THE COLLEGIAN'S CREDO

With this issue the Collegian comes out under the direction of a new editorial staff. Because the Collegian is the official publication of the student body of Willamette University, we feel the responsibility to the students at this first opportunity to outline the policy and goal of the publication for the coming year.

However, in spite of whatever may be the individual aims of the Collegian of next year, we recognize that the Collegian is an institution, continuous in its character, and more important in itself than the individual whims of those who from year to year may constitute its personnel. Therefore, we shall attempt to follow in the steps of those who have preceded us and profit by their experience rather than making any radical departures. We shall attempt to perfect ourselves in loyalty to our paper and sacrifice of self, which spirit is the secret of modern journalism.

Next, we are aware that the Collegian is primarily a news gathering and news distributing agency. Acting on this knowledge, we shall attempt to gather the news and write it up in as professional style as possible, not only for the sake of publishing news, but also for the purpose of training up journalists who will some day go out to follow in the steps of Willamette journalists who are today conducting successful newspapers.

The Collegian recognizes that second in importance only to the task of gathering and publishing the news, is the duty of intelligent comment. We shall strive to make the editorial columns of the Collegian constructive and sympathetic in tone, but at the same time having the positiveness of a well matured opinion.

The Collegian is simply one phase of the activities of Willamette University, and we feel the necessity of cooperating with all the organizations on the campus in order that the university itself may progress and grow. This spirit of cooperation extends to the faculty and trustees, who we shall endeavor to assist with all means within our power. However, we do make this one reservation: that we feel the obligation of expressing student opinion earnestly and respectfully whenever the occasion demands such an expression.

Faculty censorship comes to the Collegian unsolicited, but we appreciate the thoroughness and thoughtfulness of those faculty members who have had their position thrust upon them, and we anticipate only the most pleasant relation in this respect.

In conclusion, we have the definite aim of making the Collegian during the coming year a real newspaper, collegiate yet professional in every respect.

It is now open season for picnics and dates, and some of the fraters who have gotten left this year are vowing that they will make arrangements earlier next year. However, we suggest that considering the constancy of some of the Greeks that a date made long in advance also has its drawbacks.

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

THE LAST COLLEGIAN OF THE YEAR! WE KNOW THAT THIS IS ONLY A SAMPLE OF WHAT THE NEW STAFF CAN DO. AT ANY RATE HUGH CAN NEVER MAKE AS MUCH OF A MESS ON HIS DESK AS VIC AND HIS COHORTS DID.

We may not know much about Sten but we learned a lot about "I am" in chapel—or—recently.

The beach must have had a lot of W. U. visitors this week-end. Even Sparks, it seems, is not invulnerable.

WE RATHER WONDER WHAT THE UNIVERSITY WILL DO WITHOUT SOME OF THESE NOBLE SENIORS—NO KEITH TO STIR THE HEARTS OF FRESHMEN COEDS AND NO HILL TO CHAMPION LOST (?) CAUSES. AND YET—

SPORTS IN RETROSPECT

At the end of this year "Spec" Keene closes his first year of work as coach for Willamette University. The record of the year in the field of sports has been one of successful achievement founded on sportsmanlike methods and hard work.

"Spec" Keene has fulfilled his part of the contract, and the student body has done its part fairly well considering the state of indifference from which it has had to arouse itself.

Using the spirit which has been built up this year as a foundation, next year ought to see a continuation of the steady progress which has featured this year.

The inferiority complex with its moral victories has become a thing of the past, and the spirit of real fighting Bearcats is taking its place.

PRIZES

Noah Webster declares that a prize is, among other things, "anything worth striving for." The word "award," he says, comes from an old word meaning "to look at, consider, decide, judge."

Prizes and awards have come to the attention of all the students quite frequently of late, and we feel impelled to disclose something of our views on the matter.

Some of the students have recently been recipients of prizes and awards. Some more will soon be honored. Undoubtedly these awards and these prizes are worth striving for, but we feel that where the work has been simply for the reward in it, the value of the reward becomes as nothing. The men and women who recently received the journalism award—the gold Collegian "C"—were rewarded, not only with the pin, but in the accomplishment of a difficult and often laborious job.

The recent amendment of the by-laws of the student body, creating a special four-year award for forensics, will certainly be something worth striving for, but if the striving is merely for possession of a silver cup of certain dimensions, then the work of the four years is in vain.

So it is with everything, and the Collegian is not exempt. "Something worth striving for." As far as the Collegian staff is concerned next year this "something" will be an improved Collegian. In this the first issue the staff pledges itself to strive toward that end. Accomplishment of this end will be a sufficient prize in itself.

HYSTERICAL

(Cornell Daily Sun.)

The Princeton furor about Dean Gauss and his automobile ban has died away except for an occasional report of some waggish student meeting his prom guest with a horse and buggy, but the fever has now struck Ann Arbor, where the faculty is threatening to ban student-owned cars from the campus of the University of Michigan. A nasty accident recently brought to the attention of the university authorities the fact that the automobile regulations, chiefly the one requiring registration of student-owned cars, are not being enforced. President Little immediately threatened to do away with such automobiles altogether, and no doubt, goaded into a state of excitement by the editorial opposition of the Michigan Daily, made a rather impassioned address last Sunday about student responsibility in which he pictured in emotional language his visit to the victims of the accident—which he somehow managed to blame upon the lack of student responsibility at Michigan.

President Little's speech has a slightly hysterical ring in it. After all, the accidents, even automobile accidents, have been known to occur to drivers who were not university students, and dreadful as such an accident is when it comes as near home as the one at Michigan, it is unfortunate to allow its significance to grow out of all proportion. As a matter of fact, automobile accidents are relatively rare in college circles. It will be unfortunate if Michigan allows itself to be stamped into forbidding students to own cars.

The Collegian ventures the prediction that the unusual success of one of the mile runners of the track squad of this year in his first year out, will bring out a larger number of aspiring milers next spring.

Some of our educational theorists might find a subject for research in the co-educational value of geology trips.

THERE ARE ONE OR TWO QUALIFIED JUNIORS—WILLIS HATHAWAY AND CHARLES REDDING.

The previous issues of this column have proved one thing for certain—a man is the catfish thing on earth.

Now since Hank has established a reputation as a home-run king we trust he won't overstep into the field of home-breaking, etc. He has the looks, you know.

DR. DONEY REMARKED ABOUT THE SEVERAL (?) GIRLS WHO WERE ACTING SOMEWHAT LIKE MONKEYS IN CHAPEL THE OTHER DAY. IF THEY'D BEEN ON THE MEN'S SIDE THEY PROBABLY WOULDN'T HAVE BEEN NOTICED AMONG THE MOTLEY CREW!

We hope there won't be any more of this "crescent moon" and "lunar star" talk around here. It's too demoralizing.

These inter-frat baseball games have surely been unique—the varied costumes for one thing. We liked Oscar White's heroic slide to second the other day. It's a good thing the base wasn't a rock or the Sligs would have been singing hymns.

THIS OBVIOUS HOLDING OF HANDS ON THE CAMPUS IS REALLY GETTING TO BE "DE TROP"—PAGE A FRENCH MAJOR FOR EXPLANATION AND TRANSLATION.

The girls from Monmouth probably didn't understand why several of the spectators at the tennis matches laughed at one of their remarks—we hasten to explain—BIBI was nattering the match. One of the girls said—"The way he is calling these games makes me think that W. U. girl playing is his girl."—Pardon—it was.

Joel is going to be right at home at Monmouth—that is—we have heard so.

EARL OUGHT TO BE ABLE TO TALK FRENCH RATHER FLUENTLY BY THIS TIME.

THE HILLS

Whoso has loved the hills
Must remember them till he die,
(Prairie or sunset or plain,
Snow, hail, sunshine or rain,
They call him again and again)
Must remember them till he die,
Whoso has loved the hills.

Whoso has loved the hills,
Will forsake them not for new loves,
(A ship and a sea are good,
There is worth in wine and in food,
Solon in dark standing wood)
Will forsake them not for new loves,
Whoso has loved the hills.

Whoso has dwelled in the hills,
Will seek them again till he die,
(A wreath of sun in the west,
A world surrendering to rest,
Silence and peace are best—)
Will seek them again ere he die—
Whoso has dwelled in the hills.
—Kent Goodnough Hyde.

SPRING

My heart is ravished with the sight
of Spring
Fresh stealing over the land—with pure, new green
Gladdening the pastures and the grey-brown hills,
And in a blossom—glory brightening all
The waiting orchards, and the cool, damp woods
With wondrous colors—white and rose and pearl.
Each road a highway to some treasure-place
Seems beckoning me—How can I choose but go
Where springtime's spirit wanders wide and far
Touching each shrub with magic wand, each bit
Of rich, moist ground with quickening impulse—warm
Embrace of earth, glad air, and ardent sun.
Glorious the sunlight—how it floods
the fields!
Surely no sight in heaven could be more fair,
Then, too, the deep, blue sky—
Ah passing words,
My heart is ravished with the sight
of Spring!
K.H.

SAND LACE

The wind is an old woman
Who whiles away her waking hours
In weaving patterns in the sand.
She made a delicate rose, today,
One with perfect petals, and the perfume
Of sea anemones and coral.
She fashioned a castle with a
Wall and a moat, and each Turret flaunted a gaudy ribbon of sea weed.
She wove a silvery moon, with Eyes of shiny white clam shells, and a
Hair cloud of mottled grey pebbles.
She wove a life, full of love and Courage, but I saw it only for An instant—the tide was rising.
—M. Arnold,
May 23, 1927.

THE SANTIAM

Did you ever sit on the moss by the Side of a stream
And listen to the roar of the water?
Have you heard the boulders
Tumble and rumble along
Making angry thunder?
Did you see the clear shining stars
Watching over you
Thru the bare limbs of the trees?
The black firs were keeping watch
Over the stream
Until the moon rose.
Can you feel the spray as it is flicked
Up from the
Whirling rush of water
Smell the dark wind as it
Freshens itself among the Cataracts of fern?
—Margaret Arnold.

A course consisting of 15 lectures on the present day fashions will be given in the Ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton hotel by New York university.

From the looks of things about two-thirds of the Senior class are going to run around the table at Senior breakfast.

We don't have any old shirt or gum, etc. with which to stop up the key-hole—but after all the best way is to keep your mouth shut. We could go on with more revelations but we are more or less anxious to leave school around June 13, 14 or 15. Likewise we feel incapable of writing as high class stuff as that which has weekly filled this column. "And as you go to your respective homes—for cat's sake have a good time."

ORAL EXAMS BRING VARIED REACTIONS QUESTIONS REVEAL

Students Think That The Oral Is Good Mental Exercise For The Professors

"I'll not express my opinion until I get my diploma," remarked one of our clever seniors, when asked what he thought about senior oral examinations. Others were more loquacious: one enterprising student who took row of the exams, confided "They're not bad—at least mine weren't." Another flippantly remarked, "I've had mine; I think they're fine. They're more of a test for the professor than for the pupil; he finds out whether he got his ideas across or not."

The general trend of opinions garnered from the Seniors all seemed to suggest that the exams were good mental exercise for the profs, but the faculty expressed different ideas.

One faculty member said: "Fine—the best thing we ever did for the students." Another faculty member was more explicit: "It induces the students to organize their knowledge, and to formulate definite statements of ideas. It is good for the professors, too."

Yes, one Senior admitted cramming. "You get through on your nerve; it's not fair," another sighed. "Harder on the prof than the pupil," said one seeker of knowledge. A Senior scholar was of this opinion: "I haven't anything to say. You just have to know your stuff, that's all."

All the Seniors blushing admitted, "Senior orals are good for you," although they failed to produce any evidence of goodness.

The conclusion seemed to be that hard on the prof or hard on the student, the Senior oral has come to stay.

The men's tennis team of Willamette university defeated the Oregon Institute of Technology team here May 21, five matches to one. Summary:

Minto, Willamette, beat Newton, 8-6, 7-5.

Litchfield, Willamette, beat Williams 6-2, 6-2.

Haworth, Willamette, beat Chadwick, 6-2, 10-8.

Ragan, O. I. T. and Oregon Junior champion, beat White, Willamette, 6-3, 6-1.

White and Minto, Willamette, beat Ragan and Newton, 6-3, 8-10, 6-4.

Litchfield and Haworth, Willamette, beat Williams and Chadwick, 6-2, 6-4.

Tri-C Sunday School Class Enjoy Outing on Monday

The Tri-C Sunday school class, composed mostly of Willamette University students of the Presbyterian church, went on its annual picnic Monday to Silver Creek Falls.

Those going were Rosalie Buren, Gaynelle Beckett, Florence Powers, Elvira Young, Mary Louise Aiken, Margaret Wood, Louise Nunn, Irene Clark, Mary Erickson, Genevieve Mulkey, and Mildred Mulkey, Charles Kaufman, Frank Alfred, Lucien Cobb, Victor Rhodes, Carol Pratt, Meredith Woodworth, and Hugh McGilvra.

Eldred and Lucien Cobb and James McChintock spent the weekend at their respective homes in Roseburg, Oregon.

Clonians Entertain Honor Members at Hero Meeting

The Clonian Literary society entertained its honorary members Wednesday, May 25 from 4 to 5:30 at Lausanne hall.

"Heroes," was given in the room of Anna Lennartz and Rose Wetherell.

The usual heroes regaled of old in song and story were assiduously avoided and those made, not born, were considered. "Foreword" was given by Doris Klindt; "How He is Made," by Ethel Hardie; "What He is Made Of," by Alice Taylor; and "His Reward," based on a poem by Don Marquis, by Rose Wetherell.

After the program delicious refreshments and ice cream were served.

The honorary members present were Mrs. R. D. Burroughs, Miss Carol Dibble and Miss Avoca McMinnis.

Home Economic Students Prepare and Serve Dinner

Members of the Home Economics Department prepared and served a delicious dinner to several members of the faculty Tuesday at 6 o'clock in the dining room of Science hall.

The menu was in four courses as follows:

- Fruit Cocktail
Roast Beef Potato Puffs
Creamed New Peas
Parker House Rolls
Combination Vegetable Salad
Cheese Straws

Strawberry Ice Cream
Angel Food Cake
Salted Almonds Coffee
Faculty guests present were Dean and Mrs. F. M. Erickson, Professor and Mrs. R. D. Burroughs, Miss Frances M. Richards, and Miss Lois Latimer.

The girls who prepared and served the dinner were Mabel Platt, Edna Ledbetter, Bernice Coppock and Helen Mae Rice.

Faculty Members Gather at Erickson's for Picnic

Dean and Mrs. Frank M. Erickson were hosts to the members of the faculty at the annual faculty picnic at their country home Wednesday evening.

There the professors and families unburdened from their usual dignity and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. A bountiful dinner, consisting of baked ham and raisin sauce, potatoes au gratin, creamed new peas, hot rolls, pickles, strawberry sundaes, cake and coffee was served during the course of the evening.

Professor James T. Matthews, who will leave soon on a European tour, was presented with a handsome traveling bag by the men of the faculty.

Phis Select Officers To Install Today

A brief Pholosian meeting was held after chapel Thursday to elect officers for next year. The officers who will be installed at the regular meeting today are:

President, Phoebe Smith; vice president, Wilma Spence; corresponding secretary, Leone Elliott; recording secretary, Emily Brown; treasurer, Mary Cranfield; critic, Beulah Launer; sergeant-at-arms, Dorothy Ferrer; reporter, Gaynelle Beckett.

Gamma Accepts Position in Miami University

Miss Mary Gilbert has recently accepted a position for next year in the Psychology department of Miami University's extension division, Columbus, Ohio. She will stay for the rest within a fortnight to attend summer school in Dayton.

Miss Gilbert has just completed a semester's teaching in Medford high school. She was graduated from Willamette university with the class of 1925, being a member of Alpha Phi Alpha and Adelante society.

Zelda Mulkey Surprises Friends With Marriage

Friends of Miss Zelda Mulkey have received word of her marriage on May 21 to Walter Erickson at Rainier, Oregon.

Miss Erickson is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Mulkey of Portland, and is a graduate of Willamette university. She was a graduate with the class of '25, a member of Delta Phi, and of the Chrestomathean society. During the past year, Mrs. Erickson has taught dramatic art and English in the Rainier high school. Mr. Erickson's parents are residents of St. Helens.

Organic Chem Class Have Picnic Lunch

Wednesday noon the members of Professor Clark's class in Organic Chemistry betook themselves to Crystal Springs for a picnic lunch. The menu consisted of broiled steak, vegetable salad, buns, olives, pickles, strawberry shortcake with whipped cream and coffee.

Those present were: Ruth Drew, Ruby Deik, Madge Reid, Bernice Mulvey, Marion Clendenning, Marian Miller, Margaret Leavenworth, Betty Rice, Virginia Merle Crites, Mildred Mills, Mary Rattie, Hobart Kelly, George Rigby, Roderick Blatchford and Professor and Mrs. Herman Clark.

Y. W. C. A. Honors Seniors At Meeting and Tea Thursday

Elizabeth Silver lead the Y. W. C. A. Senior meeting at Chresto cottage Thursday on the topic "Reminiscences." Each senior girl present brought and explained a symbol representing what Y. W. C. A. had meant to her during her college years.

Elaine Chapin sang "Lord, Teach Me to Pray," very effectively. Immediately after the meeting the other members of the Y. W. gave a tea honoring the Seniors and faculty women. Mildred Mills poured and Marjory Miller, Carolyn Lambirth, and Ruby Lou Davis served. The refreshments consisted of tea and wafers.

Clonians Honor Seniors At Last Meeting of Year

Wednesday at Clonian meeting farewell tributes were paid the senior members. Each senior girl was presented with a lovely corsage of sweet peas, after a speech "Our Seniors" by Mary Rattie. Hazel Newhouse expressed the seniors' appreciation of the gift and their regret at leaving Clonian. After Leah Panning spoke on "Clonian of the Future" and Helen Borchardt sang "The Garden of Tomorrow," Miss Carol Dibble, an honorary member, gave several enjoyable readings.

At the business meeting which followed officers for next year were elected and installed:

President, Mary Rattie; vice president, Alice Lane; corresponding secretary, Camella Gates; recording secretary, Leah Fanning; treasurer, Bernice Newhouse; sergeant-at-arms, Sarah Poor; ushers, Marjorie Nelson and Violet Beecher; kitchen custodian, Vivian Rasmussen and Helen Parks.

Ball and Chain Club Has Treasure Hunt

The Ball and Chain Club entertained guests last Friday evening with a treasure hunt. Routes were laid out for each car and drivers and occupants spent half the evening locating their treasures. Each treasure directed the finder to Woodland Park where a picnic was served. In spite of rain and smoky fires all enjoyed themselves. Among the guests were: Prof. and Mrs. Gatto, Elma White, Margaret Arnold, Elvira Young, Beulah Wampler, Carolyn Parker, Lillian Scott. All members were present.

Chrestomatheans Initiate; Elect Officers for Next Year

Edna Thompson was formally initiated into the Chrestomathean Society at its meeting Wednesday.

Following the initiation ceremony, the officers for the next year were elected:

President, Clara Jasper; 1st Vice-President, Donna Hildeheim; 2nd Vice-President, June Gaines; Secretary, Dorothy Taylor; Treasurer, Anna Mary McKinley; Reporter, Nova Root; Kitchen Custodian, Edna Thompson, Roberta Vannice, and Dorothy Hutchison.

Frank Alfred is New President of Alpha Psi Delta Fraternity o'clock. Sunday and Monday were spent in the usual beach resort manner, and Monday evening the party returned to Salem.

Those included in the party were Jean White, Grace White, Elma White, Helen Marcus, Carolyn Lambirth, Bruce Spaulding, Merle McMullen, Keith Rhodes, William McAllister, and Garret Simpson of O. A. C.

Linen Fiber Topic of Science Club

The regular meeting of the Science Club was held on Tuesday evening May 24th, in Science Hall. George Rigby was in charge, his subject being Textile Fibers.

Starting with the cells of the flax fibers, Mr. Rigby, who has been working with textile fibers during the past year, as an Honor Course in Chemistry, discussed the processes of development from the minute fibers to the finished linen. The thorough knowledge that he has of the subject enabled him to present a very interesting talk, which he supplemented by enlarged microscopic drawings.

One of the objects of the Science Club is to present the advanced work of Science majors to its members. As a result, these meetings are always of exceptional interest to the club.

Wesleyans Elect Officers

The following officers of the Willamette Wesleyans were elected for the coming year:

President, Beach Patton; Vice-Pres., Dorothy Hutchison; Sec-Treas, Lloyd Harder; Reporter, Hugh Roberts; Lunch Chairman, Esther Lisle.

At the meeting Wednesday noon Supt. Howard, Superintendent of Oregon schools, spoke on "The Bible in the Public Schools."

Lausanne Hall Notes

Miss Elizabeth Vinson entertained at a progressive party Friday evening in honor of Margaret Brown, whose birthday occurred on that day. The party was progressive at least in the fact that all the food was not served in one room. Guests at the affair were Margaret Brown, Mrs. Brown, Mae Tindall, Mary Rattie, Grace Linn, Alice Taylor, Betty Rice, Doris Klindt, Irene Ritchie, Ella Pfeiffer, Ruby Peterson, Vivian Carr, Beulah Wampler and Ethel Hardie.

Hall Club Choose Officers

The Lausanne hall club met Wednesday and elected the following officers for next year: President, Rosa Ricco; vice president, Ruby Peterson; secretary-treasurer, Evelyn Lindberg; reporter, Bernice May Jackson.

Elizabeth Silver is in charge of the Senior girls meeting of the Y.W.C.A. this afternoon in Eaton Hall. The program will include a vocal solo by Elaine Chapin.

Immediately after the meeting the Y.W.C.A. will sponsor a tea in honor of the Senior girls at Chesto Cottage.

Miss Maida Caldwell entertained at her home on Salem Heights Saturday evening with a dinner party. The evening was informally spent playing bridge. The guests were Irene Ritchie, Doris Klindt, and Alice Taylor.

Mrs. W. C. Culbertson and Mrs. D. A. Thompson entertained Mildred Gilbert, Beatrice Lockhart, Cornelia Bateson, and Egbert Thompson with a delightful beach party at Neah-kahuna this week-end.

Dinner guests at Epsilon Delta Mu Tuesday included Miss Elma White, Miss Margaret HoDine, Miss Margaret Wood, Miss Esther King, Miss Irene Clark, Miss Louise Nunn and Miss Anne Zimmerman.

The Misses Marion Jenkins, Lorraine Leroux, Clara Emigh and Eunice Marquis, members of the Women's Tennis team of Whitman College, were guests of Beta Chi, Friday evening and Saturday.

Word has been received here of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. George Atkinson (Mildred McKilbrack). The child has been named Danye Edward.

SPORT YEAR CLOSES WITH PROGRESS MADE

CHEMAWA, Ore., June 2.—(Special.)—The Willamette university Bearcats defeated the Chemawa Indians here this afternoon by a score of 11 to 4. Mackenzie, Ledbetter and Kaufman were the batteries for the university players. The game was a feature of Chemawa's commencement program.

The school year of 1926-27 marks an epoch in the annals of the athletic history of Willamette University. Despite the fact that the Cardinal and Gold teams did not win a single undisputed first place in any branch of sport, they gained a prominent position in each and laid a firm foundation for future successes. The football prospects for next fall are not too promising, in the estimation of Coach Keene, who states that twelve of last fall's imposing away, star two-miler, cut down his last year's conference record time by almost twenty seconds and although he was beaten in the last fifty yards by a man from C. P. S. this year, he plans to develop a finishing sprint which should carry him through to victory at the big meet next year. Flesher, who took second in the half-mile last year, repeated this year when his muscles tied up after he had gained a commanding lead. Next season he will be given an opportunity to run harder races earlier in the spring so that his legs can stand up under the strain of a hard race. Kuch, the luminary Frosh from Peckenneth McCormick, a junior, took first place in the mile this year at Pacific. Ruch, the luminary Frosh from Peoria, Illinois, is Northwest javelin champion. He has made losses much farther than the one which gave him first place in the Northwest meet and next year he may be looked upon as a sure first place winner. Other men are developing and one of these years Willamette will come through with a Northwest conference track championship.

A leading position in tennis is assured the Cardinal and Gold for the next two years at least with White and Minto in school in addition to several other men who rarely lose a

COYOTES SCORE WINS FOR BASEBALL TITLE

The College of Idaho Coyotes, eastern section champions, easily captured the Northwest conference baseball title by overwhelming the Pacific University Badgers, western division leaders, 14 to 4 and 19 to 5 at Caldwell, Idaho, on May 24 and 27.

Rannow, the Badger's southpaw hurling ace, who had only allowed four hits to Willamette and none to Linfield in fourteen innings played at McMinnville for the western honors, was touched for eighteen hits by the vicious swinging Coyote batsmen. The Pacific pitchers arm was sore from his superb performance of two days earlier so that his offerings did not have the stuff which was shown when he won games from every team in this section of the conference, in addition to the University of Oregon and Multnomah Athletic club.

The second contest was stopped by rain in the sixth inning after the Badgers had garnered five runs which was only half enough to overcome the ten run lead obtained by the rampaging Coyotes in the first few cantos.

As the result of these games Willamette University holds third place under Pacific University which ranks second in the Northwest conference. Although the Cardinal and Gold diamond artists did not obtain premier honors this year, they ranked among the leaders which is a surprisingly good showing in consideration of the fact that Willamette did not have any representation on the baseball field last season.

COLLEGIATE TRAMPS TRAVEL WITH LUCK

In the approved hobo fashion—via the highway, and with good-sized packs on their shoulders—John Givens and Tom Maynard started out from Salem early last Saturday for Newport. Their faith in the generosity of their fellows who drive cars was well founded, it turned out, for by four o'clock that afternoon they had reached their objective.

Search for a camping place was the first item on the program, and was followed by supper cooked over the camp-fire and eaten with great relish.

Sunday was the finest day that Newport people had experienced so far this year. Crowds of visitors were in the town.

Leaving Newport about eleven o'clock Monday morning, their luck holding, the "adventurers" arrived back in Salem at half past four. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Day of Portland, the parents of Warren Day, '26, picked up the hikers near Toledo and brought them as far as Rickreall. With just a few miles left, the two started for Salem from Rickreall on the last lap, but had only gone a few hundred yards when they were given a ride to town.

WOMEN BRING EIGHTH TENNIS YEAR TO END

On Saturday May 28, playing in between the showers, the Willamette women's tennis team lost a tournament with the women players of Whitman college by winning one out of five matches.

After having completed one match and nearly another in the morning, the matches were postponed until the afternoon when they were played at intervals when it was not raining.

Captain Margaret "Peg" Raught lost to Marian Jenkins 6-9, 6-1. Irene Clark playing Lorraine Le Roux lost 6-3, 7-5 after having the last set postponed on account of rain when the games stood 5-5. Louise Nunn lost to Eunice Marquis 1-6, 5-1, 6-3. Helen Knott, a freshman, won the only match of the day when she beat Clara Emigh 6-1, 6-2. In the doubles match "Peg" Raught and Helen Knott playing Marian Jenkins and Lorraine Le Roux lost 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

The match played with Whitman is the fifth of the year. Willamette having played Monmouth twice and Linfield and Pacific once each. Unlike Whitman, Willamette is unable to be represented by her women's team at any distance because there is no financial provision made for women's tennis.

Lives at McMinnville last week-end, but they will be out to regain their lost laurels next season and it would be well for the Missionaries and all others to beware of the scolding Bearcats.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY WINS WESTERN TITLE

The Willamette Bearcats met their traditional rivals, the Pacific Badgers, on the Linfield Wildcats diamond at McMinnville on Tuesday, May 24, for the western division championship of the Northwest conference baseball league and lost their opportunity to go to Caldwell for the big honors by a score of 8 to 5. Pacific had disposed of Linfield earlier in the afternoon to the tune of 19 to 1.

Pacific started off in good form by scoring one run in the first inning by taking advantage of Bearcat errors. Hutt reached second on Ashby's wild throw to first. Tuor was thrown out by Ashby. Hutt advanced to third. Tucker walked, J. King struck out, Kaufman let one of Ledbetter's shoots go between his legs and Hutt scored, but Tucker was out when he attempted to take third on the play.

A Bearcat rally in the second inning was stopped by poor headwork on the part of the W. U. base coaches. With one out, Welch walked, Ashby doubled to left field and Welch, instead of being held up at third, was sent home in an attempt to score. He was called out at the plate on a close play and Ashby went to third. Robertson walked and was out by several feet when he tried to steal second with two men down.

Tucker opened the fourth inning for the Badgers by knocking a long fly to centerfield which went for three bases. Ashby took J. King's easy roller to throw Tucker out at home. Drezen scored King with a double to center field. Cameron

Considering the fact that Whitman has had the advantage of a special coach and several months of practice Willamette made a showing of which there is no reason to be ashamed because Mrs. R. V. Borleske has had her team practicing since the second week in February. This is Whitman's only trip of the season, and they played only Linfield besides Willamette.

For the past eight years Willamette has been represented in Women's tennis although there was never any provision for organization or awards but last year the constitution was amended so that awards for women's tennis is on a par with any other varsity sport. Mary Findley was the first woman at Willamette to enter inter-collegiate tennis and started off by winning from both Oregon and O. A. C. After Mary Findley had successfully represented the school, Marie Rosten organized a team and several matches were played, Willamette being victorious. However, three years ago there was a slump in interest and in 1924 there was no varsity team, but "Peg" Raught and Irene Clark played Linfield and won. Last year there was a four-woman team composed of "Peg" Raught, Irene Clark, Louise Findley, and Louise Nunn that played Linfield and Pacific, winning from both.

This year although the women have had the advantage of only a little coaching, since there is no official coach, and very little financial assistance all of which has been gratuitously given by the men from their limited allowance, they have participated in five tennis meets, winning three of them. Monmouth was defeated once and defeated W. U. once, while both Linfield and Pacific were array of letter-men will either graduate or be ineligible for varsity competition. However, a number of potential football stars from several high schools throughout the northwest have signified their intention of coming to Willamette so that they would help to fill the gap created by eligibility and graduation.

The outlook in basketball is the best in years, as "Hank" Hartley, center, is the only man to leave this year's squad, which tied with Whitman for the championship. Although he lost of Hartley, who has been a mainstay on the team for four years, all he keenly felt, "Spee" believes that he can develop another man to take his place and, with a nucleus of our veterans in addition to a host of fine material from next year's crop, that he will "bring home the lion" in basketball.

As most of the members of Pacific's baseball squad will lay aside the bat and glove to don the cap and sash this spring, the Bearcat's chances to entertain the eastern representatives next year for the Northwest diamond honors are very good.

In spite of the poor showing made in the Northwest conference track meet this spring, the Willamette cinder path followers won dual meets from Chemawa and Linfield. Hath-

TWO SENIORS STUDY
IN HONOR COURSES

Two students, John Tsai and Nathaniel Beaver, are at present enrolled in the honor courses which were inaugurated at Willamette University this year.

Mr. Tsai has been registered for such courses in both sociology and education. Mr. Beaver has been doing his research work in the field of physiology.

The honor course is a phase of graduate work which is being carried into undergraduate schools. The system has had only a short trial at Willamette but has proved very successful in other schools.

In order to become an honor student, the individual must have accredited himself in conduct and recitation, and have proven himself reliable in doing detail and accurate research work. He must be recommended by his adviser and voted upon by the entire faculty. Upon being accepted for the honor courses, the student registers for the regular classes and is privileged to attend classes and recite in classes as he chooses, and is allowed to do original research work on a specified subject.

At the end of each year a comprehensive examination, which may be oral or written, is given on the subject of research. The honor student is exempt from regular tests and examinations.

The original idea was to have the student register for honor courses in two different departments. This would give the student an opportunity to grasp the relation between the courses of study pursued in his major department with those pursued in some other department.

Two hours of honor course work may be carried throughout the Junior year, and three hours throughout the Senior year. This allows for ten hours of research work, altogether.

This honor system originated at Oxford and is now being conducted with success in several American schools such as the University of Oregon, Harvard University, and Smith College.

The idea is comparatively new to Willamette and until recently has not been brought prominently to the notice of the student body. However, the advantages of the system are clearly evident to the wide awake student. Prospects for next year indicate that a number of students will desire to take advantage of this valuable opportunity to learn more in a more interesting way.

LINFIELD QUESTIONS
CONFERENCE PLACE

Despite the fact that Linfield yesterday laid claim to second place in the northwest conference on a percentage of games won and lost, Willamette defenders without contesting the claims point out that Linfield in her percentage figures fails to include the game which was scheduled with the College of Puget Sound and later forfeited. Figuring on the basis of the forfeiture of the Puget Sound game by Linfield, Willamette has second place in conference standing. At the same time the right of Pacific to

TEACHING POSITIONS
FOUND BY GRADUATES

Willamette graduates of the class of 1927 have already accepted teaching positions in various schools in Oregon and other states.

Elaine Chapin will teach English and possibly some other subjects at Cloverdale.

Clarence Church plans to teach history at Myrtle Point, where will also be located Grace Linn as an instructor in English.

Irene Clark plans to teach mathematics in the Ashland high school.

Adelma Gates will teach English and French at Enterprise.

Royal Mumford will be a science instructor at Amity.

Those who have accepted positions in other states are as follows:

Those who will teach in Washington are: Ruth Drew, Benton City; Henry Hartley, Raymond; and Mae Tindall, Spokane.

Margaret Rice will teach Latin in Michigan. Millicent King has accepted a secretarial position at Menomouth Normal.

Mary Erickson and Daryl Chapin will be student assistants at the University of Oregon. Miss Erickson will be in the biology department, while Mr. Chapin will do his work in physics.

The title of the western division remains uncontested.

The percentage standings are as follows:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
College of Idaho	7	1	.875
Willamette	4	3	.571
Pacific	4	4	.500
Linfield	3	3	.500
College of Puget Sound	1	4	.200

Several new features will be included on the program of the annual banquet to be held at 8:30 p. m. on Monday, June 13. For the first time in its history the banquet will be held on the campus, the place being the gymnasium. Also for the first time the business meeting will be held in combination with the banquet. This last change is made with the hope that it will make it more convenient for a larger number of alumni to attend.

The banquet will be the occasion for the reunions of the classes of 1922, 1902, and 1877. B. F. Irvine, graduate in the class of 1877 and editor of the Oregon Journal will represent his class on the program. The class of 1922 will be represented by C. J. Gillette, coach of Roosevelt High school, Portland.

At the business meeting several matters of vital interest to the school will be discussed. Among the items which the alumni will consider is the taking over of the campaign of getting a library for the law school, in order that standardization may be possible.

Scandal Has Its Day at Washington
When Co-eds Charge Prize Collusion

SEATTLE, Wash.—(I.P.)—Scandal is having its day at the University of Washington.

The trouble started when the business management of the Tyee held a subscription drive, the winner of which was awarded a trip with all expenses paid to Oakland, Calif., to attend the Husky-Bear regatta on April 9. The announced winner was Pat Guilmont.

Two co-eds who also worked for the prize charged that the manager of the drive, Marshall Crawford, secretary, extended the time of the drive twenty-four hours, letting only Guilmont know of the change, and that Guilmont made the most of the opportunity to secure enough extra subscriptions to place him first in the lists.

The charge was verified by an investigation conducted by the student council. The council also found that Guilmont had had two others working for him, supposedly in their own names, but turning their subscription over to him, against the rules of the contest.

As a result the Council recommended that Guilmont be deprived of the trip, or its equivalent in money, since the trip already had been taken, and that Crawford be removed from all student activities for the remainder of the school year.

Following the disclosure and the resolution of the Council, President David Thompson, of the University, appointed his own committee to look into the matter of student activity responsibility and to make recommendations to him of any changes which seem to be needed.

Origin of Final Examinations Revealed By Investigating Reporter; Here It Is

Since final exams are coming into their own and are assuming a more or less unimportant place beside the usual campus sports of football and stepping, it might be pertinent to say a few words concerning the origin of these monstrosities, known to each and every student.

Once upon a time there lived a man who had a violent temper. (They all have them now.) Well, one spring day he took into him a wife, and little did the poor woman ken the trouble she was in for. For, be it known, the bridegroom had a special dislike for the species of food known as the egg. His bride, ignorant of the fact, opened the primer, and reading there that "for breakfast a man always must have his egg fried" she hastened to prepare two of those relics of the past. When her husband beheld them, so great was his wrath that he fell into a frenzy, and with one blow of a nearby chair, knocked his bride senseless. It took a short time to chop off her head, in the good old-fashioned way. After wiping his hands on the table cloth, he hastened to find another help-meet. But first he decided a kind of torture to inflict on all eligible ladies of his acquaintance.

He prepared a comprehensive examination and among the questions asked, slyly slipped in one which read, "Should a bride cook eggs for breakfast?" The poor ladies of the land struggled with the difficult questions, but when they came to that one, they sighed with relief, as they wrote "yes." In rare, the hero of our little tale tore the exam papers to bits, and searched far and wide for a fair lady who would answer correctly the egg question. His quest was futile, but he established a tradition which has unchangeably been handed down to posterity.

Before this story ends, we must point out the moral it involves. In case the reader be too dense to grasp it for himself, this is it: When final exams arrive, don't worry—answer "yes" to all the egg questions, and "yes" to all others. There, the series of topics and speakers for the first two months of the school year is being arranged now, and if ready in time, will be published in the Handbook.

It is hoped that Dr. F. C. Dubach, dean of men at O. A. C. Dr. A. R. Hill, president of the University of Oregon, and Norman F. Coleman, head college president, can be persuaded to come and discuss such topics as "The Place of the Y on the Campus," "The Christian Citizen" and "Christianity and Industry."

Couch "Spec" Kosmo has consented to discuss athletics in college, and Prof. J. T. Matthews will tell of his trip to Australia.

According to the vice-president of the campus Y, the principle upon which the cabinet is to work next year is that of service to the men on the campus. It is with this purpose in mind that men who are authorities in their particular field, such as Dean Dubach and President Hill, are sought as leaders.

It is also planned that service can be given during Freshman week and throughout the year by the establishment of an employment desk to be located in Chestnut cottage.
