

STUDENTS SAY "ENTER CONFERENCE"

COLLEGE Y. M. C. A. DELEGATES MEET HERE NEXT WEEK

All Colleges of State to Have Representatives on Campus During Convention.

PROMINENT ASSOCIATION WORKERS TO GIVE TALKS

Convention Starts at 2:30 Friday, December 6th—Resident Students Urged to Aid Varsity Association in Entertaining Delegates.

The state convention of the college Y. M. C. A. of Oregon will be held in Salem Friday and Saturday, December 5th and 6th under the auspices of the Varsity Y. M. C. A.

Leaders Coming.

Delegates will be present from all the colleges of the state and leading workers of the Northwest are included on the program for the convention.

The varsity association is now very busy making arrangements to provide entertainment for the delegates during the night that they will be in the city. The entertainment that will be provided includes a place to sleep on Friday night and breakfast and lunch on Saturday.

Committee Busy.

The committee having this matter in charge will solicit all the resident students and friends of the university at an early date and members of the student body are urged to use their influence with their friends in the city to help this committee provide for the delegates.

The following colleges have signified their intention of sending delegates: Albany College, Pacific College, University of Oregon, Dallas College, Pacific University, McMinnville College, Philomath College, Chemawa Training School, Oregon Agricultural College, Eugene Bible University.

The Convention Program.

Friday Afternoon, 2:30—Ivan B. B. Rhodes, presiding.

Address—"Guiding Principles in the Choice of a Life Work," President P. L. Campbell.

Discussion—Is there special value in considering several callings before deciding definitely?

How are we to secure more general and more efficient vocational guidance in our educational system?

Address—"The Changing Church and Her Unchanging Message," Dr. John H. Boyd.

Discussion—What forces have influenced the Church most in the changes made?

How is the Church to reach more effectively the great mass of day laborers?

Friday Evening, 7:30—Pres. E. C. Sanderson, presiding.

Address—"Some Religious Aspects of the Pacific Coast Immigration Problem," John A. Goodell.

Discussion—What will be, probably, the prevailing religious beliefs of our immigrants?

Will our present Church machinery and methods suffice to reach them?

Address—"The Summons of the Greatest Unfinished Task," Dr. A. W. Rider.

Discussion—What were the outstanding results of the special Continuation Committee Conferences last year on the Mission fields?

VITAL QUESTION SETTLED THIS MORNING AT SPECIAL MEETING.

(By leased wire—courtesy Salem Statesman.)

University Chapel, Nov. 26, 10:19 a. m.—By an overwhelming majority the Willamette students voted to enter the conference at a special meeting called this morning immediately following the chapel service.

Action Rapid.

There was no lengthy rag chewing or parleying over details. Everyone was anxious to get the matter out of the way and in less time that it has generally taken to fill some petty student body office, Willamette had voted to join the conference.

The campaign has been conducted by the "W" club and was championed by Paul Homan, president of the club. He put the proposition squarely before the students and, without any hitch of any noticeable significance, the matter was decided.

Delegates Chosen.

Following the announcement of the result, Student Body President Errol Gilkey announced that the executive committee had decided that

Dr. Sweetland from the faculty and Paul Homan from the student body should represent Willamette at the meeting of conference managers, which will be held in Portland next week, and make formal application for Willamette to be admitted to the conference.

Spirit Fine.

Never was school spirit more in evidence. Everyone seemed to feel one of the greatest actions ever contemplated by the student body had taken place. Some seemed to have maintained fears that right at the last minute something would happen to interfere with what seemed perfectly smooth sailing for the passage of the motion but no obstacle of any consequence was placed in the way and almost before they realized it the feat was accomplished.

The students will now anxiously await the meeting of the conference managers and the resultant football schedule for next season, should Willamette be received in the conference, as everything seems to indicate she will.

HOMAN OUT OF GAME BECAUSE OF INJURIES

Willamette Team Lack Pep of Early Season—Over Confidence Follows Their Victory Over University of Oregon.

At last a game has been arranged for Thanksgiving day. Ever since school opened this fall the football manager has been busy trying to find a suitable team to play on "turkey day." Now he announces that the Oregon Law School team will invade the campus on that date.

Tough Job.

For various reasons, the chief one being that we are not in the conference, Manager Paget has experienced great difficulty in making the arrangements for the game Thursday that he had in mind at the first of the season.

The Oregon Law School team has several old stars and will probably pick up enough ringers to give our team the closest call they have had this season. They are coached by "Nig" Borkleske who is also tutor for Lincoln High champions of the Portland interscholastic league.

Believing that Willamette accidentally slipped one over on their fellow students from the Oregon Liberal Arts College in Eugene, they are coming here to reap revenge and do not intend to start with their second team lineup or save any of their stars for coming contests.

Slump Prevalent.

On the other hand our boys have taken the first slump that has invaded the camp for the past five years. Disquieted because they have not been allowed to take a trip during the entire season and feeling over-confident after the sensational defeat of Oregon, and the newspaper praise the different players have been receiving the team is not displaying the "pep" that was in evidence when they defeated Oregon and the Alumni.

One large reason for this slump in the spirits of the team is the fact that Paul Homan, the star of the team and the man whose keen judgment at quarter has had everything to do with the showing the team has made this season, will not be in the game.

Students Pickers.

Coupled with this the report has gone forth that a large portion of the students will leave for home Wednesday afternoon and will leave the team devoid of the support that they should receive from the student body.

Knowing all these things the men on the team are not much concerned about the outcome of the contest and unless some martyr puts forth a Hurricane effort and brings the "Old Willamette Spirit" back into vogue our boys will be defeated on Thursday.

When they get into successful operation the end men will have no mercy on the middle men.

Side burns are profitable, say the Juniors. Rebate of five cents on every shave.

COFFEE CLUB IS HEAVILY BACKED

Varsity Students Needed in Public Enterprise Being Considered.

Salem is going to have a coffee house—such was the general sentiment expressed by the representatives of the project who met Sunday afternoon at the city Y. M. C. A. to consider the enterprise. Mr. E. S. Hammond, temporary chairman of a committee appointed to confer with other philanthropic orders and arrange for special range for special meetings to discuss this live issue, presided at the meeting.

Speaker Comes.

The speaker, from Eugene, who addressed the Six o'clock club last week, clearly showed that Salem was ready for such an institution, and that it would be profitable not only to the city as a whole but to the classes which would naturally frequent such places. "For," said the speaker, "if the saloons go, we must needs have a substitute. Do not expect some one not in harmony with prohibition to start such an institution. It is the business of those who have the interests of the city before them to look into this matter and do something at once. Be consistent and broad minded in your investigation and I have no doubt that you will clearly see the need that your city has of a properly managed coffee club." After showing how the coffee houses had been successful in various other localities, the speaker emphasized the fact that the step, if taken, would mark Salem as one of the most progressive cities of the west.

Students Obligated.

It is all well and good for the Salem residents to agitate this question but it affects the students as well. When a live issue comes before the citizens of the town of which you are a part, even though for a short time, it is only fair that you

DARING ACT IS NIPPED IN BUD

Sensational Flight of Varsity Trio Excites Great Curiosity.

(By the Devil).

Last evening about dusk many were startled to see Glenn McCadam carrying one suitcase and a full head of steam, tearing down the street accompanied by two co-eds, one of whom has entered the matrimonial realm.

The most excited Amazon gasped out as she flew past, "We must make that train."

The cub who caught these words scented something interesting. An elopement? Who could tell? He followed, easily keeping himself hidden in the crowd which pursued the frantic pair. One block from the depot the jovial procession was suddenly halted by the fainting of one of the principals. The beautiful leading lady had slipped on a banana peeling, collapsed on a portion of "Foghorn's" shoulder, and fainted on the sight of the departing train—performing the three acts simultaneously.

Cub gets Busy.

Now was the cub's opportunity. While the crowd stood breathless and helpless, the versatile ink dauber came forward, and, between the blasts of the Foghorn, whispered such words to the prostrate damsel as would make any heart beat stronger. Thus he revived her and soon her tears were dried, for he had perfectly convinced her that the contemplated step was a rash one and that the banana peel, "Roar!" shoulder, and the departed train were all manifestations of the hand of providence.

Happy in her escape the young lady was conducted back to her home by the heroic young cub and all the way she whispered on his shoulder, "Oh! how happy I am to still be free. How grateful I am to you and—pardon me, what is your name?"

MATTHEWS GOES TO KANSAS CITY

Other Delegates Are Chosen by Special Committee.

Willamette's delegates to the Quadrennial convention of the Student Volunteer movement will be Prof. Matthews, Miss Ruth Young '15, Eric P. Bolt '15, and Miss Inez Goltra '16, according to the choice made by the selecting committee, at a meeting last Friday. The committee, consisting of President Homan, Mrs. Lola Bellinger, George Vandervert, and Frank Francis, considered a number of names and final selection was made only after serious deliberation.

Delegates Popular.

It speaks well for their work that the choices made meet with approval throughout the student body and faculty. The three student representatives are not only active in religious work but are among the most prominent in all student body activities. No choice from the faculty could have been so popular as Prof. Matthews, revered by five college generations of students. These delegates will assume the task of bringing back to Willamette as much as they can of the ideas and spirit of the convention.

Seaman Writes.

A note from Gale Seaman, Pacific Coast Y. M. C. A. secretary says that Oregon and O. A. C. are each planning to send five delegates. McMinnville will send one. Willamette is the only one of the denominational colleges of the state who will send a full quota.

Simolians Many.

The money-raising is still being pushed by the convention committee, the fund at present amounting to approximately $200. If possible this will be raised to $250 in order that the delegates may have to provide as

IT HAPPENED.

We have entered the conference. At last Willamette will have an opportunity to develop her athletic material. No longer will we have to meet second and third rate teams in contests that were monotonous, both to the players and the spectators.

Perhaps we will not reach the top notch for a few seasons. We do not expect to. But we will give the other teams some of the toughest opposition they have ever had.

Our team next year should be stronger than the present aggregation. With a good majority of the old men back and a fair showing of new material to work with, Dr. Sweetland, or his successor, will turn out a fighting squad that will splash the mud on someone.

The obligations we assume are plentiful, but the benefits far outshine these self imposed duties. It was necessary to enter the conference to prevent our athletics from slowly decaying. When the call to act was sounded, Old Willamette showed herself ready to respond.

We have now standardized our athletics. We will meet some teams in games that will be worth while. Students, let that red blood preambulate through your veins at a lightning rate, tear your hair and sleep in the wood box—we have all done something to be proud of. This day will forever be dear to our hearts for we have really given Willamette a mighty boost.

OUR HUMBLE THANKS.

Tomorrow we give thanks unto God for the manifold blessings which have been ours during the past year.

It has been a pleasant twelve months, and in most cases profitable. We are thankful for the golden opportunities given us; for our school; our teachers and the many friends we have made while here. Although the way has seemed hard at times and the returns small, still as we look back over the departed hours we can discern the multitudinous blessings that have been accorded us. For them all we are thankful.

Of all the days of the year on which to be joyful tomorrow is the one. Let your heart be merry. Let those happy thoughts that have been striving to force their way to the surface all year, break forth in all their splendor. Be joyous!

Don't think that everything is going to the demnation bow-wows just because we have a Democratic president and a bothersome tariff. Forget those trivial troubles and let the prevailing spirit of good fellowship drive away those worries. Put away all thoughts of work and get around that juicy turkey—devour that cranberry sauce and those home made pies; visit the family doctor to cure your indigestion, and then come back to school, happy, contented and ready for work.

GET IT—WE NEED IT.

Salem citizens are now considering the question of establishing a Coffee club. General sentiment is in favor of the project. Thus far but few Willamette students have expressed their ideas, either for or against the proposition. We, as a student body should heartily boost this undertaking. It will mean a cleaner varsity city and a more congenial location for our institution. The matter affects you as vitally as it does the biggest business man in the city. If you stand for progressive moral and social development get behind this project and boost it all you can.

Eugene has installed their institution first but we can show them that Willamette will be on deck to see that Salem gets a club that will do as good work as the city organization up the river has done. Attend the meetings at which this live issue is being discussed. Agitate the issue and help put Salem on a par with the other bustling cities of the northwest.

THANKSGIVING VESPERS
HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

Miss Krenning Proves Herself to be Ably Equipped to Lead Student Meetings.

A meeting of unusual interest was the Thanksgiving Vesper service of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., which was held in the Websterian-Adelante halls last Sunday evening. Miss Edna Krenning ably presided, and her talk on "Thanksgiving and Thanksgiving" was handled in a very sympathetic manner and was highly inspirational. It showed a deep insight into human nature, especially into that of students. The scriptural reference was taken from the story of the ten lepers who were cleansed by the Master, one of whom returned to give thanks. The subject was developed to bring out the fact that one should be as thankful for the common daily blessings as for the great gifts which are but occasionally bestowed by the Divine One. "A keen appreciation of these is one mark of a great and noble soul."

The vocal solos by Prof. Robert B. Walsh and Harold B. Jory were among the best numbers on the programme and were greatly enjoyed. Both were exceptionally well rendered.

The afternoon's programme was:

VARSITY BELL TOWER
TO HAVE BROWN COAT

Four College Classes to Decorate Roof with Numerals in Their Own Colors.

The finishing touches of the bell tower were decided upon by the executive committee when it met Monday afternoon. The tower is to be stained a neutral brown which will harmonize with the rustic style of architecture of the structure. It was also agreed that the four sides of the roof will be given over to the four university classes so that they may immortalize themselves by the painting of their numerals. The Seniors were honored by being given first choice of the places, and it is thought that they will choose the north side, while the Juniors will take the west one. The Sophs will probably select the south side, leaving the Frosh the east side.

It is understood that these numerals are never to be defaced. The four classes now in school have sacrificed much to get the Varsity Summoner in a suitable cage, and it seems only fair that some chance be given them to leave a record of their work.

The bell dedication ceremony has been deferred till after Thanksgiving because of special complications that have just arisen.

PICKUPS

Whitman College will play Montana U. Thanksgiving.

Gonzaga defeated Montana U. 16-7 at Spokane last Saturday.

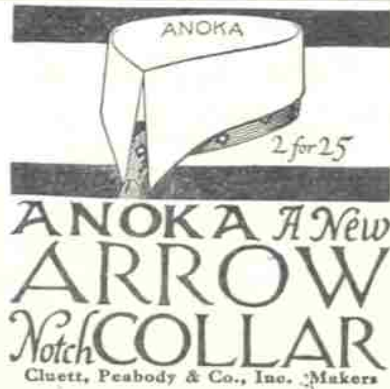

Seven students of U. of W. must leave because of low scholarships.

The women's interclass basketball games have started at U. of O. and Montana U.

Using the forward pass to a good advantage, Pacific U. defeated the Chemawa Indians 7-6.

Several hundred balloons were sent up after the Wisconsin-Minnesota game to announce Minnesota's victory.

U. of Idaho is reported in tip top condition for the O. A. C. game Thursday. Aggies expect to pick up the turkey, however.

In order that spectators may follow the plays of individuals, the numeral system will be used in the U. of O-Multnomah game.

The faculty at Whitman have made a ruling that no student can engage in more than two intercollegiate activities during the year.

A Minnesota student established a new record in the cross country run, making five miles in 26'-44", the previous record being 27'-29".

The U. of O. extension department through lectures and correspondence will aid the cities and towns of the state in solving municipal problems.

The seniors of O. A. C. have challenged the juniors to a tug of war across the mill race to decide upon the athletic superiority of the two classes.

The Multnomah clubmen showed themselves far superior to the Vancouver squad in Saturday's game defeating them 41-0. And we were going to play them.

U. of O. and Multnomah will battle Thanksgiving day for the twentieth time, U. of O. having won only four games. Things look bright for Oregon, but they might get offside.

Coffee Club Heavily

should get in with them and boost their proposition. The coffee house is a necessity. Salem needs it. Willamette can help secure such an organization and be instrumental in settling another big question.

Meeting Held.

Public meetings are being held in various parts of the city and invitations have been offered repeatedly but few students have responded. On December 5, a speaker from Eugene will be in Salem. Stock in the new coffee club will be on sale at that time and can be subscribed for. Permanent officers will be elected and directors chosen. Although the business men in the city are the real live wires in this movement, still a bunch of five hundred students can stir up an awful sentiment. All business, fraternal and religious organizations are planning to be on hand at the December meeting, and it will behoove Willamette to have a presentable quota at the gathering.

Merit Known.

People all over the northwest have recognized the merit of the undertaking. Portland is taking steps to found a club, and it is the work of the Salemites to beat the Rose City to it. When a place is so arranged that men of all classes can secure food at a low-cost, converse, read, play games and have the benefit of a free employment bureau, the strained atmosphere now existing to a certain extent among the laborers of Salem will tend to disappear. The coffee club is bound to come. Willamette will hasten its arrival and be on hand when the big noise starts.

Old Lausanne

Miss Jessie Gorman, graduate student, has been called to her Pennsylvania home. Though Miss Gorman has been a member of Lausanne club but a short time, she has made many friends. Surely it was with regret that we said "au revoir."

Saturday evening the Misses Corrine Lachmund, Floria Lachmund, Lila Doughty, and Avis Ogen entertained with a fudge-party. Those who enjoyed the good time were Bruce McDaniel, Earle Flegel, Ivan McDaniel and Gearhart Larsen.

Miss Davis entertained at a delightful Christmas sewing party, Saturday evening. Those who enjoyed her hospitality were: Ruth Barnes, Floria Housel, Florence Cooke, Ruth Whealdon, Areta Jones, Eugenia Deming, Pauline Pennebaker, Lulu Weseman, Esther Cox, Lela Lent, Lucille McCulley and Alleen Ambrose. Readings by Miss Davis and by Miss McCulley were much enjoyed.

Miss Ava McMahon, present president of the Philodorian society, was hostess at dinner Sunday in honor of home-coming members.

The guests were Anna Ryan, Elma Ohling, Helen Wastell, Edith Lewis, Ione Lewis, Clara Perkins, Ruth Tasker, Lillian Manny, Eleanor Ruby, Mildred Bartholomew, Pearl Bradley, Gertrude Reeves, Lolla Bellinger, Ethel Lewton, Mable Fraley, Gladys Chandler and Nina Graves.

Probably no department of college life feels more strongly the enthusiasm of the Philodorian Thanksgiving banquet than Old Lausanne. It is then that girls of other days return to make friends of the new Philodorsians and to seal even more securely the ties of friendship that exists between old Phi members. Those who came back this year are Pearl Bradley '13, Gertrude Reeves '13, Ethel Lewton ex-'14, Mabel Fraley ex-'14, Edith Lewis ex-'15, Nina Graves ex-'15, and Lillian Manny '16.

* CAMPUS NOTES *

Miss Edith Ridout ex-'16, is teaching in the Park school.

Merwyn Paget made a flying business trip to Portland on Saturday.

Mae Lovelace, who is teaching young America near Gervais, Oregon, was in town yesterday.

Miss Winifred Davis was unable to meet any of her classes Monday. We hope that she will be with us soon.

Mary Hansen was a campus visitor during the week end. She is at present teaching school at Jefferson, Or.

Arthur Marsh ex-'15, accompanied by his genial smile, has been spending the past week with his old classmates.

Ethel Lewton ex-'14, of Forest Grove, visited Mrs. Lola Bellinger over the week end and attended the Philo's Thanksgiving.

The girls from Portland who attended the banquet given by Grandmother Snodgrass were, Edith Lewis, Nina Graves, and Mabel Fraley.

Gertrude Reeves '13, who is teaching at Halsey, Pearl Bradley '13, of Lebanon, and Lillian Manny, of Seapooze, were also present at the banquet.

Barbara Booth, a student of Oregon and a cousin of Bess Hockett, was down for the week end and attended the Philodorian banquet, Saturday night.

Mr. Guy Woods '11, has been spending several days visiting old acquaintances—and old scenes about the campus. He is at present Y. M. C. A. secretary at Doty, Washington.

Society

Many of the Y. W. girls remember the splendid review of the book, "A Penny Philanthropist," given last year by the Rev. Mr. Schrock, pastor of First Congregational church of the city. Last Thursday, Mr. Schrock addressed the girls again, this time on the subject, "The College Girls' Opportunities in Giving." After showing that the teaching and acts of Jesus prove that the whole spirit of the christian life is that of giving rather than the old idea of getting, Mr. Schrock went on to say that if service is the greatest principle of our life, we will find opportunities plenteous, and will not need to have them pointed out to us. As the spirit of giving does not seem natural to all of us, we must cultivate it as a habit, not for the sake of the training there is in it for us, but because of the real need there is for our little gifts of money, time and sympathies.

According to their annual custom each fall, a New-Web program was rendered at the last meeting. This event is always an interesting one and the program last Wednesday evening was no exception. The older Webs were very much pleased with the showing made by the new recruits and feel sure that the standards of the Websterians will be raised still higher.

It requires quite a stretch of imagination to figure Rudolph W. Little, the dandy decorator, transformed into the sly seductions, sapenations story teller of "Travalogues-Panama," which the Phils staged at their last meeting. Advancing years have developed the dandy into a real actor, at home either in legitimate or ultra legitimate productions. His tale of the trip of the Phils to Panama was certainly a real future story. It was followed by the starring of Hogue in "The Canal As It Is," Stouts' rendering of "Barbara Fritzsche" was greeted with enthusiastic rounds of applause. Pres. Moore's "History of the Canal," was highly complimentary to its author. One of the most wonderful features was a talk on Central America by Prof. Beck. The professor spent three years in British Honduras and as a result his talk was doubly instructive and interesting. Mr. Riley was elected counsel-at-law to fill the place left vacant by the resignation of Mr. Bain. Work on the Phil Halls is progressing rapidly and they expect to be back before the holidays. For the present they will meet in Science Hall.

One of the smart affairs of the week-end was the dinner party at which Miss Eva Hogue was hostess at her Court street home, on Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Alta Altman-Martin. The dining room was an expression of the perfect taste of the hostess, being artistically decorated with pink chrysanthemums and ferns. Covers were laid for Mrs. Alta Altman-Martin, Mrs. Ruth Wilson, Miss Gertrude Eakin, Miss Ruth Hodge, Miss Lucille Emmons, Miss Hogue.

A sunrise prayer meeting will be held Thanksgiving morning at 6:30, at the First Presbyterian church, on North Church street. Students are especially invited to attend. A good program has been prepared in addition to the regular Thanksgiving service.

DADDIE SNODGRASS
GIVES GLAD HAND

Snooky Ookums and Rev. Spindle-wheel Calm the Squawking Triplets From New York.

The second annual Thanksgiving family reunion of the Philodorian Library Society was held last Saturday at the Sherwood home.

Families Arrive.
At 5 o'clock the families began to arrive; the Bushwackers from the country, the Vandu Morgans from New York, the Dunciads, the Killumquicks, the Pecks, and the Spindlewheels. They were all greeted warmly by Grandfather and Grandmother Snodgrass; then for an hour the older people gave themselves up to reminiscences while the numerous children made merry after the fashion of children.

Triplets Quieted.
At 6 o'clock the dinner was served, and oh! such a dinner—for a while even the chatter of the impressive Killumquick triplets was silenced.

Toasts Varied.
Then Mr. Vandu Morgan (Miss Ruth Young), resplendant in his black evening suit, rose and assuming the role of toastmaster, introduced Miss Katherine Vandu Morgan (Miss Ava McMahan) the prima donna, who gave a toast, "To the Family." Lawyer Dunciad (Elwina Adman) then gave the toast, "To Grandmother and Grandfather." Grandfather (Miss Margaret Graham), in a voice tremulous with age, responded and told a touching account of his youthful romance with grandmother (Miss Mildred Bartholemew). "What Betty Thinks About It," was given in a winning way by little Betty Vandu Morgan (Miss Lucille Kuntz). Mr. Newlywed (Miss Beryl Holt) told "Why a Philodorian Should Be Thankful," and Racheal Ruth Naomi Spindle-wheel (Miss Violet McClain) was supposed to answer to the subject, "The Turkey," but when her turn came, the child was discovered fast asleep under the table.

At this juncture, three Philodorian lads, who had come to take a flashlight of the festive group, heralded their approach by sending in a big box of candy, a present to the family from their society, which was packed to represent a Phil.

Spindlewheel Officers.
The climax of the evening was reached when Mr. Newlywed and Violetta Maud (Miss Isobel McGilchrist) were united in bonds of holy matrimony by Rev. Spindlewheel. The wedding procession entered the living room to the strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March," and a solemn hush fell on the assemblage gathered there. After the vows had been taken and the ring placed on the bride's finger, jollity reigned once more till it was time for the breaking up. Then the happy families went their separate ways, each hoping that another Thanksgiving might find them all once more reunited.

KIMBALL BREVITIES.

Dr. W. A. Winnard, pastor of the First Methodist church, Seattle, Washington, gave some splendid addresses at Kimball last week. His address at Kimball College in the afternoon on "The Outlook for Protestantism in Italy" was not only a masterpiece in scholarship but it also showed the result of a fearless investigation by one who has spent years on the ground as pastor of our church in Rome.

The first social meeting of the students and friends will take place December 1.

Kimball students favor entering the conference. We have the game, let's have the name.

No one expects to always look like a fashion plate figure but with my evenly balanced, well hanging garments and trousers minus baggy knees, you can have that sense of dignity and bearing which only belongs to well dressed men.

I make no charge for measuring you.
