

Vienna Choir Boys' Concert Tonight to Spread Good Will

Twenty-two important ambassadors from Austria will be featured in a vocal concert in the Fine Arts auditorium tonight at 8:15, concluding the Distinguished Artists Series concerts for this year.

Small in stature and not of an age of great dignity, this delegation and its predecessors in America have done more toward spreading international goodwill than any number of diplomats with homburgs. These talented envoys are the Vienna Choir Boys from eight to fourteen years old.

THEY AND OTHER groups from Vienna's world-famous Konvikt School have appeared in nearly every country on the globe. The school maintains three choirs at all times. Two are available for touring while one must always be in Vienna to participate in services at St. Stephen's and the choir's other musical activities.

THE CONDUCTOR, a teacher, and a nurse accompany the choir boys on all their travels. Illness among the boys is rare because their diet and health are well guarded. The nurse seldom lets the boys out of her sight and cooks for them in their hotels whenever possible to avoid the complications of new food in young stomachs.

Some years ago the choir crossed the equator three times, and despite continual climatic changes only one boy suffered a mild cold.

Impresario Hurok has brought the Vienna Choir Boys to America off and on since 1932.

TONIGHT'S CONCERT, divided into three parts, will open with a group of sacred songs written in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. After a brief intermission, some of the lads will change from sailor suits to high-heeled shoes, dresses and wigs for their costume operetta. The operetta chosen for this program will be announced later. The program will conclude with secular music and folk songs.

Included on the program are "Pueri Concinite" by Callus, "Tenebrae Factae Sunt" by da Vittoria, "Exultate Deo" by Scarlatti and "When I am Laid in Earth" by Purcell. The second portion consists of two numbers by Schubert, one by Schumann and one by Strauss. The program closes with a musical prank written by Strauss especially for the Choir Boys.

Anne Yoder Wins In Ballot Recount

Rechecking the ballots of class officer elections last week, the election committee discovered that they had inadvertently awarded the office of junior class secretary to the wrong person. Anne Yoder was elected secretary, while it was reported to the Collegian that Joan Roberts was in the position.

"We are very sorry this happened," commented election committee chairman Jack Jones, "and we apologize to both Miss Yoder and Miss Roberts for the mistake."

Doug Houser, Student Body second vice president, commented that the election committee has done an outstanding job during the year. "The people in charge of counting the ballots have been exceptionally fast and exceptionally accurate," he said.

Symphony Set for Tuesday

Appearing in the last of its Salem performances, the Portland Symphony Orchestra will present the third in its series of concerts in the Fine Arts auditorium Tuesday evening at 8:15. Student Body card and $1 will admit Willamette students after 8 o'clock.

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Theodore Bloomfield, the Portland Symphony will present Rossini's overture "L'Italiana in Algeri," Brahms' "Symphony No. 3 in F major, Opus 90," and Bartok's "Concerto for Orchestra."

The Salem Symphony Society, sponsors for the concerts in Salem, is particularly pleased to be presenting the Bartok music, according to Mrs. Sig Unander, publicity

Mary Collins Grant Hopefuls To Be Tested

Approximately 100 high school seniors from all over the Northwest, are anticipated to arrive tomorrow to compete for the $3,000 to be awarded to the five men and five women placing highest in the Mary L. Collins scholarship examinations, according to Charles Paeth.

IN ADDITION to the tests, the prospective freshmen will attend a convocation where they will be welcomed by President G. Herbert Smith and will hear the Willamette capella choir. Following this will be tours of the campus, conducted by members of Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma, sophomore scholarship honoraries.

Scholarship competitors will also be afforded the opportunity to have interviews with their prospective professors, Paeth said.

THE TESTS WILL be administered by Dr. Charles Derthick, head of the psychology department, and will be given in Waller Hall from 2 to 4:30 tomorrow afternoon.

The ten students rating highest in the third annual competition will each receive $300 which may be used either in the College of Music or the College of Liberal Arts. The fund was established by Truman Collins in honor of his mother, Mary L. Collins.

Haverson Publications Head; Nelson New Handbook Editor

Wayne Haverson, a junior economics major, was elected publications manager for 1957-58 by Student Council Wednesday. Previously the Publications Board had heard his petition and recommended his appointment to Council.

Haverson has been associated with publications the past two years, serving as a member of the advertising staff last year and at present as advertising manager for the Collegian.

In independent action, the Publications Board elected Howard Nelson Student Handbook editor. Nelson, a freshman, has worked this year on the Collegian staff as a reporter and as circulation manager, taking over that position at the beginning of the year when the former manager had to resign because of pressure of work.

Petitions for Wallulah, Collegian, and Fusser's Guide editors are due in the Student Body office by noon Wednesday, Lewis Beatty, publications manager, announced. Also due are petitions for the newly

Tuesday Challenge, Acceptance Official Beginning of 49th Glee

Freshman Glee manager John Bergstrom will officially begin preparations for the 49th annual Glee with a short, "impartial" speech delivered in the challenge assembly Tuesday morning. Bergstrom will be followed by the freshman class president who will issue the official challenge. The other presidents will, with varying degrees of scorn and condescension, accept, and the battle will be on.

Beatty Given Rotary Honor

Lewis Beatty, senior economics major, was awarded the honor of Rotarian of the Month by Student Council Wednesday. Beatty, who is a departmental assistant in economics, is publications manager.

His sophomore year, Beatty was appointed Campus Chest manager, and was also a member of Sigma Alpha Chi, sophomore men's service honorary. He was also treasurer of his living organization, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, his sophomore and junior years.

Last year he was the advertising manager for the Collegian, and this year serves as chairman of the Publications Board, is a member of the Finance Board, and Student Council. In addition, he has served as financial manager for the Distinguished Artists Concert series. He was the holder of a freshman scholarship, and at present has a scholarship from the American Banking Association.

ACTUALLY, GLEE preparations are nearing the final stage, with practices beginning Monday. Fittingly, the freshmen are the first class to start practice at 5 a.m. (Glee practice schedules may be found on page 2).

Lists of those participating are due Monday, with any student eligible to participate if he has above a 2 point average, is not on academic or social probation, and has signed up.

THOSE ELUSIVE items, Glee tickets, may be reserved by signing lists which will be available at all practice sessions Monday. Second tickets may be requested by signing another list Wednesday during practices.

Those not participating may sign up for a ticket Monday in the Student Body office upon presentation of an ASWU Student Body card. Manager Bergstrom emphasized that all deadlines are final in regard to Glee tickets, and no late requests will be accepted.

Students will also be given a chance to secure records of this year's Glee during practices and following the challenge assembly. The price of $1 must be paid when the order is made. The records will be 45 speed only this year.

SB Election Dates Slated

Dates for the last elections of the year were set by Student Council Wednesday as it accepted Student Body second vice president Doug Houser's recommendations. May Weekend Queen elections are scheduled for April 12-17. Petitions for Student Body offices must be submitted by April 16, with elections being scheduled for April 26-31.

Tom Honl, lone petitioner for the job, was elected spring blood drive manager by Council. Honl stated that he hoped to have all contacting for the drive completed before spring vacation, and set his goal at 400 pints of blood.

The All Campus Sing, passed peacefully out of the May Weekend picture as the program of Weekend manager Dick White was passed without comment. Since the schedule included no slot for the Sing, Student Body president, Neil Causbie explained that it could be considered as abolished from May Weekend for the future.

The problem of extending the present student insurance program to cover the summer vacation was discussed by Barney Rodgers, representative of the Continental Casualty Company. He pointed out that while the company would extend the coverage, unless at least 200 to 250 students participated in the plan over the summer, premiums might have to be upped to cover the increased risk to the company.

Vote Percentages 'Disappointing'

Percentages of the vote of each class in the recent class officer, rally squad, and AWS elections were revealed this week by second vice president Doug Houser. Houser described the results as "disappointing."

Freshmen led the way in number voting with 61 percent casting ballots in the primaries, and 55 percent in the runoffs. They were followed in the primaries by the juniors and seniors with 60 and 59 percent of their respective classes voting. The sophomores were represented by 52 per cent of their class.

In the run-off elections, freshmen and seniors were tied with 55 percent, the juniors followed with 51, trailed closely by the sophomores with 50 percent of the class voting.

Only 43 percent of the school voted in the rally squad primaries and 44 percent participated in the run-offs. Houser commented that these low percentages might be explained by the fact that the law school student body takes part in this election and very few vote.

'57 CR Manager Petitions Wanted

Petitions for the chairman of next year's Christian Resource Week will be due Monday, March 25, in Dr. Zeigler's office, according to Kent Hotaling, president of the Religious Life Council. In the Monday meeting of the Council, it took action to schedule CR Week for next fall and decided to appoint the chairman before further plans are made.

The Council also formed study committees to review the Consultation report compiled by Dr. Richard Bender, Dr. John Wesley Robb, Dr. Harold Hutson, and Roger Ort-mayer during last year's CR Week. Questions from members of the student body prompted this study and any important suggestions or recommendations will be presented to the administration and students.

Stan Culy, Herb Talabere, and Gordon Thompson will act as conveners for three groups which will study the sections of the report concerning the aims and purposes of the University, Willamette as a Christian community, and the religious program at Willamette.

Missing Rhymes and Bets Provide Glee Complications

By CAROL McMINIMEE

Glee lyric composers are comparing the difficulty of rhyming words to a serenade song to the rhyming of words for an alma mater. A look at the subject matter brings the problem to light. Last year typical possibilities of the moonlight and roses variety were love, dove, true, blue, and on and on.

Dear Ed:

Laughter Serious

Last weekend, a different type of play was presented on the Willamette stage, and it was interesting to note the difference between the audiences of Friday and Saturday night. Friday night, the audience was predominately students, whereas Saturday night, the audience consisted mostly of townspeople.

Friday night, the student audience made a comedy out of parts of "The Victors," while Saturday night there was no laughter. In order to enjoy the play, one needed to work at it, as almost every line had important bearing on either existentialism or the total plot of the drama.

Jean Paul Sartre, the author, did not intend the play to be funny, so why did the student audience have to look for things to make funny or trite inconsistencies within the play, rather than concentrating on the total concept? The torture scenes or sensationalism seemed to stand out in the minds of the students instead of the concept of existentialism. Where else could we as students find an easier explanation of the philosophy, with examples, than in the play? We as college students are supposed to have the ability to concentrate and a will to learn, but we seem to prefer entertainment.

The play was written immediately following World War II, and these conditions portrayed were still realities to the French. There was no room for comedy about such things in France at that time. So why, then, when we go to the theatre, must we go only to laugh?

Ken Renshaw.

Editor's Note:

All laughter is not a thing considered amusing. When tension is highest, something must break the mood. Students quickly find incongruities to laugh at, thus relieving momentarily the grip of such intense realism.

Saints or Sinners?

In the coming weeks the students of Willamette will have an opportunity to make a choice. This choice, whether or not to deny ourselves the pleasure of eating meat at four widely-spaced meals, will be a measure of the type of people we are.

When the Hungarians first revolted against the tyranny of Russia, our sympathy was boundless. The Hungarian freedom fighter became the breathing symbol of all that was heroic and good. We rejoiced when the young boys of Budapest held out hopelessly against overwhelmingly superior troops. As students we here at Willamette, so many miles away, could feel the warming rays of their reflected glory.

Now comes the decision we students are privileged to make. We can either prove ourselves true sympathizers with the freedom fighters or hypocrites. We are being asked to give up meat for four days in order to raise money for tuition for four Hungarians. Many of the Student Council members were in favor of the plan—but didn't think it would work. "You just won't get 100 percent of the students affected to go along" was the general tone of their comments. Perhaps these representatives were underestimating the spirit of generosity—what is involved is too trifling to be called a sacrifice—in their fellow students. Let's hope so anyway for it will take the cooperation of every student using the facilities of the dining service.

The committee in charge of this project has worked and schemed to provide a workable plan. The food service is cooperating as is the University. Now all that remains is for the students to cooperate.

In Passing ... Bo

For some of us, Dr. Baxter exemplified what the college experience should be (or should have been).

There are some points in the Consultation team report which should be graphically brought to the attention of the students. Neglect of the report and its conclusions would make the Consultation a waste of time. The report stresses this importance:

"A WORD concerning the use of this document is in order. A Consultation of Religion in Higher Education is undertaken as an enterprise of the entire university community. Its results should not and cannot be confidential. Even as the entire community is involved in the exploratory discussions, so must the entire community be involved in evaluating the results and implementing them."

The information returned by the group was definitely not given the impetus that it should have had. The findings both were and are important, not only to the professors and administration, but to us the Student Body, in general. The results lead to a better understanding of ourselves—yet why was the information not stressed?

WHAT FOLLOWS now is a number of quotes taken from the body of the report, but with what I hope is a fair allowance for the meanings of the passages from which they come.

"There is an inescapable relation between Christian commitment and a scholar's dedication to truth. The Consultation noted an absence of intellectual virility and controversy which are essential to growth."

"THERE IS considerable student dissatisfaction regarding the small number of faculty who participate in chapel."

"The institution seeks students from the upper quartile of high school graduating classes. This is an unusually high standard for entrance, though on the American Education Association college ability tests, the Willamette Student Body appears to be barely average."

"THE TENDENCY to 'protect' the Christian faith appears to the consultants to result in an absence of intellectual virility and controversy which are essential to real growth."

"There is a tendency among those of skeptical frame of mind to hesitate to express themselves, and of those of a more conventional outlook to lack appreciation for those who were questioning."

I DO NOT PRETEND that these few quotes sum up the teams' findings—however I think that they do show that there is material contained in it of which the entire student family should become aware and concerned. Once flaws have been found it is our duty to our own education to discover the causes and attempt to apply a workable therapy. Delay could cause serious harm, and correction is not the job of the administration alone, working for the students' benefit; it is the job of the entire educational community to clarify their own directions, aims, and meanings.

Some copies will soon be on reserve in the library. Every student who feels a responsibility for his own education should take the time to examine and interpret this, for himself.

I WAS VERY pleased in the production of "The Victors." There were, of course, some small flaws, but in general the play was very well done. The nature and message of the play was controversial both in meaning and presentation, however, this is the sort of spark that the campus needs to originate and maintain an intellectual vigor. The administration may well be upset by the way sections of the play were received—this concern should not be on the nature of the play, but rather on the nature of the audience in which there were individuals who did not have a broad enough outlook to find the real mental stimuli that were here presented.

Lighter Side Also Evident For Pages in Legislature

While the legislature is in session, many more Willamette students are holding regular jobs in connection with the two bodies. Some are pages working in the Senate, some in the House, and some work as messengers between the telephone operators and the legislators.

In either category there is much opportunity to get in on the workings of law-making processes. Holding such jobs are Dave Barrows, house page; Lyle Banton, house page; Doug Houser, telephone messenger; Paul Shaffer, telephone messenger; Skip Alexander, telephone messenger; Mary Beebe, Senate page; and Mac Baker, Senate page.

These students are right in the middle of things as the various proposals are discussed. They get the latest news first hand as well as having a good opportunity to sense all the strong undercurrents which are often involved in highly controversial issues.

At times there is a lighter side. On one occasion a Senator had a certain bill in his possession over a weekend for study. When the time came to produce the bill—he had lost it! As punishment the Senator was made to sit on a stool in the center of the Senate chamber with a dunce cap on his head. Another Senator was made to sit in the hall for 20 minutes for some minor breach of Senatorial propriety, and once the chairman had to wear a cardboard crown and was called "Caesar" for a while until the mood wore off. Mary Beebe says that among the errands the pages have to do are frequent trips for cigars and snuff.

So the serious business of the state is occasionally seasoned with healthy good humor and students find it a pleasant place to work while they are learning government first-hand.

Doubleday Conducts Search

Doubleday and Company, the largest publishing house in the world, has named Dr. Paul Trueblood as its honorary representative and empowered him to conduct an annual "campus search" for Willamette seniors who are adequately talented and appropriately interested in the publishing business.

Seniors selected by Dr. Trueblood will be assigned to apprenticeship positions for a period from three to six months at special salary rates in any branch of the company's vast organization with headquarters at 575 Madison Avenue in New York City.

Prospective applicants should preferably be students majoring in any of the humanities, such as Art, Literature, Languages, Journalism, Speech, Drama, and Philosophy.

However, a few students in Economics and Business are sought each year. Applicants should possess broad interests, versatility, adaptability, initiative, and genuine interest in the publishing business as a career.

Apprenticeships may range widely from selling and promotion to book production, design, manuscript reading, clerking in Doubleday book stores, and secretarial work. The eventual possibilities of promotion are virtually unlimited.

Interested students may see Dr. Trueblood for an interview appointment during his office hours with special schedule for interviews during the week of March 18 to 22. Interested juniors likewise are encouraged to inquire for a year hence.

Fats Domino Billed Tonight

Fats Domino will head a cast of 13 popular recording artists featured in concert tonight in the South Salem High School gym, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Performances will be given at 7 and 9 p.m.

DOMINO, who composes many of his own hits, is considered one of the most dynamic artists in the popular music field today.

Appearing with Domino will be Bill Doggett and his combo, featuring vocalist Tommy Brown. Doggett, an organist, began his career as a pianist with bands led by Lionel Hampton, Louis Jordan and Lucky Millander. He was pianist and arranger for the original Ink Spots.

ALSO APPEARING on the program will be Clyde McPhatter, LaVern Baker, The Five Keys, Chuck Berry, Ann Cole, The Moonglows, Eddie Cooley and The Dimples, The Five Satins, Charles Brown, The Schoolboys, and Paul Williams and his orchestra.

Tickets for the two hour concert can be purchased at Stevens and Sons or this evening at the box office for $1.50, $2.50, or $3.50.

Y Prexy Linda Berry Announces Chairmen

Linda Berry has been elected president of the campus YWCA. She will be assisted by Jody Mills as vice president; Carole Warren, treasurer; Lynn Schrock, secretary.

The executive group chose as commission heads the following: Jeanne Peasley, community service; Priscilla Payne and Marilyn Cochran, co-chairmen of world and campus relations; Sue Snyder and Carole Stone, membership; Mary Jo Smullin and Peggy Tunnell, social chairmen; and Peggy Doerfler and Judy Seely, big and little sisters commission.

Baxter Scores With Audience In Willamette Lecture Series

Dr. Frank Baxter, noted lecturer and scholar, was warmly received by audiences at the Atkinson Foundation sponsored Willamette Lecture series Tuesday morning and evening and Wednesday morning as he spoke on literature and its meaning for modern living. Introduced on each occasion by President G. Herbert Smith, Dr. Baxter was met with warm applause.

Thesis of Tuesday morning's address was that a man cannot be educated unless he has read deeply, and he cannot remain educated unless he keeps on reading. Exploring the idea that too great devotion to books leads to a separation from reality, Dr. Baxter rejected this in favor of the theory that reading broadens and deepens an individual as nothing else can. To support his statement he recalled that 16,000 college-educated employees of General Electric felt either that English was the subject taken in college that had helped them most, both professionally and personally, or was the second most helpful.

Pointing out the difficulties and dangers of reading, Dr. Baxter said that the only completely happy persons were the very wise or very ignorant. Reading can be disturbing, Dr. Baxter said, but these disturbances are more than compensated for by the enriching experiences it provides.

Tuesday evening's lecture actually should have been heard after Wednesday morning's, Dr. Baxter lamented, as the one on Wednesday would fully describe the poetic mind. This poetic mind as developed in the last lecture is one that "experiences life deeply and fully" and out of that "draws out one conception." "Art is not art," he commented, "until it is objectified."

Through many quotations from poetry ranging from the sixth or seventh centuries A.D. through the Renaissance to the present, Dr. Baxter sought to show that poets are not men apart from reality, but, in fact, are concerned with the greater realities of life and death and the meaning of life.

Chambers Represents Democrats at NW Meet

Fred Chambers was Willamette's representative at the Northwest Conference of Young Democrats held last Saturday in Boise, Idaho. The Honorable Robert Thornton, Attorney General of Oregon, was the main speaker, and James Hawley, Jr., was the master of ceremonies.

Representatives from collegiate Democratic groups in Region 12, which includes Oregon, Idaho, Washington, and Alaska, conducted workshops dealing with organizational problems.

Students interested in participating in the Young Democrats program at Willamette are urged to contact Tom Murdock at the SAE house.

Work With Lawmakers Gives Student Experience for Class

Much of the activity around the State Capitol recently has had a good representation from Willamette. In separate interviews with Dr. Robert Gatke, Dr. William Cornelius, Dave Barrows, Mac Baker and several others, some interesting facts were learned.

Students of the class in legislation under Dr. Cornelius, for example, are required to make themselves available to the law makers, each student acting as an aide to one legislator for a minimum of four hours a week. This arrangement proves mutually valuable to legislators and students.

Some of the more vital bills which have been under consideration recently include the new income excise tax proposal still under study by the House, and the bill to reduce the legal voting age to 18 years. The latter bill was discussed in committee with six students taking part in the debate. One of those speaking in favor of the proposed amendment was freshman Claude Carvin, while Dave Barrows and Jerry Plunkett spoke against it.

In the end the proposal lost the battle, at least for the present, when it was "tabled in committee," for lack of support. Hopes are still held, however, that sufficient support may be enlisted yet to "bring the issue back to life," and eventually see it brought out on the floor of the House for debate.

Another class requiring both legislative and court attendance is American Government.

Loans, 2 Awards Offered by PEO

The Educational Loan Fund and Scholarships for Women, educational projects of the PEO Sisterhood, are now offering loans and scholarships in which Willamette women may be interested.

Loans up to $1,000 at 3 per cent interest, to be used for a college education at any recognized institution, are available to girls who have completed one term or semester of college work with a grade point average equal to or above the all-school average. The principal of these loans need not be repaid until after the girl has completed her schooling. At present, 800 girls in the United States are holding these loans.

This spring, two $250 scholarships will be granted to girls at Oregon schools who will be juniors or seniors next year. Applications for these scholarships must be in the hands of the State Scholarship Committee by April 1.

Anyone interested in more detailed information about the above opportunities may contact Dean Ewalt or Mrs. Ivan Stewart at EM 3-3247.

Christian Science Lecture Sunday

The practical power of divine intelligence will be the topic of a free public lecture on Christian Science to be delivered by Clifford R. Nysewander in the Fine Arts auditorium next Sunday at 3 p.m.

Mr. Nysewander will speak under the auspices of the First Church of Christ, Scientist on the subject of "Christian Science: Practical Christianity Revealed and Demonstrated."

A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Nysewander is currently on a nationwide speaking tour. During World War II, he served in the Far East as a chaplain in the army and as an authorized teacher of Christian Science, he has devoted his full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing since 1937.

Philosophy Honorary Adds Members, Elects

Five new members were initiated February 28 into the campus chapter of Phi Sigma Tau, the national philosophy honorary, by President Martin Burlingame. The ceremony was held at the home of Dr. Clifford Hanson, the group's faculty advisor. The initiates are Stan Culy, Gail Sandine, Dave Steward, Dr. Theodore Shay, and Dr. Harley Zeigler.

Dave Steward heads the slate of new officers as president and he will be assisted by Merlin Hofstetter, vice president; Ashley Rose, treasurer; Stan Culy, secretary; and Miriam Mathews, historian.

Gowns Ready Friday

Seniors taking part in Glee must pick up their caps and gowns next Thursday or Friday in the bookstore, announced Mrs. Larson. Fee for use will be $2. They must be returned to the bookstore Monday or Tuesday following Glee.

Women Pledge as Open Rush Ends

Fifteen women were pledged to campus sororities as of Tuesday evening, according to Elaine Gustafson, Panhellenic president. Spring open rush will continue through today.

Wearing the red and green ribbons of Alpha Chi Omega are Janice Bean, Jennice Robnett, Margaret Shaffer, Peggy Tunnell, Susie Moulton, Donna Cunningham, and Pat Renshaw.

The new pledges of Chi Omega are Mary Loening, Lynn Coleman, and Cathy Johnson.

The dart of Pi Beta Phi is being worn by Dot Manker, Gretchen Goodrich, Arleen Niemi, Barbara Boniface, and Mary Ella Rose.

The Amen Corner

"The Stranger Within Our Gates," an inspiring program which presents the story of the Negro whose position in the United States presents a challenge to Christians of all denominations, will be given at a Wesley sponsored ecumenical meeting of all the Salem college youth groups Sunday evening.

The story will be told through spiritual and narrative by Mrs. Brooks Moore, Betty Starr Anderson, and Mrs. Josef Schnelker.

ed at the dance tomorrow evening. This annual formal affair, sponsored by the Lettermen's Club, will be from 9 to 12, in the campus gymnasium.

Chairman Paul Edwards announced that tickets, at $1.50 per couple, may be purchased in the Student Body office, or from any letterman.

BRAD LUCUS, Frank Caruso, and Jac Fowler, who comprise the decorations committee, stated that they were planning spontaneous decor, with a spring atmosphere prevailing.

The refreshments committee, headed by Keith Driver, will serve punch and cookies; Freddy Keller's band will provide the music for the dancing couples.

Chaperones and honored guests invited by Vic Backlund, include Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Les Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Long, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ogdahl, Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Shay, Sgt. and Mrs. Donald Curtis, Dr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, Dean and Mrs. Robert Gregg, Dean Elmer Rieck and Dean Regina Ewalt. BROWN-HAIRED and blue-eyed Gloria Carver is a sociology major from Portland. She is 5' 7½", and a member of Alpha Chi Omega. She will be escorted to the dance by Brad Lucas, to whom she is pinned.

Former secretary of her class, blond, blue-eyed Ginny Grant is also a newly-elected member of the Rally Squad. Her home is in San Mateo, Calif.; and she is planning to major in foreign languages. A member of Pi Beta Phi, she will be escorted by Dick Audley.

The newly-elected song queen, Nettie Hansen, will be escorted to the dance by Tom Johns. A member of Alpha Chi Omega, this blond and blue-eyed home economics major is from La Center, Washington.

A 5'2½" SOCIOLOGY major, Sylvia Quiring is also a member of Alpha Chi Omega. A new pledge of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman scholastic honorary, her home town is Hermiston. This brown-haired, green-eyed coed will be taken to the dance by Ed Grossenbacher.

Stephanie Ryer, a Dorris, California student, is planning to major in Spanish. A member of Alpha Chi Omega, she is 5' 4½", with brown hair and blue eyes. She wears the pin of Don Smith.

The Social Scoop

By FLOSSY HODGE

Seek out a television set tonight at 8 o'clock and watch Willamette astound the entertainment world with tidbits from Freshman Glee. Ron Kingsley will lead a 16-man chorus from the Beta Theta Pi house singing "Jason, Daddy," the winning novelty song two years ago.

An unusual inhabitant of the Doney Hall guest room was Dr. Frank Baxter, the fascinating visitor to campus on the just-held Atkinson Lecture Series. Dr. Baxter seemed to be of the opinion that you should live life to its fullest, and now he has a stay in a woman's dormitory to add to his experiences.

At seven o'clock last Saturday morning the Delta Gamma pledges locked themselves in the basement of the house under the pretext of having "song practice." Many songs and hours later they came out of hibernation and serpentine the members into a beautifully re-decorated chapter room of pale yellow and brown.

Members of the cast and crew of "The Victors" met for a cast party at Professor Robert Putnam's following the final performance Saturday evening. Prof. Putnam explained that costumes for the next drama department production "Don Juan" will be long capes, flat black hats, and floor-length outfits.

Be sure to save time next week for the YWCA sponsored dance, which will begin after Glee practices Friday evening. The dance, which will afford the last opportunity to make Glee bets, will be held in the YWCA basement.

New Members Added by Frats

Initiation ceremonies were completed Sunday by two fraternities, Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta, following formal and informal preparation.

Added to the Phi Delta Theta membership roster were Don Coe, Tim Campbell, Pete Blewett, Tom Whitehurst, Truman Baird, Tom Caylor, Hall Sisson, John Sweeney, Larry Lynn, and John Trelstad.

Through the SPORTS SCOPE

by Paul Aldinger

Dr. G. Herbert Smith presents John Lewis a gift and congratulates him for a job well done in a decade of coaching at Willamette.

Nearly 2000 fans jammed their way into Willamette's gymnasium last Saturday night in honor of Coach John Lewis. It was "John Lewis Night" at Willamette University, and it marked the end of a decade of coaching and working with the young men of Willamette. It was a big night for the popular Bearcat mentor, who has had a long and highly successful career in the world of sport.

The John Lewis story dates back to high school days in Seattle, where he was an outstanding athlete. Upon graduating from high school he enrolled in the University of Oregon, where he made the All-Northern division teams in both basketball and baseball. After graduation John pitched for the Yakima club in the old WI league for two years. In his first season in professional ball he racked up 12 wins against 7 losses. The development of a bad arm forced his retirement from pro ball.

He started his coaching career in Kent, Washington, and then moved to Roosevelt High in Portland. John compiled a record of 40 wins against 18 losses as head baseball and basketball coach at Roosevelt. After two years at the Portland school, John served a hitch in the navy as lieutenant (jg). He returned to Portland, after his term in the service, to Grant High. He again proved his winning ability by annexing 11 out of 16 on the maple court, and 8 out of 12 on the diamond. After putting in one year at Grant, John came to Willamette with an enviable 59-27 won and loss record for five years of high school coaching.

In an era when the whole idea of collegiate athletics seems to be on how many games are won during the season, and the emphasis is being placed on the tally at the end of the game and not on how it got that way, Coach Johnny Lewis has continued to demonstrate that a coach can have a successful career and still place the emphasis on the type of sportsmen he is developing, not only for the weekend game, but for life. The many athletes that played under Lewis and have gone on into the coaching and education ranks are ample proof of the inspiration he has been to them.

Lewismen Top NWC Leaders In Final Game

IT WAS "John Lewis Night" at Willamette University last Saturday evening, and so, altogether fitting that the Willamette Bearcats should turn in their greatest effort of the season in defeating league leading Pacific University.

Playing before a capacity crowd, which included many former athletes who came to honor Coach

Lewis on his tenth anniversary at Willamette University, the Lewismen humbled Pacific, 84-80.

HAVING LOST a close 71-68 decision to Lewis and Clark on Friday night, the Bearcats came back to play inspired ball and, with grim determination, to win this one for their coach.

Basketball fans saw the lead alternate 24 times throughout the contest before the Bearcats finally went ahead for good, 75-74, on Ed Grossenbacher's set shot with four minutes to go. The flashy freshman dumped in 13 field goals and canned 10 of 11 from the charity stripe to pick up 28 points for the evening. This was good enough to nab high point honors for the game, and put himself at the top of Bearcat scoring for the season.

HOWEVER, the final outcome of the game was settled by Don Hoy, scrappy senior, who dashed up and down the court to dump in four field goals and one gift toss in the final 1:55 of the game.

Neil Causbie, who grabbed 15 rebounds, along with Hoy and Vic Backlund, gave the Bearcats needed backboard strength when they needed it. Ron Taylor, who started his first game since he injured himself at Linfield on January 12, played a tremendous ball game and shot at a .500 clip in registering 13 counters.

WILLAMETTE hit 30 of 67 shots from the floor for a game average of .447. They made 24 of 29 free throws. Pacific shot at a .369 average.

The preliminary game saw Pacific Jayvees beat the Willamette Bearkittens, 69-58. This was only the second loss for the Bearkittens in conference play.

Cindermen Work For Opening Meet

WILLAMETTE cindermen have been working long and hard in an effort to get into shape for the first practice meet with the University of Oregon on March 23, and the Willamette Relays on March 30. Coach Ted Ogdahl has 15 returning lettermen out for this year's squad, plus a fine looking crop of freshmen harriers. Of the 15 returning monogram winners, nine of them placed in the Northwest conference meet last year.

This year, Ogdahl will have lettermen Jim Anderson and Windy Sequeira along with Jim Scoggin in the 100 and 220 sprints. In the 440, veteran Bob Schaefer will run with freshman Jack Berkeley. The distance running will be handled by veteran Dale Hartman, who holds the district 4 NAIA championships in the 880 and mile, along with veteran Don Miller and neophytes Ted Cook, Dick Chanda and Darr Johnson.

OGDAHL HAS letterman Paul Shaffer and freshmen Dave Scott and Ron Hespe in the hurdles. Two veterans, Gordy Domagolla and Lowell Nichols, will be the broad jump men. The high jump will call on Jim Whitmire and Larry Thompson. Both men placed in the conference meet.

Lettermen Gary Raid, Gary Schmalie and Jim Person will carry much of the load in the shot put, with help from Larry Klang, Dale Greenlee and Bob Roy will be the discus men. These two will repeat as javelin throwers along with Terry Kent.

Bearcat Golfers On Practice Tee

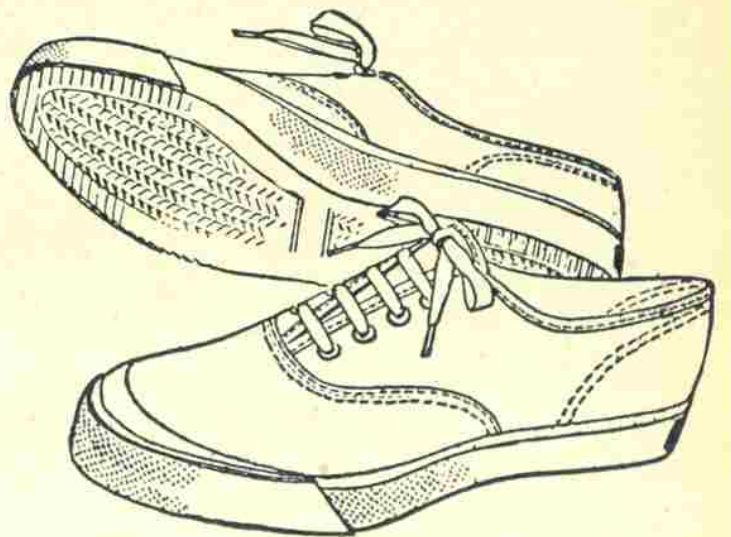

WILLAMETTE'S golf team, the defending Northwest conference champions, held their first organized practice last Monday. Coach Jerry Long greeted a number of prospective team players along with four returning lettermen.

Tom Loree, the Northwest conference medalist, is back along with Bob Withers and Lowell Fox. The fourth monogram winner is Ron Hoxey, who lettered before entering the service two years ago. After outlining the program for the season, Coach Long announced that each golfer would practice on his own for the remainder of the week.

Lane, Johnson to Perform In Piano-Vocal Recital Mar. 12

Council Discusses Refugee Aid Plan

A plan to bring four Hungarian refugees to Willamette was presented to Student Council by Marge Stout, chairman of a committee composed of Unesco, YM, and YW members, and after much discussion it was accepted.

Miss Stout reported that housing for a student would be supplied by the Salem Council of Churches, jobs by Meier and Frank, and the cash by Willamette students themselves. To obtain this money, she proposed a plan whereby the food service would serve four meatless meals, the money that would ordinarily be spent for meat going to the Hungarian fund.

Whether or not this plan goes into operation depends entirely upon individual students Miss Stout pointed out, as there must be 100 percent favorable response from students affected before permission will be granted by University authorities to use it. Those students living in the various units of Baxter Hall and the two women's dormitories will be the ones affected.

A committee has been working on this project since the outbreak of the Hungarian revolution when Student Council requested Unesco to investigate the possibilities of bringing some Hungarian refugees to the campus. Working on this committee have been George Gray, Marge Stout, Mary Lou Krause, Joe Stewart, Lucy Myers, Dick White, and Charlotte Means.

"SONATA IN E-FLAT Major" by Haydn will be the first number for Miss Lane, and "Polonaise in C-sharp minor, Op. 26 No. 1" by Chopin, and "Intermezzo, Op. 117, No. 1" by Brahms will also be presented. She will conclude with "Prelude in E minor" by Mendelssohn.

A member of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honorary for women, Miss Lane is also corresponding secretary of Chi Omega sorority. She is studying piano under Prof. Stanley Butler.

JOHNSON, A MEMBER of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, is a senior majoring in psychology and is completing his second year of voice under the instruction of Mrs. Clorinda Topping.

He will sing "Thou Art Gone Up On High" from the "Messiah" by Handel, "Die Mainacht" and "Vergibche Standchen" by Brahms. Johnson will end the recital with "Fog" by Harris, "Manhattan Joy Ride" by Sargent, and "Swampland Song" by MacGimsey.

Change Washington Program To First Semester Next Year

Beginning next fall, Willamette will be changing its position in the Washington, D.C. semester program which is sponsored by American University. The students taking part in the program will study in the national capital during the first semester of their junior year from September, 1957, to January, 1958.

THIS CHANGE was the result of a conference with American University at which it was decided that it would be more advantageous for the students to have three consecutive semesters in their major field after participating in the program.

It will be necessary for present sophomore social science majors interested in the program to see Dean Robert Gregg before spring vacation. A faculty committee will select the Washington Semester students in April.

ACCORDING TO Dean Gregg, interest in the program has steadily increased through the years. Willamette entered the program in the spring of 1951 with a quota of two students per year. During the first four years the quota was never exceeded, but last year three stu-

Cavern Juke Box Still Unprofitable

Music strains from the Cat Cavern are becoming more popular, but there will have to be more student interest shown in the juke box, in order for it to maintain the place it now has, according to Bill Davie, student manager of the juke box.

The juke box was installed on February 1 and has not yet proved to be very successful. Willamette is borrowing it on a rental basis and the first $7.00 will go to the Ferguson enterprise and after that the money that goes into the juke box will be split fifty-fifty.

The Student Body is maintaining the juke box on a two week trial basis, and unless the use of it is increased it will be removed at the end of that time.

The records are changed weekly, and the popular song for this week has been "I Love My Baby," by Jill Corey. Davie added that the students are the only ones that can make it possible to keep the juke box in the Cat.

Decisions Group Recommends Formation of UN Police Force

"The U. S. Military Strategy in the Nuclear Age" was the topic of discussion of the Great Decisions group which decided that a development of a United Nations police force with enough strength and power to take a position of authority to act in emergencies was necessary to maintain security in this atomic age.

THE FINAL meeting of the group of informed Salem citizens who have met weekly in the Willamette Fine Arts building for the purpose of discussing the problems that currently confront the legislators and state department officials, will be Tuesday evening, beginning at 6:30.

In spite of the fact that the United States and allies have fewer numbers in terms of military forces, the group decided that the basic military strategy of the U.S. should be to try to build armed forces that are better equipped and more mobile than the communist forces.

TO PREPARE for a possible surprise attack the U.S. should, in the opinion of several members of the group, step up the construction of radar and other warning systems for the United States, speed up the civil defense measures on a state and local basis, and raise the Air Force budget for interceptor planes and missiles.

They also felt that the government should raise armed forces pay and benefits in order to attract "professional" soldiers, sailors and airmen who will stay in the services long enough to become efficient and effective in the use of complicated new weapons and equipment, and once the U. S. gets a professional military establishment, cut or eliminate the draft. Featured guest of the meeting, Willamette's Professor of Air Science, Lt. Col. Edwin Fritsch, emphasized this point by mentioning that it costs the taxpayers $125,000 to train one man to pilot one of today's modern aircraft, so it is highly desirable to motivate him to remain in the service for more than three years.

IN REGARD TO "little wars" or police actions that have occurred so much in recent years most of those present felt that their handling should be done by the U. S. by equipping our armies with both conventional and atomic weapons

U of O Group Sets Ski Meet

Ski Quacks, University of Oregon ski enthusiasts, extend through the Collegian an invitation to participate in their Mud Cup Slalom and Crazy Race on Sunday, April 7.

An entrance fee of $1.50 will be charged, and all skiers, whether lodge or racers, are urged to wear unusual outfits and a "crazy hat."

The main event will be the Mud Cup Slalom (a replica of the Mt. Baker fun races) which requires skill in maneuvering up and down inclines through gates, and over, under, and around various obstacles placed on the main course. No specific classifications are set and any individual may enter the races.

Six trophies will be awarded to the first, second, and third place winners of the slalom in both men's and women's divisions. First place winners will claim large gold engraved cups approximately a foot and a half high.

WITS Elect Newberry President Second Time

Dan Newberry was re-elected president of the Willamette Independent Town Students at a recent Monday noon meeting. Included in the rest of the executive council are Sharon Bates, vice president; Dorothy Hudson, secretary-treasurer; Angela Bower and Leroy Cornie, student representatives; Alan MacKillop, religious life council representative; activities board, Don Hodges.

The other day our vice president in charge of good news announced that someone, somewhere, enjoys Coke 58 million times a day. You can look at this 2 ways:

Either we've got an incredibly thirsty individual on our hands. Or Coca-Cola is the best-loved sparkling drink in the world.

We lean to the latter interpretation.
