GEORGE McLEOD

THE Republican party is rendering a great public service in the United States today. Whether you approve of its policies is not important. True, from a national point of view, the Republican party is the minority party at the moment. But it is the opposition party. Therein lies its value.

It is playing the same significant role that the Democratic party assumed from 1929 until 1932, framing the issues, exposing graft, keeping the game in bounds, and critically testing the policies of the administration. This forces the majority party to alertness. This exposes weaknesses when they appear.

This function is as vital to the preservation of democracy as is the work of the dominant party with its victory at the polls. If the Republican party had crumbled in 1936 and none had taken its place, the American form of government would have been struck a terrific blow.

In Germany, Italy, and Russia there is one party and one alone. Consequently there is no popular government. The harsh authoritarian state is the absolute master.

But in America we have always had the good fortune to have at least two ambitious major parties in the field fighting lustily. Thus American democracy has endured. Of course, a Constitutional system and the common aspiration of our people for freedom has also been a powerful force in the scales for liberty.

No one should be bitterly partisan, however, irrevocably a Republican or irrevocably a Democrat. The man or woman who votes the party ticket and votes it straight year in and year out no matter what the issue may be, no matter who the candidate is, behaves more like a fascist or Nazi than an American.

As a whole the American people do not make this mistake. The Republican candidate for president was given a 21 to 15 million victory in 1932. They reversed the order 22 to 15 in 1932. Among individuals, however, this fault is far too common.

In party conventions the cry is frequently raised, "The party is bigger than any man." There is no honesty in such a doctrine. If you are a Republican, Democrat, or member of one of the minor political groups and your party endorses a man who you know is dishonest or unfit for public office, or if your party champions a cause which you know is wrong, fight the candidate or the issue to the last ditch.

You should not stand on the sidelines, refusing to join either party. Neither is morally perfect, neither deserves to stand on a pedestal unassailed. There are many offenses to which neither group can honestly plead, "Not guilty."

However, if you are to exert any influence for good in the public affairs of your community or state, and no one has the right to evade this duty, you should leap into one or the other of them.

Then you will be in a position to lead a two-fronted attack against every corrupt issue and against every crooked candidate within the party machine. You will then be in a position to force party leaders from time to time to put their house in order. You will be in a position to support honest men and to back issues that win.

Classes Begin Practises For Annual Glee; Ladd & Bush To Sponsor Coast Broadcast

Art Kirkham To Announce Program Over Station KOIN; Arrangements Made For Distributing Tickets; Reserved Seat Ducats Available Wednesday A. M.

Freshman Glee plans are rapidly being shaped for the 30th annual presentation to be held this year on March 5th in the Willamette gym. Classes have begun intensive practice on their respective songs and formations. With loyalty as this year's theme, the songs have no limitations as to style but follow the standard loyalty song form.

Ladd & Bush bank is sponsoring the broadcast of the Glee this year over a coast hook-up from KOIN with Art Kirkham announcing. Seniors will march in at 7:15; the program will start at 7:30; and the broadcast is scheduled to begin at 7:45. No seats will be held after 7:15.

Faculty members may secure their Glee tickets at Sparks' office. No tickets will be available to outsiders, and the faculty and alumni tickets will be limited due to the large number of students. It is hoped that through the courtesy of Ladd & Bush, the broadcast will reach all those not able to attend the Glee.

Exchange tickets will be given out to students on March 2. Participants in the Glee will receive two tickets on presentation of their student body tickets, while non-participants will receive one ticket. On March 4 reserved seat tickets will be given out starting at 7:00 a. m.

COURTESY OF THE UNIVERSITY

Through the courtesy of the university 1500 extra issues of this week's Collegian are being mailed to alumni living in the western states. Alumni wishing to receive the Collegian regularly may do so by sending the alumni membership dues to the secretary of the association, Miss Fay Sparks, care of Willamette university.

Rahe Will Take Group Of Debaters To Tacoma

Prof. Rahe is planning to leave March 3, with several Willamette debaters for the College of Puget Sound debate tournament. This is a junior college tournament and only freshmen and sophomores are eligible. Beside the debate entries Prof. Rahe plans to enter Bill Thomas in extemporaneous speaking. The debaters have not been selected. The tournament lasts three days and the Willamette representatives plan to return on March 8. At the forensic meeting last night further plans were laid for the tournaments at C. P. S. and Stockton and the H. F. L. tournament at Reno.

O'Sullivan To Meet Delta Theta Phi Men

National Chancellor O'Sullivan of Delta Theta Phi, Honorary Law Fraternity, will be in Salem, Tuesday, March 1. To enable members of the local profession to meet him an alumni banquet has been scheduled for 8 p. m. at the Quille to which all present and former members of the honorary are invited.

Tree Presented to School on Feb. 22

An unusual chapel program was held on Tuesday, February 22, at which a tree that had come indirectly from the famous elm tree under which George Washington took command of the American army at the outbreak of the Revolutionary war, was presented to the university. The fact that Tuesday was Washington's birthday and that the father of Jason Lee, founder of Willamette, was a member of the Revolutionary army added historical significance to the program. The tree was presented by Mrs. Helen Warren of Oceanlake, Oregon.

Dr. R. M. Gatke, Political Science professor and authority on Oregon history, presided over the program. The Rev. Lynn Wood of the Jason Lee Memorial church read scripture, the Rev. Louis Magin led prayer, and Ralph Gustafson sang. Mr. Robert Hendricks, a member of Willamette's board of trustees, gave a talk on Oregon history with reference to the tree. Other members of the trustees and those people who have had some connection in the caring for the young tree were on the platform.

Owing to interference of construction of the new library, the tree will not be planted until a later date. It will be placed beside the rock in front of the gymnasium, marking the place where Jason Lee had his first school.

Two prominent men gave challenging speeches on February 23 and 24. The first speaker, Dr. Charles Schofield, president of the Hiff School of Theology, affiliated with the University of Denver, spoke on the living of a full life.

He said, "A man has to live," and further commented that to live means to be aware of persons as persons, aware of God as the most significant thing of life; and aware of the meaning of what we do.

On February 24, Mr. Rex Putnam, the state superintendent of education, addressed the student body. His speech, entitled, "The Lost Generation" dealt with the economic conditions affecting our present generation. He ended with the dramatic statement and question, "You are almost ready to grasp the torch. Are you ready for it?"

Want Your Shoes Cleaned, a Ride In a Wheelbarrow, Or An Oyster To Guzzle? Make the Bets Early

Have you ever seen Johnny McNeas in a formal dress or Grover Williams in a red nightshirt? If you've never seen "Cecily" Quessoth as a flirtatious Willamette co-ed or Margaret "Beau" Hauser as the advertisement of what "what the well-dressed man will wear," you ain't seen nothin' yet. But you don't have long to wait. It won't be long until the ill-fated day when the losers of Freshman Glee bets gather round to pay off their foolish wagers.

On the Monday after Glee you will think that you have wandered into the wrong institution by mistake, and that you are at the end of Center street instead of only halfway.

It's lots of fun making Freshman Glee bets and lots of fun paying them off—for those that don't have to pay. You probably laugh now and think you'll never make such foolish bets as rolling a peanut along a block with your nose or wearing a red nightshirt and derby to school. But don't worry, you'll fall with the rest; and about about the third night of practicing without sleep, you'll probably end up by promising to propose to Dean Schulte or sing the winning song in front of chapel yourself. Even dignified Seniors make foolish bets that they'll regret every time they look in the snap section of the Wallulah.

There's one day of the year when we know one class will be clean, and that's when the losing class takes its annual bath in the

Another Prize Is Given Bill Clemes

Talented W. U. Speaker Gets Second Place

Bill Clemes was awarded the beautiful medal for winning second place in oratory at the regional Pi Kappa Delta debate tournament, held at Linfield last week. Clemes placed first in a field that included 35 contestants.

Bill Thomas won third in extemporaneous speaking. Thomas had high ratings in the preliminary rounds but ran against the disadvantage of being first of the eight speakers in the finals and was rated down to third place. Thomas competed against 65 speakers.

Aldus Smith and Bill Thomas won eight of 11 debates, winning second place. Whitman, unbeaten, captured first spot. The team of Albert Klassen, Roger Miller, and Lando Heibert, won seven of 10 arguments. Klassen and Miller are both sophomores and promising debaters for the next two years as well as for the Pacific Forensic league tournament this spring.

Francis Wise and Myron Pogue began their career by winning their first debate by default, but lost out in the seventh round. The team of Bob Campbell, John Hobson and Wayne Williams made a creditable showing but also fell out after the preliminary rounds. Some 40 teams representing 20 colleges from Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, and Utah, competed.

Doris Darnelle literally "joked" her way into the finals of the after-dinner speaking contest against 12 other contestants. Speaking on "Make-Up" and the "Big Apple," Doris advanced to the last round only to lose with the topic, "Ten-Cent Stores."

A number of representatives from from Willamette gave moral support to the contestants by their presence at the meet. Dr. Baxter, Ed Minneman, Bob Laws, Don Smith, Bertha Boyce, Linn Zimmerman, Ella Mae Morris, and Dorothy Pro.

Professors Rahe and Mosher, and Mr. Cray of Salem acted as judges for various events at the meet.

Five Open Houses Listed For Chresto

Five more Friday night Chresto open houses will be held this year, according to Ruth Tscharnar, Y. W. C. A. hostess in charge of Chresto.

"Since student body affairs will come on the other Fridays of this semester, Chresto will not be open," states Miss Tscharnar. Following are the dates on which Chresto will be open, and the slogan, "Let's Go Chresting," will be in full vogue.

Dr. Barker Talks To Faculty Group

Before members of the Faculty club of Willamette Wednesday evening, Dr. Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University of Oregon, gave a revealing lecture on his recent "discoveries" in the archives of the Hudson Bay company.

Dr. Barker, together with Dr. Robert Clark, head of the history department at the University of Oregon, spent four months in London recently to find out material pertaining to records, the only authentic sources, of Oregon history. There are two large rooms completely filled from floor to ceiling with reports, letters, accounts, journals, and diaries which trace back to the founding of the Hudson Bay company during the reign of King Charles to the contemporary reports.

Since the company is a private concern, records have been withheld from publication and historical research. Valuable information stored in the archives deals with the Columbia River district, west of the Rocky mountains, north of San Francisco up to Alaska.

Dr. Barker and Dr. Clark covered some 300,000 words of Dr. McLaughlin's records, letters, and diaries of a period of about 30 years from 1824. It was found that since the actual record was denied, the early history of our Oregon country information was gathered by surmise and guess works, most of which were legendary and hearsay.

It has been conclusively proven that "reliable histories" have to be rewritten since our present knowledge has been so misinterpreted.

The Hudson Bay company has agreed with the Champlain Society to permit a volume a year to be published. Chronologically speaking, it would take over 40 years before the material of our special interest would be touched.

Several offers have been made to the company by universities to have permission of the publications of the original records, but nevertheless still remains unavailable and regarded as the unedited, unpublished American history.

Dance Listed As Tourney Climax

As the final event of the basketball tournament the student body is planning a large dance in honor of the visiting teams.

The old high school gymnasium will be the scene of this dance Saturday night from 10:00 until 12:00 o'clock. Irma Oehler has arranged to have Church and his Deacons furnish the music.

Beverly Brown is in charge of the decorations which will carry out the basketball theme. The faculty members who will act as patrons and patronesses are Professor and Mrs. Moser, Professor and Mrs. Rahe, Mr. and Mrs. Sparks, and Mr. and Mrs. Maple.

You now have the invitation and a hearty welcome so we hope to see the student body en masse and visiting athletes.

Prof. and Mrs. E. S. Oliver Hosts to Fireside Group

Professor and Mrs. E. S. Oliver entertained members of the student body in another of the series of Faculty Firesides on Sunday afternoon. Informal discussions and a light supper occupied the major portion of the afternoon. Those students attending the affair included Mary Sadler, Eleanor Sherman, Irma Taylor, Ella May Morris, Jessie Mae Ruhndorf, Harold Hutchison, Bill Laughlin, Charles Neville and Ed Minnemann.

SEVEN PRESENT SERVICE

Seven students from Willamette presented the service of the Sixteenth Annual Observance of Race Relations Sunday held at the Knight Memorial Church, February 13, at 7:30.

Charlotte Eyre, senior here, presided over the entire program. The program included a solo, "A Brother of All the World," by Maynard McKinley, and addresses by John Whitaker, Evelyn Welsh, Mack Timms, Martha Okuda, and Dan Moses.

ALUMNI NOTICE

The broadcast of the thirtieth annual Freshman Glee program will be heard over station KOIN, Portland, and affiliated stations on the Pacific coast, from 7:45 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. on Saturday night, March 5. Ladd and Bush Bank, of Salem, are sponsoring the network broadcast of the event.

Three Delegates Back From Theatrical Meet

At Seattle, Wash., Feb. 17, 18, 19 a conference of Little Theatre Groups was held on the University campus. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Oppen and Mary Elizabeth Kells represented Willamette.

The 300 delegates spent most of the three days visiting various theatres and theatre groups. At the Penthouse, the University of Washington players presented "Stage Door" by Edna Ferber. The studio players presented "Bonzo's Gentle" at the Studio Theatre. "Escape" was given at the Cornish theatre by the Cornish players. The most unusual of the plays was "Black Fury" at the Federal theatre, given by a group of W. P. A. negro performers.

Oliver Husdale, talent director of the Paramount Studios, Hollywood, Calif., was the guest speaker. In his interesting talks he related to representatives of college groups from the entire northwest some of the numerous personalities of the famous Hollywood stars and some of the tricks of his trade that of training new talent to future stardom.

Of interest to those representing Willamette was an item on the first page of the U. of Washington Daily concerning Dean Goodman, class of 1932 Salem high school. He is now a freshman at the university and succeeding in the dramatic group of that school. He has appeared in three plays, "Outward Bound," "Twelfth Night," and "Bourgeois Gentle."

University's "Oldest Professor" Sees Glee As Benefit to School; Expects Improvement This Year

"Who'll swim," is the question the evening of March 5th will solve for the four classes at Willamette when the annual Freshman Glee will be presented in the gymnasium.

For the last 28 years Freshman Glee has been a tradition of Willamette. Weeks previous to the night of the Glee, Willamette students can be seen milling about the campus coming and going to those traditional four o'clock practices.

It has been the position of Dr. Matthews to read the final outcome of the song tuffet. In the estimation of the Willamette's oldest professor the annual event is becoming more popular each year.

According to Dr. Matthews, the subject of the Glee determines the degree of its artistic reproduction. "A serenade can be demonstrated more attractively than a pep song," said the professor.

Past Freshman Glee have all run near the lines of perfection. The class of 1915, an exceptionally brilliant class according to Dr. Matthews, had one of the most outstanding glee of the past years.

"In the past I have always thought that school was primarily a place for study and I opposed all things that detracted from it. But in my later years I have found that the students can do both," related Dr. Matthews. "Yes, the Glee is fine, fine."

This year's Glee promises to be more of a success than last year's demonstration, said Dr. Matthews. One of the reasons that last year's Glee did not have enough singing from the floor, according to Dr. Matthews, is the fact that the students were very tired from the strenuous practices of the week before. For a while the faculty thought the students had forgotten about the annual Freshman Glee, but near the dead line all of the classes swung into practice and put on the program.

"It would be a fine principle for the person who announces the winners and gives the announcements of the Glee to give the depth and swiftness of the mill stream at the same time. That would be a great benefit to the loser," said Dr. Matthews. Dr. Matthews announces the winners.

I know some folks that thinketh he is nothing but a fool, But he receives my sympathy Who flunketh out of school.

I thinketh it is quite unjust To oust him from this joint, But persuade they surely must— He lacketh one grade point.

Impression of the Week

... By RALPH WOODALL

Frank Guerin, "... the rest of the class can take theirs in the Mill Stream if they want to, but I'll take mine this way this year. It's safer."

DEAR EDITOR:

We have been wanting to write this letter for a long time. We very seriously wonder if the students are aware of the fact that there are such things as advertisements in the Willamette Collegian? We wonder if the students are aware of the fact that approximately half of the cost of publishing the Collegian is shouldered by the advertisers?

Contrary to the apparent belief that 'ads' are merely for the purpose of cluttering up the pages, we desire to point out very emphatically that the advertisers have been kind enough to place them there with the hopes of securing patronage from those who read the paper. The managerial staff in selling these advertisements have emphasized the fact that some seven hundred students are attending the university and that they will need to spend their money in Salem, at some place and at some time. A great many weeks have passed since the first of the school year; have the advertisers obtained any results from their "ads"? We know that Willamette students have been patronizing the Salem stores, but do the stores know it? What we desire to say at this point is that Willamette students should mention to OUR ADVERTISERS that they are students of the university; furthermore, the students, since the "ads" are paying for a part of the publishing costs, should at least glance over the paper to "discover" who some of the advertisers are; moreover, Willamette students SHOULD and MUST patronize Collegian advertisers.

We do hope this letter will be printed in a conspicuous place and that it will be read in all seriousness.

Yours truly,

The COLLEGIAN Managerial Staff

Tom Oye, Ass't. Manager

Introducing ...

MISS MARION MORANGE

Eh bien, je ne sais pas, mais—oui, c'est Mademoiselle Morange. For it is French that she so ably presents and renders to the out-cast group of Willamette frenchies. Interesting, too, for she makes it so.

Dawn begins to filter slowly through the closed lashes of a peacefully sleeping Freshman, someone similar in nature to molar Arnold Hardman. Soft, low tones as of a murmuring brook seep into his consciousness. There is something astir, perhaps a deer or a muskrat. But no! He is shocked awake by a thundering cannonade of laughter, a veritable din. And he is startled by the soft blue eyes looking at him over a broad smile of Miss Morange's own lips. Words are pouring out of those lips. French words. How he wishes he knew what they represent! The French class has one less potential sleeper.

Always congenial, helpful, and ever efficient, Miss Morange remains one of the best friends of many students. Her manner of approach to the French language is remarkably clear and makes a difficult thing simple and comprehensible.

Miss Marion Morange, A. M. A. B., is a Willamette graduate and a graduate student of the University of California. She came to Willamette in 1931 and has been progressing rapidly since. It is our sincere trust, Miss Morange, that you will continue to progress, for with you goes the right hand of every Willamette student.

MAGIC OF THE PEN

Edited by JOSEPHINE GILSTRAP

January 22, Saturday night. "Almost" is the key to my living. In one sense, I am almost a student.

My college life has been marred by almost an A or almost a B. Now for the first time I am to almost get a C. The balance is hanging on the final and so little do I know. I'll cram and get almost enough sleep, almost enough time for review, and then almost get a C. That will be the final result. For so it has been in the past. In a like manner, my sociology grade is almost an A. But not quite. In literature my grade will be anywhere from a B to D. Whatever I get will be more than I deserve. For I am not as good as the others who receive practically the same grade. For some reason my paper often indicates more knowledge than is really there. I comfort myself that grades don't count. But I believed that they were of the utmost importance when I got A's and B's in high school. It all depends upon whether or not it is you who receives them.

If you are a professor, you envy the student's carelessness in their studying. If you happen to be the student, you somewhat resent the prof's complacent and satisfied appearance that he at least has been a success.

All of us want too much that we are not willing to pay for. I want better grades but I cannot concentrate sufficiently to obtain them. Even this paper is an attempt to prolong reading the last chapter in Sociology, which I have started at least four times.

As I have perhaps intimated, life is relatively simple if you apply reason to your living. Pre-occupation and rationalization seem to predominate in my own being to such an extent that I am constantly being pulled in all four directions besides the normal pull of up and down.

The Cat's Eye

From all reports, it seems that Willamette students are clamoring for a "dirt column," so the Collegian staff, always aiming to please, will hence forward contribute any and all gossip which it may encounter.

Curtain!!!!!
It has come to a pretty pass when our own Student Body President resorts to eating daffodils at the Sigma Tau formal. We know spring is just around the corner. Talbot, but don't you think that's carrying it a bit too far?

Chuck Watts appears to be giving Betty Wethy the grand rush lately. Doesn't he know that love is a dangerous thing and shouldn't be tampered with. He'll learn.

Has Barbara Chapler changed her name—well, even if she hasn't ask her to explain why her chapel seat is among the "T's," in fact, right in the midst of the "Turners."

Wanted: A ping pong player, fast and trick enough to beat Win-ningham, the ace of the Delta Phi House. Enid thinks her playing cannot be equaled. How would she feel if someone accidentally beat her?

Teisinger is spending a lot of time at Lausanne Hall these days. Don't we remember his doing the same thing last spring.

There is a rumor that Dick Jones ordered two frat pins. Could it be that he's going to wear one on each side of his sweater, or could it be something else?

What does Wally Turner's friend from Oregon State mean by coming to Lausanne Hall and turning a skunk loose?

Harlan Sheldon and Eileen Goodenough were playing tag all over the campus the other day. Don't they know that the squirrels might get scared?

Could the fact that Arnold Hardman went to sleep in Western City class, mean that he stays awake nights thinking of Verna? Grover "Buddy" Williams has changed for the better since his miraculous discovery a few weeks ago. Lds must have a soothing influence on his heretofore argumentative disposition.

Warning: Jim Johnson's 1926 Chevrolet, "the Klunk," is again out of the garage and at large on the streets of Salem endangering the lives of all pedestrians. If you see it coming a block away take our advice and stay on the sidewalk, especially if Virginia is driving.

Ralph Gustafson sang beautifully during Prof. Marshall's Valentine Chapel. It seemed to come from his heart—we wonder? ? ? Who was caught in the park the other night star-gazing from the band stand?

What's the matter with Don Smith? Doesn't he like Willamette women? Where did you get that gal you had at the Frosh-Soph dance? Please answer all questions and turn in to the Collegian, we're curious.

Remember Willamette Co-eds, the campus will be over-flowing with men from other colleges this week-end—it's our duty to be hospitable—so go to it gals! ! ! !

The time has come to quit dishing the dirt for this week, but in the meantime you guys and gals had better look to your laurels and remember that anything you say and do will be held against you.

The Cat's Eye is upon you! ! !

LAW SCHOOL NOTES

It will be of interest to many, who knew Ronald Sherk, member of the Law school and of the Sigma Tau fraternity, to learn that, for the present, he has accepted a position with the Portland Fire department.

The old Salem post-office is rolling up the street, toward the campus. When it is finally situated across the street from the supreme court building, no other law school in the entire country has such an enviable location. Remodeling of the edifice will start in approximately one month and it is expected the Law school will move into the new quarters about May first. Professor Lockenour reports that alumni are responding remarkably well in answer to a plea for donations to improve the new library, which will be situated on the first floor. Class rooms will occupy the second story.

Campus Sororities Rush Again

Willamette sororities again took up rushing this past week for the second semester. The week began with personal rushing on Monday by Beta Chi, Tuesday by Delta Phi, and Wednesday by Alpha Phi Alpha. Prefessional dinners and pledging by all three houses concluded the affairs Thursday night. Sunday, new members initiated last Friday, new pledges, and members will attend First Methodist church.

Second semester rushing was begun Monday with an informal party at the Beta Chi sorority, from 7:00 until 9:00 o'clock. Games and singing were enjoyed by the members and their guests. Miss Jean Hollingsworth, Miss Ina Bennett, and Miss Carolyn Woods made plans for the party.

Delta Phi entertained rushes Tuesday night with an informal party of games. Miss Enid Winchingham was in charge of the evening between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30.

The day being Washington's birthday, games featured patriotic themes and decorations. One novel game played was that of ninepins with apples to which were pinned prophecies of fortunes for the winner.

Emulating Major Bowes and his famous amateur hour, the Alpha Phi Alpha sorority sponsored an amateur hour, which may become equally famous, Wednesday evening, February 23, to entertain the rushes of the sorority during the hours of 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

Included on the program were: a violin solo by Maxine Goodenough, accompanied by Elleen Goodenough; a piano solo by Ariss Jones, a reading by Martha Jane Hottel, a new and startling rendition of chopsticks by Winifred Neal, and numbers from two tris. Script for the hour was written by Rose Ann Gibson who acted as master of ceremonies, performing ably before the microphone.

Sororities List New Pledges

Sorority rushing came to a close Thursday noon when rushes submitted their preferences to Dean Dahl's office. Sororities announce the following pledge lists:

Alpha Phi Alpha: the Misses Anita Allison, Elleen Van Eaton, Vera Walker, Nancy Faust, Mary Head.

Beta Chi: the Misses Virginia Rude, Irene Bliss, Jessie May Ruhndorf, Betty Wethey.

Delta Phi: the Misses Helen Chirgwin, Helen Dean, Charlotte McKee, Arlene Brown, Maxine Case, Eleanor Aspinwall, Virginia Hubbs, Josephine Glatrap.

Law School Planning Banquet

Plans are already under way for the Law School formal banquet to be held in the Mirror room of the Marion hotel, March 15. The freshmen of the Law School will play hosts to the seniors. Judge Larimore of Klamath Falls will give the main address.

Miss Dorothy Ellinger of Mt. Vernon, Wn., is spending two weeks at the Beta Chi house. Miss Ellinger attended Willamette last year. She plans to be on the campus long enough to attend Freshman Glee.

W. U. Hoopmen Defeat C. P. S., On Local Court

Tall Men On Bearcat Team Bring 42 to 30 Win

Led by a trio of tall boys well over six feet, Jerry Gastineau, Bill Anton and Bob White, Coach Howard Maple's Bearcat hoopsters ran up a 42 to 30 victory over the College of Puget Sound Loggers last Friday night on the local court to remain at the top of the conference standings.

The Bearcats started slowly, but a flurry of baskets toward the end of the first half sent the Maplemens into the intermission with a 22-17 lead.

Eberly Injured
The Willamette's hoopsters increased their lead in the second half to score an easy victory. Howard Eberly, star freshman, center from Oregon City, sprained his ankle coming out of an under-the-backboard scuffle, and was lost to the team for several days as a result.

Bearcats Enter Semi-Finals of Tourney

W. U. Hoopmen Get Victories Over Linfield, Portland Fives; Play Pacific Badgers Tonight

Wildcats, Pilots Lose By 44-39, 41-27 Margins To Local Cagers; Kolb, Skopli, White, Anton Pace Cardinal and Gold Scorers

When Coach Howard Maple's Bearcat hoopers defeated Linfield in the first contest of the Oregon state inter-collegiate tournament last Wednesday night, it marked the first time in the last three years of Willamette varsity history that Jerry Gastineau, stellar forward from Missouri, did not play in a Bearcat basketball game.

Gastineau, better known to his teammates as "Gas," "Mule," or "Gashouse," though not able to suit up for the tilt, having just risen from bed where he has been confined with the flu all week, nevertheless, was with the boys in spirit. When Jerry first hit the campus as a freshman three years ago, he broke into the varsity starting lineup, leading the team in scoring for the season.

COACH MAPLE HAS HARD LUCK

Last season "Gas" played as a regular on the conference champion team, coached by Spec Keene, which went through the entire schedule without once tasting defeat. This year, the Missouri star has been used as a reserve, and Jerry has come through in noble style.

It seems that Coach Maple has had just about all the hard luck that one coach could have in one season. Just before the team left for the crucial eastern tour to play College of Idaho and Whitman, big Bill Anton, all-conference center in 1937, took sick with the flu, and Bill Beard, leading scorer of the team at the time, quit school to play professional baseball.

"INVALIDS" GET WELL

Last week, Howard Eberly, star freshman center, turned his ankle against College of Puget Sound, while Walt Weaver, all-conference guard last year, came down with a slight touch of the flu. Then to top it all off, not only did Jerry Gastineau come down with the flu early this week, but diminutive Cecil Quesseth, captain and high scorer of last year's frosh team, was afflicted with the malady as well.

However, all of Coach Maple's "invalids" have been getting well rapidly, and if lady luck stays with the Bearcat coach, he will have all his men back in uniform by tonight, a welcome event, indeed.

Three W. U. Ping Pong Teams Will Meet Badgers

Three ping pong teams from Willamette: Kappas, Alpha Psi's and a school outfit will meet the Pacific university Badger aggregation tomorrow night after the basketball games in singles and doubles play.

The five-man Pacific team is composed of Lawrence Jolma, Harlan McGurdy, Richard Scott, Wesley Sherman, and James Sehorn.

W. U. Team

The Willamette team will probably be composed of Gene Beall, George Gutekunst, Bud Gilmore, Paul Bennett, Don Brandon, Mendel Shusterwitz, and Bruce Shaffer.

Members of the Kappa team who are likely to see action are Bud Koehler, Robert Carver, Clarke, Gilman Davis, "Brick" Barklow, Bill Bardwell, Charles Bickner, and Ralph Gustafson.

The Alpha Psi's will line up with Frank Guerin, George Schreiber, Curtis Johnson, John Kelly, Dan Moses, Cecil Quesseth, Bill Anton, and Wayne Bratnaard.

Willamette Frosh Beat Vancouver In Return Go

Gaining revenge for a defeat earlier this season, Willamette's Bearkittens outdressed Vancouver high, 36 to 21, in a preliminary tilt to the Willamette-C. P. S. fray last Saturday evening.

Speedy Gene Stewart sparked the attack by leaping in 10 tallies. Jones and Maers stood out for the Frosh. Mulder, of Vancouver, led his teammates with 8 counters.

Lineups:

B'kittens 36 21 Vancouver
Miller 2 F. 4 Ellis
Watts 4 F. 2 Propstra
Jones 7 C. 8 Mulder
Maers 5 G. 2 DeJuan
Stewart 10 G. 3 Calavan
Substitutions: Bearkittens, Gallagher 4, Robertson 1, Shaffer 3; Vancouver, Hawkins 3.

Bearkittens Defeat Stevenson, 36 to 16

In a Saturday afternoon hoop melee the Willamette Frosh overcame Stevenson high of Washington, 36 to 16.

Heading the Bearkitten bombardment was Gene Stewart with 11 markers. Following closely, Dick Jones swished the hoop for 10 points.

Victor over Linfield Wednesday night, and Portland last night, the Willamette Bearcats enter the semi-final round of the Oregon State inter-collegiate tournament tonight against the strong Pacific university Badgers, with the winner meeting either Southern Oregon Normal or Oregon Normal for the title, tomorrow night.

With Anton, Skopli, and Kolb leading the scoring, the Bearcats defeated a hard-fighting Linfield Wildcat quintet, 44 to 39. The lead saw-sawed back and forth throughout the contest, and Coach Howard Maple's Northwest conference champions were forced to come from behind to win in the final minutes of the game on two field goals and a free throw by the Bearcat center, Anton, to put the locals out in front, 44 to 39.

Linfield Starts Fast
Linfield got off to a fast start, scoring six points on two baskets by Stranz and free throws by Robinson and Swenson before Anton made the first basket for Willamette. From this point on, the Wildcats continued to hold a lead which varied from two to seven points, and found the boys from McMinnville leading, 22 to 18 at half time.

At the start of the second half, Anton, White, and Skopli brought the score up to 23 to 24, and a shot by Anton put the Bearcats in the lead for the first time.

Stranz Injured

Shortly after the beginning of the final half, Ernie Stranz, Wildcat sparkling and high scorer, fell and dislocated his shoulder in a pile-up, with his teammates still three points in the lead, and was forced to be removed from the game. With Stranz out of the lineup, the Bearcats quickly shot into the lead; but the fighting Wildcats came back to tie the tilt up again and then go into the lead with seven minutes to play, due mainly to the basket hitting ability of Purcell.

With five minutes to go, Kolb on a free throw, again knotted the count for the Maplemen, this time at 37 all. Linfield gained a short lead on a basket by Purcell, but Kolb again tied the count on a howitzer. Big Bill Anton then went to work to score five points to sew up the ball-game at 44 to 39, as the Wildcats remained scoreless.

Purcell Stars
The loss of Stranz to Linfield proved the turning point in the thrilling struggle. Though the Wildcat star was injured early in the second half, yet his point-making ability was sufficient to gain high point honors of the game with 14 markers.

Though "Wild" Bill O'Donnell, of the Portland Pilots garnered 16 points to lead all scorers, the combination of a smoothly functioning Bearcat machine and accurate shooting proved too much, as the Willamette Maplemen piled up a good-sized lead at the beginning of the contest and maintained a safe margin throughout, to give the Bearcats an easy 41 to 27 victory on the local court last night. The win sent the Bearcats into the semi-final round of the Winding up the season with two convincing victories over College of Puget Sound, Coach Howard Maple's Willamette Bearcat hoopers advanced into a tie in the final standings with the Whitman Missionaries for the Pacific Northwest conference championship.

Whitman, by defeating College of Idaho in its two final conference games, assured itself of a tie with the Bearcats, who for the second straight year finished at the top of the league.

Tie For Title Is Second
The deadlock at the top of the standings between Willamette and Whitman is the second in conference history between the two schools, the first being in 1927.

As a result, Willamette and Whitman have identical records in championships, the Bearcats and Missionaries each having won the title five times, with ties between the two schools in 1927 and this year.

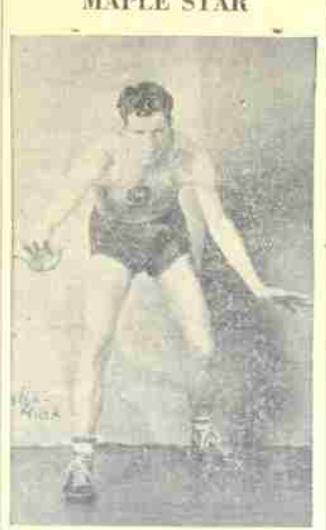

Pacific university's fighting Badgers, with a closing rally down the home stretch in the closing two weeks of the campaign, won five straight games after dropping their first five to jump into a tie for third place with the Albany college Pirates. The Pacific wins included an upset victory over College of Idaho, and the final two over the strong C. P. S. five, all on the home court of the Badgers.

Record of Title Winners

Following is the record of conference title winners since the Northwest circuit was formed in 1926:

1926	Whitman
1927	Willamette and Whitman (tie)
1928	Whitman

W. U. Cubs Finish Fifth
In the minor division, Hollywood, Mathis Roofers, and the United States Bank all finished in a three-way tie for first position with four wins and one defeat each, likewise.

Playoffs of the ties in both leagues were held this week on Tuesday and Thursday nights in the old high school gym. On Tuesday, the U. S. Bank team played Hollywood, and the winner met the Mathis Roofers on Thursday for the second half minor league title.

In the major division General Finance met C. Y. O. on Tuesday, while the winner played the Willamette Frosh Wednesday for the second half city championship. The second half winner will then meet Chemawa, first half champion, for the city major title.

Willamette archers have reason to be proud of their skills according to the results which just came in from the Second Annual Winter Intercollegiate archery meet. In a class of eleven, Willamette stands fourth on the list. Highest score was that of Goucher College in Baltimore, Maryland, whose score was 4741. Our W. A. A. archers' score of 4475 stands high in comparison, especially when one considers it in relation to the lowest score of 2845. Won't Willamette's name add dignity when it graces the top of the list next year?

Volleyball Practice Held

Final make-up practices for W. A. volleyball were held Wednesday night. Archery practices for W. A. A. points will start on Monday, and June Braisted, manager of swimming, is planning on opening the first swimming practice in the very near future. Watch closely for announcements.

Though no intercollegiate women's swimming meets are being arranged, yet Willamette girls who are interested in aquatic sports are urged to turn out for the W. A. A. swim meet, the swimming classes, and the Friday night recreational swims.

Dick Jones Leads Mates To 37-30 Hoop Victory

Playing hands up basketball throughout the game, Coach Lennie Sparks' Willamette Bearkittens last Wednesday night defeated General Finance, 37 to 30, in the city major Y league.
