Pre-Registration for Spring Semester Scheduled Jan. 20

Academic counseling and pre-registration for second semester will be held the week of January 20 to 24 and students who register and pay the fees in advance will be free February 10, the regular registration day.

SCHEDULE OF CLASSES for next semester are now available in the Registrar's office, and students are advised to plan their schedules before meeting with their advisors.

During the week of pre-registration, registration booklets will be available in the Eaton lobby. Faculty members will hold extra office hours for the convenience of students.

REGISTRATION booklets must be completed by January 24, and fee slips made out in the Registrar's office. Fees may be paid any time through February 10. There is a $5 fee for late registrations.

University catalogs are available in the Registrar's office for students who have questions about various requirements for graduation.

Foreign Study Awards Open

Competition for 165 scholarships for foreign study in 1958-59 will close Wednesday. These awards, available for 13 foreign countries, are sponsored by the Institute of International Education.

IN ADDITION to the scholarships for study at universities, the French government offers 40 assistantships for young Americans to teach English in French secondary schools and teacher training institutions.

Each year for the last four years, Willamette graduates have been accepted for teaching positions under this French government program, according to Dr. Marion Morange, head of the language department.

THEY INCLUDE Sally Chevens, Sally Cooney, Sandra Schuerman, and Sara Horton and Lois Monk, who are currently in France.

Many of the scholarships are open to students in the humanities and social science.

General eligibility requirements include U.S. citizenship, a bachelor's degree by the time of departure, in most cases knowledge of the language of the country, a good academic record and good health.

CANDIDATES may apply for Fulbright travel grants if they are applying for study in Austria, Denmark, Germany, France, Italy and the Netherlands. These applications are also due Wednesday.

Information and application blanks may be obtained in Dean Ewalt's office.

Second Play Has Tryouts

Tryouts for Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke," the University Theater's coming production, will be held tonight from 6:30 to 10 p.m. in Waller Hall. The play is to be presented on February 28 and March 1 and is the second production of the season.

A COPY of the work is on reserve at the library and those who are interested in trying out for parts in the production are urged to read it before tryout time.

There are major parts for four women, among them an insane mother and a fiery Mexican girl, and for five men, including a minister, a 12-year-old boy, and a fat and boorish Mexican. There are smaller parts for four women and four men.

"SUMMER AND SMOKE," while not the most widely known of Williams' plays, is one of his finest psychological studies, according to Prof. Robert Putnam, head of the drama department.

The play concerns a minister's daughter and a young doctor who, though in love with each other, can never achieve union because of their widely different attitudes toward each other and life in general.

All interested students are urged to try out. Anyone not able to be present at the tryout time should contact Mr. Putnam.

New Group To Arrange Ski Car Pool

The first activity of the newly-organized Willamette Ski Club is a car pool to take all members to Mt. Hood and Hoodoo next weekend, January 18 and 19. At its first meeting Wednesday the club accepted a constitution and elected officers.

TERRY KENT will head the group as president; Gretchen Goodrich was elected vice president; Dot Manker, secretary; and Jan Aaseth, money-watcher.

These officers will constitute the executive council with Prof. Howard A. Mader as advisor.

PURPOSE OF THE club is to organize students interested in skiing to promote their mutual interests. All students and staff of Willamette University in sympathy with the purpose of the club are eligible for membership; to join they should contact Miss Manker.

For the car pool men willing to take passengers to the ski country will volunteer their cars. Students who want rides to the snow will sign up in the student body office.

THEN A MATCHING of cars and passengers will ensue with the first to sign up the first served. Kent announced that more definite details on the car pool will be released soon.

THE 56 MEMBERS at the meeting voted to present a recommendation to the student council concerning selection of members to Willamette's ski team for the Snow Carnival.

Teacher Certificate Requisites to Be Told

Explanation of requirements for secondary teacher certification in Oregon will be given to all interested students Tuesday at 4 p.m. in room 30 of Waller Hall.

Dr. James R. Lyles, head of the education department, will chair the meeting. He will be assisted by members of Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary.

Dr. Lyles emphasized that it is especially important that sophomores attend this meeting as it will enable them to plan their programs properly during the junior and senior years.

Members of Kappa Delta Pi will meet Monday to elect a delegate to the national convention held in Chicago in March.

Council Picks Snow Princess

Sandi Harris, a junior art major who has never been on skis in her life, will have ample opportunity to practice when she represents Willamette at the Winter Carnival to be held February 8 and 9 at Timberline Lodge.

SHE WAS selected Snow Princess in Wednesday's Student Council meeting and will vie for the title of Snow Queen with candidates representing other Oregon schools.

Princess Sandi will be given a complete outfit of ski clothes and will appear on a Portland television show the last week of January.

Jory to Leave Post; Peterson to Counsel

News of the retirement of Registrar H. B. Jory and the addition of Donald A. Peterson to the admissions office was released this week by President Smith.

Jory, who has held the position of Registrar since 1946, has announced that he will retire in August. He received his B.A. from Willamette and his M.A. from Stanford.

DON PETERSON

Richard A. Yocom will fill the position of Registrar in August, leaving his present post in the admissions office. Yocom has acted as assistant registrar this year.

PETERSON joined the admissions staff this week and will take the post Yocom will vacate. He is a 1957 Willamette graduate in political science and has been doing personnel work with Merritt, Chapman and Scott Construction Co. since June.

Peterson, a navy veteran, was the ASWU member-at-large, was Homecoming manager and was secretary-treasurer of the Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders, serving as chairman of the 1957 conference, held at Willamette.

His social fraternity was Sigma Chi, which he served as social chairman.

Award Available For Law Student

Willamette has been awarded $300 to be used for the Farmers Insurance Group tuition scholarship at the College of Law.

The scholarship, to be awarded in the spring for the 1958-59 school year, is to be administered by the University and the award applied to the tuition of a second or third year law student working toward an LL.B. degree.

The board of directors of the insurance company is making the awards to selected private universities whose graduates are employed by the company.

Currently employed by Farmers Insurance is G. Dean Barnhart, a 1950 Willamette graduate.

Series Bills Met Baritone

Internationally acclaimed opera singer Leonard Warren will be featured in the second Distinguished Artists Series concert of the year, to be given Wednesday, January 22.

Warren, star baritone of the Metropolitan opera, is widely known among music-lovers through his appearances on television and his best-selling RCA Victor records.

He is recognized as the foremost dramatic baritone and is currently on a coast-to-coast concert tour.

Season tickets for the Distinguished Artists Series are available at a reduced rate of $5 and $6 at Stevens and Son.

Individual tickets will be on sale a couple of days before the performance for $2.40 and $3.20.

Demo Leaders to Speak At Salem YD Meeting

Bruce Bishop and Cornelius Bateson, two Democratic leaders of Oregon, will speak at the Salem Young Democrats meeting Thursday evening. The meeting will be held in the Fireplace room of the Salem Public Library, according to Fred Chambers, president of the campus YD group.

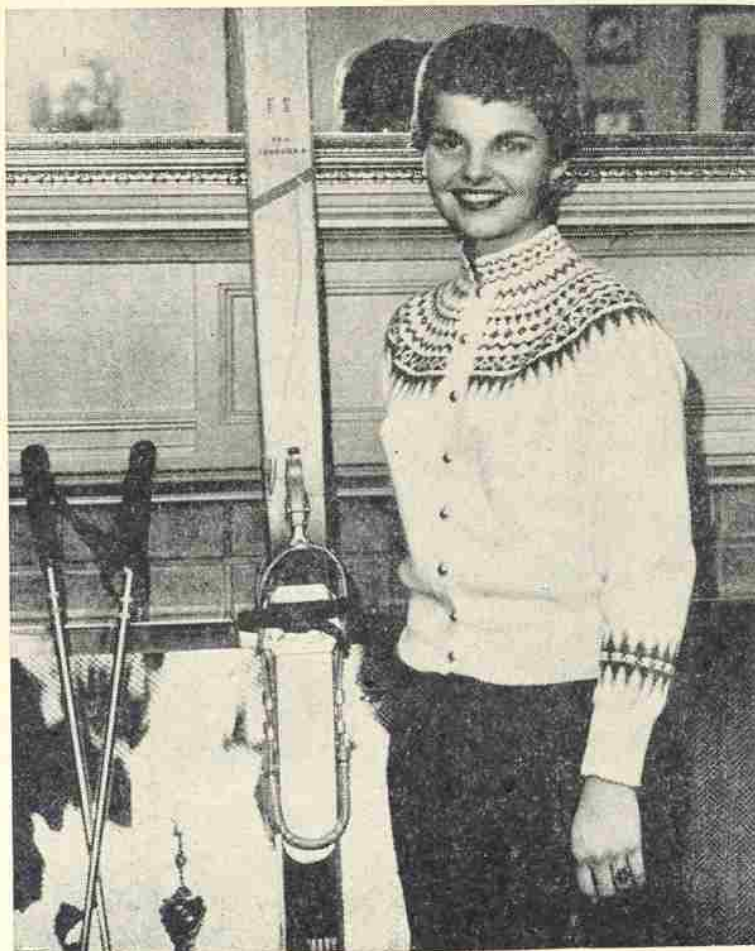

Bishop, president of the Oregon Young Democrats, besides speaking on activities of that organization throughout the state, will present plans for the upcoming state convention.

The convention, to be held late in the spring, will for the first time held in Salem.

Office to Close

Students planning to have the student body office type term papers must turn them into the office by Monday, January 20. The office will be closed from January 27 through February 10, following the usual policy of giving the office workers an opportunity to study for finals.

Snow Doll!

Snow Princess Sandi Harris is shown practicing for part of the activity which will, no doubt, be enjoyed at Timberline Lodge during the Winter Carnival, February 8 and 9. Sandi's skiing experience is limited, in fact she's never tried it, but she is anticipating the weekend as a learning experience. (Photo by Jim Cline.)

Close Given Editor Post

Jim Close, freshman journalism student and a staff member of the Collegian, has accepted the position of assistant editor of The Fair View, a monthly newspaper published by Oregon Fairview Home.

Close has a background in journalism which extends to Parrish junior high school where he edited the school paper. In his high school years at Salem high, he was a staff member of the paper and held the news editor position in his senior year.

While serving with the army in Korea, Close was a correspondent for the Pacific Stars and Stripes.

The purpose of the Fairview paper is to give to all a broad concept of the Fairview program, its major aims and objectives. It also provides a means of exchanging information within the institution.

value of the impractical

The advent of "Sputnik" has brought many innovations to our lives and our sense of values. Our ivory tower existence at Willamette has been altered somewhat by the new direction our education is forced to take. The emphasis now placed on science and mathematics would seem to make a liberal arts education relatively unimportant.

However, it is necessary to ask ourselves this question. What provision does science make for the mind of the individual after he has succeeded in saving his neck from the onslaught of his adversary?

Our culture in recent generations has taken far too great an interest in its physical surroundings and not enough interest in the mind and soul of the person who is the product of this materialistic way of life. We feel that the role played by the humanities and the arts as exemplified in a liberal arts education is a necessary element in the preservation of a well-rounded life and a stable sense of values.

After all, when the smoke clears from this brave new world of ours and we are all eating with our fingers from banana leaves, we can at least be convinced that man has reserved some feeling for truth and some reverence for wisdom. —D. N.

Dr. Duell's Class Tops Staters; Video Chemistry Proves Worth

Who ever heard of a TV program minus plugs for Bab-o, swept wing automobiles, or cool drags on a real cigarette? Impossible?

Willamette has found the answer to streamlined study via video with no jazzy jingles.

However, students in Dr. Paul Duell's elementary chemistry course do mention the usual professor's puns coming live over the screen, from their second professor in the course, Dr. W. H. Slabaugh of Oregon State College.

Broadcasting from station KOAC-TV in Corvallis, the OSC professor makes promptness essential with his 11 o'clock chemistry class on Monday and Wednesday. On Friday Dr. Duell stars with his own discussions and the students recite in class.

Missiles of joy such as outlines and tests arrive regularly from the educational TV program though the Willamette chemistry professor augments the state college work with quizzes of his own.

Students say the combined forces of Doctors Duell and Slabaugh make for comprehensive chem and endorse the program with enthusiasm.

The punch comes when Willamette television fans compare with their counterparts gradewise. Reports prove Willamette chemistry grades to be far higher than those of the classes at Oregon State College, University of Oregon, and Oregon College of Education who take the identical course.

Beirut Studies Arduous

Jazz Rocks City of Contrast

By ROSEMARY GILBERT

A horse in a fancy, feather-topped harness pulling a modern painted Mobilgas kerosene tank.

Across the street a 1957 Fairlane "500" hardtop convertible.

A peddler selling anything from carrots to can openers.

And homes built from flattened oil tins.

Beirut, Lebanon, is a city of contrast. It is poor and dirty in one section while rich and flourishing in another. Narrow streets are crowded with new automobiles; one seldom sees an old car.

DOWN THE sidewalk two shepherds in their native dress, drive their flock. A man sits by his big flat cart full of corn, roasting the ears over a tiny charcoal burner to sell to the passer-by.

In this ancient land of bargaining, the shopkeepers are super-salesmen. The sight of a newcomer usually doubles the prices. This is one technique: "Say, Bud, aren't you American? Put 'er there!" By this time the victim is literally dragged into the shop.

MANY WESTERNERS come to Lebanon expecting to find a backward country. Instead they discover that anything one needs can be found in Beirut.

It is hard to find something "typically Lebanese" because of the many imported goods and the influence from both East and West. One doesn't need to know Arabic to recognize a coke bottle or a Shell gasoline station.

STUDENTS AT THE University, where rock 'n' roll has taken over, seem to take their studies more seriously than we in the United States.

Dear Editor:

Dear Editor:

As the Domestic Relations Law teacher in this school I was naturally delighted that your article about the Feminine Future Lawyers reports my good student, Mrs. Schlegel as "a mother of five." She got married about a year ago. What prowess youth is having these days! More power to them.

While we are at it, you may be so kind as to correct your report about the Law Schools' Association Convention at San Francisco. You mentioned the name of every Willamette law teacher who is attending, except mine. That makes me awfully jealous; especially since I am slated for two speeches.

But I forgive you in view of the fine performance of our "etudiantes de droit."

Cordially,
Reginald Parker.

(Editor's Note: The Collegian staff sincerely apologizes for the omission done Dr. Parker and the additions credited to Mrs. Schlegel.)

The day begins with the garbage man at 6 a.m. "Boulyla" is the long cry of the shoe shine man as he passes by, shoe box over his shoulder. A peddler pushing his noisy cart over the ruts has a different call.

SOMETIMES ONE hears from the street a hunchbacked, ragged old woman with two just-as-ragged children, hands outstretched for charity as they sing.

All this and more is Beirut, the city where East meets West and people are more than hospitable. Never repeat the American mistake of admiring an article, for it is the Arab custom to give it to you, and they won't take no for an answer!

New Year Sees Many Newlyweds

Wedding bells started the New Year off for four Willamette coeds who were married during Christmas vacation.

The former Beth Guilbert and Dan Newberry were married December 28 at the Episcopal church in Berkeley, California. White carnations decorated the church and a reception afterward was held at Miss Guilbert's home in the rectory. The bride's father, Dean Guilbert, married the couple.

A major in drama, Mrs. Newberry is drama manager, secretary of Theta Alpha Phi, and was on the executive committee for Varsity Varieties. She is also secretary of the Creative Writers' club, a member of Young Democrats, and copy editor of the Wallulah.

Newberry, a sociology and French major, is senior scholar in the French department. He is a former president of Wits, is a member of Phi Sigma Tau, Pi Gamma Mu, Phi Sigma Iota, and is headline editor for the Collegian.

Westminster Presbyterian church was the scene of Nancy Groth's marriage to Robert Sailor, December 22. A reception was held at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

The former Jeanine Graber was married to Rick Mercer on December 20, at the Calvary Baptist church, with a reception following at the church.

Lon Tetrick and the former Alberta Nichols were married December 29, in St. Mathews Episcopal church in San Mateo. A reception followed in the Villa hotel.

Coeds Return With Weddings in Mind

A bevy of engagements were announced last week as Willamette coeds returned with wedding plans. Due to lack of space this week, the rest will be in next week's paper.

A VITA-CRAFT pot contained Kay Ruberg's engagement ring and also provided a clue for Delta Gamma sisters as her fiancé, Pat Farley, is executive supervisor for Vita-craft Pacific in Seattle.

Miss Ruberg is a junior political science major and holds a Rotary scholarship. This year she is president of Young Republicans, on the debate squad, in the Model UN delegation, and assistant rush chairman for Delta Gamma. She is past president of Beta Alpha Gamma, a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, Pi Gamma Mu, and Tau Kappa Alpha.

A SPEECH MAJOR and a '57 graduate, Farley was class president, on the debate squad, a member of Tau Kappa Alpha, Pi Gamma Mu, Omicron Delta Kappa, Sigma Alpha Chi, and Phi Delta Theta. He participated in the Washington semester plan during his junior year.

Carolyn Risley told Chi Omega sisters of her engagement to Gary Waddington when she blew out the candle which was passed around the room.

A SOPHOMORE elementary education major, Miss Risley is in choir, Mu Phi Epsilon, and song leader of Chi Omega. Waddington majors in architecture at Oregon State and is a sophomore. Both students plan to attend the University of Oregon next year.

Of interest to many students and faculty was the announcement of the engagement of Mary Anne Swafford to Max Folsom. Miss Swafford attended Willamette during her freshman and sophomore years and was a member of Chi Omega. She is now a senior at the University of Utah and is majoring in elementary education. Folsom graduated in chemistry in '57 from Willamette, was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and is now doing graduate work in Portland. A June wedding is planned.

Coed of Month Changes Name

NANCY SAILOR

Another activity was added by the former Miss Nancy Groth, January coed of the month, who became Mrs. Robert Sailor over vacation.

Chosen by AWS for outstanding service, Mrs. Sailor, a music major, is presently a member of Cap and Gown, choir, and is Alpha Lambda Delta senior advisor.

Her past activities include serving as president and song leader of Alpha Chi Omega, Student Body office manager, Glee secretary and member of the executive committee, Beta Alpha Gamma president, and class secretary.

The Social Scoop

By MARY LOU KRAUSE

HOT TODDIES IN THE SOCIAL WHIRL

An informal dinner-dance is in the offing for Sigma Chi pledges tomorrow evening. One pledge was quoted as saying that no members will be present, so the pledges and their dates can enjoy dinner from 5 to 8 . . . or something like that.

Said the uncomfortable baby to his ma: "It's time for a change." This is merely a sneaky way of saying that the Phi Deltas elected new officers last Monday for the Spring semester. New president is Bill Long, and reporter is Gerald Ackerson.

The rest of this worthy group include: secretary, Ken Stoop; treasurer, Dave Poff; assistant treasurer, Truman Baird; warden, Andy Kuehn; and alumni secretary, Pete Leveton. Others are Mike Graydon, rush chairman; Wendell McLin, librarian; John Sweeney, chaplain; and Brad Lucas, social chairman. Student leaders, every one . . .

THAT MASCULINE TOUCH

If the preceding part of the Social Scoop sounds unusual, I must confess it was written by an innocent bystander who made the mistake of bystanding in the Collegian office Tuesday night and got put to work. My modest helper must remain unknown as he feels writing for a society column is degrading. Indeed!

WISE BABY MAKES WELL TIMED ARRIVAL

Arriving 31 hours and 47 minutes before the income tax deadline, was Theodore Edward Douglas Shay who weighed 6 pounds and 13 ounces. Dr. Shay explained the baby was given three names so that he will have a variety to choose from.

Third Place Bearcats Look Sharp in Far West Tourney

Willamette University's basketball team returned from the Far West invitational tournament in Sacramento, none the worse for wear and with more prestige than is usually reserved for a third place finisher in tournament play. The reason—which was quite apparent to all who witnessed the holiday classic—was the high caliber of play demonstrated throughout the tournament by the Bearcats, and the fact that they probably had the championship nabbed from their possession by just one point with one second of play remaining.

WILLAMETTE opened tournament play by downing a favored San Francisco State crew. They met Whittier College—the team which went on to win first place—in the second round. It was a real nip-and-tuck affair all the way, which found Willamette holding on to a one-point lead with seconds left in the game. Whittier pressed hard and forced a jump ball, and with the clock showing a couple of seconds remaining, Whittier controlled the tip. Willamette had all men covered, or at least they thought they had. With a single second remaining, Whittier sank a desperation shot from the corner.

The Bearcats roared back from the one-point defeat by Whittier—the first of the season—to rip apart the California Aggies, 67-38. The win gave them third place in the tournament, and an 8-1 pre-conference record. The team which met Whittier in the finals, and took second place, was Sacramento State. Willamette dumped the Sacramento five earlier in the season.

WILLAMETTE scoring for the tournament was evenly distributed with guard Eddie Grossenbacher's 35 points leading the way. Vic Backlund and Tom Johns averaged 10-plus points per game with 32 and 31, respectively. Backlund and Grossenbacher were named to the tournament all-star team.

Willamette Opens NWC Play, Hosts Whitman This Weekend

Coach Johnny Lewis' red hot Bearcats open Northwest Conference play this weekend with College of Idaho and Whitman. Under a new conference arrangement this year, traveling teams will play their single game of a three-day road trip on Thursday. The two-day series will follow on Friday and Saturday. In the past, the single game has been played on Monday. This gave the Coyotes from College of Idaho the Thursday night encounter with the Bearcats, while the Pirates from Whitman invade the home court tonight and tomorrow evening at 8 p.m.

WILLAMETTE opens NWC play with an 8-1 pre-conference record, boast a shooting mark of .448. Guard Ed Grossenbacher is the top scorer with 145 points, and is potting field goals at a .509 clip.

Leading the Bearcat scoring in pre-conference play is guard Ed Grossenbacher. The sharp shooting sophomore from Milwaukie has canned 59 shots from the floor in 116 attempts for a .509 average. His total of 145 points gives him a points-per-game average of 16.1.

Tom Johns is the top rebounder with 103. Vic Backlund is runnerup in both scoring and rebounding, with 118 points and 87 rebounds.

Great rebounding and improving defensive play may earn Larry Lynn a starting spot at forward this weekend. Coach Lewis had high praise for the performance turned in by the sophomore from Washington high of Portland in the Far West tourney.

DESPITE THE excellent pre-conference mark, Coach Lewis is not optimistic over Willamette title chances. He believes both College of Idaho and Whitman could be the teams to ruin the Bearcats' chances for an NWC title.

Coach Bob Burgess counted seven lettermen at the first official Whitman turnout. Heading the list was senior guard Bob Becker, a 5-8 speedster who missed being unanimous choice for all-conference honors last season by a single vote. Also back this year is junior forward Max Johnson, who despite his comparative lack of height at 6-1, tied for conference rebounding honors last year.

SENIOR KEITH GREEN and sophomore Bob Chrisman, both lettermen, will share the pivot duties in Burgess' high post style of offense. Green is an excellent hook shot with either hand. Chrisman, who stands 6-6, could be a standout among the big men in the NWC. At the guard positions will be three-year veteran Max Seachris and probably Dave Klicker, who is the national 440-hurdles champ. Other standouts will be Bill Greable and Robin Beck, both 6-2.

THOSE SOFT-HEARTED (or maybe it's soft-headed) scribbling experts from the North country (Oregon sports writers) who are still sobbing in their brew and feeling sorry for THEMSELVES (to be sure, not the Oregon grid-ders) over the supposedly lack of all human decency and the frigid reception exhibited by their poison pen pals from the sunny South land (Southern California sports writers) in this year's Rose Bowl classic, should cheer up and take heart in the fact that one of California's most illustrious citizens—Chief Justice Earl Warren—was in their corner all the time and was pulling for the Ducks.

WILLAMETTE'S Les Sparks was on hand at this year's Rose Bowl proceedings. Les was in Southern California for the sixty-first annual meeting of the National College Physical Education Association, at Santa Monica.

NOT TOO LONG AGO, we printed a column about Les Sparks and Willamette athletics in general. We attempted to summarize what we had always contended and believed. That the coaches, physical educators, and those associated with athletics at Willamette were in a different class than the vast majority of those who are associated with collegiate athletics in America during this modern era. That the basic philosophy and spirit which they have instilled within their program here at Willamette remains with the participating student throughout his post-graduate days, and makes him the type of alum Willamette is proud to claim.

THIS HAS BEEN demonstrated time and again, and now the most recent example comes out of this sixty-first annual meeting of the PEA. In attendance at this three-day conference were Dr. Billy Sutton, UCLA; Art Gallon, U. of Cal. at Santa Barbara; and Claude Cook, San Fernando College. All three men are graduates of Willamette, all three men majored in physical education under Dr. Gale Curry and Les Sparks, and all three men participated in Willamette athletics. Sutton was a star second baseman, Gallon a top flight performer on the WU gridiron from 1936-39, and Cook was an ace distance runner and held the mile record at WU for many years.

ALL THREE MEN played important roles in this year's meeting, with Gallon giving one of the principal addresses. Sutton has published an outstanding and widely read book on Health. Once again, the athletic and physical education program has brought outstanding recognition to our Willamette campus.
