ACTIVITIES REACH CLIMAX IN SCHEME

CAMPUS TO BE CLEANED

Banquet, Rally, Play, Game and Fireworks to be Salient Features

Activities in preparation for Homecoming have reached their climax during the past week. The Blue Key Fraternity has taken charge of the Homecoming programs. Harold Shellhart and Frank Lombard having been chosen for the positions of editor and manager, respectively. The programs will contain the pictures, names, and numbers of the players on the opposing teams in the Willamette-C. P. S. game, as well as other interesting material on Homecoming, making them necessary to a proper enjoyment of the events of the week-end. They will be offered for sale today by all Blue Key men.

All classes will be expected to have their men out to clean up the campus Friday afternoon under the supervision of Kenneth Vanice. The leaves have been falling rapidly during the past week, and there will be plenty of work for everyone.

Dress rehearsals of the Homecoming play started Wednesday and it is now in shape to bid for the approval of the student body and their guests Saturday night. The sale of tickets is progressing rapidly and a full house is anticipated.

The freshmen have been an important part in the preparations. Claude Harris promises an entertaining display of fireworks on Friday night and the underclassmen will put on some stunts at the game Saturday.

The game itself is expected to provide plenty of thrills for the spectators. C. P. S. has beaten College of Idaho, last year's conference champions, by a score of six to nothing and had very little trouble in eliminating Linfield fifty to nothing. There is good reason for the opinion that this game will be the crucial one in the Northwest conference race. It is said that this season Willamette has one of the best opportunities in many years to capture the coveted conference title.

Willamette night has been postponed until the basketball season but there will be a big pajama parade on Friday night attendance at which will be enforced by "W" club.

JOSEPHINE BROSS GOES TO TORONTO TO STUDY

Miss Josephine Bross leaves this week for Toronto, Ontario, Canada. On Tuesday evening the First Methodist choir presented her with a farewell remembrance. Prof. E. W. Hobson and Dr. Fred Taylor also gave tokens of appreciation for her faithful service.

During her attendance at Willamette university, Miss Bross was an active member of the Women's Glee club. She has been a member of the choir for seven years and has assisted Prof. Hobson in accompanying and directing. She will continue her study of music in Toronto.

Song to be a Loyalty Song. Date is Not Set for Occasion But Will be in March

With the election by the freshmen class of Wesley Roeder as Freshman Glee manager plans are formulating for the annual song fest.

The theme of the songs this year will be loyalty, according to the decision of the Student Glee committee. Work on the composition of the song is being considered by all of the classes with one of them having made a definite start. The date has not been definitely set as yet, but the event will occur sometime in March. Bids for the floral decorations are being sought by the manager, and he is also making arrangements for the use of some of last year's stage paraphenalia.

SCHOLARSHIP CUP IS AWARDED TO KAPPAS

The fraternity scholarship cup was awarded in Chapel Friday to the Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity as having the highest scholastic average for the second semester of the past school year.

This cup was presented to the university by Mr. Joseph Albert of Salem. It is awarded each semester and becomes the permanent trophy of the fraternity that wins it three consecutive times.

The first award of the cup was made to the Alpha Psi Deltas for the spring term of 1924-25. Since then it has been awarded as follows: 1925-26, first semester, Epsilon Delta Mu; second semester, Alpha Psi Delta; 1926-27, Epsilon Delta Mu; both semesters, 1927-28, Kappa Gamma Rho, both semesters.

The grade averages this year were very close: Kappa Gamma Rho, 85.99; Sigma Tau 85.44; Alpha Psi Delta, 84.80.

Addition to Bearcat Squad "Tiny" Griffith, 220 pounds of All-state tackle from Arkansas reported to "Spec" Keene Tuesday. With both size and football experience Griffith should be a great help to the coaches in their efforts to build a powerful line.

Greetings!

Willamette welcomes you, you for whom the school existed, you who gave yourself to it and which you still love. Willamette is worthy; by history, tradition, works and assured increase it is worthy. You love it for what it was and is and is to be. And where love is, there also is the heart, there is home. No wonder you return. The mystic ties of affection reaching from campus to office and farm, school room and roof-tree draw you back to the scenes where so much of your life had its congenial rooting. Faculty, students, the city welcomes you with cordial gratitude for your unfeigned loyalty.

NEW WOMEN'S CLUB KITS, IS STARTED

WOMEN COMPOSE GROUP

Petition in Hands of Faculty; Organization Similar to That of Cubs

A group of Sophomore women who formerly composed the Vigilance Committee is petitioning the faculty for permission to organize a service club, called the Kits, resembling the Cubs in purpose and character, on the Willamette campus. The constitution is modeled after the constitutions of several service clubs active in Oregon and Washington universities. This type of organization is felt to be necessary in campus activities, and added to its serviceable aspect, the establishment of this body is a progressive step in Willamette's upbuilding.

The plan of organization is similar to that of the Cubs' except that there will only be twenty members in the body, whereas there are twenty-five admitted to membership in the Cubs. Three Sophomore women and two Freshmen women from the Independent club, three Sophomore and two Freshmen women from each of the three sororities will compose the body. The plan of admittance to membership has not as yet been disclosed.

Miss Olive Dahl, dean of women, surveyed the general plan of organization, and was well pleased with the measure. If the action of the faculty is favorable, definite and detailed steps will be taken to effect the organization of this club. The proponents hope to be actively functioning Homecoming week-end.

The charter members of the body will be the following women, who, at present, compose the Vigilance Committee: Rorald Van Winkle, chairman; Harriet Hageman, Grace Henderson, Margaret Warnke, Pauline Findley, Edna Card, and Norabel Pratt.

Collegians in Favor of Sunday Movies. Eugene Federated Churches Oppose

The question of whether or not University of Oregon students of voting age are eligible to cast their ballots in the national and city election in Eugene November 6 has assumed the aspects of a legal battle. The dispute has arisen because of the measure coming up there concerning the prohibition of Sunday movies in Eugene. An ordinance is now in effect banning movies on the Sabbath and University students in round numbers of five to one are opposed to the measure, which makes Eugene one of the few larger towns in the country taking this stand.

The opposition to student voting is coming from an organization calling itself the Eugene Federated Church Brotherhoods, which is so vehement in its opposition.

"W" CLUB TO BE HOSTS AT A BANQUET TONIGHT

Dean Hewitt to Act as Toastmaster, Phillips to Talk. Squad Guests of Club

The "W" club will be hosts at 5:30 this evening at a banquet to be held in the city Y. M. C. A. rooms at which 80 men will be present.

The guests of honor will include the present football squad and coaches, 10 Salem business men who have been supporting Willamette athletics, and all alumni who have won letters in varsity sports and are present at Homecoming.

Dean R. R. Hewitt will act as toastmaster during the evening, and Willis Hathaway, president of the "W" club will give the welcoming address. Mr. Bill Phillips, a local business man is on the program, and several alumni will be called on to speak, among whom will be Brazier Small, a former W. U. football hero. The final pep talk will be given by Coach Keene.

Music will be furnished by the Alpha Psi Delta orchestra and the banquet will be served by Willamette girls.

PHILOSOPHIAN GROUP FORMALLY DISBANDED

A small group of members assembled after chapel Monday and formally disbanded the Philodorian Society. This action according to Esther Lisle, past president, marks the passing of one of the oldest organizations of this type in the West, the society having been formed in 1883.

Several years ago the word literary was stricken from the name and the aim of the group became entirely social. Even this change did not live the order since its purposes had been usurped by other organizations.

The Adelante society disbanded last spring, and at present the Chrestomathean society is considering taking the same action.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The first law school student body meeting of the year will be held on the third floor of Waller Hall at 8 p. m. on October 30. Refreshments will be served.

Welcome Loggers!

In behalf of the students of Willamette University, I take pleasure in welcoming to our campus the team and accompanying students from the College of Puget Sound. We of Willamette cherish most pleasant memories of our past relations with your school, and in particular of the royal reception given to us in Tacoma last year. It is our desire that our meeting at this time shall be a continuation and furtherance of the pleasant relations of the past.

Peck, Editor Stanford Daily Chosen President. Meet At Stanford 1929

The Pacific Intercollegiate Press held its annual convention in Berkeley, California on the University of California campus. Ten publications were represented in the meeting and Stanford University was chosen as the meeting place of the association next year. Templeton Peck, editor of the Stanford Palo Alto was elected as president of the organization, and James Frank, manager of the same publication was chosen as vice-president. King Wilkins who is the graduate manager of all the University of California publications was named as corresponding secretary.

The group opened its conference with an informal tour of the campus Thursday morning under the tutelage of Marion Plant, editor of the Daily Californian. This was followed by a luncheon served in Stephen's Union after which the editors and managers separated each group taking up in discussion their own problems. After adjournment was made for the afternoon a trip was made through the plant of the Daily Californian. Friday morning the same method of open convalesce was pursued. In the afternoon delegates were permitted to attend.

SIGN OCCUPIES TALENT OF ALL SOCIAL GROUPS

To be Judged by Three People in Accordance with Four Rules Seven Participate

In competition for the Homecoming sign cup which was offered as an award by the executive committee for the first time last year, the campus fraternities, sororities, and the Lausanne Hall are hard at work on their respective signs.

In accordance with the specifications of the executive committee, the cup is a permanent award offered each year to the house or hall displaying the best Homecoming sign. The judging committee of three is to be composed of a trustee, a faculty member and a business man alumni. The judging is to be according to originality, cleverness and appropriateness, both by day and night.

The rules governing the signs are:

1. The sign may be located on either house or grounds.
2. Expense must be limited to ten dollars, the amount of which must be sent to the Homecoming manager.
3. The sign must be completed by 6 p. m. on Friday.

In addition to these rules the executive committee this year is requesting that if any of the groups entering the competition desire the judges to approach the sign from any particular direction that such a desire be made known to the Homecoming manager in due time.

Presentation of the cup will be made at the Homecoming play on Saturday evening.

The Old Historic Temple

Students and alumni alike unite under the strains of this song. To the student it increases in the deepness of feeling of meaning as he nears graduation, and to the alumnus it recalls other days, of fun and work. It is a welcome banner to all who have entered the doors of Waller.

Quoting from an editorial of one of the leading Portland dailies, "Throughout its career, Willamette has been noted for outstanding men and women in its alumni. Governors, United States senators, supreme judges and men of like distinction have long been drafted from its alumni organization. Its annual alumni exercises are always brilliant." What "The Old Historic Temple" has seen men and women pass out for many alumni exercises are always brilliant." Is it to be wondered at that Willamette is proud of its alumni. And it is equally plain that these alumni should be proud of Willamette.

"The Old Historic Temple" has seen men and women pass out for many years. It will continue to aid students in the future and will continue to be the binding tie of its graduates.

This is the reason that alumni are wanted and welcomed back at this their sixth annual homecoming. We are a part of Willamette. We want to join them once again in the singing of our song, "The Old Historic Temple."

Glory Is the Result of Work

Two boys were climbing the hill up from Rogers field to the post office. It was almost dark, but below them on the field the football team was still practicing in a blaze of artificial light.

"If I had only started out from the first to do something," one of them was heard to mutter, "I might be somewhere by now—they'd at least know my face by this time. But I didn't know enough to start so I ain't nobody."

"Well, I started out early enough," replied his companion. "Remember when I was turning out for baseball? I might of made something of that, only I quit when I didn't make the varsity."

Runners were circling the track below—starting early to prepare for contests still months away. The football men still at scrimmage were sticking to a job that does not look as though it could possibly be all fun. And on both squads were freshmen who were setting out right from the beginning to accomplish something definite, and juniors and seniors who, without having yet won much praise or recognition, were still turning out faithfully.

When the school is victorious in any contest, it is these men who will get all the honor and glory—and they will deserve it.

They started early to prepare themselves for the fray, and they stuck to training until they were good enough to rate the teams to which they aspired.

Open Forum

It is the purpose of the Collegian to conduct an Open Forum of the students on the editorial page. There is nothing more stimulating than the exchange of ideas, and the necessitated support of one's precepts which may result. We hope thus to live these columns, and to create more interest in the editorial page. All articles must be signed, but the author's name may be withheld at the discretion of the editor.

Dilatory Attendance

Some people are able to get to classes on time while others cannot always keep up with the second bell. Habitual tardiness brings annoyance to the class and to the professor upon whom it is inflicted; nor does its resultant influence end there for it creates a bad impression of the individual everywhere. In the case of the freshman the inference drawn is that he does not quite know what it is all about, but of an upperclassman the supposition changes from a standpoint of ignorance to one of indifference and carelessness in attitude. Being late amounts to more than the time marked by the clock. It indicates a lack of efficiency, intelligence, pride, and interest in the makeup of the individual.

Forethought

Willamette University is the oldest institution west of the Rockies, and is situated in the heart of Salem, the capitol of the state of Oregon. Its alumni residence roll covers the entire globe. To date it has a registration of 530 students. Each year these students leave with the business interests of the city $300,000 the major part of which is new money. Further, the University is in a measure responsible for the state buildings being located in Salem due to the influence exerted in earlier days by its alumni.

Each year for the past six years Willamette has been holding an annual homecoming in connection with a football game played on Sweetland Field and has been endeavoring to gather back more alumni annually for the occasion.

Then will someone please give this information to the business organizations of the city who apparently are unaware of it?

Then will this same person kindly tell us why these same organizations have but recently arranged to dedicate an athletic field on the same day that Willamette is holding its Homecoming, Saturday?

The reserve shelves are being filled with reference books, and with the demand for these books comes the recurrent abuses. Consideration for fellow students should be shown in the use of these privileges. When a professor mentions that a certain book is to be read by the class, and that it will be put on the reserve shelf it is not a signal for some individual to immediately dash over to the library and procure this book thus keeping it out of circulation for the time being. It is a pretty good idea to play square even in the use of books.

We join heartily with the sentiment expressed by a republican speaker at the close of a recent campaign talk. The band had just finished playing the Star Spangled Banner. He turned to his audience saying that it sounded good to hear the national anthem, and to know that "East side, West side" was not going to take its place at the White House.

Reaction on the change in style of Collegian as received by the editor in this week's mail.

To the Editor:—
The first three issues of the Collegian for this year have been received and read with considerable interest. The adoption of the tabloid style certainly meets with my highest approval. The use of the smaller and more numerous pages offering the opportunity for departmentalizing and the use of other features ought to result in a brighter and better paper than was possible with the old style of publication.

Yours truly,

Hugh McGilvra.

Editor Washington County News-Times and past editor of Collegian.

Along the Way

We, The Wayfarers extend our most hearty welcome to you, our Alumni, whom we all know through personal acquaintance or the pleasant tie of our Alma Mater's kinship. May you feel that this is more than a "breathing" sentiment—more than mere words.

If you notice any of the younger Cubs strutting around with their chests out like balloons, don't begin to worry about a new superiority complex, which you didn't have in the old days.

For the past week they've been paying heavily for the privilege of wearing the blinding sweater.

Ask them how it feels to run around with a red ribbon tie and a doll-baby; how much fun it is to walk out of Chapel backwards with all the fair rookies looking gleefully on. Whoa!

It is rumored that the manager of the Delta Phi sorority house has been approached by representatives of a prominent razor manufacturing concern with offers relative to using the O. K. of the house in advertising its products.

Members of this house, it seems, have been using this brand of the keen-edged instrument to mow the upcoming grass in their back yard.

Gabby Garrulous says that one would think Homecoming was Christmas from the way all our little freshmen have calmed down and apparently set in to be "good boys."

Just a suggestion to the one high in student affairs whom we saw, recently, throwing darts into the air by means of the traditional string and stick: to him, the Biblical saying, "When I was a child, I played as a child, but now that I am a man I have put away childish things."

We sincerely hope the only excuse our guests, C. P. S., can give Saturday will be "We didn't make enough touchdowns!"

The results of the straw vote taken in Chapel last week seem to point out that the promises of the democratic presidential nominee, about the matter of drinks being served once more from The Fountain, have fallen upon stony ground.

"I took too many strokes," said George Von Elm, the California Golfer, when he lost out in the National Amateur Championship, recently.

MRS. "YOU'LL have to SLEEP with HOOVER, then," broke in one of the carpenters.

Ten Years Ago

Monster Rally Friday night—Freshmen will build the big bonfire, and already downtown merchants are beginning to be surprised by the verdant appearance of their back yards as a green cap bobs up suddenly revealing a frosh in search of some material to feed the greedy flames. The big jubilee will close with a final yell and song practice in preparation for the morrow's game.

Y. W. C. A. extension work for the winter is well begun. Classes are to be held for the girls at Chemawa every Monday evening at the same hour those are held for the boys by the Y. M. C. A. Besides this, the members plan to do other social service work when the need is brought to their notice.

The shipment of Willamette song books is expected sometime this week.

The culprits who entered the gymnasium some time last summer and stole a considerable amount of gymnasium paraphernalia have been detected. The greater part of the property will be returned in the near future.

It may not be generally known to the students that shortly after commencement last June, the city council of Salem passed an ordinance providing that free electricity should be supplied every night until 12 o'clock for the two brick pillars at the entrance to Eaton Hall.

The Women's Junior College Union of Missouri will hold a track meet, the first Missouri conference meet for women, at Columbia, Mo., next spring. Shakespeare knew football. The Bard of Evon surely shows a knowledge of the game in his work, for he said, "We must have bloody noses and cracked crowns." He surpasses the modern sporting writers in vigor.

THETA ALPHA PLAY TO BE OF INTEREST

Children Make Standards for Parents. These Parents Shatter The Dream

When the children of a family set standards for their parents, whom they have not seen since babyhood, and those parents rudely shatter their dreams of a little home-loving mother aged beyond her years by strenuous years in India and an up-standing military father who jealously guards his withered little wife—what happens? The situation in "Alice Sit by the Fire," the Theta Alpha Phi play to be presented Saturday evening at the Oregon theatre, is even more complicated because the family in question consists of a sweet but slightly dramatic daughter, a typical touchy schoolboy son, and a baby with a devotedly jealous nurse.

Virginia Edwards, as Alice, is the frivolous but lovable young wife of the colonel (Don Grant). Her most difficult task is being mother of two children who are unknown to her other than through their carefully thought out letters. However, the cheerful unconcern with which she undertakes the mothering of her eighteen year old daughter is brought to a sudden crisis—but that is part of the secret of the play.

The colonel is far from being stiff and military, and although he seems to understand his young son and daughter better than their mother, he, too, is under suspicion before the last curtain.

The part of Amy, the beautiful and disturbing daughter, is played by Ruth Bauer, while Genivra, her best friend is Eloise White in real life. Now, Genivra has a tendency to liken life to the plays she sees at the theatre, and this tendency leads her and Amy to do most startling things, which while funny to the audience are anything but funny to Amy's parents.

Cosmo (Jack Routh) dislikes his name and is prepared to dislike his father but circumstances change his attitude toward both parents.

The baby is ably championed by her nurse, Bernice Jackson takes this role, but although she is only a nurse she must add her part to the family squabbles.

Steve Rollo (Olven Bowe) is an old friend of Alice and the colonel, but Amy doesn't trust him and at times even Alice and her husband doubt the honesty of his intentions.

Esther Lisle takes the part of Richardson, Steve's servant, and it isn't necessarily a minor part either for she leads the plot into amazing paths and leaves the others to untangle it.

Recent rehearsals are said to prove the wisdom of Dr. Gatke and Miss Walker in selecting the cast and the play—clever actors and a light comedy—to greet the alumni.

Elyria, Ohio—Secondary and higher educational institutions in the United States are estimated to have total enrollments of over 5,000,000 students this year. Of these approximately 1,000,000 are attending colleges, universities, and graduate schools.

CUSTOM ABUSED

Providence, R. I.—The Brown university Cammarain club, an undergraduate organization, has abolished the custom of having the freshmen wear white-buttoned, brown caps because an investigation showed that an over-zealous merchant was bootlegging the caps to a number of newsboys and high school students.

The problem of making the yearlings conspicuous has been solved by ordering that black ties become a prominent part of the newcomers' wardrobes.

AT EMMONS

Welcome home grads! And don't forget to drop in and say "hello" at this shop.

We want to repeat—lavender and helio are outstandingly smart colors for shirts and neckwear this fall. Watch for them.

Authoritative style predictions for next spring mention the lighter shades of reddish browns along with new shades of tan as likely contenders for outstanding popularity in suitings.

And along that line—there is a noticeable tendency, locally, away from the very dark shades of blue and grey and toward the new red browns, ox-bloods and wine shades. The latter are shown with single-breasted vest and regular trousers. Consider them carefully before you choose.

Several shops in Chicago are showing hand painted neckties. Expensive? Rather!

Our featured color ensemble this week includes a single breasted two-button peak lapel suit in a rich cocoa brown, a golden brown hat with narrow brim and tapered crown, a collar attached shirt of plain pale blue with a tan and blue figured foulard tie.

OREGON STATERS ARE GIVEN GRIDGRAPH DANCE

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, CORVALLIS, Oct. 24—(Pip)—Gridgraph dances are popular here whenever the college football team plays out of town. The variety O association conducts a play by play description upon a large electrically operated board in the men's gymnasium for students who cannot travel to see the team play but wish to get the thrills.

A school orchestra plays while the fans dance between halves, or even during the process of the game report. So far this season the gridgraph has depicted the University of Southern California-Oregon State game and the Washington State-Oregon State game.

Willamette Couple Married Friday

Coming as a complete surprise to their many friends is the announcement of the marriage of Beniah Wampler, of Salem, and Wayne Welch, of Allice. The ceremony took place on Friday, in Vancouver, Washington. The young couple spent their honeymoon at the coast.

Mrs. Welch is a member of the Senior class, and of the Delta Phi sorority, of which she is president. She is also affiliated with the Clonlan Literary Society, and has been active in inter-class athletics at Willamette.

Mr. Welch is also a member of the class of '29, and is president of the Alpha Psi Delta fraternity. He has taken an interest in all athletics, has played on the varsity baseball team, and is now manager of the football team.

Vivian Hauge Announces Engagement

Of interest to many Willamette students is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Vivian Hauge to Mr. Elton Larson of Seattle.

The announcement was made at Beta Chi on Friday, October 19. A large bouquet of lovely rose buds was distributed at dinner and in the heart of each bud was a folded slip bearing the names of the couple.

Miss Hauge is an ex-member of the class of '30 and a member of the Beta Chi sorority. Mr. Larson attended the University of Washington.

Former Willamette Student Weds

Carolyn Lambirth and Carlen Simpson, both of Salem, were married at a quiet ceremony at high noon on Friday, Oct. 19th. Rev. Willamette Graduate To Present Play Soon

The first entertainment of the Salem Drama League this fall includes a one-act tragedy, "Jon," written by Mrs. Merrill Ohling.

The play has been presented in the East, but will be given in Salem for the first time in November. George Dunn's Japanese play, "A Dear Little Wife," will be produced at the same time.

"Jon" was accepted by the Walter H. Baker Co., and printed in their anthology of one-act plays. They pronounced it one of the "plays that may or may not be of value to the commercial manager, but which the stage can ill afford to lose."

Mrs. Ohling (Odell Savage) was a Willamette graduate with the class of 1920, and is a member of the Beta Chi sorority. After graduation, Mrs. Ohling continued her studies at Wellesley, and while there she wrote "Jon".

This summer he stopped at the herbariums at St. Louis and Chicago. After he completes his research at Harvard he will go to New York and then to the Smithsonian Institute at Washington. Before he returns he will probably go over seas. Mrs. Peck is assisting him in his work.

Duties Require Him to be On The Road for All But Two of The Days of Week

Professor C. L. Andrews, instructor in Religious Education at Kimball is also a representative of the Oregon Council of Religious Education for the Oregon Conference of the Methodist church. He teaches at Kimball on Tuesdays and Thursdays devoting the remainder of his time to the above work.

This system has been in vogue for some time by the Presbyterians under their own denominational board.

PAST WILLAMETTE MEN'S PATHS CROSS

George Rigby, who graduated in 1927, last year received his master's degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. While in Willamette Mr. Rigby majored in chemistry, and his work in the eastern school was research into the constitution of flax cellulose.

Mr. Rigby returned to the Institute in September to begin work on his doctor's degree. He received scholarships for meritorious research work done last year, and during the past summer he received offers of positions with several of the leading chemical manufacturers of the country, including the DuPont company.

In a letter recently received Mr. Rigby stated that he had received visits from seven Willamette alumni since his return to Boston this fall. Among those who visited were Oury Hisey, '25, who is chemist for the Oxford Paper company at Rumford, Maine, and Victor Carlson, '27, who was editor of the Willamette Collegian two years ago and is now a reporter on the Boston Transcript. Victor Logan, a former Willamette student, is also studying at the Institute and teaching chemistry in a small college in Boston.

MONTGOMERY GIVES INTERESTING TALK

Human Bodies are Never Buried but Are Chopped Into Bits Which Animals Eat

Dr. William Montgomery McGovern, the scientist-explorer who forced his way into Lhasa, the sacred city of Tibet, related many amusing and stirring incidents of his experiences on the journey, when he lectured in the gymnasium on October 18.

Many months elapsed before Dr. Montgomery was able to perfect his disguise as a coolie thus enabling him to enter the city from which he had been expelled by the officials and told never to reenter. After he had discolored his eyes with lemon juice and stained his body a yellowish hue, he temporarily promoted his servants to the degree of his master and he himself took the inferior position.

Months were spent in the mountain passes trying to beat a path through snow and ice. After many trying hardships and difficult encounters the sacred city of Lhasa was reached.

Dr. McGovern was in constant peril from the fanatical monks and was finally captured and confined for weeks as a prisoner of state by the Delia Lama, the supreme Buddhist pontiff. Fortunately he was able to make his escape with a motion picture record of the strange city and its even stranger inhabitants. He found Tibet a country of strange customs. Human bodies are never buried but are chopped into bits and fed to the dogs and animals. The Tibetians never wash from the day they are born until the day they die due to their peculiar religious beliefs. It is a land of huge monasteries where occasionally bitter and savage warfare is waged between the different native factions. It is a country of Polyandry, where women head the families and where many husbands are humble, devoted slaves to their one wife.

The lecture was held under the auspices of Willamette university and the Presbyterian and Methodist churches.

sition that it has lined up a plan of legal battle with Donald Husband, Eugene attorney, leading the forces. The "Brotherhood" claims that students who have their homes outside of Eugene are not legally entitled to the right of this franchise.

Joe McKeown, president of the student body, has announced a special meeting of the student executive council for the purposes of having a competent attorney to do battle for the collegians.

"The word 'brotherhood' has generally been accepted as signifying an attitude tending toward democracy; yet this organization plans to eliminate the exercise of a right granted by the United States constitution," declared Arden X. Pangborn, editor of the Emerald, in a front page editorial.

"If the allegations of the legal adviser of the 'brotherhood' should happen to be right and some of the students have voted illegally, can city officials feel safe in their positions? Oh what disgrace the fair city of Eugene must feel, realizing for years past it has been guided in part by illegal votes! Shades of Chicago!"

The assessed valuation of fraternity and sorority property in the city of Eugene amounts to approximately one million two hundred thousand dollars. Students pay taxes on this property, it is shown. It is also brought to argument that the students annually spend approximately more than two million dollars in Eugene.

"If the students be kept from voting, why not boycott the Eugene merchants?" the Emerald asks. It points out that Princeton students have thought of the same thing in its controversy of the same nature with Princeton. New Jersey, city officials. Several riots, or near riots, resulted from the challenging of the student vote in Princeton.

REVIEW OF OCTOBER ALUMNUS IS GIVEN

Booklet Contains Interesting Articles. Mention Made of New Sorority Houses

The October Alumnus is out, and its contents prove it well worth the waiting. The cover, done in red and white, its only decoration an attractive cut of Lausanne Hall, bids fair to be artistic.

"Adventure," the first page article, sweeps swiftly from distant ages of youth and adventure up to the present where "The college curriculum also feels the thrill of the new. The newer developments of science naturally find a place for themselves but the shades of Elizabeth Cheever and of many subsequent generations of schoolmasters must stir as colleges add to their programs not only courses in the theory of aviation, wind current and propeller dynamics but actual instruction in flying."

President Doney and Mr. Edgar F. Averill, president of the Alumni association strike the true keynote of this issue in articles demonstrating how we as a university stand and what we can do to remedy our standing in regard to the big campaign opening November 18 for the permanent endowment fund.

Prof. Hobson himself appears with the jolly caption, "Maker of Melody" that does not belie the interesting things to be read of him in the subsequent article which tells all about how he looks in chapel, what he used to do, and how he walks. You'll enjoy reading it.

"Affid with Franklin," written by Dr. F. D. Franklin concerning some of the intriguing aspects of his recent trip to Japan and China as a member of the Upton Close Student Tour of the Orient, could not but prove both interesting and profitable to any reader.

Under the prosaic disguise of the title "At Chapel" is given, in his own inimitable style, one of the always up-to-par chapel addresses of Professor Matthews. We defy the most world-weary of alumni to read it with anything less than feverishness until Professor Matthews calmly, in his own good time, comes at length to the place where he is ready to tell just what it was the old lady really said.

Professor McCormick's new book, "Thinking Through the Bible," is given a good explanation by Professor C. M. Keefer of Kimball.

Campus changes as to drive-ways, new rooms, window shades, and a carpet are reviewed. This year's athletics and athletes are covered in good magazine style. Even marriages are not overlooked.

In order to find when and where who are doing what, turn to page 17. It is all there!

Four deaths are listed.

Two articles, one, taken from the Christian Advocate on "Squaring the Account," the other, describing the two new houses of the Beta Chi and Delta Phi sororities, do honors for the last page.

USE OF LAW BOOKS WAS TOPIC IN LAW LECTURE

Mr. Fred A. Eldean, representing one of the leading law book publishing companies, gave a series of lectures on the use of law books on Friday and Saturday of last week. He brought out the fact that many lawyers waste valuable time by using haphazard methods of research. If the attorneys used the method that the editors of the various digests and encyclopedias had in mind, they would be able to work with increased speed and certainty. Mr. Eldean illustrated the use of this method as applied to the leading digest systems.

EXCURSION TRAIN TO TRANSPORT ROOTERS

Word was received Tuesday morning by the President of the Student Body that C. P. S. plans to send an excursion to Salem for the game between Willamette University and that school.

The letter, asking for special student rates, was turned over to Leslie Sparks, the graduate manager, who has written them acknowledging their interest and allowing them the same rates as were given to W. U. students last year—the student body ticket and twenty-five cents.

Willamette students are planning a hospitable welcome for the 150 visitors, whose school last year entertained them so royally at Tacoma. The special train will stop on State street at 12:30 Saturday and will be met by Willamette students with cars to transport the C. P. S. students about town.

The presence of an organized rooting section will aid the C. P. S. team materially as did the loyal support given the Bearcats when they met the Loggers last year at Tacoma.

MRS. J. CANSE RETURNS FROM A DELEGATE TRIP

Mrs. J. M. Canse of Kimball returned Friday from Wichita, Kansas where she represented the Oregon Conference at a meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society. She reports a very enjoyable time. There were about three hundred voting delegates from all over the United States. On Friday of this week Mrs. Canse is to report to the semi-annual meeting of the society of the Portland District in Portland. The old peoples' home here at Salem, and the Portland Settlement Center are under the supervision of the W. H. M. S.

MEET THE TEAM

May we introduce Wayne Page, former Dallas High veteran, who is playing his first year under the Cardinal and Gold. Wayne could not turn out for football last year, but he is making up for it this season and the fact that he made the Varsity squad the first year he turned out is a true indication of his fighting spirit and ability. Page is a go-getter, an excellent ball-carrier, and a good defensive player, so there is no doubt that he will be called upon Saturday to help stop the Loggers.

Ed Cardinal needs little introduction to Willamette fans as an all-conference center, and, at the rate he is improving, he will soon become just as well known for his football prowess as for his basketball. The versatile Ed is not only a dandy punter, a good passer, and a speedy ground-gainer, but he also has the traditional Willamette FIGHT which determines whether a game is won or lost.

"Randy" Pope is one of "Squint" Dimmick's proteges from Raymond, Washington, where he was a three-year letterman at center. Pope has been alternate center on the Varsity and will probably be called upon to play at least a part of the College of Puget Sound game. Randy is so full of fight and so scrappy that the Loggers will think that they have run up against a buzz saw when they try to dent the center of the line.

KAPPAS TROUNCE THE ALPHA PSI MEMBERS

On last Thursday, during the noon hour, a battle was fought—a fierce and violent struggle; namely, a football game between the Alpha Psis and the Kappas. After forty minutes of pushing and pulling, running and falling the score was 6 to 0 in favor of the Kappas.

Both teams were beautifully attired in the latest lightweight football suits; in fact, Don Earl's sweat-shirt, following the tackle by Van Dyke, was so light in weight that it was practically not there at all. Frequent penalties were inflicted by Referee Hillis, and often the game was halted to find the players among the mob of enthusiasts and rabid rooters crowding onto the field.

In the first two minutes of play Schomp intercepted an Alpha Psi pass and galloped thirty-five yards to the one and only score of that great game. The remainder of the game saw the tide of battle away, first toward the Kappa goal, then toward that of the Alpha Psis. The latter team threatened several times in the first period, but was held for downs three times in succession within the fifteen-yard line. Harris was the only consistent ground-gainer for the Alpha Psis, while Yarnes featured in some good gains off tackle and around the ends for the Kappas.

Never before has the presidential campaign spirit been so strong on the campus. Although many are new at the game, they are getting great political training. There is nothing like getting started early even in the game of politics.

College of Puget Sound Favorite in Early "Dope"

Judging from recent history, the College of Puget Sound football team will enter Saturday's game against Willamette on Sweetland field, a big favorite, for it has been eight years since a Willamette team defeated the Tacoma Methodists institution at football.

The fact is that Puget Sound has come to be considered a sort of "jinx" for Willamette, for several times in those eight years Willamette has seemed stronger than its brother college, but got the short end of the score nevertheless.

Last year the "jinx" was partly overcome; the game, played in the Tacoma stadium, resulted in a 6 to 6 tie. The Willamette team scored on the first kickoff of the game, a Bearcat player falling on the ball back of Puget Sound's goal line. For the rest of the game Coach Hubbard's men had the upper hand, registering 14 first downs to Willamette's four but managed to put over only one touchdown.

For some reason, probably the distance, these two Methodist schools have not engaged each other in athletics for very many years. Both have been strong, particularly in football, for a decade or more.

Records reveal that as long ago as 1911 Willamette and College of Puget Sound, which then was known as University of Puget Sound, played one game and Willamette won 29 to 0.

There weren't any more games until 1919, but since that year, the two schools have played every year. Here are the scores:

1919—Willamette 10; Puget Sound 0.
1920—Willamette 24; Puget Sound 0.
1921—Puget Sound 19; Willamette 6.
1922—Puget Sound 9; Willamette 0.
1923—Puget Sound 14; Willamette 6.
1924—Puget Sound 8; Willamette 0.
1925—Puget Sound 7; Willamette 5.
1926—Puget Sound 9; Willamette 6.
1927—Willamette 0; Puget Sound 0.

Revision at Columbia

Displacing the present curriculum of twenty years' standing a revised plan of undergraduate study, designed to open new and larger intellectual vistas to the student, will go into effect at Columbia college. The first two years will be given to genuine work in preparation for graduate or professional study, or for "the yet more serious business of living a useful and high-minded life."

The new plan includes such innovations as lecture courses demanding neither prerequisites nor examinations, and reading courses given co-operatively in different but allied departments of study.

The week's high-light in the Northwest Conference race was the seizing of undisputed leadership by the College of Puget Sound. The boys from C. P. S. were very impressive in running up a 50 to 0 score on the fighting but badly crippled Linfield Wildcats.

College of Idaho showed a return to form by trouncing Pacific's grid warriors 27-6. Pacific, after playing O. A. C. and Washington on successive week-ends, was too tired to cope with Idaho on the Caldwell gridiron.

The score shows that Idaho, despite her defeat at Tacoma, is still a factor in the race for championship honors. As the fight begins in earnest, four teams are favored by critics to fight it out down the stretch.

C. P. S., with two conference victories and the massacre of the U. S. S. Lexington to her credit, may be classed as favorite. Whitman, with a fine record outside of the conference, is another favorite. College of Idaho, with the prestige of their 1927 championship behind them, must be counted in the running. Willamette, without an impressive early-season record, must win Saturday to step into an imposing position.

Pacific, with crushing defeats by Pacific Coast Conference opponents, is not considered danger-

SPLINTER THE LOGGERS

Sportorials

Last Saturday morning the scrappy super-varsity celebrated their victory over Chemawa by winning a yannigan game from the varsity with the aid of some lucky breaks. That does not indicate that the team is slowing up, but it does mean that there is a terrific fight and competition for places on the first team. Such a fighting spirit in practice means a fighting spirit in the games.

Talk up the game downtown. Of the 2400 seats in the grandstand only 150 were sold on Wednesday. We can safely guarantee a mighty good game with lots of pep, fight and winning spirit.

Why not start overwhelming the Loggers when we meet them at the train 12:30 a. m. Saturday. We cannot all be football players. spirit will bring us the game.

One idea is dominant, and it is: That we are going to help "Spec" beat "CAC".

Don't forget the rally tonight. Let's make it a 100 per cent school affair, from the seniors down to the rooks.

We cannot all be football players, but we can all be boosters. Let's go, and do our share to beat the Loggers.

LOGGERS INVADING THE BEARCAT LAIR

Bring Team of Fast Aggressive Veterans for Game Here Tomorrow P. M.

Coming with a team of fast and aggressive veterans, Coach Acac Hubbard of the College of Puget Sound, is determined to wipe out the 6 to 6 tie in the game last year between his team and the Willamette Bearcats. A significant fact about the strength of the Loggers lies in the fact that nearly every regular on the squad has played for Hubbard from two to three years. In addition to this fact five men, receiving either first or second all conference berths last are back and playing regularly. In the backfield, the Loggers have Purvis and Gillman. Purvis is one of the fastest line plungers on the coast, and in addition he can punt and pass with the best of them. Gillman, clever quarterback is also of exceptional ability. Gillman is one of the best open field runners in the conference. He is also a bulwark of strength on defense.

The line is built around Lappenbush, who was last year's all-conference guard. Lappenbush is big and fast and knows how the game should be played both on defense and offense. He was responsible for stopping so many Willamette plays last year behind the line of scrimmage. The W. U. linemen will have plenty of work in stopping him this season. Genero, tackle, is another hard hitter. Genero is big and aggressive, a combination which is hard to stop, and the Loggers are looking forward to his stopping the plays through his side of the line. The other outstanding Logger lineman is Ferguson, end. Ferguson was another all-conference selection and he is a man that will be hard to take out of the plays.

Reviewing the team collectively they have a big powerful line well stocked with capable reserves, while their backfield is a combination of speed and power. Already this season they have beaten the strong college of Idaho eleven and have cleaned up on the Linfield eleven 50 to 0.

The situation in the Bearcat camp is somewhat different. Although most of the regulars are in shape, the team has not been showing the proper spirit. Willamette will have a backfield composed of Cranor, French, McMullen, and Depoe and this quartet should work well together. The selection of line men will perhaps give the Bearcat Mentor some difficulty. At ends there are several men likely to see action. Among Smith, Tucker, and Emmons. The tackle berths will probably be taken care of by Versteeg, Ruch, Rasmussen and Flock, while, Mort, B. Hills, H. Hills, Phillpot and Gill will be among the guard candidates. The center position will be taken care of by Pope, Betts and Ackerman.

After a hard workout Thursday, the Bearcats will engage in a light practice Friday afternoon to taper off their conditioning for this crucial contest. This will perhaps be the making or the breaking of the Bearcats' chances and the fans can rest assured that the Bearcat players are going to give all they have to bring home a victory for Willamette university.

"How much does the chemistry professor get?"

"Oh, about $2,000 a year."

"And the football coach?"

"About $12,000."

Quite a difference! "Isn't right?"

"No? Did you ever hear 80,000 people cheering a recitation in chemistry?"

ANNUAL HOMECOMING IN SIXTH YEAR

Was First Held in 1923. Alumni Support Has Grown Great Deal

On November 9 and 10, 1923, the first homecoming at Willamette university was established, and on through the years it has been continued, with increasing success, until it has become one of Willamette's greatest traditions.

Each homecoming has claimed some especially interesting feature in its program. A bonfire rally sponsored by the Freshman class, the Willamette-Whitman game, and the dedication of the new gymnasium building all combined to make the first homecoming a real success.

The 1924 homecoming was unique in that it included a lively circus on Saturday night, after the game with the College of Puget Sound. Homecoming in 1925 came on Halloween, October 30 and 31. The big game was with Whitman again, and in addition to the pep rally and fire-works, a play, "You And I," was given by Theta Alpha Phi.

In 1926 the entertainment was equally delightful to alumni, including two banquets, the Theta Alpha Phi play, "You Never Can Tell," and the game with the College of Puget Sound.

Throughout the progress of these homecomings, the alumni have come more and more enthusiastically, and in greater numbers; and last year Willamette celebrated the great event with more zeal than ever. On Friday evening a pep rally and pajama parade were staged, and a display of fireworks on Sweetland field by the Freshmen. Following this guests and students attended the crowning event of the day, the Collegiate Carnival in the gymnasium. Saturday was begun with a Willamette breakfast, given in the Phi halls by the Y. W. C. A. In the afternoon the Bearcats played Pacific, followed in the evening by the Theta Phi play, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

In this rapid succession five homecomings have come and gone, and today Willamette initiates an even warmer welcome than before. The pep rally and pajama parade will be held Friday evening, and on Saturday afternoon the Cardinal and Gold will match its skill against that of the College of Puget Sound. The Theta Alpha Phi play, to be presented at the Oregon Theater Saturday evening, is "Alice Sit-By-The-Fire."

LAW HONORARY PLEDGES MEN FROM NEW CLASSES

The Delta Theta Phi fraternity announces the pledging of the following law students: William Linfoot, Ward Davis, Frank Van Dyke, Bernard Newby, and Warren McMinimie.

Willamette song books are now on sale at the Book store and the student body office. Price is $2.50 per copy.

THE GIRLS INTER-CLASS BASKETBALL UNDER WAY

Class of '32 Has Several Players Who Show Much Promise. Start Games Soon

Under the direction of Miss Currie, the girls interclass basketball is slowly getting under way. Practices are scheduled for each night and considerable enthusiasm is being shown among the girls. The Freshmen team of last year, girls Champions, have lost two of their best players but are again favored for the title.

The class of '32 have several good players and they are determined to make a fight for it. The actual playing will begin some time in November, with all indication pointing to a closely contested tournament.

TRUEBLOOD IS LOCATED IN A CAROLINA SCHOOL

In letters received recently by campus friends, Paul Trueblood, '28, has given interesting pictures of his life on the campus of Duke university. Mr. Trueblood received a fellowship in English in the North Carolina school, and is working toward his master's degree.

Duke university has a graduate school with an enrollment of several hundred students. One dormitory is given entirely to men doing graduate work. Among the faculty of the graduate school are men recognized nationally and internationally in their chosen fields of study.

McCORMICK ON STAFF OF MUSICAL MAGAZINE

Kenneth McCormick, who graduated from Willamette last June is now on the editorial staff of the New York "Musical Advance," monthly musical publication. His name appears in the "masthead" as associate editor.

Mr. McCormick was well known here in musical circles. He was organist for the men's glee club three years ago, and was an active member of the Beethoven musical society. While in New York he will enroll at Columbia university for a study of English literature and of short story writing.

McCormick and Walter Stiff '27, are rooming together at the 23rd street Y. M. C. A. Mr. Stiff has been in New York for several months with the American Type Founders company, and is preparing for work as foreign representative of that company. Stiff was editor of the 1928 Wallulah and was a member of the men's glee club.

HOOVER GETS LARGE MAJORITY IN VOTE

A strong Hoover sentiment was shown in the straw vote taken at Willamette University last Thursday in Chapel. This vote was sponsored by the New Oregon Statesman and Dr. C. G. Doney. Of the total 375 votes cast, 309 were for Hoover and 66 for Smith.

Seventy of the Hoover votes were from students normally republican and of voting age; 197 were of republican sentiment but under voting age. Eleven Hoover votes were cast by students usually of democratic favor and able to vote, and 31 of democratic favor, but under the voting age.

Of the 66 votes for Smith only 14 were cast by students of the required voting age, and nine of these were from students usually republican. The Smith vote was students ordinarily republican or democratic.

Judging by the number of Smith votes cast by students under the legal age, there is evidently a "solid south" somewhere in the north end of the Chapel.

OLYMPIC CONTROVERSY

New York—Olympic Games of 1932 may have to get along without foreign competition in rowing, swimming, tennis and soccer football due to the controversy over representation of these sports in the international Olympic committee. This was the statement issued yesterday by Gaston Vidal, chairman of the French Olympic committee, who is in the United States to investigate the cost of sending a French Olympic team to the Los Angeles games.

Tennis was omitted from the 1928 games over just such a controversy.
