WALLULAH TO BE OUT MAY DAY AS PLANNED

The 1927 Wallulah will be out on May Day without fail, according to the announcement of the editor.

All copy has been handed in at the Statesman printing office and every section of the book has been printed except the advertising section. In fact the Wallulah will be one of the first school yearbooks of the press this year. The special color inserts featuring the history of Willamette University were printed last week. Eight sections have been sent to the bindery to be folded. The work has progressed so well that if it were necessary the book could be issued on May 1, as was the original plan of the staff.

The covers, a creation of the Weber-McCrea Co. of Los Angeles and having as their design an embossed reproduction of Walter Hall, were shipped on the first of April and are now at the bindery.

The management of the Wallulah this year has been particularly successful from the financial standpoint. Over eleven hundred dollars in advertising has been signed up.

The book this year will have more color work than previous Wallulahs. An especially drawn border has been printed throughout the book. As a prelude there will be a three-color drawing of the ship Lausanne. The title pages represent in drawing various epochs in the history of Willamette. The art work follows a woodcut style throughout. The predominance of action pictures distinguishes the sport section. The faculty and the Junior section are treated in a manner different from the usual style. The staff has attempted to put life into the book and at the same time give the conventional things which are expected in an annual.

OXFORD MEN STUDENTS SHUN PLATONIC WOMEN

Competition of Intellectual Women Displeasing to Stags Who Fear Displacement

OXFORD UNIVERSITY, England (By N.S.S.)—Sex war at Oxford!

It seems at this staid English institution of learning there is a men's journal, known as the Isis, that periodically airs its pet gripe on the policy of their ancient citadel of men harboring women. In fact, ever since co-eds have become an institution at the university the camp of the men has been openly hostile.

Jealousy is the motive of the men, the women declare. Every woman at the college is an honor student. So rigid is the examination system that none but the most intellectual girls pass the gauntlet. One Somerville girl recently said that for the eighty vacancies at her college there were 240 applicants.

It is extremely irritating to the men to be outshone intellectually.

RETTIE IS ELECTED Y.M.C.A. PRESIDENT

Maynard, Vice-president; Roser, Secretary; Shellhart, Treasurer; Seabeck Plans Started

With the election of Y. M. C. A. cabinet officers shortly after the spring vacation, plans for the Seabeck conference were started.

The new officers are: James Rettie, president; Tommy Maynard, vice president; Harvey Roser, secretary; Harold Shellhart, treasurer.

The northwest Y. M. C. A. Student Conference is held at Seabeck, on Hood Canal, about 20 miles from Bremerton.

Last year Willamette had 16 delegates and this year there are possibilities of having 25 representatives.

The general topic for discussion is: dare we be Christian? In preparation for the conference one topic of the Seabeck schedule is being discussed at each weekly meeting.

The Seabeck conference is from the 11th to the 20th of June. Twenty to 25 colleges are represented, there being about 200 people present.

As far as possible, each delegation has a cottage of its own. At the breakfast the students may sit any place they wish; the morning is usually taken up by discussion groups which consider various vital questions. At luncheon no two delegates may sit together. Boating, golf and like recreation fill the afternoons. In the evening each delegation sits together and sings songs. Willamette, last year, was the only school that could sing two different songs each evening without repeating. From 7 until 9 o'clock discussion groups are again in order.

The year such men as Dr. N. G. Druback, Ray Curry and Dr. Guleck of New York will be at the conference.

The girls' delegations usually arrive as the men leave. Their procedure follows something of the same order, with various discussion groups and recreation.

COMPETE FOR PRIZES

Akron, Ohio—(IP)—Twenty-four college papers from Ohio colleges and universities are competing in a six-issue contest to determine the best undergraduate publication in the state. The contest, conducted by the Ohio College Newspaper Association, is being sponsored by a prominent newspaper syndicate. The contest ends on April 1. But three colleges in the state failed to enter the contest.

WILLAMETTE POSSESSES REAL MUSEUM

REMAINS A DEEP SECRET TO STUDENTS

Do you know we have a museum at Willamette university? Yes, sir, an honest 'kosh museum! I know because about a week ago Dean Clark took me up there and showed it to me. He actually let me paw some of the specimens around a bit.

You see, there used to be a lot of old junk stored in Eaton Hall somewhere. And last summer it was moved, at great risk to life, limb and property, from Eaton Hall to a big room in the gym. Before anything was moved, however, Dean Clark and his student assistants—no, don't try to guess who it was—built display stands and show-cases and shelves. Then they carried the things over. And what a job it must have been. At least the Dean said it was an awful job.

There is a big spinning wheel for what are the willow waxes saying one thing and just any number of samples of ores, and rocks, and quartz, implements and weapons from the stone age are quite numerous, not to mention all manner of things connected with Oregon history.

Did you know that a certain high-up of the Methodist Episcopal church when a missionary in Africa, used a slab of marble about 15 inches long and eight inches wide as a pillow? Perhaps you did, but it is probably a safe bet that you did not know that that very slab of marble is now in the museum at Willamette university.

Graduate students should have the opportunity to see the display of things shipped, gifts from Great America. You know Fred and Rex Peck are authorities on birds, and the specimens are well mounted. This contract, I think, is color at least, with the birds in Oregon.

Oh, yes, we have a splendid microscope—that is, we will have when the staff is arranged.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB LEAVES NEXT FRIDAY

Co-ed Singers to Tour as Far as Arlington, Oregon, Returning April 27

ARNOLD ARRANGES TRIP

After Hopeless Start, Five Contracts for Appearances Are Entered Into

In spite of many obstacles and in the face of what looked like utter failure to arrange a trip the Women's Glee Club has at last an itinerary which takes them as far as Arlington, Oregon. Leaving here at 9:00 a. m. Friday, April 22, the girls go to Vancouver, Wash., where they sing that noon before the Rotary club, and in the evening give a full concert at the First M. E. church.

From Vancouver they go to Hood River, giving a concert at the First Methodist church there on Saturday evening and taking part in the services on Sunday, Monday, April 15, the club appears in concert at Arlington, singing in the Community M. E. church. Tuesday night they sing at the Grand theatre, Camas, Wash., and on Wednesday entertain the citizens of Dundee, Oregon, appearing under the auspices of the Dundee Women's club. Immediately after the Dundee concert the girls return to Salem, arriving here late at night, April 27th.

Margaret Arnold, the new hard-working manager of the Glee club, deserves much credit it is said, for it is due to her efforts that the organization is enabled to go on this trip. Miss Arnold sent out over 80 letters asking for concerts, and of the 80 was rewarded with a half dozen contracts.

One of the features of the Women's Glee concert is the costume solo work by Miss Esther Palmer on her fine Warlike harp. Miss Palmer, who has appeared many times, has always proved a popular feature. One has only to think back to Freshman Glee and the recent Easter concert at the First M. E. church to realize what a drawing card is Miss Palmer's harp.

The accompanist for the organization is Miss Jean Hobson, of the class of '30, while Mrs. E. W. Hobson is chaperone.

The personnel of the club is as follows: 1st sopranos, Margaret Arnold, Gladys Barclay, Kathryn Everett, Frances McGilvra.

Second sopranos, Helen Bridgeman, Dorothy Ferrier, Helen McPherson, Lillian Scott, Edna Wentz.

First altos, Josephine Powell, Hazel Shutt, Margaret Wood, Marjorie Miller.

Second altos, Bernice Clemens, Margaret Hall, Helen Hughes, Elizabeth Vanson, Genevieve Junk.

The officers of the club are Genevieve Junk, president; Edna Wentz, vice president; Margaret Arnold, manager; Frances McGilvra, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Junk is also the reader for the organization. The soloist is Miss Arnold. Stunts are performed by Miss McGilvra and Edna Wentz, and Miss Junk and Miss Miller.

Professor Laughlin, who for the past few months has been battling with tuberculosis, is much better now. He is feeling quite well though he is still troubled with a little fever.

Dr. Hall has been away from his classes a few weeks on account of a bad attack of flu. He is improving, but will not be able to return this week.

Mrs. Dahn has also been out of school on account of the flu, but is now back in her classes.

TAU KAPPA ALPHA INITIATES THREE

Tau Kappa Alpha National Forensic Fraternity formally initiated Elaine Chapin, Irene Breithaupt, and Robert Witty last Wednesday evening, April 13.

This was the first anniversary of the granting of the Willamette chapter. The charter members were Joel Berreman, Hazel Newhouse, Warren Day and Charles Redding, Victor Carlson, Horace Ranshopt, Frank Erickson, James McClintock.

Joel Berreman, president and Dean Frank M. Erickson, secretary-treasurer, presided at the meeting.

After the initiation a business meeting was called to elect officers for the next year. Robert Witty will head the Fraternity. Mr. Witty has done outstanding forensic work for two past years. Irene Breithaupt, member of the women's varsity team which won a three to 0 decision from O. A. C. this year, was elected vice-president. Dean Erickson will continue as faculty advisor and secretary-treasurer. Refreshments were served.

Dean Richards

Miss Frances M. Richards, Dean of Women, who announced her resignation effective next year.

DR. CANSE TO WRITE BOOK ON LIFE OF WASHINGTON

Kimball Head Asked by Historical Society to Compile Volume on Nation's First President

The board of curators of the state Historical Society of Washington has authorized Dr. Canse of Kimball School of Theology to prepare a unique memorial volume for the celebration of the tenentiary birthday anniversary of George Washington. Dr. Canse has already gathered much of the material for his book, and expects to address the governor of each state for a word complimentary to the Father of our country.

This unusual book when completed will contain a page for everybody of the calendar year with some quotation from Washington, an illustration from his life, and an extraction from some noted author's works concerning George Washington. These illustrations are intended, Dr. Canse says, "to present the most interesting pictures relative to the life and service of our first president."

Friends of Dr. Canse will be interested to know that he has been a member of the Board of Curators for 15 years, his membership not being displaced because of his departure from the state of Washington.

WILLAMETTE STUDES ARE LOCKED UP IN CAPITOL

This story has a moral and for that reason ought to be well received in our company where the inclusion of a moral will justify any sort of imposition on the reader of our staff. Even if the moral is not sufficient justification for the type and link, we will have been well trained through many years of suffering, especially at this center of learning, to be greatly amused and thoroughly appreciative of anything which has as its theme the "two by two" grouping which became noticeable at various times in the lives of susceptible young collegians. This fact, in addition to the one first mentioned, ought to raise this narrative to the place of a classic, doomed to be followed off on future student generations along with the tradition about the cow grazing in the chapel.

We have long been familiar with the popularity of the Capitol Dome as the place where embarrassed initiates feel sorry to be greedy men, and go about it with their eyes closed, we have noticed that it is the occasional pendency of their groups who do not need the excuse of an initiation. However, we have never been aware of the possibility of the Capitol Dome as a prison cell for the want of a student scholar to which takes place when a couple is incarcerated on a dollar bond.

Without any elaboration or falter, simply the facts as given, has it the above was followed:

One of our prominent athletes, accompanied by a certain lady of his choice, arrived in Salem a few minutes after noon on the afternoon of last week, enjoying the scenery as it reveals the former. They are playing baseball—a bus stands near. Wait, the crowd thins; I cannot find the class president's little brother; yet, it is the Sophomore; no other class would be so gay and carefree. They are too far from Salem to walk home—there is a beautiful moon—the scene fades.

"Who are these frolicking youth? I can't seem to see any 'chaperones' that sit in the distance just so that I have it—a money bag appears, a gold bag. A depleted treasury—'No, I feel a tragedy; no funds, no funds. I see a young man dissolved in sweat, his head appears to be broken. Yes, the dear lad did so

SPATS FOR FRESHMEN TABOO AT WASHINGTON

University Faculty Regard Love Taps as Interference With Dignity of Classmen

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, Seattle, April 17—(IP)—All freshmen traditions have been done away with as a result of a ruling handed down by the university faculty. The faculty interprets that enforcing fresh vigilance violated 30, which states that any form of interference by any class, or any member of any class, with the personal dignity and liberty of any member of any class, is a breach of discipline and is prohibited.

The senior council, which represents the students, has sent a letter of protest to the president of the university. The senior council does not regard paddling in a moderate degree as having and asks that the faculty reconsider their stand in the matter.

DEAN F. M. RICHARDS GIVES UP POSITION

Dean to Attend Univ. of Cal. as Instructor; Take Advanced Study in English

Miss Frances M. Richards, who has been Dean of Women at Willamette university since 1918, has announced her resignation. She plans to leave for California soon after the close of school and to spend the summer at Berkeley where she may take some work in summer school. Miss Richards has accepted a part time teaching position at the University of California for next year. She will also take advanced work in English.

Miss Richards came to Willamette from Salt Lake City where she taught in the high school. She studied in Ohio Wesleyan, holds an A. B. from the University of Michigan, and a M. A. in English from the same university. At Columbia university she took the course for Dean of Women.

Since Miss Richards has been Dean of Women at Willamette she has established the health service for students. This was secured through questionnaires, study of health services in other schools, and by recommendation to the trustees. She has done much toward bringing Willamette university up to the standard of the American Association of University Women.

The successor to Miss Richards has not yet been announced.

New Orleans, La. (By N. S. S.)—Carefully carved stone bridges, wide highways and the stone-faced terraces of a hitherto undiscovered Mayan city greeted the scientific expedition from Tulane university, New Orleans, prowling about in the backwoods regions of Mexico. This exploring party, the third to leave Tulane, has already the discovery of a twenty-century old city to its credit.

It is expected that this expedition will yield as rich a supply of relics and material evidence of the ancient civilization as the two earlier trips. On these trips many interesting discoveries were unearthed. Strangely distorted figures of Mayan gods were encountered, also statues of human figures. Rabbit heads, turtles and frogs roughly hewn from sandstone, bearing hieroglyphs of mysterious import were discovered. There were also many temples and ruined cities containing altars and elaborate monuments.

LAVIOLETTE ELECTED BLUE KEY PRESIDENT

At a meeting of the Blue Key Fraternity, held last Thursday, officers for the coming year were elected. No change was made in the office of president, Kenneth LaViolette being retained for a second term. Kenneth Litchfield succeeded John Russell as vice president, while William Tweedle and Henry Oberson were elected to the positions of secretary and treasurer respectively, replacing Kenneth Lawson and Don Grant. Kenneth Lawson now fills the office of sergeant-at-arms.

The meeting was one of the most important of the year; the names of several men were passed on for membership in the fraternity, and will be made public at a later date.

The Blue Key, an honorary national fraternity, whose purpose is campus service, was organized at Willamette about a year ago. Professor Burroughs and Coach Kenna are faculty members of the organization.

REAL INDIANS IN PAGEANT

If the historical pageant "The Light in the Mountains" is given by the University of Idaho it will not lack verisimilitude in its Indian scenes. Real Indians from the Nez Percé Reservation, together with native costumes and war equipment will be used.

Four years ago the pageant was produced by the Associated Students of the University with remarkable success.

Miss Elaine Chapin will lead Y. W. meeting in Eaton Hall this Thursday at 4:15. Her topic will be "Glimpses of China," and she will be assisted by Miss Illeg Tait.

ELECTIONS

Day after tomorrow there will be established in the lower floor of Eaton hall a ballot box. In this box, after eligibility to vote has been determined, each student will deposit his or her vote for next year's student body officers. The question is, will the person who is most capable of assuming the duties of the particular office to which he aspires receive the necessary majority vote. This is annually the question. To the credit of Willamette students, it usually can be answered in the affirmative.

Anyone who casts a vote for a candidate whom he does not sincerely believe is the best in the field for that position, betrays to a degree the welfare of the student body next year. Anyone who casts his vote for a candidate solely because of certain fraternal affiliations does not have student affairs as a whole at heart. He seeks merely to advance the interests of a certain faction.

It is time that group politics should be completely obliterated from campus elections, and every vote which is cast at the election Friday should be for the person most capable of assuming control of affairs next year.

"I'LL HIE ME TO A SPOT"

Along the bright, sparkling waters of the Santiam near Detroit, about fifty miles from Salem, are acres and acres of terra firma covered with pine and oak trees, through which in the background loom high snow covered mountains.

Why shouldn't Willamette university designate some eligible person to homestead a bit of this cool, shady environment and set it aside as a play and camping ground for students and faculty? Taxes and other incidental expenses which would not amount to any enormous sum could be annually paid by the student body or the administration, and at the end of five years, Willamette would have a recuperation ground for overworked professors and mentally fatigued students which could be reached after a few hours drive. Suitable cabins and recreational buildings could be erected and overnight expeditions would become popular. All this, of course, working for the physical betterment of all.

There is something appealing about this idea, not only from the recreational standpoint, but from the financial as well. A good location there might be worth money at some future time, when the country is opened up. And what could be nicer than to slip away after the drain of examinations this spring to a spot where the ozone is not tainted with musty textbooks. Think it over, seniors.

FREEDOM OF POLICY

The editor of the Oregon Emerald, a student publication at the University of Oregon, is quite right in rebelling against the proposition to vest editorial policy of the paper in a board composed of association student administrators, instead of in an editorial board of the publication itself.

Nothing will start a paper on the skidroads of caducity faster than to have it placed directly under control of an administrative group which will tend always to seek approval of its activities, and to resent criticism. On every hand, the paper is liable to the whim of

MRS. SHERWOOD

Everybody walks by our house on Sunday evening in the summer time, because our sidewalk is mended and our trees make dark shadows in the moonlight. Chattering Bill Graves and his girl, Sue, staid Mrs. Grimes and her fussy husband, arm's length apart, solitary old Jim Edwards, lord of creation—they are all interesting, but Mrs. Angela Sherwood is the most interesting of all.

I always snuggle under the lilac bush when I hear the click of her French heels along the walk. Pretty soon she gets close and I peer out. Boy! but she's easy to look at. Even in the shadow you know she has big black eyes, red cheeks, and skin soft like cream. She is smiling to herself most always and most always is looking 'way off at the stars. She wears a big floppy hat and a white dress and white slippers. She has oodles of rings. I know 'cause her hat almost went sailing on the wind and she reached up quick to hold it on. Jimmy, but the moon made fires in those rings.

She isn't like the other people that walk by, for she never speaks to anybody. She doesn't look a bit cross. When she is opposite the lilac bush something like white rose smells and makes us shut my eyes and sniff. Some nights she takes the nastiest, pussiest bulldog walking and leads him with a leash. She calls him "dearie." He wears little sweaters and sleeps in a bed with sheets. "Too bad Mrs. Sherwood don't have a baby," Dr. Brown told mother.

I'd like to know her better because the garbage man told our Dina that the "Missus Sherwood" feeds that darn dog with chocolates that cost five dollars a box. Boy!

She lives in a regular castle at the end of our street and the yard has a high stone fence around it so "dearie" can't get out." She comes for a walk only in the evening.

It is true that most student publications are this or that individual who fears disapprobation of his schemes or his actions. The paper becomes a mere organ, a tool of particular interests. Instead of officially to represent the students of the particular educational institutions they serve; it is true that they are subsidized by the student body; and it is true that they would cease to exist by action of that group. Yet, so is it also true that the editor is usually popularly elected by the student body; that he is selected for his ability accurately to represent prevailing opinions; and to point out ways of advancement and improvement; and that he is subject to recall by that group if he proves undesirable.

This is surely a sufficient check; while, at the same time, it leaves the editor free to express his beliefs, no matter what they are, as long as he is permitted to retain office. This is the only sane method, the only one which will insure a live, creditable publication.

Here at Willamette, there is faculty censorship of all publications, which is wrong. The administration does have the right to be interested in the nature of what goes out in publications which represent the university, but it does not have the right to use such a blunt method. Dismiss the editor if he violates the best interests of the school, yes, but give him free rein as long as he does not transcend the bounds of propriety. This is the better way. And students who are outraged at something which might appear, can swing a recall.

There probably was sufficient cause for faculty interference a few years ago when the censorship was established. But publications before that time were conformable, and there is no reason to take the attitude that future ones will not be. To have faculty members pore over pages of proof to detect possible improprieties indicates a lack of confidence in the students, and can only have an adverse effect.

So we sympathize with the Oregon editor in his fight to maintain freedom of policy on the Emerald, and wish him success.

THE SUICIDE WAVE

The suicide wave in colleges has attained such proportions that it is receiving serious attention in all parts of the United States. The New York Evening Post has offered a prize of $100 to the college undergraduate who best explains the "wave" of mental depression apparently sweeping through American schools and colleges.

"Has the American undergraduate a post-war neurosis?" asks the Evening Post in announcing the offer. "Just what is responsible for the melancholia which seems to have invaded the campus today? Does modern education foster too much independent, unguided thinking?"

"We have the opinion of university deans, faculty members and psychologists as to why this morbid tendency has spread among students. Now we would like to know how undergraduates themselves interpret the abnormal attitude which some of their fellows have towards life."

The suicide "fad" seems to be confined to the eastern part of the United States. This would indicate that the cause is of a more local nature than reaction from the world war, which would affect west as well as east.

In the far western institutions of higher learning a great many of the students are wholly or partly earning their way. This gives them an outlet for pent up emotions and relieves them of the monotony of excess mental labor.

The Portland Telegram makes the following comment: "Perhaps it would not be illogical to conclude that many young people are better off when they are busily occupied earning a weekly pay check than when their minds are too much 'sickled o'er with the pale cast of thought.'"

In western colleges there is a greater feeling of democracy, and a lack of the feeling of constraint which the more populous conditions of the east tend to create. The geographic environment of the west is such as to strengthen the mind and make it more rugged.

The obvious fact that suicides among the eastern students are far more frequent than among the western would seem to bear out the foregoing. In any case those students who take their own lives are abnormal. Excesses in any field be it study or otherwise are contrary to Nature's intentions and in the end will react to the destruction of the individual.—Barometer.

"Not exactly; he is attending an aviation school."
"I see—pursuing a higher education."

AMUNDSEN TELLS OF POLAR TRIP

Captain Roald Amundson, world-famous explorer, spoke at the Elsinore yesterday. His subject is the story of his trip from Rome to Teller Alaska by dirigible. Supplementing his lecture motion pictures of the trip which are perhaps the most remarkable ever made were shown.

Captain Amundson who was at one time rated as one of the wealthiest men of Norway, has spent a large fortune on his explorations. But his sacrifices have not been in vain for he numbers among his achievements: in 1905, the first journey on record around the North-west Passage, at the same time re-locating the North Magnetic Pole; in 1911, the discovery of the South Pole and in 1926 the crowning achievement, the reaching of the North Pole and the Teo Pole, a point never before reached by a human.

Mrs. Everett of Portland visited her daughter Katherine on Monday.

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

Wanda Humber
This evening I shall take my job in hand in the conventional way, and make a letter that shall carry to you a few of the small temptations and joys of our existence here. There is no great moment in existence, perhaps but existence is in its own self.

Did you by any chance attend church at the first M. C. last Sunday? In case you did not, it may interest you to know that a number of our fellow students announced informally in the good old fashioned Willamette way by tassing to church.

Those doing so were Earl Douglas, William Walsh, Robert Thompson, and Vernon Taylor. These gentlemen are to be congratulated, as their respective choices have indeed been fortunate.

I know you have been interested in the stormy career of Dale Hoskins. The poor boy is in difficulties again. It is a sad, sad tale and I would tell it were I not bound by the deepest vows of secrecy.

Don't you think it is a shame that S. R. Przey can't behave any better than he does in the library. A man of his position, looked up to, as he is, by the Freshmen, should be very careful to walk in the paths of righteousness.

This is the week of good-fellowship and handshaking. The elections forthcoming shortly, are the reason. All the candidates wear their Sunday clothes, comb their hair, wash their faces, and in extreme cases, their teeth, every day. I hope that they get the habit. With as many candidates as we have the general average of the school should be raised.

A funny thing happened today. Rod Blatchford admonished me, never to use the name "Shovel-feet" in connection with him again. He is very much afraid that folks will adopt that very descriptive nickname.

Some one told me that not even the librarians were safe anymore. What is the world coming to.

That is about all the news of interest that I have been able to unearth during the past week. Folks are rather chary about imparting the aforesaid, for some strange reason.

I hid you good day. ? ? ? ? ?

P. S. Some one told me George Pro recited in Eng. class the other day.

The region of the gym may be a good place to park, but spot-lights are so revealing.

Now that spring is upon us a word of warning. Tho' love is blind, the neighbors ain't.

Why say the youth of today are going to the dogs, asks George E. Cutten, president of Colgate university.

At a dinner of the New York alumni he recited:
"My grandad, viewing earth's worn coags,
Said things were going to the dogs.
His grandad, in his house of logs,
Said things were going to the dogs.
His grandad in the Flemish bogs,
Said things were going to the dogs.
His grandad, in his old skin togs,
Said things were going to the dogs.
There's one thing that I have to state:
The dogs have had a good long wait."

AUTUMN IN THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY

When morning came the golden glow,
Obscured by veil of mist and fog;
When pale, suny bearded, over the earth

Came, bringing Winter, in its wake;
Then green things that have known no fall
Met with the Spring's return and blown again.

Among the pebbles of my city yard
Where arid cynism straggles through the sod,
The violet beside my path denotes
When gypsy days like these are come.

My errand rest near me afar
O'er harvest lands whose stubble scars
Beneath laden pumpkin vines are hid.

I wander nameless painted lanes
Besides the hazel brush to rest
Where marigolds defy the cold;
There, vibrant too, are martlets
Of boarded tenzel, stiffly stuck
At random posts along the way.

Rash young frost has the maple child—
For shame—That's Summer's green,
Blushes stain each leaf that waits,
Tremblingly, its fated end.

A royal blaze, death's fever-hue,
Rests like a cloak about the trees
That, in their lone obscurity,
Stand patiently nearby.

From bough to bough the squirrel goes,
Chattering his quarrelsome way,
The wilderness of it all is at my throat,
And shuffling among the leaves,
Knee-deep,
I am a child again.

Over a field of flax, long harvested,
A creeping green of sprouts, new-born,
Thrusts skyward as though into the teeth
Of the Winters approaching wind;
A wind grown bolder since idle June
When it lazily ruffled the hardy corn.
It soon will whistle over the smitten fields
The wail of the passing of Fall.

Hyacinth days of Summer are gone,
The earth now has smiles for sturdy things,
The mists of morning dissolve at noon
Like traces at Hebo of ocean spray.

Student Assistants Entertained At Von Eschen Home.

Prof. and Mrs. Florian Von Eschen entertained the professor's student assistants in the chemistry department and their friends at an informal gathering at the Von Eschen home last Friday evening.

The evening was spent in games and with music. Miss Virginia Merle Crites entertained with readings, Miss Caroline Parker gave a piano solo and Harold Mumford also entertained at the piano. Refreshments were served.

Those present were the Misses Elma White, Virginia Merle Crites, Caroline Parker, Leah Fanning, Betty Rice, Mildred Mills, Mary Erickson, Anna M. McKinley and Bernice Clemens; also the Messrs. Hony Hartley, George Risby, Ronald Haines, Harold Mumford, Hohart Kelley, Roderick Blatchford, Tristram Edmundson, Lauren Bennett and Ambrie Hogley.

Athletic Group Motors Up River on Outing Friday

The members of the Women's Athletic Association entertained their friends Friday evening with a motor boat frolic on the Willamette river. Three boat loads of folk left the boat house in the late afternoon and journeyed three miles up stream to a lovely green island where hiking, exploring and flower picking provided much enjoyment. Though the food was quite tardy, yet it was enjoyed to the fullest extent when it finally arrived. Chaparrones for the affair were Miss Alida B. Curry, Miss Lois Latimer and Mrs. Nadie Strayer Harding.

Participants in the fun were Anna Zimmerman, Jean White, Hazel Newhouse, Frances Lemery, Irene Clark, Ella Pfeiffer, Esther Lisle, Georgia Fairbanks, Phoebe Smith, Mary Martin, Cecile Smith and Irene Breitaupt, and William Mumford, Bruce Spaulding, Caroline Bateson.

Dean and Mrs. Erickson Are Guests in McMinnville

Dean and Mrs. Frank M. Erickson motored to McMinnville recently to attend a reunion of Willamette university alumni at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon F. Sockett (Sadie Pratt). Among those in the group were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gillette (Corlie Blatchford) of Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dinick of Raymond, Wash.

Willamette University Faculty Club Will Meet

Mrs. Roy Keene will entertain the members of the Willamette university faculty women's club on Thursday afternoon, April 21, at her home on LeFelle street. Hostesses with Mrs. Keene will be Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney, Mrs. Morton E. Peck and Mrs. Mrs. Gustav Elsen.

Mosquito Bar Is Setting For Junior Class Picnic

A small but jolly representation of the Junior class chaperoned by Dean and Mrs. Frank Erickson gambled merrily on the green banks of the river Saturday afternoon and evening. Baseball teams were organized and Laurence Schreiber's nine won a fair victory over Maggie Arnold's group. Ice cream, cake, salad, huns, wienies and unhid colored Easter eggs made the evening enjoyable.

Sophomores Picnic at Stayton

Late Saturday afternoon the Sophomores went by bus to Stayton, the scene of their class party. A part of the evening was spent in playing ball and later a series of "moving picture" stunts were enacted. After refreshments they returned to Salem.

This party was the Sophomores' first attempt at compulsory dates and proved very successful. Chaperones for the evening were prof. and Mrs. R. Darwin Burroughs.

Freshmen Enjoy Moonlight Hike Saturday Evening

Cold Springs park was the scene of the Freshman Moonlight Picnic Saturday evening. The early part of the evening was spent in playing ball. After the picnic lunch of hot dogs, baked beans and ice cream sandwiches, a Campfire Comedy amused the spectators. Singing and toasting marshmallows occupied the remainder of the evening.

Professor and Mrs. Roy C. Harding, Professor Florian Von Eschen and Leslie Sparks were guests of the Freshmen.

Easter Program Is Given By Chrestomatheans

Following is the Chresto program given Friday by the society:
Easter Thoughts by Millicent King; Easter Words by Clara Jasper; Piano duet by Doris Phoebe and Helen Mae Rice.

A short business meeting was held at which plans for the picnic were made.

Alumna of Adelante Entertain Present Members

Adelante society held its annual home-coming meeting on Friday afternoon. At this time a number of the "old grads" and honorary members were guests of the society. An unusually delightful program was given by three alumnae. Miss Mary Eyre gave a clever short talk on her memories of spring at Willamette and her impressions of spring as experienced on her recent tour of Europe. Miss Audred Bunch, one of Oregon's well-known poets, read one of her late poems, "A Field of Flax." This long poem made up of a series of sonnets, proved a most enjoyable reading. As a concluding number Mrs. Jean Peary gave as a vocal solo, "Birds Are Singing" by Thomas. This song Mrs. Peary gave when a student on the campus ten years ago.

Easter Is Motif of Recent Phil Program

A very appropriate Easter program consisting of the following numbers was presented at the Philodorian meeting on Friday, April 15: The Easter Story, Lois Morris; vocal solo (Easter music), Mervel Rhine; Easter Traditions, Elaine Chapin; piano solo, Helene Price.

"The Opera" Is Found Interesting by French Club

"The Opera," the second of a series on French arts, was the subject of the French club meeting on April 13. Marjorie Miller introduced the topic, giving a group of the most important men who have written operas. Hazel Burdett told the story of "Faust," Gounod's tragic opera, the libretto of which was written by Goethe. Bizet's "Carmen," also tragic, Spanish in color, was described by Mae Tindall. A vocal solo, "Au Printemps," Gounod by Dorothy Williams, with Dorothy Ryan as accompanist, gave variety to the program. "Romeo and Juliet," another of Gounod's operas, though far inferior to his "Faust," was discussed by Elizabeth Vinson.

Rice Sisters Are Hostesses At Party Friday Night

The Misses Margaret and Helen Mae Rice entertained a group of Willamette girls and boys with a delightful party at their home on South 17th street. Rook was played throughout the evening and refreshments were served. The guests included Clara Jasper, Ella Persey, Mildred DeBord, Dorothy Jackson, the hostesses and Ken Lawson, William Swafford, George Van Natta, Floyd Bailey, Jack Gull, and Thurlo Smith.

Cubs Journey to Santiam Park

Braving the danger of uncertain weather above, and mud beneath, the Cubs held their annual picnic Friday. Arriving at Santiam park the evening was spent in playing ball and eating the succulent hot dog and accompanying bun, dear to the heart of every picnicker. Prof. and Mrs. Gatte were chaperones.

Sunday afternoon a party of six students journeyed to the E. D. M. cabin on the Santiam to view the scenery. "Gloomy Gus" acted as chauffeur? All went well until they neared their journey's end when gradually down, down, the car settled to rest in the black muddy mire. After spending an hour, trying every available means for freedom, "Sambo" went to call for Mr. Johnson's team to aid them. The car was at last on the road again and left in peace while the party hiked to the cabin. Strange to say, all were hungry and admonished "Rexal" to hurry the fire.

At 7:30 they broke camp and started for the car. On this part of the journey at least one member of the party had a "tripping" time while climbing a fence. When the car was reached it needed coaxing and when finally started it was discovered there was no lights. They drove to Lyons in the growing dusk and had the lights fixed, a female member furnishing the "mon." Due to lack of pavement between Lyons and Stayton the lights were again burned out by the rough roads and the car made its way in darkness to Stayton. Every language available in the party from Latin, French, German and Spanish was put in use but to no avail, the lights had to be fixed again. However, everyone had a sense of humor and amid the hail and sleet they sang "In a Little Spanish town, 'twas on a night like this." All the rough roads aren't far from Sulem, however, for when crossing a rough bridge three miles from town the lights went someplace. It was a lot of fun anyway and the question is, did "Gloomy Gus" get home (So-High) without being pinched? Ask "Maggie."

Thursday evening at the regular meeting Alpha Phi sorority elected the following officers for the coming semester:

President, Bernice Clemens; 1st vice president, Mary Clamfield; 2nd vice president, Mary Martin; manager, Ella Pfeiffer; corresponding secretary, Anna Mary McKinley; recording secretary, Claudine Gerth; treasurer, Bernice Newhouse; Innersorority council representative, Georgie Faltbanks.

Miss Bertha Lettner of Portland, a graduate of the university, was the guest of her cousin, Dorothy Fisher at Lausanna hall Saturday and Sunday.

STUDENT OPINION

In a recent issue of the Collegian there was an editorial suggestion that any reason that grads of former days may have had for being ashamed of the alma mater had been removed. Grads and students were exhorted to speak proudly of Old Willamette, and to sound her praises loudly when with grads and students of other colleges and universities.

But perhaps there is yet some justification for the blushes that apparently have overtaken our alma members from time to time. The Collegian notices the running track, and the awful condition it is in. Imagine the track coach at O. A. C. having to spend his time working with a shovel. But this matter was mentioned about two weeks ago and is not what we really intended to write about. The point this week is that we have a museum, that it is a good one—or rather could be—that no one knows about it, and that no attempt is being made by the faculty to arrange the many really interesting specimens.

We repeat, we have an excellent collection of relics, of minerals, of natural history specimens, not only from Oregon, but from several other parts of the world. This heterogeneous pile of dusty curios is stored—a la junk store—in a long room on the second floor of the gymnasium. No one ever sees it—Dean Clark himself rarely goes there, and he has one of the two keys to the place.

Now the question is why not have the museum arranged so that others besides Dean Clark may see the specimens up there?
When visitor sare on the campus there is nothing to show them. They walk right through Eaton Hall and Waller Hall; maybe they look over Science. But if one could take guests over to the gymnasium, and after solving them the floor, take them through the museum they would get a much better impression of the school.

Of course it would require quite a lot of time to properly arrange the various specimens—they would have to be sorted out, labelled, and displayed. Surely the students would be glad to aid in such work. For instance, suppose Professor Von Eschen had the job of classifying the minerals and quartz specimens, and there are lots of them. Wouldn't it be beneficial for a student in chemistry, let us say, or geology, to assist him?

Or if Professor Gatte were asked to arrange the historical relics, surely some of his students would be glad to assist him.

We believe that this matter should be attended to immediately, and respectfully urge the proper authorities to take action on the matter without further loss of time.

GLASS TRACK EVENTS TO COME OFF FRIDAY

Friday afternoon at four o'clock the annual inter-class track and field meet will be run off on Sweetland field.

All track letter men will be ineligible to garner points for their classes although they will be allowed to enter the distance events if there are not too many running.

Track events will take place at the same time as the field. If an athlete desires to enter both, he may do so if there is no conflict.

At present the Juniors are leading in inter-class rivalry and should they win the meet, they will undoubtedly become inter-class champions.

The Bearcat baseball squad has no games scheduled for this week-end date. Coach Keene is troubled with ineligibility on the part of four of his most promising men.

The first string is now composed of Ellis and Ledbetter, pitchers; Kaufman, catcher; Welch, first base; Ashby, second; McMullin, shortstop; Girod, third; and Deets, Hawk, and Roundtree, outfield.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Two new books have been received as gifts to Willamette university from B. J. Hoadley, who has given a number of volumes to the library. These most recent gifts are: "The Ordeal of Civilization," a profusely illustrated sketch of the development and world wide diffusion of our present day institutions and ideas.

POPULARITY INCREASES

Oberlin, Ohio—(L. P.)—As indicated by reports from college editors throughout the country and Canada, debating has been more popular this year than at any time in the present century.

THE COLLEGE STUDENT—WHICH?

When one considers the type of publicity given to the present day college student, it is small wonder that many parents are adverse to footing the bill that son or daughter runs up in the course of a college career.

As an example consider the average of the pictures on college life which are shown at the local cinema, consisting mainly of strife either over a girl, or, on the football field, general mischief and other forms of hot air.

The theaters do not show the normal every day college chap, the one who makes his 'C' average, is out for some activity and probably never has a fight, except with a tough course, during his whole college career.

It is the apparent demand of these sensation loving people which has caused the present status of the 'collegiate' youth, muscular, handsome and very little between the ears.

LAUSANNE HALL NOTES

That Co-ed Carnival is an event of some interest was evinced by the number of guests on the campus.

Mrs. Hugh Brown spent Wednesday and Thursday with her daughter, Margaret.

Margaret Brown and Elizabeth Vinson entertained at a dinner party Sunday, their week-end guests, Jessie McNeven, Lois Weber, Eleanor Lent, Dorothy Boardman and Irene Ritchey and Ethel Hardie.

Wanda and Leone Elliot had as their dinner guests at a specially decorated table: LaVerne Bratcher, Emilly Brown, Florence Miller, Georgia Fairbanks, Gladys Barclay, and Elizabeth Atkinson.

The flanking seniors who returned to Lausanne Hall late in the day of Wednesday were graciously received by a white-robed throng composed of the members of the class dearest to the hearts of seniors and escorted through three rooms which showed the marks of a labor of love.

Chapel Hill, N. C. (By N. S. S.)—Mr. H. L. Mencken whom someone aptly called the connoisseur of human ignorance would enjoy the log book kept by the English department at the University of North Carolina.

Here it is recorded by one freshman that David Copperfield's novels are infinitely superior to anything Dickens ever wrote.

Gems are culled from compositions. A freshman describing a singer said, "She had a charming voice of melodious noise."

Lincoln's mind, another essayist reminds us, "grew as his country kneaded it."

"I pulled through a disease," another recalls, "which was a victim of my sister." She was a microbe hunter, we presume.

Esther King spent the week-end at her home in Metzger.
