

WILLAMETTE HOST TO DEBATE TOURNAMENT

Intercollegiate Oratorical Association of Oregon Schedules Forensic Event

EXPERT JUDGES USED

Witty and Redding Compose Men's Team, Starret and Pro May Represent Women

The intercollegiate oratorical association of Oregon will sponsor a state debate tournament to be held at Willamette university on April 20 and 21. This is the first event of its kind to be held in Oregon and it will call for two of the tullest days of debating that any college has ever heard. Ten debates are planned for the first day.

The question for the debates is: Resolved that American Investors and Investments in Foreign Nations Should be Protected Only by the Governments of the Nations in Which the Investments are Made.

The membership of the association includes ten colleges and universities in the state. Each member has the privilege of being represented by a men's and a women's team. Robert Witty and Charles Redding will be the men's team from Willamette, while Margaret Pro and Edith Starret will compose the women's team. Every team is required to be prepared on both sides of the question and will debate both the affirmative and the negative positions. Two defeats will necessitate an elimination from the tournament.

Contests will be judged by the single critic method, coaches from teams not involved in the particular debate serving as judges.

The tournament comes as the result of the suggestions made at the executive meeting of the association at Eugene by Prof. Lester Thomson of Pacific University. The details of the tournament contest have been worked out by Prof. Thomson. Details of the arrangements for the accommodation of guests and the general conduct are being made by Alvin Breithaupt of Willamette, state secretary of the Association.

Members of the association are Pacific University, Eugene Bible University, Linfield College, University of Oregon, Oregon State College, Oregon Normal School, Ashland Normal, Pacific College, Albany College, and Willamette University.

Walter Durgan of the University of Oregon is president of the association.

APRIL ALUMNI BULLETIN RECEIVED FROM PRINTER

Report of Treasurer to Alumni Loyalty Fund Shows Support by Friends

The April issue of the alumni has just been mailed out to the friends and alumni of the university and extra copies can be secured in the office of the registrar.

The leading article of the bulletin deals with the function of the modern liberal arts college. A feature article entitled "Well Languished Daniel" is written about Professor E. C. Richards of the English department. The report of Harry W. Swafford, treasurer of the alumni loyalty fund which closed on June 13, 1927 revealed the sum of $671.50 to the credit of the fund. The average gift of each contributing alumnus was $7.99. The treasurer of the fund anticipates a larger and better showing this year.

PRO AND WITTY REPRESENT W. U. IN ORATORICAL FRAY

Peace Oratorical Contest at Albany Friday, Colleges of State Will Participate

Robert Witty will represent Willamette in the peace oratorical contest which will take place at Albany on Friday afternoon, April 13. In the extemporaneous contest to be held at the same time, Margaret Pro will speak for Willamette.

Representatives from all parts of the state will gather for these two contests. The orations will be ten minutes in length. The extemporaneous contestants likewise have ten minutes for their speeches.

The general subject for the extemporaneous contest deals with the influence of the press. One hour before the actual speaking begins, each representative will draw a subject, dealing with a division of this topic, upon which he will prepare his speech.

Following the contests intertainment is to be given for the entrants. First prize for the peace contest is $50, with $40 for second prize. $50 goes to the winner in extemporaneous and $25 to the contestant placing second.

COUNCIL SCHEDULES MIX FOR MEN OF UNIVERSITY

Stag Mix Planned for April 21 at Local Y; Fraternities Sponsor Event

Not to be left with nothing to do on the evening of April 21 when the co-eds will entertain themselves on their own initiative and finances the men of the university are planning to stage their annual stag mix at the local Y. M. C. A.

The program is being worked out under the direction of the vice-presidents of four fraternities. The Alpha Psi Delta and the Epsilon Delta Mu fraternity have been delegated with the responsibility of furnishing the program for the evening. The Sigma Tau fraternity has agreed to be responsible for the refreshments. The Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity has been assigned the work of securing publicity for the event and inviting all the men affiliated with the university who will not be reached through regular fraternity connections.

The event was for a number of years sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. but last year the affair was sponsored under the direction of the interfraternity council.

The program will consist of athletic events, swimming, and stunts. The event is not planned exclusively for fraternity men, but rather is designed to furnish the opportunity for all the men of the university to meet together and have a general good time.

LAUGHLIN RECOUNTS MISSIONARY EVENTS

Teaching Experience in Palestine Recalled for Benefit of Wesleyans

The Willamette Wesleyans had the opportunity in their meeting Wednesday noon of hearing Dr. Seera Bright Laughlin tell of conditions in Palestine fifteen years ago. He taught one year in a mission at Ramallah, which means "Horn of God". This mission where he taught is on the Damascus road, and all the tourists and native travelers in that part of the world had to pass by its front door. The mission was visited by Dr. J. D. McCormick when he was traveling in this distant land last summer. The mission included at that time a girls' school and a boys' school, and also day schools. Since the British have now established public schools there, the day schools have probably been discontinued, but there is still the girls' school and the boys' school.

The mission was founded in 1885 as a school for girls. It was later enlarged to include a boys' school and day schools. The instruction was such that the people who could afford it greatly desired to have their children educated there. The head of a Moslem school in Jerusalem sent two of his daughters to the girls' school. This man invited the pupils of the school to come down to Jerusalem and teach his boys a temperance hymn which was sung to the music of the Turkish National Hymn. Now the school has a long waiting list of prospective students. One man said that he thought he would have to register his boy as soon as he was born in order to have a chance to start him to school at the proper time.

The village of Ramallah is a Christian village in that there are no Moslems or Jews living there. As the mission has teachers of various denominations, the work is more that of working through the religion the people already have, which is the Greek Catholic. The people know all the ritual and forms of religion, but do not understand what they mean, nor do they apply Christianity to their lives very much. The mission is doing much by teaching.

SPANISH CLASSES FURNISH STUDENT CHAPEL PROGRAM

Professor Haworth's Spanish Students Entertain With Songs From Spain

The elementary and intermediate Spanish classes of Prof. Charles C. Haworth furnished the program for the student chapel held on last Tuesday. Prof. Haworth as an introduction to the program told the story of a legend of the origin of the Spanish language. The elementary class sang two numbers. The first was "Himno Nacional de Espana," The Spanish National Hymn, and "Me Gustan Todas." I Like Them All, but that Blonde I Like the Best. William Wright, representing the advanced class in Spanish, sang "La Paloma."

The program was closed by the singing of "La Marcha Real," The Royal Spanish March, and "La Pajara Pinta." The Specterled Bird. The last number was a child's game dramatized by the class.

LIBRARY INCREASED BY MANY ADDITIONS

Library of Former Senator R. Williams Gives 1800 Volumes of Legal Works

STANDARDIZATION GOAL

Response on Part of Alumni and Friends Gives Hopes for Early Success

With the addition within the last few days of over 1800 volumes the library of the law school took a great advance forward toward attaining the goal set for standardization. This gift of nearly two thousand volumes was made to the law library by R. C. Williams who presented the private library of his grandfather former Senator R. Williams. The number of books gathered for the library since Dean Roy Hewitt started the project last fall now totals 4000 volumes. The requirement necessary for standardization is a library of 7500 volumes.

Senator Williams attended Willamette university in preparation for his work as an attorney and congressman. Merton de Long, a Portland attorney and president of the Portland Alumni club also recently presented a large collection of legal books to the library and has been instrumental in aiding Dean Hewitt in securing additional books for the library.

The necessity of the library is primarily to meet the requirements for standardization rather than to satisfy an urgent need for the increase of library facilities. Law students have always had the privilege of the use of the Oregon Supreme Court library which is the largest law library in the state.

The collection of the law school library now includes recent encyclopedias of law and procedure, a large collection of state and federal reports, treatises on special phases of the law, valuable text books and a number of rare old volumes particularly valuable because they are now out of print.

Other recent donors of the library include books from the late Justice George H. Burnett, as a gift from Judge Harry Bell of the Oregon Supreme Court; in addition to volumes from O. A. Endicott, Rodney L. Gillman, W. C. Bristol, Floyd D. Moore, Roy L. Shields, Richard Montague, James B. Ken, V. J. Skulason, John W. Reynolds, Joseph Simon, John F. Logan, attorney general I. H. Van Winkle, the American Law Book Company, and the Lawyers cooperative Publication company.

In view of the progress which the efforts to obtain the required library has had since its inauguration a few months ago, Dean Hewitt believes that the realization of the goal is not far in the distance.

SOUTHWESTERN DEBATERS DEFEAT WILLAMETTE TEAM

Team on Northern Tour Continues With Record of No Defeats Thus Far

The Willamette University men's debate team was defeated last Friday evening at Waller Hall by the debate team from Southwestern University by a decision of 3 to 1.

Southwestern University, having the negative side of the question "Resolved, That American Investors and Investments in Foreign Countries Should be Protected Only by the Country in Which They are Made," was represented by Mr. Murray Chotiner and Mr. Arthur Wolpe.

Willamette University, represented by Robert Witty and Charles Redding, had the affirmative side of the question.

SHELLHART WILL HEAD ASSOCIATION CABINET

Prof. Herman Clark Will Be Discussion Leader at Annual Seaback Conference

The Y. M. C. A. for the following year will be under the guidance of Harold Shellhart as president; Wesley Gordon, vice-president; Wilburn Swafford, treasurer, and Phillip Retrum, secretary.

The installation of officers will take place this week in chapel.

Plans have been completed for a week-end retreat for the old and new cabinets, on May 11, at some place to be selected, along the Santiam river. Professor W. W. Herman Clark has consented to go to Seaback as one of the discussion group leaders. If present plans are worked out he will be the advisor of all the leaders.

DELEGATES SELECTED TO ATTEND MEETING

Willamette To Be Represented at Meeting Held at University of Washington

EXECUTIVE BODY MEETS

Position Left Vacant by Flesher Filled by Election of McGilvra

Willamette University will be represented at the intercollegiate conference of women students held at the University of Washington on April 18 to 21 by Louise Nunn, secretary of the associated students, and Frances McGilvra, sophomore member of the executive committee. The selection was made at the regular meeting of the executive committee on last Tuesday. Dean Olive M. Dahl will be the faculty representative.

The subjects to be discussed at the conference will be as follows:

1. Standards or Codes.
2. Big Sister Movement and Freshman Organization.
3. Independent Women's Organization.
4. Social Problems; a. The Dean's Influence—presented by Dean Esterly of the University of Oregon. b. The Association of Women Students Opportunity.
5. Two girls Organizations.

Round table discussions will include the following topics:

1. Types of Installation.
2. Cooperation with the Dean of Women.
3. Finances.
4. Point Systems.

The executive committee decided to postpone indefinitely the election of a manager for the spring sports because of the expression of the opinion on the part of the athletic department that such an official under the present system was unnecessary.

As a temporary appointment to fill the position of intercollegiate rivalry chairman left vacant by the retirement of Gurnee Flesher from school, Robert McGilvra was selected to conduct the interclass track meet, most important remaining event on the interclass program of activities.

OREGON THEATRE GIVES WOMEN'S GLEE CONCERT

Hope Expressed That Home Concert Will Cap the Climax of Successful Season

The home concert of the Willamette Women's Glee Club will be presented at the Oregon theatre on Wednesday, April 25, at 8:30 o'clock. A moving picture, "The Gingham Girl" will be shown preceding the concert and will start at 7 p.m.

Edith Findley will assist the club as marimba soloist. According to Mrs. Hobson, who accompanied the club as chaperone, their trip this year, the concert tour, was one of the most successful ever made by a Willamette glee club. The concerts were excellent and very well attended. Mrs. Hobson said that they were better every night of the trip. The manager hopes that there will be a large crowd at the home concert in order that all standing bills may be paid and the season closed with a creditable balance.

CO-ED CARNIVAL PLANS OCCASION FOR INGENUITY

Ability to Get Along Without Mere Men to Be Given Acid Test by Women

There are times in the life of every woman, even a college woman, when the presence of the mere male of the species is not only undesirable but altogether unthinkable. Such a time is that of Co-ed Carnival. Then feminine spirits hold sway—and How! The heavens above or the waters beneath never see such manifestations of femininity. Exhibits A and X will undoubtedly require dark glasses, while microscopes will be extremely useful for others. Even an Origin of the Species might not be far amiss for reference work. At any rate, field work in every line will be available, and sheer beauty is not to be hoped for.

Repressions of a life-time are lifted. For instance consider Case No. 57, a dignified brunette of good repute. On reasonable Sunday mornings it is said that she manipulates the family fliver to quite orthodox places of worship. Yet, on the night of the Carnival last year, we saw what her best friends never could have told her, a dark-stained creature from the Cannibal Isles. When she shuffled in, delicate clinging vines from out the 90's dropped like flies throughout the vast assemblage. Although not recorded in the archives, it is positively known that in the darker days of the institution there were those who did not dare unmask—and they were not faculty women, either.

The class stunts still remain in their shrouds of dark secrecy, but the truth will out and the women will be free to disport themselves as they choose without slipping the dear boy of Old Willamette further in arrears.

Not one knows what the evening of April 21st will bring forth, but whatever it is, it is sure to be "good".

MAY DAY FESTIVITIES PLANNED BY MANAGER

Queens Court Will Be Placed on Campus if Arrangements Are Possible

According to Frank Van Dyke, manager of Junior Week-end, plans have not yet been fully completed for the two days' gaieties but at present the following events are being considered.

As usual the Student Lunch at high noon Friday will introduce the program of May Day activities. At this occasion the seniors of Salem High school will be guests on the campus. Immediately following the lunch the coronation of the queen will take place, the court being held on the University campus if possible. If these plans do not materialize the court will be observed on the lawn of the Supreme Court grounds where it took place last year. The coronation will not last long in order that the guests may attend the Willamette-Pacific University baseball game.

The queen and her maids have decided to use the seasons as a motif for the dances and Miss Alda Gale Curry, women's physical education instructor will be in charge of this part of the program. As usual the Men's Varsity Quartet will precede the queen and attendants in the march by singing "Make Way, Make Way for the Queen Today". They will also render a second selection.

SALEM DEMOLAYS HOST TO STATE CONVENTION

Florence Powers Nominated to Represent Chemeketa Chapter in Queen's Contest

Chemeketa chapter of the Salem Demolay will be host to the Demolay convention on May 4 and 5. According to present plans over 500 Demolay members from all parts of the state will be guests of the Salem Demolays. The convention calls for the devotion of part of the time to the consideration of regular fraternal business. Various means of entertainment have been planned, including a street carnival.

One of the features which promises to attract attention will be the contest for Queen in which there will be entrants representing each of the twenty chapters in the state. These nominees will come to the convention with their expenses paid. To the girl elected Queen will be awarded a silver loving cup.

There have been nominated to represent Chemeketa chapter, Florence Powers, Salem High graduate and a sophomore in Willamette; Betty Shipley, Salem High school, and Maxine Meyers, Salem High.

Ballot boxes for the election have been placed in the Spa, Bluebird and the Palm.

SORORITY ANNOUNCES PROPOSED BUILDING

Beta Chi Sorority Plans on Building on State Street Property

FIRST BUILDING PROJECT

House Is of Colonial Style Designed by Kenneth and Fred A. Legge, Architects

Following the approval of plans drawn by Kenneth and Fred A. Legge, architects, the Beta Chi sorority has announced its decision to build in the near future a house upon property situated between 14th and 15th streets on the north side of State street. The house will be of the colonial type of architecture.

This is the first living group connected with the university to announce its decision to build a residence especially designed for the peculiar needs of such a group. The lot upon which the building will be constructed is 60 by 165 feet. The house will be built with the intention that it will be able to meet the needs of about 25 women.

The Beta Chi was the first sorority organized at the university, dating from March 29, 1919. It was incorporated on June 9, 1923. The first residence of the sorority was in what was then known as the Fleming house on Court and Summer streets where the organization remained for two years. Following this there was another two year period of residence at the home of F. A. Legge, 1499 State street. During the last four years the house has been located at 670 South Winter street. The alumni membership of the sorority includes about 60 members.

The officers of the organization for the coming year include Beatrice Lockhart, president; Elma White, vice-president; and Grace White, manager. Mrs. Alice H. Dodd is house mother, a position which she has held for the past five years. The committee which has charge of the plans for the building of the house was composed of Clara Jasper, Louise Nunn, and Beatrice Lockhart. The building operations will be supervised by Fred A. Legge, who was the architect for Lausanne Hall and other campus building projects.

PACIFIC COLLEGE MEETS WILLAMETTE IN DEBATE

Inauguration of the Oregon System Promises Unusual Interest for Audience

On Tuesday evening of next week the women of Willamette University will meet the representatives of Pacific College in a decision debate at 8 o'clock on the chapel platform in Walter Hall. Edith Starrett, Bernice Melvey, and Esther Lyle will uphold the affirmative for Willamette.

The question for discussion is stated: Resolved, That the U. S. Should Cease to Protect by Armed Force Capital Invested in Foreign Countries Except After a Formal Declaration of War.

The debate will be in Oregon style. Each of the first two affirmative speakers giving an eight-minute constructive argument and subsequently are subject to ten minutes cross-examination by the free negative speaker. Each question must be answered in one minute. Then the first two negative speakers each give eight minutes of constructive argument, following which the free affirmative speaker questions them for ten minutes. The free speaker for both affirmative and negative then sums off the case for his side in a ten-minute speech.

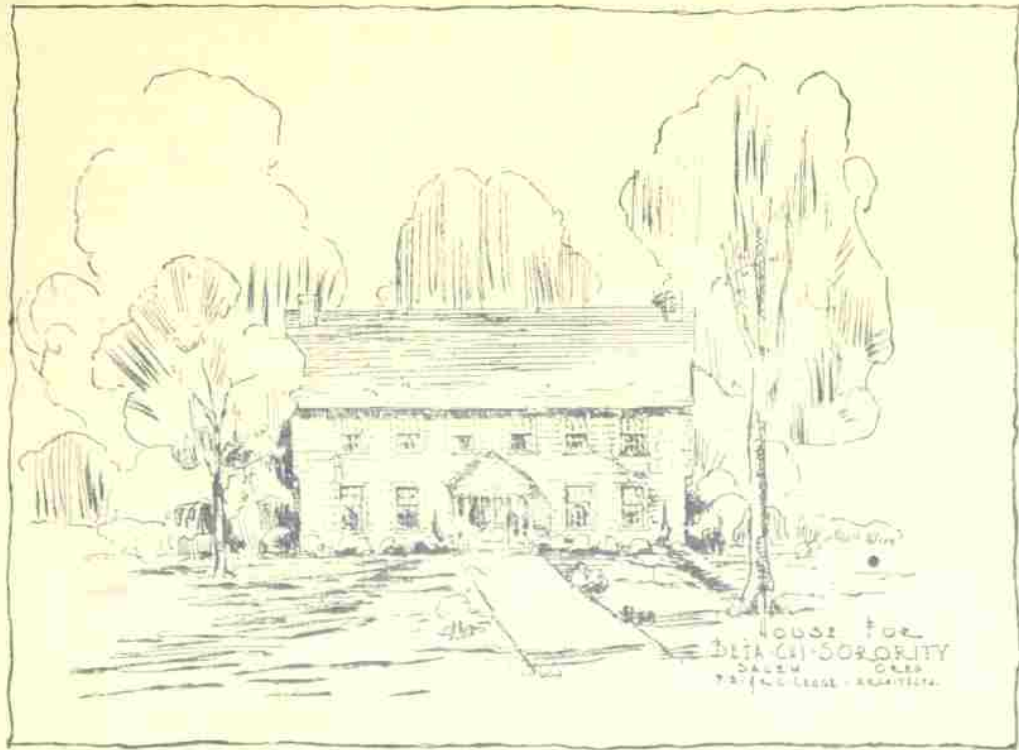

This style of debate is extremely good since the teams are forced to answer particular and definite questions which may reveal lack of knowledge or presence of fallacies and weak points.

AFRICAN BISHOP SPEAKS TO KIMBALL STUDENTS

Bishop Eben S. Johnston Gives Talk and Appears for Question Period

Bishop Eben S. Johnston from Capetown, South Africa, was the speaker at Kimball chapel on Tuesday and at a special meeting called for the purpose of asking him questions on Wednesday at 1:15. Bishop Johnston has been in Africa eleven years as African bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church. He is the father of Rev. S. D. Johnston, pastor of the Leslie Methodist church, whom he is visiting. He came to this country to attend the general conference of the church which meets in Kansas City in May.

ALL IN 1928

Speculation among students will turn within the next few days from the availability of Hoover and Smith to a consideration of the possibilities of the campus political situation. The same principles will hold in the campus elections as in those of the nation. There will be the same need for the exercise of intelligent voting and the election of leaders of integrity and demonstrated ability. There will also be the same tendencies in operation which tend to bring into public suspicion anyone who participates in public affairs. The election of the officials of this student body is an opportunity for students to display their wisdom and good judgment in a manner which will bring credit upon their training and the institution of which they are a part.

A BIRD IN THE HAND

The announcement of the plans of one of the living groups of the university to construct a new house designed especially for their needs brings to mind again in a material way the important position which the fraternities and sororities play in the life of the student body. These organizations, though comparatively recent in their origin at this university, have within a very short period of time come to occupy an important position in the life of the student body.

Viewed from a purely practical point of view, these living groups provide the place of residence for a large percentage of the student body. No facilities of the university provide a means for satisfying this important need. There is also the additional feature that the administration has some control over the regulation of these groups which would not be the case if they were living in private homes.

In the social life of the university they are one of the largest single factors. In this respect they are not indispensable, for their position could possibly be taken by other agencies. However, the fact remains that they are carrying on this function more satisfactorily than any other present agency could do.

These groups provide the opportunity for the training of leadership which would otherwise never have the opportunity of expression. Men and women who would remain with their talents hidden are discovered and sponsored and developed through training into responsible leaders which carry on the activities of school life.

These groups are conceived by their members as being a part of the university and some of the finest and strongest loyalties to the university result from the associations in such groups. In this respect it would not be without foundation to make the prediction that as the number of alumni from these living groups increase in number that the strength of the alumni association of the university will correspondingly increase. The reason for this belief is that these groups give the alumni something definite to connect their university life with and also furnish a group which are vitally interested in making strong alumni contacts.

These and other functions are not all necessarily exercised inseparably from fraternities and sororities. Other institutions and groups could do much of the same work, but these groups are now existing and it would seem to be the best policy to recognize the worth of the existing instruments with which the university has to work and to build with them.

SHOP TALK

"In the last two weeks the Daily Bruin has carried many stories concerning the A.W.S. elections coming tomorrow and Friday. After reviewing what had been said in the Bruin and questioning many campus women, we are forced to the conclusion that most of the space has been wasted. Through asking dozens of women, chosen at random, when the election comes and who are running for the offices, we have found that few know anything about it.

"At such a crucial point in the future history of the University—a time when next year's student officers ought to be chosen with extreme care, it is deplorable that more are not interested."

We agree with M. H. the writer of the column called "The Lantern" who wrote the above article in a recent issue of the daily paper of the University of California at Los Angeles, but we cannot fail to see the possibility of another side of the story. We also believe that it is deplorable that more are not interested in reading what we laboriously grind out week after week, cramped for time, but dutifully answering the call of service to our alma mater. We have for our own edification occasionally interviewed women, carefully selected rather than chosen at random, as to whether they were informed on subjects which had appeared in the columns of this publication and found that they had not looked at what had appeared in the most recent issue. Lest the reader draw any wrong conclusion we might add that the results have been equally gratifying in the case of men.

Briefly, we have come to the conclusion that the satisfactions derived from talking shop with ordinary people are rather limited and liked to a disillusionment for any who may have any false notions of the importance of his stock in trade.

The mortality rate among the editors of the Columns of the University of Washington, which now has the record for three removals within a period of two years, leads us to the conclusion that it must be serious business editing a comic magazine.

The originator of the bug house fables was the first person who said to a college senior, "Now since you have gone to college for a period of four years you do not have to worry about finding anything to do after being graduated."

It is probably safe to draw the conclusion that most of the history teachers get no little satisfaction out of the results of the Chicago elections.

We note with pleasure that our fellow among the university publications, the Alumnus is celebrating its third birthday. It is doing a necessary piece of work.

MOVIES HELD IN CHAPEL AT WISCONSIN COLLEGE

Hope of College Authorities Is To Combine Recreation With Education in Programs

APPLETON, Wis.—Chapel movies, which combine recreation with education, have been added to the program of campus activities at Lawrence College. These movies include films of college life, historic pictures and views of foreign lands. It is the intention of the school to make the campus cinema a regular occurrence and bring to the students some of the large number of scientific and informational films that are now available.

CHRISTIANITY FURTHERING ADVANCE IN DARK AFRICA

Bishop Eben Johnson Reviews Helpful African Conditions in Monday Chapel Address

According to Bishop Eben T. Johnson, bishop of South Africa, millions of people in Africa have never emerged from heathenism and the missionaries of today are still trying to touch the heart of the native African in virgin territory.

However, Christianity is making rapid progress and in the past 25 years the bishop has ordained so many natives that there is now a more or less native ministry in many of the coast districts.

The missionaries begin their great work by learning the native languages and obtaining the good will of the natives.

In the old days these primitive people lived in the most wretched conditions. The women, with children on their backs, tilled their tiny patches of ground with a rude hoe. The men were primitive warriors and whole families lived in miserable thatched huts.

The missionaries have brought material comforts as well as the softening influences of the spirit of Christ. The girls are taught to cook and sew, the men to irrigate the land, to raise wheat and corn, and to plow by modern methods. Their life has broadened, energy and ambition have taken the place of sloth and indifference. Thatched huts, dirty mats, superstition, and ignorance have given way to brick houses, tables, chairs, books and education.

In time, the Christian influence will reach even darkest Africa, the heart of the Congo region. Bishop Johnson is a resident of Cape Town, South Africa. He has led an extremely interesting life on that continent. At one time he made a thousand mile trip through the interior of Africa without a weapon of any kind. He is an Englishman by birth but lived in America for many years during his youth.

EDITORIAL FREEDOM ADVOCATED AS IDEAL

Relation of College Editor to Readers Same as That of Any Newspaper Editor

BOSTON, Mass.—(By New Student Service)—That absolute freedom must be granted the college press if it is to become a forceful and responsible factor in student opinion was the contention of Norman Studer, editor of The New Student in a speech before the twelfth annual meeting of the National Association of Deans of Women at Boston. Mr. Studer would have college authorities and student governing officials keep their hands off the college press. His speech was delivered before a meeting of over three hundred deans of women from all parts of the country.

College editors here and there have been demanding more freedom to criticize the college and their teachers, according to the editor of The New Student. This new spirit of criticism, which has only appeared in college journalism since the war, is continually bringing on conflicts between editors and college authorities. "During the past five months, for instance, there have been five major cases of editors dismissed for outspoken editorials."

"Here we have an attitude that is all too uncommon that in my estimation is the only attitude for the enlightened executive. Any other course will be disastrous to the growth of a sense of responsibility and a spirit of true leadership that a free press insures. One college president recently made what would seem to be a very innocent qualification to the right of free expression but which is actually a dangerous weapon for a college president to wield. He said that he reserved the right to censor student expression that went beyond good taste. Another president told a conference of school editors recently that he was heartily in favor of full liberty for college editors, with restrictions only when the publications assume so radical a stand that the good name of the school is actually at stake. These two definitions of freedom are merely a license for any sort of censorship that those in power care to impose. It leaves a gap as wide as a barn door for the censor. This is not a new attitude of liberalism but merely another way of phrasing the old attitude. Until a college president says that he will tolerate poor taste in his college editors for the sake of developing their responsibility, I cannot take his liberalism very seriously. That is the only sort of a point of view that should exist in a really enlightened college. There are liberal laws, and laws against obscene literature that ought to suffice for the college community. For the canons of taste are too relative to apply in these matters.

"The relation of the college editor to student opinion is, I would say in conclusion, no different from the relation of the editor of the Boston Transcript to the people of Boston. Both editors have responsibilities to their communities, both ought to have the right to their own opinions. The student opinion which the college editor should mold and inform is not yet fully articulated. Only here and there small groups of students are beginning to have serious and articulated opinions on what ought to be their most vital interest—that is the way they are taught. It is the college editors who are bringing this opinion to light and crystallizing it. In this task I believe they ought to be aided and encouraged even if their opinions are sometimes bitter and adverse. The college cannot afford to stay this growth of student opinion, and I do not believe that it will be so unreasoning as to try to."

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman (PIP) Sigma Mu Chi, Short Men's Club, is one of the newest organizations on the W. S. C. campus. All members must be able to walk under a 5 foot 6 1/2 inch bar. Injuries and eligibilities are enough trouble for coaches without having to worry about the weather. The rain that has kept up for two weeks now will hinder the advancement of the baseball, track, and tennis teams considerably. In some schools in the conference baseball practice is now in full swing and track meets have already been held. We don't mean to kick but it is the berries!

SKILL

THE twist of the wrist, the "throw" of the arm, the shifting of the weight—these are among the many little points which make the skill that you admire in the javelin thrower as he hurls the shaft two hundred feet or more.

As on the track or the football field, in the gymnasium or on the water, so in industry progress is the result of fine improvements—a thousandth of an inch here—a minute variation in a curve there—slight changes foreseen by engineers and carried out by skilled workmen.

It is this attention to detail that is constantly improving General Electric apparatus and contributing to the electrical industry, which, though still young, is already a dominant force, increasing profit and promoting success in every walk of life.

Whether you find this monogram on an electric refrigerator for the home or on a 200,000-horsepower turbine-generator for a power station, you can be sure that it stands for skilled engineering and high manufacturing quality.

May Morning breakfast plans are yet tentative, but Jean White, who is in charge of the function, promises something quite different from the conventional affairs of past years.

the people, especially through the pupils of the schools, the importance of sanitation, the right care of little children, and better methods of housekeeping. The girls who graduate from the school go out as village teachers, where they have a great amount of social service work to do along with their school work. The mission aims to train a native leadership, but find that one of the biggest ambitions of the boys in their school is to get enough English to come to America, or at least to get a good governmental or teaching position in Egypt. The graduates of the mission schools are prepared to enter the American University at Beirut, on the sea coast.

Besides the educational opportunities for the missionary in Palestine there are also the medical and evangelistic work. The evangelistic work in the village of Ramallah was concerned chiefly in putting life and meaning into the religion the people already had. Only two per cent of the population of this village of 4000 age was better than that in most villages. Yet it is easy to see the necessity for education. Sanitation and medical care was absent, except for what the missionaries brought to the people. So the medical need was seen. The education in the mission schools is mostly cultural, but there is now an opportunity for missionaries who are thoroughly trained agriculturists and engineers to either teach in the schools and colleges of the Near East, or to teach the people through their work.

KIMBALL STUDENT PASSES FOLLOWING BRIEF ILLNESS

Funeral Services Will Be Conducted at Rigdon Parlor by Kimball Faculty

The death of Rex A. Pickering of the Kimball School of Theology student body Tuesday afternoon was a sudden shock to his many friends and takes from the student body one of its finest men. The deceased had only been ill for the past week, although he has been troubled with his heart at various times. Death was caused by leakage of the heart.

Mr. Pickering received the degree of Bachelor of Arts from the University of Idaho in 1926. In recognition of his high scholastic ability he was elected to the National Social Science Honor Fraternity of Pi Gamma Mu. Following his graduation he accepted the position of Office Secretary for Kimball and became a member of the student body. Last year he was pastor of the Methodist Church at Brooks, Oregon, and this year at Tualatin. In his pastorate as well as in his work in the Kimball office he has been most faithful and efficient. He was preparing for the active ministry and on completion of his Kimball work would have received the degrees of Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Arts in Religious Education.

Thorough scholarship, a hearty interest in the welfare of others and a fine devotion to every task won for him a warm friendship with faculty and students who sincerely mourn his loss.

Rev. Chester A. Pickering, his father, is pastor of the Methodist Church at Sherwood, Oregon, and is also a Kimball student. The family resides at 480 N. 18th St., Salem. Besides his parents Rex is survived by a brother Arthur of Tacoma, Washington, a sister, Marion, and a brother Wayne of Salem, and his fiancée Miss Fae Bauscher of Corral, Idaho. Miss Bauscher and Mr. Pickering were classmates at the University of Idaho.

The funeral to be held at Rigdon's Mortuary Thursday, April 12 at 1:30 p. m. The service will be conducted by the Kimball Faculty.

Sport Sidelights

Freshmen Plan Inter- class Tennis Elimination Matches

Talking about the weather seems to be a favorite topic even among sports writers these days. We do not know whether or not it is because of the lack of other subject matter or because of other reasons. However, it might be some consolation to add that nearly every other school in the Northwest conference has felt the handicap of unfavorable weather conditions during the past few weeks.

The Freshman class is planning on having their tennis tryouts next week if possible. This will decide who will play in the interclass meet and will give a line on possible varsity material. If the money is available the team will play with high schools. There are some promising men in the freshman class. French Hareman stands out as the most likely to break into the varsity lineup. Chet Ring has been showing up well. Other men who are planning on going out are Page, Harmon and Kellow.

TENNIS CANDIDATES SHOW GOOD PROSPECT

Experienced Material Not Lacking Among Men Turning Out for Tennis Team

With the innovation of some spring weather tennis practice is being carried on in earnest and Willamette promises to have the strongest team since the days of "Nibbs" Moody, Stanley Emmel, and Hugh Doney. Moody won the old Northwest Conference Championship in 1920, '21, '22, '23 for Willamette.

The new tennis courts promise to be finished in two weeks and a practice facilities will be greatly increased. The laborers from the state hospital have finished grading the court and the laying of cement and putting up of fence, alone, remain to be done before completion.

Ivan White, '25 conference champion and '27 runner up, is already playing the best game of his college career. With only a few weeks of training he appears to be in better form than he was last year when he won second place in the conference. Last season White carried considerable weight which slowed him down but this year he is much lighter and appears to have returned to the form that won him the championship in 1926.

Minto, number two man last year, is manager of this year's Wallulah and as yet has been too busy to make his appearance on the tennis court consequently no accurate prediction can be made concerning his present ability. Minto and White in '26 won the Northwest Doubles title and last year were runners up. Both will fight hard to regain their momentarily lost laurels.

Captain Litchfield has developed a service and a drive that combined with his speed, agility, and lobbing ability will make him a difficult barrier to surpass.

The remaining positions on the team will undoubtedly lie between Howarth, Glass, Hagaman, Ring and McGilvra. Tryouts however will be held throughout the year and merit will be the contestant basis of Captain Litchfield's choice of men before each match. Howarth was a member of the squad last year and made his letter against O. A. C. With this last year's added experience he has already achieved a set victory over White and a close match victory over Litchfield.

Provided Hagaman, Freshman, can get into shape he will probably rate in the first three ranking players as he has an abundance of mastered strokes and has had much experience playing No. 2 man at Salem High last year. At the present time, however, he is not in condition. Ring, McGilvra and Glass, all freshmen, have not had much tournament experience but all play conservative accurate games and much may be expected of them.

FRESHMEN LOOK STRONG IN INTERCLASS TRACK

First Year Men Have Enthusiasm and Ability in Most Departments of Game

With the class track meet but a week and a half away, track men are taking their training with a more serious frame of mind. Competition this year promises to be exceptionally strong and it will behoove the veterans to get down to work for the promising number of experienced freshmen candidates now trying out are going to make it anything but easy for the older men. Plus numbers, the freshmen also have a fine spirit and determination to win the meet honors for their class.

At present the Freshmen look weak in the two mile event, but at that will have men entered who may surprise the judges. In the mile, Harry Stone, Huston and Bots, will compete for their class. Stone is a former Portland high runner of ability and has been training faithfully, long before the regular track season opened. Huston and Bots, are also training faithfully and may take points.

In the half mile and 440 yd. dash, the freshmen will have Claire Miller, who has had experience with Salem High, in addition Deacon, Stone, and Ackerman.

The sprints at present, look to be strong freshmen events. Coigan, who does the 100 yds. around 10 flat, will be hard to beat, while Don Middleton another sprinter, is equally as good. Fred Rodgers is another freshman sprinting ace. Fred is a former Woodburn athlete and in his last year there, was high point man of the county. Rodgers won first in the 100 and 220 yd. dashes and also garnered points in the weight and field events. Coach Sparks predicts that with more experience Fred will be one of Willamette's outstanding track men.

The hurdles will be taken care of by Marsters, two year Salem High man. Marsters, with improved form and added experience, is counted on heavily by Sparks to strengthen this event.

The frosh look weak in the jumping events at present, but will enter men who may surprise by taking points.

Rodgers will also take care of the weight events for the frosh. Bateson is another weight prospect, who has the necessary qualities, but is lacking in experience.

The number of freshmen candidates alone, will make them strong, and with the quality of the frosh of high class, they will be doubly hard to beat by the upper classes.

LINFIELD NINE MEETS IN CONFERENCE GAME

First Conference Baseball Game Scheduled With McMinnville Aggregation

Willamette will play its first conference baseball game next Tuesday when the Bearcats tangle with Linfield at McMinnville. Both teams have been hampered by rain that has kept the squads indoors until the last two weeks but Coach Keene has made the most of his time and has played one game with Chemawa besides several practice games.

Linfield has several lettermen around which to build their team but their star battery is missing. The men from last year are Warren, Renne, Lovely, Martyn, Owenby and Patey. Coach Wolfe has found a new man who he claims is even better than his last year's chucker. Linfield is credited with one victory over Albany by a score of 23 to 4.

Willamette will be weak at the mound position with only one veteran, Ledbetter, to hold down the position. Keene has several men working out and hopes to develop one of them for regular work. The men that are out for the pitching assignment are Nelson, Versteeg, Flock, Van Nice, and Retrum. Willamette will present a stronger hitting lineup than last year with several new men showing up well at bat. Cardinal or Kaufman will get the call behind the bat. At present Maesy is pressing Welch hard for the first base position and Gill and Adams are fighting it out for the second bag. At short there is Gird and Traschel and at third Hawk and Braly are alternating. Maesy, Gill, and Braly may be shifted to the outfield for their hitting ability. In the outfield there is Dietz, Roundtree, and Satchwell.

The lineup will be picked from the following men. Cardinal and Kaufman, catchers. Ledbetter, Nelson, Retrum, Van Nice, Flock, Versteeg, pitchers. Welch and Maesy, first base. Adams and Gill, second base. Gird and Troxel, short stop. Hawk and Braly, third base. Dietz, Roundtree, and Satchwell, outfield.

REPORT CONFIRMS IDEA OF MATERIAL BENEFIT

Ability to Accumulate Material Things Found Increased by College Training

BOSTON—As the result of a recent survey made with a view of determining the relation between education and income, Dean Everett W. Lord of the college of business administration at Boston University has made public the statement, that in his estimation, college men prove beyond a doubt their superiority in the matter of earning a livelihood.

Dean Lord's figures show that the greatest yearly income of an average man with only an elementary education is $1,700, whereas the average high school graduate gets as high as $2,800 a year and the average college man can obtain a maximum stipend of $6,200. The interesting advantage shown by Dean Lord to the latter group is that, whereas in the case of men with little education, their maximum earning capacity is at the age of forty-five, the college man's income may steadily rise to reach a high point at the age of sixty-five, while the incomes of the other groups have fallen some distance at that time.

Dean Lord also points out that although only about one percent of the men in America have gone to college, yet three men out of every five in "Who's Who" are college graduates, and consequently, are the figures of importance and leadership in the nation.

"TWELVE POUND LOOK" PRESENTED THIRD TIME

One Act Boom Play at Oregon Theatre
Friday Night by Theta
Alpha Phi Actors

Next Friday evening at 8:45 "The Twelve Pound Look" by J. M. Barrie will be presented at the Oregon Theatre under the auspices of the Salem Drama League. The play has been given in the Willamette Chapel and was also presented to the Town and Gown Club last month at Lausanne Hall. Because of the favorable comment the play received, the executive committee of the Drama League asked for its production for the townspeople. The play shows the dominating character of an Englishman whose one aim in life is to be successful. On the very moment of his greatest triumph his first wife comes to tell him that she does not consider him a success. She reveals the fact to him that she left him fourteen years earlier because he smothered her in luxury and buried her personality in the things that delighted him. His talk with his first wife merely spoils the day for him, but he receives the greatest blow when his second wife, who is meek and submissive, shows a vague dissatisfaction in the life she is living.

Dr. Robert M. Gatke is director of the play. Genevieve Junk takes the part of the first wife. Frank Alfred portrays the "successful" Englishman, and Virginia Merle Crites is the submissive wife, Emmy, Charles Kaufman is the "perfect" butler, and Donald Grant is stage manager.

about $3500. This will leave about a $1000 profit, one half of which will go to the state association and one half to Willamette. The expenses this year were so much greater than last year because of the four day tournament instead of the three day.

The sale of season tickets this year was less than that of last year principally because Salem HI was not doped to take the championship. The attendance at the final game was approximately the same as last year.

Book Concern and who, when retiring from active work in 1920, was made Publishing Agent Emeritus. This group of books is of unusual value and will be of much use in the library.

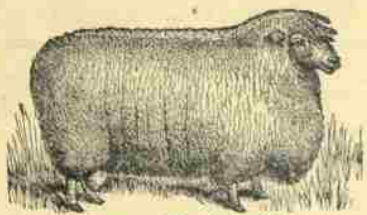

Mrs. J. F. Kinder has donated about forty volumes. Among these is "Chefs-D'Ouvre D'Art" with pictures of and remarks about the best works at the Paris Exhibition and Salon in 1882. Another attractive addition is the set of twelve volumes of Irish literature.
