"Aloha" Dance Tomorrow Sophomores Honor Navy Men Leaving

It'll be "Aloha" tomorrow night to about 125 navy men who will leave Willamette at the end of the term, as the sophomore class honors them at the last all-student-body dance this semester.

Sophomore prexy Lloyd Griffiths and dance chairman Bill Blade are finishing the last minute details which will make the dance a memorable one in the minds of those attending. "Every effort has been made to get a dance band for the dance, but none could be found, so we will have the best records available," Griffiths said yesterday. The dance will be in the WU gymnasium and hours will be from 2030 till 2330.

Tickets for the dance go on sale this morning and will be available until noon tomorrow in the general manager's office. The price is fifty cents per couple.

The dance will be a dressy sport affair (semi-formal) Griffiths said. There will be programs and leis for everyone. Each man will receive a lei for his date when he purchases his ticket and hula girls will greet the dancers at the doors with leis for the men.

Decorations will include palm trees, and other efforts to convert the gym into an Island Paradise, including murals and a false ceiling.

Committee heads include Paul Roscoe, decorations; Betty Randall, refreshments; Barbara Pierce, programs, and Bob Donovan, preparations.

Skillicorn Aims for Climax In Final Days of Bond Sale

"Willamette's Bond Drive reached the $20,000 mark at the close of yesterday's sales and we still hope to surpass last summer's total of $26,710 by plugging for an 'all-campus, all-out' climax in the final days of the drive," says Stan Skillicorn, chairman of the bond sales.

The three-week drive opened on the Willamette campus on January 18 in conjunction with the fourth war loan drive and will close on Tuesday afternoon. Largest day in the Willamette sales was the opening day, when $8,100 in bonds and stamps was sold, putting the drive past its original $5000 goal.

J. D. Slater, leader of Platoon

2, Company A, is the local "Pin-up Boy" having won the contest with a total of $2,512 being paid for him. "Mostly by women," chairman Skillicorn added.

Doug Meeker, blond candidate of Platoon 1, Company A, ran Slater a close second in the affections and purses of Willamette women. "The coeds apparently go for the men from Company A," Skillicorn said. "For the other candidates, Dick Strellman, Cliff Bach, Doc Peters and "Ludwig" Van Liew, were completely out-classed."

'Fireside Chat' Warms Chapel Today

The press secretary of the tan house on upper State street has just issued the following statement from the president's office. "Friends, Willamettes and you, too, faculty. We come to revive our chapel programs, not to carry on in the usual week-day style. Today, this Friday morning, at 1140, a stupendous announcement will be forthcoming betraying the talents of the occupants of the tan house featuring the fireside chatters, the "Eleanors of Beta Chi."

Propaganda being currently spread is that they will give us the inside dirt, everything from ships to slips. But you won't slip when you attend the Beta Chi chapel program today.

Five University Departments List New Courses Next Term

Some of the courses to be offered next semester which are not included in the present curriculum were announced this week by Dean Chester F. Luther. Courses are for upper division credit unless otherwise designated.

Five new classes will be given in the English department. Dr. Helen Pearce will teach "The Victorian Period in Poetry," "19th Century Prose" and "The Renaissance in English Literature" will be given by Dr. H. C. Kohler. He will also teach "Masterpieces of Drama." Dr. E. S. Oliver will teach "Social Ideals of Literature."

Two courses have been added in the sociology department. Dr. S. B. Laughlin, head of the department, will teach "The Family" which carries two or three credits. Prof. Roy Lockenour

Lantz's Office Sells Tickets; Navy Men Granted Liberty

The Willamette University Players present tonight the first Salem performance of "George Washington Slept Here," sophisticated Broadway comedy written by the Kaufman and Hart team. This first major production of the year will be given in the Salem high school auditorium at eight o'clock.

Tickets may be secured in Dr. Robert E. Lantz's office until 5:30 this evening. They may also be procured at the auditorium doors after 7:30 tonight. A student body card plus the five cent tax will admit students. Without the ASB card, the price of admission is fifty-five cents. The side sections of the auditorium are open for blocks, which may be obtained in Dr. Lantz's office until 5:30 this evening. Any group of six or more individuals may secure a block Liberty Granted

Liberty is being granted to all navy men for the specific purpose of attending the dramatic production but no other liberty will be granted.

"The play has shaped up nicely and should roll the audience in the aisles," according to Dr. Herbert E. Rahe, director of the play. "My only worry is to keep the cast from going into convulsions themselves, as this makes the lines so difficult to understand. They manage to control themselves, however, and remain in character very adequately."

The leads of the comedy are played by Darlene Dickson as Annabelle and Warren Durham as Newton Fuller. They are supported by Mr. Kimber, Jack Watson; Madge Fuller, Shirley Morgan; Steve Eldridge, LeRoy Hale; Katie, Charlotte Volk; Mrs. Douglas, Mildred Thurston; Clayton Evans, Robert Rigel; Rena Leslie, Joyce Feiden; Hester, LaVonne Bain; Raymond, Francis Busby; Uncle Stanley, Charles Strong; Leggett Frazer, Gordon Schoewe; Tommy Hughes, Edwin Coulter; Sue Barrington, Phyllis Crowder; Marion Wilcox, Charlotte Volk; Mr. Prescott, Douglas Meeker.

Donna Hinkley and Mary East are responsible for sound effects and Lois Phillips, assisted by Barbara Diefendorf and Alice Rose, will take charge of make-up.

LeRoy Hale New Rotarian For February

LeRoy Hale, laughingly dubbed last month by the student council as "Willamette's One-Man Institution" has seriously been named this month by the Salem Rotary club as "Willamette's Rotarian of the Month," according to Dean Chester F. Luther, who is one of the faculty members of the organization.

Hale came to Willamette at the beginning of the summer semester as a junior from Washington State college. He has served as feature editor of the Collegian since his arrival on the campus and this semester has served as chairman of student chapel programs and a member of the chapel advisory committee. He has written the script for the bond drive shows for both terms, and during the summer, wrote the script which won the inter-platoon chapel show competition.

More of Hale's accomplishments include election to Blue Key, singing in the male chorus and the A Cappella choir, taking part in the drama department's production of "George Washington Slept Here" and writing the words and music for the junior class Freshman Glee song.

Funds Make Grad Work Aid Available

Scholarships and fellowships for graduate work in nearly every field of study are available to Willamette students, according to an announcement made by the dean's office this week. Much assistance is made by funds set up by individual states, higher institutions, different types of organizations, religious denominations and private individuals.

The awards may be restricted in one way or another, the announcement said. Many are free scholarships or fellowships but some are awarded for services given such as teaching or research work, usually in the recipient's major field.

Funds for special lines of investigations such as research in chemistry, physics or medicine are given by industrial organizations or foundations. For scholarships given by individuals and religious denominations, scholarship and financial need are most frequently mentioned as requirements.

who now teaches "Oregon Law of Domestic Relations" will give "Public Welfare Laws."

Dr. Charles L. Sherman, head of the psychology department, will teach three courses that are not given this term. The classes are "Modern Psychology," "Abnormal Psychology" and "Elements of Ethics."

A lower division course, "Family Relationships" will be given in the home economics department by Lois Latimer, department head. Other new courses in that department are "Interior Design" and "Dietetics."

Robinson Spencer, librarian, has announced a course in library cataloging and classification for one or two hours. Enrollment in the class will be limited.

New Stations Still Unknown

No word has been received by Willamette V-12 officers as to location of new duty stations for upperclassmen leaving the unit at the end of the semester, according to Lt. (jg) Marshall E. Woodell, executive officer. Information concerning men replacing them is expected in the near future, he added.

Men remaining at Willamette will have between-term leaves starting February 26 and ending March 5. Classes will begin March 6. Registration for men on the campus now will be held February 19 and for new V-12 students on March 4.

Navy men who are leaving are advised to turn text books into the bookstore as soon as finals are finished to expedite checking out for new duty stations. The bookstore will be open all day on February 24, 25, 26 and 28 and men not leaving the unit should return books on those days unless notified to the contrary, Woodell said.

Activity Lists Due Fri

Senior activity lists received last week by students graduating in March and by other navy seniors should be filled out and returned to Doris Holmes' box in Eaton hall by next Friday.

Prof. Clark To Present The Banner

Prof. W. Herman Clark, one of the faculty members who has been longest connected with Willamette university, has been chosen again this year to present the Freshman Glee banner to the winning class next Saturday night. Clark was chosen last year to succeed the late Dr. James T. Matthews in the awarding of the banner and he has been asked to make the presentation again this year.

Clark was once a Glee participant himself and has always shown great interest in Freshman Glee. In 1911, his freshman year at Willamette, he was manager of the third annual song contest. In recalling the results that year, Clark commented that although the freshman class did not win first place, they ran a close second. He also recalled that his senior class came out fourth but the traditional "swim" in the millstream for members of the losing class had not been adopted then. That feature of Glee was added after his return to Willamette as a member of the faculty.

The persons who presented the banner before Dr. Matthews were Dean Mendenhall, then dean of the Willamette school of music and the late husband of Mrs. Myrtle Mendenhall, who is housemother this year at Frederickson hall, and Dean Patterson of the College of Liberal Arts at the time. Following Dr. Matthews' initial selection to present the banner, he was retained in that capacity as a tradition of Glee until his death in 1942 after 50 years on the Willamette faculty.

Introducing - - -

"Pin-up" Patterson

Ladies and gentlemen! Step right this way! Meet Willamette's No. 1 "Pin-up Girl"—Mlle. Janice Patterson! Miss Patterson, take a bow.

Yes, the young lady among young ladies on the WU campus rules supreme as the student body's choice for the most curvacious thing in these here parts.

But we've always had our hat off for Jan, haven't we? Miss Patterson has exhibited one of the nicest personalities north of the mill stream during her two years at this institution. That no one can deny.

Here are the statistics: The popular Miss Patterson is a resident of Port Lewis, Wash., where her father is a captain in the army. She is 19 years of age, has reddish-brown hair, gorgeously blue eyes (pardon us while we swoon), is an active sister of the Delta Phi clan and boasts of a life that has "never been dead." How could it be with all those qualifications?

Sharp as a tack in the business line, which she plans on going into after college days are through, she likes to talk about the business deal she got in this summer—operating the Black and White. Imagine a pin-up girl bringing you a hamburger and a milk shake! Ah, the life at WU!

But as we were saying—Miss Patterson is a right fine girl. And even though her father is a captain she makes the following statement for publication: "Outside of liking the navy, I like the army best." We aren't sure how she meant it, but we thought it was nice, anyhow.

Bubbling over with modesty, she insists that she can't see how she was ever elected "Pin-up Girl." (Well, we can—and that's enough.)

"I think Lt. Bliss is one of the grandest men. He said the nicest things to me during the coronation Saturday night. But for a while there, I was beginning to wonder whether I was going to get the roses, or whether he was going to take them home."

Outside of being publications manager for the Collegian and the Wallulah, Jan has lots of free time. So, gentlemen (and ladies, too), the next time you see a lovely face greeting you from behind the Cavern counter, say "Hello" to Jan Patterson—the girl with the extra special morale-building charm.

"They Got Me Covered"

Medal for "The Patience of the Week" goes to Dean Chester F. Luther, whose theme song this week is "They Got Me Covered." On Tuesday no less than five Collegian reporters sought out the quiet Dean for desired information . . . all at different times and all on their own. First the math reporter decided she should see him some time before the term was over, then another reporter got a lead on a story which she traced to Luther, then two more reporters who won't confess went to see him for reasons unknown. Finally the regular Dean's reporter made her rounds. Well, repetition is one means of emphasis.

Reviving the WAFPOMEISM

Being short of stature with a name near the top of the Eaton hall mail boxes, we never get out of the mail-box melee without a shower of small meeting notices or fines slips in our hair, in our coat pockets and at our feet. Then begins the procedure of standing on our head in the waste basket to fish out those slips our hands failed to clutch. This begins to get wearisome after a few months, so it has been the custom of Collegian editors each year to start the WAFPOMEISM (Willamette Association for the Prevention of Minute Epistles in Student Mail.)

Hale Tabor first introduced the WAFPOMEISM to Willamette (he was short, too) and Dix Moser (shorter still) carried it on last year. They proposed limiting the smallness of the epistles to something like 3 by 5 inch proportions, but since there is now a paper shortage, we propose building a step-ladder or campaigning for a taller Collegian editor.

Byrd Culls at Eventide

By Pat

After last week's outburst, which incidentally produced few results, I shall return to the realm of the spiritual and discuss the third category of the Good Life . . . Song. In fact I shall enlarge my scope and discuss music in general. It is especially appropriate at this time when the seniors are getting ready to win the 36th Annual Freshman Glee.

Willamette is of course, known for its Singing Student Body. This reputation was no doubt gained when passers-by heard the walls of old Waller resounding on Wednesday mornings with the glorious sound of young voices raised in a lusty Methodist hymn. "Oh, God is the potter, I am the clay, tum de u mit um . . ." Isn't it magnificent? Oh, we are SO musical.

And right under chapel is the second song center of this great university—that cultural seat—the Bearcat Cavern. This hardly needs to be mentioned, for what student doesn't know the joys of lounging in the den of iniquity, sipping a tasty cup of chicory while absorbing the golden notes of Frankie? Kiddies, that's Culture with a capital C!

But now, Dear Readers, I wish to impart to you a little information gleaned from one of my experiences on a higher spiritual plane. Once, I heard it rumored that one could hear good recorded music sometime, somewhere in the Music hall. Few outside the Music school know exactly when the hours are and personally, I think few inside the Music school know.

Anyway, once there in the vast, echoing Music Auditorium you will find lovely steel chairs for your physical comfort as you listen. All you have to do then is sit down, request a composition from the charming, if somewhat bored, attendant and settle back to listen. But, a word of warning to the timid such as I. If there are Music school students there, be prepared to request some highly intellectual selection. Don't ask for such things as the "Ave Maria" or "The Flight of the Bumblebee" or you will find yourself the object of scornful and impatient glances. Once a record is in motion you must remain quiet. That is absolutely de rigueur.

At first you may think the steel chair a bit uncomfortable but a pleasant numbness soon sets in and you no longer notice the discomfort. This numbness of the extremities allows you to concentrate on arranging your face in an attitude either of intense concentration or dreamy abstraction.

Again I must emphasize the necessity of absolute quiet. If you feel a cough coming on, just make a small ball out of your handkerchief and ram it discreetly down your throat—I always find that effective. And don't fidget. Just sit quietly for a little while and you will find that the numbness precedes paralysis so that soon you will not be able to move and can then give your full attention to acquiring a layer of culture. It's really quite pleasant, Kiddies, and as an added attraction you get to hear some future Paderewski or Caruso in the first tottering steps on the road to a career as a virtuoso. I seriously urge all you members of the WU Singing Student Body to try it sometime.

Lastly, but not leastly, the great Musical Highspot of the year is, of course, Freshman Glee. Such talent as is displayed in the writing of these songs! And do you notice the class unity produced by one of these songs? Although lately I have come to the conclusion that this unity is created because the partisans of the selected song surreptitiously do away with the opposition. Truly, WU is a great musical center and we are deservedly known as the Singing Student Body.

P.S. I and the class of '44 think Miss Merritt and Mr. Dobbs are virtuosos in their respective fields and great musicians and as superb musicians they will undoubtedly select our Glee Song as the winner, so if the other three classes wish to save themselves some trouble, they needn't bother to submit their songs.

SCUTTLEBUTT

There's One Born Every Minute . . .

Contrary to Freshman belief, Kangaroo Kourt may pop up at any moment—at which time the poor, bedraggled little Frosh is supposed to shiver in his boots. Well, last Friday's Kourt turned out to be something different for both the under and upper-classmen. After being told to wait until things were prepared backstage, the frosh chatted and squirmed for five minutes or so until MACK TAYLOR peeked behind the curtain to find—NO ONE! MARJORIE BEADLES, LARRY HALL, BUD DAVIS, FRED ANUNSEN, THELMA WILCOX, NANCY STUART, MARY EAST and BILL PROCTOR took the little joke in stride, but President AL FEDJE didn't appreciate the impromptu class meeting, all of which he usually knows something about.

Farewell to a Great Guy . . .

Once upon a time in the not too distant past, the name of BOB WARNER was a common phrase around Willamette—meaning an especially swell fellow with plenty of personality, a heart of gold, a particular ability to make new friends and influence fellow casaba players. All of a sudden, Mr. Warner didn't appear on the varsity ball squad, we began to notice he was regularly absent from class—and we missed him! Then last Saturday morning we were told that he'd left for the Seattle navy hospital.

Right then and there, WU students (and navy men especially) realized they'd lost a real friend. Bob had been carrying on under an unidentified illness all these months—and now he's been sent away to find out the trouble, and the seriousness, of his illness.

To the fact that Warner was a good basketball player, there is no doubt. But all sports (and baseball in particular) were Warner's delight. He loved them like a true sportsman and has always had his heart set on playing professional ball after he's done his bit for Uncle Sam.

Bob Warner left us quietly, but he asked that we tell his friends (and there are a lot of them) "good-bye" for him.

Let's make it, "Au revoir," Bob—and come back soon, will ya!

Where, Oh Where Has My Little Date Gone? . . .

What was MARJORY MAULDING doing in the gym hallway during most of the dance last Saturday night? DOTTIE ESTES says it could have been because ED FERGUSON spent so much time on the decorations, while CARL PLASS claims it was that friend Ferguson got tangled (or mangled) with an incidental palm tree during intermission.

Another Farewell . . .

Over at the Delta Phi house they're regretting the loss of popular HAZEL HOFFMASTER, who left the campus Tuesday for California to recover from a serious heart ailment. They just don't come any better than Hazel, and the women in the house on Court street are eagerly awaiting the day she'll return. And the sailors who inhabited the Cavern when Hazel was on duty will have a long wait before a sweeter smile and personality greets them again.

There Ought to Be a Law! . . .

Since when do dance programs have to take the beating given the "Pin-Up Party" bids? JOHN CUTTHOFF and JACK CHRISTERSON took a lot of orchids for their fine work on the programs until those present turned over and found everything but "Fire Sale" splattered in various colored ink on the back.

Selected Shorts . . .

DARLENE DICKSON "knockin' the boys out" at the "Pin-Up Party" Saturday night. That gal's a card (the joker) . . . ANDY BOHO feeling the call of the jungle all over again between classes—at least that's what KAY WILSON thought after his "Hello" turned into a wolf call . . . The Delta Phi finally getting around to spring cleaning. The occasion: "Open House" Sunday . . . DICK MAXWELL, BILL HANAUSKA, JACK HANNAM and LOUIS FORTINO and other junior men trying to blame the sophomores for the damage they did to BENNET LUDEN'S office.

Exclusive—ANDY BOHO has cut his hair. Yes, "Curlylocks" is now minus a few of his swoon-making curls . . . Chief LOU CARROLL got tough with TED COMSTOCK and others the other day while demonstrating some new Judo holds. DOUG PARKER found himself on the floor several times while meeting Carroll, but no one was as angry as ANDY BOHO, who had just combed his hair a moment earlier . . .

Betty Brock Reveals Troth To French

Miss Betty Brock announced her engagement to Richard French last Saturday evening at a party at the "TNT" house. She revealed the news in a box of candy passed at the party.

Miss Brock is the daughter of Mr. Z. C. Brock of Canby, Oregon. She is a sophomore at Willamette and a member of Alpha Phi Alpha sorority. Mr. French is a former Willamette student and is now employed in Buckley, Washington. He graduated in 1942 and served as president of the campus YM during his senior year.

The engagement was announced to her sorority sisters at the APA house Saturday by a huge bouquet of daffodils with a card bearing the good news. No date has been set for the wedding as yet.

Jan Patterson Chosen 'Pin-up Girl' at Dance

Highlighting the "Pin-Up Party" given by the junior class Saturday night was the crowning of "Pin-Up Girl" Jan Patterson. Miss Patterson was chosen by students when they bought bids for the dance.

At the intermission of the dance the pin-up contestants were called to the band platform while all waited for the announcement. Lt. George C. Bliss announced the winner, placed the white crown on Jan's head and gave her a bouquet of red roses.

Her attendants were the "Pin-Up Girls" from the Women's living organizations. Gloria Brough represented Alpha Psi hall; Olive Torbet, Alpha Phi Alpha; Viola Jacobsen, Beta Chi; Paula Smith, Fredrickson hall, and Elaine Cloudy, Kappa hall.

Miss Patterson represented the Delta Phi house and is a member of that sorority and serves as publications manager of the Willamette Collegian and the Wallulah.

Decorations for the dance featured the "Pin-up" theme and were carried out in a huge mural of a swim-suit clad pin-up girl drawn by Andy Boho and Pat Lamb. Also featured were caricatures of the "Pin-up Boys" drawn by Jim Dyer.

Ex-Student Says Vows

Miss Betty Wirth and Sgt. Russell Beardsley were married in a simple ceremony at Austin, Texas, Tuesday, January 25. The wedding took place at the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 p.m., with the Rev. Frederick Emerson Brooks officiating.

The couple will reside in Austin while Sgt. Beardsley is stationed at South Camp Hood.

The bride attended Willamette university for two years and was a member of the class of 1944. She was affiliated with Delta Phi sorority. Beardsley attended Willamette and is a graduate of Oregon State college. His fraternity is Theta Chi.

Cashier, Bookkeeper Replaces Ewing

Newest addition to the business office is Mrs. Zona G. Allen of Salem. She will fill the positions of cashier, bookkeeper and will keep the student body activity records of the business office. Mrs. Allen came to Salem 22 years ago from South Dakota so the Willamette campus isn't entirely new to her. She likes her new job very much and has "always wanted to get back here." She replaces Margaret Ewing, who will graduate at the end of this term.

Housemother Of Delta Phi Honored

Members of Delta Phi sorority entertained Sunday afternoon in honor of their new housemother, Mrs. Albert Thomas Hill. Students and friends of the house came between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock. They were shown through the house and served tea.

Willamette Closes Basketball Season

Navycats Meet Missionaries In Final Tilt at Walla Walla

Willamette will close its 1943-44 basketball season this weekend with a pair of games against the potent Whitman Missionaries tonight and tomorrow night at Walla Walla.

Whitman earlier defeated the Gonzaga Bulldogs, winners of 14 consecutive games, and ranked among the 10 top teams of the nation. The Missionaries also hold several victories over Northern Division clubs, and will be favorites to tip the Navycats.

With a record of six victories in 18 games, Willamette will attempt to erase some of the sting of 12 losses by a double upset win over the Walla Walla squad. This will be the last time the Navycats play together, probably forever, and they want to make it a memorable occasion. They have been pressed with hard luck all season, losing several games by less than five points.

Because of the large number of players on the squad, it has been extremely difficult for Coach Trotter to mold a five which would be consistent throughout the season. This, coupled with the handicap of short practice sessions and other limitations, has probably contributed heavily to the comparatively poor record.

Never have the fans witnessing Navycats games this year seen a slow or boring conflict. Most, if not all have been closely fought, thrilling affairs, the winner undecided until the final whistle. They lost two or three games by fairly big scores, but to experienced, seasoned and veteran teams. And even in these losses the halftime score was always close.

Perhaps the most effective lineup concocted all year was that of Ray Oberst and "Gigie" Lund at forwards, Dick Maxwell at center, and Ron Runyan teamed with Paul Folquet at guard spots. Folquet and Runyan are top scorers but points are pretty evenly distributed through the whole roster.

WU Archers In Contest

Scores of Willamette archery teams were sent to the Los Angeles City college this week where they will be compared with those of other western schools to determine the winner of the Western division of the intercollegiate archery tournament. Four teams have been picked to represent WU.

Members of the two first teams are Lorraine Nelson, Verna Stocks, Dorothy Hoar, Pat Lamb, Lois Lewis, Shirlee Morgan, Barbara Horton and Geraldine Hanuska. Second team members are Velle Felton, Constance Lowe, Pat Anderson, Marion Rowland, LaVerne Harnsberger, Janice Nelson, Marjorie Noll and Corrine Carpenter.

No tournaments will be held during the week of Freshman Glee. Singles badminton play-offs will be held the week following Glee.

Lovell Speaks Sunday

Dr. R. I. Lovell, history department head, will serve as guest speaker at the First Presbyterian church in Portland Sunday. His topic will be "The Peace We Want."

Lovell is one of six speakers who have been chosen for weekly talks at that church.

Sports Shots...

Ray Oberst

Prominent on this year's Navycat basketball team is Ray "Dutch" Oberst, a forward on the "1st deck" of Coach Duke Trotter's double deck system of substitution.

Born in Silverton, Oregon, Oberst moved to Portland in 1935, attending Washington high school. While there, he played two years of basketball and three of baseball, which is his main sport. He was selected on the all-city baseball team two years and was nominated for second string on the all-star basketball squad. He and Paul Folquet played basketball together in 1941 for Washington.

Leaving high school, "Dutch" picked Oregon State for his college education. The freshman ruling, which prohibits first year athletes from varsity competition, was lifted and as a result, Oberst was on the regular baseball team. In fact, so good was he, that he made the Northern division all-conference team, being tabbed the best shortstop in the league.

His baseball experience is not confined to schools, for he has played four years of top-flight independent baseball, highlighted by last year's playing with the Portland Firemen. This aggregation participated in the National Semi-pro tournament at Wichita, Kansas and finished in fifth place among the top teams of the nation. The Firemen were chosen as the number one young team in the country, the team's age averaging only 18 years.

Ray is not a big man, being five feet, nine inches tall and weighing 160 well-distributed pounds. He's only 19 years old, but has already established himself as both a baseball and basketball player of no little ability.

He's a sophomore, so has about nine months left at Willamette, as a deck officer candidate.

Carl Plass

Coming into the spotlight in last Saturday's game between Willamette and the Oregon Armyducks, Carl Plass possesses the best shot-percentage of any man on the 'Cat team. He has taken only seven shots all year, but has made good on five of them for an average of .714.

Carl is 21, five feet, ten and weighs about 150. Like Oberst, he attended Washington high school in Portland. Besides this, he spent two years at the University of Portland. He was born and has lived in the Rose City all his life.

Plass has the distinction of no previous experience on a high school or college basketball team, but was good enough to make this year's squad at Willamette. He is not necessarily a pointmaker but a steady floor man and a good passer. His only experience is two years of intramural basketball at Portland U.

Starting his second game of the season when the 'Cats faced the Oregon team, Plass took three shots, making them all. Then he missed one and ended up by hitting another for a total of eight, high for the game. He played only the first half.

He was active in school affairs in college, being president of the sophomore class.

Carl is a deck officer candidate and will leave Willamette at the conclusion of the present term about February 20.

Three Professors Absent From Classes

Three professors were absent from classes this week due to illness. Dr. Helen Pearce of the English department was out with a cold. Dr. H. C. Hutchins, education, had bronchitis, and Prof. Maurice Brennen, instructor in mechanical drawing and band, was absent part of the week.

Cate and Samuelson Are Tied In Intramural League Scoring

Bill Cate and Mel Samuelson are tied with 30 points each for the high scoring championship of the intramural basketball league. Both have finished the season, and with only Bob Ratcliffe to beat them out this afternoon. Bob "Tish" Donovan won the "bad boy" title easily with nine personal fouls against him with still one game to go.

A1-C1 and B1-B2 Contests Decide 'Mural Playoff Teams

A1's intramural basketball team proved themselves to be the nominal champions last Friday when they outclassed C1 by the lopsided score of 16-2. B1 staged a remarkable comeback and defeated B2 32-23 to be assured of participating in the playoffs starting next week for the intramural basketball championship of the navy platoons. Today's game between A2 and C2 will decide the teams to participate in the playoffs.

Less than a minute after the game began, Bob Deagle, high scoring C1, swished the hump for the first points of the game and the only points for the hapless C1's who blew up like a balloon as they won their first three games and then collapsed as though punctured in the last half of the season. Jack Sias was high scorer of the game with five points. A1's speedy breaking was the deciding factor in the game, dropping in 14 points with Pearce contributing seven more. Big Mel Samuelson dropped in eight counters but was unable to overcome the victor's lead nor combat the B1's ball hawking habit.

'Cats Finishing Out Season . . .

Ten navy men will be taking that dreaded trip east of the mountains this weekend but in this excursion the boys will have round trip tickets. It'll bring a mediocre season, from the standpoint of games won and lost, to a close with the locals out to sweep a two game series with the powerful V-12 stocked Whitman Missionaries. The 'Cats will go into the battles on the short end and a couple victories will finish out the season in good order.

The Walla Walla squad have rung up an impressive record during this year's abbreviated play which has seen them administer the Gonzaga fine their only defeat of the year. The latter team has trounced teams such as Idaho and Washington state and administered to Washington, one of the worst defeats any Husky hoop squad has ever taken. The Cardinal and Gold will have to be hot to take their hosts but if Ben Director, Dick Maxwell, Ron Runyan and company happen to have their shooting eyes it should see the Willamette boys register a set of wins.

Wetmore's Table Tennis Supremacy Challenged . . .

With the men's singles division of the table tennis tournament nearing the halfway mark it begins to look like Bill Wetmore may find some tough competition in a couple of dark horses, Kenny King and Tom Stern. Both looked impressive in their first starts and either of them stand a good chance of aceing Ron Dekkert out of the bottom half finalist spot.

Stern, fresh from the fleet, has a couple navy base championships tucked under his belt while King showed his mettle in dropping Rich Wicks, seeded number three, from the tourney. The other three divisions, women's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles, have not progressed far enough to pick out any possible winners. The competition, which has drawn over 50 participants, will probably draw to a close next week.

Many Former Athletes Now on Duty . . .

This column will feature regularly former Willamette athletes now in the service to give the many alumni who receive the Collegian some idea where their former teammates and classmates are located.

George Constable, who performed for four years as a capable guard under "Spec" Keene from '39 to '42 is now undergoing the rigorous training of an air cadet at Abilene, Texas. George was a former law student and was one of the boys with Bearcats at Hawaii on December 7. Professional baseball pitcher Earl Toolson received a medical discharge from the marines due to a knee injury and is now at Burley, Idaho, waiting for the injured member to heal before he reenters some branch of the service. Toolson is the property of the Boston Red Sox.

Clint Cameron is now at San Diego with the navy and holds a chief petty officer's rating in physical education. Cameron is one of Willamette's all-time baseball greats and also played on Howard Maple's hoop team. Bob Perry, former St. Helens all-star, and one of the mainstays on last year's basketball team is also in California as an army air cadet at Santa Anita. Perry was president of Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity.

Local Lad Makes Good . . .

One of the oddities of this year's basketball season took place when the Navycats played the Pacific Packards in the rubber match of their three game season with Jack Sias of "did it again" fame in the leading role. Only four members of the Packards had arrived by game time so the visitors borrowed Jack, former aspirant for Willamette's team, to fill in until reinforcements arrived. Sias played the first half and when two of the Portland players fouled out during the last few minutes went back in the fray and nonchalantly tossed in a long one-hander which proved to be the winning basket. Jack is seriously considering turning pro on the boys.

Intramural Campaign Nearing End . . .

With three of the teams already definitely in and with C2 almost a certainty the intramural playoffs will open next week with the A1 boys top heavy favorites. B1 lost one of their best men in Claude Pearce, former Oregon high school all-state B performer, and are strictly underdogs. C1 will probably fight it out with the C2 team for the second spot with the latter five standing an outside chance to trip up A1.

The regular season will terminate this afternoon with C2 picked to win over A1. The C2 representatives have really found a combination in Stan Claffin, Clarke Brown, Loren Arnett, Jack Woods and Bob Donovan and shouldn't have too much trouble.

This Week's Guest Star Is . . .

Paul Folquet, all-around athlete from Washington high of Portland and a transfer from the University of Oregon where he played frosh basketball. He has become a top-notch performer on Coach Trotter's five with his smooth passing and one handed push shots. Paul is a pre-dental trainee and will be here until November.

Swim Test Requirements Announced

The requirements to pass the various classes of swimming tests were announced this week by Chief Robert McGuire, instructor for the navy men.

To pass the "A" test, a man must swim a total of 44 lengths. There is no time because of the large number of men in the pool which might hinder the swimmer.

In the "B" qualification, it is required that the testee swim from 20 to 35 lengths, but with a time limit of 15 minutes.

To comply with the "C" group, a man must swim from 10 to 20 lengths in a maximum of eight minutes.

The crowded conditions are making it necessary to hold some of the tests in the afternoon. McGuire desires to finish the qualifications as soon as possible, at least by the end of next week.

Every man in the battalion, listed as a swimmer, is required to take the tests. Non-swimmers will be exempt. Anyone failing to meet the requirements will be given an opportunity to make it up by taking the test again and passing it within a time limit of 22 minutes.

Freshmen Beat Pacific

The Frosh added another basketball game to their win column by defeating Pacific university, 42-28, Wednesday night.

The Frosh were behind at the end of the first quarter but from there on they had the game in the bag. The half time score was 17-15 in their favor. With accurate shooting by Fedje and Dekkert, they had little trouble as both men had 15 points to their credit. Geitel led the losers with 10 points.

As usual the Frosh had a good passing attack and dominated the backboard. The Badgers tired in the last half for they were not used to such a long court.

This was the second meeting of the two teams. In the first game the Badgers were the winners.

Frosh Upset Finance Team

A much improved Willamette frosh basketball team upset the highly touted General Finance 18 to 17 last Thursday in the industrial city league on the local floor. It was a see-saw battle all through the contest with the halftime score favoring the losers 11-10.

Both teams consistently missed their shots but a superior passing attack, Bill Proctor with his beautiful floor game and Ron Dekkert with 8 points brought the Freshman victory.

The win gave the Frosh a league record of four victories against three losses and it dropped General Finance to second place behind the Mayflower Milkmen for the first time this season.

Willamette Frosh have seven games left on their schedule this season — Pacific university, Linfield and with city league teams. The frosh average so far is 10 wins and 5 losses for a .667 average.

Chief Carroll deserves much credit for molding a green team into a well-drilled squad, and this reporter still thinks the frosh would give the varsity a good battle in a game this season.

Navy News Briefs

A class in Morse code, started at the request of 25 navy men interested in mastering it, is being taught by Apprentice Seaman Norman Stunkard. An additional class in semaphore is to be offered to navy men by Chiefs Harry Trotter, Robert McGuire and Lou Carroll some time in the near future.

A new type of educational program is being featured by the navy, according to reports from Trotter. Posters diagramming the various parts of the ship's interior and illustrating different types of clothing worn by the various members of the beach service of this and other countries, are being posted on the bulkheads of Lausanne.

Navy men participating in Freshman Glee on the campus will be able to practice with their classes during those hours after 1800 from now until the night of Glee. As an additional relaxation of certain navy regulations, calisthenics have been called off the last week before Glee, to permit more time for practice on formations.

Ship's Service, now in operation by the university, and located in the hold of the USS Lausanne for the convenience of navy men, sells confectionary, personal articles, etc. The service is expected to be able to offer such items as pens, pencils and wrist matches at a saving to seamen.

Another feature of the Ship's Service is the barber shop, open from 1900 to 2200 Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Huskies Trim Trotter's V-12's In Worst Defeat of Season

The Washington Huskies handed Willamette's Navycats their worst defeat of the season Saturday in Seattle, burying the local V-12's under an avalanche of second-half baskets, 56 to 27. The Huskies led at the intermission by only eight points, 29-21.

The 'Cats simply stepped out of their class and paid dearly for it. Washington held nothing back, playing their regulars nearly the entire game, and poured on the heat until Willamette withered from the blistering speed of the opponents.

It was a good ball game the first half. The two squads played on almost even terms most of the time with Willamette maintaining a slight lead until late in the period. To start the second half, the Navycats dropped in a couple of baskets, narrowing the lead to four points. Then the northern team really went to work.

Willamette scored exactly two points for the rest of the contest while Washington was wearing out the hemp with 27. Time and time again, they would outrun the fighting but ineffective Navycats and score before the locals could get set. Their checking in back court was fierce, and frequently Willamette had trouble getting the ball over the center line.

Their dazzling speed is shown in the statistics where they took 81 shots to the visitors' 54. Willamette's usual big guns of Paul Folquet, Dick Maxwell, "Glaxie" Lund and Ron Runyan were held down throughout, and Bill Stroud led the 'Cat scoring with his seven points, followed by "Dutch" Oberst's six.

All-American Bill Morris paced the Huskies with 15, garnered on six field goals and three gift tosses. Akins and Taylor were close behind, dropping in 12 and 11, respectively.

Classes Prepare for 36th Annual Glee

Selection of Words, Music Completed; Two Guest Tickets for Participants

By Evelyn Deal

With the 36th annual Freshman Glee but a week away, each of the four classes has begun practice following the final selection of words and music for class competition. This year's Glee will be held on the evening of Saturday, February 12, in the Willamette gymnasium. Provisions have been made for obtaining tickets, the stage has been planned, the list of ushers has been announced, and all work is going ahead as scheduled, according to Royal Hart, general manager.

"Memory Serenade," with words and music by Stan Skillcorn, is the song on which members of the senior class are basing their hopes of winning the contest. The junior class has chosen LeRoy Hale's serenade for their presentation and the sophomores have selected "When You Are Near" which was written by Chuck Strong. The freshman class is confident of victory with "Campus Serenade" by Rosalee Smith.

A schedule for the use of the gym and Waller hall for marching practices next week has been issued to the committees of each class so that final preparations can be made for the class presentations.

As in past years, Glee participants will receive two guest tickets to the event and student body members who are not taking part will be entitled to one ticket. "There is only a very limited number of seats available," stressed Al Richardson, chairman of the ticket committee, "therefore, it is important that students who do not plan to use their tickets turn them over to students who wish additional seats." Trade tickets will be issued today, tomorrow, and Monday in Dr. Robert E. Lantz's office. The purpose of trade tickets is to enable the students to trade among themselves in order to obtain extra seats, if necessary. These trade tickets are to be exchanged next Friday for reserve seat tickets.

Also working on the ticket committee are Carola Hays, Henry Fricke and Pat Anne Sly.

Miss Sly is serving as head of the usher committee and has announced her list of ushers as follows: Maryann Wittliff, Susan Parkhurst, Marjorie Beadles, Eileen Bontrager, Lois Barrows, Grace Warwick, Dorothy Gage, Marjorie Duckwall, Mildred Frohmader, Mary East, Evelyn Chapman, Carol Crazier, Ruth Wahlgren, Barbara Shirley, Betty McGee, Pat Otis, Dorothy Symes, Marjorie Luzader, Connie Low, Nancy Merki, Suzanne Zimmerman, Francis Mettler, Elsie Kook, Betty Louise Sinkola, Maxine Miller, Marjory Evenson, Beverly Jarrett, Donna Hinkley, Ida Mattinen, Virginia Muhle, Evelyn Deal, Barbara Randall, Anita Harvey, Louise Knouff, Delores Nichols, Donna Chambers, Elinor Dayhoff, Clarice Busselle, Nancy Stuart and Nancy Hoak.

Commanding officer Lt. George C. Bliss, has given his permission for navy men to be excused from classes Wednesday afternoon to work on the stage which must be built that day. The men's grades must be high enough to warrant the excuse and they will be given the opportunity to make up the work missed. Civilian men will also help in the construction. Al Inglis, chairman of the stage committee, emphasized the fact that all help possible is essential in order that the stage may be completed by the time scheduled for the first practice.

Dress blues will be the uniform worn by navy men participating with civilian men appearing in black or dark suits. Women will be dressed in traditional white. In former years, white shoes have also been a requirement but, because of shoe rationing, there will be no requisite this year. Classes will vote next week on the type of corsages to be worn by the women.

Special permission has been granted by the commanding officer allowing navy men to be out of uniform on the Monday after Glee, in order that they may pay off Glee bets. Members of the losing class will be "dunked" in the millstream, following the tradition established years ago.

Stockman Announces Glee Judges

Judges for the 1944 Freshman Glee, which will be held on the Willamette campus on Saturday, February 12, have been announced by John Stockman, chairman of the general glee committee. The list of judges as announced by Stockman includes members of the Willamette faculty and townspeople.

Miss Evangeline Merritt and Ralph Dobbs of Willamette's music faculty and Mrs. Josephine Albert Spaulding, outstanding Salem vocalist, will be the judges of music.

Words will be criticized by Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, Willamette university assistant librarian, Dr. E. C. Richards, a former instructor of English here, and Miss Ellen Fisher of the Salem high school faculty.

Judges of presentation will be W. L. Phillips, Salem business man, I. M. Doughton, mayor of Salem, and Lt. George C. Bliss, commanding officer of the Willamette V-12 unit.

Since words and music will be judged before the Glee presentation next Saturday night, three separate copies of both words and music must be turned in to Dr. Robert E. Lantz's office by noon tomorrow.

Publicity Team Works on News

Articles and pictures concerning Freshman Glee have been sent to The Oregonian and the Oregon Journal in Portland and to the Oregon Statesman and the Capital Journal in Salem, who annually publicize the traditional song and marching competition. The Oregonian may carry a feature article soon with pictures of present and past Glee celebrations.

Evelyn Deal, freshman from Longview, is chairman of the publicity committee and Ida Mattinen and Winona Henderson are working with her.

Abstractions Still Abstract to Laymen

By Mary Moses

To the plebeian mind, abstractions are puzzling, to say the least. The layman sees life mostly as it meets the eye. The artist, on the other hand, sees in it dimensions that are hidden and subtle.

Art is an organization of paint that does not have to be photographic. Exact reproductions are for the camera. The art now on display on the third floor of Eaton is an exercise for the students' imagination; an exercise in plastic or creative power.

Since the merits of art seem to confuse the common mind, the department proposes to further the understanding of the vulgar laity by announcing:

"Beginning soon, the hall display in Eaton will be masterpieces taken bodily from Butzer's Seed Catalogue or Sears and Roebuck spring edition."

Panels Ready For Engraver

Work will begin next week in preparing the faculty and senior class panels of the 1944 Walluluh for engraving. Alice Jones, Walluluh staff member, will direct the work. Preparation of other class panels and living group panels will be delayed until next term so that new students can be included.

Faculty members new to the campus this year were photographed this week, and last-minute picture taking of student body members is being completed. Mary Kanoff is in charge of the faculty section and Jean Fries is directing work on the class section.

Library Adds Ministerial Books

Twenty books to be used by ministerial students have been added to the library shelves through the influence of Prof. John L. Knight. These volumes comprise nearly the complete list of books required as supplementary reading for those students studying for conference exams. Pre-ministerial students are to have free access to the books, with payment of postage. This is the first time books of this kind have been obtained for the use of student ministers and will be of great value in preparing for examinations before entering the ministry.

Rare Meteor Owned Here

Jean Barham, freshman and member of Prof. W. Herman Clark's physical science class, is the owner of a siderolite, a rare type of meteor which might have come from another planet or a piece of material not used when the planets were formed.

It moves continuously through space and when it strikes the earth's atmosphere becomes a meteor or what is popularly known as a falling star. Since the rate of speed at which the object travels is great enough to produce friction, it becomes heated as it falls through space. Very small meteors burn completely while larger ones usually fall to earth.

Miss Barham obtained the meteor one summer when her father was working near the Columbia river. The piece in her possession comes from which was estimated to have weighed several thousand pounds. Known as a siderolite, the meteor is siderite found in these parts.

Annual Dance In WU Gym

The Glee dance which is held every year after Freshman Glee, will be held this year in the gymnasium following the musical contest. Since the juniors sponsored last week's "Pin-up" dance and the sophomores are in charge of the "Aloha dance" tomorrow night, the Glee dance will be sponsored jointly by the freshman and senior classes.

Hollis Huston and Al Fedje, senior and freshman class presidents, are making arrangements for the dance which will be informal.

No admission will be required for the dance except a ticket to Glee. Chairs will be cleared away from the gymnasium floor after the program and the orchestra will be set up on the stage. Refreshments will be sold by the Cavern.

Second Term Housing Discussed

The housing problem for next semester has only tentatively been discussed by the housing board but several applications for transfers to other dormitories have come to the board along with eight requests from women living in private homes to move into the dormitories second semester. If this is done it will be necessary to find places in private homes for the incoming women students.

Two of the private residences housing four women each will not be able to take care of the women this semester so it will be necessary to find places for them also.

As far as can be ascertained at the present time board and room will not be raised next semester. The administration reserved the right at the beginning of the year to raise the rate if necessary and continues to do so for this coming semester. Ever since the outbreak of war, the cost of maintaining living quarters, meals, etc., has been rising steadily but it has risen only in the last two years. Willamette has been conservative in raising her rate as board and room was increased in the state colleges ahead of the raise at Willamette.

Michael Carolan Only Student Soloist Appearing in 'Messiah'

Only Willamette student to appear as soloist with the 300-voice all-city choir in its presentation of Handel's "Messiah" at 3:30 on the afternoon of Sunday, February 20, will be Michael Carolan, member of the WU naval training unit. The concert by the combined chorus and University orchestra will mark Carolan's final appearance before receiving orders for advanced training elsewhere.

In his three years as a member of the Willamette student body, Carolan has won for himself a place among the outstanding students to receive training with the College of Music. At the close of the war, he hopes to complete his requirements for a Bachelor of Music degree in voice and to continue in the field professionally.

Although naval requirements prevented his carrying a full music course, Carolan sang with the University A Cappella choir as tenor soloist during both his freshman and sophomore years. Recognition of his excellent work was made last year when he was named recipient of the music scholarship presented to the University by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Elfstrom of Salem.

Carolan entered Willamette as a freshman from Grants Pass where he had worked with Cloyd Riffe, WU graduate of the College of Music.

Selections which will be sung by Carolan in the "Messiah" concert are: the recitative, "Comfort Ye My People" and the aria, "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted," recitative, "They Rebuke Hath Broken His Heart," aria, "Behold and See If There Be Any Sorrow," and recitative, "He Was Cut Off Out of the Land of the Living."

Dean Melvin H. Geist is directing the all-city choir in the 'Messiah.'

Geist Calls Special Practice

Newest development in plans for the presentation of Handel's "Messiah" by an all-city chorus and the University symphony on Sunday, February 20, was the announcement this week by Dean Melvin H. Geist of the first combined rehearsal of the two groups Monday evening. The special practice took place in the Willamette gymnasium in order to seat the large number of participants.

Class Learns By Practice

The Industrial Relations class, under the direction of Robert W. Fenix, Willamette business manager, is learning personnel work as applied to industry. In preparation for the final week of class this term, students have actually applied for jobs, getting background material from both the employer and prospective employee's point of view.

Class demonstrations to be given the last week of the semester will consist of interviews, testing programs, hirings, firing, pep talks and other things that go with the jobs of personnel. Students are shown the scientific way of introducing a job and their academic work is made more realistic through research and study.

Mu Phi Head To Be Here

The Mu Phi Epsilon province governor, Margrette Wibble Walker, will be on the campus next Friday, according to a message received early this week from the office of the executive secretary in Ann Arbor, Michigan, by Mary Margaret Livesay, president of the local chapter. She will be entertained by the Mu Phi's at a luncheon that day at the Bluebird where they will hold a special meeting.

Mrs. Walker is a Willamette graduate and was an outstanding music student on the campus.

Triangular Debate Won by WU

Willamette university won the triangular debate tournament held in the home grounds of Waller hall Saturday by taking five out of eight debates. Willamette's winning debate team included John Pike, Dave Teeter, Clark Robb and Rich Wicks.

Linfield won four debates and Oregon State college took three.

This was Willamette's second practice debate event and its second victory, having won previously at McMinnville over Linfield and Pacific university. The practice series is in preparation for the Pacific coast tournament in March.

State Peace

By this week, every person who is contemplating appearing in the state-wide peace oratory contest, is asked to have a five-minute tryout speech ready for presentation on the subject of "Peace." This contest will be held at Linfield the last of February and is open to any student carrying a full program.

Willamette's representative of last year, Barbara Hathaway, placed first in the state contest and the manuscript of her speech when entered in national competition, won honorable mention.

Linfield Tourney

The annual Linfield speech tournament will be held the first of next term, March 13, 14, 15. The divisional contests to be held include oratory, extemporaneous, after-dinner, impromptu and debate.

High School Contest

Scheduled for March 17 and 18 on the Willamette campus is the annual high school speech contest. WU students will assist Dr. Herbert E. Rahe, head of the speech department, as judges.

Carnegie Library Hours Announced

Hours for the Carnegie library of recorded music as announced by Dean Melvin H. Geist are 3:00-5:30 p. m. daily with the exception of Monday and Wednesday afternoons when the hours will be 3-4. The instrument presented to the University by the Carnegie Foundation is now located in the auditorium of the Music hall while the room formerly reserved for the use of the library is serving as a classroom for Miss Evangeline Merritt, instructor in voice.

Willamette Thespians Unravel 'George Washington' Tonight

By Jan Johnson

Tonight the Willamette drama department takes over the house that George Washington slept in—only he didn't—but he really did—sounds horribly confusing and so 'tis—but you'll find it all out when the Willamette thespians unravel the story on the Salem high stage.

Warren Durham as Newton Fuller, goes rabidly patriotic and realizing in a moment's flurry that he is in America, buys, as Darlene Dickson in the role of Mrs. Fuller puts it, the ancient "out-house." There's Shirlee Morgan as the young daughter and LeRoy Hale as her neglected boy friend who finds love a little complicated when "Madge" discovers the suave and handsome actor (Bob Rigel) in a nearby "barn" playhouse—and as Joyce Feiden (the omniscient wife) remarks, "they should've taken the chickens out before they put the ham in."

It'll be a battle between Chuck Strong and Jack Watson in their respective roles as Uncle Stanley and Mr. Kimber as to who will steal the show. Strong puts spice in the role of the wealthy uncle who sends pictures of himself to his attentive niece and nephews, not to mention the general upset he causes when he proves to be what he proves to be. It's a laugh-on entrance with Watson as Mr. Kimber, the poker-faced caretaker who spends his time digging for water and is over-joyed (in a Ned Sparks fashion) when he discovers—of all things—mud! The highlight scene (but we should not tell) is Kimber soloing "I'll Never Smile Again" and you'll believe it, too!

The rehearsals of the comedy have proved hysterical—at least the cast was. Durham created even a bigger howl when he sat in the collapsing chair which stood strong and sturdy—a slight delay while Durham pleaded with the chair and at last begged director Herbert E. Rahe to show him how to do it. And LeRoy Hale added another item to that list of versatile accomplishments when he gave a remarkably authentic imitation of the whistles and sputters of a tubeless radio which the prop manager hadn't been able to rustle up as yet.

Francis Busby will surprise you openly when he slips into the character of the tough little dev—uh, nephew who drives the family mad with his demonic mischief.

There's backstage work that'll bring much appreciative applause from the audience—wait 'til you see what the sound effects department can do with a little tin and a few old records. The thunder is a regular hurricane and the wheezing of a diesel engine is even mistaken by Newton Fuller for the twittering of the barn swallow.

It'll be a laugh a minute tonight, so don't miss the Willamette players in "George Washington Slept Here."

Lovell Elected To Committee

Dr. R. I. Lovell, professor of history, was elected as a member of the Committee of Organization for the United Nations council which was formed at the YMCA forum meeting this week.

Justice James T. Brand, who presided over the meeting, has announced that the forum is now an affiliate of the United Nations association which is in measure sponsored by the Carnegie foundation.

Tremaline Occupies Attention of Women

Women's gym classes have been confined to indoor activities due to the adverse weather conditions. Basketball and badminton, popular pastimes for a while, have bowed out in favor of the tremaline which looks somewhat like an instrument preserved from medieval times.

The game is an active one, but lest a new comer become discouraged, full recovery is always reached within a week.

Have a Coca-Cola = Let's be friendly

... a way to win a welcome wherever you go

There's friendliness in the simple phrase Have a "Coke". It turns strangers into friends. In both hemispheres, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the high-sign of the good-beated.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
"COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO. OF SALEM"

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

And What Have You Lost? (And What Have You Found?)

If you notice some student stumbling around with a blurry, unfocused look in his eyes it is probably because his glasses are among the 20 pairs of same (plus cases) in the lost and found department in the general manager's new office in the basement of Waller.

Anyone with cold hands could probably get a comfortable pair of mittens or gloves from 16 pair on hand and off hands in this collection. There is a flashlight for anyone in the dark; a raincoat for someone who is undoubtedly all wet. (Dr. Lantz says it would fit the Collegian editor.)

Table Tennis Finals Today At 1600

By Bill Wetmore

It shouldn't be said about the school table tennis tournament that the winners were already decided. It is anybody's game, for last week's Kenny King who upset Dick Wicks has now been defeated himself. Lawrence Hall defeated him 21-16, 21-19.

It looks like the dark horse in the men's singles is Tom Stearns, who has defeated McCollum and Carson. Ronnie Dekkert is looking good, too. Dekkert defeated Maxwell 21-17, 21-19, and is to meet the winner of the Howard Lund match.

Pop Oslund is to play in the semi-finals having defeated in succession Folquet, Watts and Deagle. The match with Deagle went three games. Oslund is to meet the winner of the Sias vs. Wetmore match. Another able contender is Fred Howard who may surprise everybody and especially the seeded players.

Ladies' singles is proving to be quite a contest. Mary Acheson of Fredrickson's defeated BX's Jan Johnson in a three-game thriller, 22-20, 21-19, 21-11. Phyllis Gueffroy, APA, defeated Mary Nims, Delta Phi, 21-12, 21-14 easily. Thyra Jess Currey, APA, has yet to play Lois Robinson. But the winner of the Acheson vs. Gueffroy match is the one to watch. Both women are good players and the game should be a toss-up.

Doubles are going a little slower in play as it is difficult for the four players to get together. In both mixed and men's doubles, partners were drawn. Hence no team was seeded. With little difficulty Lund and Fortino defeated Horace Coulter and Wetmore. They now are to play Dekkert and Sterns and the winner of that match plays King and Ferguson. The winner is in the finals. In the upper bracket, Deagle and Radcliffe play Wicks and Watts and the winner plays Oslund and Waldo. Oslund and Waldo defeated Anderson and Carson 17-21, 21-18, 21-18.

In the mixed doubles no new matches were played. Teams are urged to play these preliminary matches by 1600 today or a possible default will result.

The finals will be played in the gym today at 1600. All contenders who have found it impossible to play their matches before must play those matches before 1600 today. All contenders are urged to be on time and report to the gym.

Spectators are invited to what is expected to be a thrilling conclusion to the school table tennis tournament.

Trustees Meet Tomorrow

Mid-year meeting of the board of trustees of Willamette university will be held in Portland tomorrow, according to Pres. G. Herbert Smith.

Smith will present a report to the board on "Post War Planning for the University." "I sincerely hope," he stated, "that a definite and specific policy will be adopted by the board for our post-war program."

Besides Smith, Dean Chester F. Luther and Business Manager Robert Fenix will attend the convale.

Modern Design On Behalf of the Visiting Firemen

By Puck

My face is just burning . . . there I was, with carpet tacks and glue, already to be the "Pin-Up Girl," and no one noticed me at all. At first it was sort of a shock, but then after a deep conference with my mighty thoughts, we came to the foregone conclusion that I wouldn't look good hanging by my hair, anyway.

The gals that were noticed should've been (noticed, of course).

Olive Torbet in a navy blue chiffon dress with the new low-cut neckline . . . 'twas square and spiced with a big bow of the same material . . . Paula Smith in white wool princess styled, buttoned to the hem down the back, lavender and pink oblong inserts in the blouse . . . Elaine Cloudy in a two piece black crepe outfit, black sequined round collar and pockets on the jacket . . . Gloria Brough in black crepe, too, trim and sophisticated with the V-neck and draped skirt tied at the waist in a bow . . . Viola Jacobsen wore soft apple-green silk crepe with black lace at the round low-cut neckline and three quarter length sleeves

. . . the Queen of the "Pin-Up Girls," Jan Patterson, who deserves the title, wore colorful wool . . . short sleeved round necklined tangerine blouse, full black skirt with tangerine, green and black stripes.

Visiting at the dance was Edna Mae Hopper of the famed class of '43 . . . you know, Win the Glee with '43, only it was '44 and rumor has it, (three guesses who started it) that they'll do it again. (Oh Yeah! Copy Reader '46) Hoppy was her usual striking self in a deep purple dream of a suit, her hat was a tiny purple cone with yards of stiff white veiling, that looked pink to me.

And 'round the floor danced one of '47's prettiest members . . . Thelma Wilcox . . . green silk crepe with pleats over each shoulder, basque waist, and mass pleats caught with bows at each side of the hip-line.

Another Thelma . . . this time Lathrop . . . was noticed particularly in her new white suit, pleated skirt and collarless jacket . . . and a very becoming upswept hair-do.

And, of course we couldn't go without mentioning that the great Skillicorn was looking his best in navy blue . . . and now that we've mentioned it . . . we can go.

CAPT. GEORGE McLEOD

Another Willamette man in the service is George M. McLeod, formerly Dean of the College of Law, who left the campus for duty in 1942. McLeod has been promoted from the rank of lieutenant to captain, according to word received this week. He is stationed at Godman Field, Fort Knox, Ky., in the army air forces administration office.

ENSIGN GIL LIESER
—Cuts courtesy Statesman

Gil Lieser, formerly of Willamette and now of the US navy, together with his wife, the former Jean VanSikke, stopped over in Salem for a few hours before leaving for San Francisco where Lieser is to report for active duty on a mine layer. He is an ensign.

Lieser, who graduated from Willamette in June, 1943, was a member of Kappa Gamma Rho, and sports editor of the Collegian. Mrs. Lieser, a junior at the time she left to be married, was also a member of the Collegian staff as well as the first vice president of Alpha Psi hall this semester.

'Cat Cavern Managership Undecided

The new manager for the Bearcat Cavern is as yet undecided, according to the Cavern control board. Since few applications for the job have been made, the resignation of Velora Williams and Virginia Irwin as co-managers leaves the management job open to applicants.

Plans for a general rejuvenation of the Cavern are being made by the control board. The floors and booths will be painted, and possibly there will be new murals, as the art department is willing to do the job.

The tentative plan to move the Student Union to Chresto has been discarded for the present because of the difficulty of heating that building.

Dan Moses Now in Iran

A college hobby has become a military assignment to Private Dan Moses, 1940 graduate of WU now with the United States army in Teheran, Iran. While at Willamette, Moses edited the 1940 Wallulah and in a recent letter to Dean Walter Erickson he stated that his work in the service is on the army newspaper for the Persian Gulf Command.

Following his graduation in 1940, Moses attended the Willamette law school for two years before entering the service. He was a member of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity. Since then he has seen action in the Australian sector, in India and at present is stationed in Iran. He has been prominent in army athletics of his company, being on an all-star camp baseball team and winning the singles titles in table tennis of both of the army camps in the Iran area.

It Can't Happen Here . . . But It Did!!

Anything can happen in the USS Lausanne!

To prove it, may we present exhibit No. 1: Tuesday the V-12 sailors were knocked out of their skivvy shirts when lo and behold an army sergeant was swabbing the quarter-deck!

It all happened when Sgt. Howard F. Walker, on leave from New Mexico, came to visit his aunt, Mrs. L. L. Freeman, Lausanne domestic. He decided to keep himself busy, dragged out a swab, shocked many a sailor out of his nautical wits by aiding the clean-up—and in true navy style, too.
