

Freshmen Rate Orientation Week Effective

Freshmen evinced a satisfaction with Orientation Week and seemed willing to talk with their faculty advisors about school and personal problems.

THIS WAS a brief summary of the results of a poll seeking freshman opinion on the first-week introduction activities. It was made for The Collegian by Dr. Charles Derthick, chairman of the student-faculty counseling committee which conducted the survey.

The poll was conducted with the improving of the orientation activities in mind. Many students have given indication that the event does not fulfill its purpose because freshmen fail to get adequate counseling from faculty members.

The opposite appears to be true, pointed out Dr. Derthick, who expressed pleasure at the seeming satisfaction new students had with the faculty counseling.

THREE QUESTIONS asked the polled student if his advisor was a help in making out schedule, if the advisor was able to answer all questions satisfactorily and if the faculty counselor seemed interested in the student's particular problem. The three questions were answered 4 to 1 in favor of the advisor.

But more significant, observed Dr. Derthick, was the question which inquired, "Do you feel that you could talk with your advisor about problems other than of a scheduling nature?" Of the respondents to this question, 151 answered in the affirmative and 112 in the negative. Dr. Derthick was pleased with this response.

On the other hand, he indicated need of improvement in one question which dealt with the administration of Orientation Week. The question: "Were you told that you should obtain your six weeks grades from your advisor? (you should)?" The answer found only 98 responding in the affirmative and 170 in the negative.

A LIST of the usefulness of the various orientation sessions was requested. Individual programming with advisors was at the top of the list. Next were the general assembly and the orientation assembly. Last on the list of eight events was the library orientation.

Dr. Derthick observed that the poll pointed to an over-emphasis on rushing during the first week. New students were asked what to them seemed to be the most important purpose of the week. "Getting acquainted" was listed at the top with 146 and "academic orientation" listed next with 45. Rushing was fourth.

However, named at the top of the "what seemed to take the largest proportion of your time" list was rushing with 116. "Meeting people" was seventh with 6 votes.

NEW STUDENTS listed the problems they thought most students would like to discuss with an advisor or a faculty counselor. At the top of the list was major and vocational counseling with 83. Next were study habits at 60 and grades at 37. Dr. Derthick indicated he felt that the response to this question that the demand of students went beyond the "show them what we have" theory of counseling.

The poll was conducted in freshmen English classes by students concerned with the counselling problem.

Cats Challenged Again Tonight By CPS Squad

Determined to keep alive their good home record, the Bearcats tonight at 8 o'clock will take on the "always good" CPS Loggers for a second game. Jerry Frei's freshmen Bearkittens will kick off the evening of basketball at 6:10.

In the first six games, Bearcat point-producers have racked up 433 points against their opponents' 384. The 'Cats are presently setting a shooting pace of .350.

IN THE FREE throw department, John Lewis' boys are really torrid with 117 completed in 175 attempts for a percentage of .670.

Leading Willamette scoring is 6-4 junior Pete Reed with 70 total points although he only socked in two against OCE Tuesday night. Near the top of the pile is captain Dick Hoy with 67, 6-7 center Neil Causbie with 63, and Dave Gray with 60. Tom Gooding and Jack Bishop have 43 each.

Elliott Resigns Econ. Position For Job With State of Oregon

Prof. James Elliott is resigning his position as assistant professor of business administration and economics effective at the end of this semester.

Sickness, Accidents Take Toll of Students

A strange malady threw numerous members of Baxter hall and the four fraternities into the infirmary last weekend.

Many of the boys were turned away from the infirmary as it became filled to overflowing. Beta Theta Pi headed the list in number of victims with 12; Phi Delta followed with 10; Baxter hall, 9; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 4, and Sigma Chi, 3.

The possibility of food poisoning caused Dr. Purvine to request the County Health department to make an investigation of the men's food.

A 24-hour flu bug has also been attacking people, especially the sororities, according to Mrs. Altoff, University nurse. Alpha Chi Omega was especially hard hit with seven girls in the infirmary last week.

'Fiction' of Student Government Target of Treasurer Seagraves

"The report of the delegates from OFCL confirms my conviction that student government in many ways is a fiction. I feel that this system can and must be changed," observed Chuck Seagraves, newly elected student body treasurer, this week.

The first step said Seagraves,

CHUCK SEAGRAVES
Seeks Constitutional Change

"is evaluation and thoughtful analysis of our objectives." From here, he pointed out, "we must proceed on an action program, the success of which will determine the usefulness of our student government."

Seagraves campaigned with an "action" platform, advocating elimination of rigidly set constitutional allotments to student body supported activities. Under his plan the finance board would have the power to allot money to the activities according to their needs and would thus have more control over their programs.

Active in school and student body affairs, Seagraves is at present head of the committee to categorize and organize student council minutes. He has acted as business manager for Varsity Varieties and was junior class president.

Seagraves won the treasury position over senior Jerry Rolph in elections held last Thursday and Friday.

T'n T at Ten

Mrs. Clorinda Topping, vocal instructor on the faculty of the College of Music, will be featured in a vocal recital during convocation Tuesday after vacation.

No Thursday chapel speaker has been chosen but the service will be held at the First Methodist church as usual.

Dutiful Student Representation Sought by President Menashe

By CHUCK RUUD
Collegian Editor

A move to make student representatives to committees and the student council more responsible was launched Wednesday by President Menashe.

THE EMPHASIS on responsibility is designed to serve a two-fold purpose: first, better inform living groups of campus events and second, facilitate communications between faculty and students.

Menashe called on representatives to attend meetings equipped with pencil and paper to jot down ideas and decisions. Student representatives to faculty committees will thus be responsible for communication to and from student council; living organization representatives will be charged with communication to and from living groups.

Vacation Time Arrives; Classes Halt for 2 Weeks

It won't be a race to see who can get off the campus the fastest, the profs or the students, but both will be officially free at 4 o'clock this afternoon to spend two blissful weeks soaking up holiday rather than homework.

CLASSES WILL resume at 8 a.m. Jan. 3, dormitories reopening on Sunday, Jan. 2, at 3 p.m. Living units will not close until 10 a.m. tomorrow in order to accommodate students who must remain on campus overnight to meet transportation schedules.

Homecoming Party Set for Portlanders Dec. 27 During Recess

A homecoming get-together for Portland students — especially those living in the Northeast area — will be held on Monday, December 27, at the Rose City Park Methodist church.

An invitation to the affair has been extended to parents of Willamette students as well as to prospective students and their parents. The program-reception event will get underway at 7:45 p.m., according to Mrs. Betty Jean Joseph of the admissions office who is handling campus arrangements.

A program of some of the best student talent will be featured and Dr. Howard Runkel will represent the faculty with a 15 minute talk on the University. Coach Ted Ogdahl will also be on hand.

Refreshments will be served at the church located at NE 58th and Alameda in Portland.

Soon after students and profs flee, maintenance and repair men will take advantage of empty halls and classrooms to touch up areas where paint has worn thin and attack scuffed floors with polish and buffing. No major repairs are to be made but workers will give the buildings and campus the usual mid-year housekeeping treatment.

THE LIBRARY will remain open on a revised schedule during the holidays to provide facilities for refugees from home holiday preparations and a haven for industrious term-paper writers. The library will be open tomorrow from 8 a.m. till noon. It will be open during vacation from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. (closed during noon hour). It will be closed entirely from Dec. 22 through Dec. 26. On Dec. 31 it will be open from 8 a.m. to noon.

All books taken out before the vacation period are due Jan. 5.

Students and profs will scatter far and wide for the recess but most will be hard-pressed to match the destination of junior Ardyss Bomke who will hang her Christmas stocking in Haina, Hawaii.

Dean, Prof to Attend Law Meeting in East

Dean Seward Reese and Prof. Reginald Parker of the College of Law will attend a meeting of the Association of American Law schools during the Christmas vacation.

The meetings will be held at the Biltmore hotel in New York City.

Parker, who is chairman of the committee on Jurisprudence, will be in charge of the program on December 29. It will be entitled "What, to Whom, and How to Teach Jurisprudence."

Professors from six other law schools will also take part in the discussion lead by Prof. Parker.

Don't Be Half Safe!

Safety, caution, courtesy and a good time should be words that keynote the holidays, and in that order. Traveling home after classes adjourn this afternoon can be the start of a pleasant vacation if common sense is used, road rules obeyed and courtesy practiced.

We hope Willamette students will use the brains they have been toiling so hard to develop through the year and keep themselves off traffic accident lists. And the same goes for faculty and administration.

The Collegian staff joins in bidding all season's happiness through safety and sanity.

History Group to Hear Journalism Brings Romance Paper by Dr. Kaiser

Dr. Chester Kaiser, professor of history, will leave for Los Angeles this afternoon where he will read a paper before the Pacific branch of the American Historical Association December 29.

Dr. Kaiser's paper, to be read in a 20-minute period, treats John Watson Foster and the Economic Development of Mexico, 1873-80. This subject is closely allied to the professor's doctor of philosophy thesis.

Recently Dr. Kaiser was re-elected chairman of the research committee of the Marion County Historical Society.

There Once Was a Museum

By PEGGY COPE
Collegian Reporter

Sometime in the middle of the 1930's, Mrs. J. K. Gill presented to the Willamette museum the silk dress and velvet wrap of her mother, Chloe Wilson. Included in the gift was a small spinning wheel for the museum and her diary for the Northwest Book collection.

After growing for several years, the museum ceased to function. Knowledge of this defunct institution decreased until in 1954 no one has ever heard of the museum, let alone Chloe Wilson's silk dress.

Miss Lois Latimer, professor of home economics, directed attention to the dress and suggested that its history might profitably be followed up. Tracing the reason for Willamette's possession of the dress led to the discovery that there had at one time been a Willamette museum.

PROFESSOR Herman Clark, a student and instructor at Willamette for many years, was turned to for help. He volunteered the information that the museum had always been in existence as long as he could remember.

When the museum was first started, it was a small concern. It grew gradually until at one time it occupied the basement of Waller hall where the 'Cat Cavern' is now located. During the Oregon Centennial, some of the exhibits from the museum, among them Chloe Wilson's silk dress, were displayed.

For years the dress, black velvet wrap and spinning wheel were kept in a fireproof vault. Finally Prof. Clark suggested to Miss Latimer that the home economics department take possession of the garments.

THE DRESS is of brown silk brocade. Although it was made some 70 or 80 years ago, it shows no sign of wear. It is in perfect condition, needing only an ironing before it would be fit to step into again. Besides the dress is a black velvet cape, beaded, fringed and embroidered. It too is in remarkably good condition.

"Stop the presses!" might be an appropriate command in the announcing of the engagements of Margie Leonard and Fran Miller, Collegian copy editor and assistant respectively.

A BOX of candy trimmed with wedding bells and the reading of a poem revealed the engagement of Fran Miller and Bob Batchelder to members of the Chi Omega house.

Miss Miller, a junior English literature major, serves as treasurer for her sorority. She is also active in her positions as vice president of Young Republicans and the YWCA. She was a member of Beta Alpha Gamma and Alpha Lambda Delta.

Mr. Batchelder, a freshman law student, is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta. He served as state chairman of the Young Republican College League, and is a member of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honorary.

A June wedding is planned in Salem.

MINIATURE newspapers announcing that "Two Eds Are Better Than One," told the engagement of Margie Leonard and Chuck Ruud Tuesday evening jointly at the Alpha Chi Omega house, Lausanne hall and the Collegian office.

Miss Leonard graduated last year in journalism-social science, and is at present doing graduate work in education. A past editor of the Collegian, she is serving as assistant house-mother for Lausanne hall this year.

Ruud, a senior member of Beta Theta Pi, is also a journalism-social science major. He is a member of Cardinal Key and is editor of the Collegian.

A late summer wedding is planned.

Women Win in Door Contest

The third annual Lausanne door-decorating contest was judged last Saturday with Mariam Matthews and Jean Martin winning the religious sweepstakes for a shaded blue angel with gold wings. Marie DeFreese, Claudia Sherrell and Susie Platt took honors in novelty sweepstakes process a Christmas package goes through to get under a tree.

First floor winners were Linda Long, Ann Dobson and Pat Hastings for the comedy, and Myrtle Groenvold, Arlene Bell and Janice Stafford for the serious. Second floor ribbons were won by Nancy Newton and Sarah Horton for comedy, and Arla Roberts, Diane Wickstrom and Anne Cummins for the religious.

Ann Meeker and Virginia Walters won comedy for third floor while Shirley Reigel, Donnamae Robertson, and Geneva Russell took honors in religious.

Social Slate to Be 'Dead' 2 Weeks Preceding Finals

Social dead period this year will be only two weeks beginning Monday, January 17, instead of the entire month of January, announced Chuck Carter, student body social vice president.

Carter commented that the student body was going back to the two weeks period in which no activities will be scheduled after last year's experimental full month dead period. The social dead time is designed to allow a two week period free of activity not to conflict with semester finals.

By vote of seven to three living group representatives moved to recommend that a fireside similar to the Unesco clothing drive be held again next year.

The group voted down a proposal to issue manila divided social calendars for next semester by the same margin, seven to three.

In other action at student activity board the Lettermen's club, Varsity ball, was scheduled for one week after spring vacation, April 16. The Oregon Methodist Student Movement retreat to Camp McGruder was scheduled April 15, 16, and 17.

Speech Honors Won By Rutledge, Johnson In Extemp Contest

Marian Rutledge and H. Paul Johnson distinguished themselves in the Intercollegiate Forensic Association of Oregon Extemporaneous Speaking Contest at Northwest Christian college in Eugene last week.

Miss Rutledge, a junior majoring in speech, won second place cash prize in the women's division. She spoke on the topic "Did Senator McCarthy influence the 1954 elections?"

Johnson, a senior speech major, won third place honorable mention in the men's division. He spoke on "What influence will the 1954 election have on Pacific Northwest power development policies?"

Eight colleges and universities had representatives speaking in the two contests. The participants selected their topics an hour before speaking. They spoke before a large audience of students from the University of Oregon and Northwest Christian college.

University Receives Gift From Company

Willamette was one of 137 educational institutions across the nation to receive a money gift from Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, it was announced this week by President Smith.

A telegram Tuesday notified Dr. Smith of a $2,000 gift presented by the chairman of the corporation's board of directors. Standard Oil placed no restrictions on the gift other than to specify that it was to be used for "undergraduate education."

Dr. Smith said plans for the use of the money have not yet been made. The corporation presented gifts ranging from $2,000 to $5,000 to other institutions including Harvard, Columbia and Notre Dame.

Bleile Departs Treasurer's Office, Contends Students Should Keep an Eye on Expenditures

By GEORGE BLEILE
Retiring SB Treasurer

In my first and last contribution to the round table I would like to comment on student interest in the financial affairs of our student government.

In the first place most of us do not have the personal realization that we pay money to the student body. We think it is just another piece of tuition. While our present collection system does not bring our contribution to the ASWU into sharp personal focus, the system has many more benefits than disadvantages. We might be more interested in what happened to our money if we paid it out separately.

POSSIBLY YOUR student body officers and finance board have failed by not making information about expenditures more easily accessible to all. However, all purchases involving new programs or policy are discussed by one of the various representative groups—either social activities board, student council or finance board. Each of these boards hold meetings open to all students.

It appears that the allocation of your $10 student body fee to the various student body supported activities will have to be adjusted due to shifting needs. Funds for publications, drama, forensics, social activities, convocation and reserves for student union and capital outlay will have to be reviewed and probably changed.

THE NEW treasurer, Chuck Seagraves, has a plan for accomplishing this end. It will take a favorable vote of the student body at an election where more than half of the ASWU members vote to pass a constitutional amendment to reallocate the funds. This election will be a good place for us to show in a concrete way our interest in student finance.

COSTS OF nearly all services the student body provides have gone up. It is more important than ever that interested students keep an eye on what is proposed and what is done. There is little room for a bad program or expenditure on a limited budget.

Your representatives who have responsibility for spending do the best they know. But more minds, and more interest working on the same problems is bound to assure better decisions.

IT IS not hard for an officer, or other student who is working on a student body project, to feel that no one cares what he does. More interest would make your representatives do a better job, and make it easier for them to do it.

A considerable amount of money is administered each year by your student representatives. It was all collected from you; and it is all spent to provide services for you. It is only logical that you should show an active interest in it.

'Philosophy in Film' To Be Introduced

Coming soon—"Philosophy in Film"! Introducing a new feature on the Willamette campus, a series of movies has been arranged by the philosophy department to illustrate basic questions concerning philosophy. Inaugurated primarily as a class requirement for the Philosophy 101, this program is to be presented to the entire student body.

A sneak preview reveals such movies as "The Razor's Edge," "The Ox Bow Incident," "A Streetcar Named Desire," "12 O'Clock High" and "Of Mice and Men" as the temporary billing. The first of these films will probably be shown shortly after Christmas vacation.

Essentially a non-profit project, "Philosophy in Film" will return any profits (probable admission being twenty five cents) by the showing of a free film at the end of the second semester. Responsible for working out the details and publicity of the program is the philosophy class under the direction of Dr. Thomas Bennett.

Dean Ewalt to Attend Portland Conference

Dean of Women Regina Ewalt will attend a meeting of the Northwest Council of Guidance and Personnel association in Portland today.

The association is a professional group made up of personnel deans from both high schools and colleges in Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho.

Mrs. Ewalt is secretary of the association, having been elected at an earlier meeting in October.

Bearcats Host CPS Tonight; Aztecs Follow

Bearcat hoopsters prepared themselves for a second game tonight with the tough and aggressive College of Puget Sound Loggers in an 8 o'clock venture in the WU gym.

Tonight's Bearcat-Logger

Last night's WU-CPS statistics were not available at Collegian press time.

mix marks the next to final mix for the Jansons before Christmas recess. The last court game for the John Lewis squad will be on Dec. 21 at the Bearcat gym against the highly rated San Diego State Aztecs. The first go of the new year will be on January 7 when the Cats meet Linfield in Salem for the first conference tilt of the season.

For the Loggers of Washington way, Coach Paul Heinrich brings a veteran filled squad of 12 lettermen, including two 3-year letter winners, Russ Wilkerson and Bill Medin.

WILKERSON, a second team All-Conference hooper in the Evergreen conference last year, is the floor general for Mentor Heinrich, a good ball handler and top defensive man. Medin totaled 269 points for a 11.2 season average last year. He is a fast-moving forward and stands 6-2.

The center post is in the capable hands of sophomore Bob Bafus, 6-2 rebounding specialist. Fast moving guard Bob Ellison, 6-2, and forward John Barnett, 6-3, give the Loggers a fast, ball hawking squad.

FOR THE Bearcats, Mentor Lewis will most likely stay with the five starters who started against OCE and the CPS crew last night.

In the center position will be rebounding artist and hook specialist Neil Causbie at 6-7, flanked by 6-3 Peet Reed, the Cats leading scorer, and 6-4 Tom Gooding, another rebounding ace for the Bearcats.

DIRECTING the floor management will be captain Dick Hoy, the 6-1 Newberg nobleman at guard and his running partner Dave Gray from West Linn.

WU Hoop Squad Drops Pair to Chico State Cats

By WES McMULLEN
Collegian Sports Writer

Willamette got its first taste of defeat as they invaded the lair of the Chico State Wildcats last Friday and Saturday night. The Chico Staters copied both games of the twin series from the Cats, posting scores of 77-65 and 89-77.

FRIDAY NIGHT saw the Bearcats led by big Neil Causbie and Dave Gray holding a 44 to 36 margin at halftime. The Cats came out on the floor in the second half and held their advantage until 10 minutes had elapsed. At this juncture point-conscious George Maderos and his mates turned on a drive and forged ahead 54 to 53, hitting on 14 straight points. Chico held the Jansons scoreless during this period as Maderos collected 10 of the 14 points.

Willamette wasn't to be denied, however, as the lead changed hands 7 times before the Wildcats could take command for good. With the score standing a close 73-72, Ken Piercy took over where Maderos left off and gave the Staters their 12 point lead at games end.

Chico corralled all the scoring honors. Maderos was high with 27 and Piercy followed with 22. Willamette's Dave Gray, improving with each game, was high for Willamette with 18 on nine field goals. Pete Reed trailed Gray with 15 and Causbie was next with 14.

THE FRIDAY loss didn't seem to effect the Jansons much as they battled the Staters right down to the wire in the first stanza of Saturday's tilt. Chico held a slim three-point lead at halftime but the game turned into a carbon copy of Friday's tussle. Led again by Maderos, Chico began to pull away as the second period opened. The Wildcats went on another of their fabulous point manufacturing sprees as they hit 14 straight while holding the Bearcats to a lone tally from the foul stripe.

Sigs, Law, Betas Win Mural Games

Sigs, Baxter and Betas topped their opponents in Saturday intramural basketball. The C League play was the only action slated this week.

The Sigs topped the Law School 46-33 after leading by a 33-14 halftime count. The Butler brothers teamed up to lead the Sigs, Ron hitting for 17 points and Rich for 11. Alan Hallowell was high man for the Lawyers with 16.

The second game saw the Baxter courtmen completely outclass the SAE's by a lopsided 58-9 score. Half-time score was 33-3. Pete Harvey was top point getter for the Baxters.

In the last game, the Betas out ran the Phi Deltis by a 47-30 score. They held a 21-17 halftime lead. The Betas Dave Finly won high point honors with 15 markers followed by Jerry Patterson with 12. Leading scorers for the Phi Deltis were Don Lieuallan with 8, and Doug Card and Bob Goddard tying at 7 points apiece.

Willamette Bearcats Top OCE Wolves 56-52

By BOB JOHNSTON
Collegian Sports Editor

The Willamette Bearcats, in a nip and tuck battle all the way, managed to edge the Oregon College of Education Wolves Tuesday night by a 56-52 count, but not before a wild last minute whistle chase.

John Lewis' Cats had to come from behind twice in order to salvage the tilt. After leading at half time, the Wolves put on an offensive blast that had them ahead 40-32 with just four minutes gone in the second half.

WITH THE services of captain Dick Hoy, Daryl Girod, and Jerry McCallister, plus good ball handling in the late minutes the Cats managed to keep the count in their favor.

With six minutes to play the Wolves tied the count 50-50 with two gift shots by captain Larry Chamberlain. Willamette's Pete Reed pushed the Cats back in the lead with a one-hander, 52-50, followed by a Chamberlain free throw to make it 52-51.

At the three minute mark, Hoy made two gift shots good to put the Bearcats out front 54-51 and the game ending score came with 20 seconds left as guard Daryl Girod, making his first appearance for the Bearcats in three years, made good on two counts at the gift line to make the score 56-52.

The Wolves had one chance to tie the score as center Bob Janes missed two charity shots with 30 seconds left to play.
