taken at the railway station rally staged shortly before this issue went to press.

The pep staffs had full charge of the rally, assisted by the band. Although the train was scheduled to leave the station at 10:22, permission to leave classes earlier than 10:15 could not be gained at the dean's office.

Thirty gridsters were selected for the trip south.

THIS WEEK
Friday—Pacific at C. Idaho; Albany at Linfield.
Saturday—Willamette vs. Fresno State, Fresno, Calif.

Presumably setting the stage for a gigantic championship struggle on Thanksgiving day, Willamette University and Whitman College mowed down C. P. S. and Linfield, their respective opponents, last week to maintain their positions at the top of the Northwest Conference grid race with unbeaten records.

Willamette turned back a surprisingly strong Puget Sound eleven, 13 to 0, for her fourth success of the season and 18th consecutive league win. The tilt was the last in league play for two weeks for the Bearcats, who this week invade California for a pair of inter-sectional tilts with Fresno State and Whittier College. The defending champs conclude the season with conference tilts with Pacific and Whitman on November 21 and 26, respectively, both in Salem.

Whitman, recovering from the 7-7 tie forced upon her by the lowly College of Idaho outfit the week before, unleashed a powerful offensive in smothering Linfield 25 to 0. The Missionaries' greatest obstacle before the Turkey day fracas in Salem is the tilt with C. P. S. at Walla Walla on Armistice day. The Loggers have improved rapidly all season, and may spoil Coach Borleske's championship hopes. Idle this weekend, Whitman finishes the season with three games in succession, a tilt with Eastern Oregon Normal sandwiching between the C. P. S. and W. U. contests.

This week's schedule pits Linfield's faltering Wildcats against Don Faber's Albany Pirates at McMinnville and brings together two of the cellar clubs—Pacific and College of Idaho—at Caldwell. Both games are slated for Friday evening.

The Pirates are expected to prove far more than a push-over for Henry Leary's gang and may squeeze through to their first loop victory since admitted to the conference. The Bucs have improved greatly under Faber's tutelage, a fact proven by their fine showing last week against O. N. S. and the week previous against Oregon Tech.

The Badger-Coyote clash is a tossup. Both have shown flashes of excellent play this season only to slump miserably in the next appearance. As both outfits rested last week, neither outfit has any advantage of rest and should enter the game in excellent shape.

BEARCAT BLOCKER

Here is Neil Shaffer, sophomore back from Kent, Washington. Though not a regular, Neil has proven himself to be a very handy man to have around for relief duty and did a fine job when injuries to Stone and Gallon showed him into the breach.

CO-ED SPORT PARADE

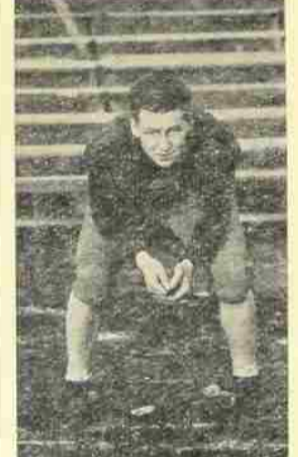

By MARGARET GARY

Instruction in the fine art of fencing (not building fences, incidentally) is given on Wednesday and Friday afternoons by Gus Moore at the Y.M.C.A. Those taking the course are Barbara Chapter, Betty Williams, June Johnson, Rachel Yocom, Suzanne Curtis, Mary Virginia Nohlgren, Ruth Tscharner and Marjorie Herr.

According to Barbara Chapter, about five girls are having much fun playing badminton on Wednesday and Friday nights at the Y. They are Marjorie Herr, Ray Yocom, Rosemary Huffman, Frances Faber and Barbara Chapter. Last Thursday night they traveled to Albany with the men's team where they trimmed the Albanians. Gus Moore is the instructor and anyone is welcome providing he brings his own battledore (racquet to you) and shuttle-cock. June Johnson says the kick name for this article is "bird," so they don't have to yell, "Hey, toss me the shuttle-cock."

In the gym classes the following soccer teams and captains are listed: 2nd period—Chi Cels, June Barsted; Cardinals, Phyllis Macy; 4th period—Trojans, Dorothy Moore; Pole Cats, Doris Hayes; Bear Pussies, Eleanor Perry; 6th period—Kitties, Margaret Gilette; Terriers, Mable Lentz. Present standings show: 3 wins for the Chi Cels, and 1 for the Cardinals; 1 for the Trojans, 1 for the Pole Cats, and 3 for the Bear Pussies; 3 for the Kitties, and 1 for the Terriers. The three class champs—Chi Cels, Kitties, and Bear Pussies will play for the gym class championship early next week.

INJURY HEALED

With his serious leg injury, received early in the season, practically healed, Art Gallon, blocker par-excellence has returned to the Bearcat backfield. Art's presence undoubtedly will strengthen the local's running attack.

George Erickson To Direct Early Hoop Workouts

The departure of Willamette's football team to California late this week further delays the opening of initial practice sessions for the 1937 varsity basketball squad since several dependables of last year's hoop organization, expected to be important cogs in the Bearcat quintet of the coming season, hold down regular jobs on the gridiron.

Postponement of practice leaves in doubt immediate prospects that the Keenemen have for this year. There is no question, though that plenty of potential possibilities can be found on the squad—and with the "Breaks" a winner wouldn't be an impossibility. Only two 1936 lettermen are back—Ken Manning and George Erickson. Lettermen returning from last season are Bill Beard, Charley Versteeg, and Walt Weaver, all engaged in the football wars. Bill Anton, Mervy Lawrence, Norman Wamp, and Jerry Gustafson. Bearcats from the 1936 season available are John Kelly, John Mullin, and Verdel Ragsdale. Promising candidates from last year's freshman team coming up are: Ernie Mosier and Dexter Haggell, both on the football squad; Jack Alton, Roy Orren, and Otto Specht.

George Erickson, new assistant coach, has been directing preliminary warm-up sessions for those not engaged in the gridiron sports and plans to start regular practice

A laurel-wreath to Norman Hogenson!

That spectacular defensive play of Norm's in the C. P. S. tilt certainly takes the prize for this year's grid season on Sweetland field, overshadowing even such sparkling performances as John Obrt's 98 yard touchdown sprint and Dick Weisgerber's beautiful field goal against Linfield. It is rare, indeed, when a defensive play is outstanding, but it is very much rarer when a defensive play is executed with such unusual brilliance.

Willamette's unexpected passing attack not only caught the Bearcat fans off guard but seemingly gave the Loggers just as much of a shock, in-as-much as the Keene-men had shown very little form in passing in their early games. It is very probable that the Bearcat mentor has been saving his aerial show for just such an occasion. In any event, it provided just the necessary punch for the 13 to 0 victory.

A fine project—this movement to purchase a scoreboard—and one that every student in school should get behind. Willamette never has possessed one, and now, while her football fortunes are bright, is the time to install it. It is interesting to note that Linfield College is also planning to install a score board, following Washington State's lead of installing a gigantic electric board early this fall. A scoreboard is, indeed, a great aid in following the game and aids in drawing the crowds.

Well, it was bound to come... We had to miss one sooner or later and last week the old dope bucket spilled all over us, spoiling our "pretty" football guessing record. It now stands: Right 26, Wrong 2, Ties 4. Here are this week's choices: Willamette by one point over Fresno; (We took W. U. by 13 points over C. P. S.—remember?) Linfield over Albany; Pacific in a close one over C. Idaho; U. C. L. A., W. S. C., U. S. C., and Washington in the coast loop.
