

Committee Proposes Five Amendments To Constitution

Constitutional Revision Committee Recommends All Proposals Pass; Students Will Vote on May 26

During spring vacation the constitutional revisions committee succeeded in creating five amendments to the constitution. The proposed amendments strike various and numerous phrases of student government. The committee, consisting of Chairman Herb Davis, Cecil Quesseth, Patricia Schramm, and Bill Thomas, has recommended that all the amendments pass. The student vote is to take place May 26 by standing ballot in chapel.

The first amendment provides that all class elections will be held the second Friday in January and the third Friday in May at elections supervised by the second vice-president of the student body with the assistance of each class president.

The second amendment deals with the law school, and provides that none of their student body funds shall be paid into the May Day Fund, the music fund, or the Women's athletic fund, and that the eleven percent formerly allocated to these funds be added to the five percent already going to the law school student body fees making a grand total of sixteen percent going into the law school treasury.

The third amendment provides that women making the all-star basketball team their first time shall receive a small silver basketball. Women making the all-star basketball team for their second and third times will receive certificates, and women making the all-star team for the fourth time will receive a small gold basketball. The girl athlete nominated by the women's athletic department board will receive a silver loving cup.

Fourth, is an amendment making the Honor Code Committee a body of ten rather than nine members. Two of these are to be freshmen. Until this year, there have been no freshmen on the committee. The committee is to promote, perpetuate, and educate the students in regard to honesty, and is to act as an intermediary board between students and faculty, keeping the latter in touch with student opinion. Two provisions are to be struck out of the present constitution. They are: "The executive committee may grant an appeal to the A.S.W.U." and "All decisions shall be subject to review by the president of the University."

The last, and fifth amendment grants all advertising in connection with Willamette University or its activities to be under the authority of the Collegian and Wallulah's committee. This committee will consist of the Collegian manager, the Wallulah manager, and the General Manager.

Late News

Ed Cone has withdrawn from the second vice-presidential race.

John Horton yesterday entered the field for second vice-president. John was freshman class representative; one time president of his class, '41; and has been a member of the Honor Code and Library committees.

Carolyn Brown, member of Philharmonic and a capella choirs, is now in the race for Song Queen.

Joe Dwight is second candidate for Yell King.

Indian Bones Excavated Saturday

On April 13, the excavating group with their picks and shovels, went again to Harrisburg, where they are excavating some old Indian graves. On this trip they dug out two skeletons, as well as some very unusual rock specimens. The skeletons were a child of eight and an adult skeleton. The group now has six Indian skeletons. The people going on the trip last Saturday were Jack Haek, Warren Nunn, Melvin Cleveland, Martin Wald of Portland, a former Willamette gradu-

Announcement Of Winners In Contest

Recreational Reading Winners to Be Announced By Wallace Sprague

Winners of the recreational reading contest sponsored by the Willamette university library will be announced on Wednesday, May 1 by Wallace Sprague, Willamette faculty member and son of Governor Charles A. Sprague, Robinson Spencer, Willamette university librarian announced this week. Mr. Sprague will be the chapel speaker on May 1.

Seven contestants entered the reading contest this year although Mr. Spencer says that a large number of students did read the required books but did not report on them.

Judges for the contest were: Mrs. George Rossman, wife of Supreme Court Justice Rossman, Hugh Morrow, Salem city librarian, and Professor C. C. Richards, professor of English.

A unique occurrence in the recreational reading contest came up, for out of the seven reviews submitted to the judges, two were on the book Factories in the Field by Carey McWilliams and two on Abraham Lincoln in Illinois by R. E. Sherwood.

Mr. Spencer also announces that the subcommittee on recreational reading of the student library committee for next year has been chosen. The committee is: Mary Barker, Melvin Cleveland, George Gutekunst, and Jean Schell.

Tuberculin Tests Given In Colleges

Tuberculin testing of freshmen has become very important in the health surveys in college. Although the need for such tests is practically nil on the Willamette campus, according to a statement recently issued by local health authorities, the Student Health Association carries on an active precautionary program and is prepared for any case that arises.

The Tuberculin Committee of the American Student Health Association in cooperation with the National Tuberculosis Association has, since 1921, conducted an annual survey among college students to determine the extent of the tuberculosis problem.

The report of the 1939 survey showed that 141 colleges and universities now include tuberculin testing and chest X-raying as part of the physical examinations given students.

The report also computes that for every new case of student tuberculosis stumbled upon by colleges that have no tuberculin-testing program, approximately 22 such cases would have been found by the up-to-date methods employed in colleges practicing case-finding.

Thousands of high schools throughout the country are now including the tuberculin test and the chest X-ray as a routine part of the physical examinations of their students. Each year the number of high schools employing this precautionary health measure increases. Mr. P. H. A. Boehringer is acting as chairman for the 1940 Early Diagnosis Campaign.

During its last fiscal year, the University of Minnesota had receipts totalling approximately 12 million dollars.

Baxter Will Go East to Conference

New York Is Included in Itinerary

By CARL SEIBEL

Dr. Baxter will leave the campus Friday night on a trip to Atlantic City, New Jersey, to attend the Methodist General Conference.

The Conference which takes place every four years is the first to occur since the union of the three main branches of the Methodist church. The conference acts as a legislative body for the church, and will open on April 24, and extend for about two weeks or until about May 8. During the trip to and from the conference Dr. Baxter will interview prospective teachers for the coming year and at the conclusion of the meeting will stop over at New York City for a day, after which he will return home arriving about May 15.

The sessions of the conference will meet in the Municipal auditorium which is situated on the Municipal pier of Atlantic City. Many will recognize this as the place of the international beauty contest, held each year at Atlantic City.

This conference will draw members from all Methodist conferences the world over. Oregon is allowed to send four members of which Dr. Baxter is one, the others are: Dr. Sidney W. Hall, superintendent of the Cascade district, a graduate of Willamette, and a member of the board of trustees; Mr. Frank Phelps, a Portland attorney, and also a

Bob Dean, social chairman, is in charge of the hike. Assisting him with the refreshments will be Pearl Bendixsen, Harriet Monroe, and Pearl Porter. Glenn Olds, acting as counselor, announced this week that all university students are invited to both the hike and the meeting at 6.

Columnist Hamilton Fails On Assignment; Reasons Given In Long Letter

Dear Betty:
Two mornings ago I found the Collegian assignment outline you had written for me in my box in Eaton. Always I open the newspaper weekly slip with some trepidation. Monday morning brought for the first time the realization of my worst fears. I was so overwhelmed when I saw it that I read heavily on the toes of an unsuspectingly approaching school postman.

Yet it was not the subject itself that worried me—"War as a Woman Sees It." All right, that was definitely an order for a lot of personal opinion. I was appalled at the picture that arose before me. Good heavens, you wanted me to create dramatic little scenes of a sightless old mother waiting in vain for her son, lying dumb and gory on some forgotten field, of a sweetheart going each day to the war office for news of her lover, reported simply as "missing"; of a sister standing

Salem Plans Centennial Celebration

The year 1940, a history-making year as far as world events are concerned, is also one of history celebration. From July 31 to August 4, Salem will celebrate the centennial of its founding when, in 1840, Jason Lee built a saw and drift mill on the present site of the paper mill.

Jason Lee established a mission school for Indians; later, the mission became Willamette University, which is to celebrate its centennial in 1942.

Historical pageants will be presented at the State Fair grounds every night of the Centennial Week. Miss Doris Smith, who has managed the Eugene pageant and others, is to direct the cast of 2000 persons.

Each day a parade and carnival will take place in downtown Salem. An historical village is to be erected which will house a collection of antiques and museum pieces.

Sunday will be an interdenominational day and all churches and choirs will unite in one service. The Centennial commission is composed of Salem businessmen.

Y Group Nominates Achor and Ferrin For Presidency

Nominating Committee Headed By Moses, Rhodes, Thompson, Announce Election Date

At a meeting of the Y.M.C.A. nominating committee on Wednesday, April 17, in Prof. Rhodes' office, the following were nominated for office: Al Ferrin and Winfield Achor, president; Stan Brownhill, vice-president; Tom Hall and Dick Stacer, treasurer; Dick French and Bob Ewing, secretary.

These nominees have been very active in the past year in promoting the Y program on the Willamette campus. Al Ferrin has, as steward, directed all the Y suppers and assured everyone who has attended them plenty of good food. Winfield Achor is retiring from the office of treasurer. Stan Brownhill, who will be remembered for his key part in making "Are You Sure" a success, has given the Willamette Y an all-time name through his publicity and connections with the central Ys of Portland and Seattle. In Portland he was associated with the Central Y and came to Willamette to prepare himself for a Y career. Through his efforts Kirby Page was brought to Salem recently.

Tom Hall, treasurer nominee, has been the spark of the publicity department, and his rival, Dick Stacer, has also aided publicity and has been the Barker for the return of Chresto drives. Dick French, at present in charge of the extension department, has been one of the reliable committeemen functioning in many capacities with equal success. His opponent, Bob Ewing, has been

Hutchinson To Address Student Body

Rev. R. A. Hutchinson of the First Congregational church will address the student body in chapel next Tuesday, April 23. Rev. Hutchinson has proved popular in his numerous appearances at Willamette and is well-known to most of the students.

On Wednesday the school of music will present another in its series of concerts. Dean Melvin H. Geist of the school of music will be in charge of the program.

Mr. Ivan Monroe, NYA administrator for the state of Oregon, will speak Thursday in chapel. Mr. Monroe has worked with officials of the school but this is his first appearance before the student body.

Al Ferrin To Propose New Policy

Faculty to Handle Amendment Proposes Honor Code Cases

Al Ferrin, chairman of the Honor Code committee, in viewing the changes proposed in the policy of the group, announced that an amendment will be proposed to the Constitution which will turn the handling of its cases over to the faculty.

According to Al Ferrin, chairman of the Honor Code committee, the change was the culmination of several months' thought on the matter and a talk with the faculty, who later voted in favor of the change.

Ferrin feels that, although the primary function of the committee is turned over to the faculty, there is still a need for the Honor Code committee to continue in existence. He feels that there should "still be a group at Willamette which has as a prime objective: (1) to create the right attitude in the students as to the taking of tests; (2) to act as a student-faculty relations committee."

Election time is here again. One week from today, Willamette's student body will elect for its presiding officers some few of the students who are now in the race for its various offices. Competition has been especially hot and heavy to president and for editor of the Collegian, as it has been in previous years.

Presidential Candidates
There are five candidates for the presidency of the student body, one of which is Steve Anderson of the Law school. He has had experience as presiding officer of several organizations, was president of his junior class, and is now a pledge of Delta Theta Phi, law school fraternity.

Al Ferrin, junior, is another presidential candidate. He is chairman of the Honor Code Committee, a member of Blue Key, and also of the Philharmonic choir.

Bill Laughlin, also a member of the junior class, will be remembered as the originator of many archeological expeditions, and the Cephalic Index as well as other scientific endeavors.

Bill Thomas, another junior, is the other presidential candidate. He has been very prominent in forensic, oratorical, and other activities in the speech department.

First Vice
The only candidate for the office of first vice-president is Mary Head. She is vice-president of the junior class, a member of the Pep staff, a chairman on the May Day committee, and is also on the cast of the May Wee-end play.

Lead Taken By Moorhead In "Our Town"

Experienced Actor Plays Stage Manager in Wilder's Production

George Moorhead, graduate of Willamette, is cast as the lead in "Our Town." Mary week-end play—and by the looks of the earlier rehearsals, he will turn in a bang-up performance on the night of presentation. Nonchalant and speaking with a slow, small-town drawl, Moorhead depicts in his easy manner the simple happenings in a New England crossroads town of the early nineteenth-century. The cast supports and builds Moorhead; and Moorhead builds the cast—the two fabricating a real and sympathetic picture of "Our Town."

Costumes appropriate to the period arrived yesterday from the Civic theatre in Portland, but the manager announces that there is still a shortage and that any clothes of 1901 style, or thereabouts, that can be contributed will be appreciated.

"Our Town" is more than a play; it is a presentation of mood and atmosphere—sometimes called local color. In brief, a bit of old New England will come to life and live for you right on the stage.

The play will be presented in the spacious and modern Salem High auditorium—assuring comfortable and theatre-like seating of the audience.

The huge cast includes: Stage manager, George Moorhead; Dr. Gibbs, William Hall; Joe Crowell, Bill Harrington; Howie Newsome, De Lancey; Mrs. Gibbs, Carolyn Brown; Mrs. Webb, Frances Pickard; George Gibbs, Quentin Inesly; Rebecca Gibbs, Mary Hunt; Prof. Willard, Everett Andrews; Mr. Webb, Tom Terjeson; woman in balcony, Helen Newland; man in audience, Gene Huntley; Simon Stimson, David Stahl; Mrs. Soames, Nadine Orest; Constable Warren, Wesley McWain; St. Crowell, Merrill Cray; Sam Craig, Corydon Blodgett; Joe Stoddard, Jim Sehon.

Wednesday afternoon, Coach Maple's Beacorn nine lost to the Salem Senators by a score of 9 to 3 in the first encounter between the two teams.

Willamette looked surprisingly strong against the money boys. Although each team collected ten hits, the Senators lunched theirs in the third and fifth innings. Four errors were chalked up against each team. Willamette errors proved costly in the fifth inning.

Senators Drop Bearcats In Initial Game

The Senators started their season in the fifth, seventh, and ninth innings. Until the fifth inning the Collegians were unable to hit the experienced pro pitchers.

Willamette encountered tough luck when Sluystrop Rensdale hit a long double only to be called back for not touching first.

The Cats executed a beautiful triple play from short, to second, to first, to home. This was the outstanding play of the afternoon.

Peace rules the day, where reason rules the mind.—WILLIAM COLLINS.

War or Peace Day?

Today, April 19, at 11 A.M., some march in memory of our entrance into that fatal first Great War. Many more at the same hour are demonstrating for Peace.

It was a war that left not only the best of that generation beneath fields of white crosses, but also brought a cultural set-back to civilization, an aftermath of depression, and laid foundations for more bloodier conflicts.

But why dwell upon the past and the lesson that might have been learned had the leaders of democracy been more alert. The future is of more vital importance. Are we going to allow foreign propaganda machines and censored war news to drag us again to the European fireside to pull forth the chestnuts for selfish imperialism? Let each one of us remember, as we look eastward to the devastation of lands from which our forebears came, that our fellow Americans, living peacefully beside us, may have ancestors of a different nationality, may feel differently about sacrificing their men as cannon fodder to a war in which they should take no part.

Even as she spoke, she realized that there was little hope. Betty, with carelessness and wisdom on the part of our government, the grimness of actual fighting may never touch her children, out there are other daughters who right now are waiting for others to return. Down through the centuries mothers have sighed that wish in vain. Each generation must meet for itself this most hideous of all problems. And each generation falls short of the solution.

Strange that I can go along, carrying out the daily routine, even being quite happy, when every radio throws at me the echo of guns around the world. Yet always in the back of my consciousness is the certainty that I will see war, that soon I will know the saddest truth about the whole bloody mess.

"Being inconsequential talk about nothing in particular"

SCENE: Main hall of Eaton on a warm afternoon. A student stands unsteadily in the center of the hall, a tie hangs loose and flopping around his neck and matches the color of the tongue which lolls from the side of his mouth. In fact, it is difficult to distinguish the tie from the tongue.

Suddenly he sees the drinking fountain and lunges for it, madly turning the knob at the side. The fountain sputters, emits a promising gurgle—and the student leans over it in jubilant expectancy. He waits. Another gurgle. And then one tiny, silver drop of water creeps from the recesses of the fountain, pauses, and rolls in a sparkling little flash down over the white bulb—and is gone, wasted.

An agonizing scream harshly escapes from the parched throat of the student. "Water, water—water! I've tried every fountain in Willamette, and none of them work. I'm dying of thirst. Water, water, WATER—" With his right hand, the student politely stuffs his tongue back in his mouth, and without further ado collapses at the foot of the white fountain—a scene that brings tears of anguish to the eyes of the fellow students gathered solemnly in the hall to witness the tragedy.

There are fountains Made of brass; There are fountains Made of gold; But Willamette's fountains I hate the best Because there ain't No water in 'em. —willy.

YES, it is a grave situation that faces us. The university has five fountains and one bird bath; the fountain—with their meagre little trickles—only trickle and arouse the thirst insatiable with no chance for quenching it. The fountains should either be fixed, or packages of straw should be placed by them so that at least a person could draw the sparse drops with some semblance of sanitation.

And the bird bath—a little bird told me that he would sooner swim in a puddle of formaldehyde than in that garbage-bucket we call a bird bath.

SURPRISED I was when I came to Willamette to find how honest the students are here. After spending time in high school, at summer camps, army encampments, hotels, etc.—I had found from experience that one had to keep everything under lock and key; it was during this time that I formed the disconcerting habit of sleeping with my eyes open.

It was like going from Sing Sing to a monastery. Here at the university one can leave things lying around with indifference—and always with the assurance that they will be there when one returns. Books, coats, tennis rackets, bicycles—I have left them all in various places on the campus for varying lengths of time and always they are where I left them.

One time I placed a very delicious lunch in a somewhat conspicuous spot, and—as is quite frequently the case—I was busy and forgot to eat that day. About a week later I happened to think of it, went back, and sure enough, there it was—quite uneatable—but still there.

MUCH different it was in high school. I bought fountain pens the same way that bankers buy cigars—in boxes.

The stealing of things from me I did not mind so much, but sometimes it was embarrassing. One time just before class, Dutch-Kutch-McGlouth—school tough boy—called to me in the hall. I was reluctant to talk to him because I did not like him. His innocuous mind had deduced, in a way peculiar to minds of his type, that because I (1) was thin, (2) wore spotulates, (3) combed my hair once a week—that I was a sissy of the first order.

"What do you want, Dutch-Kutch?" I said rather meekly. He was a slick one, that McGluth. "Oh, nuttin'," he said, "jest wanted to tercha know I hadn't got no hard feelings fer ya?" He told me what a rotten hummel the River Hats were, and after five minutes of talking, I went to class.

Grieved, as I was, by the cold glare of my teacher and the snickore of the class, I concluded something must be wrong. And something was wrong. Glancing down, I was quite perturbed to find that I was standing there in my bare under-shirt. Dutch-Kutch, the cad, had stolen the shirt right off my back. It was a lesson I have never forgotten. He was a bad one, that Dutch-Kutch McGluth. I understand he finally went completely wrong, and is now work-

Cathedral Is Struck by Lightning

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—(ACP)—While thousands of students sit quietly in their classes in the University of Pittsburgh's cathedral of learning, lightning may be shivering the spine of the cathedral, for it has been struck more than any other building in the university district, declares H. E. Dyebe, professor and head of the department of electrical engineering.

A bolt of lightning which attained the crest magnitude of 21,000 amperes, enough electricity to supply four an da half cathedrals at one time, hit the main university building.

Three direct contacts have been observed. The first occurred early last spring, when 16,000 amperes shot through the cathedral. A 3,000-volt disturber was shattered by the stroke. The second "un-directional surge" was confirmed on June 10 and reached 21,000 amperes. The last recorded hit came sometime between October 21 and 25, 1939.

FADS and FASHIONS

By Margaret Moulton

With the royal May Day court selected and May pole and other dancers chosen, plans and preparations are well under way for the last of Willamette's big week-ends for this school year. Already patterns and materials are being bought by the girls in preparation for their new gowns or costumes, the nature of which are not being divulged as yet, although they promise to be more beautiful than ever.

Bright spot on last week's social horizon were the three sorority spring dances. In another week the fraternities will entertain with their annual spring formal, and this Saturday evening Lausanne hall girls will hold a novelty dance.

Betty Thelander was charming in an embroidered pink plique jacket and full skirt. Sequins decorated the front of the blouse of Nadine Orcutt's aqua crepe. Betty Keller wearing orchid chiffon made with gathered bodice and trimmed with chertreuse bows.

At the Beta Chi Isle of May, Irma Calvert's blue and white check with its white lace ruffled edging was outstanding. Dorothea Greenwood wore a bowery dress of old fashioned pink and blue floral pattern; the dress had drop shoulders and hip padding. Bloude Mary Henley's starched pink organza had a soft fluffy bolero to match. Florence Gallon's sheer pink gown had several rows of wide lace insertion in the full skirt. Delma Jean Jones wore a black and white printed dress with red ribbon binding about the neck and hem. Pat Cormany's black taffeta was accentuated by a tiny white collar and rows of white banding on the skirt. Dorothy Wright had a dress of pink net trimmed with blue ribbons.

Dorothy Culler's crocheted silk blouse with its design of blue worn with a sheer white skirt was distinctive. Mary Ellen Mills looked youthful in white organza. At the Alpha Phi informal Mary Head wore a simple gold crepe made with three-quarter length sleeves. Wilma Matthes' dress was black crepe with eyelet collar and cuffs, and crocheted white belt. Frances Tatro wore two shades of blue in her two-piece sheer wool. Maxine Crabtree had on light blue with built up shoulders, and gathered bodice, and her sister, Doris, wore wine velvet accentuated by a white collar. Belleore Molloy's dress was of sheer pink wool with quilted sleeves and pockets. Marcia McClain was wearing a new aqua print. Betty Lou Strachan wore a princess style gray flowered silk. Dorothy Moore's dress was powder blue made with white lace yoke.

For the first time in history, faculty members of state educational institutions will this year pay a federal income tax.

SOFTBALL

Rip Raps & Roots

By JOE VAN WINKLE

The Bearcats seem to be headed for a big year in baseball if they can discover one more pitcher and manipulate their two-man staff to pitch all the crucial and important games. Last week Hal Macabee allowed only four runs to be scored in losing 4-2 on Friday, and Bob White let down the Ducks with two runs in the Water's park on Saturday. Incidentally Howard Maple added one more man to those aspiring to take over the initial sack which was vacated by the graduation of Rex Pierce. First Jack Steiger was used; Art Baird alternated; Joe Murray played against Oregon on Friday at Eugene; and Ollie Williams was shifted from the utility outfield roll to first base in Saturday's contest. We hear that Gordie Moore also has aspirations at the popular position.

KEEN COMPETITION

Besides the plentiful supply of first sackers, each man seems to be of top notch ability. In Friday's game Joe Murray played a good fielding game and pounded out one good blow, which seems to be a good average for any Willamette player; and in Saturday's tussle Ollie Williams drove a long triple to the center field boards driving in Willamette's two winning runs. This hit of Ollie's was the longest and the best hit of the game, and this freshman seems destined to be one of the stars on the Bearcat nine. Not to be forgotten is steady Jack Steiger, who plays such a beautiful defensive game.

TENNIS TEAM—GILMORE

So far this season Bud Gilmore seems to be the whole tennis team. The big boy from Grants Pass, playing his third season as number one man has blasted every one he has played in comparatively easy style and seems destined for another big year. The doubles team which Gilmore plays upon has also won two out of three matches so far. In his freshman and sophomore years Gilmore annexed the Northwest conference singles crown, and this season seems to be headed for even bigger achievements. It wouldn't surprise us any if Gilmore would someday rank among the top notch racket wielders in the game. The return of George Gutekunst to the squad in number two spot will greatly improve the Bearcat tennis squad. At present Hume Downs, sophomore from Salem is playing number three; Sumner Callahan, junior, also from Salem, number four; and Warren Bertleson and Howard Eberly are alternating at number five.

ART GALLON GETS JOB

Added to the clean sweep which the Willamette coaching department made when they landed jobs for Leighton Blake, Jerry Gasteneau, and June Brasted at Ashland high school was this last week's announcement that Arthur Gallon had received a position coaching and teaching in a private school in Hawaii. This is one of the most distant placements that Willamette has ever made for first year teachers and indeed is another plum. With around a dozen coaches to place this year the steady placement is certainly alleviating what appeared to be a pressing situation. Art has been very outstanding in student affairs and upon the gridiron while at Willamette, and for my own column would like to have even better than an award to honor him. What a perfect setup it will be for Art and his bride-to-be to make their first home. Maybe it's just another one of those dreams come true.

SOFTBALL vs. BASEBALL

The other day we heard an argument in the locker room that centered upon the question of baseball vs. softball. One side contended that softball hurt baseball, good old time baseball; and the other side contended that they were two different sports and had no more conflict than basketball and football. In specific instances such as here in Salem when the new Senator club will undoubtedly hurt the softball attendances or vice versa we can see a conflict. Also there are many diamond stars that play in both baseball and softball leagues and often such as in the instance when Bill Anton hurt his arm throwing a softball there is a conflict. However, it seems to me that the only conflict reverts back to the old story of carrying cherry stones.

Many athletes try to play too much and wear out just as students try to take on too many activities and flunk out. Softball and baseball, although undoubtedly similar, are different sports.

Cats Outrun By Pacific's Cinder Team

Weakley Leads Scoring With Thirteen Points; Pacific 9 Firsts; W. U. 6

A surprisingly strong Willamette track team went down to defeat before the Pacific Badgers yesterday afternoon by a score of 73 1/2 to 57 1/2. Though favored to trounce the Bearcats, it was only through Willamette's weakness in two or three events that the Badgers gained their victory. As it was the first meet of the season for the Maplemen, their performance yesterday points toward a successful season this year.

Pacific outran the local boys in most of the distance events. However, John Gardner, first year man, turned in an impressive performance by stepping off the two-mile in 19:47.

Lack of material was the factor that beat the Cats in their first meet. With but a handful of men turning out for track, it will be difficult to develop a winning team. There are not enough men participating in the various events to collect many seconds or thirds. Yesterday Pacific swept the high hurdles simply because Willamette did not have a man entered. Only about 12 men represented the Cardinal and Gold in the meet.

The local boys got off to a poor start with Pacific sweeping the high hurdles in 16:4 due to non-entry by Willamette.

In the mile run, Bob Ewing, long striding Willamette distance man, grabbed an early lead setting a pace of 65 for the first quarter and 77 for the second. He held the lead throughout the entire race only to be overtaken and passed in the stretch by Giam of Pacific.

Willamette also only had one entry, Ken Lilly, in the 440. Though starting from the second lane, Ken grabbed the inside lane only to lose it to Pacific's Moon after about 200 yards. He paced Moon around to the 220 mark, where he started his sprint. The last 150 yards saw Moon cunning in first place with Lilly making his bid in the outside lane. Ken passed Moon only to see the Badger flash shoot around him again in the last ten yards and beat him by six inches.

In the 100 yard dash, Russell of Willamette was nosed out by Frances of Pacific who ran the century in 16:91. Putnam placed third.

The Cats looked good in the 880 with Granis and Abbott finishing in second and third places respectively. Abbott took the lead from the post with Granis going around him at the 300 mark. Bob set a pace of 60 for the first lap and led the lead until the trio reached the straightaway. Then Burton passed him and broke the tape by a narrow margin. With a little more practice, both Granis and Abbott should develop into sure-fire winners.

Starting the two-mile from the second lane, John Garner paced Pacific's No. 1 man through the first three laps and then took the lead, which he relinquished only once throughout the race. He was one of the outstanding performances of the afternoon. His long, easy, leaning stride enabled him to post an easy win over his two Pacific rivals.

Rex Putnam got off to a good start in the 220 yard dash but was passed in the last few strides by Pacific's speed artist, Frances. Putnam finished second and Russell third.

Justin Weakley stepped over the low hurdles in 27 flat to lead the field.

Spring has sprung and with it a bevy of budding Robin Hoods and Alice Marbles.

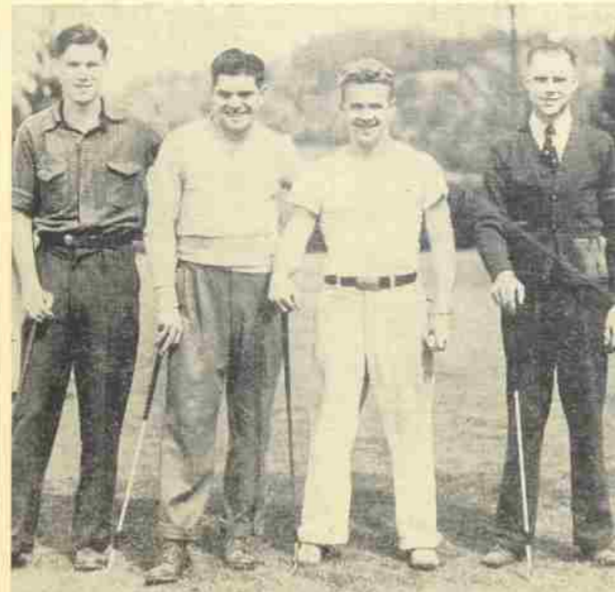

Archery practices from 2-4 on Mondays and Wednesdays have claimed the attention of several neophyte shooters, including Max Crabtree, Chuck Morgan, and Helen Neiger.

Barbara Ferguson, Helen Acheson, and June Brasted not only play at tennis, but are on the women's tennis team coached by Prof. Sparks.

To get your points in archery, 40 ends of over 20 points each are required. Fifteen hours of play are needed for tennis points.

Oregon State Golfers Avenged

Although the Willamette golf team took all points in doubles play from OSC at the Salem golf course last Saturday, they were defeated by a score of 1 1/2 to 9 1/2 in the second meeting of the two teams.

The Orange team scored all 11 1/2 of its points in single play. The Bearcats were somewhat handicapped by the loss of No. 3 man, Bickner, who shot a 68 in the Linfield match two days ago.

In doubles play Bennett and Currey of Willamette scored 3 points to none for Mead and Hansen of OSC, and Reynolds and Putnam blanked Peterson and Graham of OSC by the same score.

'Cat Diamonds Split With Ducks

A win, 4-2, spurred by the effective stick work of rookie first baseman, Ollie Williams, opened the score for the Bearcats in a home and home series with University of Oregon diamond aggregation, followed defeat by a similar tally in Eugene on Friday.

Willamette counted up markers in the second and third innings to lead 3-1 after the Web-foot crew had driven in a run in the initial inning. Williams, triple, sending in Walden and Southard who had singled ahead of him, gave the 'Cat nine his margin.

Flinging the horseshoe effectively, Bob White was touched for only five scattered singles, to garner his second win of the current season. The quintet of hits was shared by the two Oregon men who proved most dangerous of the day, Dick Whitman continued his bludgeoning ways by connecting with three of White's offerings; Web-foot Catcher Walden got the other two.

Jasper lurled for Oregon. The Bearcats ran into Pitcher Pete Igoe at Eugene and were held to three hits, while their own McAbee was blasted for seven. Three runs in the fourth stanza did the trick for the Web-foot. The winners blasted three of their hits in this inning. Each team scored in the second inning and Willamette collected its second and last shaker of the day in the seventh frame.

Leighton Blake, stellar ex-center on the Bearcat football team has signed a coaching contract with Ashland high school. The contract was signed near the end of March after several conferences with Ashland high school officials.

Blake will be head coach for football, an assistant basketball coach to Jerry Gasteneau, ex-Willamette basketball star, and will probably try to build up a track squad which is lacking at present at Ashland high. He will also teach mechanical drawing.

Blake plans to work during the summer at a city playground as a supervisor. He claims that this work will give him a chance to gain experience as well as opportunity to make improvements if needed.

Leighton went to Ashland Thursday in order to study the setup for having a spring football session of two weeks or more. We hope he can be successful at building teams similar to the ones he played on at Willamette.

Bretheren and Kappas Post Softball Wins

Fishchokers Nosed Out By Bretheren; 2 Alpha Psi Teams Lose

Although the Intramural Softball league is well under way in the second week of play, only four games have been officially reported to the paper.

One of the most interesting games to be played so far was the close one between the Fishchokers and the Bretheren, when they met last Friday noon. The Fishchokers started out with a six-hit barrage, five of them home runs, for a total of six runs, while in their half of the same inning, the Bretheren went hitless. After that hot first inning, the Fishchokers seemed to lose their eyes, for they went scoreless the rest of the game and only garnered four more hits, two in the second inning, and one in each the fourth and fifth. After a bad first, the athletes began to find the groove of Bud Gilmore's ball, and in the third round, hit for three homers and a single, totalling four runs. From then on, they hit safely in nearly every inning, scoring two more runs in the sixth and one in the seventh frame. The game ended with the Bretheren on the long end of a seven to six score.

In another game played last Friday, a much improved Kappa outfit outscored the Sigma Tau team, 6 to 4. With tight support behind him chucking by "Bunny" Bunnell, the Church street gang held the Sig team down until the sixth inning, when two runs were batted in, after two men had been walked. The main weakness in the Kappa lineup was the poor judgment in base-running. Leading hitter for the day was "Swede" Swenson, who hit three for four, one of which was a home run.

Wednesday noon saw the Independents swap the Alpha Psi R team, eleven to two. A hit by Gil Leiser in the second inning started a seven-run attack, followed by four more runs in the fourth. The Alpha Psi team scored once on a walk in the third and for the last time with a hit in the fifth. Johnston and Leiser were the stick men for the Independents, each with three for three.

In the other encounter on Wednesday, the hard-hitting Bretheren defeated the Alpha Psi A team, five to three. In the first inning, the Bretheren hit safely three times, to net them two runs. In their half of the same inning, the Alpha Psi's were held scoreless. The Bretheren scored once in each the second, third and seventh frames, to bring their total to five. The Alpha Psi team pushed a man over in the third, fifth, and sixth, for three runs.

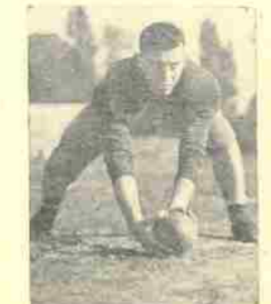

The schedule for the rest of the season is posted in the hall in Eaton, and all intramural players should consult this for their games.

When tracing the part that Bruce Williams has played in the field of athletics, it is almost necessary to go back to the time when he learned to walk. While in Englewood grade school, Bruce played on the softball team that won the city grade school championship. Incidentally, Otto Skopil was a member of that same team. The two boys have participated together in athletics for the past ten years, a participation which ended early this spring when Bruce played his last game of basketball under Willamette colors.

Attending Salem high school, he earned two letters in football, two in basketball, and one in baseball. In addition to athletics, he was active in all school functions and truly a leader among his fellow-students and athletes. He was sports editor of the school paper, in the summers he played Junior league baseball.

On graduating from high school, Williams attended San Mateo Junior college for one year. During that one year he distinguished himself in football and basketball. And then came Willamette. Here the well-built 205-pound center has earned three letters in football and one in basketball. He won all conference honors in football and was named on the Pacific all-opponent eleven. His

Oregon Ducks Down Bearcat Tennis Players

Gilmore Is Outstanding For Willamette; Next Match With Portland

The fighting Bearcat tennis team Wednesday was defeated 6-1 by the more experienced Ducks from University of Oregon. Bud Gilmore, Bearcat No. 1 man, and captain of the team, was the only Willamette winner, defeating Key, 1-5, 7-5, and 6-4.

Captain Gilmore got off to a bad start, winning only one of the six games of the first set.

The second set between the two No. 1 men saw some of the most outstanding tennis of the year being played. Gilmore won only one of the first six games. Then with the score five games to one against him, he opened up to win six straight, taking the set seven to five. The third set opened with two straight game victories. From then on, the games saw-sawed back and forth, the server winning each in his turn. The Bearcat captain served the last game of the set and match, with games standing five and four. With a deuce score, Gilmore calmly stepped up to the line and served a beautiful ball that broke the deuce for him. After a short play on the next ball, he hit a hard fore-hand drive into back court to annex the winning point.

Other matches saw George Gutekunst lose to Clark, 1-6, 5-7; Hume Downs lost to Werschul, 3-6 and 1-6; Sam Gallaher lost to Potwin, love-6 and 2-6; Warren Bertleson lost to Harning, love-6 and 6-8. Willamette lost in both her doubles matches 6-4, 5-4 and 8-6, 6-1.

Improving vastly since they first started working out as a team right after spring vacation, the tennis squad has to date defeated University of Portland, 6-1, and Pacific University, 5-2, and twice lost to Oregon State college, 6-1, 5-2, and University of Oregon, 6-1. A very full schedule ahead of them includes a return match with Portland here April 23rd, San Jose State here May 7th, two matches with Linfield college, a return with Pacific here and one with University of Oregon at Eugene. The official season will close on May 17, with the Northwest Conference meet in Salem, including all the conference schools. The meet will have singles and doubles, with both men and women competing.

The University of Vermont next year will celebrate the 150th anniversary of its founding.
