Wallulahs for Seniors!

Wallulah, the Willamette annual, will be ready for distribution to seniors only today in the Wallulah office, beginning at 1 p.m., Warren James, editor, announces. The annuals will be ready for other students beginning next week, he said. He asked that students bring their assured and previously stamped student body cards for prompt service.

9 Need Housing, Dorms to Close During Summer

A survey this week by Walter Erickson, director of the summer session here, showed that only nine students have indicated they still require housing during the eight weeks that the session lasts.

These students, seven men and two women, should contact Dr. Lawrence Riggs, dean of men, or Mrs. Mary Linerode, acting dean of women, to obtain housing before the session begins, Erickson said. Those who have not indicated housing needs, but will be here for the summer should also apply immediately, he said.

All dormitories will be closed for the summer session, Erickson said, as well as the Lausanne cafeteria and those in Baxter hall.

Smith Reveals Faculty Additions

Three additional appointments to the University faculty were announced this week by Pres. G. Herbert Smith, and other faculty members indicated plans for this summer and fall.

Dr. Kenneth Verne Lottick has been appointed associate professor of education to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Dr. J. Russell Morris. Dr. Lottick holds the bachelor of arts degree from Hanover college in Indiana, the master of arts degree from Ohio State university and the doctor of education from Harvard. For six and one-half years he was chairman of the department of social studies at Orlando Florida senior high school and junior college.

Lottick acted as associate professor at Elon college in North Carolina and comes to Willamette from a position of assistant professor at State Teachers college at Fredonia, New York, where he has been for three and a half years. Mr. and Mrs. Lottick and their child will move to Salem in the late summer to

Diplomas to be Given At June Graduation

By Wally Southard

The largest graduating class in Willamette history will receive degrees in liberal arts, science, music, education and law at commencement exercises in the university gymnasium June 13, the registrar's office has announced.

The awarding of degrees to 158 graduating seniors at 3 p.m. Sunday will climax the three day commencement weekend schedule which begins June 11.

Time Flew By This Morning

If you got up this morning and found that you had that tired feeling, you might blame it on exams, or boning or just spring fever. Chances are, however, that you didn't get your regular amount of sleep and if you did, you were late to class.

Salem, following the lead of most other Oregon cities went on daylight saving time at 12:01 a.m. this morning. The University, following the lead of the state offices and the city council's decision, also began saving time this morning.

Students who forgot about it probably missed a class, though many classes were dismissed today by individual professors because of final exams next week.

This time change is the first in recent years in Salem and Oregon and certainly the first time for many years that University eight o'clock classes began at 7. The past week has been the first time in history that a person could leave Salem, after leaving for Portland and get back to Salem before leaving Portland.

Vacation Looms; Revamping Due About Campus

Students enter the final week of the semester today with exams beginning tomorrow and vacation officially beginning on alumni day, next Saturday.

On the campus, as summer rolls along, maintenance crews expect to do considerable revamping and landscaping, Robert Fenix, WU business manager says.

Principal landscape jobs will be around Baxter hall and between the infirmary and the railroad tracks, Fenix states. He hopes to have all the lawns in around the men's dormitory by September, as well as much more complete landscaping in the tennis court and infirmary area, he said.

Other projects for the summer he hopes will be approved, he said, are some painting in buildings where needed, soundproofing of the band building and the seeding of Sweetland field.

Work will be continued, he said, at Bush athletic field and on lifting of campus sidewalks and surrounding sidewalks to make them dry where needed.

Leading the procession of the 1948 class into the gymnasium will be Dr. Daniel Schulze, who replaces Dr. Herbert Rahe as grand marshal.

Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, Willamette president from 1915 to 1934, will return to the campus to deliver the commencement address.

Class reunions and alumni conferences have been scheduled for Baccalaureate services for the 1948 graduating class will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. in the First Methodist church. Graduates will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Carrier room to form the processional and ready for the ceremonies.

Saturday, June 12. The anniversary classes, 1898, 1923, will be especially honored with the presentation of the Matthews' medallions.

Reservations for the alumni banquet in Baxter hall must be made in advance by writing to the alumni office, alumni secretary Charles Barclay has announced. Tickets for the banquet Saturday, June 12, are $1.50 and may be claimed at the banquet. Reservations should be in the alumni office by June 7, he added.

President G. Herbert Smith will give an outline of the school's activities during the past year at the banquet.

Piece D'Occasion

Yes, this is the last issue this semester of the Collegian, an All-American publication which Bob Guild, now former editor and benedict-elect, may well be proud. Those taking journalism here and journalists in the city, state and nation have expressed their wholehearted approval of Bob's untiring effort to give the Collegian the best in news coverage and a makeup which has been unexcelled for many years. He, we know, would give much credit to the printers, but the printers would also thank Bob profusely for his promptness and versatility on those busy Thursdays in the composing room.

The voters in the student body election this spring have already shown, by one of the largest votes cast in the University's history, how they felt about George Hurt, new student body president, Bob's managing editor, and the right-hand man in editing the Collegian this year. George's record has already been written here and in the future.

Leaving the Collegian, too, and whom the staff will also miss, is Ed Fitzsimons, whose cartoons, in the Collegian during the past year have not only been unique and expressive, but should give Ed an "in" to any newspaper on which he cares to display his talents.

Thus, the new staff, most of us holdovers from Bob's administration, close the Collegian until fall, and wish Bob and George and Ed and all the best of luck in their new enterprises. We hope to see you all next fall in the Collegian office.

This Is Our Policy

The Collegian, for sixteen consecutive times, an All-American rated collegiate newspaper, is proud of that record and next year expects to maintain it. With this in mind, the staff of next year's paper invites the continued cooperation of the entire faculty and student body in furthering the interests of journalism at Willamette.

During the summer months, members of the staff, some of whom live in Salem and some of whom will remain for the summer session, will devote part of the summer reorganizing the Collegian office. No new furniture will be added, but certainly more of it and a relocation of it. We expect to have a news counter strategically located near the door where a reporter, or reporters, will be on duty during office hours on pre-publication days to take news and properly distribute it for editing.

In addition, located on the Collegian office door, will be a news slot. This slot will be for the purpose of accepting news after office hours and for obtaining the beefs, gripes and bouquets, if any, of the faculty and student body. Letters to the editor cannot be published without the signature of the writer, but gripes and beefs received, if sufficient to warrant it, will receive editorial comment, signed or unsigned.

Our new feature editor, Norman Stone, expects to edit a campus poll at least periodically during the coming year and it has been suggested that the Collegian, in addition, run a question-of-the-week to be answered by students on the campus.

In maintaining its files this fall, the Collegian will need at least two librarians. These and other positions, with journalistic credit attached, may be obtained by simply applying for journalistic courses through Prof. Ringnald during registration week in September.

The staff's primary function, as in the past, will be to give complete and unbiased coverage to campus activities. To do this, we will need the help of the whole student body. Through the use of the news bureau as set up during the summer, the student or the organization with news should have no trouble in getting that news in the Collegian. It is suggested that each organization have its own publicity chairman who will submit news to the Collegian or see to it that the Collegian contacts the chairman by reporter or phone. The news slot may be used for this purpose.

The staff believes that by use of the organization to be set up for next year's publication, that we may do a more efficient, complete and more effective job in news coverage and journalistic practice. With the continued cooperation of students and faculty, the Collegian will continue to be tops.

Student Council Recalls Progress, Thanks Willamette for Good Year

TO THE STUDENTS OF WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY:

A year of activity passes quickly. How quickly our own year has passed we do not realize until we pause a moment and look back into the many things accomplished in that short period of time.

We have enjoyed all of the traditional events—May Weekend, with the new float competition this year, homecoming, basketball, football, plays, dances, picnics, and the deep discussions in which college students delight. All these have given flavor to a year of hard study. If we individually have balanced these events with study, we have indeed had a profitable and enjoyable year. If not, somewhere we have failed. We of the student council have tried to present a comprehensive program of planned events to help further that needed balance between activities and study, under the able guidance and leadership of Don Douris.

Through the council we are presenting again this year an honor code to protect the student from cheating, either by himself or others. Bill Harris, his committee, and the council have established the system in an elemental stage; it is up to the student body at large to carry the plan through.

The student council has been active in purchasing new band uniforms, the first in over 15 years; has revamped the student body office; has sanctioned the "bear suit" at football games and has taken a stand of opposition to Who's Who in American colleges and has initiated a new award system under the leadership of John Christenson. It has also maintained justice in the numerous cases coming to its attention from the student body.

We have tried this year to justify our faith in an active student council. We hope we have come up to your expectations. If so, we thank you, the student body, because it is through you we get our inspiration and our authority. Student government is at all times in the direct hands of the entire student body. From Stu Compton, from Don Douris, Chuck Mills, Gerry Robinson, Al McMullen, Art Dimond, Clarence Wicks, Bob Guild, Dr. Schulze, Dr. Luther, and myself, and especially George Hurt, next year's ASWU president, we thank you for your continued support and wish you good luck in the future year.

Sincerely yours,
Addyse Lane,
ASWU Secretary.

Vine-Clad Halls vs. Far Away Vacations

By Dick Reid

Graduating senior men seem to have very varied interests in mind for the approaching summer months. Activities will include almost everything from "getting as far away from Salem as my G.I. allowance will allow" to continuing studies in the vine-clad halls right through the summer session.

O. J. (Sparrow, of course), puffing contentedly at his brief-full of coffee grounds, related intentions of a long and colorful trip through Mexico with a side excursion to Canada's mountains... (don't ask him how that works, he doesn't know).

A more ambitious fellow (no offense, O.J.) such as Don 'Ike' Link will be found toiling from sun to sun in the lumber business down around Eugene, and in case you're in Longview any time after June 13th you might run into Freddy Graham who will be working by day and displaying his athletic inclinations for softball fans in the evenings.

Willamette's loss will be the U. of Michigan's gain next fall when Reid Shelton will enter that mid-western institution to begin his M.A. work. During the summer Reid plans to study privately with Dean Geist plus putting in four hours labor per day at a local record shop.

Bob 'Kodiak' Johnson will take a last look at civilization following commencement and then head for Alaska's scenic wonderland. Most of Bob's summer will be taken up with various homestead chores with some time for swimming, fishing, hunting, etc.

And, of course, there will be those, such as Kenneth H. Arnot, who will have nothing better to do than get married. (Best wishes, Howard.)

Thanks! Says Warren James

As Wallulah editor I wish to express sincere appreciation to the staff for their tireless efforts in getting the book to the printers on time. Naturally all workers can't know the significance of meeting deadlines, but those who spent long hours at the final moments deserve credit.

To Dorothy Deal, Mary Libby, Geri Bowles, Ben Younglove, Dick Blois, Doug Stearns and Dave Scott go the bouquets in this case. Their zest for seeing the yearbook to the printer through thick and thin of studies has proved to be the binding asset of staff cooperation.

I also express thanks to the student body for its cooperation in having portraits made at Bishop Moderne studios and in being at the designated spots on campus for group pictures.

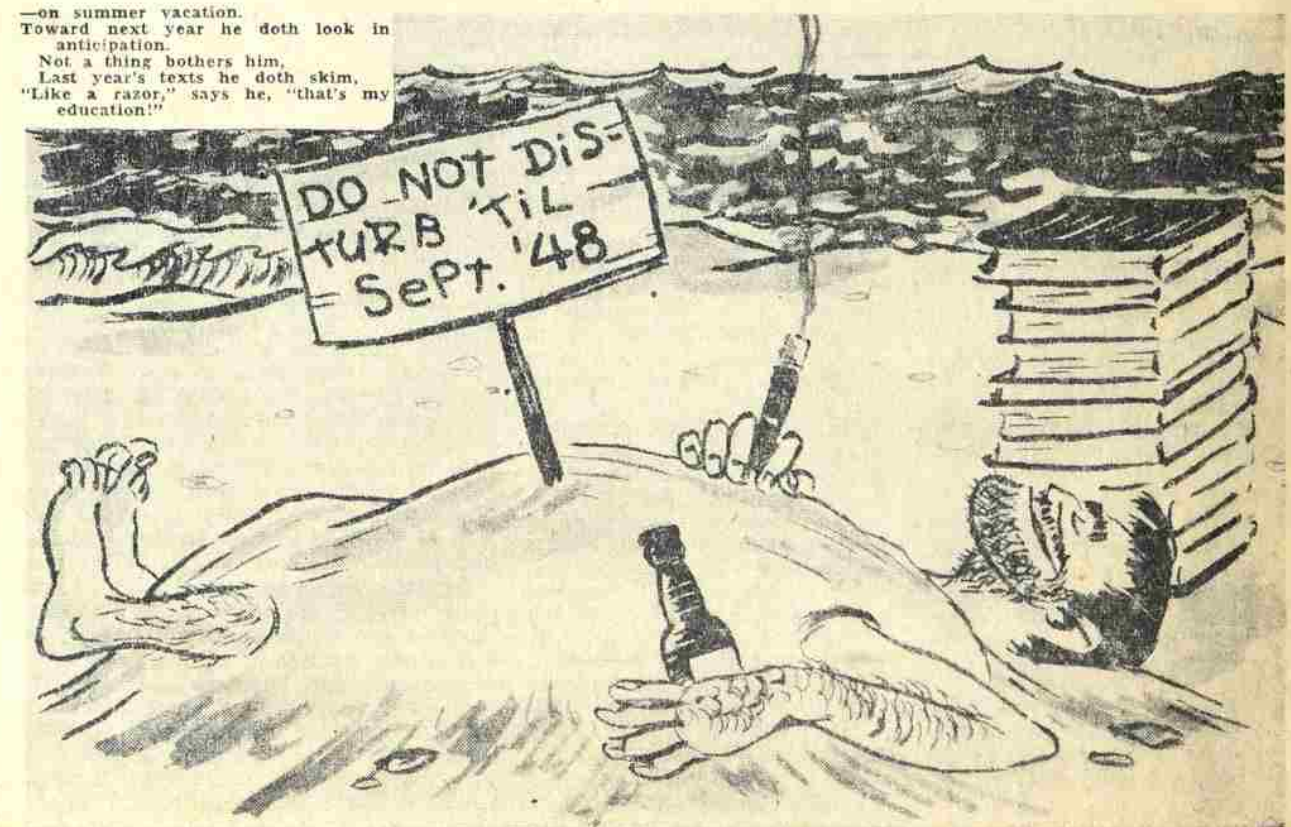

Today and for the next few days the Wallulah will be passed out. We think we've got the best book Willamette has seen. We sincerely hope you agree.

Warren W. (Wallulah) James
1948 Wallulah Editor

Editor's Note: A year behind the pen and easel in the Wallulah office is indeed a task which has many heartaches and disappointments but a task which Warren James and his staff have done well. As the student body gets preview of the 1947-48 Wallulah today, we know that Willamette will thank Warren and his staff for a great year book.

A red toy convertible and trailer in the middle of the dinner tables at the Pi Phi house Wednesday evening announced the wedding date of Gini Balk and Dale McLellan.

Streamers tied to the car had the couple's name and the wedding date, September 3, on them. A "just married" sign was painted on the auto, while "Canada", the couple's honeymoon destination, was printed on the back of the trailer. Two tiny silver wedding bells were tied to the trailer.

The wedding will take place in the First Baptist Church of Portland with the Rev. Fred C. Taylor of Salem who married the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Balk of Portland, officiating. WU Offers Opinions on PNCC, Presidency, State of World

Results of three polls, one on the campus and two away from it, were received here this week after tabulations were received from the Pacific Northwest College congress, Willamette sociology and history classes and the Varsity Presidential poll. Willamette university participated in the latter two through history and sociology classes and through the Collegian.

First results in a varsity presidential poll which was participated in by the Collegian recently with other U.S. colleges and universities shows the following:

Stassen 35.6 percent; Dewey 12.1; Eisenhower, 11.9; Truman 9.6; Wallace 9.5; Vandenberg 8.0; Taft 2.9 and other candidates 10.4 per cent. By party the vote on campuses shows republicans, 60 per cent; democrats, 37 per cent and third party, 3 per cent, according to information received from the varsity poll headquarters.

All over-due books must be turned in to the library today, Dan Graves, university librarian announced. The names of all students who do not turn in their books will be handed in to the registrar and those students will not receive their grades until the books are received, Graves said.

During the summer session, the library will be open from eight to five o'clock on week days and eight to twelve on Saturdays.

resolutions adopted by the delegates to the third congress, was held this week at Whitman college, Walla Walla, Wash.

Results of the voting on some of the important items of the ballot showed that students favor United States negotiations for the reduction of tariff barriers to enable successful operation of the Marshall plan. Also favored was a resolution that advocates the establishment of a permanent international military force to enforce the decisions of the security council of the United Nations.

Public opinion polls conducted recently in the WU history and sociology departments show that 148 students out of 380 taking the test feel they are better off now than they were last year at this time. One hundred think they are worse off, 124 feel they are about the same and eight don't know.

Canada ranked first with 173 votes in the list of countries in which students would want to live if they could not live in the United States. On the question about whether they thought the United Nations has a chance of being able to maintain peace, 34 believed it had, a good chance, 179 believed it to be fair, and 160 thought it had a poor chance.

The poll was one similar to those Elmer Roper is conducting for Time magazine in ten countries.

Bearcat Pigskinners Schedule First Practice for Labor Day

Willamette's football coach Jerry Lillie will issue his first football call on Labor day, September 6, it was announced by Lillie last Monday. Approximately 22 lettermen may answer the call for the two weeks practice prior to Willamette's first game September 18, against the Portland Pilots at Portland.

Linemen vets expected to turn out are ends Gene Allison, Cece Johnson and Dean Nice; tackles Bill Kukahiko, Bob McMullen and Ken Nerison; guards Art Beddoe, Chuck Bowe, Jim Fitzgerald and Herb Johnsrude; and centers Chuck Patterson and George Nuss.

Backfield lettermen will include quarterbacks Bob Douglas and Bob Burleigh, halfbacks; Bill Ewaliko, Roy Harrington, Howie Lorenz, Al Minn, John Slanchik and Keith Sperry and fullbacks Bob Warren and Dick Fletchall.

Those unlikely to return are Jim Fitzgerald, who may find law school to tough to play football also; John Slanchik, who may be kept from playing with bad kidneys; George Nuss, who may stay back at Wisconsin next fall and Dick Fletchall, who may continue his studies at Portland university.

Sports Orbit

by Oakes

With time running out of this year's "hour-glass" and students thinking of the summer months ahead, the Collegian sports section goes to press for the last time with this issue and wishes to bid everyone an eventful and perhaps prosperous summer. However, before bowing out, we want to take time and a good deal of this column to recapitulate the past year's athletic program including its successes and failures.

TED OGDALH

opponents into stride to win the title in a walk.

Johnson Trio Sparked Maplers

Next came Johnny Lewis' basketball gang with their famed Johnson trio pacing the way during the winter months to thrill crowds throughout the Northwest with their feats. In fact it seemed as though Lewis would match Lillie's feat with a casaba title. Lack of reserves to spell the first stringers off, a bad case of flu caught by the Johnson brothers, Jim and Bob, and a chipped ankle suffered by Bob eventually lost the top spot for the colorful Bearcats and gave them a tie for the runner-up spot.

Spring sports didn't run true to form if football and basketball were any example. Of baseball, track, tennis and golf, baseball proved the least disastrous with five wins and as many losses. One bright thing to look forward to is that their showing can't be much worse next year and may be considerably better.

Peyton Considered Tops by Lewis

One bright spot on this year's baseball squad was Manager Gene Peyton. Though not one of the actual performers Gene worked hard and efficiently behind the scenes looking after all the players' wants and equipment and caused Lewis to remark, "best manager I've ever had in my coaching career." Not much credit is usually accorded the manager but in Gene's case we believe he has earned every bit and more of his letter award.

One big loss to Bearcat grid hopes next fall will be Ted Ogdahl, who will take over head coaching duties at Grant high in Portland then. Last year he helped develop Jerry Lillie's hard-running backfield and set up a near-impregnable pass defense. Before long we expect to see him getting results from his Generals in the victory column.

Sparks Does It Again

Always good for plenty of worthy praise is 'Mural Coach Les Sparks. Once again he ran off successful 'mural touchball, basketball, volleyball, badminton and softball play besides coaching the tennis squad. 'Mural play doesn't get the headlines that the major sports do but they serve a much larger number of students in athletics and Les has never knowingly kept anyone from playing in his program, good or bad.

Before signing "30" to the final column of the year this writer wishes publicly to thank Coaches Jerry Lillie, Johnny Lewis and Les Sparks for their splendid cooperation throughout the past semester, and to Publicity Chief Chuck Barclay and Ex-Sports Editor George Hurt for their many services.

But last and far from least he wishes to thank his sports staff for backing him up all the way. They are hard plugging Dale Reynolds, who reported track results and tennis the past semester, baseball reporter Jerry Mulkey, intramural writer Walt Boyce, golf reporter Ken Nerison and competent Jerry Jewett, the page's feminine touch who ably told of Willamette's women athletes.

Jason Athletes Receive 91 Awards at Chapel Thursday

Willamette's Bearcat athletes received 91 awards yesterday morning at the annual awards day chapel. The awards were given in football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis and golf and additional awards were given to seniors in the forms of blankets and jackets.

The most valued award of all, the J. H. Booth athletic trophy cup, was given to Earl Hampton, second baseman on the baseball team this year, for achieving the best standard in athletics while exerting a fine moral influence.

Seniors winning jacket awards for two or more years of lettering in any one sport were, Dale Bates, Bob Donovan, Hank Ercofini, Earl Hampton, Bob Medley, Ralph Ohling, Bill Reder, Fred Richardson and Al Wickert.

Those obtaining blankets for four years of participation in any one sport and at least three letters in that sport were Bob Donovan, Earl Hampton, Larry McKeel, football; Bob Medley, basketball; Bill Reder and Al Wickert, football.

Phi Deltas, Rubes Win Mural Titles

Those highly-touted Rubes did it again by winning the mural softball title by default. Because of law exams and poor weather the Lawyers chose not to play off the championship and the Rubes won on percentage with a 6-1 record compared to the Lawyers 3-1.

The Phi Deltas also took a mural title, winning the bowling playoff last Tuesday. A traveling trophy, to be kept by the winning house each year, will be presented to the Phi Deltas by the Salem Sigma Alpha Epsilon alumni.

Coaching Plums Go to Sparks' Physical Education Graduates

Thirteen Willamette physical ed majors will take on coaching jobs throughout the state beginning next fall, it was announced by Prof. Les Sparks this week. Of the 13, two are women, Virginia Cannon and Ellen Forslund. Both will teach at Newberg high.

Probably the juiciest coaching plum was picked by Ted Ogdahl who will be head at Grant high in Portland. Besides helping Jerry Lillie with his coaching chores here last fall, Ted played for Willamette, College of Pacific, the Marines and the San Diego bombers in the past.

1946 Little All-American Marv Goodman, who served as Bearcat freshman coach last year has signed on as head football and track coach at Canby.

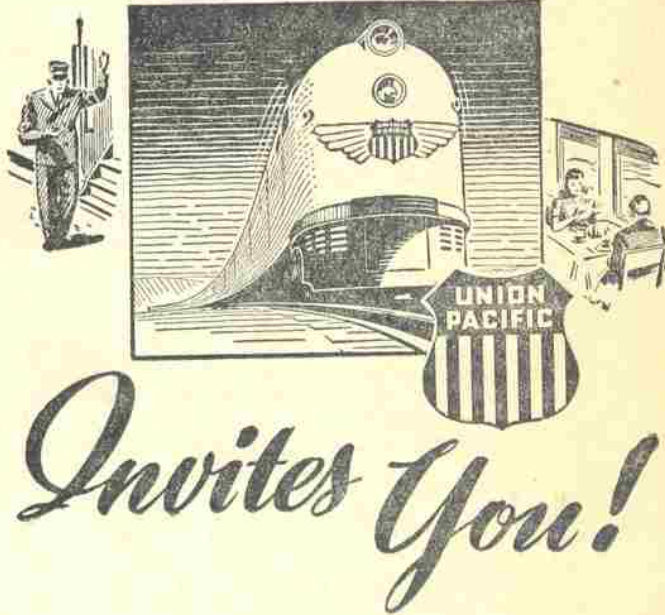

Coaching jobs at Tillamook were secured by Larry McKeel and Bob Medley who will be football and basketball mentors respectively. Bob Donovan and Ben Schadd will also coach at the same school at Taft.

Other jobs were secured by "Mush" Barbour at Woodburn, Jack Mudd at Astoria junior high, Earl Hampton at Pendleton and Chuck Furno at Hermiston. Paul Cookingham will fill former Bearcat "Bunny" Bennett's spot as assistant coach at Franklin high in Portland and will serve under Bennett who is now head coach.

Attention Footballers!

All prospective footballers for next fall's campaign are requested to meet with Coach Jerry Lillie at 3 p.m. Monday in the gymnasium.
