Salem, Oregon, Friday, January 11, 1952

No. 15

Advance Registration Begins Wednesday, Ends Next Friday

Advance registration will begin next Wednesday and will continue through Friday, according to Harold B. Jory, registrar.

Registration booklets may be obtained in the registrar's office next Wednesday and must be returned no later than Friday. All booklets not finished by Friday must also be returned and may be completed on the regular registration day, February 4.

Signatures of professors of classes in which students are now enrolled may be obtained during class time. However, signatures of professors of classes in which the student is not enrolled must be obtained during office hours posted on each professor's office door.

Board Defers More Men

Willamette's AROTC Advanced students selection Board met the Friday preceding Christmas vacation and approved 12 more applications for draft deferments and tentative acceptance in the advanced AROTC program.

This brings the total of applications so far approved by the board to 86. Sixty-five applications remain in the files of the board pending further action and subject to improvement of grades or other conditions.

Major Gilbert Charters, president of the board, announced that the deferment quota for the class of 1955 has been increased from 123 to 199. This, Major Charters hopes, will be sufficient to handle most of the applications expected to be approved in the future, both by present Willamette students and students who transfer to Willamette at later dates.

Those accepted at the recent board meeting are Richard O. Adams, Robert J. Dyer, William K. Hagmeyer, George H. Kell, Ruben Menashe, Harold E. Moyer, Shannon P. Pratt, Robert H. Smith, Thomas E. White, Matthew W. Grieve, Laurence C. Peterson, and Robert F. Cody.

Signatures may not be obtained during a class period in which the student is not enrolled, or solicited from professors as they are passing through the halls.

Upon completion of registration, fee slips are obtainable in the registrar's office, and fees may be paid in the business office, if the student wants to do so at this time.

All seniors expecting to graduate this June are to secure their petitions for degrees in the registrar's office and file them immediately. It is necessary that this be done within the first two weeks of the semester, so that any additional work required may be added before the deadline for adding classes February 18. It is important, said Jory, that all seniors see their major professors prior to registration for the second semester.

Faculty Committee to Consider Problems of Exams, Cheating

The problem of cheating was dumped in the laps of a student affairs committee of the faculty this week following consideration of the question by the entire faculty Tuesday.

The faculty student affairs committee was instructed to investigate the problem and draw up a "favorable, constructive solution that will be a workable rule to both students and professors."

Dean Mark Hatfield, head of the committee, had taken no action and, one spokesman said, nothing will be done probably until after final exams. The faculty meets once a month.

Faculty spokesmen were uncertain what steps would be taken when the student action committee files its report. It will be referred back to the faculty and the student council but it was not known if adoption of any plan would involve a student vote.

The faculty was urged to con-

Dobbs to Play

Ralph Dobbs, associate professor of music, will appear in piano concert Tuesday morning during the regular Tuesday convocation.

Drama Series Wednesday

Two one-act plays, "Sotoba Komachi" and "Aria de Capo," will be presented in the Little Theater in Waller hall next Wednesday at 8 p.m.

These plays are part of a series of workshop plays being produced this month by student directors.

"Aria" is a fast-moving comedy featuring a play within a play in which the dumb Columbine shares an act with the brilliant Peirrot in the traditional slap stick of the two clowns. Sue Mellor is directing the play.

"Komachi" is a unique form of an early Japanese drama, of interest because of its unique form.

The problem of cheating by the student council which recently compiled evidence on frequency, causes and possible solutions to cribbing. At the time the faculty was being urged to "enforce University rules governing examinations." The faculty, however, was unable to find a set of written rules and said that giving examinations is largely up to the individual professors.

The faculty was sympathetic with the student council, which had raised the question of cheating at Willamette, and said it appreciated the interest shown by the students "in maintaining a fundamental standard of honesty in taking examinations."

The faculty recognized that the student council favored tighter proctoring.

The last attempt at controlling examinations was taken by the student body in 1948 when it voted 362 to 252 against an honor system.

Concert Series Brings Third Artist to Willamette Audience

By Darrel deChaby

The British pianist, Solomon, whom "Time" magazine has called "One of the world's great pianists," will appear at the Salem high school auditorium next Thursday at 8 p. m. as the third artist in the Willamette Distinguished Artist concert series.

Solomon made his debut in England as a child prodigy billed as "Solomon, boy pianist," and has never bothered to use his last name though he has one just like the rest of us. It is the artist's preference that he be known only as Solomon.

Makes Debut at 9

Solomon was born in England in 1902, made his formal debut at nine, played a command performance at Buckingham Palace when he was ten and then retired for five years to further develop himself as an artist. In so doing he made the jump from prodigy to artist which other artists before and since have taken with varying degrees of success.

He first visited the United States in 1926 and returned in 1949 to receive some of the most enthusiastic reviews ever penned. Solomon is no stranger to the Northwest, having appeared twice in Portland as soloist with the orchestra last year in the Schumann concerto and again this year playing the Beethoven fourth piano concerto.

The December 15 issue of "Musical America" contains a review of Solomon's latest New York recital which will demonstrate the enthusiasm with which he is received by some of the nation's ablest critics. It reads in part:

Solomon Lauded

"As I recall the performances of Bach, Mozart, Brahms, Debussy and Ravel at the concert I find myself in the curious situation of remembering each as the most beautiful until I think of the last one. Solomon seemed one of those supremely gifted and dedicated interpreters who merge themselves with the personality of the composer."

"Debussy's 'La Cathedrale Engloutie' and Ravel's 'Une Barque sur l'Ocean' were miracles of color and subtle pedaling as wave after wave of sonority was built up, like the layers of an impressionistic painting, enriched without obscuring the basic images. A dazzling performance of Ravel's 'Tocata' led to encores."

Ravel, Debussy Included

This review is particularly interesting because Solomon will play the Debussy and Ravel compositions in his recital here, along with the Beethoven sonata op. 109 and Schumann's "Carnaval" suite.

Solomon is currently recording for "His Majesty's Voice" and Victor records the 32 sonatas of Beethoven. This monumental task was last undertaken by Arthur Schnabel, deceased, and Wilhelm Backhaus, now in semi-retirement.

The Salem audience Thursday will have an opportunity to hear an artist who ranks with Gieseking, Casadesu, Petri, Hess, and a precious few others, as one of the finest pianists in the world today.

'Papa Is All' Cast Outlined

Cast members were announced early this week for "Papa Is All," the next major Willamette drama production scheduled for February 12, 13 and 14 in Waller hall.

According to Dean Graunke, director, Jim Hitchman is cast as Papa, and Ann Ellsperman, who appeared as the cook in "Night Must Fall" earlier this semester, is Mama. The son and daughter, Jake and Emma Aukamp, are being played by Richard J. Geer and Patsy Older. Mrs. Yoder, the rattle headed neighbor is portrayed by Sue Mellor and Brendle, of the Pennsylvania state police, is still to be named.

Marie Corner has been appointed production manager. Committee chairman will be announced today.

Graunke revealed plan to elevate the Waller chapel stage for the performances and reserve seats for all performances. Students are admitted free with their student body cards. Admission charge will be 50 cents.

Faculty Forum Slates Myers

Dr. John Myers, associate professor of psychology, will present the second of the newly inaugurated Faculty Forums Monday night at 8 in the recital hall of the Music building.

Dr. Myers will speak on "Some recent trends in psychological research." His talk, he said, will emphasize the contribution of the theoretical psychologist who has and is developing theoretical contributions to many applied fields of psychology.

Myers received his doctorate in psychology at State University of Iowa in experimental psychology and has been teaching at Willamette for three semesters.

The first program of the series was given by Prof. Stanley Butler November 29. Future programs will feature Dr. Edward Kollmann, Prof. Herman Clark, and an address by a Law school professor.

Purpose of the Forums, according to its originator, Dr. Kollmann, is "to encourage mutual understanding of subject matter and problems within the various fields of the arts and sciences."

French Art Exhibit Seen

Water color paintings of French Artist Beatrice Appia are now on display in the Art Building.

The native of Haute-Savoire, France sent some of her works to Dr. Marion Morange, professor of French, after Dr. Morange had previously purchased several of her paintings in France during the winter of '46-'47.

Miss Appia paints in water and oil and her works have been exhibited with the Women Painters of Paris. She has painted in Italy and Spain, and has traveled throughout Europe and Africa.

The exhibit, which is done entirely in oil, can be viewed from 9 to 5 o'clock Monday through Friday.

Catalogue Says No Rise in Costs

No further increase in tuition or board and room costs are scheduled for next year according to the 1951-52 University bulletin. According to Dr. Robert Renix, financial vice-president, tuition will remain $210 a semester and board and room, $260 and $255 at Baxter and Lausanne halls. The catalogue will be off the presses next month, he added.

Fenix said only minor changes in courses and academic requirements were made but could give no details since the printers had all available copies of the text.

Solomon

The Collegian was planning on letting students rest and study during the month of January, rather than try to press some burning issue, or crusade for anything. However, there is just one thing that is left on our minds before finals, and that is the third concert in the Distinguished Artist Concert Series.

Solomon is ranked among the firsts of the musical world, his style and technique undoubtedly surpassing that of Rubenstein, whom we enjoyed last year.

For the very finest of piano virtuosos, we should really pack the house. It has been said that piano tones are better, clearer, and have a more aesthetic quality if the house is full. The aesthetic quality would certainly be shared by Solomon, and the people who are working to make the concerts a success.

Tickets continue to be a steal at only $1.50 for students.

Everyone can take some time for relaxation while studying for finals. Music, particularly piano music played by Solomon, will be both stimulating and relaxing, and should be enjoyed by every Willamette student and faculty member next Thursday evening.

Cuts are inexcusable.

Something Old

Would like to start the New Year right with this pithy little quote my roving eye chanced upon? If students will tack this above their study tables I am sure they will find its stimulation will produce a better-than-average GPA come February.

"Employ your time in improving yourself by other men's writings so that you shall come easily by what others have labored for."
SOCRATES

Something New

There is a copy of the new college magazine "Musart" on the bulletin board in the "Collegian" office for any of those who would be interested. There are things in this mag which will be of interest to all, including an article on Stan Kenton, two articles on jazz, (most interesting) book reviews, an article on Schoenberg's "Pierrot Lunaire" by Howard Teubman, a list of new recordings - pop and classic - and various letters and articles from colleges and universities throughout the nation. A slip has been placed on the bulletin board also which those interested in subscribing to the new magazine may sign. Price is 15 cents monthly.

This reporter spent a few pleasant hours during vacation in compiling a list of the musical activities on the Willamette campus which he submitted to "Musart." Included were paragraphs on the Distinguished Artist concert series, the choir, the band, the Willamette trio, composed of Miss Stanek, Mr. Butler and Dr. Gates, a bit on Freshman Glee, and a few personal observations.

Singin' Strings

Can't let Yehudi Menuhin's concert go by without some mention. His concert was a success on all counts with the house nearly full, the audience very enthusiastic and the artist in top form. Highlight of the concert for me was the Beethoven "Kreutzer" sonata where Mr. Menuhin's superlative accompanist Adolph Baller really joined in. Menuhin even managed to pump a little badly needed plasma in to the Mendelssohn concerto. Don't know why small town audiences are made to listen to this concerto again and again. Sure, it's a melodic and beautifully balanced work, but it's played much too often. The Bartok Menuhin played was very interesting and Paganini's "I Palpit" was a good program closer even if it did sound like a stripped-down, souped-up version of the D major concerto.

Following the concert a reception was held for Mr. Menuhin and Baller at the Beta house similar to that given for Mme. Sayao. These receptions are nice arrangements. They give the artist a chance to see a part of his audience, and the audience a chance to see a part of the artist.

And Lesser Lines

"He sat in complete apathy blending naturally with his surroundings." This is a quotation from "Lesser Lines" which I think best describes the attitude of (some of) those who saw it.

"Lesser Lines" was difficult to stage, interpret, and understand. The first two difficulties were managed admirably by the director and his cast and crew. But the latter difficulty evidently did not present a sufficient challenge to those who saw it. If the reasons for this apathy were apparent we could categorize them, but they are not. All I can say is that "Lesser Lines" was manifestly WORTH forty-five minutes of undivided attention.

National Officer Visits Mu Phi

Eleanor Hale Wilson, national first vice president of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority, paid a visit to the local chapter here yesterday. The purpose of her visit was to inspect the chapter. A model pledging ceremony, an initiation ceremony, and a musical program by the members of the sorority were put on for her.

During the initiation ceremony, three pledges of Mu Phi were initiated into the sorority. They were Jane Gray, Portland, Donna Jenkins, Salem, and Sheila Schuerman, Portland.

Officers of the chapter are: President, Gladys Blue, Salem; vice-president, Gay Simons, Burlington, Wash.; recording secretary, Jodelle Parker, Salem; corresponding secretary, Virginia Benner, Salem; treasurer, Bev Gustafson, Salem; and warden, Harriet Aller, Yakima, Wash. Clorinda Topping is the faculty advisor for the chapter.

Forensics Squad Faces Two Contests in January

The Willamette university forensics squad begins its 1951-1952 program of activities in earnest this week with two intercollegiate events scheduled for the near future. First is the annual Vanport Discussion Tournament to be held in Portland over a period of two days, January 14 and 15.

Willamette's panel of three speakers is composed of Tom

Scheidel, Elliott Motschenbacher and Earl Atkinson who will join speakers of a large number of Pacific Northwest schools in addressing a variety of Portland high school and civic audiences on the topic "What should be the terms of a peace which would end the cold war?"

Jim Wood will serve on the board of presiding chairmen for this event. The four men are slated to address the Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce on this topic later in January.

On Friday, January 18, Jean Kyle and Tom Scheidel will take part in the annual Intercollegiate Forensic Association of Oregon's After-Dinner Speaking Contest on the campus of George Fox college in Newberg. Miss Kyle will speak on a selected aspect of the women's division theme "Twentieth Century Chivalry" and Scheidel will talk on the Men's Division subject "American Travelogue."

Warden Featured At FTA Meeting

Warden O'Malley, new reform advocating warden at the Oregon State prison, was the guest speaker at the Willamette Future Teachers' meeting Wednesday evening. The warden spoke on his new educational program at the prison and the public school teachers' responsibility in preventing crime.

Soc Seniors Help Conduct Health Survey

Senior seminar students in sociology are aiding the Marion County Health Council in conducting a survey of Marion County health needs and services.

Under the direction of Dr. John A. Rademaker, chairman of the sociology department, students have prepared the survey, fielded the preliminary questionnaire, and are now ready to instruct volunteer field workers in survey procedure.

One out of ten of the 32,000 households of Marion County will be asked to cooperate by answering the questions on the survey schedule. These households will be selected carefully in order to make sure that they will reflect accurately the views and experiences of all the people of the county. All information is to be strictly confidential, and will be used only to secure totals and averages and percentage figures.

Church Wants Suggestions For Better College Relations

A committee of Conference members and representatives of Willamette university was set up at the last session of the Oregon Annual Methodist Conference to determine ways and means of bringing about a closer cooperation between the Conference and the university.

Linfield Cagers Next Rival For Mighty Bearcat Crew

Riding high after a successful three game sweep of their Eastern road trip, Willamette's veteran Bearcat cage squad will take to the road once more, only this time the trip will be a short 25-mile jaunt to McMinnville where they tangle with the Linfield Wildcats tomorrow night in their only tilt this weekend.

Linfield also invaded the two Eastern schools in the conference at the same time coming out with two wins and one loss, giving Willamette an early season jump on their brother champions of last year. The Wildcats would like to bring the high flying Willamette crew down to their level in the standings tomorrow night.

Wildcats Improved

Like most of the other teams in the conference, Linfield seems to be an improved bunch over last year. Duo coaches Paul Durham and Roy Helser lost Donn Gassaway and Ole Johnson by graduation, but have the replacements to carry on in their stead. Meanwhile, back again for another year are regular starters Bill Anderson, all-conference guard, and his running mate Ad Rutschman, center. Ted McKee, and forward Jack Leonard.

The only hole really left to fill was left by the departure of Johnson and that has been plugged quite well by the great improvements by John Huggins and Grant Schiewe over last season. In other words, the Wildcats are going to be tougher than last year and could once more prove to be the barrier in Willamette's drive for a clear-cut championship.

With the return of Daryl Girod on the road trip, the Bearcats, coached by John Lewis, are now at full strength for the important Linfield clash. Should the Wildcats win tomorrow night, the two teams will be tied at three wins and one loss; if Willamette wins, the Bearcats will be far out in front of the rest of the league since their road trip is over. Willamette's sweep on the road was the first time they have accomplished the feat in five years.

Willamette's hopes of gaining their fourth consecutive conference victory in their first meeting with the Wildcats, who shared the championship with the Bearcats last year, were dimmed considerably with the report of Doug Logue, star center and leading scorer for the 'Cats, to the infirmary. It was first reported that Logue has the measles in which case he probably will not see action against Linfield. However, he may only have a toxic rash which will not keep him from playing.

Willamette's chances were further hurt with the report that Larry Smith, the other post man for the 'Cats, is suffering from the after effects of the shingles. The return of freshman guard Daryl Girod bolstered the squad on their road trip.

A victory tomorrow night is important for both squads. If Linfield wins, Willamette will be dropped to a tie with them. If Willamette wins, her stranglehold on first place will be strengthened and will make the 'Cats all the tougher for the other clubs to replace on the top rung. The Bearcat's three-game sweep on their Eastern trip was the first time they have accomplished the feat in five years.

'CATS COMPLETE SWEEP

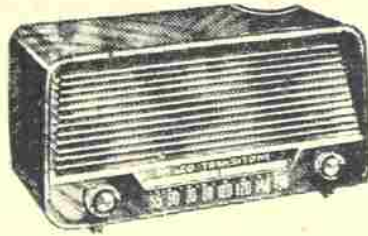

The powerful Bearcats made it a clean sweep on their much feared Eastern road trip as they squeaked past a surprising Whitman club 77-74. Dick Hoy broke a 74-all deadlock with a bucket with 30 seconds remaining. Leading scorers were, for Willamette: Doug Logue 20, Dick Mase 18, Ted Loder 17; for Whitman: Dick Fain 20, and Bud Kight 17.

Willamette's star-studded Bearcats shifted into high gear during the Christmas holidays, returning to the campus Tuesday with six victories out of seven starts during the vacation and first place in the Northwest conference following a three game sweep of their dreaded annual swing in the East against College of Idaho and Whitman.

When school disbanded for the holidays coach John Lewis and his fast breaking 'Cats were just finding themselves and had won their last four starts. They continued the win streak to six in a row with victories over Whitworth and CWCE on the home court. The skein was rudely broken by a slow-'em-down Pacific Lutheran outfit at Tacoma, but since then, the Bearcats have constructed a new one which has now reached four games with a win over CWCE at Ellensburg and the aforementioned sweep of C of I and Whitman.

The most important wins were of course the conference victories which included two over College of Idaho and one over surprising Whitman. Willamette now has the jump on the rest of the conference by virtue of the sweep and now assume more than ever the role of favorite to capture the conference crown. The summaries of the holiday games are listed below.

'CATS 81, WHITWORTH 76

The Bearcats started the vacation out in fine fashion with a close 81-76 victory over powerful Whitworth on the local court Friday, December 21. Doug Logue poured in 19 points for Willamette, but the Pirate's stellar guard Jim Doherty scored 23 to take high point honors for the game. Willamette led by a slim 39-37 margin at halftime.

WILLAMETTE WINS SIXTH

John Lewis' fast breaking Bearcats ran their win streak to six consecutive games by downing Central Washington 60-54 on the next night on the local court. Willamette came from behind in the second half, overcoming a 31-27 CWCE halftime advantage. Ken Teller, transfer from Wyoming, led all the point-getters with 19 while the lanky Logue again topped the 'Cat scoring column with 17.

PLC ENDS SKIEN

The Jason win streak was stopped at six games as Pacific Lutheran toppled them 49-37 at Tacoma December 28. A slow-'em-down game was played by the Lutes which completely baffled the Bearcats. Also, this was the first and only loss handed Willamette by an Evergreen conference team. Senior guard Lou Scrivens led WU with 10 counters while Lund and Brown collected 13 and 10 points respectively for PLC.

CWCE TOPPED AGAIN

The Bearcats journeyed on up North where they beat Central Washington of Ellensburg in a return match 57-47. The game was played at Moses Lake, Washington and marked the fifth win against Evergreen conference competition against only one loss.

WILLAMETTE 48, C OF I 31

A College of Idaho slow-break offense failed to halt the fast-moving Bearcats as John Lewis' crew came out with a 48-31 victory in their first conference test of the season at Caldwell, Idaho, last Friday. Lou Scrivens starred in this one by successfully checking the Coyotes high scoring Dick Speiss and leading the 'Cat scorers with 12.

BEARCATS 67, COYOTES 37

Ted Loder and Doug Logue led the squad to a convincing 67-37 victory on the second night at Caldwell as the Bearcats made an amazing 51 per cent of their shots from the field that night. Loder and Logue each canned 15 points to lead the 'Cats. The game, a rough one, saw four College of Idaho players leave the game on personal fouls.
