Spears, Estes Race for First Vice President

Barnick Unopposed For Third Position; Three for Secretary

By John Cotton

Mark Hatfield, Hollis Huston and John Macy, candidates for ASWU president, head the list of aspirant office-seekers scheduled to appear in student chapel today. With a navy department communication to Dean Chester F. Luther new hope came Wednesday that both Hatfield and Macy, now in the naval reserve program, would be able to continue in Willamette for at least another semester. The third presidential candidate, Hollis Huston, is also expecting to remain at Willamette.

All candidates for student body president will make campaign speeches of not more than five minutes' duration. Other candidates, Dorothy Estes and Sybil Spears, for first vice-president; Don Barnick, second vice-president; and Susanna Schramm, Darlene Dickson and Phyllis Gueffroy, for secretary, will be introduced during the chapel program.

John Macy, now junior class president, has set forth as his goal, if elected, the continuance of student government during the

Board Names Publications Candidates

Lack of experienced workers and the uncertainty of the status of men on the campus resulted in the selection of an almost completely female group of nominees for the publications offices when the publications board met Wednesday night. Only one man was listed among the board's recommendations for publications offices.

Although the constitution intimates that the candidates for the publications offices should have junior standing, the board found it advisable to waive this clause under the present emergency conditions in application to the position of publications manager, since there were no sophomores on the campus experienced in the work of business management.

Betty Randall and Jan Patterson, both freshmen, were nominated to run for the publications managership. Both women have worked under the direction of Ralph Schlesinger, present manager, in selling advertising for the Collegian and Wallulah.

The editorships of the two publications were the most difficult offices to fill, since some of the experienced workers eligible to run had refused to accept the nomination. Lois Butler and Catherine Thomas, high staff members on the Collegian, both declined to run for either editorship.

Those students named by the

Comprehensives Set

The library will be closed to all but seniors Tuesday afternoon, when comprehensives will be given. Dr. R. Ivan Lovell and Marion Morange are in charge of the examinations, which must be passed before a degree can be granted to a student. Orals are scheduled throughout the months of April and May.

Mary Jean Huston, the choice of movie actor Walter Pidgeon for queen of the Willamette Junior-Senior Prom tonight.

Mary J. Huston Queen of Prom

"Nothing like this ever happened to me before!" squealed a thrilled Mary Jean Huston when informed of her selection by movie actor Walter Pidgeon as queen of the Junior Prom. Mark Hatfield, coronation chairman, kept the secret to himself as long as he could, but he had to break down and let the queen-elect herself in on the secret Wednesday, and, in Hatfield's own words, "all she did was look at me and say 'Oh, NO!'"

The first Queen of a Willamette Junior prom, Miss Huston will be crowned at intermission tonight by junior class president, John Macy. The Prom, given annually by the juniors in honor of the graduating seniors, will be from 9:00 until 11:30 in the gym tonight.

Word was received early this week from Pidgeon that he had chosen Miss Huston. He enclosed a note to Hatfield saying that he had not wanted to take full responsibility in selecting the queen so had asked some of his friends from MGM studios to help. Photographs of Miss Huston, Sybil Spears and Barbara Diefendorf were sent to Pidgeon last week following the selection of the three finalists by men in the junior class.

Queen Mary Jean will be escorted by John Martin, Princess Sybil by Lawrence Wills and Princess Barbara by Oral Davidson.

As has been customary at Willamette, only juniors and seniors and their guests will attend the Prom. Members of the faculty are invited.

Monroe Will Rule May Day

With a 1 a. m. late permission for Willamette coeds scheduled for the student body dance Friday, May 7, plans for May Weekend are progressing rapidly following the election last week of Harriett Monroe as May Queen, Mark Hatfield, manager of the three-day celebration, said yesterday. Dorothy Tate and Olivia Olson will attend Queen Harriett as princesses of the court.

No classes will be held Friday and an all campus clean-up is scheduled for the morning with the entire student body taking part. A picnic will be featured at noon while the afternoon will be spent in games and recreational sports.

The coronation of Queen Harriett will be held Saturday afternoon, between 1:30 and 2. The

Long Leaves For South

Leroy Long will leave this weekend for the south where he is to represent Willamette in the Pacific Forensic League conference on the USC campus Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Contests in oratory, extemp, after-dinner speaking and a discussion sequence on "What Should Be America's Role in Post-War World Reconstruction?" will be held. Long will enter the extemporaneous speaking contest and the discussion.

Last year this contest was held at the University of Washington where Don Burton and Bob Lee represented Willamette.

Other schools entering the contest besides Willamette are Stanford, USC, University of Idaho, University of Nevada, College of Pacific, University of California, Whitman, OSC, University of Arizona, University of Washington, University of Oregon and WSC.

ceremony will take place between the white pillars at the back and to the left of the library, according to Bob Ratcliffe, who is in charge of the coronation. Feature of the program will be a program of excerpts from Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," given by the drama and music departments.

Miss Monroe was president of Lausanne hall during the first semester and served as president of the Willamette Methodist student council for the 1942-43 term. She is majoring in sociology and will receive her degree in May. Her home is in Parkdale.

Bob Albert will be her escort. Escorts for Miss Tate and Miss Olson will be Hume Downs and Mark Hatfield respectively. Other members of the court are

195 Navy Men To Train Here

V-12 Arrival Scheduled for July; Pre-Medical, Music Work Planned

Announcement of the selection of Willamette university as a college training school for the V-12 program was made by the navy department in a communication to school officials late last week. The commitment came as the culmination to several months negotiations between the university and the college training board. Application was made earlier in the year for a

Changes Due In Navy, WU Correlation

The first step in correlating regular student programs with that of the navy unit to be established here will be a survey of the number of students planning to enroll in the July 1 and November 1 semesters. A questionnaire will be circulated Monday to determine the number interested. Pre-registration will be held when plans for the curriculum to be offered and the faculty duties are completed.

The school year will be divided into 16-week sessions with three semesters, a year available instead of the regular two 18-week ones. Under this accelerated method a regular four-year course can be covered in two and two-third calendar years.

High school graduates of this year will be especially urged to take advantage of the summer semester. Several beginning courses will be available and a well-rounded curriculum offered. Subjects open to these students will include, among others, mathematics, English, history, physics, engineering drawing, descriptive geometry, physical education (6 days a week), chemistry, foreign languages and psychology.

Most of the courses open to the summer freshmen are those required for the navy program. Other courses will be added if there is a sufficient demand.

The possibility of a short summer term will be considered at the next faculty meeting. This would give an opportunity to students to register for fewer unit here and the school was inspected as a possible location. Later it was announced that it was on the approved list from which the choice would be made.

According to information received, 195 men will be assigned to Willamette for one and one-third year training during which Latest information from the navy indicates that men now on the campus in either V-1 or V-7 will probably remain at Willamette for a prescribed number of semesters, depending upon how many they have already completed.

In commenting on the communication from the navy, Dean Chester F. Luther said that it appears that most of the Willamette men in the naval reserves would continue on this campus as part of the 195 naval trainees assigned to begin training here in July. Transfers of V-1 and V-7 men from other colleges are also expected to form a portion of the allotment, the remainder coming from the new crop of high school graduates.

The communication changed materially the picture of the coming student elections, since it gave reasonable assurance that V-7 men would be on hand next year to assume office if elected.

they will complete four 16-week semesters. The men will begin the training "on or about July 1."

Two divisions of schooling will be offered with 135 men in the basic science and 60 in the pre-

Thirty Men Take Test

The 30 examinations for army-navy college training programs given at Willamette April 2 are now being graded by army and navy department officials. Date for the announcement of the successful candidates has not been told. Those who qualify will be entitled to apply for a physical examination and review by the board of examiners for possible enlistment in the navy V-12 or army college programs.

Twenty-four men applied for the navy V-12 division and six expressed interest in the army. The test was similar to those given throughout the nation at the same time and was the only one offered before the selecting of candidates for the classes entering the branches July 1.

The screening test may qualify men for commissions in the marine corps and coast guard as well as the navy itself, the navy department announced last week.

to be Beverly Nordean, Wally Olson, Reeva Schmidt, Peter Faminow, Barbara Viesko and Gene Olson.

The play "Arsenic and Old Lace" will be given Saturday night by Theta Alpha Phi at Salem high school.

May Weekend events will end Sunday night with the a cappella choir singing at the First Methodist church.

Guests will be entertained by the university during the weekend at the various sorority and fraternity houses.

Eleanor Todd is general chairman for decorations for the student body dance. The committee serving with Hatfield in making general plans for the weekend includes Dorothy Estes, Barbara Diefendorf and Bob Simmons.

COLLEGIAN FEATURES AND EDITORIALS

Year-Round ASWU . . .

Acceptance of WU for navy training is bringing revision headaches to student body leaders as well as university officials. This week plans were under way for an ASWU schedule which will carry through on a round-the-calendar basis. We must have a student body organization ready to greet the navy trainees when they arrive in July, and make them feel that they are a part of Willamette rather than just students at a navy training center. As host students, it is up to us to keep them from feeling out of place. As someone has suggested, if we wait until the November term for our student association to start functioning, the navy fellows will by then be ready to welcome us into their school.

There must be devised some method of financing a campus publication to continue through the summer months, and there should be considered some sort of social program—whatever the navy setup will allow.

Candidates for student body elections next week will be expected to present as part of their platform a plan to adjust the ASWU to the new situation, and explain what provisions will be made for the term beginning in July.

We must junk thoughts of school on a fall-to-spring basis and prepare for a year-round ASWU.

Keep 'Em Posted . . .

Willamette is at war all over the world. During the last couple of years, we have seen our classmates dropping out to do a job for their nation. Although they are now distributed throughout the far-flung battlefronts, they are still here at Willamette in mind and spirit. They would like to be considered as still a very real part of the Willamette family. They are interested in what is going on on the campus, what their former classmates are doing, what the latest jokes going the rounds are—all angles of campus life. Many of them receive the Collegian, and letters received by the editor every day express their appreciation of this bit of WU.

However, to fill a more personal need, it has been suggested that some campus organization undertake to supply students with addresses of WU men in service, and then see to it that those men hear from the campus once in a while. A more worthy project could hardly be found, but until that gets under way, let's each make it our personal project to get in touch with several of the fellows who have left recently—some of them within the last few weeks—and become their personal Willamette news bureau.

Here's How

It Ain't What You Do It's the Way That You Do It

By Cap and Gown Members

"Ringggggg!"
"Hello!"
"Hello, Jane?"
"Yes."
"This is Paul Brown. Are you doing anything Saturday night?"
"No, I don't believe so."
"Would you like to go to the Junior Prom?"
"Well . . . that would be nice, but . . . could I let you know for certain tomorrow?"

This is what not to do! At least that is the consensus of opinion from the WU students who have been queried on the problems of inviting a guy or gal to social functions. In the first place, never start out by asking "What are you doing on such and such a night?" or, "Are you busy Friday afternoon?" People hate to be put on the spot with a direct question before they know anything else about the invitation which follows. One student said, "Something constructive should be offered by the one asking for the date so that the datee may have a good idea of the plans for the evening and can decide whether she (or he) wants to spend the time in that way."

For instance, the fellow might say, "Our fraternity is having a formal dance on May 3 and I thought you might enjoy going," or, "Random Harvest is being shown at the Elsinore Friday night, and I'd enjoy it more if you could go with me."

Sometimes an unusual or clever way of approaching the desired date is a convincing way to get a "yes" answer. If you are the sort of person who can "feed 'em a line" so they know you're doing just that—it makes a lot of fun out of the matter. One girl got results with this: "Would you like to go to the Hall formal with a gorgeous, lovely, beautiful creature?"

Now, what about the problem of giving an answer? If Hollis Huston says "I've already been asked six times," that would really be straight from the shoulder, but it's these people who give excuses when they just hope for something better that everyone agrees is absolutely the last thing in bad manners. In one instance like the "I'll let you know tomorrow" type, the fellow called the girl back before she could make up her mind and retracted his invitation! That's one way to teach her a lesson!

The best excuses suggested for refusing a date by those interviewed were "I'm sorry, I already have something planned" or "I'm going to be busy that evening." Even these sound weak. Really, there are few times when an excuse should be given. If the girl is waiting for a Clark Gable to entertain her, she'll soon want for invitations to refuse.

Still there are occasions when the man or woman absolutely doesn't want to encourage dates with a particular person. There are girls on the campus who are actually admired by the fellows for their frankness. When asked if they would like to go some place, they may reply, "No, I wouldn't." In the long run it is much superior to "I have to wash my hair" or a similar excuse.

Another suggestion that the students brought out was concerning the use of "Thank you" in appreciation for a date. It is not the thing to say. Rather, "I had a wonderful time," or words to that affect, are preferable.

Trade Last

By Miriam Oakes

Gone with the wind and the draft are 253 men from the University of Oregon campus. During their recent spring vacation when most of the men left, there was something like 562 students left in the 16 remaining fraternity houses and the men's dormitory.

Though the forces move in this May at Oregon, it is yet undecided as to where they will be put. The fraternities met their problem with compromise. Four of the organizations are sharing the costs by eating together.—Oregon Daily Emerald.

Play safe, men, and do not let your girl friends wear any of your military insignia. Either take it back, or tell them to put 'em away for the duration, because according to AR 600-40 they are violating the law, and a late war department bulletin says they are liable to a fine of $300 or six months imprisonment. The main reason for the enforcement is that many of the insignia are made of materials that are practically out for the duration and therefore difficult to replace.

Though it has been in effect for some time, the regulation has not been enforced because not until recently have women started to wear pins, wings and everything originally intended for soldiers, except bash marks!—Washington Evergreen.

RES IPSA LOQUITUR

notes from the law school

By CAROLINE DUBY

Strict Construction to Be Given the Following Statement: Charlotte Ellingsworth, law school junior, has announced her engagement to Lt. Aslanian. The wedding will be Saturday, April 24. Our best wishes, Charlotte!

Herb Carter saw a chance to put his legal knowledge to good use. It seems Herb hoped to get in to the navy, with duties to be confined to overseeing the training of WAVE officers. Not necessary to offer any evidence to establish beyond a reasonable doubt that to achieve such a position would be the happiest moment in any "reasonable, prudent man's life." Our sympathies Herb!

From some intricate corner of our mind saturated with legal facts, we recall with delight a rather charming footnote that made its blaze appearance in the study of the fine points of criminal law. The text dealt with drunkenness (or as those who advocate army chit-chat would say, "the fellow was wing-heavy, off the beam"). With interest we pursued the subject and were rewarded by a small "2" indicating the footnote to which we refer—this was our discovery.

Not drunk is he who from the floor
Can rise again and drink once more;
But drunk is he who prostrate lies
And can neither drink nor rise.

And the prevailing opinion is that law is a dry subject.

The few remaining members of the law school would like to announce that their new home is now officially in the seminar room of the Willamette library. Our personal opinions are prejudicial to future happiness so for the lack of more fitting expression we lapse into the well-known legal term, "Res Ipsa Loquitur," the thing still speaks for itself.

Dear PRIVATE JOHNNY

DARLING:

As I am writing this I'm sitting in a quiet corner of Eaton hall studying and trying to determine whether there's any truth to the rumor that there's heat in this building, and finding as usual that it's not wise to believe in rumors. The sounds that drift to me could easily be recorded and tagged "a university at work."

Next door a lecturer is droning about tabulations, populations and rate of automobile production per heads of cabbage in the average victory garden from which I deduce a statistics class is in progress. From across the way comes melody and I recognize the stirring strains of the "Marseillaise"—a French class there, no doubt. When classes changed a minute ago, the whole building around me quivered like the timbers of a ship or a shanty in the wind. Stairways groaned under wooden shoes, which brings me the knowledge, even without a glance out the window that it may rain today because that's when said footwear is predominate.

About then I was awakened by my books clattering to the floor so I went back to my studies. And as it said in last year's Collegian, when it comes to orals, I'll take Davidson every time. (Old things are best, aren't they?) By the way, Davy has this shoe rationing business licked—he wears hur—, well, those Mexican things, however it's spelled.

Tonight we promenade to the Prom. All hail the Queen, although I say why didn't they just send us Walter Pigeon, or does that take extra box-tops? I can hardly wait to see the gym; Ogdahl was on the committee and with his ideas of decoration—well! Just for instance, he suggested they feature a picture of a—well, of a girl, and call it the Student Body.

And then there's the Body Politic. I heard THE question put to Hatfield the other day and for a Republican he did an awfully good imitation of a Roosevelt declination.

Now I think I understand Prof Clark's popularity, and as I always suspect, there's a woman behind it. The "Records" class met at the Clark home Monday for dinner and the tales they brought back envisioning fried chicken, hot biscuits and similar high point-value foods are the causes for my understanding. Of course, I couldn't say positively that that's why Prof's popular, but I'd like to triffler with the idea enough to worry my own professors.

Darling, you needn't worry about me because the navy is coming her. You know my heart is wearing khaki for the duration.

Love,
WILLA

Sociologists Meet on Campus Next Week to Hear Speakers

Willamette will be host to the northern division of the Pacific Sociological society next Friday, April 16. Dr. S. B. Laughlin, Willamette professor of sociology who is chairman of the local committee, said this week that the streamlined wartime session will start with a noon luncheon at the state hospital, at which state governor Earl Snell, treasurer Leslie M. Scott and secretary of state Robert S. Farrell will be present. Others will be members of the board of control, the parole board chairman and staff, heads of the girls' and boys' training schools, superintendent of the Fairview home and the state warden.

At 2:30 p. m. in the Collins lecture room, the meeting will be expanded to include all those who desire to come.

Topics to be discussed will center around "American Correctional Institutions in Wartime" and "The Sociology of War." Chairmen of these discussion groups are David Lockwood, of the Washington state department of finance, budget and business, and Dr. Norman S. Hayner, from the University of Washington, who is a former Willamette student.

Richard A. McGee, supervisor of Washington state institutions, and president of the American Prison association, will speak on "Washington State Correctional Institutions in Wartime." McGee has been educational supervisor at Fort Leavenworth and at the US penitentiary at Lewisburg, Penn., and warden of the New York City penitentiary. He is the author of two text books concerning industrial education and numerous articles and pamphlets on penal and correctional management. McGee is also the editor and founder of "The Prison World."

Dr. Carol W. Topping, of the University of British Columbia, and author of "Canadian Penal Institutions," will discuss "Recent Trends in Canadian Penal Institutions."

"The Social Functions of War" will be interpreted by Dr. Elton H. Moore, from the University of Oregon, and "Morale in the Shipbuilding Industry," by Dr. Joseph Cohen, of the University of Washington. A general discussion will be held on "Juvenile Delinquency."

summer. Macy, a Salem resident, opposes any weakening of student body powers during the war emergency. A member of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity, he has been prominent in student activities, including track.

Another presidential nominee, Mark Hatfield, is in charge of May Weekend this year. President of Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity, he has also arranged for the student chapel programs this year. Hatfield, who also lives in Salem, proposes to make sure that Willamette's student body government functions during the summer semester. Both Macy and Hatfield expect to attend school this summer.

Hollis Huston, the third presidential aspirant, is backed by a group interested in erasing fraternity lines during student elections. Huston, co-manager of the Bearcat Tavern, is spending his first year at Willamette, having attended the University of Idaho, southern branch, during his underclassman days. A resident of Burley, Idaho, Hollis is vice-president of the Willamette Methodist student council. Although a member of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity, he opposes house politics as such, preferring that student government should not be influenced by the various campus organizations.

Sybil Spears, a Salem girl, is campaigning on a platform for student government during the summer in order to assimilate incoming naval trainees into the existing system of student activities on the campus. A Beta Chi, she hopes to avoid any rifts which might occur if new students had no social or civic program until fall. She will attend the summer semester.

A Delta Phi, Dorothy Estes, also seeks the office of first vice-president, saying that she will attempt to bring naval enrollees into close contact with Willamette life through the social program which that officer directs. Dorothy, although not intending to spend the summer in Willamette, will be at her home in nearby Portland, from which she could remain in close contact with Willamette's activities.

Don Barnick, another naval reservist, is unopposed for second vice-president. Barnick, a basketball veteran at Willamette, lives in Salem. He is an Alpha Psi.

Candidates for secretary are an Alpha Phi Alpha, Phyllis Gueffroy of Salem; a Delta Phi, Darlene Dickson of Salem; and a Beta Chi, Susanna Schramm of Corvallis.

medical department. No details of the course to be taught have been released other than that the regular college study will be emphasized with certain hours devoted to naval drill and the teaching of naval subjects.

The regular school calendar will be arranged to coincide with the program. Willamette will offer three full semesters a year with the first one to start on July 1 and the fall term to begin November 1. Civilian and navy courses will be given together whenever possible.

Lausanne hall, present women's dormitory, will house 150 men and 45 will have their quarters at the city YMCA. An inspection will be made by the navy and suggestions made for changes in housing facilities. Most notable alterations on the campus will be in the physical education department.

This contract is similar to those being offered colleges and universities throughout the country. Through this program it is possible as they see fit and for the men to receive the basis of their education while in training at the same time.

Gatke Book Completed

Dr. R. M. Gatke's volume, "Chronicles of Willamette," was completed April 1 and Dr. Gatke is now engaged in reading proof and selecting illustrations. A cover of bright red with gold lettering has been selected.

Thirteen chapters covering the period through the Doney administration have already been sent to the printer, and the remainder will be in his hands in the near future.

Final publication of the book will mark the end of many years of work by Dr. Gatke. He started writing in the year 1920 and worked continuously for approximately three years. Until about four years ago he wrote occasionally and then resumed heavy writing which he continued up to the present time.

Ellen Chamberlain, who died Sunday, was the oldest alumna and former faculty member of Willamette, having graduated from WU in 1868.

Death Calls Oldest Grad

Ellen Jeanette Chamberlain, who died Sunday at the age of 93, was the oldest surviving alumna and former faculty member of Willamette university. She graduated from Willamette in 1868, in a class of nine men and nine women. Later, she served on the faculty as instructor and preceptress. She also taught in Portland schools and at The Dalles Academy under the late Dr. T. M. Gatch. Part of her lifetime was spent on the faculty at the Monmouth Normal school and at Oregon State college. She studied in Berlin in 1891-92.

In the early twenty's, she was the first woman to be elected president of the Oregon Pioneer association. Among her books was "Tributes to the Memory of Lucy Lee Grubbs." Mrs. Grubbs was a daughter of Jason Lee.

The degree of doctor of letters was conferred on Ellen Chamberlain by the university on February 2, 1942, when Dr. Carl S. Knopf was inducted as president. She was presented to Dr. Knopf for the honor by the late Dr. James T. Matthews.

board for the position of Wallulah editor were Margaret Pemberton and Jack Glasse. Miss Pemberton has served this year as an assistant editor to the Wallulah editor and Glasse has worked all year as staff photographer.

Nadene Mathews was the only nominee for editorship of the Collegian since other students eligible were not interested in taking the position. Miss Mathews is editor of the Wallulah this year, and has served as a key staff member for the Collegian. According to present editor Dix Moser, Miss Mathews is essential to this year's staff, and is the only one fully qualified in experience to take over the post next year.

The student council yesterday in a noon meeting voted to pass on the qualifications of the candidates for student body offices, passed a resolution approving of the publications board's action in naming freshmen for the publications manager post and in nominating only one candidate for editor of the Collegian.

Open House Plans Progress; Exhibits, Demonstrations Set

Plans for the WU open house April 27 are rapidly progressing. The committee headed by Prof. J. W. C. Harper is receiving cooperation from all who have been asked to participate. Preparations are being made to receive a large group of townspeople who may not have had the opportunity to see some of the equipment which will be on display.

Feature events of the evening will include records from the Carnegie library; scientific experiments, home economics exhibits, scientific films, rare books and objects of interest pertaining to northwest history.

Plans are being completed which provide for demonstrations under the supervision of Dr. E. T. Brown, professor of physics. They will include examples of mechanical drawing in action, cosmic ray demonstration, radio oscillator, standing waves in steel wire and discharge of condenser.

Lois Latimer, home economics instructor, has submitted plans for displays of costume dolls, miniature model houses, weaving on loom, a dining room set for a dinner party and student hostesses wearing dresses made in this department.

V-1, Marine Exam Due

A test to determine standings of men in the navy V-1 and in class 3-D of the marine reserve corps will be given at Willamette April 28. Men in the V-1 program who have had four or more semesters of college work by July 1 are required to take the test. If they pass they will be assigned to an advanced navy training program.

Men in the marines who have had less than the four semesters work are also required to take the examination. This will determine their qualification for officer training.

Students See Seabeck Pics

Colored movies of the 1942 Seabeck session were shown Thursday night in Collins hall. Jean McKinney, Seabeck co-chairman from Washington state, was present to explain and describe Seabeck.

Seabeck is a summer camp in the Puget Sound area, for college students from Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California. Although it is sponsored by the YM and YW, anyone who is attending college is eligible.

The date for the Seabeck conference this year is June 12 to 20. Costs will remain the same — $18 for board and registration.

Leadership for 1943 includes Dr. Fritz Kunkel, one of America's foremost psychologists and author of "Conquer Yourself," "Let's Be Normal" and "What It Means to Grow Up." Dr. Harold Jensen, of the First Baptist church in Seattle; Dr. Harold Long, of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church of Tacoma; Dr. Frank Williston of the College of Puget Sound, and Dr. Linden Mander, of the University of Washington, who will lead the seminar on political essentials for a Christian world of order; Robert O'Brien, assistant dean of arts and sciences at the University of Washington, who will lead a seminar on "Race: Fact or Fiction" and Dr. E. C. Warrington, of Oregon State college, who will direct a seminar on orientation in religious thinking.

Taylor Heads Meet

Winston Taylor, Willamette senior, presided over a meeting of the Salem Youth organizations Wednesday night at the YMCA. Plans were made for an Oregon Youth council, in which all church groups, Hi-Y, scouts, reserves and other youth groups will cooperate on their wartime problems.

'Incomplete' Results Told

As a result of the action taken at a recent meeting of the faculty, a deadline was definitely set for incomplete work to be made up by students before credit would be given for the subject, and in the event that an incomplete would not be made up, a failure would be given. The date, March 18, was a month after final examinations, as the rule stipulates in the university bulletin.

Of the 101 people listed, 29 completed their work and received a grade in the subject. Forty-six incompletes will remain open for those who are not attending school at present, most of whom are men who have left for the service. When they return to resume their studies, they will be required to make up these incompletes within a specified length of time. Twenty-six incompletes were not made up, which automatically transferred them to failures.

For the first semester of this year, there were incompletes in 108 subjects, and for both semesters of last year there were 31 incompletes. There were a few incompletes for the year before, '39-40, one for the summer session of 1928, and an elementary Spanish incomplete from as far back as 1921. They ranged in number from one person to four, some of which were an accumulation of several years.

Physical education led the incomplete list with 21, most of which were men. Western civilization was second with 16. There were eight in principles of composition, and seven in principles of sociology. There was a general sprinkling of the other subjects in the list.

Junior Prom Will Support School Colors Tonight

The juniors will be loyal to the school colors in their decorations for their annual Prom for the seniors tonight. Predominant colors will be cardinal and gold appropriately decorating the balcony and a huge cardinal backdrop behind the orchestra with gold color framing huge letters "Queen Mary Jean Huston."

During the intermission the Queen will be coronated and presented with red roses with president of the junior class, John Macy, doing the honors. After this she will lead the grand march escorted by John Martin.

Johnny Callas and his orchestra will play from 9:00 to 11:30 in the gym for the occasion.

Working on the committees with the general chairman, Lois Phillips, are: orchestra, Sybil Spears, John Macy and Don Barnick; punch, Marcia Fry, Ruth Burgoyne and Ella Rose Mason; queen selection and coronation, Mark Hatfield, Bob Albert, Dix Moser, Pat Tracy and Darlene Dickson; programs, Mary Anne Owen, Susanna Schramm, Margery Sipes, Hollis Huston and Jay Oliver; clean-up, Ben Schaad, George Luthy, Jackie Judd, Betty Ann Swanson, Mary Lou Moore and Jan Johnson; decorations, Eleanor Todd, Eleanor Purcell, Ruth Finney, Mary Jean Huston, Helen Zimmerman, Peggy Byrd, Margaret Pemberton, Dorothy Estes, Pat Byrd, Louise Carlson, Truck Dieter, Barbara Diefendorf, Tony Fraiola, LeRoy Long, Ray Short, Kenneth Torgeson and Pat White.

Coming EVENTS

Today: Campaign speeches in chapel.
 Junior-senior prom.
 Freshmen party, 8 p.m., basement of Golden Pheasant.
 Sunday: Vespers, Ray Short leads discussion on prayer.
 Wednesday: Chemawa chorus in chapel.
 Thursday: Cookie jar, 3-5 p.m., First Methodist church.
 Friday, April 16: Fraternity formals.
 Saturday, April 17: Sopomore class party.

Mothers Honored Sunday

Sunday a mother-daughter breakfast was held at the Alpha Phi Alpha house in the downstairs room. The rooms were decorated with new spring flowers, daffodils, daphne and spirea. Each mother was given a corsage in the same color theme as the room decorations.

Decorations were planned by Dorothy Hoar, Janet Blake, Marianne Low and June Nickel. Table decorations were arranged by Laura Jean Bates, Roberta Jean Yocum, Shirley Blackman and Delvon Long. On the clean-up committee were Maxine Wagner, Marian McMillan and Peggy Wallin.

Clean-up committee for the upstairs were Bernice Weir, Shirley McCollum and Betty Weinert. The program committee consisted of Wilma Froman, Imogene Rock and Gladys Crawford.

Carol Smith Announces Engagement

Announcement of the engagement of Carol Smith to Gordon E. Stanley was a highlight in the campus social world this week.

Both were beginning freshmen this year and Mr. Stanley has just recently left for Shepperd Field as a member of the army air corps. He was a member of Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity.

Miss Smith lives in Salem and her fiance's home is in Toledo.

Miss Lois Herman became Mrs. Donald B. Whalen on March 20 in the First Methodist church in Medford, Oregon. Mrs. Whalen graduated from Willamette in 1940 and was a member of Beta Chi. Whalen is a lieutenant in the army.

Freshmen Play, Dance, Scavenger Hunt Tonight

At eight o'clock tonight the freshman class will celebrate the near completion of their first year by a scavenger hunt and dancing. The party, to be held in the Rumpus room of the Golden Pheasant, will be referred to as "Freshman Daze," and depicting the theme will be caricatures of this year's past events. There will be fortune telling, a riotous time in the best frosh manner, and to make everyone happy, refreshments consisting of sandwiches, punch, and potato chips.

Dinner Honors Ericksons

A farewell dinner honoring Dean and Mrs. Frank M. Erickson, long connected with the University, was given by the faculty Tuesday evening in Chresto cottage. The Ericksons have sold their Salem property and are moving to Santa Barbara, Calif., where they will make their new home. Their daughter Mary is a professor in the biological sciences in Santa Barbara State college and they have two sons living in Oakland.

Dr. Erickson joined the Willamette faculty in 1920 as professor of education. He became dean of the College of Liberal Arts in 1925 and continued in that position until 1931 when he was made dean of the university. He held this office until 1940 when he retired and was given the title of dean emeritus.

Miss Kester Will Wed Physicist

The recent news of the engagement of Barbara Kester to John Laughlin came as a pleasant surprise to their friends, for both were popular students at Willamette. Miss Kester left school last year at the end of her junior year to assume the position of plant chemist at the Hercules Powder company in Portland. She was a member of Beta Chi. She is the daughter of Mrs. Bruce Randall Kester of Portland.

Mr. Laughlin was graduated in 1940 and was awarded a fellowship at Haverford college, Pennsylvania. At present he is working for his doctorate at the University of Illinois, where he holds the position of physics assistant. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Laughlin and was a member of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity.

No definite wedding date has been set but plans are being made for a ceremony for sometime in the last of May or the first of June.

On Behalf of the Visiting Firemen

By Puck

From the red and gold decked gymnasium overlooking the rippling green waters of the mill stream deep in the heart of Willamette university we bring you the annual Junior-Senior Prom. All is aglow, some people not as much as others tonight, and spring is in her glory. Dancing around on the maple boards to the smooth rhythm of the nine-piece orchestra, and an extra piece of much discussed brass, is an honored senior, Miss Beverly sometimes-known-as Bev Nordean. She's wearing a delightful number and the band's playing one. However, Miss Nordean is white magic and Johnny Callas is black . . . magic I mean. The white number is of marquisette, a sweetheart neckline with inserts of black lace and the skirt is bordered with the same.

Over there . . . oh, no, they've moved . . . where are they? Oh, well . . .

Coming through the heavy French-like door is Lois Butler in a dotted swiss . . . royal blue against a white background, held securely by blue velvet straps.

And now all is quiet except for a deafening blast on that extra brass. And walking across the floor is her majesty Queen Mary Jean and her two princesses. The court is all in white. Princess Barbara, on the arm of Orel Davy-idsen, is wearing an old English print . . . not old but old English . . . a round neckline with slight shoulder sleeves and a swishing full skirt. Escorted by sweet Tweet Willis is Princess Sybil. Her white dress is appropriately made along princess lines, white net and lace with short sleeves, and . . . John Martin proudly escorts

DP's Usher In April 1 With Dance

The Delta Phis entered into the spirit of an after celebration of April Fool's day with a conglomeration of decorations strewn about their house last Saturday night for an informal dance.

Digging out of an accumulated collection of decorations used in days gone by they used the best of everything and ended up with halloween, Christmas, St. Patrick's, Valentine's day and such, all put together for April Fool decorations.

the queen in her regal dress of white setting off her dark beauty. The formal has a lace top and marquisette skirt, a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. And bobbing behind a huge bouquet is John Macy in his blitz haircut that is customary at coronations. That way nothing ever gets in his hair.

Marching through Georgia . . . pardon me, sometimes I get carried away . . . marching across the floor is . . . oh, dear, I've lost her again . . .

Any way, there's Tootie Schramm in a blue silk jersey and black net number. The black skirt is spiced with blue butterflies headed north.

Dottie Estes, just getting back in step, is dressed in (I almost paused after the word before the last, but no doubt they would have censored it so it's just as well . . . but I think it would've been kind of funny) a gold and white cotton crepe. Two wide straps across the shoulders cross in front and a low waist breaks into a full skirt.

And at last, there's . . . forheavensake!

Roberts Presents Concert

Prof. T. S. Roberts, organ instructor, presented a concert Sunday night climaxing a span of more than 37 years as chief organist for the First Methodist church. He was assisted by a group of guest vocalists and instrumentalists.

The music was heard by a near capacity audience of friends and admirers of the man who came west as a young graduate of a Philadelphia school and who has since become one of the best known organists of the west. Those assembled following the formal program of music, adjourned to the church parlors where Prof. and Mrs. Roberts greeted guests and refreshments were served.

Selections included in Prof. Roberts' program were "Angelus" from "Scenes Pittoresques" by Massenet, "Schurzo" from "Organ Sonata" by Buck and "Allegretto" by Tours. He joined with Ruth Bedford, pianist, in a presentation of the famous "Kominoi-Ostrow" by Rubenstein and with Mary Schultz Duncan, violinist, in "Meditation" by Mietzke.

Prof. Roberts also played the organ accompaniment for Josephine Albert Spaulding's vocal solo.

Mirrors Reflect Scenes At DTG's Formal Dance

Those present were Betty Adkins, Bill Byrd, Mary Alice Bartholomew, Bob Rock, Flora Leonard, Irving Miller, Mary Lou Moore, Ward Miles, Mary Moses, Dale Gollihur, Theodora Nelson, Richard Steeves, Ruth Ransom, Harold Adams, Virginia Routson, Ted Jones, Virginia Stahr, Duane Ragsdale, Martha Weaver, John Macy, Hazel Wells, Lee Grinde, Alice Faye Daugherty, Paul Judd, Jeanie Milch, Warren Downs, Mary Margaret Livesay, Ray Short, Dorothea Graham, Don Tasker, Doris Lee Anderson, Jack Glasse, Peg Gabriel, Jack Wittliff, Lue Ibach, Merlin Estep, Joyce Swan, Ed Hughell, Mary Helen Wilson, Paul Little, Margaret Forsythe, Charles Lovell, Marian Erikson, Bennet

Ludden, Betsy Mary Brunson, Marion Crews, Ina May Heinz, Blanton Durvin, June Downey, Peter Sabotage, Lois Robinson, Ralph Dakota, Elaine Bergquist and Lynn Leigh.

Fraternities Plan Formals

"Swingtime Serenade" is the theme of the Alpha Psi Delta formal to be April 16 at the Veterans' hall.

Merle Palmer is chairman of the dance; Dick Stacer is in charge of decorations; Wally Olson, punch. The orchestra is to be Johnny Callas, from Portland.

SPORT SCRIPTS Two-Game Series Opens Today with Timberwolves

By Wally Olson

Montana State college is the new home of three of Willamette's athletes who were called out of school by the army air corps at the close of the basketball season and by all reports seem to be carrying on in much the same fashion as far as studies are concerned as when they were here. All of the reservists were first sent to Lincoln, Neb., from where Bob Perry, Chuck Furno and Bob Findley were sent to Montana State for four months of schooling. The rest of the group are in St. Louis, Mo., where they are taking the same training.

The fact that these boys are liking Montana State and are made to feel that they are a part of that student body, serves as an example for what Willamette should adopt as a policy this summer when the navy will send 195 new students to this campus. All of these new men will undergo a rigid physical fitness program and many of them will probably be experienced athletes who will participate in intercollegiate athletics along with Willamette's own naval reservists who may still remain here. Whether or not these men take the attitude that they are a separate part of college life and play in our baseball, football and basketball contests with the idea that it is just a job to get over with, or whether they participate with the feeling of giving that job the old "college try" will be entirely up to us. The ultimate result will either be the same Willamette powerhouse combinations as in the past or else Willamette's immediate athletic destinies will be one big flop.

Early Football Coming

What actually faces Willamette athletically as far as next year is concerned however, is still unknown but with a new term opening the first of July, football will probably get one of its earliest starts in Bearcat history. Baseball will probably continue through July up to the middle of August, when Spec Keene thinks the pigskin will get its early boot. The early start in August should mean a powerful grid squad for next fall taking into consideration that enough potent material turns up from the reservists. One thing is certain and that is that there will probably be a complete turnover as far as team personnel is concerned, for Willamette will undoubtedly be without a man back from last year's squad, unless it is those virtually untried backfield men, Don and John and maybe Garrell "Truck" Deiner.

Turning now to the present baseball set-up, Spec Keene's Bearcats meet Camp Adair in the first of several games Saturday at Waters' Park. Due primarily to the graciousness of Mrs. George E. Waters, owner of the Salem ball park, nearly all of the Camp Adair-Willamette games will be played there, for she has turned the use of the park over to both clubs for the season. It will still be the same old stomping grounds however, for Bearcat catcher Clint Cameron who used to do everything but pitch while playing there for the Salem Senators of the durationed Western International league.

Intramural Golf

Now that Willamette has a new intramural setup under three brand new managers it wouldn't be at all impossible to work out an intramural golf schedule if enough parties are interested. Three different groups, the Sigma Tau fraternity, the faculty and the Alpha Psi, have all indicated hopes for such an activity.

On the campus just before spring vacation was Lt. William Reder, recently commissioned from the Ft. Belvoir, Va., OCS in the army engineers. Reder, who always played a bang-up job at end on Spec Keene's Bearcat football teams his two years in school and gained all-conference recognition in both those years, expected to get his leave during the state basketball tournament but two weeks on a road construction job in Richmond, Va., delayed his coming. From here Reder was sent to Tucson, Ariz., where he will be stationed permanently.

We've heard him called "William," "Bill" and "George," but the "Duke" monicker an Oregon Emerald sports scribe hung on Hanauska this week is a new one around here. Whether he's a Duke or a Dub to the boys down Eugene way, hinged on the way the 'Cats came out with the Ducks last Wednesday as the main mound chores hung on the husky shoulders of the Woodburn Wonder.

The lone man listed in the coast guard service in the statistics listed elsewhere on these pages turns out to be Bob Balkovic, freshman end aspirant on last fall's football club and brother of Willamette's ex-line coach and player, Lt. Mike Balkovic. The lad listed in the farming class and who is doing his bit helping keep up agricultural production is the well-built Roy Herr, freshman fullback, who showed great promise until an injury benched him.

Adair Scene Of 1st; Return Tilt Saturday

Coach Spec Keene's Bearcat diamond men take on the 383rd division team of Camp Adair in a home and home series today and Saturday in their second and third games for this week. The first game is slated for the soldiers' field at Camp Adair while the return tilt will be played in the George E. Waters park here tomorrow, getting under way at 1:30 p. m.

Considering Willamette's close brush with Oregon this week and the 383rd Infantry's narrow 3 to 1 loss at the hands of Oregon State both games should show a lot of hustling, smooth-playing ball.

Expected to do a major share of the flinging Friday for Keene's club against Lt. Bob Duffy's Adair nine will be letterman Hal McAbee and possibly Merle Palmer, senior transfer from Pacific Lutheran, who has been bothered lately with a sore arm. Other chuckers who will probably see action includes Ammon Adams and rookie pitcher-first baseman Wes Saxton.

Scheduled for mound duty in Waters park Saturday will be Bill Hanauska, the pro right-hander and assistant coach, while Clint Cameron and Hank Ercolini will divide behind the plate duties.

Out for the first time this week were letterman outfielder Don Barnick, who divided centerfield work with Don Ackley Wednesday against Oregon at Eugene, and Gib Kister, junior second baseman from St. Helens. Barnick's late turnout has been due to a broken foot received during the basketball season and Kister has been hampered by a sprained ankle. Both are expected to see action in this weekend's games, however.

The big bats of Ben Schaud, slugging junior outfielder, and Wes Saxton, rangy first baseman, are expected to wield considerable trouble for the Servicemen, as both seem to be quite adept in poking out those long triples and circuit clouts. Not far behind these two in the hitting department are Clint Cameron, the veteran catcher, and rookie shortstop Bud Larson, who show up in the pinches with their clean singles.

UO Ducks Topple Willamette In Fast, Rainy 6-4 Battle

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, April 7—The University of Oregon baseball nine, with Coach Howard Hobson back for his first game since attending an eastern coaches' conference, edged by a fighting band of Willamette Bearcats 6 to 4 in a fast but dampened contest here Wednesday.

Playing the whole game in a slight drizzle that never let up, the Bearcats were trailing 4-0 until they finally crossed the plate with a run in the fourth. Oregon scored early in the second frame on an error following a hit by Carlsson, Duck catcher, and pushed over three more tallies in the third on three successive bingles including Johnny Bubalo's triple off the offerings of Bill Hanauska, ace Bearcat chucker.

This ended Hanauska's trouble as his mates settled down in the sixth to score three more runs themselves. With two men out Catcher Clint Cameron singled to right field and then a long liner into left-center field by Outfielder Ben Schaud was good for the circuit scoring two of the three runs. Gordon Kunke immediately came up with a single and scored on Saxton's long triple, tying the game at 4-4. All this washed up Oregon's second pitcher, Sophomore Bob Caviness who was relieved by Sutherland, freshman right hander, who stayed out of trouble for the two final innings.

The Ducks quickly countered in their half of the seventh, however, to score two more runs and put the game away when a walk, a double by Don Kirsch and Bubalo's second hit put the Oregon ahead.

Saxton lead Willamette in hitting with a triple and a single in four trips to the plate while Bubalo and Kirsch each got two for four for Oregon. George "Whitey" Lokan, first up on the mound for Oregon, proved the most effective of the three pitchers Willamette faced in shutting out the 'Cats in the three innings he worked. Losing pitcher Bill Hanauska also showed good form for the Bearcats in going the route and allowing only eight hits.

Lt. Bob Duffy, Camp Adair athletic officer, who supervises both the 383rd Infantry team which plays Willamette today and tomorrow and the top-notch Timberwolves nine which plays our Bearcats later in the season. Lt. Duffy is a former University of California athletic star.

Three New Directors Start Intramural Softball Monday

Olson, Hanauska, Kunke Appointed; Four Teams Listed on Schedule

Monday will mark the opening day of the 1943 version of intramural softball. Providing weather permits, the first pairing of the four teams will display their wares in an attempt to topple the Rubes from the title they won last year.

According to Wally Olson, Bill Hanauska and Gordon Kunke, newly appointed intramural managers, games will be played during the noon hour on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and those taking part in the games will be excused from chapel program to enable them to be ready to play at 12 sharp.

Although many of the stand-outs of last year will be gone, the tournament is expected to hold the same thrills and exciting games as the last year schedule had. Playing no favorites, Uncle Sam has stripped many of the clubs of stars from past teams. Still the softball race will go on and interest is already high as to whom will be the '43 champs.

The always powerful Rubes will be faced to find a new pitcher to replace Kenny Jacobson. With hopes of finding some good prospects among the faculty, Pat White, who has been named manager for this year's Rube team, has made a desperate plea for their turnout.

Missing from the Sig team will be the outstanding chucker "Dusty" Des Jardin, who helped pitch his team into a three-way tie with the Rubes and Alpha Psis last year. Also missing from his rank will be the Alpha Psi all-around man, Bill Reder, who proved valuable in both the short-stop position as well as being an outstanding pitcher.

Although there will be many difficulties which will tend to hamper the smooth running of the games, it is hoped by the directors that the teams will be able to play the following schedule:

- Apr. 12—Rubes vs. Sigma Taus
- Apr. 13—Alpha Psis vs. Kappas
- Apr. 14—Rubes vs. Kappas
- Apr. 15—Alpha Psis vs. Sigma Taus
- Apr. 19—Sigma Taus vs. Kappas
- Apr. 20—Alpha Psis vs. Rubes
- Apr. 21—Rubes vs. Sigs
- Apr. 22—Alpha Psis vs. Kappas
- Apr. 26—Rubes vs. Kappas
- Apr. 27—Alpha Psis vs. Sigs
- Apr. 28—Sigs vs. Kappas
- Apr. 29—Alpha Psis vs. Rubes
- May 2—Sigma Taus vs. Rubes
- May 3—Alpha Psis vs. Kappas
- May 4—Rubes vs. Kappas
- May 5—Alpha Psis vs. Sigs
- May 9—Sigs vs. Kappas
- May 10—Alpha Psis vs. Rubes
- May 11—Make up games
- May 12—Two top teams playoff for championship.

Rain Hinders Diamond Crew

Old Jupe Pluvius stepped in and stopped games last week with Oregon State college as it did previously in a scheduled contest with Oregon. Rain again last Tuesday caused the Oregon-Willamette game to be moved to Wednesday and the game was finally played. A return game with the Ducks now, however, is not very probable as Oregon swings into its own intensive northern division race this weekend.

Ralph Coleman's Oregon State Beavers are also on the shelf as far as games with the Bearcats are concerned due to the same reason. The Beaver-Bearcat game was rain-stopped last Friday and any immediate prospects for the two teams getting together now are practically hopeless. Should the two teams fail to face each other this year it will be the first time in a number of years that this has happened.

Named to head the Willamette spring sports intramural program are Bill Hanauska and Wally Olson, shown above, along with baseballer Gordon Kunke whose picture was unavailable. The three will direct the coming intramural softball program and the proposed golf playoffs. They succeed Manager Earl Toolson who left school recently to return to the pro baseball ranks.

Greys Spring Surprise, Tie With Bearcats

Bucking an unexpected opposition from the state penitentiary Greys, the Willamette Bearcats wound up with only a 4-4 tie after a 10-inning encounter with the team which in the previous week had appeared to be a weak squad, last Saturday at the prison ball park.

Coach Spec Keene used five reserve pitchers in the early innings before calling on veteran Bill Hanauska in the seventh. Meanwhile the Cons, using only two pitchers, Cornwall and Ross, held the Bearcats several times in what appeared might be the winning plays.

In the early part of the tenth, the Bearcats in a final drive scored a run which appeared to be the winning run, but in a quick comeback the Greys scored in the last half to knot the final score, 4-4.

Three hits in four trips to the home plate by Ben Schaad, and a homer and a single by Bud Hilton led the hitting for the Bearcats.

Track, Tennis Dates Unsure

Arrangements for track and tennis competition for Willamette varsity squads are still in a tentative stage, according to Coach Lestle Sparks, mentor for both sports.

A track and field meet with Portland university for April 24 has been definitely scheduled for Olinger field here, however, and the Northwest conference meet has been set for May 16. Other track meets with Pacific and Linfield have not been set for any definite date as yet.

Tentative tennis dates have all been arranged with Portland, Pacific and Linfield and like track, the Northwest conference playoffs will be on May 16.

Keene's Office Lists Statistics On Military Status of Athletes

Statistics were released this week by the Willamette athletic department as to the military or non-military status of the 118 past and present Bearcat athletes from the 1940 era to the present. The department has kept up a consistent file on the whereabouts of the departed members and a constant correspondence with most of these is carried on regularly.

Margie Noll, office secretary, compiled the list as to what branch of the service they are in, draft and occupational status, etc., and released the following figures this week.

Out of this number, 23 at present are commissioned officers while approximately 50 more are potential officers.

Navy Training Plan Causes Change in Willamette Program

hours and not be regularly enrolled. The faculty will take into account the fact that some students may need from two to six hours to make up deficiencies and do not wish to enroll for an entire semester.

Practical difficulty, however, may prevent the carrying out of such a program. The main obstacle would be that faculty members most needed for the short session would be occupied full time in the summer semester work.

Liberal Arts Offered

As far as possible the normal liberal arts curriculum will be offered with few restrictions and science courses will be available. Faculty standings are undecided as yet but few changes are anticipated by the administration. The possibility of the necessity of adding to the personnel of the science department was pointed out. Final action on this will await the outcome of registration of science students.

Student body activities will be carried on in as normal a way as possible. The navy men will be encouraged to enter into the activities as much as time permits. The same ruling will apply for fraternities although it has not been worked out as to how the organizations will handle such memberships. Throughout the activity schedule the college side of the training program will be emphasized as much as time will allow.

Housing Pondered

To remedy the housing problem caused by the taking over of Lausanne hall for the men the university has requested each fraternity to state if it cares to make its house available to the university for housing the women and under what terms. When this information is at hand definite plans will be made.

At present it is proposed to have pledges live in the sorority houses during their pledge period instead of living in the dormitory their first year on the campus, as has been the custom in the past. Dr. G. Herbert Smith and a committee will inspect the houses soon in order to learn their facilities for handling the additional number of women.

Athletic Changes Due

Plans for housing students in the summer semester will await results of the questionnaire and pre-registration. It is not known whether sorority and fraternity houses will be open or if they will quarter only their own members.

A few minor changes will have to take place in the athletic department with the influx of the navy. Coach Spec Keene stated Wednesday that some new equipment will have to be obtained to replace already worn facilities. New equipment will include floor mats, parallel bars, and other such gym equipment that is used inside the gymnasium during bad weather. In addition there will be a readjustment of locker and equipment space in the lower floor of the gymnasium.

MODERN DESIGN

Willamette graduate and former Salem high school coach, Harold Hauk, has been promoted from the rank of junior grade to lieutenant. He is now naval liaison officer for Oregon with headquarters in the selective service office here. Hauk was very prominent in athletics while at Willamette.

Fred L. Rawlins is now stationed at Santa Ana, Cal., where he is a cadet in the army air corps. Rawlins was a member of the class of '45. He enlisted in the air corps last fall, receiving his call this month.

Pfc. Gerald A. Richardson of the class of '44 has recently been assigned to the army air base at Baltimore, Md., which will be his permanent post. He has just finished training as an aircraft armorer at Buckley Field, Colo., and Richmond, Va.

At Farragut, Idaho, is Harlyn England who is serving with the United States navy. England was a freshman at Willamette this year.

Mrs. William Comer, the former Connie Graves, has enlisted in the women's marine corps. She has been living in Seattle where her husband is stationed with the coast guard. Mrs. Comer was a member of the class of '44 and active in student body affairs while at Willamette. She is a member of Beta Chi.

Pfc. Robert East, member of the class of '44 and Alpha Psi Delta, visited the campus recently. He was now home on furlough after training with the marines at Utah State college. From here he went to Treasure Island for further training.

Ellis Rogers, WU '40, graduated recently from army air corps training in Yuma, Ariz., and has been commissioned as second lieutenant. He is the brother of Andy Rogers, now a senior at Willamette.

Jim Glasse, sophomore who left the campus at the close of the first semester, is now taking army air force ordnance basic training at Miami Beach, Fla. The men there are quartered in an ultra-modern hotel, and Glasse reports that he's toughening up and acquiring a fine tan. After his basic training, he will be sent to an ordnance supply school and will emerge with a rating and a good opportunity to attend officers' school and earn a commission.

Lt. Roger Miller is said to be among the Americans taking part in the raids over Africa, according to recent reports. Lt. Miller is credited with damaging one white-nosed Messerschmitt 109 and was given credit for another he caught and shot up over the airport. The fight began when M-E 109's rose to intercept a group of American B-25's which had just struck a serious blow at the Nazi airfield. Every American bomber returned intact. While attending Willamette Miller was affiliated with Alpha Psi Delta. He entered the army air corps his senior year, leaving before completing his English major. For a number of years the young flier had charge of a dance orchestra which was popular in Salem. He received his wings from Mather Field, Calif., December 12, 1941. He is now stationed overseas at an advanced American air base in southern Tunisia.

Member of the merchant marine, George P. Gutekunst, Jr., was in town last week for a short visit with his family.

Gutekunst has been sailing aboard cargo and troop vessels in the south Pacific and Atlantic war zone since January 23, 1942. For a while another Willamette student, Jimmie Schon, shipped on the same vessels. Gutekunst graduated with the class of '41.

Loren Hicks has completed medical reserve training corps officers training school and received a commission as second lieutenant. Lt. Hicks graduated from Willamette in 1942 and is a member of Kappa Gamma Rho.

David E. Thompson received a commission as second lieutenant at Quantico, Va. He has been in the marines since January, 1942. Lt. Thompson studied at Willamette for a time then went to the University of Nevada and graduated from the University of Hawaii.

"Doc" Campbell, graduate of Willamette law school in 1942, has completed naval training in Los Angeles and reported for sea duty in San Francisco. Ensign Campbell is affiliated with Kappa Gamma Rho. While on a seven-day leave he visited in Montana and Portland. His wife will make her home in Portland for the duration.

Louise Ramage receives the distinction of being the first girl on the campus to join the marines. This is her sophomore year and she is a member of Beta Chi.

Evelyn Wiley, seaman second class in the Waves, is now stationed at the naval air base in Lakehurst, N.J. She received her present rating upon completion of preliminary training at Hunter college, N.Y. Prior to her enlistment Miss Wiley trained as a parachute rigger in Spokane and is now assigned to similar duty. A freshman at Willamette in 1941, she was affiliated with Delta Phi.

Ensign Robert Ramp is now stationed with the navy in Chicago. Mrs. Ramp, the former Edna Thoman, left Salem Tuesday to visit her husband. Traveling with Mrs. Ramp is Jessica Kinsey who will remain in Chicago for a few months, returning in the late summer to Salem. Mrs. Ramp and Miss Kinsey are graduates of the class of 1940 and Ensign Ramp is also a former Willamette student. Ramp is a nephew of Prof. T. S. Roberts.

Cavern Night Hours Cut

The Bearcat Cavern will no longer remain open at night, according to Hollis Huston, since merchandise available is not sufficient to merit the additional business hours. The decision was reached in a council of the faculty and student directors of the student enterprise.

Another commodity will be added to the list of goods now offered. Within a week pies will be on sale although the co-managers, Huston and Jay Oliver, cannot promise that ice cream for pie a la mode will be always on hand.

The Cavern board is awaiting further information regarding Willamette's summer program before determining whether the Cavern will remain in business during the summer months.

Andy Humphrey, student at Willamette before joining the army in March, 1942, was recently graduated from the army flying school in Roswell, N.M. He received his second lieutenant's commission and the wings of a pilot. He will be assigned to another post for further duty.

DP's, Sigs Elect Heads

Eleanor Todd of Delta Phi and Elmer Harold of Sigma Tau were elected to head their organizations at regular house meetings Wednesday night.

Other officers of Delta Phi are Helen Zimmerman, first vice-president; Bette Burkhart, second vice-president; Betty Ann Swanson, secretary; Jean Fries, social treasurer; Jane Findley, corresponding secretary; Darlene Dickson, rushing chairman, and June Haight, manager.

Other offices filled at Sigma Tau were first vice-president, Wayne Rose; second vice-president, Bill Byrd; secretary, Larry Wills, and manager, Ted Jones.

Ration Cuts Fuel Supply

A one-third decrease in the university supply of fuel oil resulting from the government rationing of that commodity prompted the administration this week to take measures necessary to conserve the amount allotted for the period from February 1 to September 1.

The university heating plants will be operated for approximately one and a half hours each morning, thus cutting the amount of fuel consumed to about one-fourth of the usual quantity. Law school classes have been transferred to Eaton hall and the library to aid in the conservation.

Blue Key Men Elect Three

Ted Ogdahl was this week elected vice-president of the campus chapter of Blue Key, national honorary fraternity. Other officers elected to complete the cabinet were Merle Palmer, treasurer, and Harold Adams, corresponding secretary.

The fraternity is now in the process of voting in four new members to fill vacancies created by men leaving during the year. New members for next year will be chosen soon, according to Dick Stacer, president.

Civil Service Jobs Opened To Collegians by New Rule

WASHINGTON—(ACP)—Uncle Sam has propped the doors open for college graduates seeking professional careers in government service.

In an unprecedented announcement, the civil service commission reported it will accept applications for positions as junior professional assistants as rapidly as recent college graduates and college seniors can fill them out.

"Junior professional assistant" is the civil service term for the beginning grade of professional service, a grade requiring training but not experience. Base salaries at the junior professional assistant level are $2000, but wartime overtime pay for the 48-hour week brings actual compensation to $2433 a year.

Here are the precedent-shattering provisions of the commission's announcement:

1. No time limit is set for receipt of applications.
2. Examinations will be held periodically as the applications come in.
3. Seniors may file applications when they are a semester or two quarters from graduation and receive provisional appointments before graduation if they are successful on the test.

War is responsible for this unusual opportunity for college-trained persons.

"Anyone who has completed or is about to complete a full four-year college course is eligible to take the test," civil service officials say. "But women are especially urged to apply, particularly those with studies in public administration, business administration, economics, economic geography, library science, history, public welfare, statistics, mathematics and agriculture."

There are other new job openings for inexperienced persons without college degrees—opportunities for being paid to learn mechanical and scientific techniques.

The government is accepting applications for trainees in technical and scientific aids from persons who have had at least one unit of high school physics, chemistry, mathematics, biology or general science. Those passing the tests will be assigned to Washington laboratories of such agencies as the national bureau of standards, the weather bureau and the national institute of public health.

Base pay for trainees is $1440, with overtime pay bringing the total to $1752.

Further information on all these positions may be obtained from the civil service commission in Washington, DC, or from any first or second class post office.

Women Hear Wave Ensign

Ensign Mary E. Harper, from the recruiting office in Portland, who spoke at the Monday women's roll call chapel, described the program of the Waves and the Spars. She named the requirements, the salaries and possibilities for advancement. Age limits are between 20 and 45. Married women with children under 18 years of age are ineligible and women married to coast guardsmen cannot enter the Spars, and women married to navy men cannot join the Waves. However, both can marry after the basic training is completed, about two to four months.

Representing the navy at the Tuesday chapel was Yeoman 1st Class Stan Church, who explained what happens to a civilian after his draft number is called, with accompanying illustrations.

Fries Heads New Officers

Jean Fries, sophomore from Vancouver, Wash., was elected president of Vespers for the coming year at an election preceding a musical program Sunday night. Other officers chosen were Ella Rose Mason, vice-president; Gloria Wunsch, secretary, and Sam Witzel, treasurer.

The out-going officers are Margaret Peniberton, president; Reeva Schmidt, vice-president; Ethel Jean Cain, secretary, and Paul Libby, treasurer.

At this Sunday's meeting, Ray Short will lead a discussion on prayer.
