

Spirituals, classical opera selections and a wide array of numbers from Broadway shows are included in the program of the renowned Porgy and Bess singers. Avon Long, Lucia Hawkins and Levern Hutcherson will perform Thursday night in the Fine Arts auditorium at 8 p.m. This act terminates a series of four distinguished artists who have appeared at Willamette during the year.

Artist Series Ends Thursday With Porgy and Bess Singers

An evening of outstanding musical entertainment will be offered Willamette students when the Porgy and Bess Singers appear Thursday on the Distinguished Artists series. Tickets for this, the last presentation of the series, are available at Meier & Frank's and Stevens & Son Jewelers.

A variety of spirituals, a few classical opera selections, and a wide array of numbers from hit Broadway shows will form the program to be held at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts auditorium. Musicals represented are "Porgy and Bess," "Threepenny Opera," "Carmen Jones," and "My Fair Lady."

All the members of the group, Levern Hutcherson, Avon Long, and Miss Lucia Hawkins, have had extensive experience on the legitimate stage. Mr. Hutcherson played the original tenor lead in the Broadway production of "Carmen Jones" and sang the role of Porgy in the New York production of George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess." He also was the voice for Harry Belafonte in that star's film appearance in "Carmen Jones."

Noted for his portrayal of Sportin' Life in Broadway's "Porgy and Bess," Avon Long has appeared in a number of plays and musicals and has toured the night club circuit. He has also acted in several television programs, including the U.S. Steel Hour and Showtime, U.S.A. He held the role of Cain in the TV production of "Green Pastures."

Soprano Lucia Hawkins toured as soloist for five years with the Leonard dePaur Chorus and appeared in the feature role of Cindy Lou in the touring production of "Carmen Jones." Besides show tunes, Miss Hawkins will be presenting an aria from Puccini's opera "Tosca," and "Alleluiah" from Mozart's "Exultate Jubilate."

The group is accompanied by pianist Kelley Wyatt.

Ski Buffs Eye 'Cool' Carnival This Weekend

An exciting time is in store for skiers and non-skiers alike this weekend at the eighth annual Winter Carnival on Mt. Bachelor near Bend. Sponsored by Portland State College, the Winter Carnival has become the largest single intercollegiate winter event on West Coast.

Corky Demler, a senior from Shelton, Washington will represent Willamette in the Winter Carnival selection tonight. She will compete with 15 candidates from other schools who will be giving speeches and modeling before judges who will decide which coed will reign at the Queen's Ball that evening.

The Wayfarers, a folk-singing group, will give a concert Saturday. Two members of the quartet are former Willamette students.

Willamette will also be represented by a ski team, which is competing in the slalom, giant slalom, and downhill races. The members of the team are Bill Lang, captain, Bob Smith, Ty Gillespie, Carl Neu and Ken Cruden.

Convo Bills Author

"The Case for the Liberal Arts" will be the topic of a convocation address by Dr. Leonard Freedman, author, editor and lecturer, this Thursday. Dr. Freedman is co-author, with Dr. Cornelius P. Cotter, of Issues of the Sixties, a book now being used in Peace Corps training centers throughout the U. S.

Originally from London, Dr. Freedman became an American citizen in 1955 after studying on the graduate level at UCLA. He received his B.S. degree in economics from London University, and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in political science from UCLA.

Having served as a member of the staff of the University of California Extension in Los Angeles, Dr. Freedman was made chairman of the department of social science of the Extension in 1960. Since 1952 he has done much work in the field of adult education, including establishment of programs for liberal adult education in fifteen states. His latest endeavor, a new book, Tension Areas in World Affairs, will be co-edited by Dr. Freedman and Dr. Arthur C. Turner.

Soprano Stars Set Fine Arts Performance

Anne Lise and Ewan Harbrecht Mitton, concert sopranists, will perform in the Fine Arts auditorium tonight at 8. Admission prices will be $.75 for students and $1.50 for adults.

Accompanied by pianist Donald Loftus, Miss Motton and Miss Lise will sing duets by Purcell, Mozart, Mendelssohn and Humperdinck.

Miss Mitton will present solos by Verdi, Cadman, Scott and Warren. Included in Miss Lise's solo performance will be Arias by Smetana and Korngold and two contemporary numbers by Niles.

Ewan Mitton has had an extensive concert and operatic career in the United States and Europe. Now a Salem resident, she won the Oregon San Francisco auditions in 1963 and appeared in the San Francisco Opera House.

A product of the Danish Royal Conservatory and voice maestros of Copenhagen and Milan, Anne Lise came to the United States in 1952. In 1962 Miss Lise gave a standing ovation concert in Copenhagen with the Tivoli Concert Orchestra to an audience of over 1500 people.

Judiciary To Meet Vote

Students will be voting next week on class officers and the proposed student judiciary committee. To be approved, the judiciary must be voted for by one-half the entire student body. (See story, page six.)

Senate Considers Convo

The possibility of a new structure for convocations was discussed at student senate Monday.

The senate resolutions committee was asked to study the possibility of students being allowed to receive convocation credit by attending outside cultural events. This would include music recitals, foreign film series and exchange science programs. A report of the findings of the committee will be given in the near future.

New ideas that may help improve school spirit were presented by the special athletic committee. Suggestions included the possibility of the students being allowed to sit in the main section of the gym during games. Perhaps the most obvious proposal was to set a policy not to schedule other events on game nights. A third finding of the report suggested the idea of forming a men's rally club. The committee was asked by the senate to continue its study and formulate further plans.

Publications were again discussed at the senate meeting. A report from the Wallulah suggested the continuing of a fall delivery for the publication. The key problem of a spring publication is stated to be the early deadline, which would necessitate the leaving out in the annual of any spring events that took place on the campus.

Judiciary an Improvement?

The proposed Student Judiciary is once again being put to a student vote. If students are to vote responsibly on this proposal they had better inform themselves on the issues at stake.

One of the key clauses in the proposal is the "personal responsibility" informer clause. The clause states that if the proposal is passed, "students will be expected to assume a personal responsibility for reporting any infractions under the jurisdictions of the judiciary, to the chairman of the Student Judiciary."

Students are going to interpret this clause in a variety of ways. The wording of "expected to assume a personal responsibility" is sufficiently vague that the clause can be interpreted by the student in almost any way that is convenient.

In the first place, it is not at all clear in just what sense this informing is "expected" of the student (nor by whom it is expected for that matter). This "expectation" could be thought of as a strict moral obligation to report all violations, or merely as a general attitude the student is asked to assume in order to help make the judiciary work.

Secondly, the phrase "personal responsibility" is no less vague than the sense in which the "informing" is expected of the student. The words "personal responsibility" imply not only that every individual must assume this responsibility himself, but that he is also allowed a certain amount of leeway for a personal evaluation of the situation.

On the other hand, the "personal responsibility" is to report "any infractions" of the rules that would be handled by the judiciary. Does this "any" negate the possibility of a personal evaluation of the situation?

Some will interpret the whole clause to mean that a student must report every violation of the rules that he happens to witness. Others (probably the majority of students) will interpret the clause to mean that if the violation is serious enough, and if reporting it would be appropriate enough and if it would help to in some way improve the situation, then the student should report the violation.

The interpretation of the informer clause is only one aspect of the issues to be considered before voting on the judiciary, however. Also to be taken into consideration are the questions of how much stricter students are likely to be with their peers than faculty are with students, and the unpleasantness of the responsibility placed on the members of the judiciary to pass judgment on their fellow students.

Students should evaluate the judiciary carefully and decide if it is what they really want. It should not be approved merely because students are dissatisfied with the present Discipline Committee and are therefore eager to latch on to any apparent solution that happens along.

Law Suit Involving Taylor versus Willamette Heard Last Week, Dismissed on Technicality

By DON SCHUSSLER
College of Law

Many Willamette students and professors spent a good part of last week in court, either by subpoena or by choice, as the case of Taylor v. Willamette University was heard in Judge Duncan's circuit court. Plaintiff Stephen Taylor, a former Willamette student, sought $10,000 compensatory damages and $7,500 punitive damages in a complaint alleging libel against Dean of Men Walter S. Blake, joining the University as co-defendant.

Theoretically, an action for defamation arises by an invasion of plaintiff's reputation by holding his character and good name up for ridicule or contempt among his contemporaries or the community at large. In some circumstances, damages need not be proved, for the law will assume that some words are of such a character that the defendant is presumed damaged from simply having them leveled against him. Awarding of punitive, or exemplary damages is left to the discretion of the jury, for, in effect, they are a kind of punishment levied against the defendant. Truth of the accusation which is the basis of the alleged libel is a defense; also, to make out a good cause of action, plaintiff must prove "publication," i.e., that the libelous statement was read by a third party.

After impanelling a jury of ten women and two men, counsel proceeded to call witnesses before the packed but attentive courtroom. Testimony was to the effect that after action by the Discipline Committee, Dean Blake wrote a letter to Mr. Taylor in the spring of 1961, stating that he would not be eligible for readmission to Willamette University. The letter was based upon an incident pursuant to the Lausanne House dance of April 15, 1961, when Mr. Taylor, the letter charged, "contributed to the delinquency of minors" by supplying wine to his date and the couple with whom they were double-dating, all of whom were then under 21. Mr. Taylor denied the accusation. Dean Blake testified that copies of the letter were sent to the girls' parents.

Willamette registrar, R. A. Yocom, testified that he had caused an entry to be made on Mr. Taylor's permanent record reflecting the action by the Discipline Committee. Plaintiff's counsel may have wished to use this fact to substantiate his claim for damages, on the ground that the notation had prevented Mr. Taylor from acceptance by any other college or university. However, a copy of the transcript was not allowed into evidence.

After conclusion of testimony and immediately prior to the time for the summations by counsel, upon motion from the defense, Judge Duncan entered a directed verdict for defendant, Willamette University. There is some evidence that the basis for the verdict was lack of proof of publication.

Judiciary, Poetry, and Spirit Subjects of Epistolary Concern

Student Judiciary

To the Editor:

Next Thursday and Friday, February 27 and 28, the student body will be voting on a proposal to establish a Student Judiciary which would assume certain of the functions of the present University Disciplinary Board. In view of the attention which has been focused on the disciplinary system this year, it is especially important that the Student Judiciary receive our serious consideration.

Over half the enrolled student body - nearly 600 students - must vote for the proposal in order for it to pass, which means that many more students will have to vote than normally do in campus elections. Copies of the proposal will be distributed Monday when representatives in each living organization will explain its various features and answer questions. There are certain facts concerning the Student Judiciary, however, which are particularly notable and which I would like to mention briefly:

1. 47% of the student body favored a similar proposal in last year's vote.
2. The areas of jurisdiction are limited to five on the basis of strong student sentiment as expressed in last year's vote: library misuse, academic dishonesty, Blue Monday violations, willful destruction of University property, and general misconduct.
3. A specified set of procedures, including student rights, will be drawn up by the Student Judiciary and submitted to Student Senate for approval (part 7c).
4. Powers of the Student Judiciary are: censure, conduct probation, social probation; cases in which the Judiciary feels suspension or expulsion is appropriate are referred to the University Disciplinary Board.
5. To protect against unreasonable Judiciary action, the student may elect to exercise an option (part 1a-1) by going directly to the University Disciplinary Board (thereby bypassing the Judiciary), and the right to appeal a case from the Student Judiciary to the Disciplinary Board is assured.
6. This proposal has been endorsed by the administration, faculty, and Student Senate.
7. Other universities, such as Lewis and Clark have similar student judiciary or disciplinary bodies which have been effective.

8. Participation by students in the disciplinary process, whether directly or indirectly, can be a very valuable part of the educational experience.
9. Respect by the student body and conscientious effort on the part of the Student Judiciary members are essential if the system is to work successfully.
10. A Student Judiciary offers an excellent opportunity for students to demonstrate the responsibility they demand and expect in others.

On the basis of these considerations, I would urge students to vote in favor of the proposal next week and thereby make the Student Judiciary an integral part of Willamette's disciplinary system.

Team Merits Turnout

To the Editor:

Having followed Willamette University athletics for far more than 17 years, I was very interested in the recent letter from Mrs. Ken Warren of Lebanon concerning the lack of support of students at games.

Mrs. Warren ably expressed the sentiments of Mrs. Lear and myself, for we know that Willamette, while not always winning, does continue to have interesting teams, and the players are outstanding young men. We value our friendships highly.

However, I do hope that Mrs. Warren was in attendance at Saturday night's game with Whitman. While Willamette did not win, it was not because of lack of support, because the fraternities apparently turned out en masse—even though the coeds did not.

It is hoped that the frats and other men's organizations on the campus will attend the final home game to be played with Pacific Friday, Feb. 28. This time, fellows, how about bringing your girl friends along. It's our last opportunity to see three great guys, all real competitors, Ed Swearingen, big Jim Booth and Doug Blatchford, on the basketball court for Willamette. They, along with the rest of the team, deserve a real turnout.

Sonnet Offered

Dear Editor:

I have been thinking of entering the following poem in a national contest. However, being an extremely modest person, as befits a student of W.U., I thought it might be wise to submit it to the Collegian for preliminary criticism, as it were, from the general reading public. I would appreciate any suggestions for improvement particularly concerning its universal appeal to all men in all ages and concerning its form, i.e. whether it is too modern.

With no further comment I should like to announce that I'm not submitting it for any personal gain. Much rather it is for the glory of the school of my choice, which I recognize as a stalwart force for good that I have written it.

When I presume to think on ages past

And scan great books in search of mighty deeds,

I note that none were done in spite of creeds

When honor, truth and justice soon were cast

Upon the foul heap. Yet some argue fast,

Confounding reason with some frail needs

In wisdom dipped to adjudicate all needs,

That process old and tried is but a waste.

And sing their moral victories over sin.

Nor can they stop to air some new request

But still keep on and raise the fearful din

Lest these few words be heard above the rest:

Set not your trust in half-completed men.

Malaysia Asks For Articles

The New Generation, the Malaysian news and literary magazine, would like to publish articles by U. S. college students. Sjaifiroeddin, the editor, and a group of Malaysian students recently sent a tape to Miss Roddy on which they suggested several possible subjects.

In the social field, the Malaysians are interested in the Negro problem, juvenile delinquency, community activities, dating among students and youth in the U.S.A., unemployment, and social welfare.

Politically, they would welcome writing comparing 20th century capitalism to capitalism as Marx described it in Das Kapital. Differences between left and right wings in the Democratic and Republican parties, and candidates and their campaigns for the next election were also suggested.

Articles on co-existence, its realities, consequences, possibilities and ideological synthesis; nationalism, its merit and danger; and nation-building for a multi-racial community are appropriate.

Writing should be sent to Sjaifiroeddin, 278-C, Jalan Brickfields, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysian. Any student interested in reading a recent short story by Sjaifiroeddin or hearing a tape of Malaysian folk songs should see Miss Roddy.

Clark Plays With Chamber

The Willamette Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Charles Heiden, will provide accompaniment for the organ recital of George Clark at the First Congregational Church in Portland Sunday, Feb. 23, 8:15 p.m.

Clark, a Willamette graduate and former Salem resident where he served as organist at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, is now organist at the Episcopal Church in Vancouver, Washington.

Sunday's recital is open to the public.

'Matrimonial Materialism' Seen

(ACP)—We used to think that all you had to do to get married was find somebody agreeable, notes the DAILY TROJAN, University of Southern California, Los Angeles. But after reading current copies of Bride and Home, Modern Bride and a slew of matrimonial magazines, we've found it's not that simple.

These magazines, in fact, seem to think you shouldn't even accept that first date until you have sterling silver for 12, a complete set of Royal Doulton china for company, and monogrammed towels.

THESE august publications give blow-by-blow instructions for "a perfect wedding." For only $2.95 plus tax (no C.O.D.'s), for example, you can get a heart-shaped ring bearer's pillow with genuine imitation lace trim "to make him feel proud as a young prince."

"Decide upon a mutually agreeable color scheme for planning your home," they suggest. "Collect swatches of material, carpet, paint, etc., and with your groom look over basic furniture and accessories."

How do they expect modern couples to find time between jobs or school to collect swatches of drapery material?

MORE THAN likely, the swatches are about all a modern couple could afford, and if there are flowers around the house, it's probably because they're lifted from the garden of the apartment house next door.

Marriage is supposed to be simultaneously the culmination and the real beginning of love, but this matrimonial materialism even outdoes Christmas.

Sometimes we're tempted to just shake hands on it.

Freshmen Angels Get Wings During Angel Flight Ceremony

Wednesday, February 12, at the Chi Omega house, 18 freshman members of Angel Flight received their wings in the annual winging ceremony. The silver wings are a reward for a semester of dedicated service and performance.

Angels who received their wings were: Suzi Aho, Margaret Allen, Sandy Bunch, Carollee Colbrunn, Nina Crothers, Daryl Daigle, Gail Glassman, Sue Hammarsten, Marcy Harvey, Gaye Hynds, Gail Jakes, Audrey Krueger, Ruth Litchfield, Sue Mickelsen, Ann Paulsen, Cheryl Richardson, Kathy Serfey, and Jeanne Smith.

Attending the ceremony were members of Angel Flight, Arnold Air Society and their guests, and the Air Force officers from the staff of the WU AFROTC program and their wives. Following the program, there was a coffee and social hour.

Cathy Goodart, Gael Harrington, and Sally Smethurst are three new members of Angel Flight. They were chosen after tryouts before Christmas vacation.

Fulfilling their objectives of service and drill team, the WU organization served luncheon at Senior Preview, February 15, and the freshman flight performed at South Salem High School two weeks ago during halftime of a basketball game. Presently, both flights are preparing for the area drill competition which will be held April 11, at University of Portland.

WU Angel Flight was founded in 1957, by the seven Little Colonel candidates of that year. The membership now stands at 35, with two drill teams. Arnold Air Society sponsors Angel Flight. This year has been filled with activity and progress for the Angels, led by Ellen Reese, president. Besides performing at home games, the drill team has appeared at high schools and in several parades. As hostesses, they have served WU, Arnold Air Society, and have been accepted as unofficial hostesses for the governor of Oregon and the mayor of Salem.

This chapter has just been accepted by the National Association of Angel Flights. This puts them on national standing with approximately 100 other national flights in the nation. The headquarters are at Oklahoma State University. In Oregon, University of Oregon, Oregon State, and Portland State are also members.

With this acceptance, the WU group is able to enter national drill competition and send a delegate to the National Conclave in April, and receive many other benefits as a national organization. The present members become charter members of WU's national Angel Flight.

Mandel Heads Europe Trip

Willamette University together with the American Heritage Association is offering, at very much reduced rates, a Summer Study Tour to Europe. The group will leave Vancouver, B. C., on June 15 and return on August 22. This tour will offer a variety of opportunities: A seven-week (six WU credits) French course at Neuchatel; a seven-week (six WU credits) German course at Cologne; a five-week Spanish course at Madrid; an International Relations course at Geneva; and a Social Science Seminar at The Hague.

The language students will live with families during their weeks of study and will have some travel time before or after the course (London, Paris, Cologne, Brussels, possibly West Berlin).

General counsellor for this year's tour will be Dr. Otto William Mandl who is calling a meeting for all those interested on Monday, February 24, at 4 p. m. in Eaton 27.

Dr. Mandl is asking students to attend the meeting even if they are only vaguely curious.

This step along with Waller Hall will celebrate its 100th birthday on February 22. As the story goes this step has been worn away through constant use by Willamette students. Many students have tried in vain to destroy this historic step but it has always been restored.

Waller Hall Ageless

By Bart White

Tomorrow marks the hundredth anniversary of Waller Hall, built in 1864 by the Rev. A. F. Waller out of clay bricks dug from its own basement. The old hall, perhaps the oldest college building on the west coast, was the only brick building on campus for nearly half a century and has been twice, partially destroyed by fire.

The first fire, which occurred in the fall of 1891, burned out the upper part of the building but classes were resumed almost immediately on the floors that were left.

The second fire broke out during Christmas vacation of 1919. It was much more serious than the first and destroyed the entire interior. Several students were asleep in their dorms at the time as this old historic temple was also a dormitory then. However, they escaped safely.

After the first fire, the edifice was reconstructed, considerably changing its appearance. It now had many dormer windows and a square shaft of a tower arose in the center which was later removed as it was structurally unsound.

In its second reconstruction, architect Fred Legge, an alumnus of the 1880's, had the good sense to restore the building's original simple lines, so that the Waller Hall of today has the same appearance as the first structure. It was also an engineering triumph. Hidden within its interior walls are massive trusses supporting the upper floors and permitting the removal of the central pillars that once disfigured the chapel.

In its early days, besides being a campus dormitory, old Waller held the chapel, several classrooms, a laboratory, a parlor and ladies' reception room, a library, two halls for college societies, medical and surgical departments, dining room and dressing rooms with multitudes of hooks and accommodations for hats and coats or shawls, cloaks and bonnets. In the attic, abundant room remained for calisthenics and gymnastic purposes.

Waller can now accommodate only one-third of the student body and houses the Dean's office as well as the ageless chapel.

Two To Get Scholarships

The Jackson Foundation of Portland has made available two $1,000 scholarship grants for an undergraduate and a law student at Willamette according to President G. Herbert Smith.

Recipients of the two awards will be selected by the scholarship committee and the Willamette Law School faculty. They must be graduates of an Oregon high school, have ability to do college work and show financial need.

Winter Carnival bound are three happy Willamette students who are purchasing tickets for the weekend events. Tickets will continue to be on sale today in the business office for the Winter Carnival in Bend. The price of the ticket is $8. This entitles a student to three days of skiing, a Wayfarers concert, and two dances.

Tuesday Recital Features Students

Carolyn Hedman and Gordon Springer will be the featured performers in a student recital to be held next Tuesday at 3 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the music building.

Carolyn Hedman, accompanied by pianist Marvin Case, will present a violin Concerto in E Minor by Felix Mendelssohn. Accompanied by Paul Heubner, Gordon Springer will present a brass sonata by Flor Peeters.

WU Captures UPS Tournament

Willamette University speakers made a fine record at the University of Puget Sound Forensic Tournament held at Tacoma, Washington, February 14 and 15. The freshman debate team of three women tied for first place.

Members of this team are Linda Stewart, Carol Pratt and Carol Curtis. All have won debate honors for Willamette in intercollegiate competition earlier this year.

In individual speaking events Carol Pratt won first place gold trophy in interpretative reading.

Carol Curtis received second place in extempore speaking and Wade Bettis was a finalist in oratory.

Over 200 college speakers representing about 30 schools from all over the Pacific Northwest attended the tournament.

Seminar Includes Reverends In Theosophical Discussions

This semester's regular seminar in the philosophy department will feature two outside regular members of the staff. They are the Reverend Myron Hall of Jason Lee Methodist Church and the Reverend Robert Burtner, district superintendent of the Methodist Church. The Reverend Hall will be a full time member of the staff, while Reverend Burtner will sit in occasionally.

The topic of the seminar is "Philosophy and Theology." The seminar involves looking at the relations between contemporary philosophy and theology. Philosophical thinking will be used to explore theological ideas. Barth's notion of evangelical theology and ideas of Eulmann will be studied. The seminar will also be looking at philosophical problems, problems of religious language, and problems of meaning and kinds of religious statements.

The reason for having the two reverends sit in on the seminar is to make sure that theological discussion is relevant and to make sure of the facts. They will act as authorities in their field of theology. They will try to keep the discussions accurate from the religious point of view.

Coeds Vie For Glamour Title

"I like New York in June, how about you?" could well be the theme of one of Willamette's lovely coeds if she wins the national 1964 "Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America" contest. As one of her prizes she will visit New York as the guest of GLAMOUR magazine. There she will be offered the endless variety of culture, entertainment, fashion, and business that only New York can offer.

In order to enter the national contest we have been asked to select the best dressed girl on campus, photograph her in a typical campus outfit, a daytime off campus outfit and a party dress. The photographs will then be sent to the magazine for the national judging by a panel of GLAMOUR editors. The top ten winners will be flown to New York. Over 250 colleges had a best dressed candidate in the 1963 competition.

Thirteen campus living organizations have submitted names of coeds as candidates for the Willamette Best Dressed Girl Contest. They are: Mary Kay Euler, Alpha Chi Omega; Heather Birnie, Pi Beta Phi; Sharon Flanigan, Lausanne Hall; Ann Rhiger, Delta Gamma and Kappa Sigma; Marjie MacIver, Phi Delta Theta; Claudia Farrow, Chi Omega; Vicki Keranen, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Judy Harding, Doney Hall; Sally Stone, Delta Tau Delta; Linda Fritz, Sigma Chi; Marianne May, Alpha Phi, and Phoebe Finley, York House.

All-campus voting will be held this Monday in the living organizations to decrease the number of candidates to six. These six coeds will then model three outfits for a panel of judges from this campus yet to be chosen. The winner's name will then be submitted to the national contest.

Jasons Attack Inland Empire

Sporting an unfavorable 2-9 Northwest Conference record, the Bearcat basketball squad, probably the unluckiest of any in the Northwest, left Salem Thursday for a three-game series with College of Idaho and Whitman.

WILLAMETTE, after a short practice at Caldwell yesterday, meets the tough Coyotes tonight and tomorrow evening at 8 p. m. College of Idaho, always tougher on their home floor, edged the Jasons at the WU gym last Thursday night 77-74. C of I's NWC record is 6-6.

As an example for the Coyote's toughness on their home court, they easily defeated league-leading Lewis & Clark at Caldwell for the Pioneers' first loss at that time. In that encounter, L-C's ace Jim Boutin was held to 11 points.

CENTER Taft Jackson poses a big problem for the 'Cats as he has been scoring over 30 points a game at home. The 6-7 flash dunked in 33 against WU, and snared 15 rebounds. Jay Scanlon, a senior guard, showed remarkable poise with his slick passing, timely steals, and flat jump shots.

Monday night, the Bearcats hope to improve their chances of escaping the cellar by visiting Walla Walla for a single clash with the Missionaries. Whitman split with the Jasons here as their top marksman, Dave Snow, hooked in 67 points in two games. The Whits own a 319 record, but host Linfield tonight and tomorrow.

JOHN LEWIS' team has lost six of their nine by less than 10 points and dropped all of them in the final minutes of play. The 'Cats lost to Lewis & Clark three times after putting up game battles. They were beaten by Linfield 93-92 and last weekend WU dropped a three-point decision to College of Idaho and a two-pointer to Whitman.

Making the six-day excursion with Coach John Lewis and trainer Les Sparks will be Kirk McNeil, Larry Potts, Pete Slabaugh, Jim Booth, Lyle Smith, Jim Smith, Charlie Roberts, Ed Swearinger, Spike Moore, Doug Blatchford, and Bob Burles.

Wrestlers Tie Wildcats

This Saturday, the Jason matmen participate in the first all-school wrestling conference. The Willamette wrestlers will travel to the home of their most recent contenders, Linfield College.

Last Friday's meet with Linfield resulted in a draw, both teams earning 16 points. The individual results of the Wildcat encounter are as follows: 123 lbs.—Owens (W) pinned Kowing (L); 130 lbs.—Hartwig (LC) forfeited to Allen (W); 137 lbs.—Selnes (L) pinned Bigby (W); 147 lbs.; Kimber (L) decisioned Everson (W); 157 lbs.—Wyatt (W) decisioned Rees (L); 167 lbs.—J. Gingerich (W) decisioned Webber (L); 177 lbs.—Williams (L) pinned McMurtrey (W); heavy-weight—Rood (L) decisioned R. Gingerich (W).

Who's got it! Pictured grappling for a rebound in last week's game against College of Idaho are Larry Potts (WU), Taft Jackson C of I, Bill Lankford (C of I), and Kirk McNeil (WU). The Jason hoopsters dropped the game 77-74 but are seeking revenge when they travel to Caldwell to meet Idaho on their home court for a doubleheader this weekend.

'Cats Remain in NWC Cellar

Bearcat eagers strengthened their hold on the NWC basement by dropping two of three tilts last weekend against the College of Idaho and Whitman.

Against C of I last Thursday evening, the Bearcats engineered a gritty comeback from a 34-24 deficit at halftime to earn a 64-59 lead with 4:55 left in the game. But two minutes later it was 73-68 in favor of the Coyotes and WU could make up only 2 to lose 77-74.

WU's uphill pull was sparked by the almost fantastic shooting of diminutive Spike Moore (24 points) and lofty Lyle Smith (16). Once in the lead, though, the 'Cats hurried their attack and came loose on defense. Coyote Taft Jackson's 35 points speeded the loss, though ironically the Jasons shot a hot .517 from the field to C of I's .397.

The next evening against Whitman the Bearcats unleashed a fast-break that swamped the Missionaries 102-81. "It wasn't the most artistic break I've seen," quoth WU coach John Lewis, "but it sure produced."

Six 'Cat shooters registered in double figures: Kirk McNeil (23), Ed Swearinger (18), Pete Slabaugh (13), Moore (12), Smith (11) and Larry Potts (10). Dave Snow tallied 33 points for the Missionaries. With the halftime score 44-33 and steadily increasing, Coach Lewis was able to clear the entire WU bench for the first time this year.

In the return match the next evening the Missionaries forgot their earlier humiliation and bounced back with a surprising 79-77 upset win. Snow, a 6-4 junior center, engineered the victory by riddling the baskets for 34 points, 19 coming in the second half to stave off threat after threat by the desperate Bearcats. Swearinger scored 20 for WU. He was followed by Slabaugh with 19, and Smith with 15.

The loss pushed the 'Cats back into the NWC basement after a brief visit, one day to be exact, in the upper atmosphere.

'Kits Nab Weekend Victories

The Bearcat JV basketball team added two more victories to their list this last weekend. Friday night the Bearkittens edged the OCE JV's 64-61. Phil Stevenson led the win-

Pit Stop

By BOB FLETCHER
Collegian Sports Editor

While the Bearcat hoopers didn't fare too well last week with the visitors from the East (Whitman and College of Idaho), some sparks were produced in the three nights of action. Helping to light the fire was senior guard Ed Swearinger, who bagged 18 tallies Friday night and 20 the next night in WU's two-day match with the Whitman Missionaries. Needless to say, the Thursday and Saturday encounters produced some faint hearts as both games went down to the wire. Swearinger, a two-year veteran guard, has been one of the main sparkplugs for the Bearcats this season. Hailing from South Salem High School, this 5-10 ball of fire is a pre-med major. Last season, Swearinger averaged 7.80 counters per game to take second place behind Bob Woodley's 10.08. In this weekend's action at Caldwell, Swearinger should see plenty of action against the Coyotes. The Bearcats move to Walla Walla Monday night to do battle against the Whitman crew. The Jason hoop season will close here February 28, with an encounter with the Pacific Badgers.

ED SWEARINGER

Speaking of home games, it was a pleasure to note the tremendous turnout for Saturday night's game with Whitman. The only question in this writer's mind is that possibly all that school spirit wasn't intended so much for the team, but instead was interested in showing the particular powers of yelling which each fraternity could produce. This last home game should show whether this so called school spirit was in fact school spirit or possibly just one means of showing how well rush had gone.

Finmen Dip Tough Linfield

Excitement plus marked the Willamette vs. Linfield swim meet at the YWCA last Friday afternoon. Roaring back from a 10-point deficit the Jason swimmers handily took the 400-yard freestyle relay (last race of the meet) to nip the Wildcats 50-45 at the wire.

"It's the first time Linfield has been beaten in a dual meet in a couple of years," stated Coach Richard Gillis. "We took a calculated risk in the 400-yard medley relay that almost cost us the meet, but everything worked out to our advantage," he said. Gillis also made his swimming debut when a few of his young chargers gave him a helping hand into the pool at the end of the meet.

High point man for the afternoon's work was Phil Krozek with 8 tallies. After losing the 400-yard medley relay, Krozek grabbed a real close second place finish in the 200-yard freestyle which almost ended in a tie. Jim Worden and Charles Black nabbed first and second in the 40-yard freestyle with the former recording an 18.9 second time.

The big counters for the Jasons came in the diving event where John Dye and Dave Givens took first and second places respectively. After that there was no stopping the WU comeback victory.

Other individual wins went to Steve Neptune in the 100-yard freestyle, 54.9; Pete Strand in the 100-yard back, 1:09.8; and the 500-yard freestyle to Krozek, 6:14.

The 400-yard freestyle relay team was made up of John Bingham, Black, Worden, and Neptune. Their time was 3:49.

Next Monday the Jasons meet Linfield again at McMinnville, 8 p. m.

Girls Set Hoop Games

Girls' athletics will again hit the Willamette scene next Thursday evening at 6:30 p. m., when all girls' living organizations participate in intramural basketball. Competition will be held in a single elimination tournament.

All girls interested in playing should contact the chairman of intramurals in their living organization. Any other questions will be answered by Mrs. Williams of the girls' PE department.

Judiciary Vote Is Due Next Week Research Also For Liberal Arts Profs

The controversial proposal for a Student Judiciary will come to a student vote next Thursday and Friday during the class officer finals.

In order for the proposal to pass, it is necessary for one-half of the Student Body to cast a "yes" vote in this election. Last year, a similar proposal was defeated by a margin of 32 votes with 502 for, 86 against.

CONCERNING the proposed Student Judiciary Committee, ASWU president Jim Brown commented: "The question of a Student Judiciary was considered again this year because it was felt that there is value in student body participation in University discipline. I think that such a judiciary could be very useful and worthwhile, but only if we are genuinely interested in taking responsibility in this area."

After the defeat of the proposal last year, the faculty recommended that it should be sent back to the Student Senate for further consideration. The main work of revision was done by the Student Senate committee on the Student Judiciary, under the chairmanship of Senator-at-Large Bob Rieder.

THE PROPOSED Student Judiciary Committee would be responsible for the processing of several types of infractions which are now handled through either the Deans or the Student Discipline Committee. This would mean that students would have their cases voted on by seven students, rather than by an administrative committee.

At the present time, the Student Discipline Committee has two students sitting in on the average case, increasing to four in cases in which both men and women students are involved.

THE STUDENT Judiciary would concern itself with infractions of the University rules in five specific areas: 1) library misuse, 2) Blue Monday violations, 3) willful destruction of University property, 4) academic dishonesty, 5) general misconduct.

The members of this committee would be appointed by the Student Body President for the first term and thereafter they would be selected by retiring members of the committee. There would be eight members on the committee; four men and four women, of which there would be five seniors and three juniors. The chairman would not vote, making an uneven number of votes.

RULES OF ORDER would be drafted at the first meeting, and then sent to the Student Senate for approval. These rules would be explicit, and would be made public.

In a case in which there is a question of a violation of University regulations, one of the Personal Deans would notify the student that he or she had a choice between appearing before the Student Discipline Committee or the Student Judiciary Committee.

THE STUDENT would still have the right to take his case directly to the Student Discipline Committee should he so desire. If he chooses to appear before the Student Judiciary Committee, the chairman of that committee would discuss the student's rights with the student and brief the committee concerning the University regulations and precedents involved in the case under consideration.

If the student is found guilty of an infraction, the committee has four courses of action which it may take, depending on the seriousness of the offense. These are: censure, conduct probation, referral to the Student Disciplinary Committee in cases involving either suspension or expulsion, and social probation.

THE STUDENT Judiciary Committee could not suspend or expel a student, as all such cases must go before the Student Discipline Committee. In all cases, the student would have an option of calling witnesses or character references to testify at his hearing.

Two of the main points of the system would be that the students would have the personal responsibility of reporting any infractions in the judiciary's jurisdiction to the chairman of the committee and, that the students must have confidence in their own Judiciary Committee.

There will be a meeting of representatives of the living organizations this Sunday in Waller Hall at 2:30 p. m. at which time the proposal will be explained to them so that they in turn can inform the members of their organizations. Further questions may be answered by Bob Rieder, Janet Anderson, Dave Fairbrook, and Frank Swayze.

Falstaff Opens Opera Season

"Falstaff," Verdi's only comic opera, is called the most youthful music ever written by a man of eighty. Based on "The Merry Wives" and "King Henry IV," Verdi makes Falstaff a "gentler buffoon, more nimble in his motions, more graceful in his graceless follies."

Opening the 1964 season of Portland's Theatre Arts Opera Association, "Falstaff" will be presented at the public auditorium, February 24 and 25, 8:30 p. m. The opera, sung in Italian, is presented under the baton of Wolfgang Martin, general artistic director of the Theatre Arts Opera Association. Bob Loy is stage director, and Inez Alt, costumer.

A talented cast, plus full orchestra and chorus, promises to make this a most enjoyable performance.

Admission prices are $3 for reserved seats; $2 for adults, and $1 for students of high school age. Tickets are available at the Recreation Office, 1107 S.W. Fourth Avenue, J. K. Gill's, Stevens and Son in Lloyd Center, and at the box office, public auditorium, one hour before show time.

Cadet Major Juve 'Flyboy,' Assumes Command of 700th

Cadet Major Gene L. Juve has recently been made an official "flyboy." Juve, currently a senior in the Willamette Air Force ROTC program and majoring in pre-law studies, has been participating in the Flight Instruction Program.

This program is designed to provide ROTC cadets who are in the FIP or pilot category a flight orientation and training period terminating with a series of tests administered by the Federal Aviation Administration. Upon successful completion of the above program, the student is qualified to become a licensed private pilot.

Despite bad weather and other technical sky blocks, Juve has now completed his training and been awarded his FAA ticket.

In a recent ceremony under the auspices of the Willamette University AFROTC program, Cadet Major Juve assumed command of the 700th Cadet Corps.

Being relieved of command was Cadet Lt. Col. Dennis M. Drew, who led the Cadet Corps during the fall semester. The Commander of the Cadet Corps is responsible for the leadership training of the entire Squadron in preparation for active duty as Air Force officers.

Under the direction of Juve and his staff, the ROTC group will sponsor the all-campus Military Ball on February 29, and the annual President's Review later in the spring.

Juve has been active in campus affairs, having served on the Student Senate for 2½ years. In addition, he is participating in the University's Honors Program, is a Senior Scholar in political science and a member of several campus and national honoraries.

1. Any member of the faculty involved in research should be actively and continuously engaged in teaching.

2. The education of the student is the central reason for the existence of the College, and every person who teaches here should see his primary responsibility in these terms.

3. Any research which is undertaken with an allowance of program time should be of such a character as to enable qualified students to participate constructively in it to their educational benefit.

4. Eligibility for achievement in rank and salary should continue to be by reference to the success of the teacher as a teacher in stimulating students to achieve academic excellence.

5. Research should be held open to any intellectual discipline. In some instances it may require less outlay in money and time than in others, but it should not therefore be thought inferior in importance.

A two-step procedure was approved to operate in the consideration of any research project. First, any faculty member may carry his proposal to a committee whose members would be concerned with academic policy "in order that such projects may be evaluated in the context of the undergraduate teaching program."

Second, the committee would report its decision to the president who, if approval is granted, would consult with the faculty member on two issues: (a) can time be allowed in the professor's program for the research project; (b) are the funds available and adequate, either from an outside source or from the college treasury. Final authority in accepting or rejecting the proposal for research would thus be retained by the administration, the faculty agreed.

Elaborating on its first type of scholarly engagement, that of professional development, the committee stated: "A person may be a scholar without superior competence as a teacher, but it is inconceivable that a person should be competent as a teacher without scholarly pursuits."

Beach Mishap Takes Pledge

An 18 year old Willamette University freshman from Whittier, Calif., was killed early Sunday on the beach near Ocean Lake by a wave-rolled log.

The accident occurred in the 1 a. m. darkness while Richard Kerr and 50 members and pledges of Willamette's Beta Theta Pi fraternity were on an organized outing at the beach.

Two memorial ceremonies were held Sunday on campus. One was at the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house where Kerr has recently been accepted as a pledge, and the other at Matthews Hall, where Kerr lived.

Kerr graduated from Whittier high school last June. He was a liberal arts major and clarinetist in the school band.

Model UN Selects Heads

Willamette's Model United Nations delegation is in the midst of planning for this spring's conference to be held April 15-18 in Spokane. The group will be representing Canada, which votes with the Western bloc. Each delegate is now studying the problems with which his committee will be confronted at the meeting.

The organization of the MUN is identical to that of the United Nations with each committee being represented by at least one of the following members: Paul Wynne, chairman, Larry Liebenow, Toni Leisure, Ann Cowdan, Kathy Atterbury, Roger Kirchner, Jim Sedell, Rich Ball, Bill Allen, Marty Sneary, Willa Warner and Loren St. Lawrence. The trip is being financed in part by the Student Body, with each participant paying his own travel expenses plus an additional sum.

$100 Offered For Essay

The annual Willamette honors essay contest will be held Saturday, March 7th. All Willamette undergraduates are eligible to compete for the $100 prize for the writing of a serious impromptu essay on one of a dozen topics to be chosen by the students.

The contest will be held in FA 223W and FA 231W at 2-5 p. m. on the 7th. Students must enroll before noon on the 7th by registering in the Registrar's office. Any student who wishes to enter the Honors program next year must participate in the essay contest.

YD's To Meet

There will be a Young Democrats meeting at 3 p. m. in Belknap Hall this Sunday. The meeting will be held to reorganize for the coming semester.

At a recent Young Democrats Club of Oregon meeting, Tom Glass of Willamette University was elected first vice-president.

Glass is a junior majoring in history. He now serves the Young Democrats club at Willamette as president.
