

MISSIONARIES SCORE 20 TO 13 OVER W. U.

COACH SAVES THE DAY

Bearcats in Excellent Shape— Fight Shown Throughout Game is Best in Years

Passing, passing, passing, with the tenacity of bull dogs, the Whitman 11 once more defeated the Willamette Bearcats in last Saturday's homecoming game with a score of 20-13, making sound for another year their boast that Willamette has never defeated them on the gridiron. But in spite of the defeat for Willamette, the game was easily the best that has been seen on Sweetland field in years, and except for the passing, Willamette was more than a match for the Walla Walla aggregation.

The eagle eye of Coach Borsleske, Whitman mentor, twice saved his missionaries from possible—even very probable—scores. Whitman kicked off, and when Willamette was downed on the return, a Bearcat poised concealed at the edge of the field, unobserved. But Borsleske sent in a substitution, receiving time out, and giving his boys plenty of time to remedy the break away planned by Willamette. Again, with but 35 seconds left to play, Willamette had a man on the edge of the field, unobserved by the missionaries. But before the Bearcat quarter was given an opportunity to fly with the signal, Borsleske once more gained time out by sending in a sub, and the day was saved for the missionaries.

The entire first half was a matter of zigzagging, the ball now in Whitman's territory and now in Willamette's. The Bearcats, however, had the edge in this half, as twice they were able to try for field goals, although the attempts were unsuccessful. The half ended with the ball in Willamette's possession amidfield, and with the score 0 to 0.

At the beginning of the second half it looked as though the Bearcats would at least break the long chain of Whitman victories. Houston had been playing the Whitman center so hard that literally he was groggy, and he shot a terrible pass to the full back, through whose hands the ball slipped and went sprawling down the field. Rhodes was through like a flash, and gathering the ball into (Continued on page 4)

MEN'S DEBATE TEAM TO BE PICKED SOON

Indefinite Schedule Arranged— Three Lettermen Return— Prospects Good

Robert Witty, debate manager, is rapidly formulating plans for this year's debate season. No definite dates have as yet been set but it is arranged that there will be meetings with Redlands and College of the Pacific of California, and Wheaton College of Kansas, whose team is to tour the west. There will be a dual debate with the College of Puget Sound and it is hoped that the schedule can include some of the smaller colleges such as Albany and Pacific.

In the latter part of April a tournament will be held at Pullman, Washington, under the auspices of the Pacific Forensic League, which organization includes all the more important colleges of the Pacific Coast. The annual Extemporaneous speaking contest will be held at the same time and place.

In addition to the regular debate work the Forensic Council will this year sponsor a series of plays to be produced in January by the Play Acting class of the Public Speaking department, the proceeds to go into the Forensic fund.

Tryouts for the debate squad will be held shortly after Thanksgiving. Three of last year's team are back in school: Joel Bereman, James McClellan and Charles Redding. The prospects are bright among the new men and it is rumored that five or six law students will be in the race.

The season will begin about February 15 and end about the first of April. The question for debate has not yet been decided upon by the Pacific Coast Council.

The Rhodes Scholarships have been increased from three hundred and fifty pounds to four hundred pounds, according to the Rhodes Trust. This change became effective on the first of October, 1925, and will benefit over one hundred scholars from the United States who are studying at Oxford and Cambridge.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB ELECTS LUCILE WILEY; COOKIE JAR TO RETURN

Listen men! Willamette now has a Home Economics Club! Doesn't that recall to you the good old days of fried chicken, delicious pies, cookies jars on the pantry shelf, hot waffles and ginger bread?

The club is made up of those girls who have had or are now taking ten hours of Home Economics with a grade of "S" or above. Their aim is to create more respect for Home Economics on the Willamette campus and to study modern problems in home economics.

The charming and capable group of officers elected are:

Lucile Wiley, President;
Mildred Tucker, First Vice President;

Ruth Drefin, Second Vice President;

Kathy Delk, Secretary and Treasurer.

The First Vice President in charge of the meetings in the absence of the president and the Second Vice President has charge of the social affairs.

A meeting is to be held once a month on Monday evenings. The plans have not been definitely decided upon but it is thought they will be little gold rolling pins. The honorary members include Mrs. Brown and Miss Latimer.

The Club is starting out with much enthusiasm and it planned to serve luncheon at the monthly meetings and to give a party at least once each semester.

MERE MALES HAVE BRAVE CHAMPION

Contend There Is No Superior Sex; Each Has One Field: Not All Men Spineless

Since the Collegian is the mouth-piece of the students, it seems quite proper that one should voice his reactions in it to the article of last week which proved conclusively "man's superiority over woman." While that article was clever, it seems to me to have stated little more than a half truth.

In the first place, the author in question fell into the error of the ages by accepting the idea that there is a superior sex. Are we, because some business men let female secretaries head their affairs, or because some men can not go out at night when their wives object, or because some men have committed suicide upon failing to win a woman loved, to conclude that man is inferior? Or shall we, because men are generally physically stronger, usually take a leading place in business, politics, philosophy, and so forth, conclude that man is superior?

I do not intend to be sarcastic. I used the first points because they are the ones already adduced to show woman's superiority, and not because they are by any means the best to be found for that purpose. What I do wish to say is that woman is superior in those fields of which she is naturally heir; and man is superior in things which fall naturally to him. Perhaps no man can love just as a mother does. And few women, certainly, can protect a family so well as a father. In those realms where men and women are coming to compete freely—in business, politics, poetry, philosophy, religion—we can not say that there is a superior sex. To be sure, men have predominated here in numbers; but, taking account of history, this does not necessarily signify a great deal.

Being a man, I may have a tendency to feel myself superior; and I am, no doubt, superior to many women in most things. Just as college girls are superior to most men. However, I know women who are my equals every whit. I must conclude, therefore, while I would like to believe myself superior, that woman differs from me, but is not more imperfect.

To be intimate with a foolish friend is like going to bed with a razor.—Franklin.

Purdue University recently established a course in cheer leading because the athletic teams of the university have been below par for the last three years. It is necessary to make use of all available material because of the small student body.

The course will include mob psychology taught by a professor in the English department, as well as classes in cheering under the supervision of former head cheer leaders.

BLACK HAND MEANS ANYTHING BUT MAYBE

Culprit Who Fixes Dates is Doomed; Brunettes at Sword's Point

Certain women of the University, notably freshmen, have banded together in a Black Hand Society, the purpose of which is to discover and deal fittingly with the power that disparages and recommends them for dates.

At the last secret meeting the following items were discussed:

Clue No. 1.—The culprit must have been at the Y.M.-Y.W. since it is believed that the famous Date Directory contains actual signatures of women included. The idea of trying-by-ordeal all men who attended the reception was abandoned.

Clue No. 2.—The Unknown must be a freshman since most of the girls involved are newcomers, following the theory of "like likes like." This proposition was also abandoned on the testimony of some freshman women who had been rushed by upper-class men.

Clue No. 3.—The Mystery Man must be from out of town since the Directory includes the phone numbers of several town women, which everyone from Salem High would know by instinct. (Cries of "Hear, Hear!")

Clue No. 4.—The guilty one must be a blonde since it is known on reliable testimony that five check marks, the symbol of recommendation are placed after the name of a certain brunette. The argument was propounded from the theory that opposites attract.

Clue No. 5.—Was a deadlock among those who contend that the sought for one is of the class of '29. Some believe that he takes 1 A English since only a master mind could evolve and carry out such a daring project, while others are of the opinion that he is in the class since only an absolute dunce would let himself in for so dangerous a game.

In the attic and basement of Lausanne there are stored bouquets and great supplies of boiling oil by the friends and foes of this hand behind the dates.

We will not state whether we dreamed or actually heard the following furtive conversation on the campus:

"What can I do for you, Jarman?"

"Give us a red-hot mama—blond, if you have it."

A flutter of pages followed.

"Here's one. Name is—"

But a passing motor truck drowned the words of the Mystery Man. Perhaps we know more than we are telling.

WESLEYANS HEAR RIDDLE

The Willamette Wesleyans had the privilege of hearing Professor Riddle, their advisor, address them on October 28, on The Hope of the Student Fellowship Movement. Clarence Oliver led the devotion, using the sixth chapter of Matthew for his text. Business of the meeting included a change in the constitution of the Wesleyans. This will broaden the fellowship of the club for it will permit all who are interested in Christian Life Service to join the group instead of limiting the membership to full time home workers. The Student Volunteers will now be able to join the Wesleyans and make one big Student Fellowship on the campus.

With the coming of the International Student Convention the question has arisen as to whether it will be possible and advisable for Willamette to send delegates. In his talk to the Wesleyans about the hope of the Fellowship Movement, Professor Riddle said that students in college are not preparing for life, they are living—and are living in a highly specialized environment. Into this atmosphere they have brought their priceless youthful enthusiasm and herein lies the hope of the Student Fellowship Movement.

When this spirit can be carried on through life to the extent that the man can not be satisfied with an indifferent, passive life; that he does not forget his own youth; then he has profited by the Fellowship Movement.

In answering the common statement that conferences are mere talk and of no real benefit, Professor Riddle declared that talk was most important, that it is talk that distinguishes the human from the non-human, that through talk ideas are exchanged and ideas change the world.

The greatest danger to the Student Fellowship Movement is that students will not think for themselves. Three years ago the movement was not known on the campus; students

LINFIELD CONQUERS WILLAMETTE IN WEIRD GAME; ENDS 3 TO 0

And there was "weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth." That, fellow students, is the text for our little discourse on the catastrophe that befell last Friday and that has jokingly been given the name of a football game. Little Linfield college, careless as no college should be, came down to Sweetland field, and although they were guests, and should have had with them their best manners, they spilled the dope. Spilled it so completely that it has not yet been cleaned up. Poor head-work, needless playing—if the latter word may be used in this case—and laughable overconfidence gave Willamette the most ignominious drubbing she has experienced in a college generation. Linfield romped off with the game 3-0, winning it not on a lucky break, but on clear, rosy playing that showed up the mighty Bearcats at every turn in the road.

Starting out in the first quarter, the two teams indulged in a punting duel, which Herrman, kicking superbly, easily won. It was evidently Willamette's intention to play percentage ball, as she kicked time after time without making hardly an effort to make yardage via scrimmage. That would have been lovely had the Willamette line held, and had the game been confined to what the Bearcats were planning, a punting duel. But the Linfield backs, showing cunning that the Bearcat line could not decipher, ripped through time after time for first downs, and all that Willamette had gained by punting was lost under the sure approach of the Wildcat troops.

Suffice to say concerning the first half that it was clearly and unquestionably Linfield's, as the ball was mostly in Willamette territory, and Linfield made about six first downs to Willamette's one or two. The half ended with the score 0 to 0.

During the halves, the men were emphatically warned that if they didn't snap out of it, and show a little pep, and cut out their ridiculous revelation of overconfidence that they would be held by Linfield. Also they were warned to cut out center smashes and open up with passes. They laughed at the overconfidence-warning, and paid no attention. (Continued on page 3)

24 GIRLS TO MAKE GLEE CLUB TOUR

FAYE SPARKS ASSISTANT

Extended Trip Planned—Many Upperclassmen Among Number

The Girls' Glee Club this year will be composed of 24 girls who were chosen by Professor E. W. Hobson last Wednesday afternoon from among the 50 or more who tried out. Eight of the 24 were in the club last year. With so many splendid voices which are already in training, the girls feel that the success of the club is assured.

At a recent meeting officers for the year were chosen. Ruth Heinicke was elected president, Faye Sparks, assistant director to Professor Hobson, Margaret Arnold, secretary, and Beulah Fanning, librarian.

The program is now being planned for an extended tour which the manager is arranging for the early part of March. The program will be characterized by fun, originality, and a varied repertoire of well-known numbers. Included will be such selections as "Drowsily Come the Sheep," by Proctor, and "Such a Little Fellow," by Dickmont.

The members of the club are:

First soprano—
Faye Sparks,
Margaret Arnold,
Doris Brown,
Aldene Smith,
Alberta Knotts,
Elizabeth Silver.

Second Soprano—
Helen Johnson,
Marvel Rhine,
Beulah Fanning,
Clara Hencher,
Helen Brochard,
Crystal Mills,
Dorothy Ferner,
Pearl Allen.

Second Alto—
Mildred Drake,
Louise Kauffman,
Genevieve Jack,
Margaret Wood,
Rita Heinicke,
Mildred Tucker,
Second Alto—
Elizabeth Hall,
Ruth Hall,
Ada Isham,

WILLAMETTE MOURNS LOSS OF A. F. FLEGEL

Member of Board of Trustees, Patron and Friend of University

With the death of Austin F. Flegel, Willamette University mourns the loss of a staunch friend and a loyal supporter.

For many years Mr. Flegel was an active member of the Board of Trustees, holding in direct contact with the students, for on several occasions he presented awards. As a booster of the Forward Movement, he was influential in making the campaign a success.

Mr. Flegel who was a well known Portland attorney was active in many other organizations. For some years he was treasurer of the Oregon conference. Besides being a member of the City Planning Association and of the Scottish Rite, he took part in other civil and political affairs.

After an illness of two years, Mr. Flegel died Friday evening November 6, and was buried in Lone Fir cemetery Monday. Those in charge of the services were Dr. W. W. Youngston, Dr. B. E. Parker, Rev. J. Abbott, Rev. Hiram Goul.

President Carl Gregg Doney who also assisted said, "It was a beautiful simple service, with many, many friends present."

Mr. Flegel is survived by a family of six children, four of whom, Austin, Marjorie, Paul, and Albert, attended Willamette University.

The loss of Mr. Flegel is keenly felt. The student body and friends of Willamette University mourn his death.

WHAT A COLLEGE STANDS FOR

"To be at home in all lands and ages; to count nature a familiar acquaintance and art an intimate friend; to gain a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and the criticism of your own; to carry the keys of the world's library in your pocket, and feel its resources behind you in whatever task you undertake; to make hosts of friends among the men of your own age who are to be leaders in all walks of life; to lose yourself in generous enthusiasms and cooperate with others for common ends; to learn manners from students who are gentlemen and form character under professors who are Christians—this is the offer of the Christian college for the four best years of your life."—William DeWitt Hyde.

The important thing in life is to have a great aim with the determination to attain it.—Goethe.

SERENADES, STARS, SLEEP

At first we were thrilled by serenades because of their novelty. However, as the novelty wears off, the interest and enthusiasm on the part of the listeners seems to grow. Serenaders may feel confident that it isn't only the weary sister of duty, lowering the rope from the window, who hears their evening music. No one with a spark of sentiment can keep from being thrilled when the modern Romeo, or Juliet, as the case may be, directs his or her voice toward the moon and the upper story windows. At first the music seems far away and mingled with odd fancies and dreams but before long one is hoping that every number is not the last.

At breakfast a smile of pity and scorn is directed toward the person who shamelessly admits that his ears respond only to the music of an alarm clock or rising bell.

THE STUDENT WITH TIME

We know one student in this bustling university who always says, "I would like to do this, but I haven't time." He always has time for himself.

He doesn't belong to many clubs. He isn't on many committees. He doesn't have a long list of activities after his name in the Jayhawker. He doesn't even make many "A's."

Yet this lack of achievement doesn't seem to worry him any. He likes to read poetry and stories, and he has the time for them, although the poetry and stories are not part of his assignments. He enjoys taking walks along the river bank, or over country roads, and he isn't too busy for his walks, although the particular chapter for to-morrow's recitation may be unread. He has a sentimental fondness, on occasion, for strumming an old guitar of his and he finds time for his whim, regardless of other events.

One friend said popularly: And he won't make Phi Beta Kappa. But he has learned to know himself. We think him one of the best educated students of our acquaintance.

KIMBALL STILL HERE AND WILL REMAIN SO UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE

Ever since the convention held at Seattle last month there have been many rumors floating about the campus concerning the possibility of changing the location of the Kimball College of Theology. It has been here since its founding in 1909, being housed in the building donated by Mrs. H. D. Kimball, for that purpose. Nothing definite is known here other than the invitation has been issued to move the college to Seattle. Before such an action could take place permission would have to be secured from various authoritative sources, a process which would take many months, so that there is little probability of any change in the very near future. Further details will be available when Dr. Hickman returns sometime next week.

"Shut the door and spend some time with yourself," was given as advice leading to a spiritual life by J. Stitt Wilson in his closing address, at the Epworth Methodist church, Berkeley Cal., according to the Daily Californian. Introduced by Walter M. Hart, Dean of the University, as a man who knew both the inside and outside of universities, Wilson spoke to a large audience on "The Technique of the Spiritual Life."

In his previous lectures, Wilson analyzed the defects of our modern system of education; defining the principal difficulty as the subordination of the spiritual life to the material. MAN BORN SUPERIOR, WAS, IS, AND WILL BE

Women Lovely Liability to Male Who Has Achieved All in Mind and Matter

It is one of the problems of perennial interest, that of the superiority of one sex over the other. Dealing with the question scientifically, what are the facts of the case? Before proceeding with the discussion, certain preliminary statements must be made in order to avoid misunderstanding and superficial arguments. Whether man is superior to woman, or vice versa is to be determined not by a prior prejudice, but by clear understanding of the respective significance, function, and accomplishments of man and woman.

Woman may be socially defined as a charming bit of incomprehensibility who by certain deplorable tactics inveigles the honorable member of the male species into a captivity popularly designated as marriage. Her superiority is only a cheap one, an ability to charm, please and to win; she is a biological necessity designed to maintain the continuity of existence and that is all. Woman's accomplishments are few, if any, and are hardly worthy of mention.

Man, has an instinct of predatory predominate in his life, acquired in the evolutionary process, what Dewey calls "the power of mental attack." He is capable of intense mental exertion, thereby overcoming tremendous obstacles, and gradually gaining mastery over his environment. Man is responsible for the sublime thoughts of poetry, the intellectual achievements of philosophy, and the mighty deeds of history. Man, God's most noble product has alone made this world the wonderful place it is. "What is the use of talking about superiority? What need is there either to defend or assert man's superiority, except to remind the beautiful partners of our existence of their place? Superiority? Let us not waste time in proving that which experience attests as a fact and reflection demonstrates as a necessity."

Phelps Speaks in Chapel

Guy Fitch Phelps, a retired minister, was a recent chapel speaker. He is an author of international reputation as well as a poet and lecturer. His book, "The Black Prophet," has been translated into five different languages and is on sale in several foreign countries. He has also written a book called "The Abominations of Evolution." He is a strict defender of the Christian fundamentals.

In his speech to the Willamette students, he administered us to be selfish. He told about a horse that was always on the job and always faithful to the end. To have power was always his life, vim, and courage. We must keep looking for the beauty in the things around us.

LIT. SOCIETIES HOLD SUPPORT OF W. U. CLUB

Portland Alumni Organization Pays Tribute to Memory of A. F. Flegel

Tribute to the life work and service to the University of Austin F. Flegel, prominent Portland attorney and member of the board of trustees of Willamette University, was paid in an address by Professor Florian Von Eschen delivered before the Portland Willamette Club at its regular monthly meeting last Monday night at the Portland Y. M. C. A. The meeting, which was the second one of the year, was well attended by Willamette alumni who now reside in Portland.

The club moved to express to the Willamette student body the appreciation of its members for their reception during the Homecoming week end. It was generally agreed that the affair was the most successful from many viewpoints of any homecoming staged thus far.

A general discussion of a program for the club during the coming year brought forth the constructive suggestion that it endeavor to identify the alumni more closely with the affairs of the student body. Several committees charged with the responsibility of submitting proposals for such relationships were appointed by the president, Robin Plishe.

General disapproval over the prospect of abandoning the literary societies and other Willamette traditions was expressed in conversation at the dinner which preceded the meeting. Mrs. Paroungian, leader of the University Bible class at the First Methodist church, announced herself as a defender of the present generation at Willamette. Many of the movements on the campus at the present time may be attributed, she said, to the activities of those who preceded the present students. She asserted her confidence in the ability and judgment of the student body to work out its present problems successfully.

Meetings of the Portland Willamette club are held on the second Monday of each month. Its membership represents the younger generation of Willamette graduates in Portland. A standing invitation is extended by the club to all students and faculty members of the university to attend its meetings.

ANN SILVER ATTENDS Y. W. DIVISION MEET

Tacoma Gathering Plans Work On World Court and Speakers

Ann Silver, president of the Willamette University Young Women's Christian Association, returned Monday morning from Tacoma where she spent the week end attending the Division Council. Miss Silver was elected a member of the Division Council at a meeting last summer.

The most significant work of the conference was to plan in detail a program for promoting interest in the World Court. As the debate before the Senate will be in December, agitation on the topic is rapidly increasing. The national Y. W. C. A. have taken a stand in favor of the World Court on the conditions of the Kirby Page Harmony Peace Plan, which is being seriously considered and gaining favor everywhere.

The conference planned a Speakers' Bureau the function of which is to gain speakers for colleges. Among tentative speakers for Willamette University this year are Kirby Page, Charles Hurrey, and J. Stitt Wilson.

There were present at the meeting six girls and three secretaries, who represented Oregon, Washington, Montana and Idaho. Miss Silver returns to school stating that the trip was splendid and the work good. She had a long conversation while in Tacoma with Jennelle Vandevort, member of the class of '25, who is a Girl Reserve Secretary in Yakima this year.

Social events of the past two weeks have centered about informal events in honor of alumni returning to the campus for Homecoming and the formal opening of society rush season, marked by the society at homes.

The alumni gathered for a reunion in Chresto cottage Saturday evening after the Theta Alpha Phi play. It was a happy and talkative group that met there to talk over the "old times." Kathleen La Raut played the college songs while the rest sang.

Many of the alumni were present, among whom were: Mr. and Mrs. "Chuck" Sackett, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Griffith, Carol Cheney, Caroline Stober, Margaret Gates, Kathleen La Raut, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wise, Beryl Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Winters, Myrtle Mason, Byron McKittick, Mabel Davies, Adella White, Robert Notson, Ruth Ross, Edna Shreiber. The seniors were invited to the party, and many of them attended. The faculty members present were: Professor and Mrs. Von Eschen, Professor and Mrs. Peck, Professor and Mrs. Gatzke.

Saturday evening, President and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney entertained the members of the faculty at their residence with a delightful party.

High chrysanthemums, used in profusion, throughout the softly lighted rooms, helped carry out a very appropriate and lovely color scheme of russet and gold. After a pleasing program of delicious refreshments were served. Among the guests were: Dean and Mrs. Frank M. Erickson, Dr. and Mrs. George Alden, Dean Frances M. Richards, Professor and Mrs. W. W. Herman, Professor and Mrs. Gustave Elsen, Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Franklin, Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Gatzke, Dr. and Mrs. Roy C. Harding, Professor and Mrs. Claude Kells, Professor and Mrs. William Kirk, Miss Lois Lattimer, Dr. and Mrs. Lura B. Laughlin, Miss Pauline Gabriel, Professor and Mrs. James T. Matthews, Dr. and Mrs. John D. McCormick, Miss Winifred McGill, Professor and Mrs. Morton Peck, Coach and Mrs. Guy L. Rathbun, Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Sherman, Professor and Mrs. Florian Von Eschen, Professor and Mrs. Horace Williston, Jr., Miss Lucille Ross, Dr. Woodworth and her husband, Professor and Mrs. Emory W. Hobson, Miss Frances Melton, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Savage, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clark, Mrs. Reed, Miss Mary E. Findley, Professor and Mrs. Thomas Roberts, Professor H. R. Burroughs, Dr. and Mrs. G. Downs, Professor and Mrs. Althine, Reverend James Lisle, Professor Leroy Delling, Professor Horace G. Rahskopf and Miss Alice H. Dodd.

In honor of the formal initiation of Laura Pemberton, Louise Garrison, Letty Leighton, Bernice Clemens, and Irene Breithaupt into Alpha Phi Alpha, a banquet was given at the Spa. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in pink and white cosmos and pink toppers. The menu consisted of:

Roast Veal Pan Gravy
Mashed Potatoes Hot Rolls
Combination Salad
Date Nut Icecream Coffee
Edna Scheiber, '25, added as toastmistress. Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney, Amanda Wagner, '24, Lucille Wylie, and Louise Garrison responded with toasts. As a fitting climax to the evening quaint dinner corsages were brought in and presented to each guest. Hidden in each corsage was a wee card announcing the engagement of Susler Church to Mr. Ed Huston, '24.

During this week-end Beta Chi was the scene of several attractive affairs in honor of its returning alumni. A delightful dinner was given Friday evening, carrying out the Halloween spirit. The walls were covered by autumn foliage through which peeped the luminous eyes of Jack o'lanterns. The tables were centered by chrysanthemums. Much amusement was afforded by the favors which were small orange and black caps of varied design. Covers were laid for thirty.

An informal tea was held after the game on Saturday afternoon. The rooms were daintily decorated with lavender and white cosmos. During the afternoon Miss Margaret Arnold entertained delightfully with vocal selections, and Miss Helen Richardson with piano solos. Mrs. Alice Dodd, the housemother, poured. Assisting in the serving were the Misses Eva Tacheron, Irene Clark, and Louise Nunn.

Guests during the week-end were: Elsie Gilbert Jackson, '20, Myrtle Mason, '21, Mable Davies, '24, Ruth Smith, '22, Marguerite Wible Walker, '21, Pauline Rickie, '23, Carol Cheney, '24, Caroline Stober, '24, Lorell Blatchford Gillette, '22, Sibyl Smith, '21, Alma Wells, '24, Muriel Steeves Morse, '21, Lella Johnson, '20, Dorothy Palmer Thomas, '22, Verna McKeehan, '25, Esther Hollingsworth, '27, Lorna Lovett, '27, Oleo Widdle, '27, and Mildred Herwig, '27.

In an atmosphere of Colonial pillars and a rustic garden, the Chrestothaean welcomed the new girls Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5.

Gladys Fleisher greeted the guests at the door and introduced them to Nora Pehrson, head of the receiving line. The others in the receiving line were Millicent King, Miss Pauline Gabriel, and Lucille Wylie.

After chatting a little while with the Chrestos, the girls were served corsage salad and mint julep at small tables decorated with fluffy Colonial dolls.

Colonial Girls in the persons of Melva Spence, Margaret Brown, Seville Ricks, Mary Martin, Madge Reid and Ruth Wechter served. Grace Linn as a negro mammy cleared the tables and acted as general helper.

During the afternoon musical numbers with the Southern theme dominant were given. Marjorie Webb, accompanied by Eugene Savage at the piano, gave a dainty and graceful dance.

Alberta Koontz and Mildred Drake gave a clever serenade stunt, and Gladys McIntyre sang. Small Marie Maxwell delighted the guests when she played several Southern hymns. When the girls left, she presented each with a tiny old-fashioned trilly corsage.

Glen Ledbetter and Wayne Welch of the Alpha Psi house were Portland visitors over the week end.

Dea Robertson Sigma Tau was in Portland Saturday and Sunday.

Alvin Bond of the Sigma Tau house spent the week-end in Corvallis.

Esther King of the Beta Chi was a Portland visitor Sunday.

John Steinelpher was a guest at the Alpha Psi house Saturday and Sunday.

Florence Young of Beta Chi visited in Portland Sunday.

Helen Baird spent the week end in Newberg.

Bernice Clemens spent the week end in Corvallis.

Ila Comstock spent the week end in Portland.

House guests at Delta Phi over the week end were: Kathryn Kirk, ex-'27; Zella Mulkey, '25; Fay Spaulding, '25; Mary Spaulding, '25; Pauline McClintock Bain, '23; Helen Hoover, '23; Adella White, '25; Helen Bartholomew, ex-'26, and May Badley, ex-'28.

Out of town: Grace White, Helen Johnson, Ruth Lent, Marguerite Beck, Dorothy Ferrier and Ethelyn Kelley spent the week-end in Portland.

Doris Klindt and Margaret Johnson were in Corvallis during the week-end.

Mildred Hubbard, Louise Kaufman, and Isabelle Nofsker visited in Silverton.

Thelma Meade was the guest of Buneva Culbertson at Miss Culbertson's home in Clatskanie.

Guests at Lausanne Hall this week were Mrs. Roy Harding and Maxine Myers of Salem.

Mr. Wallace Pack of the University of Oregon was a guest over the week-end.

Ruby Delf spent Sunday in Silverton.

The Marion hotel was the scene of a Delta Phi luncheon Saturday noon for alumnae and present members. The table decorations effectively carried out the house colors.

Miss Mildred McKilloan acting as toastmistress called upon alumnae members for toasts and musical numbers. Places were laid for forty.

Miss Edna Schenker and Miss Idela Tong of the University of Oregon were guests at Alpha Phi Alpha Friday night.

Daphne Malmstrom, '25, of Pendleton, entertained a group of Willamette alumni who are teaching near that community. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Warren (Helen Gatzke), Henry Spival and wife, Rose Martin (Stanfield), Dorothy Owen and Katherine Croyer (Jones), and Irene Cooper (Helix).

In honor of Dortha Sibby's birthday a group of girls gave a dinner party in the Lausanne dining room Friday night, October 30. The table was decorated with orange and black and clever Halloween place cards marked the places of those present. The birthday cake, glowing with candles, was the enjoyable climax and came as a surprise to Dortha.

Those present were: Dortha Sibby, Ella Pfeiffer, Nellie Brunneau, Gertrude Blesse, Warren Day, Clarence Oliver, Parker Whitaker, and Lewis Nichols.

LINFIELD WINS FROM BEARCATS

Linfield kicked off to start the third quarter, and Willamette started right out by returning to her thirty yard line. But without taking her full quota of attempts to smash through for first down, she punted, and it was Linfield's ball on the Willamette 40 yard line. A speedy plunge through the line that flabbergasted the Bearcats gave the Willamette the ball on the Willamette 20 yard line. The Willamette line now stiffened, and Linfield made an unsuccessful attempt to drop kick.

It was at this juncture of the game that the poor generalship of the Bearcats showed up at its worst. With the ball on their own 20 yard line, a pass was attempted, not a long pass that if intercepted would still be as good a gain as a punt, but a short pass smack into the line of scrimmage. Linfield, hardly contested, intercepted the pass, and carried to the 8 yard line. There the Willamette line again held, and Linfield put over a place kick for the only score of the game. Here another significant shortcoming of the Bearcats was an influence in the game.

So far as we can remember, the Bearcats have not blocked a punt on the home field this year. The same slowness was manifested in the Linfield game, and that team had all the time any team could possibly wish for to get off the scoring place kick.

Two or three times during the last quarter Willamette had excellent chances to score, but for some reason or other—whatever the reason is, it certainly won't be revealed until the judgment day, or maybe later, the Bearcats pulled the same trick that doubtless cost them the Whitman game. With the ball on Linfield's 20 yard line, and one yard to go on the fourth down, or again in the same fix on Linfield's 30 yard line, a place kick was called for. On the home grounds this year, at least, we cannot recall a single time when the Bearcats pulled an off tackle thrust that wasn't good for three or four yards. Yet the place kick was called for, and the ball went anywhere but near the goal posts.

There was hardly any variety of plays on Willamette's part, while Linfield pulled several that would do credit to larger schools. The Bearcats mainly plunged through center, which, apparently from other games on the home field and at least one away, that with C. P. S. at Tacoma, is about the weakest play Willamette has. Now that isn't authoritative, but it is apparent. Zeller, the best line plunger, let that Willamette had in the game, as Schweining was not in suit, was given the ball only two or three times. Waddel was given it a few times, and McMullen, a freshman who has had very little experience, and who naturally isn't up to form yet, was given the ball time after time on plays that can't be classified, as the Linfield players nabbed him usually before he was up to the line of scrimmage.

With the game all but over, Willamette commenced a march into Linfield territory that gave them the ball on Linfield's 20 yard line. Here one of those blamed place kicks were called for, much to the consternation of the fans and the players on the bench. Naturally, the kick was no good, and Willamette's last chance to score was lost forever. One more point, and then we'll quit growling. Riedell is doubtless the best passer any of us in school now has seen with the Bearcats. He can get them off for distance and for accuracy. He passed one lone beautiful one to Winslow, who was clear in front of him to stop him. The ball shot true as a die—and died—sitting through the catcher's hands, and spoiling the best chance in the game for a getaway. Now that might be laid up to hard luck that that particular pass was not caught, but if such is the case, then Willamette has a suspiciously large amount of bad luck.

Now, this is the first time we have growled this year. We believe in the team, and we are still satisfied we have the best one in a long time. We are not complaining about the team, but we consider the unpardonable sin in athletics is that of laying down. We know the Bearcats didn't give their best in the Linfield game, because they played three times as good—played exceptional ball, in fact—against Whitman only a week before.

By the time this paper is read, the game with Albany will have become a matter of history. Doubtless, it will have been a much better game than the Linfield splurge. For the boys have realized their mistake of being overconfident, and at the time of this writing, and seriously putting all they have into an effort to retrieve themselves in the game Armistice day with Albany. Also, the team is pointing toward the Pacific game, and we are willing to wager that the result is going to be different from that of the Whitman game. Pacific should be Willamette's meat this year, although the Forest Grove school has one of its best teams of its career this year. But so have we, and the boys are all hopped up to the highest pitch, with but one object in view, "Pulverize Pacific!"

Getting Past The Gate Or "Getting The Gate"

ISN'T "What kind of a looking fellow is he" the first question on the tip of the tongue when a visitor, whom you don't know, insists upon seeing you? If the reply is, "He's a man of fine appearance," that settles it. You're going to see him.

A man may be a pillar of citizenry and honesty, with a countenance as open as Abe Lincoln's, but if he dresses like a drifter and down-and-outer, he'll never get past the gate. He'll get it instead. Therefore—

Why You Need This Guide

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine." Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan.

"The successful student in college does not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes are overworked." Prof. H. B. Crosby, Yale.

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to neglect. Among the most important things for the student is to learn how to study. Without knowledge of this labor may be largely in vain." Prof. G. F. Swain, M. I. T.

"To students who have never heard 'How to Study,' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insupportable obstacle to contentment." Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort. Get a good start and make this year a highly successful one by sending for this hand-book and guide NOW.

his arms, he raced 50 yards for the first touchdown of the game. The kick failed.

But with victory promising to visit the Bearcats, the Whitman full got off on a fluke run off tackle, the Willamette backs were crowded out of the way, and he ran for 50 yards and across the Willamette line. The kick failed, and the score stood a tie at 6-6.

Whitman, unable to gain a thing on smashes against the Bearcat line, opened up on a desperate passing attack, with pass after pass being successful. One pass gave them the ball on the one yard line, and on three powerful smashes they were able to buck the ball across. The kick was converted. Immediately after, Whitman passed again to the Willamette five yard line, and one unexpected play around end carried the ball over. The kick was again converted.

At this point of the game the Bearcats launched a powerful aerial attack. A 23 yard pass to Mumford from Riedel gave Willamette the ball on Whitman's 20 yard line. Another pass from Riedel to Schweining was within five yards of the goal line, and Schweining literally catapulted across for a touchdown. Stoelzel converted the kick. That was the end of the scoring for the game, although, with but 30 seconds to go Willamette all but tied the score. Successful line bucks and passes gave the Bearcats the ball on Whitman's 20 yard line. On the second down, Riedel tried desperately to pass to Herrman, who had raced across the line, but the pass was knocked down, and as the ball was behind the goal posts, it reverted automatically to Whitman on the 20 yard line. And that was that.

The game was a pleasure to behold, though, for the Bearcats were in the fight from the start to the finish. Schweining played such a game as to keep the crowd continually yelling. He was all in it, bucking and tackling and spotting Whitman passes. Stoelzel played a whiz of a game, easily the best of his career at Willamette. Rhodes also kept his eye on the ball and on the game, and was forever bearing down on the missionaries. Houston at center played such a game as is seldom seen. Not only did he play with such smash that he had the Missionary center keeping all the time, but he tore through the line time after time, dragging the Whitman backs for large losses. After seeing that game it is with a sigh that we have to admit that this is Leo's last year with us.

Mort at guard and Mudra at tackle also played wonderful ball. In fact every man on the Bearcat team was in top shape, and gave the best exhibition of ball seen here in a long time. The fact remains that the game was lost, however, and believe me, the boys who are taking it the hardest are the men on the team. That's something just a wee bit new.

Other Days

From the Collegian of 1911

Considered discussion took place in Salem last Thursday as to whether that day was set apart in honor of Columbus discovery of America or whether it was a gala day to welcome President Taft.

From appearances it was Taft day. At seven in the morning people were wondering if Taft had arisen. The curiosity of some was so great that it impelled them to leave their homes before breakfast and haunt the rear of the president's private car.

At eight o'clock half the people of Salem were eating breakfast with Taft at the Marion hotel, in their fancies.

At 9 o'clock all the people were restless. The majority of the populace was upon the streets making toward the civic center. Youngsters were tugging and pulling to break the bonds of restraint, were seeing Taft in everything that loomed large.

All this time "Willamette spirit," was stealing away in a most amiable manner. "Old Buck" stirred the fire until "the spirits" began to purr. He blew upon the fire and the spirit began to flame and spout. It spout out something that sounded like a Yale yell and again something that sounded like a Taft yell. The students formed in line and marched serpentine fashion on the streets.

As it swung up State street past the University grounds the students collided before the president automobile yelling—Rah! Rah! Rah! Rah! The president is a Yale man. Then the same yell for Taft.

too. Often we have seen smiles after defeats, but not Saturday! Every man took the loss hard—a sure sign that at last Willamette has turned out a team that is all right.

The beauty of it is that a great majority of the men on the team will be back in the game next year. With the fight displayed so far this season, and experience that will naturally accrue with the passing of another year, Willamette looks well to have the best team of her career next season. This isn't applebutter, but hard cold figuring.

The line-up for the game follows:

| | | |
|---------------|----------|-----------|
| Willamette | Position | Whitman |
| Riedel | RE | Schiller |
| Mudra | RT | Caley |
| Mort | RG | Warwick |

E. Kinney Miller Writes Good Word

During Homecoming week we had the pleasure of renewing our acquaintance with many of our Alumni. It is always encouraging to hear and see their interest in all that concerns Willamette. This interesting letter was received by G. Oscar Oliver from one of the Alumni, E. Kinney Miller, '05, now in Y. M. C. A. work at Muncie, Indiana.

Dear Old Friend:

I see by the Collegian that you are back at W. U. As for myself, I feel buried in the middle west and hope that some day I will be fortunate enough to return to the far west where I belong.

I believe that there is a new day ahead in education and that the school which insists on Rational Christian Living as a part of the process of Christian Education will be the school that will lead. I hope that W. U. will lift the standard and be again a pioneer in Education, standing alone, if need be, in order to make a contribution to the cause of Real Christian Education; not the sawdust trail kind, nor the "holier than thou" kind, but the kind that produces a graduate who realizes that the educated man must live the educated life and that means the Christian life.

I wish that I could be back at Willamette for Homecoming and to try to carry the ball again with the Alumni in their tilt with this year's team. (Mr. Miller was one of Willamette's great athletes.)

Remember me to the men of my vintage.

Here's best wishes to you and to the future of our Alma Mater.

—E. KINNEY MILLER.

were accustomed to accept that which was given to them by the professors unquestioningly; what attitudes they had were kept quiet and the school was turning out Christians—Christians whose own souls were saved.

A significant beginning of the new movement was the Indianapolis convention to which we sent our delegates. A religion with a social basis has been formed and with it our hope of the Student Fellowship movement. If it is to go forward the students must learn to think for themselves, the word radical must not suppress them, the facts are what count. What is wrong must be criticized and through it all must be maintained the glow of youth.

Think what you will but think; criticize what you will but think. A fellowship is not for self but for the campus, the church and the world.

Of all wild beasts, preserve me from a tyrant; and of all tame, from a flatterer.—Ben Johnson.

There is compensation in every thing. If one follow is dumber than the other one, the other is brighter to make up for it.
