

WU Navy Men Stay on Campus

195-Man Unit Will Arrive July 1, Department Bulletin Declares

Word was received from the navy department this week that the full unit of 195 men will be on the campus to start training July 1 and that Willamette students now enlisted in the V-1 and the V-7 programs will definitely continue their work here.

According to Dr. G. Herbert Smith, there had been no definite announcement as to when the full number would be assigned to Willamette. Soon after the news came that the school had been selected as a part of the training program, a statement was issued by the navy that men in the V-1 and V-7 might be allowed to finish their work here next year.

Length of time that they will be at Willamette will be determined by the number of semesters completed by July 1. Students who have completed six or seven semesters will be given an additional one. Those with four or five will have two, with two or three will have three and first semester students will receive four more of training before call to active service.

Part of the 195 men will be made up of advance transfer students from colleges that do not have navy training units. Recent high school graduates enrolled in the V-12 program will number about 40 or 50 of the total. All three groups will attend school in uniform and will be under military discipline.

Tie for Prize; Revote Slated

Revote on the Joseph T. Albert prize between Nadene Matthews and Peter Faminow who tied in this week's student election for the annual honor award will probably be held next Wednesday, according to Dean C. F. Luther. Results of the other elections also held this week will be announced later, he added.

Finalists are yet to be chosen for the Collins' scholarship. Of the 12 persons receiving the highest number of votes the faculty will select two men and two women from the present sophomore class as winners of the scholarships provided by the fund.

Psis Choose Schaad Prexy

Ben Schaad, baseball letterman and Blue Key member, was elected president of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity in house election held Wednesday night. First vice-president for the coming year is Dave Demeter. Millard Leslie was chosen as second vice-president. Fred Bradshaw will be the new secretary.

WU To Note Music Week

Willamette's a cappella choir will join with other choruses of the city in presenting at 4 Sunday afternoon in the First Methodist church, the first in the series of musical programs scheduled for Salem's celebration of National Music week. Concerts by the University symphony orchestra and Bennett Ludden, piano instructor, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings in Waller hall have also been scheduled in conjunction with the observance of the annual celebration.

The choir will appear in three numbers in Sunday's program and will join with other participating choirs in a final selection, "Gallia," a motet for mixed voices by Charles Gounod, which will be sung under the direction

Classes Halted On May Fete's First Day

Newest development in plans for the annual May Weekend celebration May 7 to 9 was manager Mark Hatfield's announcement this week that classes will be dismissed on Friday morning to allow for an all-campus clean-up climaxed by a student body picnic and afternoon of informal entertainment.

In endorsing the campus holiday Pres. G. Herbert Smith emphasized the fact that similar clean-up days in future years depend upon 100 percent participation in the present situation.

Lunches will be prepared under the direction of managers of the separate living organizations and Lorena Jack, Lausanne hall director, in cooperation with Pat Tracy, food committee head. Students are asked to bring individual lunches, ice cream and coke be furnished by the student body. The picnic will follow a student chapel program presented by Kappa Gamma Rho at 11:30.

Second Alum Paper Due

The second issue of the newly established Willamette Alumnus which is similar in format to the Collegian, will be out early next week. This number will feature the navy program, commencement, the $50,000 war fund, May Weekend, the announcement of Dr. Robert Gatke's "Chronicles of Willamette" to be published next month, and numerous alumni personal items.

The first issue of the Alumnus, published early in the year, was for the purpose of reacquainting the alumni with the Willamette campus. This second issue is intended to contain chiefly current news.

Approximately 2500 copies of the Willamette Alumnus will be printed and sent to the regular mailing list by the Alumni office under the direction of Mrs. Murdock. A second-class mailing permit has been granted by the post office.

of Dean Melvin H. Geist. Although the concert, like all programs arranged for the week, is open to the public without a charge, a free will offering will be taken for the benefit of the Clara Eness Memorial Loan fund.

Feature of the University symphony orchestra spring concert at 8:15 Tuesday evening in Waller hall will be an original composition "No. 2 from Cameos for Orchestra" written by Prof. Lewis Pankaskie, orchestra director, and instructor of instrumental music. The score, which was composed in March, is still in manuscript form and is one of a group of these numbers. The others in the collection are not as yet ready for presentation.

Rear-Admiral Ross T. McIntire, WU '12, personal physician to President Roosevelt and surgeon general of the navy, was announced this week as the main speaker for the 1943 commencement ceremonies, May 30.

McIntire Booked For Grad Speech

Admiral Ross T. McIntire and Dr. William Wallace Youngson will be speakers at commencement exercises to be held May 30, it was announced this week. Combined with the graduation ceremony will be the inauguration of Dr. G. Herbert Smith as president of Willamette university.

The baccalaureate service will be held in First Methodist church with Dr. Youngson delivering the sermon. It is scheduled to start at 10:30 a. m.

State Church To Aid Fund

Willamette university as a part of the national church program of school support has been authorized by the Oregon Conference of the Methodist church to go to the churches of Oregon for a free will offering Sunday, May 16. The proceeds of the offering will be used to augment the Centennial War fund of the university.

Religion and religious counseling on the campus and the program relating the school to the church will be emphasized. Willamette is one of the few schools that in recent years has not been directly supported by the conference. A recommendation was made to the conference that during the June meeting an appropriation of $2500 of the groups funds be given to the campaign.

which is composed of 30 students and several service men guest members, will be Warren Downs and Melvin Gilson, both freshmen at Willamette. Downs will play Vivaldi's "Concerto in D Major for Cello" with orchestra accompaniment. The solo parts in "Lucio Silla," a selection from Mozart's "Divertimento," will be played by Oboist Gilson. Maurice Brennan, former member of the music faculty and now a member of the orchestra, will be guest conductor for the last number on the program which will also include compositions by Wagner, Schubert and Gluck.

Among the numbers to be included in Bennett Ludden's recital on Thursday evening at 8:15 in Waller hall is "Szekely Folk" (Continued on Page 8)

Cap and Gown Selects Five New Members

Mary Jean Huston, Jan Johnson, Margaret Pemberton, Bettie Ellen Payne and Eleanor Todd were announced this week as members of Cap and Gown for the 1943-44 school year. They will be formally pledged Tuesday at the organization's annual chapel. Present members who elected the new pledges are Betty Sackett, Jean Jackson, Miriam Jensen, Elvy Fredrickson and Zoe Fretz.

Cap and Gown is a senior women's honorary in which eligibility is based on scholarship, activities, character and christian ideals, leadership and service on the campus. Women pledged must have maintained a scholarship grade point average of 3 or higher, be a four year Willamette student and be in sixth semester at the time of the election. Patterned after Mortar Board, national senior women's honorary, the group hopes to obtain membership in that body after the war.

Miss Pemberton is the newly elected editor of the Willamette and served as president of the Vespers group this year. She is a member of the Willamette Methodist Student Council and YW. Miss Payne is also a member of YW and has served on the cabinet for two years.

Two sorority presidents, Eleanor Todd of Delta Phi and Mary Jean Huston of Beta Chi, are included in the five members-elect. Miss Todd holds the Collins scholarship, has worked on the Willamette staff, and been active in campus affairs. She is serving on the 1943 May Weekend committee. Miss Huston is an education major and was this year's prom queen. Miss Johnson is also a member of Beta Chi and has been active in publications work.

Frat Housing Investigated

Completion of an investigation of possibilities of using WU fraternity houses to quarter university women was announced today by a three-member faculty committee.

The committee report made to President G. Herbert Smith, emphasized the amount of remodeling which would be needed, the number of girls which could be successfully housed and the expense of upkeep of the fraternity houses.

Johnny Gets Kiss-Off

Real life drama came to the Collegian feature page this week as the long series of letters to Dear Private Johnny abruptly ended with the terse comment, "I guess I better not write to you any more on account of I'm getting married Sunday—to somebody else."

The journalistic showdown came as a prelude to the wedding Sunday of Ruth Matthews, Collegian feature editor who has anonymously written this column all year, to Hale Tabor, editor of last year's Collegian.

The morale of our armed forces is not endangered, however, for this particular Johnny has existed only on the pages of the Collegian, and the weekly summary of campus chatter will be missed much more by the readers than by the now heartbroken, but still fictitious soldier.

BX Chapel Today

The Beta Chi sorority will present its annual student chapel program, at the regular chapel time today, according to Mark Hatfield, director of student chapel activities.

College of Music . . .

Opening National Music Week Sunday will give the campus an opportunity to review the latest accomplishments and progress of Willamette's newest and fastest growing accredited branch, the College of Music. Acceptance of the college for national accrediting in January came as the culmination of years of much hard work and steady growth. The fact that the national acceptance makes WU one of only four on the coast and two in the northwest which are so recognized is sufficient proof that the school stands high in music circles. However, students and friends of Willamette need no such official proof. They have long been acquainted with the high quality of Willamette's musical products.

The a cappella choir, which opens WU's Music Week observance in concert Sunday, has long been one of Willamette's most important ambassadors of good will in the Northwest on their annual concert tours. The outstanding marching band of recent years and the newly-organized symphony orchestra have also helped make this campus famous for its musical ensembles. Vocal and instrumental soloists of the school, both past and present, have well illustrated that it does not lack in development of individual talent.

A great factor in the growing prominence of the school have been the recent gifts of valuable equipment and rare recorded and sheet music by the Carnegie Institute and benevolent friends of the university.

In view of all these things, it seemed merely a matter of course when at its last meeting the board of trustees authorized an expansion plan for the College of Music. Through the continued effort of Dean Melvin H. Geist and the college's increasing growth in size and prestige, Willamette is sure to see even greater things from its new College of Music.

Here's How

*It Ain't What You Do
It's the Way That You Do It*

By Cap and Gown Members

Flowers fit better into poetry than the kind of didactic stuff we're dishing out to you—but still, the etiquette of flowers has its place.

Fashions really change in posies, too. Who ever sends pansies for thought—or rosemary for remembrance, any more? And who wouldn't shudder with delight at the thought of the good old days when a corsage for a formal wasn't a corsage at all but two dozen roses—. "They were quite a burden," we've been told, "and when they began to wilt you laid them on a chair . . ."

Right now it is the fashion to have the very lightest and most individual of corsages. Some people can really make flower-giving an art—the man for instance, who moves heaven and high water to find out that his girl has a weakness for that fantastic bird-of-paradise flower, or who knows by instinct that she's just the type for a lacey nosegay at her wrist, or three yellow daisies in her hair. And pardon us if we preach, but the man who finds himself always the usher and never the . . . is the man who, in the best of conservative taste, invariably sends two large gardenias or three small gardenias unless by some chance he has the saving grace of having found out that that is exactly what she wanted.

Lots of things concerning corsages make or mar an evening, deny it who will! Pity the girl who doesn't get her flowers till her date sends them up when he calls. (Pity her date, too; he's just muffed his first strike.)

In short, the corsage-sender should consider first of all what the corsage-wearer would like. After all—she has to wear it, and "on her it is supposed to look good."

Trade Last

As voted by the senate because of the urgent need for trained women in war industries, coeds enrolled in specialized war training work will be given, as are the men, complete credit for the semester if their work is passing up to the time of their withdrawal.

To qualify for the plan, girls must take a three months training course that will fit them for specialized work in war industries, and after finishing they must do acceptable work for two months in a war industry. If they meet these tests their credit will be granted them.—Washington Evergreen.

Return of a Native . . . WU Style

(Editor's note: Stopping this week on the campus en route to Alaska to take over the Sitka Sentinel newspaper, Hale Tabor, editor of last year's Collegian, took the time out in the following article to note changes which have taken place on the campus during the last year since he left WU. The article fulfills a double assignment for Tabor, who was not only writing something for the campus sheet for old times' sake, but was helping his wife-to-be Ruth Matthews edit her last feature page for the Collegian.)

The old school hasn't changed—much!
Being an old grad of last spring we decided to wend our weary way back to the old alma mammy to see if she had changed from the days of yore when our old grey head was lustrous gold.

First thing we noticed was that some of the old familiar faces—friends who had spent years at WU as freshmen and sophs—were gone. No doubt the draft board caught the fellows breathing.

To cover the situation adequately we decided to tour the buildings. So away to the law school. But what's this? No law school . . . only the building. Wonder where the students and profs are . . . We'll look further.

Went to the library. Gosh, it's sure quiet—even in the newspaper room. Couldn't find any bull sessions and there was even an available typewriter. Looked like there was a class in the seminar room so we didn't go in.

Still can't find the law school . . .
Things looked the same in the gym except that there were a lot of fellows taking exercises and stuff. And who should be directing but "Slave Driver" Demeter?

Some things are ageless; some things never change. Retracing our steps we ducked off the walk just in time as Dr. Monk whizzed by on his faithful bike. You'd think that thing would wear out sometime, wouldn't you?

Wonder what happened to the law school? . . .

Dear PRIVATE JOHNNY

DARLING:

Really I find it very hard to concentrate on my letter with the house open like this, I mean, the Willamette house. Just now I was in the Cavern where Ray Short and Carol Clark were entertaining the customers vocally and guitar-ily. Carol is a neat addition to Short's stuff, by the way. And Jan Johnson was serving up delicious confections in her own little way—I mean with the help of ice cream and sundae toppings.

People turned out real well, too. Dr. Downs was over to check up on his son's science exhibits and Prof. and Mrs. Clark were over to check up on Carol. Dick Stacer had shoes and everything on, like a real dude. Bob Simmons also staggered in. Beryl Seacat dropped by; looking quite well is Beryl. That wooden leg doesn't seem to bother her at all.

The library looked like a bloomin' hothouse after Dr. Kohler and "Butch" decorated. Either claims "you can call me Flower if you want to." Oh yes, I have a follow-up on the ice cream cone menace. I have it straight from the culprits—that's my room-mates!—that cone imbibers are denied entrance to the library. The crunch bothers the librarians like fingernails on a blackboard. Make mine vanilla.

Then too, I can identify voices, and it was when Jeanette was yelling at George Luthey that I remembered that it was he who went home the other day to tell his mother that it was a good thing she'd named him George because that's what everyone called him at school.

The baseball boys put one over on Spec Monday night. When they came back from their cleaning of Oregon State they found Schneider's closed so they dropped into a snack at the Spa, signing the check. By the way, there's the best Linda Keene recording at the Spa. Plug.

The Willamette prospective apprentice seamen are looking forward to Lausanne residence with great glee. Remarks heard on the track t'other day during physical fitness class ran something like this: "I've got my room all picked; it's just darling, and the duckiest little curtains and oh, my dresser scarves! Well!" Ah, the virile USNR.

May weekend's coming up and all Prof. Ringnald can talk about is the quaint donkey's head he's manufacturing for "Midsummer's Night Dream." He's becoming very attached to it, he claims, which probably means he got stuck in the paper mache.

Well, Johnny, it's been awfully nice knowing you this winter, but I guess I better not write to you any more on account of I'm getting married Sunday—to somebody else.

Sincerely,
WILLA

Everyone's heard about the "Cavern" but we were bowled over to find the Collegian office with a clean floor. Must be an outcome of the time when Ralph S. built a fire in the middle of the floor . . . we understand it ruined the "floor-filing system" of previous editors.

And upstairs someone still insists on playing "Onward Christian Soldiers" while the Cavern juke box gives out with "That Old Black Magic."

Do we still have a law school? . . .

Out in front of Collins is a cute little granite boulder . . . at least we'll think it's a granite until Prof. Clark tells us different . . . nice monument, but why? Inside the new "chem shack," still smells, but not as badly as last year . . . that is except for the chemistry laboratories. In the building we found that something new has been added: the USDA Food Distribution Administration processed foods inspection office and laboratory . . . and a sign calling for junior professional assistants with a red pencilled circle around the phrase "Women Wanted."

But we can't find the law school! . . .

So we went to the music school . . . There we found Dean Geist and Prof. Pankaskie plotting a musical chapel program and passing the buck back and forth as to which should be master of ceremonies.

But no law school . . .

That discouraged us so we went back to the library to read Li'l Abner. Teddy Ogdahl was busy with "Terry and the Pirates" though, so we went over to pass the time of day with the student librarian. As we chatted, trying to get her phone number without clubbing it from her, we heard a familiar voice . . . "Now that reminds me of the time when I was US marshal back in Wyoming . . ." and we knew we'd found the law school . . .

Sure enough, there was Dr. Lockenour presiding over a cozy little group in the seminar room . . . WU's duration law building.

Had us worried for a while, tho . . .

Open House Termed Success As Many See Campus Exhibits

In spite of the electrical storm, the inauguration of the new open house was well attended and very successful," Prof. J. W. C. Harper said following the event Tuesday night. Estimates of attendance indicated that over 300 persons visited the campus during the evening.

Guests registered in the library with members of Cap and Gown and Blue Key, and were given tags on which to write their names. Members of the faculty were present to meet parents and townspeople.

Dr. Robert Gatke unlocked the cases in the northwest history room and brought forth some of the treasures of WU's early history.

Prof. L. S. Sparks' moving pictures of the campus activities were shown in Chresto Cottage. Dr. H. E. Rahe, also in Chresto, explained his recording machine. Both of these exhibits found an interested audience.

Cavern Popular

The Cavern was termed a "very popular spot." All the parents and friends seemed anxious to visit the part of the campus where the students spend most of their time. Ray Short entertained as the singing troubador.

Reports given by those who sampled the novel Redwood punch, made from Redwood needles, indicated it was very drinkable, but that adjectives such as odd, bizarre, queer, funny, and pretty good had been attached to the new beverage.

The scientific experiments in the science hall had to place second to the electrical exhibit given by Mother Nature, but it was said that both did a bang up job.

Art Shown

Constance Fowler's art exhibit in Eaton was visited by a large audience. Students with examples of their artistic creations on display included Mary Ahenson, June Nickel, Pat Lamb, Jack Glasse, Barbara Viesko, Helen Thomas, Viola Jacobsen, Leroy Priem, David Foster, Dorothy Hoar, Don Stoudenmeyer, Marjorie Penman, Marjorie Reeves, Miriam Oakes, Bob Voigt and Reba Lehman. Prints and books of the old masters also were shown.

A concert was given in the music hall by Imogene Rock, Eunice Masse, Michael Carolan and Wilma Froman.

Visitors See Displays

Willamette visitors during Tuesday's open house were taken through the different departments of Collins hall and had the opportunity of not only inspecting the modern and up to date facilities of the science department but also of examining at close range several of the student projects on display.

Algae Extracted

Olivia Olson's display was based on the various processes involved in the extraction of agar from red algae (seaweed). The product is particularly important at the present since Japan has always had a monopoly on it. Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Tschudy did a great deal of research on extracting agar from seaweed last summer at Scripps' Institute at LaJolla, Calif.

In the microtechnical laboratory Beryl Seacat demonstrated the methods of killing, cutting and straining used in mounting specimen slides for study. Part of the display was a series of slides prepared by students for the occasion.

Plants Exhibited

As part of the biology and physiology department exhibit were human fetuses used by both departments in their study of the human embryo. The specimens ranged in stage of development from six weeks to seven months.

Aside from the quantity of pressed and mounted plant specimens, the Peck Herbarium included wild orchids from above Silver Creek falls and cluster of ginger blossoms collected in Salem.

Guests at Collins' open house were finally treated to Dorothy Tate's redwood punch, a concoction comprised of Vitamin C content of redwood needles plus sugar and citric acid.

Lt. C. C. Cunningham

Crash Kills Cunningham

Second Lt. Charles C. Cunningham was killed in a plane crash Monday. Lt. Cunningham was stationed with the army air corps at Harding Field, La. Colonel Koonitz, commander at Harding Field, sent the telegram to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cunningham of Salem, but no particulars of the crash were given.

Cunningham had attended Willamette for two years, leaving in his sophomore year when the company of national guards, of which he was a member, was mobilized. He was stationed at Fort Stevens before transferring to the air corps. He took his air corps training at Sheppard Field, Tex., and at Greenville, Miss. Lt. Cunningham received his wings only a few months ago.

Queen Harriett Monroe Found Related to Two US Presidents

Based on the family charts drawn up by Dr. S. B. Laughlin of the sociology department, it was discovered this week that May Queen Harriett Monroe is related to two former presidents of the United States.

Queen Harriett's great, great grandmother was first cousin of President Andrew Jackson while her grandfather was second cousin of President James Monroe. The Monroe family originally came from Scotland and after arriving in America settled in the southeast.

When questioned concerning her famous relatives, Queen Harriett replied, "It sounds like I'm trying to brag about my family, and I don't think it's important enough to put in the paper." She went on to say that her immediate family has not kept in touch

State Office Goes to Grad

Joseph Silver, a former student at Willamette university, was appointed head of the parole and probation staff for the state of Oregon by the board of parole April 1.

Silver, a sociology major under Dr. S. B. Laughlin, was graduated from Willamette in 1930. He then took advanced work at Haverford college near Philadelphia where he obtained his master's degree in sociology.

Corpse Castings Finish List For "Arsenic and Old Lace"

Every actor may have the ambition to play a dual role. "Arsenic and Old Lace," Willamette's May Weekend play, gives this chance to Bill Habernicht. To top it off, it is his first appearance on the stage. The catch is that Habernicht plays the part or parts of the corpses of Mr. Hoskins and Mr. Spenalzo.

He remains in the window seat on the stage except for two appearances. During the first act "Teddy Roosevelt" carries a body to the basement to be buried in a lock in the Panama Canal. The second time he is brought through the window, minus a leg, and spends the duration of the play in the same window seat.

Rehearsal observers, in commenting on the characters of the play intimate that Dale Gollhur will be a better Boris Karloff than Boris Karloff, that the sweet, murderous old ladies are cuter than if they were old ladies, that Leonard Steinbock will be very realistic as he chases Elaine (Lenore Meyers) about the stage, that Bob Simmons as Teddy has a voice loud enough to wake the corpses in the window seat.

The two old ladies, played by Lois Phillips and Edna Mae Hopper, are overly hospitable to old gentlemen, feeling it a great charity to help them in gaining peaceful rest. They do so by administering poison in elderberry wine. Gollhur plays the part of the insane Jonathan Brewster who as a child cut worms in two ... with his teeth.

The complete cast, as announced by Mrs. Margaret Ringnald, drama coach, includes Abbey Brewster, Lois Phillips; Rev. Dr. Harper, Bob Ratcliffe; Teddy Brewster, Bob Simmons; Officer Brophy, Ed Hughell; Officer Klein, Loren Winterschied; Martha Brewster, Edna Mae Hopper; Elaine Harper, Lenore Myers; Mortimer Brewster, Leonard Steinbock; Mr. Gibbs, Leroy Long; Jonathan Brewster, Dale Gollhur; Dr. Einstein, Charles Lovell; Officer O'Hara, Corydon Blodgett; Lt. Rooney, Bob Weaver; Mr. Witherspoon, Marion Crews; corpses, Bill Habernicht.

Lovell Opens New Series

Dr. Ivan Lovell will discuss reconstruction after the war with members of Vespers Sunday.

The talk will mark the first of a series of services which will emphasize the four ideals of faith, industry, wisdom and love carried out in candlelight installation service held last Sunday summed their positions.

New officers include Jean Fries, president, Ella Rose Mason, vice-president, Gloria Wunsch, secretary, and Sam Witzel, treasurer. Margaret Pemberton is the retiring president.

Prexies See Reno Meet

John Macy, Willamette student body president elect and Bob Hamilton, present ASWU head, arrived in Reno, Nev. Thursday as representatives to the Pacific Student Presidents association meeting there from Thursday through Saturday.

The pair, who left Salem Tuesday, are discussing student government problems with officers from colleges and universities throughout British Columbia, Mexico and the Pacific coast of the United States.

Hamilton is scheduled to lead a discussion of campus publications during the convention.

Musicians Name Livesay

Mary Margaret Livesay was named this week to head the local Mu Phi Epsilon chapter for the 1943-44 school year. She replaces Jean Jackson as president of the music honorary. Only officer re-elected was Ruth Giest, as treasurer.

Other executives chosen were Freda Bucureneh, vice-president; Yvonne Moeze, recording secretary; Marcia Fry, corresponding secretary; Eunice Massee, warden; Jean Carkin, chorister; Gladys Carkin, pianist. Retiring officers include Helen MacHirron, vice-president; Mary Margaret Livesay, recording secretary; Virginia Knight, corresponding secretary; Carolyn Brown, warden; Gale Findley, chorister.

Activities for the chapter this year included the establishment of the Clara Eness Memorial Fund, several student concerts and Sunday afternoon, Carnegie concerts for service men.

Laughlin Gets Book Prize

Mary Laughlin was awarded first prize in the 1943 recreational reading contest and the committee to supervise next year's contest was announced in the annual library chapel Tuesday. Eleanor Stevens, state librarian, was speaker. Robinson Spencer, Willamette librarian, was in charge of the chapel.

Miss Laughlin, second place winner last year, received $10 for winning first prize and Lillian Oliver received $7 as second prize. The special freshman award of $7 went to Allan Voigt.

Richard Wicks, Mary Laughlin and Betty Adkins are on the committee that will plan next year's contest. Wicks will act as chairman. On the committee for 1942-43 were Pat Short, chairman, Bob Albert, Dix Moser and Luella Ibach. Selection of the books on the approved list is made by the committee. Prizes are donated by Mr. Spencer.

Sororities Have May Weekend Plans

The treadmill of preparations for the coming May weekend is in motion for the sororities. May morning breakfasts, banquets, plans for attending the play, clean-up and all the affairs that are tradition with May weekend are being planned by them.

At the Delta Phi house the plans for a banquet are under the supervision of Louise Wrisley. Assisting her are Shirlee Morgan, Kay Wilson, Vicky Jones, Hazel Hoffmaster, Margie Penman, Virginia Irwin and Joyce McClendon. Bette Burkhardt is in charge of the entertainment and program for the dinner. Helping her are Miriam Ferrin and Bonnie Dickson. Others working on various committees are Shirlee Morgan, Phyllis Haight, Margie Noll and Jane Findley. Helen Zimmerman is general chairman of the events for the weekend.

Beta Chi

A May morning breakfast is the big event scheduled on the calendar for the Beta Chi members. Ruth Finney is general head of the committees. Serving on committees are Emma Lou East, Jean Gibbons, Miriam Oakes, Mary McKay, Marge Maulding, Myra Madsen, Pat Tracy, Janet Woods, Pollyanna Shinkle, Betty Andrews, Louise Cutler, Mary Laughlin, Lois Butler, Jan Johnson, Marge Hill, Mary Anne Owen, Betty Jeanne Smith, Jean Webb-Bowen, Jean Wing, Vesta Shinn, Rosella Bell, Ruth Doerr, Joyce Harper, Pat Lamb, Myrtle Meier, Mabel Fox, Alice Jones, Susanna Schramm, Dorothy Koshmider, Sybil Spears, Nancy Stricklin, Olene Mehlhoff and Margaret Bellinger.

Alpha Phi Alpha

A buffet supper and a dinner Saturday are keeping the Alpha Phi Alphas busy. Committees on the buffet supper are, decorations; Margaret Wallin, Betty Brock and Jean Selden; menus, Ruth White, Imogene Rock and Thyra Jean Currey; entertainment, Betty Weinert and Jean Alice Carlin; clean-up, Olive Torbet, Phyllis Neal, Pat Carter, Marion McMillan and Margaret Hoover. Serving on committees for the dinner Saturday are, decorations, Olivia Olson, Betty Jean Tucker, Shirley Blackman, Laura Jean Bates, Donnabelle Savage and Dorothy Kenney; clean-up, Janrose Blake, Corine Carpenter, Shirley McCollum, Grace Hannigan, Peggy Hurd, Mary Anne Lowe and Maxine Wagner.

Netz and Nunn Announce Date

Announcements received this week revealed the news of the wedding date of Delores Netz and Warne H. Nunn. Plans are being made for a ceremony to be held Sunday, May 9, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the Christ Lutheran church in Salem.

Both were popular members on the campus. Miss Netz graduated last year with a biology major and was a member of Delta Phi.

Mr. Nunn graduated in the class of '41 and was affiliated with Alpha Psi Delta fraternity. He is now serving in the army.

Sigs Have Monte Carlo "Club 920"

Monte Carlo will find its way to 920 Oak Street Friday night in the form of the Sigma Tau annual spring semi-formal party. The doors of "Club 920" will open at 8:30 p.m. Feminine guests will receive corsages at the door which will carry out the theme of the evening and all will find entertainment trying their luck at Black Jack, Roulette, Chuck-a-Luck and Craps. There will be dancing on the lower floor and punch will be served over the bar.

Those serving on committees are Bob Ratcliffe, chairman, Ted Jones, Gordon Kunkle, Larry Wills, Lloyd Griffiths, John Copenhaver, Verne Summers, Wayne Rose, "Doc" Fatland and David Finney.

Faculty members of Sigma Tau and their wives will be patrons and patronesses. They are Prof. and Mrs. Murco Ripgnalda, Prof. and Mrs. Maurice Brennen, Dean and Mrs. Daniel Shultze, Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Gatke, Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Oliver and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth McLeod.

Military Ceremony Saturday

A 4:30 o'clock ceremony last Saturday afternoon united Charlotte Ellingsworth and Lt. Vahe Aslanian. The military service was held in the Episcopal chapel at Camp Adair.

The bride wore a white satin gown and a seed pearl tiara held her fingertip veil in place. A shower bouquet of baby orchids, bouvardia and lilies of the valley went well with the formal lace bride's gloves.

Louise Moore and Caroline Doby were her attendants and wore gowns of taffeta and net with matching mitts. Sweet peas made up their headdresses and they carried nosegays.

Mrs. Vahe Aslanian attended the Liberal Arts college at Willamette and graduated into the Law school where she has studied for the past two years.

Lt. Aslanian comes from Boston.

Bride Has Formal Ceremony

Ruth Burgoyne became the bride of Pat White in a double ring ceremony which took place at 4 o'clock Sunday in the afternoon at the Asbury Methodist church of Hood River. Rev. William S. Burgoyne, the bride's father, read the ceremony and Lester Burgoyne, uncle of the bride, gave her away. Easter lilies and greens decorated the church and white candles flanked the altar. Along the aisle were bouquets of spring flowers.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a lace yoke and a lace Peter Pan collar. The fingertip veil was held by a coronet of seed pearls which went beautifully with the formal train on the gown. Dorothy White, sister of the groom and maid of honor, wore old rose organdy made with a low waist, short puff sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. The bridesmaids, Betty Provoost and Donnabelle Savage of Salem, Wilma Johns of Hood River and Mrs. Victor Payne of Portland, wore pink, green, blue and yellow organdy. They carried baskets of carnations, Cecil Brunner roses and sweet peas. The bride carried a white Bible and lilies of the valley.

Clint Cameron stood for Mr. White as best man and the head usher was Ken Johnson. Other ushers were Bill Hanauaska, John Macy and Anthony Fraiolo. John Craig, jr., was the ringbearer. Jean Kohagen sang two numbers before the ceremony.

After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The three tiered wedding cake had a miniature bride and groom on the top. Ice cream was served with the cake.

Nuptials to Be Sunday; Shower Honors Bride

Tuesday night at 10:30 Ruth Matthews entered the Delta Phi chapter house to find her friends gathered for a surprise shower in honor of her approaching marriage this Sunday.

An apple crate decorated with signs "Sitka or Bust" and other appropriate messages was filled with gifts for the bride-to-be. Refreshments consisting of root beer floats were served. Eleanor Todd, Kay Wilson, and Mrs. June Diamond Haight were the hostesses of the affair. In addition to the members in the house special guests bidden to attend were Zoe Fretz, Darlene Dickson, Margaret Ewing, Sally McClelland, Carol Young, Mrs. Frank James, Mrs. Carrie Snead and Mary Nims.

The wedding ceremony of Miss Matthews and Hale Tabor will take place in the Delta Phi house. Dean Daniel H. Schulze will solemnize the ceremony. The bride's attendant will be Eleanor Todd and Donald N. Matthews, the bride's father, will give her away. Dix Moser will be the best man.

The reception will be held in the dining room immediately following the service. Mrs. James and Mrs. Daniel Schulze will pour and Mrs. Haight will be in charge of the guest book. Assisting at the tea table by serving will be Kathryn Wilson, Dorothy Estes, Miriam Ferrin, Bette Burkhardt, Jean Fries, Zoe

Miss Wirth Announces At Shower for Cameron

Betty Wirth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wirth of Salem, revealed her engagement to Russell Beardsley Tuesday evening at a shower given by Miss Wirth in honor of Jane Cameron, bride-elect of Cadet Donald Nagle. Mr. Beardsley is the leave Salem May 1 for the east. The marriage will take place in the Dwight chapel of Yale university.

Present to hear the news of Miss Wirth's engagement and to honor Miss Cameron were Mrs. David Cameron, Nancy Stricklin, Dorothy Engel, Sybil Spears, Mary Jean Huston, Lois Phillips, Susanna Schramm, Ruth Finney, Jan Johnson, Mrs. G. Vinton Ellis, Mrs. George LaVatta, Mrs. Victor Collins, Carol Young, Sally McClelland, Dorothy Koschmider, Pat Ryan, Stella McKay, Betty Cooper, Loraine Taylor, and Mrs. Ralph Wirth, son of Mrs. Olive M. Beardsley of Salem and Harry J. Beardsley of Klamath Falls.

The betrothal was announced when Miss Cameron opened the seventh package which contained a poem telling the engagement of Miss Wirth. The bride-elect is a graduate of Salem schools and attended Willamette university. She was a member of Delta Phi sorority, and is now associated with the state engineer's office.

Mr. Beardsley attended Salem schools, Willamette, and is now a senior at Oregon State college.

At a tea given Sunday at her home Miss Cameron announced her wedding date as May 11. Miss Cameron will

On Behalf of the Visiting Firemen

By Puck

It's only a matter of 31 days or so, until this school year is over and as yet no one has devoted his entire time, any specific length of it, that is, to honor the decreasing males of the campus.

There's no doubt that next year women will be quite prevalent in these particular whereabouts . . . and their theme . . . "We've got gobs of love for the navy" . . . as long as they're around.

Of the theater we raise a toast to Dale Orin Gollihur who caused a mild sensation the first day he wore his blue plaid shoe strings that match the blue of his turtle-neck sweater. And Gollihur of the aqua-fame, a two yard dash to the end of the diving board, a baby jump, knees to the left, right, swish, swish, and then a nonchalant, casual . . . shall we say "flop" . . . no, we mushn't . . . into the rippling waters. Beautifully done and in marine trunks, too.

From the land of the athletes there's Freddie Bradshaw in a soft, luscious canary yellow sweater that sets off his black, black hair and his blue, blue eyes and makes him look oh, so sweet!

What's there to talk about now that there's no Mister Toolson?

Now that we've covered a few things we'll under-look it and see what's there. Wally Olson has a hit number. The basis for his entire outfit. Over it he wears a brown sport jacket with a red stripe . . . wide check. His trousers are of a yellow-gray cord with fine pencil-like marking. And that pre-mentioned foundation garment . . . a white T-shirt.

The little man who's always there, Bill Habernicht, whom we now call Rig . . . short for rigor mortis, becuz of his sensational portrayal of the "stiff" in Lavendar and Old Arsenic . . . or Lace . . . wears on his third finger left hand a huge, well, a pretty huge, onyx from Italy set in yellow gold . . . but Hab won't tell.

Oh, oh . . . I'll be back later, but right now . . . there goes a man!

SPORT SCRIPTS

By Ted Ogdahl (pinch-hitting for JWO)

Another ersatz writer, but bear up, Wally returns next week with the news. I wandered down to Corvallis Monday afternoon to see Betty Chortle, happily as big Smead Jolly Hanuska struck out 13. The boys, Cameron, Baird and Ercolini did right well too, bringing in enough runs to edge the slow Beaver bats.

Ted Ogdahl

Saw and heard from: Dave Kelly, football, basketball star in town from Albion, Ida., waiting for the next class to St. Marys. It seems Albion is a normal school loaded with quail. Dave claims he got off on the wrong foot or rather leg, by telling one of the girls her stocking was wrinkled. She had on leg powder. Footballers Red Barbour and Ralph Rude are about to go to Basic flying school which will be the last leg on their flight preparation for Mr. Tojo. Both are wild about flying and have shown their ability and effort by leaving 75% of their class to transfer elsewhere. Earl Toolson, Louisville property of the Red Sox Chain is doing himself up proud down South as shown by this excerpt from a Louisville paper. "Manager Bill Burwell was well pleased with the rise of Master Earl Toolson, the Willamette comet, in his 4 inning one hit performance against Fort Knox." He will also be on hand for the big Kentucky Derby to be run next month. (Louisville is in Kentucky.)

Keene Plays for Rubes

On the softball diamond, the mentor R. S. Keene now holds down first base for the Rubes. Some of you first basemen should take a few lessons from the old master. Of course someone might ask him how his golf game went when he and Dick Wicks toured the greens last week.

Don't get bored here, 'cause as the fellow said when he caught his tail in the lawn mower: quote, It won't be long now, unquote.

Missed by the track team next Friday up at Portland will be John Macy, consistent point gatherer. John, as you will recall, is making a presidential tour with incumbent Bob Hamilton. The general problem is to find enough cars for the ball players. On the other hand, we have Les Sparks trying to find enough trackmen to fill the cars. Like Les says, with John gone he can take the wife and the whole team can get in the sedan. There's no reason why some of the girls I've chased, or excuse me, seen running around aren't out. They've shown endurance and patriotism in all other fields. Don't get me wrong, I had no reference to Bush's pasture. Anyway it's a pasture and not a field.

Golf Shows Spirit

At this time I would like to make another little comment about golf. This is a game explicitly to go out and knock the cover off a little white spheroid. But with the development of our intramural loop here at Willamette, we see the essence of a real democracy. Friendly banter between students and pros, borrowing each others' clubs, repartee and what have you. You realize that Dr. Oliver isn't such a tough guy after all and that Dean Luther and Dr. Smith are going just as strong on the 18th as on the first and that maybe you are slipping just a little. Yes indeed, a great spirit which is certainly treated as such on our campus.

Dream Grid Team

As long as I am partisan, and have an interest in the sport at Willamette, I would like to write a few words about future football plans. Imagine a team composed of ends, Barbour, Ruder, Kelly, Goodman, Rude and Schmidt; tackles, Rogers, Barstad, Morley, Deiner and Ercolini; guards, Fitzgerald, Fraiola and Anderson; centers, White and Barrett; backs, Furno, Walden, Jacobson, Donovan, Burgess, Hardy, Owens, Hampton, Douglas, Connor, Weaver and Ogdahl, all of whom would be eligible after the war. It is Spec Keene's dream team and if all these boys return the drawing up of an eleven or twelve game schedule with such teams as Portland, Oregon State, Idaho, San Jose State, a big game in the south with either USC or Cal plus the regular conference games would be no dream. Such a schedule could be highly plausible and probable, and yours truly can't see these boys beaten very much.

Well, good luck in your orals, Wally, and I'll leave the excuse for this to you in next week's column.

Bearcats Meet Prison Greys Saturday; Schedule Re-juggled

Bad Weather Causes NW Conference Opener Change; Will Be Tuesday

Coach Spec Keene's constantly fluctuating baseball schedule due to bad weather conditions was still undergoing more changes this week. The Bearcats' fourth game with the state penitentiary nine is slated for this Saturday inside the prison walls.

The rain caused re-juggling of the Northwest conference opener, originally scheduled last Friday with Linfield for the Waters' park and then changed to Wednesday of this week, was again forced to another date and now the opener will be against Pacific university's green but improving team here next Tuesday. The game, which will be the second conference tilt for the Badgers who will have already played Linfield, will be a double-header affair in spacious Waters' park with either Hal McAbee or Ammon Adams on the mound.

And then, if it's OK with Jupe Pluvius, the Bearcats will play the howling Linfield Wildcats on Thursday afternoon on the McMinnville diamond. Merle Palmer or Don Ackley will probably take the hill.

Here the following Saturday, May day, the Bearcats will journey over to Forest Grove to become part of Pacific U's May-Weekend festivities when they take part in another double-bill with the Badgers.

May 1—State Penitentiary, there. (double-header.)
May 4—Pacific university, here (double-header.)
May 6—Linfield, there, (double-header.)
May 8—Pacific, there (double-header.)

'Mural Heads Revise Sked Second Time

Hindered by rainy weather, and a field that has taken on the appearance of a first-rate swimming pool, the intramural managers for the second time were forced to revise their schedule in hope that the games may all be completed before school ends.

Not knowing whether the weather was going to clear up, Olson and Hanuskaf have submitted a completely revised schedule which features two double headers both this week. The schedule is as follows:

- April 29 Sigs vs Kappas; Alpha Psis vs Rubes
- April 30 Sigs vs Kappas; Alpha Psis vs Rubes
- May 2 Sigs vs Rubes
- May 3 Psis vs Kappas; Rubes vs Sigs
- May 4 Rubes vs Kappas; Psis vs Sigs
- May 5 Psis vs Sigs; Rubes vs Kappas
- May 6 Psis vs Kappas
- May 9 Sigs vs Kappas
- May 10 Psis vs Rubes
- May 11 Make up games,
- May 12 and 13 Championship games

With only one game being played this past week, between the Rube and the Sigs, the standings changed only a little, as the Alpha Psis took a half game lead on the Rubes for the top position.

The Sigs coming from behind in their encounter last Monday completely surprised the highly touted Rubes handing them their first defeat 13 to 8. Behind the pitching of Williams, the Sigs came from behind in the closing innings to down the final scoring spree. This win kept the Sigs in their third place on the latter.

'Cat-Pilot Cindermen Meet Today

Willamette university's hard luck track squad under Coach Les Sparks leaves today for Portland where the Bearcats will take on the University of Portland Pilots in a dual meet, the first of the season for the Bearcats.

Three problems confronted Coach Sparks this week as preparations were being made for the meet. First, the weather, which has been bad all week and which has hampered workouts; second, transportation, a problem which loomed large at the first of the week when it looked like Sparks would have a full squad; and thirdly, track men to fill the acquired cars.

Greatly missed in Willamette's opening track meet will be John Macy, distance runner, who is attending the Pacific Coast student body presidents' meeting in Reno, Nev.

Among the track men making the Portland trip will be Ron Runyan, distance runner; Bill Byrd, sprint man; Bob Simmons, pole vault; Lynn Leigh, Gene Schmidt, George Russell, Andy Rogers and Bob Donovan.

The first round in the Willamette two-round golf tourney would ordinarily be over this week, but bad weather has caused postponement of some matches. The Alpha Psis, led by Captain Rich Wicks, are currently leading the newly-formed league with two wins to their credit against the Faculty and Kappa Gamma Rho despite bad weather conditions.

Today's match pits the Sigma Tau sextet against the Faculty and Monday the Sigs and Kappas get together for their postponed match which was scheduled for last Friday. Saturday morning will decide this week's match between the Kappas and the Faculty when Dr. Smith and Gil Lieser make up their last Wednesday match. Should President Smith be successful in defeating Lieser the result will be a tie match due to forfeiture by two of the faculty members.

The Alpha Psis, in keeping their slate clean, easily downed the Faculty Turf-diggers and Kappa Bags by comfortable margins.

Paced by Wicks, Bradshaw, Merriot, Kister and Schaad, the Psis beat the Faculty 5½ to ½. Again paced by Wicks, Merriot, Bradshaw, and then by Dick Stacer, the Kappas fell victims to the Psis 4½ to 1½.

Hanauska Sets Beavers Down As Keenemen Triumph 6-5

The Willamette Bearcats, behind the effective pro pitching of Bill Hanauska, ace Bearcat righthander, continued on their winning way Monday at Corvallis despite the tough competition furnished by the Oregon State Beavers and set the Orangemen back 6 to 5 in a closely fought ball game. Willamette's pair of diamond pros, Hanauska and Catcher Clinton Cameron, again teamed together to produce the second win over the state schools.

WU-381st Twilight

The postponed Willamette-381st Infantry baseball game was played too late Thursday to get in under the Collegian deadline and results had to be left out of this edition. The game was scheduled as a seven-inning twilighter Thursday following a meal at Camp Adair for the Bearcats.

'Cats Post 5-2 Victory Over Greys

Despite a week-long layoff, Spec Keene's Bearcats continued to win last Saturday when they bounced the Pen nine 5 to 2 in an 11-inning game, the second extra-inning game for Willamette this year.

It took three Bearcat pitchers, Bill Hanauska, Ammon Adams and Hal McAbee, to go the route and best the Greys while big Tom Ward, prison righthander, held Willamette to a 2-2 score for ten innings. The Bearcat chuckers however, held the Greys to five blows for the route while Ward allowed seven blows and only two runs for the first ten frames.

Don Hilton, Bud Larson and Clint Cameron in one-two-three order banged out successive singles in the 11th with Hilton scoring the first of three runs that inning on Cameron's hit. These three bingles, followed by an error and a fly ball, completed the scoring and the Keenemen had another win.

Cameron, in true professional fashion, stood up and smashed out four for four at the plate for a perfect afternoon. Cameron's smashing hit in the fourth also pushed across the first Bearcat run when his single to right field scored Larson.

Hits by Storm and Bailey in the second inning off Hanauska produced the first run for the Pen. Their other run came in the seventh off McAbee when a hit, a stolen base, a fly and an infield out scored Fuller.

O. S. P. 010 000 100 00-2 5 2

Hanauska was the winning pitcher a few weeks back over the University of Oregon when the Bearcats edged the Ducks 4-3 in an 11-inning affair. The tiff with the Beavers, however, only went the usual nine inning route with Woodburn Will allowing only five hits and fanning 15 to save himself some extra duty.

The Keenemen wasted no time in getting to Ralph Coleman's hard-hitting pitcher, Andy Frahler, in the first frame with Don Barnick and Art Baird greeting him with successive doubles and a run. The second inning also was nothing but trouble for Frahler as he gave two free passes followed by an error by Bill McClusky which set the stage for a two-run single by Art Baird who collected his second blow of the game.

With Hanauska setting them down regularly in nearly every inning it was the same for Frahler in the third as three Bearcats went down in one-two-three fashion. But the fourth was different for the Beavers as a walk to big Hank Ercolini, a single by Gordon Kunkle, a sacrifice by Hanauska and a fielder's choice which allowed Barnick to get on base proved to be what Don Hilton was waiting for as a clutch hit by the Molalla rookie sent across three more runs and the ball game for Willamette.

The Beavers' first score came in the third inning when Don Bower connected for a triple and came home on Hanauska's wild pitch. Two more Beaver runs crossed in the fourth with Ray Oberst getting on with a single, a walk to Elmer Weimer and a two-run single by Spike Johnson. Bill McClusky, heavy-hitting OSC shortstop, clouted one for the circuit in the fifth with a mate on base to wind up the Beaver scoring.

Two regular Beavers, Frank Roelandt and Bob Churchill who were in Portland on naval reserve business, missed the game as did Bearcat First Baseman Wes Saxton, who was in Seattle busy getting into V-5.

Lt. Bud Reynolds

Bud Reynolds Sent to Hawaii

Second Lt. Marion Edward "Bud" Reynolds, 26, USMC class of June, 1942, and former captain of the football team, has completed training in the United States marines.

Lieutenant Reynolds has just been graduated from Reserve Officers' school at Quantico, Va., Marine base, and has now been assigned to a combat unit in the Hawaiian Islands.

He is a member of Delta Theta Phi law fraternity, and of the 'W' club. He was captain of the football team during the fall of 1941, and also was on the golf team during his undergraduate days.

Reynolds took a pre-legal course at Willamette and had completed his freshman year in the Willamette law school.

WAA

By Catherine Rohrs

The members of WAA under the management of Alice Libby are now organized and have scheduled regular softball practices Monday through Thursday at 4 p.m. Practice games have been scheduled for the near future. Any girls interested in playing are invited to turn out for practices.

Those women who are at present turning out for practices are Reeva Schmidt, Betty Weinert, Mary Alice Bartholomew, Lois Lewis, Mary Acheson, Jane Findley, Ann Strother, Marian Fisher, LaVonne Bain, Margaret Hoover, Mary Bennett, Cathryn Rohrs, Phyllis Gueffroy, Thyra Jean Curry, Dorothea Graham, Virginia Routson and Alice Libby.

Members of the campus bicycle club leave this morning at 9 on their weekend trip to the American Youth hostel at New Era. The women will return Sunday. Although this trip consists of only women, future tours will include men students as well as faculty members.

WASHINGTON-(ACP)—Early announcements of the army and navy specialized training programs caused concern among small college administrators. They glumly foresaw the uniformed programs going to the big colleges and universities with lavish technical resources, expensive equipment and large housing facilities.

With nearly 500 schools now approved for war training contracts, this fear is rapidly disappearing. Slightly more than a third of the schools selected have a normal enrollment of less than 500 students.

Accounting Plan Revised

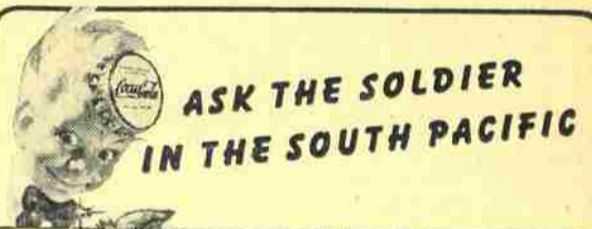

Bidding "goodbye" to the 1500-page, 75-pound ledger which records the history of the financial dealings between students and University for the past 20 years, Willamette will install a new system of bookkeeping with the opening of next semester.

The new system will feature paying of tuition in a lump sum of $100 and doing away with most fees. Under the previous record system, N. S. Savage, business secretary, was forced to keep track of every bit of money paid in by the students, no matter how small the sum.

Ludden will play other compositions by modern writers such as Bartok, Schoenberg, Debussy and Prokofiev, "showing the beauty of expression now found in our music which was considered expressionless several decades ago."

Prof. Pankaskie studied conducting under Dr. Eric Delamarter, associate conductor of the Chicago symphony and with Thor Johnson, conductor of the Mozart festival concerts in Boston. He had experience with high school and junior college orchestras before coming to WU last fall.

Ludden is a graduate of DePauw university and studied with Kodaly from September, 1938 to February, 1940. He accepted the position at Willamette in late winter, succeeding the late Clara Eness.

Three Plan Canada Class

Jay Oliver, Hollis Huston and Ray Short this week received notice of the acceptance of their applications for work scholarships to the six weeks study of the synoptic gospel taught each summer by Dr. Sharman, author of the text used in Prof. W. Herman Clark's course on Records of Jesus.

The course, which will begin the middle of July and will extend to the end of August, is an advanced class of "records" students and graduates with degrees and closely corresponds to the university course. Dr. Sharman has devoted the last 30 years of his life to an analytical and objective study of the records of Jesus' life.

The three Willamette students, who have all studied with Prof. Clark this year, are planning to make the trip via Boston and New York.

Summer Music Plans Made

Dean Melvin H. Geist reported this week that tentative plans are being considered for the organization of a band, orchestra or chorus for the summer semester, with the hope that many of the naval students will take part.

A belief that the navy men will turn to music classes to complete their schedule after registering for required subjects was expressed by Dean Geist. If there are not enough civilian students attending the summer session to organize a complete choir, attempts will be made to have an all male chorus which can be combined into an a cappella choir in the fall.

Music lessons will be open to the men and if theory classes are desired by a sufficient number they will also be taught.

On Land, in the Air, and on the Sea

MODERN DESIGN

Clyde Ellis, former Willamette law graduate, was recently commissioned in the US army as a major in the army engineers and assigned to the legal staff of the San Francisco headquarters of that service. Major Ellis has been practicing law for many years in Anchorage, Alaska.

Ensign Leland A. Shinn, Jr., of the navy supply corps stopped in Salem on his way to a new assignment in Bremerton, Wash. Shinn recently graduated as a member of a class of 300 young officers at the navy supply corps school at Harvard university. He was active in athletics while at Willamette.

Lt. William Phillips who has been stationed with the army at Camp Roberts, Cal., spent a day recently in Salem with his family. Lt. Phillips expects to be sent overseas soon. He is a member of Alpha Psi Delta.

From the Fort Knox armored division comes word of Dave Geddes. Dave is a member of the class of '45 and a member of Sigma Tau. He is taking special instructions there and seems to be enjoying Kentucky.

Tom Gabriel, former Willamette student, is seeing active duty with the army in New Guinea. Private Gabriel has lost 30 pounds and is a shadow of his former self. He is a member of Sigma Tau and served as vice-president while in school.

Aviation cadet Arnie Hardman was in Salem recently. He will next report to Corpus Christi, Tex., for three months training upon completion of which he will be an ensign in the navy air corps. He is a member of Sigma Tau.

Bill Hopper sends word from Kingsville, Tex., that within a few weeks with luck he will be a second lieutenant in the marine air corps. Bill is a member of Sigma Tau and attended Willamette his freshman year being with the class of '44.

Ensign Jerome A. Foley, after completing navy supply school at Harvard, has been sent to Jacksonville, Fla., to study aviation supply. This is the first aviation supply course of its kind and will be a month in length. Ensign Foley graduated from Willamette law school in 1942.

Cadet Cecil Quesseth is completing final stages of basic flying training in the army air corps school at Chico, Calif. Quesseth formerly attended Willamette law school and played varsity basketball. He is affiliated with Alpha Psi Delta.

Technical Sergeant Dayton Robertson having completed his first training at Denver, Colorado, is now stationed at Mobile, Ala. He is in the communication division. Robertson was ASWU president in 1940.

Second Lt. Robert McKown upon graduation from officer training school at Miami Beach, Fla., has reported for duty as a weather officer with the California group, ferrying division air transport command. At Willamette university Lt. McKown took a meteorology course. While attending Willamette McKown was first vice president of Alpha Psi Delta.

Lt. Gordon Wilson has been stationed at Dunnellon, Fla., and has recently been promoted to first lieutenant. Lt. Wilson now has orders to report back to Fort Benning. He attended Willamette law school but enlisted the first of his senior year in the air corps, being called immediately.

Word from Bill Stark says that he will graduate as a petty officer machinist mate April 24 from the navy camp in Norman, Okla. Stark, a junior at Willamette last year, enlisted in the navy in October and was sent to Camp Farragut, Idaho. From there he went to Oklahoma for his aviation machinist training.

Orville J. Sparrow, class of '44, is now stationed at Oak Harbor, Whidbey Island, Wash. He is a hospital apprentice first class at the air station there. Sparrow entered the navy in the early part of December, 1942.

Basil "Bill" Anton, former Willamette university basketball and baseball player, has been stationed at Bremerton, Wash., as a radio technician with the navy. He holds the rank of second class and has applied for schooling to receive a commission. Anton was affiliated with Alpha Psi Delta.

Joe Murray has finished his schooling at Portsmouth, R.I., and was shoving off for parts unknown when last heard from. Murray joined the "PT" boat service which is considered one of the most dangerous branches of the United States armed forces. Murray played on the baseball team last year at Willamette and also the basketball team before he graduated with the class of '42.

Jimmy Robertson is taking advanced training as a navy pilot in Corpus Christi, Tex. Robertson was Coach Spec Keene's first string catcher for two years and played with the Salem Senators last summer until leaving for the service. Also at a field near Corpus Christi is another of Keene's ball players Hal Moe. Moe is acting as an instructor.

Ralph May, president of the Willamette student body last year, is with the army air service at San Antonio, Texas. He is a member of Alpha Psi Delta and Blue Key.

Ruth Eileen Jones has enlisted in the Waves and is awaiting assignment to a Waves training school. Miss Jones attended the university in 1938-41 majoring in home economics. She was a member of Delta Tau Gamma and a member of the a cappella choir while on the campus.

The Waacs are not forgotten by the Willamette women as Eileen Van Eaton, who has been training at Russellville, Ark., has been graduated as an auxiliary private first class in the Waacs and is now temporarily stationed at Camp Polk, La., in a training regiment.

David Foster, former WU art student, visited the campus recently during his short furlough from Fort George Wright. Foster has been transferred to the design department of camouflage, where he is affiliated with the engineers attached to the army air corps. He is still using his air brush for painting but can no longer use that medium for abstractions or modernistic art.

Lt. Earl K. Stewart, former professor of History at Willamette, visited the campus this week. Lt. Stewart enlisted in the army last summer as a private, was an accepted candidate for officer's training, and graduated from the officer's training school at Ft. Benning, Ga., a short time ago with a second lieutenant rating in the infantry. He is now en route to Camp Roberts, Cal., where he will be stationed.

Otto Skopil and Leland A. Shinn, Jr., WU '41, graduated early this month from the navy supply corps school at Harvard university and were assigned as ensigns to "general service."

Vacation Set For May Fete

The traditional freshmen-sophomore tug-of-war will highlight Friday afternoon activities. Preceding the interclass tussle over the mill stream, which will be supervised by Einar Johnson, chairman of interclass competition, other athletic events will be held. The annual May Weekend student body dance will be held in the gymnasium at 9 Friday evening.

Unique feature of this year's Maypole dance will be the sole participation by women students. The innovation in the customary part of the coronation ceremony to be held at 1:30 Saturday has been made necessary by the small number of junior men on the campus. Second major feature of the program marking the beginning of Queen Harriett Monroe's official reign will be the presentation of a short version of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by members of the drama and music departments.

The Broadway comedy hit "Arsenic and Old Lace" is scheduled for presentation to the May Weekend audience at 8:15 Saturday evening in the Salem high school auditorium.

Women who have attended Willamette three years and are therefore eligible to take part in the Maypole dance were announced this week by chairman Ruth Burgoyne as Jean Boyce, Breda Bucurech, Ruth Burgoyne, Martha Byrd, Patricia Byrd, Gladys Crawford, Eloise Findley, Darlene Dickson, Marcis Fry, Dortha Graham, Phyllis Gueffroy, Mary Anne Hawkins, Mary Jean Huston, Luella Ibach, Jan Johnson, Jacqueline Judd, Frances Kells, Mary Margaret Livesay, Bettie Lynn Payne, Margaret Pemberton, Lois Phillips, Betty Ann Swanson, Eleanor Todd and Helen Zimmerman.

Post-War Plans Seen

Formation of a post-war educational planning committee was announced by President G. Herbert Smith this week. Coach R. S. Keene was appointed chairman and Dean C. F. Luther, Dr. Helen Pearce, Dr. C. L. Sherman, Dr. H. C. Hutchins, Dr. Robert E. Lantz and Dr. R. H. Tschudy as his committee.

The group will consider contributions and suggestions that Willamette can make in the field of liberal arts education in the post-war period. Through the study, courses and special work that the school could offer at that time will be found and recommended by the committee.

200 Attend Psych Clinic

Over two hundred students from various Oregon colleges were present yesterday at the annual clinic held at the State hospital and the tour of the Fairview home. Both the psychology and sociology classes from Oregon State, the University of Oregon, Linfield, Pacific college, Reed and Willamette were invited to attend.

The tour of Fairview was at 9:30 a.m., conducted by Dr. Horace G. Miller, superintendent, and the hospital clinic, in which various cases were exhibited and examined, was held at 1:30 p.m.

Spinal Victim 'Improved'

Condition of Mary Moses, Lausanne hall freshman who was stricken last week with spinal meningitis, was reported Thursday by Deaconess hospital attendants as improved.

Helen McCullough, school nurse, stated that students who had been associated with Miss Moses before she was taken to the hospital have been given the sulphur treatment. She added that although the disease is contagious, students should not worry about contracting it as a case would be isolated as soon as diagnosed.

If a student should come in contact with the disease he should see a doctor for directions to prevent its development, Mrs. McCullough said.
