MARION WILLIAMS SINGS OUT in tonight's Distinguished Artists Series concert at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

'Soul in Jazz' Opens DA Tonight

"The Soul in Jazz", starring Marion Williams, opens the Distinguished Artists' Series tonight at 8:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium. Student series tickets may be purchased at the student body office until 4 p.m. or at the Fine Arts box office tonight.

Tonight's program presents spiritual, folk, gospel, Dixieland, pop and rhythm'n blues styles of jazz. Humorous narrative full of informal jokes and stories give a look at the personality of the jazz idiom.

Singer Marion Williams is known for her exuberant voice as well as her gold-tooth embellished with a star. She improvises both music and lyrics and never does the same thing twice. The "Stars of Faith", a six-member company of singers and dancers, will perform with her.

Miss Williams began singing in neighborhood churches in Miami, Florida, as a child. She has never had a teacher but Clara Wara, a veteran gospel singer, helped her because she had faith in Miss Williams' talent.

She rose to fame in the American Negro musical "The Prodigal Son" at the Champs-Elysees Theater in Paris, where she was acclaimed as a leading gospel singer. Later she starred in "Black Nativity."

Serendipities To Sing

The Serendipity Singers, who will perform at Willamette October 18, have risen to fame in only two years of big time exposure.

Their first success came at Greenwich Village's The Bitter End, a club owned by Fred Weintraub, who discovered such talents as Bill Cosby, Woody Allen, and Peter, Paul and Mary.

NUMBER ONE HIT

Next came a recording contract with Philips Records. Their first album was considered a success and from it came the hit single "Don't Let the Rain Come Down," which rose to number one spot on popularity polls across the nation.

Since then the Serendipity Singers have appeared on many variety shows on television and will average an appearance a month on TV this year.

COFFEE TO FAIRS

They also fit concerts at various locales into their busy schedule. They have played everything from coffee houses to state fairs. Their recent Australian tour has encouraged them to plan more foreign trips.

Beginning as a bunch of kids singing folk songs and playing guitars, they developed a self-contained act of "folk - pop" songs they composed, jazz arrangements and comedy bits.

THE "SERENDIPS"

The eight members each contribute their varied talents to make versatility a keynote of the show. Individual "Serendips" are bass player Bob Young, 12-string guitar player Gambel Rogers, tenor guitarist Jon Ar-benz, guitarist and tenor John Perry, singers Mike Brovsky, Tony Perry and thrushes blonde JoAnn Carey and brunette Lana Rae Shaw.

Their newest album title shows their originality as well as being the longest title in album history! It reads "The Serendipity Singers Sing of Love, Lies and Flying Festoons, Clams, Psychiatrists, Lilacs Trees, Monkey, Muddy Rivers, Elephants, Infidelity, Desertion, Draft Evasion, Plastic Boa Constructors and Other Songs by Shel Silverstein."

Tickets Available

Fifty student tickets, at $1 each, will be available at the Music Office for the Portland Cymphony Concert Wednesday evening, October 12.

Radio Show Features WU

A Willamette radio show is again featured this year on Wednesday nights from 8:30 to 9:30 on KSLM. Moose White plays "good music to study by" and interviews coaches, faculty and students occasionally. Moose will be giving away tickets to the Serendipity Singers concert in contests this week.

He plans student panel discussions for future shows. The show publicizes events on campus and generally lets the community know what is going on on campus.

Anyone interested in assisting on the show and taking it over next semester should contact Moose at Sigma Chi.

Civil Service Exams For Summer Jobs

The U.S. Civil Service Commission is announcing the nationwide competitive Office and Science Assistant Examination for many of the temporary jobs in the Federal departments and agencies that will be filled in the summer of 1967. This examination, which includes a written test, is for summer jobs at grades GS-1 through 4, with salaries ranging from $69 to $92 per week.

Those who are interested in the summer jobs covered may apply to take the test on or before three filing dates --- October 21, 1966, December 9, 1966, and January 9, 1967. The test will be given on November 26, 1966, January 7, 1967, and February 4, 1967. Salem is a test center.

If a candidate fails to apply by the first filing date, he may select either of the two later ones, but January 9, 1967, is the final date for applying to take the test and the closing date of the examination. Applications filed after that date cannot be accepted.

Additional copies of this announcement and applications for the written test can be obtained from the Civil Service Regional Office (Post Office).

Convo Room WUPA Aim

The Willamette University Parents Association set $17,500 as their goal in a drive to finance a conference room for the proposed University Center during their meeting last week-end.

The amount is to be matched by an anonymous donor to provide a total of $35,000 to establish the Willamette University Parents Association Conference Room. The University Center (student union) is the next project in Willamette's expansion plan.

Last year the parents' project was raising funds to enrich the library. They raised over $10,000 for this goal.

THE SERENDIPITY SINGERS will appear October 18 in the Fine Arts Auditorium. Tickets are on sale at the Student Body Office today and will be sold beginning Monday at the SB Office and the Student Center. Prices are $2, $2.50 and $3.

The World of Gamma Delta Iota

BY DOUGLAS BOSCO

The windows are papered and the passer-by can hear the shout of 1-2-3-4 --- the telltale sign of calisthenics inside. The little sign on the door tells us that visitors are not permitted during "hell week."

The sororities and independent girls organizations are serenaded with a lively and spirited medley of songs by a lively and spirited group of men.

The house dance "Twilight in a Zone" is being planned. To take place in a "cave" setting, the dress is informal but not "caveman style."

Sound like a typical fraternity? Not quite. It's Belknap Hall --- and the spirit of Willamette's independent men is starting to be felt on campus. After the wildly-received All Campus Sing act that the "G.D.I.'s" put on, I decided to visit the place and find out what is going on in the halls of Willamette's largest upper-class living organization.

Upon entering Belknap I went to the room of some "friends" and was immediately kidnapped and thrown in the millstream. It seems that a new fraternity is being formed at Belknap and I happened to find a few of its secrets. I managed not to drown, or be cut to death by glass and beer - bottles in the stream, and am privileged to report a seventh fraternity on campus, Called Acinus Globus (which means "Great Group"); its motto is "Semper Inebrius" --- always drunk. The motto, I was told, typifies the average fraternity. Leader of the Group is the Caesar Mundi, who is assisted by a Pro Consul Mundi and High Priest. All receive inspiration from the Great Bacchus, and are moved to action by "the will of Bacchus." Certificates of Membership have been printed, and stationery is being ordered. Willamette's chapter is the first --- Alpha Alpha Caput, but more, I am told, will be springing up.

"HELL WEEK"

Also along fraternity lines, the men of Belknap underwent their own "hell week." Darin Dauble (known as "Smokie" from his days as Baxter's Fire Marshal) was selected "pledge trainer," but mentioned that this was mostly an honorary title. Asked why Belknap papered its windows and had a "hell week", Dauble indicated that it was a way of mimicking Belknap's fraternity counterparts. "It helped build spirit," he said, "and we had a good time."

Most feel that Belknap is becoming more a part of "the Willamette family." One resident said "this year I feel more like a human being." I asked Belknap's President Richard Cox if perhaps Belknap was adjusting more to the campus social structure and he replied emphatically, "NO! The campus is adjusting to us."

The portly, outspoken "Colonel" Cox is presently carrying on a full-scale campaign for a decent, furnished basement for the dorm. He mentioned that every other living organization on campus has one. Asked about what tactics he would use to get funds, Cox said "We will have an afternoon tea for the Board of Trustees and serve them from our banged-up ping-pong table using tin cans. Of course they will also be welcome to use our St. Vincent de Paul furniture."

Cox and others were apprehensive that I would misrepresent Belknap in this article. I assured them I would try not to, and one Belknapian warned "You'd better not or we'll use our spirit of unity in the right direction." President Cox gazed at the mill stream and added, "You can consider that a threat!"

Well, it seems that Seaside's famous No-Tel Motel is getting all sorts of notoriety these days. This all started about ten days ago when a high state official indicated to Willamette University President G. Herbert Smith, his disapproval of the motel's advertisement in the September 23rd issue of the COLLEGIAN.

President Smith then called motel owner Bob Ladum, a Willamette student, and informed him that the ad was "not in keeping with the Willamette tradition," and that the State Police were interested in the operations of the motel.

Enter the Oregon DAILY EMERALD, who, having seen the ad, also felt that it was not in keeping with the Willamette image--"staid Methodism." (See story below.)

Meanwhile, back at the motel, the State Police HAD taken an interest in the goings-on. Last Friday night, a man and woman signed in at the motel and were assigned to room No. 4. This couple soon departed, and returning an hour later, identified themselves as plainclothes policemen, and asked for their registration card back.

At 3:30 a.m., Saturday morning, a married couple from Seattle (both members of which were approximately 27 years of age) registered at the motel and were given room No. 4. Yes, you guessed it. The Seaside police (who had neglected to give back their room No. 4 key) returned to the scene of their first visit and burst in upon the surprised couple, taking pictures and asking (in a harrassing tone) personal questions. (See cartoon below). A search warrant apparently was not used for entry. (Motel owner Ladum is now "looking into the possibility of quenching such reckless intrusions of privacy by the Fearless Fosdicks of the Seaside Police force.")

The OREGON STATESMAN also got around to reading the ad, and obviously hurting for editorial copy, used it in its October 4th editorial to emphasize the decay in collegiate morals (as shown by the ad's resemblance to "come-ons for the latest Swedish sex movie").

No, the party is not over yet. Last Tuesday a representative from the State Police interviewed COLLEGIAN editor Jonathan Carder, and the girl who posed for the pictures in the ad. This representative sought to find out details concerning the ad and its intent, asking questions like "Is the girl in the ad a campus sex symbol?"

It seems that all the investigations were designed to find out exactly what kind of business is being run at the No-Tel Motel.

Well, although we would hate to idle any members of the Oregon State Police force by depriving them of this great source of productive effort, we do feel an obligation to inform the public that the No-Tel Motel runs its business just like any other motel.

A motel is only what people make out of it--so to speak. The purpose of a motel depends on the customer's or customers' desired use for the occasion. It is a well known fact that most motels have been used for the purposes perhaps inferred by the ad.

Motel owner Ladum knew this, and intended to do a spoof on these less publicized uses of motels.

Most people recognized the humorous intent of the ad. Unfortunately, this aim was not clear to everyone, even some of the most "knowledgeable" people in the state. (Ladum will appear before the disciplinary committee today.)

STAIID METHODISM

Willamette Ad Changes Image

(Ed. Note --- the following is reprinted from the Oregon DAILY EMERALD)

What's in an ad?

Often by reading the advertisements only in a publication it's possible to tell something about the nature of the publication. Playboy is a prime example, where advertisements are geared to the man-about-town.

Mention a college or university, and a certain mental picture usually comes to mind. Cal at Berkeley: free speech, Willamette: staid Methodism.

What?

Read a copy of the Willamette Collegian sometime. Perhaps in the news and editorial columns, you would find the staid Methodism you'd expect. It's a cinch you won't find it in the ads.

Straub-McCall Debate Tonight

State Treasurer Robert Straub and Secretary of State Tom McCall, candidates for Governor of Oregon who spoke at Willamette convos this week, will meet for a debate today in Portland. The debate will be recorded and televised at 7:30 p.m. tonight on Channel 8.

issue of The Collegian is taken up entirely by a full-page ad for "Seaside's newest... The No-Tell Motel... for peace and quiet..."

"H'mmm," you say.

SPECIAL RATES

The ad goes on to give its address, to note that its "distinguished in passionate red," and to say that there are special student rates. Special rates, too, for pledge sneaks and fraternity parties.

Several pictures also dominate the page --- and each picture is dominated by a large "No-Tel Motel or Bust" sign.

Manager is Georgia Rappe, owner is Robert Ladum. The names are real, and you aren't pronouncing them right!

A story in The Collegian explains that the motel is the latest project of Bob Ladum, Willamette senior, who bought the motel recently and renovated it with the help of "winos" from Portland's Burnside area. Among its most conspicuous characteristics, the story goes on, are the highest neon sign in town and "a Gideon Bible in each room just in case any of the guests get any ideas."

And it's all on the level. The Emerald checked --- with the editor of The Collegian, and by calling the motel itself.

According to Collegian Editor Jon Carder, "Bob started out in Boy Scouts collecting coins for a merit badge. He kept on and eventually opened a mail-order coin company. With the profits, he's bought two motels and a gas station. Or maybe it's two gas stations and a motel. It really doesn't make any difference."

Reaction to the advertisement on campus has been one of amusement, Carder went on. Asked the reaction of the publications board, he said the members he'd talked to seemed to enjoy it.

"The advertising sort of goes with the name," he said. "It's sort of a gimmick, but he's serious about it. Bob's even handing out discount coupons on campus." The advertisement carried a coupon good for 20 per cent off a room rental at the motel.

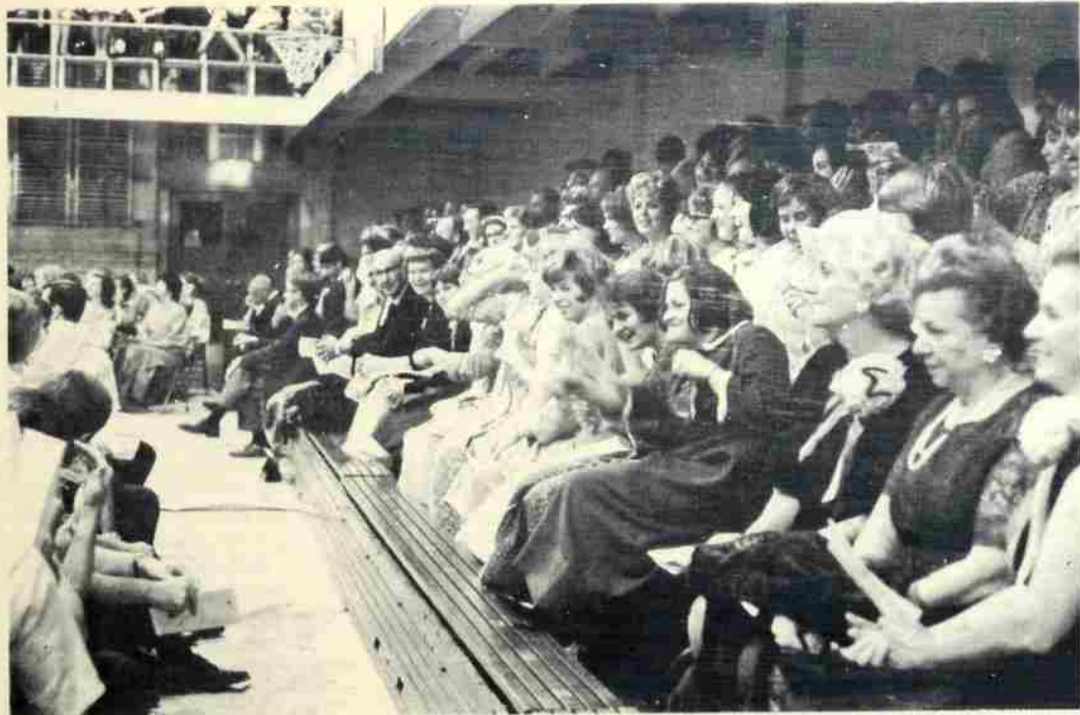

"The advertisement does suggest something," Carder admitted.

Meanwhile, rumors were going around the Willamette campus to the effect that the State Police were looking into the business. Apparently, they, too, were interested in what kind of organization it is.

Ladum was in Portland and unavailable for comment.

Carder said that Ladum planned more advertising, but The Collegian was the first collegiate newspaper to carry the ad. "He's been thinking about buying an ad in the Emerald," Carder said.

H'mmm.

UNIVERSITY BRIDGE with Larry Cohen 1966 Intercollegiate Champion

Our North today, no doubt a west coast psych major, has a flair for living dangerously. He gambles that clubs will run and bids 3 notrump!

Our gambler is punished --- and chewed out by partner. "Five clubs will not make," says South, "but at least it is a better contract. It will not be down four!"

We prefer North's bid to South's holdup play.

South ducked the opening spade king and West continued with the spade deuce!! South won and led the club jack, losing to the king.

East smiled and confidently returned a diamond. West's spade deuce is an easy to read suit preference signal, screaming for the return of the lower ranking suit.

Declarer is too hasty at trick one. He should reason that West is quite likely to have the diamond ace and seven spades for his vulnerable bid. The club king is of no consequence! If West holds it, the contract is safe.

See what happens when the first trick is won. The club finesse loses, but East now has no idea of what to return. He may lead a diamond and we lose. But he may also lead a heart and we make 3 notrump.

Void Parking Ticket Possible

Mississippi (CPS) --- Millions of university - issued parking tickets across the country may now be worthless. In a precedent - setting case, the prosecution of a Mississippi State University student for refusing to pay his campus tickets has been dismissed.

Leslie C. Cohen, a Canadian political science student at MSU, balked when the academic institution imposed $20 in parking fines without a hearing.

When the University threatened him with dismissal and state court action unless fines were paid, Cohen went to the Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee of the American Civil Liberties Union.

The LCDC secured a restraining order to prevent MSU officials from impeding Cohen's efforts to gain admission to a Canadian law school. Cohen feared that the University would delay sending his records, would note the parking violations on his record or would not allow him to take a necessary summer session course at Mississippi State.

While the case was before the U.S. District Court, the State Attorney General, representing the University, conceded that the regulations which were promulgated by MSU and their manner of enforcement were null and void.

Campus Comment...

To the Editor:

I find it distressing to note that the Willamette student body having apparently forgotten the reasons for deferring fraternity and sorority rush until the second semester, has returned to the fall rushing system which has proven to be a failure in the past.

In your editorial of September 16, you state that "The best solution to this problem (lack of study time during fall rush) would be, as many other schools have found, to have the rushees and greeks come to school a week early to conduct their busness." You go on to state that rush is "a necessary evil." I agree that a better solution should be found to preserve precious study time, but I do not agree that pre-school rush is the answer. I also do not agree that rush is necessary. Nor are fraternities necessary.

If you are looking for an answer in the examples of other colleges and universities, I submit that an ideal solution would be to disband the fraternities and sororities at Willamette University. Many people will agree that while the greek letter societies have their good points they are outweighed by their bad points. Perhaps the housing units now occupied by the greeks could be transformed into cooperatives (following the example of other schools) thereby providing another means of payment of fees, which if they follow the pattern set in past years, will be raised many, many times.

Sincerely,
Clarence Pugh, '64

Campus Chest Hits $500 Mark

Fifteen hundred dollars was contributed to Campus Chest through the combined profits of the Campus Chest campaign and Varsity Varieties.

Connie Rector, Pi Beta Phi junior, and Sam Pierce, Delta Tau Delta senior, were announced king and queen of the Campus Chest during Varsity Varieties last Friday night.

Living organization contributions totaled about $500. The Phi Deltas contributed the most for the men with $385. The Sigma Chis were second with $106. The members of Alpha Chi Omega contributed the most money of the women's living organizations.

Varsity Varieties manager Bill Gaynor reports that the show profits of about $1,000 will be given to Campus Chest.

SAM PIERCE AND CONNIE RECTOR received flowers and Campus Chest trophy at Varsity Varieties last Friday night. Sam and Connie represented respectively the senior and junior classes. The Campus Chest raised $500. Varsity Varieties profited about $1000. About $1500 will be given to World University Service. (Photo by Bob Hamel)

Sophs Set Sock Hop

An all-campus "after-Game Sock Hop" will be held tomorrow in the gym beginning at 8 p.m. The dance, sponsored by the sophomore class, is for the whole student body. Music will be provided by the "Shapes." Admission is 75 cents stag or $1.25 per couple.

Phi Sigma Iota Initiates Five

Five new members were initiated into Phi Sigma Iota, national romance language honorary, last Sunday evening. Initiates were John Benson, Suzie Corcoran, Sue Leeson, Joanie Loomis, and Jane Osborne.

A slide party will be held by Phi Sigma Iota Sunday night in the student union at 7:00 p.m. Students are invited to attend and bring slides of their travels. Anyone interested in showing slides should contact Lindsay Michimoto, ext. 326.

Couples Take Vows

Gordon Humphrey, whose engagement of last summer was recently announced in the Collegian, was married to Peggy Lynne Cummins in Coalinga, California on September 4.

His brother Curtis Humphrey was best man with two Willamette grads as ushers, David Robertson of Menlo Park and Clark Anderson of LaFayette. The couple will continue their studies at UCLA.

The former Nancy Lee McManus and Stephen Edward Miller were married in Salem, Saturday, September 3. The bride's uncle, Rev. Chester Pruzynski, officiated at the wedding.

The bride is a junior Pi Beta Phi and the bridegroom a senior Delta Tau Delta. Marlene Anderson was among the bridesmaids and Gb Gilmore served as best man. Guests were invited to a reception at the Pi Phi house following the ceremony.

September 9 saw another Willamette wedding, that of Carmel Hofstetter to Nyckle Wjbrandus. Nick is a '66 graduate of Willamette and Carmel has attended the University for three years.

Jeanne Fisher was maid of honor and Lanae Isaacson bridesmaid. The two lived at York House during the time the bride was in residence there.

A June or July wedding is planned.

Coeds Lead Y-Teens

Five Willamette coeds are acting as Jr. High Y - Teen advisors for the Salem chapter of the YWCA.

The five, Connie Atkins, Peggy Church, Judy Keniston, Lynne Lucas, and Pat Tucker, will attend the meetings and help the teen-age girls plan activities which are meaningful as well as enjoyable.

Mrs. Virginia Sponsler, a Willamette student herself, is in charge of the Jr. High Y - Teen advisors. According to Mrs. Sponsler, there are still seven openings for girls who would be interested in working

Three Houses Add New Housemothers

There are three new faces in Willamette's Greek world. They are the new housemothers at Delta Gamma, Alpha Phi, and Chi Omega.

Arriving on campus at WU after ten years as a housemother at the University of Minnesota, Mrs. Hanson has taken on new duties at the DG house. She applied for her present position last summer while visiting with her daughter, a resident of Silverton.

Speaking of the campus, Mrs. Hanson replied, "It reminds me of Iowa State, where I worked before going to the University of Minnesota. Willamette is interested in the individual. There's a warm feeling among students, and I like it here very much."

When asked if she had encountered any unexpected situations here at WU, Mrs. Hanson explained, "After twelve years I've seen about everything! These girls are so lovely and gracious."

Mrs. Parker, who now reigns over the Alpha Phi house, was a former housemother at OSU and a dorm mother at Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. At Coe, she was responsible for 250 freshmen co-eds each year for five years.

"I liked what I saw," stated Mrs. Parker concerning WU. "I think it's a beautiful campus, and I find people to be friendly. There's a big improvement here over students in the east."

Having heard that Willamette was "a very fine small school," Chi O's new housemother, Mrs. Riley, has joined the campus from the University of Washington where she was a housemother for five years.

"I am very impressed with everyone, especially the students I have met," she exclaimed.

Mortar Board Taps Seniors

The Cap and Gown chapter of Mortar Board had an informal dinner meeting at the Kopper Kitchen Wednesday the 14th to discuss a general program for the coming year. Later that evening they initiated four members: Kathy Kato, Muriel Kramer, Linda Naylor and Doris Rose.

Members initiated last spring include: Pat Biles, Diane Hoss, Kathy Maxson, Lindsay Michimoto, Jane Neville Mink and Thumper Schmidt.

Tea Honors New 'Moms'

New Housemothers will be honored guests at a tea given by the Associated Women Students October 23, from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Mathews lounge.

Mrs. Hanson is the Delta Gamma housemother. Alpha Phi's new housemother is Mrs. Parker. Mrs. Riley is serving as housemother at Chi Omega.

Proposed Podium Location

Plans For Podium Advance

Plans are underway for the creation of an outdoor podium on the Willamette campus. The purpose of the podium would be to give any Willamette student an opportunity to freely express his views. It is hoped that the podium will encourage expression of ideas on the campus.

At the end of spring semester last year the Student Senate decided to examine the possibilities of such a structure. Hick Kerns, senator - at - large, was placed at the head of the podium committee. This committee is now in the process of obtaining official approval of the structure and its proposed location.

As plans stand now, the podium would be made of concrete and lined with brick. It would be two feet high and seven feet on a side, and would be placed between Eaton and Waller halls. (see diagram) It needs to be emphasized, however, that these plans are subject to Senate and administration approval.

The cost of the proposed structure would be approximately $350. Several campus organizations have already indicated a willingness to participate in financing such a structure.

The podium committee has also sent inquiries to other colleges which have a podium in order to develop the best method of governing the use of such a podium, as well as to survey the success of their podiums.

New Show At FA Gallery

The Fine Arts Gallery is now displaying contemporary prints from the Vivian and Gordon Gilkey collection. The October exhibit is open for viewing each school day from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on evenings when the auditorium is in use.

The show includes woodcuts, serigraphs, lithographs, block prints and etchings of artists from around the world. The Gilkey's complete collection numbers several hundred prints. They often sponsor international print shows in this country.

Dr. Gilkey is Dean of Humanities at Oregon State University and former chairman of the OSU art department.

Pentacle Presents 'Period of Adjustment'

Tennessee Williams' "A Period of Adjustment" opens tomorrow evening at 8:15 p.m. at the Pentacle Theater. This group is Salem's "little theater" company and now has a new theater located six miles west of Salem on 52nd Avenue just north of the Salem-Dallas highway.

The Williams play is the final production of the current Pentacle season, and will run eight nights, until October 15. Tickets are available at Stevens and Son Jewelers.

The romantic-domestic comedy features Pentacle veterans in leading roles. In the play a husband finds himself unexpectedly wifeless on Christmas Eve as well as the surprised host of a pair of newlyweds. Director Jack Bellamy terms this the only full-length comedy of "America's greatest living dramatist."

Drama, Music Unite In New Production

"Finnian's Rainbow" will be produced in April by the College of Music and Drama Department as the musical comedy production for 1966-67. The E.Y. Harburg and Burton Lane musical will be presented in three performances at the end of April.

Five faculty members will work on the play. Professor Robert Putnam, director of the Drama Department will be stage director. The orchestra, composed of concertband and chamber orchestra members and other interested musicians will be led by Professor Maurice Brennen.

Professor Clorinda Topping will prepare the singing leads while Professor Gordon Voiles is director of the chorus. Dean Charles Bestor will supervise the total production.

The cast will be chosen through auditions open to all interested singers, dancers, actors and musicians from the University and Salem. These auditions are set for mid-February.

Plum Teaching In Peace Corps

Suzanne Plum, who graduated from Willamette last May, is a Peace Corps Volunteer teaching English in Turkey.

Her group of 53 Volunteers left September 11 after completing 13 weeks of training at Occidental College in Los Angeles. They will be teaching English as a foreign language on both the secondary and university level.

Symphony Tickets Free For Faculty, Students

Willamette faculty and students are entitled to free tickets for the four concerts of the Salem Community Symphony this season. The tickets may be picked up in advance at the College of Music Office at the Fine Arts Box Office at the time of the concerts.

The Symphony's first concert is on a Sunday afternoon, October 30 at 3 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium. Soloist will be Mr. Robert Chauls, newly appointed member of the College of Music faculty.

He will play Beethoven's Fourth Piano Concerto. Professor Charles Heiden, musical director of the orchestra, will conduct.

Tickets for the general public are on sale at the Music Office or Stevens and Sons. Season memberships are priced at $4 for adults and $1 for non - Willamette students. Individual concert tickets cost $1.50 for adults and 50 cents students.

AFROTC Exams Set For October

The Air Force Officer Qualifying Test, a prerequisite to getting a USAF Reserve Commission, will be given on campus on October 8. This one-day test, which is given to freshman and sophomore male students, will start at 7:45 am.

Willamette, along with the other colleges in the Willamette Valley, participates in the two-year voluntary AFROTC program. Normally, ROTC students participate in this program during their junior and senior years by attending Aerospace courses in addition to regular academic studies. Students who complete these courses receive a degree and a commission as a 2nd Lt. in the USAF Reserve.

Under the same program, interested senior ROTC students can obtain a private pilot's license and 36 hours of flying time in a Cessna 150 aircraft, according to Douglas Harrison, professor of aerospace studies.

Maze Takes AFROTC Award

Attending summer training camp is a prerequisite for a reserve commission. Walter Maze, during the four week training camp which he attended at Fairchild AFB, Wash., was awarded the Vice Commandant's Award. This is the second highest award a cadet can receive at training camp. Others who successfully completed the four week camp were Walt Dauble, Scot Crawford, Robert Holzapfel, Gary Pederson, James Vidal, and Loren Whitaker.

Those who successfully completed the six week camp were Rodney Allison, Fredrick Amundson, Lewis King, John Norby, Ken Rice, Robert Riensche, and George Theisen.

Fourth Faculty Conference To Explore Communications

The Fourth annual Faculty Conference will be December

2 and 3 at Lausanne Hall. This year's speaker will be Dean of Administration at the University of Oregon, William Jones. The theme will be faculty - student communication.

The faculty wants to find out how well they and students are communicating at present and to explore ways in which such communication might be improved.

Senator - at - Large Lew King appointed twenty students to represent the student point of view at the conference. They will be full participants, members and even chairmen of discussion groups. These groups will vote on proposals to be submitted to the full faculty later.

Tentative areas for discussion are advising and counseling of students, student participation in curriculum development, student evaluation of professors and administration policy decisions.

The twenty student representatives and the faculty in charge of the conference, Dr. Brown, Dr. Canning and Professor Hafferkamp, are planning a questionnaire to see whether students are concerned about the five proposed areas or would like to add other areas to the discussion.

Walters, Willard Earn Scholarships

A Willamette senior majoring in chemistry, CARRIE-LOU WALTERS spent most of the summer working under a Summer Science Research Fellowship awarded by the Oregon Heart Association.

She plans to attend medical school upon graduation from Willamette. During the summer she worked with Dr. Miles J. Edwards of the University of Oregon Medical School Department of Medicine in Portland.

Miss Walters was also named winner of the $400 scholarship awarded each year by the Salem Zonta Club, a women's service group. The club annually presents the award to a Salem upperclass woman student at an Oregon university or college.

MAUREN WILLARD, a junior who is studying Japanese at the East-West Center in Hawaii this year, is one of seven Califormians at the center on scholarships.

The scholarship program involves over 600 students from 31 countries. They live at the Center residences and attend classes at the University of Hawaii.

Miss Willard is in a special program called Junior Year in Hawaii for Americans. The Center also works toward greater understanding among Asia, the Pacific and the U.S. through grants to Asian teachers, exchange programs and language training. Research grants for those studying at the doctorate level as well as undergraduate programs are offered.

Reese Chosen To Head Twelve

Dean Seward Reese, head of Willamette's College of Law, was recently appointed by the Association of American Law Schools to head the 1967 committee of Smaller Law Schools' Special Opportunities and Needs.

Plans for the committee include setting up of a program and survey, details of which have not been formulated. However Dean Reese did say the group would work for a study which would be revealing, significant and helpful.

The twelve-man committee made-up of law professors and law school deans from all over the U.S. will report their findings at the 1967 meeting of the American Association of Law Schools.

Vets Return On GI Bill

The new GI education bill will bring an estimated 2500 veterans back to school this fall in Oregon. Willamette, which has had no one receiving veterans' benefits since the Korean War GI bill expired, now has 13 ex-GI's attending classes.

The Veterans Administration advises that peace-time and Viet Nam Vets considering a return to college should be prepared to pay their own expenses for the first two months.

Amount of payments to veterans depend on whether the man is a full or part time student, the type of training in which he is enrolled and the number of dependents he supports.

Set Service Exam For Nov. 18 & 19

Applications for the November 18 and 19 administrations of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to take this test should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an Application Card and a Bulletin of Information for the test.

Following instructions in the Bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided to Selective Service Examining Section, Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 988, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. Applications for the test must be postmarked no later than midnight, October 21, 1966.

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test for the Selective Service System, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once. By registering early, he stands the best chance of being assigned to the test center he has chosen. Because of the possibility that he may be assigned to either of the testing dates, it is very important that he list a center and center number for each date on which he will be available.

'Water Law' in WU Law Journal

The WILLAMETTE LAW JOURNAL, semi-annual publication prepared by the College of Law, discusses laws on water diversion and pollution in its fall edition under the title "Symposium: Water Law."

John W. Stuart, a '66 law graduate, was editor-in-chief of this edition. Other students on the editorial board were Phillip D. Chadsey and Robert L. Engle. John F. Baker was business manager.

Persuaders Strike Again

By BRET ANDERSON

Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, the well known physicist, said in a speech to the American Psychological Association "... I can see that the physicist's pleas that what he discovers be used with humanity and be used wisely will seem rather trivial compared to those pleas which you will have to make and for which you will have to be responsible."

Currently a lot of us are concerned with the possibilities of a nuclear holocaust, accidental or intended. People with clear hearts and questioning intellect put humanity before national pride and are doing all they can to outlaw radiological weapons. Also clergymen and philosophers cry that man's technological development is quickly outrunning his moral awareness and they mention that while man has the moon within his grasp he cannot even see the poverty and indignity he is forcing on his fellows.

I'm afraid that too many people are hardware minded when they consider these possibilities. Every day more and more products are packaged so that you will buy them, not because you need them, but because an industrial psychologist has determined that reds and yellows attract the eye quicker. Certain key words inserted in advertisements touch sensitive parts of the "typical American mentality." Even my own psychology professor said in class, "More and more of your decisions are being made for you. People are finding ways to make you do things without your even knowing it."

And he's darned right. Know why they play soft music in the big department store? Because it makes you in a better mood to part with your coins. This business of thought control is becoming increasingly important with the world's expanding population, so I am calling for a vigil on the front steps of our minds. A picket line around our thoughts and a sit-in for our free will. Maybe better yet just a good look at what other people are trying to put in our market baskets, gas tanks and ballots. Hmmm, how 'bout a House Un-American Activities hearing for the Madison Avenue boys?

Off-campus employment opportunities for students who would like to work for state, federal or local governmental agencies are available.

Those students interested should come to the Financial Aid Office, Eaton 4, for an interview. This will be part-time work, with a maximum of fifteen hours per week.

Those who need loans for the second semester should stop in the Financial Aid Office before November 1. Application date for financial assistance for next year (1967-68) will be publicized by November 1 also.

'Cats To Travel

The Bearcats travel for the first time this season as they meet the Whitman College Missionaries at Walla Walla. The trip is the first of two to the northern state for the Bearcats as they also play Whitworth College on its home grounds.

Whitman is currently 0-2 having lost to Eastern Oregon College and Lewis and Clark but has shown the ability to score explosively. Against Eastern Oregon their four touchdowns all came on long pass plays. Dan Peterson, a freshman, connected on 9 of 24 for 289 yards and the four TDs but also had five passes intercepted. Paterson's two favorite receivers are Bob Coon and Chuck Cusack.

The Missionaries seem particularly weak defensively as they gave up over 458 yards in their first encounter. They seemed especially helpless against the rush as they allowed over 320 yards on the ground.

Twenty-one lettermen return from the club that Willamette demolished 59-12 last year. It was in this game that the Bearcats set a conference total offense record of 679 yards. Whitman's two scores came on pass interceptions.

Head Coach Keith Loper is in his fourth year at Whitman and with only a 5-29 record to date, still has a lot of holes to fill. His frosh quarterback needs experience; he needs a consistent runner and defensive linemen. The punter is not yet performing consistently, and over-all depth is a problem.

The Missionaries do have some outstanding individuals returning. Garry Haynes was first team all-conference offensive guard last year while Gary Jones, linebacker, Tony Barkauskas, defensive safety, both won honorable mention berths.

The Whitman - Willamette series dates back to 1906, and after a fourteen year break to 1920, has continued unbroken. Since 1944 a huge "Paul Bunyan" axe has served as the victors' "spoils of war". The axe has been in Willamette hands since 1952

What a Clothes Line

Jayvees Fall To Pioneers

Last Monday, Willamette's frosh played their first game of the season, Meeting Lewis and Clark with only fifteen Bearkittens suited up to play, Willamette suffered a 20-2 loss.

After the opening kick - off to the Bearkittens was fumbled, Lewis and Clark took four downs to go 28 yards to score. Eyer threw two touchdown passes in the first quarter, the second coming after Lewis and Clark returned a Willamette punt to the seven yard line.

Willamette's only score came after Bruce Williams got off a 41 yard punt, and the Lewis and Clark receiver was hit in the end-zone for a two point safety.

In the second half, the Bearkittens made three penetrations into Lewis and Clark territory led by Jim Bailey. Willamette went to the Lewis and Clark 8 yard line, the 27 and the 24, but could not score.

Lewis and Clark scored again in the fourth quarter on a wing-back double reverse play, a variation of the old razzle-dazzle. Lewis and Clark piled up significantly more rushing and passing yardage than the Bear-kittens as they led in total offense, 367 to 185. Elmer Davis and Ken Harris both rushed for over fifty yards for Willamette while Jim Bailey completed three of his 17 passes but lost only one to interception.

Bearcats Ambush Coyotes

Willamette kept alive a four year win streak by downing the College of Idaho 41-7 last Saturday. The final margin was the largest in the last six years.

The Bearcats struck first on the passing of Sophomore Mike Shinn as he connected for a 34 yard aerial score to frosh Jim Morgado. Elmer Davis extended his conversion string to give Willamette its 7-0 jump.

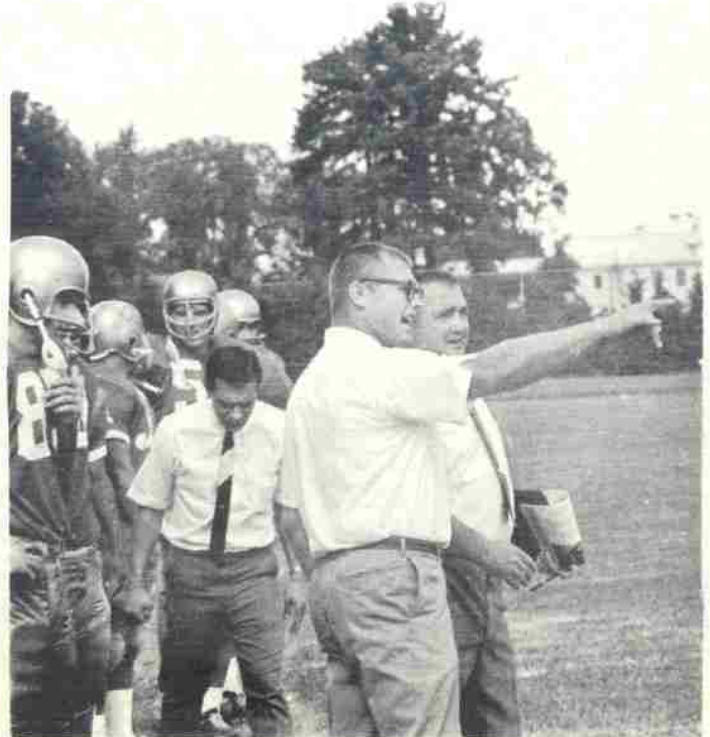

C of I came back with its only score of the game. Shortly after receiving the kickoff, Ron Washington slanted off a pile up at the intended hole to break away around right end. He then scrambled 77 yards before being tripped up from behind by Bill von Arnswaldt. The Coyotes scored two plays later on a one yard plunge by Bruce De-groat. Gary Gattard's kick supplied C of I's last gasp.

This ended the first period scoring, but Willamette scored twice more before the half ended. The first second period score came on a forty yard pass interception - return by safety Spike Moore. Davis' attempted conversion failed for the first time this season.

The final score of the half came with only 1:35 left to play Shinn again took to the air to find Rod Allison in the end zone from sixteen yards out for the 20-7 half time edge. In this first half the Bearcats rolled to 15 first downs and ov-

The Bearcats dominated the third quarter even more decisively as they scored three times in the first twelve minutes before turning the game over to the reserves. Allison and Morgado each scored on short runs and Morgado also scored on another pass play.

Shinn left the game late in the third period lacking only 51 yards to break the existing conference passing record of 352 (16 - 33 for 302 and 3 TDs).

Willamette had a total offense of 456 yards with 23 first downs. Jim Nicholson was the leading ground gainer with 80 yards on 18 carries for a 4.4 yard average.

Intramurals continued to gain momentum this week with full schedules in both tennis and football. Parent's Weekend caused cancellations of Saturday's football games but didn't cause any unavoidable conflicts.

There are still four undefeated football "sevens" as the schedule enters its fourth round: Phi Deltis, Law II, Law III, and Belknap. Impending encounters of the leaders include: Belknap vs. Law III and Belknap vs. Deltis.

Tennis is also producing a tight race with the faculty "darkhorses" holding a slight edge at present. The Faculty recently flexed its muscles by shutting out Belknap Hall, winning in one case by straight sets.

Women's volleyball intramurals will be next Thursday night at 6:30 p.m. in the gym. The eight - woman teams from each living organization will participate in a single elimination contest. Girls interested in being part of their living organization's team should contact their intramural chairman or Mrs. Williams. Chairmen are Laurie Monnes, Pi Beta Phi; Mary Watkins, Delta Gamma; Paula Sauser, York; Peggy McCamant, Chi Omega; Sue Carlson, Alpha Phi; Laurie Barker, Lee; Kathy Kato, Alpha Chi Omega and Gwen Gallaher, Lausanne.
