

TRIBUTE PAID PRESIDENT DONEY

Trustees Present at Chapel Tuesday to Commemorate Occasion

In commemoration of his 25 years of service and achievements as president of institutions of higher learning, Dr. Carl G. Doney was honored during chapel services Tuesday morning in Waller Hall.

Following the invocation by Dr. Schultze, Amadee Smith of Portland, president of the board of trustees, presided over the meeting.

The principal speaker of the morning, R. J. Hendricks, a member of the board of trustees, emphasized the notable achievement of Dr. Doney, who has just completed his 25th year as college president. In both of the colleges at which he has served he has exceeded the average term of a college president which is from 3 to 5 years.

At the West Virginia Wesleyan University Dr. Doney's term of 8 years heads the list above the other presidents who preceded and have followed him. Here at Willamette University he has set another for more outstanding record of 17 fruitful years spent in the service of this historic institution. It has been exactly eighty-eight years since Willamette University first opened its doors to students and began its career as the first institution of higher learning established on the Pacific Coast. For the last 17 of those meaningful years the faithful services and guiding hand of (Continued on page 2)

GREEKS HAD WORD BUT CHINESE RATE

Did you know that Chinese philosophy and culture rate higher than that of ancient Greece? According to Dr. Fletcher Brockman, who led the discussions of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet retreat at Linfield College, November 19-20, this is true.

Enoch Dumas, Willamette's delegate at this retreat, represented by seven Oregon colleges, reports that Dr. Brockman laid a very instructive background for the discussion of missionary and national relations with the Orient, which would enhance a really Christian spirit. Dr. Brockman remarked on the similarities of the Oriental to the Christian religion, but showed the superiority of the latter. He suggested that professional guidance was necessary and that more discussion and participation in international affairs, with the combination of knowledge and vital religion, would increase interest therein.

Sophomore Day Is Occasion of Service Pledge

This day, for the Class of '35, is one of dedication. We are pleased to call it Sophomore Day, not as an occasion upon which we may draw apart from the school, but as a time to increase our sense of responsibility as an integral part of a larger unit.

So today the Class of '35 wishes to dedicate itself to the fuller expression of a new spirit of cooperation and service to Willamette. It wishes to throw its united effort into an energetic program of service and support to the institutions of our school. Setting its goal as the greatest possible accomplishment for the school through cooperative endeavor with the entire student group, the Sophomore class pledges itself to bend every effort toward making Willamette's best interests its own.

If it's for Willamette, we're with you.

Signed: David Moser, President, Class of '35

"Bearcat Follies" To Be Versatile

Mystery Surrounds Scheduled Class Productions; Casts Vie for Soph Dollars

The "Bearcat Follies," to be given Friday evening, Dec. 9, at the high school auditorium, promises to be one of the most versatile, as well as enjoyable programs of the year.

Featuring competitive presentations of the classes, the program is being sponsored by the Sophomore class, with the avowed purpose of stimulating inter-class rivalry, promoting individual initiative and originality, encouraging cooperative effort among the students and providing a worthwhile all-school entertainment of advertising value to Willamette University. The respective classes have organized their best musical, dramatic and creative talent to win the fifteen dollar cash prize offered by the Sophomores for the best all-around performance as well as the honor and distinction which will accompany it.

Each class is to divide its presentation into two parts: Musical selections, which may be either vocal or instrumental; a skit, declamation or dramatic.

Wallulah To Be In Modern Type

Printing Contract Awarded; Identity of Lucky Firm Withheld

With the theme motif for this year's Wallulah shrouded in editorial secrecy and the freshman and sophomore pictures already in the hands of the engravers, the printing contract has been awarded, though the identity of the winning firm has been withheld by the management. That the type for the annual would be a modern face was all the information the editor would release.

The football and junior class pictures have been completed and the remainder of the pictures are being trimmed as fast as possible. The slow progress of the work has made the fact evident that the preparation of an annual entails an exceedingly large amount of work to all members of the staff.

Speaking of the difficulty in obtaining advertising, Herbert Hardy, business manager, stated that for a successful annual the student backing must be bolstered up as much as possible. It is rumored, though without official sanction, that the theme motif for this year's book would be modernistic, with appropriate art work.

The management of the Wallulah wishes to broadcast an appeal to the students for any snapshots. It would be appreciated if they be left at the Wallulah office.

FOOD SURVEY CLASS VISITS CREAMERY

On Thursday, December 1, the food survey class visited the Marlon creamery and the Fairmount dairy. This was one of the many interesting and educational trips taken this semester.

The costume design class has made and dressed dolls representing the periods in history.

Tuesday evening the Home Economics club met at the home of Elizabeth Clement at a dinner prepared by Mr. Crary. Miss Walton gave a delightful Christmas reading. The next meeting will be held on January 10.

MARSHALL, ROBERTS IN CHAPEL CONCERT

The annual chapel recital of Professors Marshall and T. S. Roberts was presented on November 23 by the Beethoven society.

In the first group of pipe organ numbers played by Professor Roberts was an impromptu by a negro composer, Coleridge Taylor. The second selection was "Caprice" by Harris.

Accompanied on the piano by Roberts, Professor Marshall sang "The King's Highway" by Cadman, and "Water Boy" by Robinson. The next group of selections played by Professor Roberts consisted of "Even Song" by Markham and a transcription of "Home Sweet Home." Professor Marshall closed the recital with a descriptive number, "Bell-man" by Forsythe.

"Bohman Girl" Cast Selected; Earle Potter Takes Male Lead; Opera Rehearsals Progressing

The cast has now been selected for "The Bohemian Girl," an opera to be presented by the University Philharmonic Choir early next semester.

Earle Potter, tenor, has the lead; other important roles of the cast are taken by Maurice Dean, baritone; Ralph Barber, tenor; Elizabeth Clement and Bernice Rickman, sopranos.

"The Bohemian Girl," written by Alfred Bunn and Michael William Balfe, centers about a Polish exile, Thaddeus, who has joined a gypsy band, and Arline, a count's daughter, who has been kidnapped when a child by the same gypsies and is unaware of her true identity.

Thaddeus is loved by both Arline and the gypsy queen. Through various tangles of events, Arline meets the count, who recognizes his daughter. Finally after Thaddeus has revealed his own rank, the count consents to the marriage of Arline and Thaddeus. The ballet, which the jealous gypsy queen had ordered fired at Thaddeus, is misdirected and reaches the queen's own heart. All ends happily.

This is a well known opera, and since the choir has begun practice so early, it promises to be very popular.

FORENSIC CAMPAIGN ANNOUNCED BY RAHE

Prof. H. E. Rahe has announced that the major forensic program at Willamette university this year will include participation in the Pacific Forensic League tournament at the University of Oregon in March, in the Linfield invitational debates at McMinnville late in January or early in February, and in a number of oratorical contests.

On February 12 state extemporaneous speakers will be entertained at Willamette, while on December 9 Pacific university will sponsor the after dinner speakers contest at Portland. John Rudin will represent Willamette here.

On Willamette's schedule for debate this year are the University of Southern California, University of Washington, University of Oregon, Oregon State college, Fresno State Teachers college, and Stanford. The question for debate is: Resolved, that the (Continued on page 2)

FIRST "PLAY NITE" HELD DECEMBER 2

A supervised "Play Nite" was held at the Willamette gymnasium, Friday night, December 2, for the Freshmen. It was sponsored by the Physical Education majors. It consisted of contests, group and rhythmic games. Plans are being made for similar entertainment of the other classes.

The purpose of such supervised play is to help the students to become better acquainted with their class-mates and to give them some play along with their studies and other activities. Mildred Miller and Walt Erickson had charge of the affair.

The Y. W. is sponsoring various discussion group meetings. The present series is one of three meetings on the correlation of religion and science. WILLAMETTE GIRLS PLAN FOR SEABECK

Women students at Willamette University will soon be invited to attend the annual summer conference of the Y. W. C. A. as the result of plans laid December 2, 3, and 4, by an intercollegiate committee of the Y. W. C. A. meetings in Eugene, Oregon. The meeting came at the end of a number of gatherings on local campuses in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana in which suggestions were made for the 1933 conference to be held at Seabeck, Washington, June 17-27.

The delegation from Willamette University last year included Amelia Schrock and Dorothy Rose.

"A World Company Chooses a High Pursuit," is the theme of the conference as planned by the committee. Platform addresses, discussion groups, and informal meetings will provide means of investigation of the part religion might play in solving the present world dilemma. Practical helps in running a local Y. W., consideration of several important world problems, and recreation in the form of swimming, tennis, golf and organized sports will (Continued on page 2)

Noble Describes Smallest Republic

On November 30, Mr. Noble, guest speaker at chapel, recounted some interesting facts on San Marino, which he visited while in Italy. The isolated country of San Marino is noted as the smallest republic in the world, as well as the oldest government that has never been overthrown.

Ruled by the Justinian code, the governing system established in 550 A. D. is the one of today. A unique arrangement does away with graft. From a council of sixty elected by the leading men of the diminutive country, a group of twelve is chosen by lot. Six of these are selected by a process of elimination and from these the two leaders are picked by lot.

So small is the republic that from a place of advantage, one can see all boundaries at once.

KEYES CONTEST TAKEN BY MARCY

Carl Marcy, junior, placed first in the finals of the Keyes Oratorical contest held in chapel on Thursday, December 1. His selection was "On the Bum." Harriet Sanders, who won second place, and Jack Simpson were the only other contestants. Judges for the event were Dr. H. E. Morris, Mr. C. A. Sprague, and the Reverend F. A. Well.

This contest is an annual event at Willamette university and prizes for first and second places are offered by the Hon. Walter E. Keyes of Salem. Five persons took part in the preliminaries which were held on November 28, and three were chosen for the finals.

Forensic Group Talks at Swegle

Readings, Trios, Duets, Wit, Feature in Speech Program At Swegle School

Members of the Willamette Speech department presented an entertainment at the Swegle school last Friday evening, December 2. The following program was arranged by Miss Virginia Durkee: "I Just Got Here," a reading by Mary Nelson; "Where My Caravan Has Rested" and "Waiting for the Sunrise," by the Alpha Phi Alpha instrumental trio, violin, saxophone, and piano played by Lulu Allen, Blaire Foley, and Carolyn Schneider; "When Malindy Sings," and "Boots"—readings by Vera Garrett, an ad group of vocal duets by Harriet Adams and Benita Edwards, accompanied by Ruth Schreiber. This is but one of the projects to be featured by the speech department this year.

Botany is Feature In Novel Program

Feminine Glamour Enhanced By Correctly Styled Formal Corsage

Flowers, today, are a necessity, stated Irene Breithaupt when she presented a novel lecture during the chapel hour, Monday, on the care and arrangement of flowers. Helen Breithaupt arranged flowers on the stage to illustrate her sister's talk. Miss Breithaupt arranged flowers for a formal dinner, and also illustrated the correct color combinations for sport and formal corsages.

"If you wish your flowers to appear in their full beauty, give them the proper care," said Miss Breithaupt. Miss Breithaupt explained that the keynote of success in flower arrangement lay in the proper choice of color combinations.

The Misses Breithaupt are Willamette graduates, and are now engaged in the florist business in Salem.

"RIVALS" BURLESQUED AT HUMOROUS PARTY

The production staff and the cast of the Homecoming play, "The Rivals," enjoyed a humorous party Monday night, November 28, in the little theatre on the second floor of Waller Hall. The play was burlesqued with the cast and production staff exchanging work. Many clever effects were thus produced. Two readings were given by Miss Kathleen Skinner.

CLASS OF '35 ORIGINATES NEW DAY

Special Annual Activity to Be Inaugurated with "Follies"

"Sophomore Day" will be instituted at Willamette university on Friday, December 9 and will always be known as a special activity sponsored by the sophomore class and originated by the Class of '35. The great event of that day will be the "Bearcat Follies" which will be presented by all four classes of Willamette university at the Salem high school auditorium at 8 o'clock in the evening.

The purpose of starting such an event is to stimulate class rivalry, to promote individual initiative and originality, and to provide an all-university entertainment to bring about greater cooperation among the students. The sophomore class will award a prize of $15 to the class which is judged as having presented the best 20-minute program in the "Bearcat Follies." Each class will present a musical number which may be vocal, instrumental, or a dance number; and a dramatic or burlesque presentation which may be a skit, a declamation, or a one-act play. Any number of students may participate in the production. Frances Stuart has been chosen head of the Follies committee. Ray Rhoten and Ruth Chapman have charge of the entire affair. Judges of the musical numbers will be Miss Helen Mac Hiron, Miss Frances Virginia Melton, and Prof. Cameron Marshall. The dramatic presentations will be judged by Miss Margaret L. Stevenson, Miss Lolla Johnson, and J. Burton Crary.

Musical numbers included several selections by the newly organized women's quartette, called the Treble Clef Quartet, composed of Benita Edwards, Marjorie O'Dell, Ruth Schreiber and Martha O'Dell. Ruth Schreiber also gave two piano selections.

The next program on Dec. 11 will be a joint recital by Miss Virginia Melton and Cameron Marshall. Programs will be resumed after the Christmas holidays.

In Memoriam

DANIEL HARDY

The friends and classmates of Daniel Hardy, ex-'34, wish to extend their heartfelt sympathy to his family in their recent bereavement. His fellow-students will always cherish tender memories of their former classmate.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hardy of Salem; three sisters, Mrs. Warner Yancy of Baker, Oregon, Mrs. Olive Hull of San Francisco, California, and Mrs. Lester McCorkle, and one brother, Paul Hardy of Salem.

mation or play which may be dramatic or burlesque. There are two acts which must not greatly exceed twenty minutes. Between the competitive performances there will be three acts presented by members of the student body at large, so that the entire program will consist of eleven acts of vaudeville, ranging in character from comedy to tragedy, and from the ridiculous to the sublime.

The entertainment between the presentation of the classes is composed of a xylophone solo by Barbara Barham, the "Popeye" Quartette, and the Trumpet Trio—Piercy Sweet, Wesley Roeder and Gus Klempel.

Only a general idea of the program of the various classes can be given as they are all jealously guarding plans by which they hope to "steal the show."

The seniors, with Bernice Rickman in charge, are to present a dramatic pantomime, as only seniors can, built around some of the early features of our automobiles. Their musicale is to be a "Pygmy Choir," which is composed entirely of senior members of the Philharmonic Choir. Some novel ideas are to be carried out in conjunction with this.

The juniors are presenting a pantomime of "The Only Tangible Result of the Crimean War," and a very melodramatic song, including a modern interpretation based upon college life. Rumors have it that they're taking a "slam" at someone; this, however, is unconfirmed. Their program has been assembled under the direction of Fred Harris.

The sophomores have shown a disposition to be especially reticent about the details of their program. Perhaps they're planning a "master stroke" to rescue the $15 they have offered as the prize. Grace Day and La Forest McDonald are organizing their program consisting of a song and dance act and a play.

In their first big opportunity to display their ability as organizers and entertainers, the freshmen present a serious challenge to any class seeking first honors. Their play is original, based upon an old Chinese manuscript. A wealth of drama and color is promised. The play is being coached by Paul Hauser and Talbot Bennet. Their musical presentation, in charge of Wanda Landon, is to be a chorus of mixed voices.

The indications of the excellence of the performances and the enthusiasm with which the classes have entered into the spirit of the competition has more than justified

Tribute Paid

Dr. Doney has better assured the perpetuity of this University.

To show their deep and sincere appreciation of President Doney hundreds of personal friends and prominent personages throughout the state and nation have sent him messages and letters of good-will. For the last few months Mr. Hendricks has been busily engaged in compiling these letters into a 400 page bound book. This book with its hundreds of commemorative messages of cheer and God-speed from such prominent personages as President Hoover, the chancellors of universities, the governors of the states, and the higher judicial officials of the nation was presented to Dr. Doney at the close of Mr. Hendrick's speech.

With no precedent or experience to guide him under such circumstances Dr. Doney very ably met the situation with his customary ease and dignity. In giving thanks for the signal honor bestowed upon him, he clearly stated that it was principally due to the wise and efficient trustees and professors and to the ever inspiring students with their sincerity and perpetual youthfulness that he had been able to put forth his best efforts in his work. His feelings of unworthiness for all the kindly words of appreciation which he has received were sincerely expressed in these simple words: "I am a debtor to all people."

Though the life of Dr. Doney as a college president has been full of sorrows and disappointments, it has also been full of boundless joys. When he took the presidency of W. U. 17 years ago he began with the policy of making Willamette an institution that would deal fairly with the students. It can be truly said that this policy of "playing the game fairly" has been carried out during his long years of faithful service.

Much praise and tribute was also paid Mrs. Doney for the part she has played in being such a worthy help-mate of Dr. Doney during all of his years of stewardship.

R. A. Booth of Eugene, long a member of the board of trustees, spoke a few words on the subject, "Is the University Worth While?" In this he emphasized the fact that all worth-while things must come from the university and that it is up to every student to go forth from the institution prepared to do his share in making this world a better place in every way.

This inspirational commemorative service was brought to a close by C. P. Bishop, another trustee of long standing, who assured the students that the trustees were behind the university first, last, and always and would do their utmost to make a great name for itself—a feat that this historic old institution has already gone far towards accomplishing.

make up the rest of the program. Elsie Korpela, junior at the College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, will act as chairman of the conference, the position held by Leona Saunders, State College of Washington, last year. Other speakers and leaders are to be named later.

Members of the planning committee which met in Eugene last week-end are: Elsie Korpela, chairman; Jean Jewett, State College of Washington; Merry Pittman, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at Oregon State College; Gwendolyn Elsemore, Helen Binford and Elizabeth Seriggs, University of Oregon; Margaret Norton, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at the University of Oregon; Marla Seeb, national student secretary, who travels in the Northwest, and Mary Klemm, Eugene, alumna.

Fraternities Hosts At Open House

Willamette's three fraternities were at home Saturday evening, December 3, to students, faculty members, and townsfolk, when they entertained with their annual open-house. This year's hospitality of the fraternities, always a gala event, was unusually lovely.

Sigma Tau members greeted their friends from 7:30 until 8:30. Alpha Psi received from 7:30 until 9:30 and Kappa Gamma Rho were hosts from 8 until 9.

Callers at the Sigma Tau house were greeted by Dean and Mrs. F. M. Erickson, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gathe, Prof. and Mrs. Cecil Monk, and Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Shultz, faculty members, and members of the Sigma Tau senior class, including Phil Armstrong, Howard Bergman, Sam Bows, Arthur Fisher, Tyrus Hillway, Robert Magin, and Olven Bows. Miss Dorothy Dalk, Miss Bernice Rickman, and Miss Eloise White assisted about the dining room.

Receiving in the line at the Kappa Gamma Rho house were Dr. and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Sherman, patrons and patronesses of the fraternity, and senior members including Harold Rose, Ralph McCullough, Alfred King, Evans Hamilton, Leland Gould, Cecil Harmon, Joseph Felton, Robert Houck, Michael Fitzpatrick and Charles Kaufman. Those assisting in serving were Miss Lucille Flannery, Miss Helen Benner, Miss Lulu Allen, Miss Doris Clarke, Miss Dorothy Eastridge, Miss Lila Catton, Miss Virginia Durkee, Miss Dorothy Munick, Miss Jeannette Smith and Mrs. Charles Kaufman.

At the Alpha Psi Delta house Professor and Mrs. W. C. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hewitt, Melvin Crowe, Marion Moore and Miles Woodworth stood in line. In the dining room Miss Alvis Love, Miss Bertha Babcock, Miss Louisa Sidwell, Miss Naomi Hewitt, and Miss Beatrice Hartung assisted in the serving.

Beethoven Gives Musicale

One of the smart social affairs of the next week will be the "silver musicale" which is being presented at the home of Mrs. C. P. Bishop on Court street Monday afternoon.

This is a benefit for the McDowell foundation, which is even now providing a beautiful spot for resort of creative artists desirous of seclusion for hard work. The idea was that birthday is being observed with benefits this year, the proceeds to go to the aid of his pet idea.

The Monday musicale tea is one of the many being observed the country over. It will differ in that the funds obtained here will be divided and part will be kept in Salem to aid in scholarship activities.

The hours for the tea will be 3 to 6 o'clock and 7 to 10 o'clock. Guests will be greeted by a line which will be introduced by Miss Elizabeth Clement and in which will include Miss Frances Virginia Melton, advisor for the Beethoven club, Miss Helen MacHiron, Mrs. C. P. Bishop, and Mrs. T. S. Roberts.

Those who will preside alternately at the tea urns include Mrs. Carl G. Doney, Mrs. W. F. Powers, Mrs. A. A. Schramm, Mrs. David Bennett Hill, Mrs. J. A. Jelders, Mrs. George Allen, Mrs. F. A. Erickson, Mrs. F. W. Powers, Miss Olive M. Dahl, Mrs. E. C. Cross, Miss Winifred Byrd, and Mrs. Ivan Martin.

Beethoven society and alumnae members who will present the voice and instrumental numbers that will feature the tea hours includes Miss Betty Boylan, Miss Barbara Barham, Miss Ruth Schreiber, Miss Frances Laws, Miss Clara Wright, Prof. Cameron Marshall, Maurice Dean, Prof. William Wallace Graham, Wendell Robinson, Miss Josephine Albert, Miss Lillian Scott, Miss Jeannette Scott, Miss Jeannette Smith, Miss Elizabeth Clement, and Miss Helene Price, and Mrs. Gladys McIntyre Thomas.

Miss Hazel Irons was a dinner guest at the Delta Phi house Sunday, December 4.

Formals Begin Yule Season

The Beta Chi and Delta Phi sororities will begin the Yuletide season with formal affairs both on Saturday evening, December 10. Although both sororities have withheld intimate details concerning the formal evening; there can be no doubt that they will hint of the gay cheer of the holiday season.

The sorority and fraternity formals are always the outstanding social events on the Willamette campus.

The Beta Chi sorority is entertaining at the Masonic Temple at a formal supper to be served at 9 o'clock. A delightful program has been planned.

At the Marion hotel the Delta Phi sorority is giving a formal dinner. Prof. and Mrs. R. S. Keene and Prof. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, and Mrs. Lillian Hagman will be honor guests.

The Alpha Phi Alpha sorority is presenting a novel informal party the same evening. It promises to be an annual affair with a treasure hunt featuring the evening.

Sorority Gives Tea

Members of the Beta Chi sorority complimented their patronesses with a charmingly appointed tea at the chapter house on State street, Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Gabrielson, Mrs. Paul Wallace, and Mrs. C. A. Sprague.

The living rooms were festive with their decorations of holiday greenery. House members greeted the guests here and escorted them into the dining room where they were served from the long table beautifully appointed with its centerpiece of red carnations and roses, its lace cloth, silver service and lighted tapers.

During the first hour Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney and Miss Olive M. Dahl presided at the tea table. They were succeeded at the second hour by Mrs. Robert Alken and Mrs. F. M. Erickson. Guests were served by a group of pledges, including Miss Esther Gibbard, Miss Irene Guy, Miss Margaret Savage, Miss Marcia Brown, Miss Jermye Upston, Miss Virginia Wassam and Miss Dorothy Alexander.

The guests were first shown through the new house and then met for a business meeting. The business of the day included election of officers. Those officers elected for the following year were: Mrs. J. Taylor, president; Mrs. B. E. Edwards, vice president; Mrs. J. Ulrich, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. C. F. Breithaupt, scribe. The club decided to have a no-hostess luncheon and short business session at the Spa on Tuesday, December 13.

Following the business meeting a delightful program was presented by the House girls. Miss Ruth Schreiber played, Misses Bonetta Edwards and Harriet Adams sang, and Miss Dorothy McDonald gave a reading.

Delicious refreshments were served at 4 o'clock.

The mothers enjoyed the afternoon very much and were enthusiastic in their praise of the new house.

Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity entertained dinner guests at the fraternity house, Sunday, December 4. Guests included Miss Elaine Chaney, Miss Nova Hedlin, Miss Margaret Hoge, and Miss Lucille Flannery.

Tea Given By Daleth Teth Gimel

FILM FLICKERS

Football fans of Salem who may have longed in vain to see that annual football classic, the game between Notre Dame and Southern California which will be played in the famous Rose bowl December 10, need not repine any longer. The management of the Warner Bros. Elsinore theatre have completed arrangements to show the official feature length pictures of the entire game at Warner Bros. Elsinore theatre next Wednesday and Thursday as part of the double bill program which also includes the first starring picture of Loretta Young and George Brent in "They Call It Sin."

Save for the actual cheering crowds, patrons of the Elsinore theatre will in reality have seats on the 50-yard line with every play made directly in front of them. A battery of cameras, using regular speed and slow motion photography, will be used to catch every thrilling play. Orv Mohler, brilliant quarterback of S. C. team, who was injured earlier in the season, will be the director in charge of the making of this sensational football picture.

A scene from one of the good old western melodramas of silent screen days has been received in all its glory to furnish a laugh for the new Marie Dressler-Polly Moran comedy, "Prosperity," which will open at the Elsinore theatre.

The episode depicts Miss Dressler taking her grandchildren to a small-town theatre and it is here that the old-time Western drama is shown, proving to be a riotous travesty when played "on the square" after the old fashion. In addition to the humor provided by the film itself, there are the antics of the inimitable Miss Dressler in her attempts to keep the youngsters quiet, and her annoyance to her neighbors when she takes the children out for water and other things.

Comic highlights of the picture include a screaming battle which breaks up the formal wedding party of the betrothed pair, forcing them to resort to a city hall ceremony, an episode in which Miss Dressler takes over the management of a grocery store and reveals ingenious methods of making customers buy, and various interludes which occur in the home of Miss Moran.

The interesting interior of a government air mail relay airport is seen for the first time on the screen this week-end at the Capitol theatre where Universal's "Air Mail" is playing an engagement.

Patterned authentically after existing plane stations where mail pilots change in their daily scheduled flights across the continent, the airport scenes show the great relief may of the flying lanes dotted with its movable tags which indicate the positions of the mail planes. The radio broadcasting and receiving station which continually checks with the radio-equipped ships for position and weather conditions is another interesting feature of the port, and the emergency paraphernalia such as "crash shears," rescue trucks, skis and snowshoes, fire equipment show how the flying stations must be continually ready to succor flyers who crash or become lost in the lonely mountain regions.

Alpha Phi Alpha announces the formal initiation of Blair Foley, Josephine Anderson, Gertrude Roenicke, and Margaret Morris.

Cardinal and Gold Still Adorn Heads Of Freshman Girls

They're off! The powerful bodies strained forward and galloped madly down the field through a cloud of dust (or was it mud?) The crowd was breathless, as the band played a crashing finale when the victor crossed the line. It was over—and no one was more relieved than the runners in this spectacular event.

This does sound like a "horsey" affair, but it was merely a contest between the Sophomores and the Freshmen to decide whether or not the Freshman would continue to wear their Freshman ribbons.

The contestants for the Freshmen were Jane Robinson, Gladys Hughey, and Esther Black, and for the Sophomores, Betty Moffatt, Nellie Perrine, and Marie Fair. On each team, two of the girls were blindfolded, and the third girl served as the driver. To win meant to run 50 yards and cross the goal line before the other team.

Oh, and perhaps it would be a good idea to say that the Sophomores won, and that cardinal and gold are still flaming proudly o'er the tossed heads of the little Freshmen girls.

SONGS ADOPTED BY BAND

Band arrangements of several Willamette songs have been written by Ray Carl, a graduate of Salem high and of Oregon State college. Carl has shown a great deal of interest in music in high school and college, and readily agreed to give his time in an effort to arrange the Willamette songs. Among those arranged were the freshman song, Fight, Bearcats, Fight, Ode to Willamette, Fight, Sons of Old Willamette, and Wahoo Wahoo.

SOPHOMORES HIT PUBLIC WITH BRIGHT BURLESQUE

Visitor on Campus: Say, what is this thing that the Willamette students are going to put on Friday night? I was down town last night walking around, and I heard dozens of people talking about it.

Senior (with dignified, intellectual air): Oh, the Sophomores think that they have a brilliant idea. One of their members was paid five dollars for a stunt that someone thought would put the Class of 1935 in the Hall of Fame along with Lindy's "We" that he used when he made his trip to the Antarctic regions. But it won't even make a ripple.

Visitor: I heard, though, that Hollywood is sending some of its best scouts to attend the Follies for they expect to get some valuable material for their new films.

Senior: Oh, those Sophomores will learn some day that not until they have reached the more mature years of upper classmen can they hope to have an idea that will change the thought and progress of the whole world.

Visitor: That may be true, but I'm going to the Bearcat Follies because it's the talk of the whole town. And you'll be sorry if you don't go, too.

HOOP'S LURE CALLS TO VARSITY

With the football moleskins stored away until next year, interest at Willamette has turned to basketball and finds the Bearcats winding up their second week of organized hoop practice. With only a week in which to shape out a team to meet Oregon State in a two game series scheduled for Friday and Saturday, December 16 and 17, in Corvallis, Coach "Spec" Keene is driving the squad hard.

Frankly, prospects for a winning season are not very good. As a result of graduation, ineligibility, and the failure of a few players to return to school the Bearcats have lost most of last year's squad. Some of the men who will be hard to replace this year are, Roy Benjamin, George Scates, Erwin Kloostra, Percy Carpenter, Max Allen, Don Faber and "Hoot" Gibson. The only two lettermen to return this year are Bud Reike, the tall boy from Seattle who earned a berth on the varsity in his freshman year, and Marsh Hartley, veteran guard.

In addition to these men Keene has Jim Burdette, and Ray Griffith, who both saw considerable action last season, Jack Connors, Bill Lemon, and Eddie Franz from last year's freshman team, and Ken Manning, a freshman from Gervais who has been showing lots of ability. Wait Erickson who was a star for the freshman team of three years ago has turned and is being worked with the first squad.

"Winnie" Kaiser who played in a number of games last season is not out at present but is expected to come out and bolster the squad a little later. George Northrup, a sophomore from Ketchikan, Alaska, has turned out to be one of the fastest men on the floor and is making the first string men keep on their toes in order to hold their positions. Although he still has three men who are well over six feet "Spec" is working mostly for speed to replace the height of that quintet of giants which made up the squad a year ago. Most of the time in practice sessions is spent in working the ball in under the basket.

From the looks of things so far, Lemon, Reike, Connors, Burdette, Griffith, Kaiser, and Hartley will probably end up with permanent places on the team, with Franz, Erickson, and Manning giving them plenty of competition.

SPORTORIALS

Now that the football season for Willamette has ended we can rest our attention on basketball and be assured of a winning combination as was evident in football. "Spec" has been working his men about two hours or more each afternoon in anticipation of the game with Oregon State December 16, and a light scrimmage workout was also given Saturday morning.

There remains some doubt as to whether or not a freshman basketball squad will be organized. Lack of speedy and experienced material largely constitutes uncertainty. However in gym classes Glese, Anderson, Dunham, Eckman, Burch, Eason, McDonald, and several others reveal that they know something about the game.

Robert McKerrow, the stalwart six foot six inch chap from Great Falls, Montana, has been working out with the varsity and handles himself marvelously well considering his build of 247 pounds, which he declares that he now weighs. It is no difficulty for Bob to merely drop the ball in the basket instead of ousting it as the rest are required to do.
