Winter Carnival Set For February 24-25

Students interested in attending Portland State College's fifth annual Winter Carnival at Timberline Lodge, February 24-25, are urged by Joan Robinson and Dale Sticka, Willamette's official delegates, to sign up immediately on sheets in their living organizations.

Registration fee for the weekend is $5 and may be paid at either the business office or at Timberline Lodge, depending on convenience. The fee will provide access to all of the facilities around Timberline Lodge, including ski tows for Saturday and Sunday.

Since the Carnival will run for three days this year, lodging will be for two nights, Friday and Saturday. If lodging is desired, cost will be about $2.50 for a motel room, or $1.50 for a sleeping porch (sleeping bags) per night. Since there is limited space, one-night reservations cannot be accepted unless the person is willing to pay for both nights.

Costs for food will run from $4 to $7 depending on the length of stay at the carnival.

All persons attending the weekend will be required to provide transportation. Sticka also said that it is imperative that the delegates know the needed lodging facilities as they will be furnished on a first-come first-serve basis.

Sherri Jenkins will represent Willamette in the contest for Carnival Queen. She will compete with girls from other Northwest schools.

Publication of WU Law Journal Announced

Latest issue of the Willamette Law Journal, dealing with Oregon administrative law, is off the presses and is being distributed, according to faculty adviser John C. Paulus, professor of law on the Willamette University College of Law staff.

The law publication is a twice-yearly journal edited by a law college student editorial board that is selected on the basis of scholarship. Members of the staff of the recent publication are now practicing attorneys in various Oregon cities. Editor-in-chief was Portland attorney Richard A. Franzke; asso-

Journal Names Men of Year; Purbrick, Ogdahl Included

Two members of the Willamette University faculty ended 1960 with the honor of being cited Men of the Year in the Dec. 29 edition of Salem's Capital Journal. The two receiving praise in their respective fields were Dr. Robert Purbrick, Willamette physics department head and football coach Ted Ogdahl.

DR. PURBRICK received his award as Willamette Valley's Man of the Year in science "on the basis of recognition which his department has received." Earlier this year WU's physics department received a three-year research grant of $14,600 from the National Science Foundation for work measuring light given off by molecules. Also received was a $2,500 non-restrictive grant from General Electric Foundation to purchase laboratory equipment.

Coach Ogdahl, in his ninth year as head pigskinner at WU, gained his Salem's Man of the Year in sports position in acknowledgment of his team's third consecutive winning of the Northwest Conference crown and the first undefeated football team since 1913.

Dr. Purbrick has been at Willamette since 1947 when he started as an associate professor of physics and he became the head of that department in 1955.

HE RECEIVED his B.A. degree at Willamette and then went on to the University of Wisconsin to get his Ph.D. During this time he was also employed on the Manhattan Project (atomic bomb) at the Metallurgical Laboratory of the University of Chicago.

Ogdahl received his B.A. and M.Ed. from Willamette University.

He has been head track and football coach here since 1952. In that time his grid teams have achieved an impressive record of 43 victories, 25 defeats and 8 ties.

Ogdahl stated concerning his selection, "We were very happy... we knew there were lots of deserving people in the valley." He said that he was called and told of his selection. Purbrick said he felt his selection was from the research grants and the first he knew of the choice was when he read it in the paper.

In explaining the Men of the Year selections the Capital Journal said in the edition of the paper in which Ogdahl and Purbrick were named, "With the end of an eventful year here, the Capital Journal has selected leaders in nine important fields who made news and kept the wheels of progress turning in 1960."

Students May Pre-Register January 9-13

Monday marks the opening of pre-registration at Willamette. On this date students may pick up their registration booklets in the registrar's office and have professors sign them. All teachers will post additional office hours. Signatures must be obtained by Friday, January 13.

Professors will set aside five minute periods at the beginning and end of class periods to sign booklets of students in the class who will be continuing it the next semester.

New class schedules are out and can be obtained in the registrar's office. An addition to it comes out today.

After all teachers have signed booklets, they can be given to the Deans of Students, registrar's office and business office for completion in the same manner used during fall semester.

For those students not pre-registering, registration day will be January 30 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

All payments must be in by 5 p.m. January 30. A $5 late payment fee will be required for those not paying by then.

Those students who have pre-registered will not be required to be on campus January 30. Classes begin Tuesday, January 31.

Soloists Will Join Orchestra

The Willamette Community Orchestra will be in concert next Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in Waller Hall presenting their first concert of the year. Several Willamette students will appear as soloists with the orchestra.

Conducted by Prof. Charles Heiden, the orchestra is composed of university students and residents of the Salem area.

The scheduled program will feature two groups of soloists. In the Vivaldi concerto, Willamette University cellists Sue Ann Hower and Geoffrey Rutkowski will appear. Jeannette Scott will assist on the violin.

The horn section of David Crane, David Thelan, Dave Konzelman, Dennis Ness and Dr. John Shideler will be the soloists in the "Horn Signal" by Franz Josef Haydn.

The program will include "Symphony No. 31 in D Major" (The Horn Signal) by Franz Josef Haydn, "Concerto in G Minor for Two Cellos, Strings and Continuo" by Antonio Vivaldi.

Second part of the program features the film music suite, "The Plow That Broke the Plains," by Virgil Thomson. "Soirees Musicales" by Gioacchino Rossini will complete the program.

Classes Meet, Nominate Officers

Nominations for spring semester class officers highlighted class meetings held this week. Lists of all nominees were submitted to Dean Walter Blake in order to determine each candidate's eligibility. The ballot itself is the final list of choices.

Dates of the primary and run-off elections will be announced later.

HOPEFULS from the junior class include Phil Thom, Mike Foster and Paul Richey, president; Lyle Green and Dave Marsters, vice-president; Verrill Redo, Bitsy McCreedy, Marianna Koch and Wendy Caulk, secretary; Janeen Hardy and Bob Youngblood, treasurer; and Mike Estcourt, sergeant-at-arms.

Paul Powers and Pat McLarney will vie for the sophomore class presidency. Other candidates are Joann Gay, Dave Robertson, Sherrie Steele, Barney Kliks and Peter Verloop, vice-president; Sue Jones and Trish Evans, secretary; Mary Ann Wright, Pauli Hibbard, Holt Williams and George Douglas, treasurer; and John Baker, Robert Lutje and Rich Litchfield, sergeant-at-arms.

AT THE sophomore meeting, it was suggested each living organization having sophomores in its membership select one of them to represent the soph population of that house. After each student senate meeting, the representatives would meet with the class president to discuss any problems which might have arisen during the session.

The representatives would then discuss the matter further with the sophomores living in his particular house and again report to the president. This arrangement would enable the president to have a better understanding of his class and its opinions.

Frosh aspirants include Chuck Reinhorn and Ken Cruden, president; Ernie Cohlert, Diane Hunnax and Dennis Wong, vice-president; Carol McChesney, secretary; Pat French, Carol Knudsen and Mary Lee Jones, treasurer; and Jim Booth and Bob Powell, sergeant-at-arms.

City Places Limit On Parking Time

Two-hour parking zones now line both sides of State Street, between 12th and Winter Streets. Dr. Richard Petrie, Willamette's financial vice president commented, "The city decided to do that as a sort of compromise measure, with the State employees on one hand and the University people on the other. It is the solution that the Traffic Committee came up with."

The measure was announced about the time school was out and went into effect on January 1, 1961.

Amateurs Blueprint 'Temple'

By BARBARA WOODWORTH
Waller Hall, designed and constructed without professional aid, has been praised by expert architects and proven by fire and almost a century of service. The construction of a new University building became necessary with the increasing Willamette enrollment in the mid-1800's. The cornerstone of the structure was laid on July 24, 1864 and the building was dedicated on October 21, 1867.

trips necessary to collect the countless modest contributions. However, Waller persevered in his task of collecting the funds, as well as supervising the construction.
IN 1912, THE name was appropriately changed from University Hall to Waller Hall. The total cost of construction amounted to approximately $45,000. The building is now valued at $200,000.
During its long career, Waller Hall has seen a lot of living. A shortage of accommodations in the 1880's resulted in some of the men students being housed in the attic and fed in the basement.

September 16, 1891, a fire destroyed the roof and water heavily damaged other parts of the building. Classes, however, were continued in two-and-a-half hours. In rebuilding another story was added to the structure in place of the former low attic. A graceful tower was also added.
AS TIME went by, the hall adequately housed the Colleges of Medicine, Music and Theology, but the College of Liberal Arts needed more room. This need was satisfied by a donation from A. E. Eaton for the construction of Eaton Hall.
Shortly after midnight on December 17, 1919, Waller Hall again suffered the ravages of fire. Firemen were hampered by a heavy snowfall and the roof and interior of the building were destroyed. The now twice-tested brick walls stood, and still stand, strong. In the second rebuilding, the ground floor was allotted entirely to a chapel and the second floor to the library. The classically styled tower was reproduced and still adorns the roof.

Caffein, Nicotine and Thou

Next Monday morning an august body of lawmakers, the Oregon Legislature, will convene in the State Capitol Building. When this convention takes place, the coffee shop in the Capitol basement will be packed with coffee drinkers and nicotine fiends, plus the usual ration of Willamette students and professors.
The management of the Capitol Coffee shop, via THE COLLEGIAN, requests its Willamette patrons to limit coffee and smoke breaks to not more than 15 minutes. The management feels that this will offer more efficient use of the shop and will allow more people use of the weed and bean facilities.
In fairness to all who wish to use these services, THE COLLEGIAN urges members of the Willamette family to respect this 15 minute limit.

THE BRICKS for the building were made of dirt from the building area. A professional brick-maker was contracted for the production of 500,000 bricks, baked on the site. The bell was a gift from the Sunday School at the Methodist Church in Salem.
The financing for "University Hall," as it was originally called, was almost entirely due to the efforts of one man, Alvin F. Waller. Waller, the school "agent," circulated the Willamette Valley repeatedly seeking "subscriptions." This sometimes seemed quite hopeless and disheartening, due to the many

Beta Chorus Tells Troth

Janee Dumond

The pre-Christmas serenade Dec. 12 by the men of Beta Theta Pi was of special interest to the Pi Beta Phis, since the engagement of Janee Dumond to Pete Weisel was announced.

A junior from Hermiston, Miss Dumond has served as big and little sister chairman for the Pi Phis, is a member of the Collegian staff and a former member of Activities Board. She is a history major.

Weisel, whose home is in Pullman, Washington, is a senior economics major. He has served as pledge trainer of his fraternity and is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa. He has been active in forensics and has also held the position as president of Young Republicans.

The couple plan an early fall wedding, after which the couple will continue their studies.

Arnold Air Presents Dance In Honor of Little Colonel

"South Pacific" is the theme of tomorrow night's Military Ball, which is sponsored by Arnold Air Society. The Gold Room of the Marion Hotel will be transformed into scenic beauty with decorations contributed by Meier and Frank Co. The dance is from 9 p.m. to midnight with music for the evening by Arnie Manke and his orchestra.

THIS AFFAIR is open to the entire campus. Tickets are $1.50 per couple and may be purchased through AFROTC detachment headquarters or at the door. Attire for the event is formal and AFROTC cadets will wear their uniforms.

During intermission, Gordon Rounds, cadet group commander, will announce this year's Little Colonel, who will succeed Trish Evans. Cathy Campbell, Pam Stearns and Karen Ward are members of the court.

A PRE-MED major, Cathy Campbell is a Pi Beta Phi pledge from Salem. A graduate of North Salem High, she is active at Willamette as choreographer for Honeybears, pledge class activities chairman and a member of a glee committee.

Pam Stearns, who hails from Menlo Park, graduated from International School in Geneva, Switzerland. This Doney Hall resident is a language major. She is a Y-Teen advisor and is social chairman for her living organization.

AN ALPHA Chi Omega pledge, Karen Ward graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School in Portland. She is vice-president of Honeybears, was in Varsity Varieties and majors in education.

A program planned by Ed Sasaki is also scheduled for the intermission. Refreshments will be served by a catering service.

Tom Hemingway, general chairman, has announced other committee chairmen: Jane Luna, decorations; Ted Gooding, refreshments; John Kries, music and Bob Hisel, cleanup.

Pi Phi's Invite You!

Swim Team Meets OCE Here Today

Willamette's swimming team will participate in the first of six dual meets this season when they host Oregon College at the YMCA today at 3 p. m.

Swimming coach John Paulus says the team will play three other schools two times each before entering the NAIA district meet scheduled tentatively for March.

The Bearcat squad will be centered around Bill Snow, Steve Murock, Rich Wayland and Bill Leonard.

Dr. Paulus says the first three meets, by mutual agreement, will limit races to 40 yards except the individual medleys and a special 200 yard race because of lack of conditioning.

Another home meet is scheduled for Monday afternoon with Linfield before the team meets three schools away from home.

SWIMMING SCHEDULE

- Jan. 9—Linfield
- Jan. 13—At Portland U
- Feb. 3—At Oregon College
- Feb. 17—At Linfield
- Feb. 24—Portland U.

Hall Earns All-Academic Spot; Footballers Increase Awards

Willamette end Stu Hall has been selected to the Academic Little All America football team.

The mythical pigskin eleven, comprising players with a combination of high scholarship and performance on the field, is jointly sponsored by the College Sports Information Directors of America and the American People's Encyclopedia. Choices were announced by Lester Jordan of Southern Methodist, co-ordinator of the project.

To be selected, a player must have at least a B average. Hall, all-NWC for the past three years, is a history major with an A minus average.

Hall was also selected to third string NAIA all-star team as line-backer over the vacation.

Stan Solomon also added more laurels over the holidays by being chosen first string halfback by a board of NAIA coaches. Solomon also made Williamson System Little All-America.

Marv Cisneros made first team offensive guard on the NAIA team, while Jim Robinson was given special mention on the Williamson team.

Jayvees Slate Action

Willamette's junior varsity basketball team plays Valley Ford tonight and Hammond Builders tomorrow in preliminary games here at 6:00 p.m.

Coach Jerry Long's Bearkittens will be hoping for similar success that was shown against Mt. Angel College, Dec. 16, when the jayvees romped to a 69-30 win.

Coyotes Battle WU Tonight; Hoopmen Open Title Defense

College of Idaho invades Willamette for basketball tussles tonight and tomorrow night as Coach John Lewis' hoopmen open their drive for a third straight Northwest Conference championship.

The Coyotes, regarded by Lewis as "a definite darkhorse" this season, will be bringing in an experienced team that won four games and lost three in pre-conference tilts.

RETURNING to Coach Babe Brown's starting quintet after a year's absence is forward Bob Moreno, a fierce competitor who was one of the NWC's leading scorers two years ago.

Daryll Hill and Ted Talbot, who paired as one of the league's best guard combinations last season, are back, as is center Bill Aires, who at 6-4 will provide their rebound strength.

In pre-conference activity, the Coyotes have scored victories over Southern Oregon, 68-59, Northwest Nazarine, 67-60, and Eastern Oregon twice by scores of 83-69 and 85-78. They have lost to Eastern Washington, Gonzaga and Western Montana.

Other league encounters this weekend will find Whitman at Linfield for two games, and Lewis & Clark playing a home and home double bill with Pacific.

IN SUMMARIZING his Bearcat team thus far, Coach Lewis says he is pleased with the progress it has made. However, commenting on Willamette's frequent hot and cold spells, he said:

"We still haven't been able to put 40 solid minutes together. In almost all of our games we have played very well and then suddenly gone into a slump for awhile."

Pre-conference records showed Willamette with a 6-4 mark, while Lewis & Clark has the most impressive won-and-lost record with 5-2. Linfield showed a 5-6 slate, followed by Whitman (3-5) and Pacific (1-7).

Sato Makes All-Tourney Spot; Bearcats Stopped at Chico

Willamette's hoopsters advanced into the semi-finals and then found competition too tough in the Chico State Invitational Tournament, Dec. 27-29.

After upsetting Chico State, 57-53, in the opening round, the Lewismen bowed to Pasadena, 86-75, and to Cal Poly, 63-59, in a battle for third place.

OUTSTANDING performer for the Bearcats was Hisao Sato, who was selected to the all-tournament team.

Winner of the tourney was Pasadena, which upset Pacific Lutheran, 82-65, in the finals to hand the Lutes their first loss of the year.

In the victory over Chico, WU broke a 29-29 halftime tie, and once led 45-37 with 12:46 left to play. Chico closed the gap to 55-53 with three minutes left, but Willamette went into a successful freeze, and when Ken Ashley was fouled with 26 seconds left, he sank two free throws to ice the game.

THE DIFFERENCE was on the free throw line, as the Bearcats converted 17 of 23 free throws, while Chico had only nine for 18. Ken Ashley led the winners with 16 points.

The losses of Bob Woodle and Fidel Gaviola were key factors in WU's defeat at the hands of Pasadena. Both players fouled out early in the second half when the score was very close.

Willamette found itself on the long end of a 42-39 lead at the half and led by close margins until Pasadena went ahead to stay, 52-50, with 14 minutes left.

THE WINNERS were hot in field goals, hitting on 35 for 76, while WU connected on 26 for 56.

The Jasons trailed Cal Poly by 23-12 before forging ahead, 27-26, and extending this lead to 35-32 in the consolation game. The lead saw-sawed until Cal Poly went ahead to stay, 59-57, with 3:25 left.

Sato topped the Bearcat scorers with 20 points.

As a result, Willamette closed out its practice schedule with six wins and four losses. On Dec. 16 and 17, the Jasons scored successive victories over Humboldt State, 60-43 and a tough Eastern Washington team, 61-58.

Honors Program Brings Lecturer

Dr. Brock Chisholm, eminent Canadian psychiatrist, will speak on "The Population Explosion" Tuesday, January 10, 8 p.m., in the Collins Hall auditorium. The public is invited to attend the lecture which is sponsored by the Honors Program.

DR. CHISHOLM has held numerous high offices in international organizations, most notably as director-general of the World Health Organization from 1948 to 1953. The World Federation for Mental Health claimed his services as president and the World Association of World Federalist as vice-president.

Dr. Chisholm has been decorated for his medical services in both world wars, as well as receiving numerous awards and honors from various medical and service groups. He has also been awarded honors by the Canadian and British governments and by several Near Eastern and Latin American countries.

IN ADDITION to his many other activities, Dr. Chisholm is the author of three books and has lectured extensively in colleges and universities. Dr. Chisholm will be in town as the guest of Dr. Maxwell

Jones, noted psychiatrist at Oregon State Hospital.

As Canadian Deputy-Minister of Health, Department of National Health and Welfare, Dr. Chisholm created a furor in Canada when he advised parents not to teach their children to believe in Santa Claus for mental health reasons. Letters of protest poured into newspapers all over the Dominion.

According to Dean Robert Gregg, it is hoped that other speakers can be contracted through the Honors Program. One or two lecturers a year are anticipated, scheduled as funds allow and noted speakers are available.

Foreign Film Series Features Portuguese 'Black Orpheus'

"Black Orpheus," a Portuguese movie, will be showing at the Capitol theater Monday through Wednesday, the first in the Foreign Films series. The show is a modern interpretation of the Greek legend of Orpheus, who descended to Hell to find the woman he loved.

"The movie is artistic, not realistic," commented Mrs. Paule Drayton. She described the movie as very colorful, with dancing and festivals. The setting of "Black Orpheus" is South America and the actors are Negro.

In Greek legend, Orpheus was a mythical poet. When his wife dies, he is grief-stricken and goes down to Hades to get her back.

Orpheus persuades the gods of Hades, with his poetry and music, to let his wife return to earth on condition that she must walk behind her husband and that he must not look backward. He does look back, however, and she becomes a dead person once again.

Other films in the series are "The Light Touch," English, January 30-February 1; "The Seventh Seal," Swedish, February 20-22; "Four Hundred Blows," French, March 13-15; "Seven Samurai," Japanese, April 3-5; and "Ivan the Terrible," Russian, April 24-26.

Season tickets for the series cost $5 (two for $9.50) and may be obtained in either the Willamette bookstore or from Dr. Marion Morange. Individual tickets may be purchased for $1.

Money obtained from the Foreign Film Series project will go into the AAUW scholarship fund for women students in advanced study.

Mayor Taps Petrie Again

Dr. Richard Petrie, financial vice-president of Willamette, has been re-appointed to the Salem City Planning Commission. Petrie was first appointed to fill a vacancy on the Commission and this year Mayor Russ Bonesteele tapped the Willamette vice-president for another term.

There are seven lay members on the Commission who donate their time. Also on the Commission are the Mayor, City Engineer, City Attorney and City Manager. Meetings are held every two weeks on the Tuesday following the City Council meetings.

The purpose of the Commission is to consider deviations and variations in city policy, construction and ordinances and many other municipal problems that concern city government and private citizens.

Henry, Wives Needed

Tryouts for the first reading play of the year, "The Royal Gambit," by Hermann Gressieker, will be held in the Fine Arts Auditorium Jan. 12, from 4-5 p.m. and on Jan. 13, from 3-5 p.m.

Get Exam Petitions

Petitions for early examinations for any reason should be obtained now from the registrar's office advises Dean Robert Gregg. Signatures of each professor involved are necessary on the petitions which are to be turned in to Dean Gregg's office.

Each special exam requires a $5 fee. Dean Gregg added that there are no exceptions.

Honors Group Adds Comisky

Clifford Comisky, a freshman from Portland, Oregon, has been invited to enter the freshman honors seminar and will enroll for the second semester of this seminar.

The committee on the honors program made the selection from a number of applications each of which included recommendations from Willamette professors.

At Willamette, Comisky holds a Mary L. Collins scholarship and plans to major in chemistry or math.

He joins the following students who were chosen last fall: William Bafus, Jr., James Brown, Jack Burnard, Sue Carrell, Gail Evernden, Herbert Dale Fisher, Allan Frost, Jonathan Goode, Jerry Goodman, Ronald Gustafson, Janet Hawthorne, Mary Martin and Sharon McClelland.

Other members of the group are Albert Pinkerton, Janice Rademaker, Mary Ann Ragland, Kristi Scott, Mary Gale Shaffer, William Slimak, Rusty Whitney and Rosalee Johnston.

Methodists Sponsor Ski Hike; Santiam Lake Is Destination

A two-day ski hike in the Cascades, during the semester break after finals January 27-28, is being sponsored by the Oregon Methodist Conference Trail Camping Program for all interested students.

Destination of the hike will be Santiam Lake, mirroring Three-Finger Jack and accessible over a well-kept portion of the Skyline Trail, 5 miles north of the Santiam Pass.

Expenses will be $5 per person for food, transportation and incidental expenses. Students not covered by accident insurance may be asked to purchase additional insurance through the Conference.

Packs and ponchos will be available from the conference. Each person who registers will be given a detailed equipment sheet. Each hiker must provide his own skis, boots and poles and must be familiar with their adjustment and use. Equipment may be rented or borrowed if necessary. Rental will be $3 for the set through local stores. Hikers must also furnish their own sleeping bag, air mattress and warm clothing.

Hike leaders will be Rev. Lawrence Monk, West Salem Methodist Church and Professor Donald Gleckler.

Bill Richter, Phi Delta Theta, or Rev. Monk, EM 3-3035, may be contacted before January 13 for more information and registration.
