ANNUAL SONG GLEE CLIMAXES EFFORTS

Formation Practices Prepare for Presentation to Mammoth Crowd.

SERENADE IS MOTIF

Weeks of Hard Drill Work to Culminate Saturday in Gala Fete.

Weeks of hard work in practice and planning will be brought to a culmination Saturday night when the twenty-second annual Freshman Glee is presented in the gymnasium to more than 2000 townspeople and out of town guests.

Outward signs of the inward haste and haste of strictly class practices became visible Tuesday evening when the platform was assembled at the west end of the gymnasium. Chairs and benches, which with the bleachers complete the seating arrangements will be moved into the gym Friday evening-Saturday morning.

The more perishable of the decorations, which will consist of greenery and potted shrubs and palms, will not be placed until Saturday morning.

The decorations have been planned to give a proper background for serenades songs even though the balcony which was originally to have been used has been found to be impractical.

Formation practices are in full swing with scarcely any grumbling at the inconvenient hours. The seniors will hold practices in the gymnasium Thursday afternoon at four, Friday morning at 8.30, and again at 12, and Saturday beginning at an hour yet to be set and lasting until ten.

Thursday evening at seven the juniors will practice formation in the gym, Friday morning at six, in the afternoon at four, and at eight in the evening, Saturday they will probably follow the seniors in the use of the platform.

Sophomore practices for formation have been set for Thursday noon, Friday morning at seven, and again in the evening at seven thirty. Saturday the sophomores will have the gym from one to three.

CUBS REJUVENATE OLD SWEATERS; BUY OTHERS

Eight Garments Purchased; New Brightness Will Improve Wallulah Picture.

Eight Willamette cubs emerged from their long winter hibernation last Tuesday, when eight new cub sweaters were purchased to replace the drab, moth-eaten ones previously used. The other members have brightened their old sweaters with a new touch of cardinal and gold, which gives them a glossy, almost new, appearance, which will add materially to their picture for the Wallulah.

Warning Given Against Rash Glee Bets; Glass Dangerous

Debris in Millstream Discourages Icy Plunge Wagers.

For a very good reason, Glee bets this year are taking the form of treats, woodwork washing, and other safe and sane methods of entertainment and labor. The millstream, which of old received the losers into its icy depths, has not been cleaned out for some time, and will not be cleaned this spring as was formerly hoped.

Civics Expert

Wide attention has been given Dr. John R. Mez, professor of political science at the University of Oregon, for his outstanding work in international relations.

FOREIGN RELATIONS CONFERENCE TOPIC

Pan-American Meeting Features Oriental Dinner and Good Discussions.

"The Pacific is the present theater of world events," said Dr. John R. Mez, of the Political Science department of the university of Oregon, in the first session of the Pan-Pacific conference held in Portland last week end. The supreme obstacle to friendship, he believes, has been removed since the meeting of the five powers in London, for disarmament removes fears and suspicion.

In the afternoon, the conference was divided into three discussion groups, political, economic, and social problems, under the leadership of Professor Noble, of the Political Science department of Reed college, Dr. Victor P. Morris, of the department of Economics of the university of Oregon, and Mr. Charles G. Hurrey, national chairman of the Friendly Relations committee of the Y. M. C. A.

Professor Angus of the university of British Columbia was the speaker at dinner Friday evening. He spoke on the Kyoto conference in Japan, from which he has recently returned, bringing out the problems of Japan, China, Korea, and the Philippines through a report of the discussions at that conference. The Philippines, he said, wanted it made very clear that they were not American delegates.

Paul Meng, general secretary of the United States, addressed the conference Saturday morning on "China and Pacific Relations." That afternoon, Mr. Gordon Troup of New Zealand, now on his way to take charge of Russian student work in Paris, was the speaker; and in the evening the group enjoyed an Oriental dinner at the Oriental Tea Garden, at which Paul Meng again spoke on (Continued on page three)

PROFESSOR MAKES UNIQUE DISCOVERY

Important Fossil Bed Unearthed in Oregon by Herman Clark.

ONE MILLION YEARS OLD

Specimens Found by Nehalem River Usually Grow in Salt Water.

Unique fossils identified by geological authorities associated with the Smithsonian Institute as examples of life in the Oligocene epoch of the Tertiary period, which is estimated to have been over a million years ago, were found last September by Professor Herman Clark along the bank of the Nehalem river in Columbia county.

Sandstone and shale beds are exposed in that place, but a casual observer would not suspect that any fossils could be in those banks because they are inside a rocky accumulation that has surrounded the form of each animal. It is necessary to break open these nodules, which are a few inches in diameter, in order to find the animal records.

Crustaceans, corals, and mollusk shells are included in this group of fossils. These are animals that generally live in a warmer climate than is now enjoyed here and dwell in shallow salt water, indicating that during the Oligocene epoch this region was covered by a shallow portion of the sea.

Probably there was a wide sea beach surrounding an island that had appeared in the ocean which, until this time covered all of northwestern Oregon, with its shores on the western slopes of the Cascades. This island was first formed in the epoch immediately preceding the Oligocene.

Professor Clark is making a study of this region to determine the exact location and extent of this ancient island, which has now become a part of the mainland.

The coral is not the form now generally known by that name. It is a type known as sea pen which has a main stem with an internal rod of lime carbonate. With this stem it attaches itself to the mud of the sea bed. On the upper part of the stem a feather-like arrangement of lateral branches is a form common in warm seas.

Makes Discovery

Professor Herman Clark recently discovered a very rare fossil in the Nehalem country. It is the only perfect specimen of its kind in the United States. Professor Clark is placing it in the Willamette museum.

DECIDE TO PUT OFF DATES OF VACATION

Faculty Votes for Postponement Tuesday. Dates Are March 22-23.

At the faculty meeting Tuesday afternoon, it was definitely decided to postpone spring vacation until March 24-28. This action was taken to enable the students to attend the State Basketball tournament which is to be held on the campus during the week of March 19-23.

Since the Women's Glee club trip had been planned for two weeks including spring vacation; and as it is now too late to change the plans, the women will miss two weeks of school. This will mean a great deal of work to make up. All arrangements must be made with the individual professors.

TUESDAY IS LAST DATE ON WALLULAH PICTURES

Roy Harland, Wallulah editor, has announced that final arrangements for group pictures in the yearbook must be made by Tuesday, March 4. Class pictures have already been sent to the engraver, and only part of the organizations still remain to be photographed.

NOMINATE NEW Y. M. OFFICERS MARCH 7

Two Associations' Elections Set for Wednesday, March 12 General Election.

March 12 has been set for the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. elections for next year. The elective offices of each organization are president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer.

Petitions for the Y. W. C. A. election must have 20 names along with the signature of the candidate and must be given to Margaret Eddy, secretary, by Friday, March 7.

The election committee of the Y. M. C. A. includes Harold Shellhart, Edwin Rounds, and Howard Miller. Petitions must have 25 names. The latest possible date to turn these in is March 7.

PUBLICITY BUREAU PETITION POSTED

Students Support Project Started by Alumni Association.

SEEK MORE NOTICE

Hire Full-Time Executive to Give Out News and Meet Prospects.

Publicity for Willamette university will be handled by a competent public relations bureau, if the plan of the alumni association is acted upon favorably by the board of trustees. A petition pledging the support of Willamette students to the project, and officially sponsored by William Mumford, student body president, is now posted for signatures.

The plan of the alumni is to hire a full-time executive who will be a trained newspaper man and who will have charge of all publicity. He will give out material to newspapers and will keep in touch with prospective students.

Freshman correspondents have stated that newspapers are now paying students for sending in the university news and that all is being done that can be done to get the desired publicity. This scheme, however, has been found weak on other camps. The infinitesimal amount of column space given to many of Willamette's recent athletic contests gives testimony to this failure.

An organized, responsible publicity bureau, it is argued, would be better able to give to newspapers all the news of Willamette activities and to secure their being published. It is further argued that such a bureau as this would make student contacts through a large number of the smaller papers throughout the Northwest. This is not done at present.

The petition is posted on the bulletin board in Eaton hall. Signatures of all students on the campus are wanted.

WOMEN WIN DEBATE WITH UTAH CO-EDS

Two Marjories, Nelson and Moser, Meet O. S. C. Here Tomorrow.

Last night the Willamette women's negative debate team won from the affirmative team of the university Utah. They debated on the subject, resolved: "That the modern diversion of women from the home to business and industrial occupations is detrimental to society." The critic judge was Prof. Berberman of Oregon State Normal.

Friday, February 25, there will be a dual debate. The Willamette team will go to Eugene to meet the Oregon State team, and the Corvallis negative team will debate here with the local affirmative team. The negative team is composed of: Florence Decker and Lillian Beecher; the affirmative team is composed of: Marjorie Nelson and Marjorie Moser. The Willamette negative team will debate here March 4, with the Oregon State Normal team. March 5 Whitman will debate against the affirmative team in the chapel at seven o'clock. This debate will be part of the program sponsored by the First M. E. Church in the Willamette chapel.

The women's debate team is also planning a tour which will start about March 14.

Queen Amendment Gives As Time For Final Vote Approaches

Rise to Further Comments

By Ellen Jean Moody

Again the student body interest is focusing upon a proposed amendment for the election of the Willamette May Queen by men only. Last spring a similar amendment passed the first reading but was later voted down by a majority composed of both men and women. The proposed amendment, which was submitted to the A. S. W. U. and passed for first reading Feb. 21, 1930, reads as follows:

"AN AMENDMENT TO THE Constitution of the A. S. W. U., to limit the franchise in election of the May Queen. This clause if passed shall supersede in entirety the present clause Article IV, Elections.

Clause 2. At the regular meeting of the Association in March, nominations for May Queen shall be made from among the members of the Senior class by popular ballot of the men of the A. S. W. U. The three girls receiving the highest number of votes shall become candidates for this office. Election of the queen shall be by the men of the A. S. W. U., and shall be held one week after nomination. A plurality vote shall elect."

Opinions concerning the value of this amendment are varied. The following are a few, gathered from campus leaders.

George Poor, President of the Blue Key, feels that "the way it is, things seem to be run by politics by the women. The amendment as it goes through will eliminate the women, but whether it will eliminate the men politics is another question."

SATCHWELL TO GET SPRING SPORTS JOB

Albert French to Assist in Management of Baseball, Track, and Tennis.

Baseball, track, and tennis will be managed during the spring season by Stanley Satchwell, who was appointed to the position of spring sports manager at the executive committee meeting Tuesday. Alfred French was appointed to assist him. His assistantship is intended as training for filling the managerial position next year.

Mr. Satchwell's experience in spring sports has come from his experience on the baseball squad. Suitable awards to the championship basketball team will be financed to the extent of ten dollars from the general fund. This is one fourth of the amount necessary for this purpose. It was reported at the meeting that one-half of the amount will come from the Portland alumni, and the remaining fourth will be furnished by Salem business men.

Ralph Purvine, football manager, was voted a gold football as an award for his work. This award will differ slightly in size from the other awards in order to distinguish it from those won in actual competition on the field.

The semester financial report for 1929-30 was presented at this meeting by Graduate Manager Sparks. The committee appointed by President Mumford to audit this report is: Margaret Bolt, chairman; Francis DeHartport, and Mr. N. S. Savage, and Professor W. C. Jones, as faculty advisors. Mr. Savage has since stated that he will be unable to serve on this committee.

BEARCAT DEBATERS BEAT UTAH'S TEAM

Speaking on the question "Resolved, that the nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament excepting such forces as are needed for police purposes," the Willamette university men's negative team defeated the team from the University of Utah last night in Waller hall to take both parts of a double header debate with the visitors.

Admission of a single point in their argument lost the contest to the Utah men, it was revealed, in the critic judge's decision given by George Barryman of the Oregon Normal school. Ed Standen acted as chairman.

The contest Wednesday evening was the third in two days for the visitors, both the men's and women's teams having debated against Oregon State and the University of Oregon Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon. Royal Carr and James Knudson were the visiting men, while Ray Lakky and Charles Campbell debated for Willamette.

Lillian Beecher and Florence Decker took the women's decision earlier in the evening against Grace Anderson and Irene Shortman.

WOMEN'S AWARDS NOW UP FOR VOTE

Women of Willamette university will receive awards for participation in intramural athletics, if the amendments to Article 2, Section 1, and Article 2, Section 2 of the By-laws are favorably accepted at the regular meeting of the A. S. W. U., March 21. The amendment is now being posted for the first reading on the Eaton hall bulletin board.

Great differences of opinion has been expressed in the last two student body meetings, especially in regard to the source of funds for such awards, for which, it seems, the amendment has made no provision. Heretofore the source of money for all athletic awards has been determined by the executive committee at the beginning of the school year.

However, although the awards will be determined, more or less, by the Women's Athletic association, the funds will undoubtedly be drawn from the athletic or general fund of the A. S. W. U.

Willamette is the only university on the Pacific coast or among many eastern colleges in which there is no award system for women for intramural athletics. A strong argument in favor of the proposed amendment is that Willamette women are given almost no opportunity for interscholastic athletic activities.

JONES TAKES JAUNT TO ADVERTISE UNIVERSITY

Willamette University will be advertised to high school seniors by Professor W. C. Jones during the next two weeks.

Professor Jones left Monday for a short trip through southern Oregon, during which time he will talk to high school students, especially seniors, concerning Willamette.

He will visit Ashland, Medford, Marshfield, Bandon, Grants Pass, Roseburg, Myrtle Point, North Bend, and Coquille.

MISS BURCH PRODUCES THESIS ON LOYALISTS

Much Original Research Work is Done in Sociology Seminar Class by Majors.

Miss Ruth Burch, a member of the sociology seminar class, has completed a very interesting thesis on "The Loyalists of the American Revolution." This paper deals with the number, kind, treatment, and influence of the Tories, i. e., the Loyalists, during and after the Revolutionary War period.

The seminar, which is composed of sociology major students, has been held during the past semester every Monday evening at the home of Dr. Sciva B. Laughlin, professor of economics and sociology. Much original research work has been done. Each student selects the particular field of the subject which is of special interest to him, some members of the seminar class are: Florence Power, Harold Shellhart, Rose Huston, Loretta Fisher, Joe Silver, and Mark Waldespel.

Professors Bring Prestige With Sixteen Organizations

List Given by Faculty Member Proves to Be Long One.

A professor, recently, in addressing the student body stated that there are three general factors which must be considered in "rating" a school of higher learning: the faculty, the alumni, and the student body.

Here is a group of national organizations which the Willamette university faculty bring to the campus: Phi Kappa Delta, (national educational fraternity), Phi Gamma Mu, Phi Beta Kappa (four professors have been awarded Phi

Pacific	0	1	.000
U. of Idaho	0	5	.000
Puget Sound	0	6	.000

Willamette university "Bearcats" closed a successful season Friday night with a 59-35 win over College of Idaho Coyotes. This last win left Willamette with an undisputed basketball championship in the Northwest conference.

Willamette university teams under the direction of coach Spec Keene have succeeded in taking two major championships in a single year and so far not a single conference game has been lost, though two games of basketball and two games during the football season were lost to state institutions.

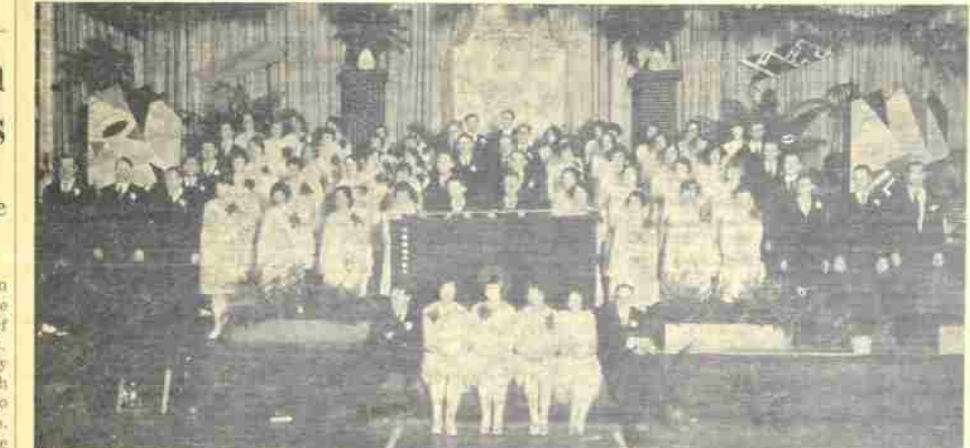

After opening the season by dropping two games to O. S. C. both by a narrow margin of two or three points the Bearcats got their stride and defeated the university of Oregon in two hotly-contested games. University of Oregon now stands second in the coast conference. Willamette thus has a team of the same standing as university of Washington, since the Bearcats comprise the only team which has more than one defeat over the Webfoot from Eugene.

Willamette then started out on the conference schedule, winning over Linfield 34-21 on the Linfield court. Then playing a return game the following night, it overpowered the Baptist five to the extent of 56-7, on the Willamette floor.

Two games were scheduled with Pacific which should have been played prior to the trip to Whitman; but due to a smallpox epidemic, Pacific forfeited all games except two which she had dropped to Linfield earlier in the season.

Thus the Bearcats left for Whitman with a perfect record and a well organized team. The local cagers played two games with town teams on their trip and finally engaged the Missionaries in a rough contest on the Whitman floor. This ended with the boys of Jason Lee on the long side of a 38-31 score. The following evening (Continued on page four)

BEWARE OF GLASS AND TIN CANS IN THE MILLSTREAM

As the annual Freshman Glee approaches, millstream bets will doubtless be made in numbers. And they are quite all right. This betting is a sporting custom which provides entertainment and adds interest to the Glee. In order that no one may suffer needless injuries, however, precautions should be taken. These are simple: (1) wear shoes, (2) wade in, or jump, (3) duck, (4) wade out. There the whole procedure is, precautions and payment of the bet, in the proverbial nutshell. Prosiac as this may sound, it is a lively payment for any wager. We have tried it and are certain of that.

Our millstream's yearly toll of cut and infected knees, lame feet, and sore elbows may be taken Monday, but not without warning having been given. Students who have been on the campus in past years know well how pieces of glass, tin cans, sticks and small boulders have been accumulating in the waters of this mill creek. No wonder that immersion in it has long held traditional superiority over all other forms of campus punishments and difficult bets. Although the danger behind these activities may not have been in the consciousness of their participants, they have been a continual menace which has made millstream bets true hardships. The Blue Key fraternity will be doing a real service if it carries out its proposals to inform next Monday's bet-swimmers of the dangers involved in their plunge.

Be careful!

WE ARE INTERESTED IN MAY QUEENS

Election of a May Queen stirs our interest. Still more, do proposals to change the present plan of suffrage. We have seen these elections come and go. We have observed the comments, criticisms, and dissatisfactions which always seem to accompany the selecting of "the most beautiful woman." When we consider, however, that beauty has been the source of continual discussions and dissensions of opinion since time immemorial, we relieve ourselves of any disturbed feeling and continue about our business. Homer, even, once wove a great epic tale around the jealousies which arose among Greek legendary characters over the determination of the most beautiful woman. We do not care to write any epics; so we do not worry ourselves about the fine points involved in choosing this "most beautiful woman."

In the present instance, that of taking the voting privilege out of the hands of the women, we find favor varying. A perusal of the comments expressed by representative members of the student body will quickly show this. As far as judging who the queen should be, we are inclined to believe that, even though the suffrage should be denied the women, members of the so-called weaker sex will still be judges. For their influence on the male judgment is scarcely to be contested.

As we see the matter, there are three serious points to be made in discussing this proposed amendment. In the first place, the argument that the change of voting privilege will largely do away with the out and out political maneuverings of the past is not admissible. This is not worth considering, other than to say that anyone who has observed political workings in fraternity circles will immediately recognize that taking the vote away from the women will not do away with or even materially decrease the effects of political wire-pulling. The change might even aggravate the situation. In the second place, that men will and can better judge true beauty is doubtful. No two men would ever agree absolutely on the merits of one woman's beauty. Furthermore, it is not likely that a large group of the men would vote on the particular merits of a nominee, but, rather, on individual preferences for certain women's groups. Finally, the contemplated move hardly places the May Day fete on a plane of fairness and equality. The larger number of participants in the actual festival exercises are women. If a change is to be made, it should rightly be in their favor, instead of against it. Since they always have been satisfied with their privileges, however, why should any change be made at all? If any solid, sane arguments have been presented or thought of, we have not become aware of them.

The chief advantage in the proposed change, as far as we can see it, would be in the fun which the men would derive from it. Whether they admit it, or not, to have numbers of the women seeking them out in an attempt to influence their votes would tickle the pride of most men.

BEST FOR PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE

Writing for the Collegian gives a kind of practical experience not offered by any other activity on the campus. New reporters are already discovering this desirable feature of the work.

SERVICE CLUB NEEDED

Some service organization can do the university a real service by setting the chapel platform curtain in order. This might be a worthy undertaking for Blue Key.

Must the Junior class now hire a plumber to turn on or repair the fountain in front of Waller?

REDDING APPOINTED

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Feb. 26—Hester Davis of the Junior Follies at the campus weekend at Oregon State college, Martin Redding, Salem Junior in commerce, will be in charge of one of the traditional features of this affair. Redding has been appointed as head of this committee.

PLAYERS TURN OUT

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Feb. 26—(Special)—One of the three veterans that will be out for baseball this spring is Harold Olinger, of Salem. He was third baseman last year, but may be switched to first base this season because of the lack of veteran material.

New Books

Three recent biographies have just been received in the library. "John Keats" by Calvin, tells of Keats' life and poetry, friends and critics and his after fame; "Lincoln" by Emil Ludwig, is the complete story of Lincoln's life; "Beethoven—the Creator" by Rolland, is a translation from the French and deals very much with the technique of Beethoven's works.

"Virgil and Spenser" by Hughes, a University of Chicago publication, is a comparison of these two men. Another book for the English department is Fowler's "Dictionary of Modern English Usage." "Elements of the Differential and Integral Calculus" by Granville, will be of interest to Mathematics students. "Sound and History of the German Language" by Prokosch and "The History of the Library" by Severance, an illustrated book published at the University of Illinois, are new additions to the library.

MAY DAY QUESTION BRINGS COMMENT

the student body should be represented and, as far as politics are concerned, I do not believe that restricting the suffrage will better the situation."

Frank Van Dyke says, "I heartily favor the proposed amendment because I believe that it affords a more equitable method of electing the May Queen than heretofore provided. That statement seems paradoxical when it is pointed out that this amendment removes the right of suffrage now enjoyed by the women in the May Queen elections, but it is my contention that the women in the past have quite frequently found that this privilege has reacted as a boomerang, due to political manipulations which result in the election of some one far less deserving than some of the other candidates. It is my belief that there would be much less of this with the men holding the electoral reins. This is based on the fact most of the boys I know are decidedly independent in their viewpoints concerning various popular girls. Perhaps, I'm wrong, but at any rate, the girls would have a lot of fun securing promises for votes for their favorites from their boy friends during the election period, should the amendment be passed."

Dorothy Gordon, speaking as vice-president of the Senior class, is of the same opinion, and Elizabeth Ogdren, vice-president of the Sophomore class, asserts: "If someone would prove to me that the proposed amendment will remedy the situation, I would be heartily in favor of the amendment." Leslie Manker, Y. M. C. A. president, says "I am in favor of the amendment. I would not be if I felt that it was a reflection upon the women in any way." Sam Bove states "It doesn't make any difference to me."

Edwin Rounds, President of the Sophomore class, says "I believe that both men and women should choose the May Queen. The political evil should be eliminated, but I do not believe it will be accomplished by the restriction of suffrage to the men."

Tyrus Hillway, Freshman class president, says "I haven't been in college long enough to know how much unfairness there is in May Queen elections, but I believe restricting the voting to men is a good idea, not only because men have the better judgment in a matter of this kind, but because it gives men one of their only chances to think."

Ian MacIver makes the statement "In my personal opinion the men would be by far the most important judges; they would consider the girl's beauty and gracefulness and not her sorority connections. Queens have always been chosen by men. Why should not Willamette men choose theirs?"

Last but not least, as he is May Day manager, Wesley Roeder speaks in favor of woman suffrage: "Why exclude the women from suffrage? That is the potent question circulating among the girls. It has been customary for them to express their opinion in previous years and there has not been an excessive amount of this pettishness among them. "Of course the politics are more pronounced in the sororities than the frats, but those are apt to prevail wherever there are women in politics. Men are greatly influenced by prejudice and many times use unwise tactics in choosing the 'fair' one."

"Women have a more graceful nature and can more easily distinguish the qualities necessary for such an honorary position. "I know, if given a chance, the girls will use their best judgment in selecting the most beautiful and talented girl in the class. "I personally would like to see the girls of Willamette on equal standing with the boys in this matter of voting for the May Queen."

SURVEY STUDENT WORK PROBLEMS

WHITMAN MEETS UTAH DEBATERS

LINFIELD STUDENTS ARE SUBJECT OF STUDY

Prof Elkington, of the business administration department of Linfield college, gives a report of his findings among McMinnville merchants who employed college students.

During 1929, 28 women and 74 men were employed by merchants in different types of work. Forty-three per cent of the women were reported as "Very Satisfactory." Of the men only 32 per cent were reported as "Very Satisfactory." Fourteen per cent of the women were absolutely unsatisfactory. Twenty-two per cent of the men were in this class.

Some of the criticisms made were: "One woman was afraid to work and had the 'don't care' attitude." "Some leave work to converse with students." "Some showed lack of initiative, some were college minded, or noisy and boisterous in public places, others frequently wanted to get off work for various reasons.—Linfield Review, McMinnville.

MOUNTED LYNX ADDED TO MUSEUM

The College of Idaho has added a mounted lynx to the museum. The lynx was presented to the curator of the museum by H. D. Clover, who himself mounted the specimen.—College of Idaho, Caldwell, Idaho.

PLANS FOR CONCERT COMPLETED

Plans for the annual Idaho Men's Glee club concert are completed. An unusually well balanced program is being presented, consisting of a variety of musical numbers.—College of Idaho, Caldwell, Idaho. (NIP).

QUESTIONS DECIDED BY TRUSTEE BOARD

The Board of Trustees of the College of Puget Sound has authorized that a major in the department of business administration will be given in 1931, and following this a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree.

Provisions have also been made for a Master's Degree in Education. Previously teachers for high schools were required to present four years of training as requirements, but the state board has issued the ultimatum that in 1933 five years of training will be required.

Provisions for a college physician who will counsel physical education work and who will do some teaching have also been made.—College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash.

O. S. C. STUDENT TEACHES IN CHINA

Percy Bell, graduate of Oregon State College, in the department of chemical engineering, 1927, has been appointed to a position as teacher of Algebra and Geometry, and basketball coach in Ipok, Peiak, China.—Ore. State College, Corvallis. (PIP).

C. OF I. DEBATERS TO MEET GOODING'S TEAM

Debaters of the College of Idaho, are meeting Gooding College with the intention of taking the cup from that school where it has been won for the past five seasons. This is the annual word battle of the Southern Idaho Forensic Conference consisting of Gooding College, Northwest Nazarene College and the College of Idaho.—College of Idaho, Caldwell.

FIRST YEAR BOOK NOW ON SALE

The new yearbook is now on sale at Elhart's bookstore. This is a brown leather cover in the form of a loose leaf note book. On the front is the seal of the school in gold. A filler of light weight tag board completes the dominant features of "The Madrona."—Southern Ore. Normal school, Ashland, Ore.

WHITMAN GLEE WINS APPROVAL

WHITMAN COLLEGE, Walla Walla—The 1930 all College Glee club made its initial appearance February 15 when it sang several numbers before the Whitman Founder's Day alumni banquet.

SLICKER IMPORTANT PART OF WARDROBE

Old Man Rain evidently has a grudge against those on the Oregon State campus who dared to venture forth during the first warm days of spring garbed in linen knickers and light spring dresses. Consequently the slicker has won out as the most important accessory to the wardrobe of the college student.—Oregon State college, Corvallis.

SINGERS TO GIVE MUSICAL COMEDY

The combined glee clubs of Linfield under the direction of Miss Leona Lewis are in the midst of intensive practice on "The Wishing Well" a three act musical comedy which will be presented soon. This singing and talking production promises to be one of the most interesting entertainment features to be put on at the college for some time.—Linfield Review.

MEN AND WOMEN WILL HOLD THREE CONTESTS

WHITMAN COLLEGE, Walla Walla—Two debates with the University of Utah give promise of being the biggest feature in forecasts here this year.

Both men's and women's teams will encounter the representatives of the Salt Lake City institution who are making a tour of the northwest.

A return debate for the men will take place when the delegates to the forensic conference at Tucson later in the year, pass through Utah.

WILDCATS BACK FROM TRIP ON COAST

The basketball squad of the Ellensburg Normal school, enjoyed a road trip to the coast. The team played games with most of the colleges and teams of their class, winning every start. Two games played with Bellingham Normal, Ellensburg winning, cinched the Tri-Normal championship.—Wash. State Normal, Ellensburg.

WELCOME GIVEN MENTOR AT UNIVERSITY STATION

Students and townspeople united in welcoming to the Oregon campus Dr. Clarence W. Spears, who will guide Oregon's destiny on the gridiron for the next five years. A band, cowbells, fog horns, and whistles, aided in the celebration. A rally at the station, a student body assembly, and a banquet, sponsored by the Eugene business men, was on the welcoming program for the day.—U. of O., Eugene.

SMOKING REMAINS ARGUED QUESTION

Those who smoke may be treading the downward path and poor health may result, but it is far from a settled question, according to Elizabeth S. Soude, head of the nursing department of University of Washington.

She believes that an excess of smoking, coffee, tennis or lemonade, is bad for any one. Miss Adams, assistant in the nursing department says: "Smoking is not a matter of morals, it's a question of common sense."—U. of W., Seattle.

MEN EAT MORE THAN WOMEN

Mrs. J. Corey, manager of the college commons at the College of Puget Sound in Tacoma, is mother to hundreds of students daily. During the past semester 14,000 meals were served and thousands of these under her personal supervision.

Mrs. Corey states that girls are particularly fond of salads and sandwiches, consequently buying lunches for fifteen cents. The boys never refuse pie. They eat far more than girls and drink lots of milk.—College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash.

"BUBBLES"

(Take five minutes of your time to read this pleasing little discourse about a pet cat. It is the product of the upper division essay class.)

Bubbles is black, a color which fits very harmoniously in with the furnishings of our home. As for his genealogy, it is a matter of conjecture whether he is an Angora, Maltese, or Persian. Still, that is a matter of little importance, except, when he is introduced to the neighbors. But the fact that he is black carries much weight; he can thereby be rightly called an "Intellectual cat." Needless to say, we have become great friends; so much so, that he has a preference for my lap to others. It does not take Bubbles long to find me seated. With a ltering purr-purp stride, he approaches the chair, sits on his haunches, and looks up with bright appealing eyes, all of which demands only a snap of the fingers and the chair holds two of us. After some maneuvering, he finds a comfortable spot on which to take a nap, whether he needs it or not. But resting soon gets tiresome, and like a human being who has need of motion after much recumbent, he is troubled by the things about him, which finally leads to investigation. The turning pages of a book are tapped by soft forepaws, a moving pencil must be stopped, a swaying necktie is attacked by bare claws, or the buttons of the shirt are pulled by sharp teeth. With a little aggravation he will rise on his haunches, spread his forepaws, rare back his ears, and throw himself at the troubling hand. If care is not taken, he leaves traces of his claws. In such moments of anger, his weakness for petting can be played upon and soon an era of peaceful purring is restored.

One day while sitting at the typewriter, Bubbles became mechanically inclined. The moving of the keys lured him to investigation. He energetically tried to catch the keys. Upon being permitted to regard the machine at will, he stepped on the keyboard and, much to his surprise, struck himself on the nose with a moving key. He retreated. On my continuing to write, he made his way to the right side of the machine. When the carriage was shifted, it caught him amidships and threw him off the desk. Since that time he has stood in awe of the typewriter. That and the broom, with which he earlier became acquainted, seem to be his most dreaded enemies.

At the end of a long day of study and concentration, such maneuvers by Bubbles are refreshing. He does not understand the worries that are revealed to him; he looks a moment and turns away unconcerned. Only a strong mind like his can make a small worry really seem small.—J. K. C.

TRUSTEES PROTEST KIMBALL'S CLOSING

Movement Made to Prevent Suspension of Theological School's Work.

A movement among local members of the Board of Trustees to prevent the suspension of Kimball school at commencement time was evident this past week in Salem, following the announcement Tuesday, February 18, that the school would close its doors for one year, commencing immediately after commencement, owing to the lack of financial support.

"I can not say now what the action will be but you may be assured that there are a number of Methodist leaders who want Kimball to remain." Said Ronald Glover, a Salem business man and a member of the Board of Trustees. "We feel that the Methodist church, strong as it is on the Pacific coast, can not afford to send all of its leaders east for training. We feel that a school of theology must be supported here in the west and that Kimball should not be abandoned."

It is hoped that some action of Salem friends may save the school from the necessity of closing. The school is well recognized through the west and is of high standing. It is the only Methodist seminary west of Denver and has served the entire Northwest. Its endowment, however, must be increased by 1932 to meet the requirements of the Board of Education.

study and concentration, such maneuvers by Bubbles are refreshing. He does not understand the worries that are revealed to him; he looks a moment and turns away unconcerned. Only a strong mind like his can make a small worry really seem small.—J. K. C.

Saturday, March 1—Freshman Glee.

Kappa Gamma Rho Honors New Members

At a dinner Saturday evening at the Gray Belle, Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity honored six new members: Mr. Robert Houck, Mr. Evans Hamilton, Mr. Ralph McCullough, Mr. Leland Gould, Mr. Dick Bauman, and Mr. Harold Rose.

The dining room at the Gray Belle, made a delightful setting for the event. The tables were beautifully decorated with greenery and a candelabra at the head of the table held three tall, rose-colored candles.

Mr. LaRaut Lewis, president of the fraternity, addressed the guests and members, and Mr. Harold Rose responded for the new members.

The guests present at the festivity were: Dr. and Mrs. Charles Sherman, Dr. Henry C. Kohler, Miss Florence Marshall, Miss Margaret P. Miss Gertrude Oehler, Miss Katherine Everett, Miss Hatfield Cooley, Miss Virginia Edwards, Miss Frances McGilvra, Miss Betty Lewis, Miss Margaret Bolt, Miss Phyllis Day, Miss Viola Crozier, Miss Margaret Baird, Miss Doris Clark, Miss Lois Wilkes, Miss Lucille Fisher, Miss Harriet Adams, and Miss Lucille Flannery.

Seniors Entertained At Franklin Home

Following the college of Idaho game last Friday evening, Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Franklin were hosts at their home for a group of the senior class. The entertainment included a number of readings, a group of travel pictures shown by Dr. Franklin, and the singing of college songs. At a late hour Mrs. Franklin served delicious refreshments.

Those who enjoyed the informal affair were Miss Katherine Everett, Miss Marjorie Miller, Miss Helen McPherson, Miss Helene Price, Miss Frances McGilvra, Miss Mildred Wilkinson, Mr. Leslie Manker, Mr. Stephen Mergler, Mr. Paul Geddes, and Mr. Joseph Silver.

Swimming Party Sponsored By Campus Y. W. C. A.

The evening of games and swimming sponsored by the University Y. W. C. A. at the Salem "Y" last Saturday proved a successful experiment.

The short program given at the beginning of the evening included a "sing" led by Miss Mary Allen, an original stunt, "A Grave Story" by Miss Minnie Shrode, and Miss Marvell Edwards, and a group of popular song numbers by Miss Cynthia Delano and Miss Lois Wilkes.

Miss Muriel White directed a half hour of games in the gymnasium, and Miss Lois Jean Rasch was in charge of the swimming party which came as the climax of the affair.

Dr. Troupe Speaker At Joint "Y" Meeting

Members of the Y. M. and Y. W. cabinets held a joint meeting at the home of Mrs. M. C. Findley on North Twentieth street, Tuesday afternoon, to hear Dr. Gordon Troupe of New Zealand. Fox lunches and chocolate were served at six o'clock.

Standard Bearers Doney Home Guests

Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney was hostess Monday evening to the Standard Bearers of the First Methodist church with Edwina Broadbent, Mildred Wampler and Agnes Moore as assistants.

The program for the evening was concerning Korea with Lavada Maxwell as leader. Songs and Korean games added much to the pleasure of the evening. After the program a social hour was enjoyed with refreshments served by Mrs. Doney assisted by Miss Broadbent, Miss Wampler and Miss Moore.

The women of the Salem W. C. T. U. will entertain with a tea, honoring Dean Ava Milam, at Lausanne Hall, Thursday afternoon, March sixth. All women of the University are invited to meet Dean Milam between the hours of four and six.

Mrs. Cal. Brown was the guest of her daughter, Miss Buena Brown, for dinner at the Delta Phi house on Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Moulton Gatie were the dinner guests of Miss Olive M. Dahl and Miss Lella Johnson at Lausanne Hall last Sunday.

Miss Georgia Striker and Miss Marion Michaelson spent last week-end on the Oregon State Campus at Corvallis.

Miss Bretz and Miss Middleton Hostesses

Miss Marion Bretz and Miss Jean Middleton were hostesses on Saturday, February 23, at the Bretz home on Highland Avenue, for a delightfully informal social evening. The interesting favors and decorations carried out the Washington's birthday idea.

Invitations were issued to Miss Dorothy Boshard, Miss Bertha Babcock, Miss Pauline Findley, Miss Edith Findley, Miss Virginia Edwards, Miss Marjorie Miller, Miss Margaret Morehouse, Miss Margaret Eddy, Miss Margaret Bolt, Miss Florence Emmmons, Miss Irma Green, Miss Kathryn Elgin, Miss Almee Fox, Miss Rosalind Van Winkle, Miss Gladys Miller, Miss Buena Brown, and Miss Dorothy Pemberton.

Judge Coshow Speaker For Town and Gown Club

The Town and Gown Club is to hold its February meeting at Lausanne Hall, on Thursday afternoon. The speaker will be Judge O. P. Coshow, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Oregon. There will be vocal music by Mrs. R. H. Robertson, formerly Miss Louise Benson, a graduate of the Willamette School of Music.

Members of the Rapherian Club of Salem will be special guests. The hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. E. C. Cross, Mrs. E. E. Gilbert, Mrs. C. P. Bishop, Mrs. Herbert Rahe, Mrs. W. V. Johnson, and Miss Olive M. Dahl.

Pledges Entertain At Beethoven Meeting

The Beethoven society announces the pledging of Miss Helen Pemberton and Miss Miriam Armitage and the pledging to associate membership of Miss Frances McGilvra and Mr. Wesley Roeder. At a meeting of the society at the home of Miss Josephine Albert last Thursday the pledges presented a short musical program which included vocal solos by Miss Frances McGilvra, and Miss Helen Pemberton, a piano solo by Miss Miriam Armitage and a trumpet solo by Mr. Wesley Roeder.

Miss Alida Gale Currey spent the week-end in Eugene.

Miss Valeda Ohmart, was a guest at Alpha Phi Alpha last Thursday evening.

Mr. Charles Redding was a Sunday visitor at Alpha Psi Delta house.

Miss Elizabeth Kelly spent the week-end at her home in Portland.

Miss Grace White of Portland, was the house guest of Miss Florence Power last week-end.

Mr. Donald Grant was a week-end visitor in Salem.

Miss Mary Hershberger was the house guest of Miss Elizabeth Atkinson at her home in Portland last week-end.

Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Troupe of New Zealand, were entertained at luncheon at the Sigma Tau house on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Conn visited their daughter, Miss Josephine Conn, at Alpha Phi Alpha last Saturday.

Miss Ellen Jean Moody visited her father in Tacoma last week-end.

Proceeding the College of Idaho game last Thursday the Women's Athletic association held a pot-luck dinner and enjoyed an informal social hour at Chresto Cottage.

Miss Mildred Mills of Forest Grove, spent the week-end at Delta Phi.

Professor Makes

and casts of it are being prepared for addition to the great collection in that institution.

This is a new species first classified and named about five years ago by Dr. Mary J. Rathbun of the U. S. National Museum. Only two other specimens of this kind are known, one in the U. S. National Museum at Washington, D. C. and the other, an imperfect carapace, in the museum at Leland Stanford Jr. University in California.

While the U. S. National Museum has indicated that it would appreciate a gift of this rare specimen, Professor Clark feels that Pacific coast fossils should be retained in the west, in order that they may be available to workers in this field. Hence the National Museum is preparing photographs and casts to be retained in the east.

Professor Clark has at the present time three specimens of this animal which is now extinct. It is of the large group of crustaceans known as decapods, and somewhat resembles a crawfish.

A movement has recently been instigated on the Willamette Campus by members of the local Y. M. and Y. W. C. SOPHS AND FROSH VIE FOR SILVER CUP

Hayes Beall and Barney Cameron Clash in Class Debate Finals.

Hayes Beall, sophomore, representing the negative and Barney Cameron, freshman, representing the affirmative, met in chapel today to decide the finals in inter-class debate.

The winning class will have its name engraved upon the loving cup presented by Mr. T. A. Lively of Salem, and will receive five points toward inter-class rivalry. Class numerals will be awarded those taking part in the debate. This cup is a yearly award.

The preliminaries were held on February 10, at 4 o'clock in the public speaking room. The question then debated was, "Resolved, that utility rather than culture should form the basis of our college curriculum." The new question used in the finals is one of special interest to college students: "Resolved, that the working student has less chance to make a success of college than the non-working student."

The delegates to the conference were about evenly divided between Orientals and Occidentals, and one of the notable things about the meeting, according to Miss Dorothy Taylor, was the perfect frankness and tolerance shown and the complete unconsciousness of color distinctions. Other delegates from Willamette were: Miss Dorothy Taylor, Miss Teruya Otsuki, Miss Marie Messersmith, William Mumford, Harry Stone, and Mariano Ramos.

STAGE HIT COMES NOW AS AUDIFILM

"Thing Thing Called Love" Has Received Picture Lovers' Acclaim.

The success "This Thing Called Love" attained on the speaking stage should insure a brilliant success for this smart Pathe comedy in dialogue picture form which comes to the Fox Elsinore Theater next Saturday. Edmund Lowe and Constance Bennett are featured.

As a stage play it was one of the season's big successes. The amazing situations that have been worked out in this picture by the author, centering on the idea of a modern marriage in which the receive a salary and that neither wife nor husband is to be denied another lovers, provide a great deal amusement.

Constance Bennett and Edmund Lowe head a brilliant cast. Miss Bennett plays the part of the wife. Lowe, as the husband who has just come from Peru where he spent fifteen years in real home, but accepts this arrangement believing that he can arouse his wife's jealousy and win her over to the good old fashioned idea of married life.

Others in the cast include Kasu Pitts, Roscoe Karns, Ruth Taylor, Stuart Erwin and Carmelita Geraghty.

The common house fly sounds the note of F in flying. This means that its wings vibrate 335 times a second. The honey-bee sounds A, implying 440 vibrations a second.

REPORTS OF POLICE SCHOOL REQUESTED

Stenographer has Lectures and Certificates Printed.

Evidence of the success of the police school continue to appear. Faye Cornutt has had so many requests for the notes on the lectures that she is arranging to have copies printed. At first, Miss Cornutt, who is Dean Hewitt's stenographer, took the addresses in short hand and made typewritten copies for those who did not wish to take their own notes.

However so many have written to ask for the notes, among them many who did not attend the police school, that it will be necessary to have printed copies of the addresses to supply the demand.

A further indication of the importance of the police school is the fact that many have asked for certificates of registration in the school, feeling that it would assist them in securing better positions, while others felt it was an honor to attend the first police school and wanted a receipt to show that they were present.

Accordingly, certificates showing enrollment and attendance have been issued to those who were present.

HOLD Y. LUNCHEON IN TROUPS HONOR

New Zealand W. S. C. F. Man Entertains Telling of People.

In the honor of Professor Gordon Troup, New Zealand representative of the World Students Christian Federation, a joint Y. M.-Y. W. cabinet luncheon was given at Findley's Tuesday evening during the dinner hour. Mr. Troup, who has been a professor of French at the University of New Zealand, gave a report of his country which was listened to with much interest by the students.

After telling of the topography, industries, people, and commerce of the country, he told of their educational system, which is very well unified. It is controlled entirely by the state, unlike the schools in the United States. In reply to a question concerning New Zealand athletics, Mr. Troup stated that the tendency was to have as many as possible take part in them. Rugby football, he said, was the most popular sport; sometimes as many as 35,000 young men and boys in a city of 250,000 population will take Saturday afternoon off to play football. Spectators are turned into players there. "Nearly every New Zealander can play at least one sport well," stated Mr. Troup.

After telling of their representative system of government, he stated that England sent over a very good "ornament" as a ruler (referring to the governor general). Mr. Troup implied that the governor general took about the same position in New Zealand as the king did in England.

A number of Willamette songs, which received very favorable commendation, were sung by the students after lunch. In return for their courtesy he sang one of their college songs.

Professor Troup is accompanied by his wife and is on his way to Paris to take over the work of the World Student Christian Federation among foreign students there. He complimented Willamette on its general spirit by saying that it was the best that he had come in contact with thus far on his tour.

Willamette Secures Title With Double Victory Over College of Idaho Coyotes

Freak and High Individual Scoring, Rough Tactics, Featured in Final Conference Games for Northwest Conference Honors.

Led by the brilliant shooting of Adams, who garnered 26 markers, and Cardinal, with 19 points to his credit, the Willamette quint romped over the College of Idaho Coyotes 74-34 last Thursday night.

The time has come when Bearcat victories are real news! The story of our winning the conference championship in both basketball and football interested the Associated Press service, and they relayed this story to all the newspapers in their great chain which extends across the United States.

An ancient prejudice has been removed! In this enlightened era in the development of Willamette, gone is the foggy myth that Whitman is invulnerable and that the Bearcats have to upset hope to win a championship.

One of the outstanding events of last semester was the pep banquet for the championship football contest with Whitman. The basketball team has performed just as successfully without the banquet.

Ed Cardinal is high-point man and all-conference center of the northwest teams for his third consecutive time.

ED CARDINAL AGAIN MAKES HIGH SCORE

Bearcat Center is High Point Man for Northwest Conference Games.

Ed Cardinal, Willamette's ransy center, has again taken high point honors for personal scoring in Northwest Conference basketball.

In the eight conference games this season Cardinal made 135 points, an average of seventeen points per game.

Seniors who have not yet advised their major professors of their preferences for their senior oral examination committee or for date of examination must do so immediately.

An official all-star team has not been announced as yet but there will be at least four Willamette men, Cardinal, Adams, Scales, and Hawk, and probably Crodale of Whitman, on the first team.

TELEGRAM SENT TO OREGON GRID COACH

W. U. Alumni Send Greetings to Dr. Spears at Banquet in Portland.

In a spirit of neighborliness and cognizance of the common interests of Willamette valley universities, Willamette university alumni sent the following telegram to the welcoming reception and banquet in honor of Dr. C. W. Spears.

Mr. C. L. Starr, toast master, Spears Welcoming Banquet, Masonic Temple, Portland, Oregon.

Dr. Spears is from the university of Minnesota, and Oregon is giving him a spectacular welcome this week on that campus.

The next week the Bearcats engaged in four games on their home court, winning two comparatively uninteresting games from College of Puget Sound 48-29 and 38-24.

The Bearcats completed the season with virtually an all conference team in the persons of Adams and Scales, forwards, Hawk and Gibson guards and Cardinal the towering center.

Next year's team will lose only one of this year's stars, Hawk. His place will be missed, but Carpenter should come to the fore in this guard position.

BEARCAT PLAYERS GET GOLD AWARDS

Sixteen members of Coach Roy S. Keene's northwest championship football team and the coaching staff received gold football fobs presented by the organizations of the school at an awards meeting Wednesday.

Those receiving the awards were Ed Cardinal, Walter Erickson, Ted Lang, Roy Benjamin, Curtis French, Raymond Haldane, Keith Jones, Rupert Philpott, Charles DePoe, Garnie Cranor, Eugene Ferguson, Charles Gill, Percy Carpenter, Paul Ackerman, Willard Rich, and coach Kenneth Denman, L. J. Sparks and Roy Keene.

In presenting the awards Keene expressed appreciation of the work of the men and of the publicity the team had given Willamette. Six men, Cardinal, Lang, Carpenter, Philpott, Jones and Erickson, were given all-conference honors this season.

Keene also presented basketball awards to Cardinal, George Scales, ex-Franklin high school player, Dwight Adams, Harold Hawk, Lawrence Gibson, and Percy Carpenter, of the championship basketball team.

Ends 4 Years' Play

Harold Hawk played his last conference basketball game last Friday night against College of Idaho.

HAROLD HAWK ENDS FOUR YEARS' PLAY

Basketball Veteran is Sole Athlete in Forty to Finish in 4 Years.

Harold Hawk, rugged athlete from Peoria, Ill., enjoys the unusual distinction. He is the only athlete who has played four years at Willamette under Spec Keene. He is a senior and is scheduled to graduate in the spring.

Mr. Hawk is married, and it is thought that he started the vogue of wedding bells for Willamette athletes.

Coach Roy Keene says that as long as he can find men of Harold Hawk's calibre and see them graduate he will believe that his work is progressing and that Willamette is serving its purpose.
