Schulze to Quit Manager Post

German Prof Asks Freedom For Teaching

Dr. Dan Schulze disclosed this week that he will resign his position as general manager of the Associated Students of Willamette university at the expiration of the present semester. He has held the post since 1947.

A successor has not yet been named, Pres. G. Herbert Smith announced today.

Schulze revealed that his resignation was prompted by the necessity of allowing himself more time to fulfill teaching commitments and to deal in a personal way with students who need additional help.

In emphasizing the time factor in his resignation, Schulze declared that since assuming the duties of general manager in 1947, 10 new groups have been added to the ASWU, making a total now of 37 which do their banking under the student organization.

At the expiration of the spring semester, Schulze will have completed his 20th year at Willamette. Fourteen of the years have been occupied with additional duties. Aside from his duties as general manager of the ASWU for the past three years, he served as dean of men from 1935 to 1946.

As professor of German, Schulze plans to devote full time to the department beginning with his 21st year at the University.

Free Glee Discs To Be Presented To Juniors, Frosh

The winning junior and freshman classes will receive free recordings of their 1950 Glee songs as the records can be made, according to Dick Louthan, publicity chairman. The J. Gordon Thornton Sales Agency has made arrangements with the Decca recording company in Los Angeles to cut the records.

The records will be made from the tape recording made by Louthan the night of Glee. He has already sold a large number of his recordings to Willamette students. KOCO was originally contacted to record the songs but were unable to do so. The project is being financed by the Pioneer Trust company of Salem.

Carnival May 27 to Change Gymnasium to Circus Ground

Big top concessions from bingo to pie throwing will transform Willamette's gymnasium on Saturday night, May 27, to a colorful circus grounds in the University's first annual ASWU carnival.

Prizes from Salem merchants and individual booths set up by living and honorary organizations on the campus will be incentives to the students in the construction of the carnival, and a trophy will be given to the group with the best and most successful booth.

Headed by chairman Jack Wilson, student assistants on the planning board for the affair will be Jo Colony, decorations; Doug Nicoll, construction; Glen Halliday, tickets; Anne Leslie, prizes; Pat Stanton, publicity, and Don Benson, cleanup.

Cupie dolls and panda bears, plus other traditional carnival prizes, will be included in the booths, and among stunts which will be used during the occasion are pie throwing contests, baseball throws, cake walks, and a water torture climb.

Nicoll emphasized that all ideas for booths must be turned in to him today. Donations in the form of carnival prizes won by Willamette students will also be appreciated, said Wilson.

Decorations will be in the form of crepe paper strung to a central point in the center of the gym, plus such staples as sawdust and confetti.

Seniors See State Representatives

Representatives of the State Employment Service interviewed seniors May 10 for placement in suitable jobs.

Names and qualifications of all interested Willamette seniors are compiled with those from other Oregon colleges and are sent to each hometown employment agency.

A new plan this year, the employment service hopes to be able to place college graduates in good positions. Any senior wishing more information on this service may call at the Oregon State Employment office in Salem.

Polls to Reopen Tues., Wed. After Record Primary Vote

Stan Aschenbrenner and Jack Gunn will mount their soap-box platforms for a second time next Tuesday and Wednesday to face voters in a run-off election for the presidency of the Willamette student body. Revote elections will also be held to make final selections in all other posts. Voting will be in Eaton and the 'Cat Cavern.

Ballot boxes were crammed with approximately 750 votes—a record or a near record, according to Art Dimond, election manager. A majority of the votes cast is necessary for election.

Revotes Needed for All Offices

Revotes will be held for first vice-president between Bill Bissell and Jack Brown; second vice-president, Dave Beckett and Bill Merriam, secretary, Jackie Chute and Jean Gilmer; senior representative, Burnell Ambrose and Don Carpenter; junior representative, Doug Nicoll and Lou Prediletto, and sophomore representative, Al MacGregor and Tom Scheidel.

Aschenbrenner's committee listed as his platform: the revival of the tradition of each class leaving some form of contribution to the campus; developing closer relationship between students and alumni; improvement of the plan for financing the Wallulah; building a closer relationship between students and parents through a Dad's Day program; maintaining a harmonious balance between the intellectual and social phases of college; lifting the two-hour parking limit and a plan for a parking lot; and the planning of seminars and of house meetings on a campus-wide schedule.

Campaign Planks Listed

The Back Gunn committee included these planks in his program: the improvement of chapel programs through a system of enlarging and specializing chapel committees; the fostering of cultural and intellectual advancement by supporting special lectures and musical programs; the favoring of a student union building and the establishment whenever possible of a student fund toward its financing; the creation of student-government spirit through more active campaigning, etc.; and improvement of the attendance-cut program through effort by the students to prove responsibility in attendance and by the use of mimeographed tests of students attending choir trips, debates, etc.

The nomination class assembly held Tuesday was the climax to a half-week of feverish political campaigning which saw more unusual and all-out vote-getting efforts made than most can remember, according to Dimond. A 105 howitzer, a slightly damaged car twisted around a tree and a trainer plane resting on its prop were among vote-attracting scenes.

June 10 Set To Pay Honor To WU Alumni

Willamette alumni will be welcomed by students and faculty June 10, when the University's annual Alumni Day will honor five year classes from 1900 to 1945.

Last year's graduates will also be present on the campus and a large number of students in the classes of 1900 and 1925 are expected, since they will be quarter-century guests at the occasion. Schedules for class meetings have already been set for the day and official proceedings will begin at one o'clock Saturday afternoon with an Associated Alumni business meeting.

One banquet is set for Baxter hall at 6 p.m. and another for the Willamette Law Alumni association will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the Senator hotel. William L. Prosser, dean of the University of California Law school at Berkeley, will be guest speaker.

The president's reception will be held at the University house at 8 p.m., and ceremonies will be climaxed by commencement exercises in the gymnasium on Sunday, June 11, at 3 p.m.

Faculty Studies Attendance Changes in Special Meeting

Attendance changes proposed last week at a joint meeting of students and the faculty policy committee were presented yesterday afternoon to a special faculty meeting, although results were unavailable at press time.

Although the major controversial issues might still remain unsettled after the meet, according to observers, they may be recommended to further study by the joint group, according to Dr. Chester Luther, chairman of the committee.

Students who were present at the meeting last week reported that it is fairly certain that the faculty would have adopted the measures which give the upper classmen a taste of freedom in attendance matters, while keeping frshmen and sophomores in check.

The same students also testified that the core of the problem might still be unsolved, and that a new method for excuses and probation policies may be adopted, following a steady flow of protest from students this year who assert that they have "chafed" under the present administration policies.

Triumphant Delta Gamma, Beta Theta Pi Songsters

The winning sorority and fraternity in the May Weekend song contest gather at the coronation to present their songs to a capacity audience. Nattily attired in clothes from jeans to formals are the Delta Gamma's, led by Doris Walser. Beta Theta Pi men were under the leadership of Art Dimond at the inter-fraternity contest.

Election Turnout

The turnout at the polls this week was better than for the past several elections. About 750 votes were cast.

We hope that the bright young lads who sit in the capitol coffee shop and defend democracy against all comers, are not among those who did not vote. We hope that the chronic beefers who never think things are "being run right" weren't among those who were "too busy." In that case, the non-voters would be only those who don't give a hoot for democracy anyway. And they're hopeless!

Next week the run-off election will be held. At least all 750 of this week's voters will turn out. Who can predict what the slackers will do?

We live in a nation which sets itself up as an example of democracy. It would be nice if one election somewhere could boast a 100% turn out. Why not at Willamette?

Dr. Schulze Resigns

Serving as general manager of the ASWU is at least a full time job. Since the war his duties have expanded. There are now 37 groups or organization banking through the ASWU, but this is only one of his duties.

All of the work involving student projects, student government and student functions demand the attention and active participation of the ASWU general manager. Since he controls the purse strings, the temptation to over-ride student suggestions is ever present. Expediency often invites arbitrary rulings.

During the past three years while Dr. Schulze has been ASWU manager, students have received advice and guidance in the management of their affairs, never ultimatums. The final decisions have been student decisions, not student approved decisions. The result has been improved student moral, and happier relations between student and administration.

We hope that when Dr. Schulze's successor is chosen, the powers that be will find someone who will be as popular with students as Dr. Schulze has been.

Campaign Posters

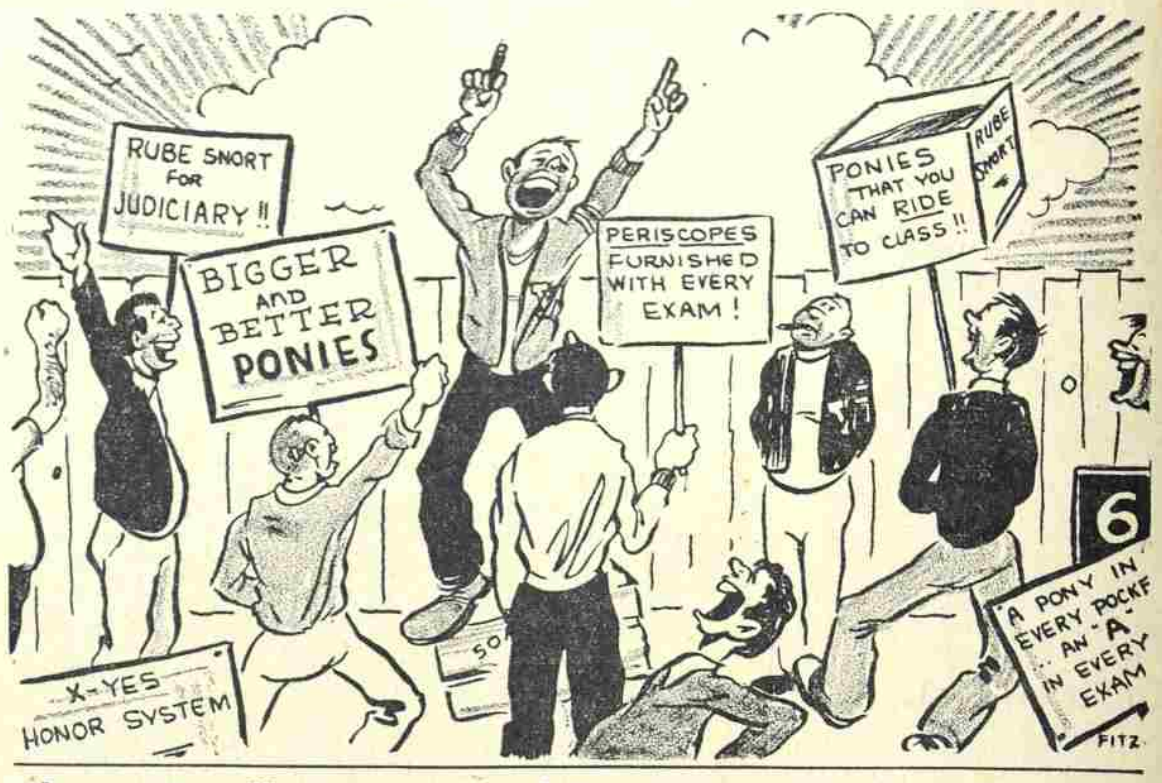
We have been asked to write a "blistering" editorial in regard to the "cads" who tore down campaign signs.

What campaign signs?

Is that what they were?

We understand only one fraternity's signs were among those not damaged. Which just goes to show you what you can expect if you live right and always deal from the top of the deck.

Another Batch Takes Over



There Really Isn't Anything New Under the Sun

A couple of students were standing on the walk in front of Eaton hall the other day. It was raining, and they were sinning in the usual manner. Between blowing out clouds of damp smoke and muttering censorable epithets about the weather, one chanced to remark, "You know, there's nothing any deader than yesterday's newspapers."

A reporter happened to be passing by at that moment and overheard the remark. Assuming the role of an eavesdropper, he cocked his ear and waited for the conversation to continue.

"The only thing it's good for is to start a fire," said the student. "And where I live now I get steam heat."

The conversation changed abruptly to the Cold War, and the reporter walked on into Eaton hall. The remarks he had overheard set him to thinking. Newspapers worthless? Dead? Ah, but they must be good for something.

He thought about the problem the rest of the day. Later in the evening he walked into the Collegian office and started leafing through the bound Collegian files. He picked out the volume marked '1931' and leafed through to the spring of 1932. A story with Einstein's name in the head caught his eye. He read that Albert Einstein was contemplating another visit to the U.S., and that while he thought America was a beautiful country, he had never given a thought to making it his home. Berlin was still his first love.

The reporter paused for a moment, reflecting on the past. But of course Einstein said that before the paper hanger started throttling the first love.

The reporter turned a few more pages. He read that a psychology professor at Willamette had "introduced a new test in the form of a game" to determine the "relative degree of his (student's) mental quickness." At the beginning of a five minute period, the students were given the same letter of the alphabet and told to write as many last names of famous people as they could.

The Reporter Smiled

Has psychology changed so little in 19 years? Then he read where the chairman of the women's division of President Hoover's Emergency Committee for Unemployed, Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, charged that men with white-collar jobs were becoming a race of weaklings, incapable of doing anything but wearing their nose down at the grindstone. She said further that hundreds of men were willing to work to keep from starving to death, but they were incapable of doing any work that required the use of muscles.

The reporter tried hard to remember 1932. But of course he was much too young then. Still, he thought of himself as a white-collar man. Perhaps he should keep in touch with Les Sparks over in the gym. One could never tell when another bust would come.

A chapel story caught his eye next. Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, had told a chapel audience that another war would lead to the end of civilization because such terrible substances had been developed to wipe out all life in a given territory . . .

Voices from the hallway caught the attention of the reporter, and he looked up from the newspaper. Quite suddenly several of his colleagues were in the room, and the talk centered about getting out the next issue. The reporter took another look at the faded newsprint and closed the cover.

"Yes," he said aloud and without realizing that he was doing so, "there's nothing any deader than yesterday's newspaper."

The Feasibility of a Divided World . . . Jefferson Viewpoint

By Ted Loder

Editor's Note: This week's article considers the feasibility of a divided world from the standpoint of Jeffersonian liberalism. Ted Loder, who wrote the article as a class assignment, bases his consideration on the writings of Thomas Jefferson, including the Declaration of Independence. The Collegian has made certain changes in the article in order to reduce it to a length suitable for printing on the feature page.

The Declaration is recognized by many politicians as merely a document of propaganda employed effectively to instigate the American Revolution.

Its worth as a statement of democratic theory, it is argued, cannot be extended beyond the particular situation in which it was composed. If this is true then the United States must clarify its position and define its aims relative to the present diplomatic issues without resorting to a principle which they recognize only as propaganda. If the Declaration is to be maintained as an expression of the philosophic basis of democracy, then it must be strictly adhered to without the deviations that are in evidence.

The most significant and best known sentence in the Declaration is "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

Without stipulations limiting its application, this is either a Declaration of Independence for all men, as stated, or it cannot apply to any men. Whenever men appeal to a principle which they assert is derived from God, they are obliged to apply that principle universally. The logical conclusion resulting from this initial consideration is that in terms of principle there can not be a divided world.

This principle, in the final analysis is an ethical one from which there can be no deviation except in the realm of its expression. This last assertion is nebulous and needs further clarification.

An excerpt from the Declaration will serve an illustrative purpose. "That to secure these rights (life, liberty and pursuit of happiness), Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

From this we must assume that because all men have identical rights, all governments should exist to insure and extend these rights to all. In this event ideologically there can not be a divided world. Governments could vary as individuals vary in their means of pursuing happiness. Variation would be limited only by the principle that men possess inalienable rights endowed by their creator.

Any form of government, be it socialistic, communistic, or capitalistic, that was sanctioned by the people and insured the people that their rights would be maintained, would be acceptable because they would be recognizing and adhering to this philosophical principle.

A politically divided world could in this sense exist, but actually the division would be rendered negligible. Expansion of the government's power would be limited.

Any type of governmental oppression is not compatible with the fundamental principle upon which the Jeffersonian conception of government is based. The only way that an oppressive government could justify itself would be for the governed to consent to oppression.

As long as the pursuit of happiness has been acknowledged as an inalienable right of man, the majority would be inconsistent to sacrifice its right of expression or happiness. A minority might forfeit this right, but not the majority. The majority would have to vote to sacrifice its right to vote, but the principle of possessing that right would remain. The prerogative of accepting the government would still rest with the people. This would be exercising their liberty and pursuit of happiness to the extent to which they aspired. Also the prerogative would remain to overthrow the government if it became oppressive or prevented them from expressing their inalienable rights.

The logical conclusion seems to be that if government evolves out of this basic principle, governmental differences will be valid only to the extent that they remain within this principle.

But what would be the consequences if any government developed propensities incompatible with this precept?

This question is answered in the Declaration: ". . . that whenever any form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the People to alter or abolish it."

Also the answer is contained in this excerpt: ". . . . that when a long train of abuses and usurpation, pursuing invariably the same object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such a government."

If the democratic elements are to remain consistent with the principles of the Declaration, some questions arise. If all men are created equal and endowed with certain inalienable rights by their creator, if to secure these rights Governments are instituted, and if this government abuses and usurps or allows abuses and usurpations, it then becomes the duty of the people to throw off such a government.

Does not this imply that the government must insure the extension of these inalienable rights to all minority groups? Or be vulnerable to justified revolution?

Again, if it is the citizens' duty to alter their government if it becomes destructive of their inalienable rights, is it not then their duty to alter other governments if they become destructive of the rights of their subjects.

One further question, which embraces an exceedingly controversial issue—Is it consistent for one government which recognizes the principle of the Declaration to allow another government to deny persons the right of liberty and the pursuit of happiness?

How does this fact influence the relationship of the United States and Soviet Russia? The United States must admit that if it is to maintain the essential validity of the Declaration it must recognize its duty to secure these inalienable rights for those persons who are the object of a "long train of abuses and usurpation."

This must not be misinterpreted as meaning immediate overthrow of the Russian government, but it does mean a concentrated effort to guarantee that this principle of inalienable rights apply to the people in all situations. But to impose our expression of this principle onto others would leave us vulnerable to the same criticism which the Declaration is offering.

The crux of the problem is that according to the democratic principle, the conclusion is that the world cannot be divided in principle although there can be a complexity of expressions of that principle. As Jefferson affirmed, "But every difference of opinion is not a difference of principle."

Students to Migrate to Coast During Weekend Beach Trips

The Oregon coast will be thickly populated with Willamette students next weekend as all classes travel there on their beach trips.

Senior class members will spend Friday through Sunday at Taft, swimming, sunbathing and enjoying other types of planned entertainment. About 110 seniors will stay at the Taft Heights hotel during the three days at the beach. The Juniors, carrying out tradition, will serve dinner to the graduates-to-be Sunday.

Seniors Plan Trip

Payment for rooms at the hotel will be made after arriving, and will be $1.50 per night, said Ed Caird, senior president. Blankets should be brought by those staying at the hotel and the other bedding will be furnished, he added. Fifty cents for food should be paid by Monday noon, with town seniors contacting Marjorie Quamme, Roberta Batey, or Ed Cario. Those needing transportation will be contacted by Bob McMullen.

Frosh, Sophs to Go to Neskowin

Freshmen and sophomores will travel to Neskowin next Saturday at the expense of the Sophomores. The trip will be made in payment of the Glee bet made by the two classes in which the class placing below the other would finance the trip.

Everyone is asked to sign up in the 'Cat Cavern or living organizations if they expect to go, according to Sherm Bliss, sophomore president. The food, which will be free, will be prepared in Baxter hall before leaving, and buses or trucks will carry those students who will be unable to ride in private cars.

Students should be ready to leave shortly after breakfast, according to class vice-presidents Jim Jackson and Mark Cotton, who are making the arrangements for the trip. They are assisted by Bob Smith, recreation; Mary Lou Ratcliff, chaperones; Barbara Baker, sign-up; and Jo Ann Richardson, publicity.

Hawk Swells Up In Mumps Attack

Swollen-faced and woebegone Stan Hawk, Collegian copy editor, entered the infirmary Thursday with a case of mumps, depleting the newspaper's editorial staff in his absence.

Deploring his illness as "child's play", he stated emphatically that he would be out in two week "or know the reason why". He has the mumps on both sides of his face, so that the remainder of his comments were not translatable to a reporter.

MBS Returns Choir Recording Used In National Broadcast to Willamette

The Mutual Broadcasting system has returned the recording of the A Capella choir national broadcast for the Willamette Music school library, according to Dean Melvin Geist.

The original recording was made in Waller hall and then flown to Mutual headquarters in Los Angeles. There the record received its finishing touches.

The recording was flown to New York after its release over the Eastern network April 2, and was sent back to Los Angeles for release on the West Coast network April 8.

Dave Hoss of KSLM, who was in charge of the recording, has received many complimentary letters concerning the recording from different radio stations congratulating both the choir and KSLM for their fine work, said Geist.

The recording is now in the Music hall's archives and is available to anyone who wishes to hear it, upon request, Geist said.

AAUW to Honor Seniors With Tea

In honor of the senior women of Willamette, the American Association of University Women will sponsor a tea May 25 in Baxter hall at 8 o'clock.

A group of foreign students from the University of Oregon will be presented in a panel. The students will discuss the highlights of their native countries and cultures and will answer questions.

Order Pictures

Students who wish to obtain glossy prints of May Weekend pictures or others taken by Phil Wimer, air force recruiting officer, may do so by contacting him. Prints are 30c each and may be ordered by calling him at 467½ North 18th, phone 3-5586.

Navy Men to See Future Air Cadets

A naval aviator and a chief petty officer will visit the Willamette compus Wednesday and Thursday to make arrangements for interviews with graduating students wishing to take advantage of the flight training in the Naval Aviation Cadet program.

Students who are interested in this program are requested to see Dr. R. A. Withey before these dates so that arrangements may be made for interviews at that time.

The navy men are part of the recruiting service that is making calls on most colleges and universities across the nation.

Queen Polly I Reigns at WU As Weekend Guests Welcomed

The Willamette campus was a beehive of activity last weekend as high school seniors and guests traveled to Willamette for the 1950 May Weekend celebration.

Honors were shared by Delta Gamma and Beta Theta Pi as winners of the All-Campus Sing contest, and the sophomores won the tug-of-war and greased pole contests.

The Weekend began with the barbecue watch held on Sweetland field Thursday evening from 7 to 11 p.m. The juniors and seniors each sang songs, the sophomores were intertained by a variety show, the freshmen square danced and all classes were served refreshments. As a penalty for having the least amount of representation at the watch, the juniors cleaned up after each event during the Weekend.

Capacity Crowd Sees Play

Thursday and Friday evening at 8:30 the Waller hall chapel curtain rose on capacity audiences at the presentation of "The Man Who Would Be Sick," by Moliere.

All-Campus Sing was presented in the gym Friday morning with Delta Gamma, Alpha Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, and Chi Omega placing in that order in the women's division; and Beta Theta Pi, Baxter hall, Sigma Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Phi Delta Theta winning in that order in the men's division.

Barbecue, Show Entertain Guests

The barbecue was held on Sweetland field, with a band concert and variety show following. The show was prepared by Charlie Nee, master of ceremonies was Jack Brown, and the cast included: Glennis Allen, Carl Blanes, the Hawaiians, Joan Dingman, the Collegiates, Jack Brown and his ensemble, and a skit by Edith Grosenbach and Gay Simons. The sophomores then trampled the freshmen in the tug-of-war and greased pole contests.

Saturday morning the campus YWCA sponsored the May morning breakfast in Lausanne hall from 8 to 10 o'clock, Blue Key registered the guests, Charles Paeth, director of admissions, conducted a tour of the campus, and the a cappella choir rehearsed in the Music hall at 10 o'clock.

Queen Polly I Receives Crown

Queen Polly I was crowned by Edith Fairham Gunnar, 1949 May queen, at the coronation ceremonies in the gym at 1:30 p.m. The sophomore women presented the key to the city of Salem to the Queen, Tom Scheidel, freshman class president, planted the ivy, and Patty Jo Hammond led the junior girls in the May Pole dance.

Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, with the assistance of Beta Alpha Gamma, was hostess at the Queen's tea at University house Saturday afternoon. Whitman won 71 to 60 over Willamette at the track meet in Bush's pasture, the Queen was honored at a formal ball Saturday evening in the gym from 9 to 12 o'clock, and the Weekend was ended with church services at various Salem churches Sunday morning.

General chairman for the event was Dick Endsley, and his assistants were Florence Goodrich, Dave Place and Don Phillips; Bill Hansen, publicity; Jean Gilmer, programs; Howard Mader, cleanup; Chuck Martin, All-Campus Sing; and Ted Loder, Jim Anicker, Babe Maudlin and Glenn Halliday, barbecue.

Band Plans Programs

Next Tuesday, the Willamette university band will present a concert in the gymnasium during the regular chapel period. This will be the second and last chapel performance by the band this year but a spring concert is scheduled for Sunday, May 21.

WF to Sponsor Carnival Tonight

A carnival will be sponsored tonight by the Westminster fellowship in the First Prebyterian church social hall between 8 and 11 p.m.

All of the youth organizations in the church will assist in the carnival but the college age group is directing it and will run most of the concessions under the general chairmanship of Kent Lawrence.

Prizes are being donated by the merchants of Salem and other individuals. Included in the ten booths will be a "House of Terror," fortune telling and refreshments.

Game Pictures Ready

Those who have ordered pictures of the faculty-lettermen game are asked to get them at the bookstore this week. A new order of plastic key tags have also been received, said Mrs. Enid Rondeau, manager of the bookstore.

Vanport Ace Tosses No-No as Bearcats Divide Double-Header

Bob Merkovitch ruined Johnny Lewis' record of never having had a no-hitter pitched against a team of his by hurling a no-no Vanport 2-0 win Tuesday as the clubs divided, Willamette blasting three Viking tossers 10 times for an 8-1 victory in the second. The 'Cats clouted Pacific 7-5 to stay right behind Lewis and Clark in the circuit race.

Coincidences came thick and fast Tuesday, for that same day Salem high dropped a no-hit, no-run 4-0 game to Albany's Bulldogs. Merkovitch, it so happens, is an ex-pitching pupil of Lewis' at Portland's Grant high.

Vanport's first sacker, Bill Jollie, slashed a long homer past the center field grasslands in the second inning for the first score. The next man up, Art Shepherd, got a single, went to second on an error, and scooted home on two passed balls. Larry Stocks threw hitless ball the rest of the game.

Unlimbering their bats promptly, Willamette earned a first inning run off a walk and a single. They got three more in the fourth off Dick Brouwer's hingle, Irv Roth's double and Chuck Bowe's triple. Brouwer, hitting three times in four trips for the day, scored John Markoskie in the fifth and went over the plate on Roth's single through short.

Lenz bashed his pace-setting second four-master of the year in the final seventh. Bob Warner, former Willamette gridder, did a flip-flop in left field, letting Lenz prance home well ahead of the throw. Another score on a single and a bad bobble gave the 'Cats their last tally and the nightcap, 8-1. Howie Olson allowed four bingles in seven frames.

Markoskie's single after a pair of scratch hits and an outfield error accounted for two runs in the first inning of the Pacific tussle. Scrivens tallied in the second on a double and a wild pick-off throw as Scrivens sneaked to third. Pacific took over the lead in the bottom half of the period only to have Willamette snatch a win back in the ninth.

Hudson walked the first two batters in the ninth and all hands were safe on John Skimas' intended sacrifice. Hudson then walked Bowe to force in a run and Bill Crandall relieved him on the rubber. Crandall struck out Scrivens, but a squeeze play, a hit batter, and two more walks brought in three more runs. Scrivens booted home his third win to only one loss.

Golfers to Tee Off For League Meet

The Northwest conference golf meet will be held today at the Salem golf course, with teams entered from Willamette, Whitman, College of Idaho, Pacific, Lewis and Clark and Linfield. The Willamette team, coached this year by Jim Johnson, won the meet last year.

Meanwhile, the local divotmen finished up their Conference play by defeating Pacific 12 to 6 last Friday, but dropping a match by the same score to Lewis and Clark. Ray Pointer, the Bearcat's number six man, came to life and shot a 75 to take medalist honors against Pacific. Bill Wittenberg of Willamette and Klue of Lewis and Clark tied for low honors with 73's in the match with the Pioneers.

Each school will enter six men in the Conference meet and the best four scores of each team will be counted. Willamette will be represented by Bill Wittenberg, Art Dowd, Don McMaster, Bob Hearn, Reg Waters, and Ray Pointer. If Vince Aleska gets back in time, he will no doubt compete for the Jason team.

Bill Wittenberg, who has been medalist for the Willamette team in almost every meet to date, will compete in the Salem Elks golf tourney. He will face Dick Yost, the defending champion, in his first match.

Baxter No. 2	5	19	5

With but two weeks of play left to go in the intramural bowling league, the Phi Delt No. 1 squad holds a four-point lead. The four points is not indicative of the true margin, however, as the Phi's will draw a bye next week, while the second-place Sig No. 2 team will have a chance to pick up four points.

The Baxter No. 1 squad, now tied with the Sigs for second, drew a bye yesterday, so do not have a chance.

In last week's action, the Phi's defeated Baxter hall No. 2, 3 to 1, while the Sig 2's were taking three out of four from Baxter No. 1. In the other action, the Independents and Sigma Chi No. 1 split two-two, Phi Delt No. 2 took three out of four from SAE No. 1, and Baxter No. 3 took three out of four from the SAE No. 2 squad.

Jim Hartley of the Sig No. 2 team gained all of the individual honors for the week, rolling a 205 game and a 502 series. The Sig 2's bowled the high team series with 2580, while Baxter gained the team game laurels.

Pennant Race Nears Close; 'Cats Host Viks, Linfield, L-C

By Tom Brennen

In a week of furious activity on the loop diamonds, the Northwest conference pennant claimants will "slug it out" in the remaining twelve contests to take place in the next six days.

At present only Pacific and College of Idaho are virtually eliminated with four and five losses respectively. Here is the league in the windup: Tomorrow College of Idaho plays Pacific twice with the Badgers the favorites. Their eastern mates from Whitman meet Lewis and Clark, also in a twin bill. The Whits may surprise everybody in this pair. The other clubs, Linfield and Willamette, tangle in a singleton at the McMinnville high school park.

This will be a night game and is slated for 8 o'clock. Sophomore Marty Bergan started against the Pioneers Wednesday so Roy Helser must be saving his ace, Johnny Nauman, for the Wildcat-Bearcat classic.

Monday, Idaho and Whitman play the other half of their four-games-in-five-days series, the Coyotes moving to L-C's Fisher field and the Missionaries to Pacific in two more double headers. The Helser-Lewis return bout is at McCulloch on Tuesday. Finally the closers, which may decide the toga, are at Willamette, hosting the Pioneers, and at Linfield, vieing with Pacific on Thursday.

Of the three most promising teams, Lewis and Clark, Willamette, and Linfield, the first has the easiest schedule ahead. If Johnny Lewis' boys keep up their hitting and pitching and watch the errors closely, they have the stuff to win teir first conference crown since '43.

Monday the 'Cats face the Vikings again in a make-up on the home field. Coach Lewis would like to see the stands as jammed with rooters as the sacks will be with Bearcats for these three big, big ones on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at three o'clock at McCullouch.

Conference Standings

Lewis and Clark	3	1	.750
Willamette	5	2	.714
Linfield	4	2	.667
Whitman	3	3	.500
Pacific	1	3	.250

Mertz, Hall Hold McCulloch Oval Hurdle, Javelin Record

By Tom Brennan

Willamette's "pistol-packing" profs and eagle-eyed judges can replace their weapons on their holsters and unscrew their foreheads now as the Stackhouse trackmen ran the final meet for 1950 on the McCulloch oval last weekend.

Now that two seasons have been completed on Mission street, the track records made there can be compared. In '49, with little emphasis placed on track and a new, unsettled cinder bed, the Bearcats won two out of three dual meets held there.

This year there were four meets, one triangular session with Oregon College of Education and Vanport, and dual meets with Pacific, Lewis and Clark, and Whitman. Willamette trampled Pacific and beat OCE and Vanport in the three-way affair. Lewis and Clark ran away from the 'Cats and Whitman clinched a win in the 14th event after the lead had changed several times.

The individual best performance records for McCulloch field include all colleges participating in meets there. Every mark established in '49 was abolished this year but one, the 126 feet, 6 and ½ inches effort of Linfield's Keith Marshall in the discus. Two of the top track squads in the Conference set 12 out of the 15 marks within the last two-week period. The records are:

100 yard dash: White (Lewis & Clark... Time, :10.
220 yard dash: Dodge (Whitman). Time, :22.6.
440 yard dash: Hart (Whitman). Time, :52.6.
Half mile: Moore (Lewis & Clark). Time, 2.02.8.
Mile: Moore (Lewis & Clark). Time, 4.31.
Two mile: Wagner (Whitman). Time, 10.38.6.
Mile relay: Moore, McKinster, Williams, Cox (Lewis & Clark). Time, 3.35.2.
Low hurdles: Mertz (Willamette). Time, :25.6.
High hurdles: Mertz (Willamette). Time, :15.7.
Pole vault: Bakke (Lewis & Clark). Height, 13 feet.
High jump: Gengler and Baber (Lewis & Clark). Height, 5 feet 11 inches.
Broad jump: Iglehart (Whitman). Distance, 21 feet 10 inches.
Shot put: Cramer (Lewis & Clark) and Fahey (Whitman). Distance, 44 feet.
Javelin: Hall (Willamette). Distance, 198 feet ½ inch..
Discus: Marshall (Linfield). Distance, 126 feet 6 and ½ inches.

Ted Mertz and Bob Hall hold the distinction of never having been beaten in their specialties in any of the seven McCulloch track meets so far. For Mertz this means high and low hurdles and, of course, the javelin for Hall. In fact, Mertz has won the lows 12 consecutive times and the highs seven times in a row. He won the high hurdles in 11 out the last 12 starts. Hall has never been defeated in collegiate competition on the Coast, winning that event Saturday to run his string of victories to 13.

Out On A Limb

By David Card

Willamette's booming bats were certainly silenced in a convincing manner Tuesday when Bob Merkovitch hurled a no-hitter at our local favorites. This was the first time that a Johnny Lewis-coached club was defeated in this manner, and we're quite sure that Johnny hopes that it doesn't happen again. What made the game even worse was the fact that Larry Stocks gave up his first earned run of the year, and also his first loss. The run earned against Stocks came on a line drive over second that managed to evade the fielders as they chased it, finally ending up by rolling between them. It's a shame that "Nig's" record had to end that way, and it leaves Larry O'Dell as the only Bearcat hurler without an earned run charged against him.

Mertz Still At It

Ted Mertz continues to pace the individual scoring parade for the track team by a long margin, holding a score of 85½ points compared to 21¾ for Vern Shangle. Other leaders include Bob Hall with 20, Rod Beals with 19, Babe Maudlin with 18, George Porter with 15, Bob Miller with 15, Al Fedje with 11 7/12, Newt Kekahio with 11, Millard Bates with 11, Norm Dversdahl with 11, Mark Cotton with 11, Jim Noa with 10 5/6, Scott Thompson with 9½, Buck Killinger with 9, and Wally Boe with 8½. While we're on the subject of track, it was quite amazing the way Wally Boe ran the half-mile against Whitman, as it was his first shot at it. He led most of the way, with teammate Bob Miller just barely edging him out during the final stretch. Jim Noa and Mark Cotton are looking better every day in the pole vault, and while they'll never capture any first places in the Conference meet, could be right up there with a second or a third.

Here and There . . .

The no-hit game tossed against Willamette marks the first game this year that George Matile hasn't driven out a hit—according to Les Sparks, the turnout at the Whitman track meet was the best he has seen at Willamette. Let's hope that such attendance holds up for track, and the tracksters assume their rightful place along with the other major sports - - - With decent weather finally arriving, the intramural softball program is going strong. The new six o'clock starting time has proved quite popular with most of the participants, and while there are a few who dislike it, it seems to be working out all right - - - The 'mural program is certainly broadening, with badminton and tennis now being included.

Track . . Notes

By Frank Winship

Last Saturday's track meet with Whitman, which Willamette lost 71 to 60, is said according to Les Sparks, to have attracted the largest crowd that any Willamette home meet has witnessed. This shows that Willamette is definitely becoming track conscious, which is a big step in developing outstanding track teams.

This Saturday afternoon Willamette will be represented by four tracksters, Ted Mertz, Bob Hall, Babe Maudlin and Jimmy Noa, in the Portland invitational track and field meet which is to be held at the Portland University oval. All the teams of the Northwestern conference will be represented along with Portland University. This meet should give a good line-up on how the Conference meet at Walla Walla will stack up a week hence.

Jimmy Noa will compete in the pole vault, which is his specialty. Jim cleared 11 feet, three inches last week in practice, which is his best jump. Bob Hall will toss the javelin, Ted Mertz will compete only in the hurldes, which is a step down from his usual entry in four or five events. Babe Maudlin, all school record holder, will enter the broad jump.

Coach Chester Stackhouse has submitted his entry list for the Conference track meet, which will be held a week from tomorrow at Whitman college in Walla Walla. This list was composed of sixteen men as follows: Wes Stauffer, Norm Dversdahl, Wally Boe, Ted Mertz, Millard Bates, Rod Beals, Jimmy Noa, Bob Miller, Babe Maudlin, Bob Hall, Vern Shangle, Cliff Murdock, George Porter, Buck Killenger, Al Fedje and Scott Thompson.

Netmen Get Ready For League Meet

Willamette's tennis team scored a 5-2 triumph over Pacific university last Friday and suffered a reversal by the same score at the hands of Lewis and Clark college Tuesday.

Montana's slick tennis squad whitewashed the local crew here Saturday, 7-0.

The big event of the week is the Conference meet which will be held here tomorrow. Willamette's number one player, Cece Conners, was runner-up last year to Tim Penrose of Whitman who will be back again this year. Conners has not lost a match as yet in Conference play, but had a rough time when he beat Loren Cowgill of Lewis and Clark in the feature match Tuesday, 8-10, 7-5, 7-5. Willamette will enter Al Miles and Ray McCoy in the doubles of the tournament.

Results: Willamette vs. Pacific, singles: Conners (W) defeated Yurk (P), 6-3, 6-3; McCoy (W) defeated Little (P), 6-3, 7-5; Lorenz (W) defeated Carden (P) 9-7, 7-5; Surgman (P) defeated Miles (W), 2-6, 9-7, 6-1; Chambers (W) defeated Cunningham (P), 6-2, 6-2. Doubles: Conners-Lorenz (W) defeated Yurk-Little (P), 6-3, 6-3; Carden-Surgman (P) defeated Miles-McCoy (W) 9-7, 6-4.

Whitman Thinclads Tip Cats 71-60 In May Weekend Meet

The Whitman Missionaries edged the Willamette Bearcats 71-60 in the season's closing dual contest. The meet was close all of the way, with the Missionaries gaining a six-point advantage going into the final relay, which they won handily to give them their 11-point margin.

There were many close races during the day, with the closest coming in the 220 yard dash in which Whitman's Bob Dodge squeezed out the victory by mere inches over Willamette's Ted Mertz. Bob Miller of Willamette nosed out his teammate Wally Boe in the half mile. This race saw one of the strongest finishes of the year when Miller, who was 15 yards behind coming into the last turn, sprinted ahead to take the tape by a narrow margin.

Ted Mertz once again led in the point scoring column with 16½ points. Mertz won both hurdle races, gained seconds in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and a tie for third in the high jump. The only other double winner of the day was Whitman's Bob Dodge, winner in the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

The Whit's scored near sweeps in four events, the high jump, shot put, mile and two mile, capturing eight out of nine points in each of these events. The Bearcat pole vaulters scored the only complete sweep in taking all nine in that event. Jim Noa and Mark Cotton tied for first at the height of eleven feet. Ben Collier took third to complete the sweep.

Betas Edge Sigs for Softball 'A' Lead; Sigs Top 'B' Clubs

Beta Theta Pi captured first spot in the intramural A softball league May 9, when they defeated the Sigs 4-3. The Betas also rapped the Phi Delts 8-2, May 10, to give them four wins and no losses. Sigma Chi still holds its lead in the B league after the faculty forfeited for not having enough men.

In the only other B league tilt, Beta edged Baxter hall 13-12. Chuck Harris got credit for the win with Tom Edwards on the receiving end. The Baxterite batteries were Tony Kalez and Jerry Kelly.

The Phi Delts, besides dropping a game to Beta, beat the Law school 5-0. Scott Thompson got both the shutout and loss to the Betas. Bob Skirvin is the Phi catcher.

In other A tilts Beta tripped SAE 7-5. Batteries were Bob DeBord and Pete Bryant for SAE and George Adams and Jess Jones for Beta. Baxter hall defeated the Sweat Sox 9-6 to give Baxter a two-two record. Baxter also tipped the SAEs 12-5, May 10, as SAE pitcher DeBord held the Baxterites to few hits but lost on team errors. Doug Logue pitched for Baxter with Elliot Nasoka catching.

Lockman, Graduating Senior, Wins Many Honors, Friends

By Mary Louise Lee

Frank Lockman, senior major in speech, will graduate June 10 as one of the outstanding members of his class.

He has eight grandchildren, so while other men his age were alumni looking back on college, Frank was donning his rook cap and looking forward to 1950, when he would wear the cap and gown.

Frank Lockman

His freshman year he spent "getting acclimated", which in itself was a major achievement. Frank gained the friendship and loyalty of many students that first year.

He began speech work in his sophomore year, and during the next two years won or placed in at least thirty tournaments. He entered the tournaments in debate, oratory, after-dinner and extemporaneous speaking. Last month he won the Tau Kappa Alpha Wechtler prize for being the outstanding speaker west of the Mississippi. Frank is the only man to win the Doney speech contest for two consecutive years, and he is competing again this year. He has spoken before more than 100 church and civic groups in Oregon, and, he says, "They ask me back again."

Frank made his debut on the stage as the ship's captain in "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" the 1949 May Weekend play, and then starred in "Our Town" early this year. The part of Stage Manager was Frank, and he made the audience feel the warmth and naturalness of the character.

Frank has been instructing classes at Willamette in speech for two years. After graduation, he plans to attend graduate school. He is a member of Sigma Chi, Tau Kappa Alpha, speech honorary, and Theta Alpha Phi, drama honorary.

Frank Lockman is a man who has succeeded in many ways, and he has shown the people around him a lesson in successful living.

Tomorrow night will see the SAE's present their annual spring formal, followed by an early Sunday morning breakfast and beach trip.

Dean Gregg Emphasizes Need For Atlantic Union in IRC Talk

By Joyce Kirby

Protection from Russia or other aggressive dictatorships and more prosperity for nations in peace, show the main need for the Atlantic Union, according to Dean Robert Gregg, who spoke to the International Relations club Wednesday evening.

Gregg is chairman of the Salem chapter of the Atlantic Union committee which is a national group of over 8000 people who are interested in furthering the idea of a stronger world state. Judge James T. Brand is chairman of the group in Oregon.

The plan presented by Gregg is to immediately include the 12 Atlantic nations who will pool their armies and be under united command making a unity of equipment and expenditures. This cooperation during aggression would continue, Gregg added, in peace time through trade without tariff barriers with each country excelling in special fields and all working together.

Distant future plans of the Atlantic Union, according to Gregg, are to include Russia and other nations in the government if and when they practice in their actions the rights of the individual as defined in the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights. The government under this union should have powers similar to those of the United States government, control of armed forces, foreign and interstate commerce, atomic energy, taxation and currency, while the nations would retain powers like those of the states in the United States, Gregg informed.

Gregg said that the committee realizes that there is much controversy over this plan and a system has been arranged where there will be debate in each nation before the constitution of the Atlantic Union will be voted upon.

Also at the meeting Wednesday evening nominations for officers for next fall were made. Those nominated for president are Jack Pierce and Walter Jones; vice-president, Esther Weinstein and Barbara Lee Miller; secretary, Joyce Kirby and Carolyn Beidermann, treasurer, Astrid Tarem, George Choban and Dale Nusom.

Elections will be held at the last meeting of the year which is scheduled for May 24. Officers for this semester are president, Duane Radliff; vice-president, Audrey Lien; secretary, Evelyn Taylor; treasurer, Walter Jones and publicity, Russell Gochnour.
