

Varsity Warriors and Alumni Tie

For First Time Varsity Fails to Win in the Annual Contest.

Bishop, Saunders and Others
Star for Alumni—Francis Shining Varsity Light.

Once more the hills and vales of Oregon are peopled by the limping alumni of Willamette. While no one of them is seriously hurt, there are enough bruises and "charley-horses" scattered around among them to keep a large sized liniment factory going full blast. There were no hard feelings and in a week or so everyone of them will be as plithe and gay as if he had never seen a football. The Varsity got off even luckier than the has-beens and are now in fine trim for the game Saturday with Oregon at Eugene.

The game was called at four o'clock. Captain Bishop of the Alumni kicking off. The first quarter was mostly a see-saw. Twice was the Varsity within kicking distance and twice the ball went wide. The quarter ended without a score. In the second quarter, after a series of plays, the Alumni punted and the ball was downed on the Varsity's two-yard line. Rowland dropped back to punt, but Nelson, Alumni center, broke through, blocked the punt and secured the ball, scoring six points for his team. Turner kicked goal, making a total of seven points. The remainder of that quarter was uneventful and the first half closed with the score standing seven to nothing in favor of the Alumni.

The third quarter opened with Bolt of the Varsity kicking off to Ford, who failed to advance, and then the see-saw game began again. It was nip and tuck and both sides were able to make yardage several times with the honors evenly divided. The quarter ended without a score.

In the fourth quarter both teams were showing the result of a hard scrap and the playing was fast only by starts. In this quarter, P. Homan, who had been playing a steady game at quarter, was taken out to give Small, a Salem High grad, a chance. Small looks like his name, but he made things hum while he was in. His most spectacular stunt was a twenty yard return of a punt through a broken field. He runs with the ball well, and is remarkably speedy.

It was toward the end of the last quarter that the Varsity made its only score. On the Alumni 25-yard line, Rowland forward-passed to Hepp who carried the ball to the two-yard line. Francis then plunged the line for the necessary yardage, kicked the goal and the whistle blew. That ended the scoring.

It is hard to pick the individuals starring for the Alumni, for each man was a star and performed nobly. In spite of shortness of breath, girth of waist and softness of muscle, Rube Saunders was the line plunging hero of the day. On a number of occasions he was stopped yards down the field by the Varsity backs after he had gambled through the large holes made by his teammates in the Willamette line. Bishop was another bad actor who was stopped only with great inconvenience to the stopper. Ford played a strong game, but on account of the size and speed of his running mates he did not show to such an advantage. Kinney Miller, heralded as the only really live quarter for the Alumni team has had yet met all requirements, and besides running the team with precision and dispatch, made several good runs. The

University Band Makes Appearance

The University band made its debut Saturday afternoon at the Alumni game under the leadership of Harry Irvine, '15. Before the game a sortie was made in the direction of town. The bold blowers reached Liberty street and noticing that no policemen were in sight burst forth into several strains peculiar to themselves.

After arriving at the field of carnage several choice selections were played and no stale groceries came their way. They wended their way into the grandstand and watched the game, occasionally uncorking a barrel of their choicest melodies, to the intense gratification of the audience.

The band is young but it is composed of hustlers and in a few weeks it will be on a par with any college band in the state.

Joint Reception Well Attended

New Students and Old Enjoy Associations' Hospitality.

The annual reception of the Christian associations, which opens the season's social activities, was held in Eaton Hall last Friday evening, with 350 present. The occasion was an tire success from every viewpoint. The respective committees, which had worked upon the plans since the opening of school, had left nothing undone.

The entire evening was overflowing with good fellowship and the "get acquainted" spirit, which gives every new student a secure sense of being a part of the university.

The early part of the evening was formal in nature, while the latter half was spent in a general mixing of the old and the new. The receiving line was composed of the President and Mrs. Homan, Vice-President and Mrs. Todd, Dean and Mrs. Patterson of the College of Liberal Arts, Dean and Mrs. Mendenhall of the College of Music, Miss Pennington, Dean of Women, and the officers of the Christian associations as follows: Carl Hollingsworth, Miss Jessie Young, Paul Homan, Ruth Young, George Vandevent, Mary Hansen, Stanford Moore, Lottie Lee Penn, Merwyn Paget.

A very short program, with the characteristic welcome of Willamette, was given. Miss Gertrude Eakin gave a very pleasing piano number. Miss Irma Schumway, always popular with the students, rendered a vocal selection. Dr. Homan and Miss Jessie Young gave short addresses.

The main hall was cheerful with its mellow lights and draperies. Bruce McDaniel, chairman of the decoration committee, with his many assistants, had provided a charming background for the reception. The entertainment and program were in the hands of Lola Cook Bellinger, Y. W. social chairman.

This reception, though preceded by the Y. W. C. A. good time at Chestnut Farm and the "stag" mix at the gym, is the first general social event of the school year.

Miss Jessie Young entertained at a dinner party Saturday evening at Lausanne Hall. Following the dinner the evening was passed with games and songs. Those present were: Miss Pennington, Jessie Young, Pearl Bradley, Gertrude Reeves, Florence Page, Mildred Bartholomew, Ruth Young, Marene Digerness, Carl Hollingsworth, Paul Todd, Errol Gilkey, Paul Homan, Merwyn Paget, Ralph Reeves, Harold Wieder and Crawford Young.

Seventeen have turned out for debate at California.

Law and Medical Colleges Open

Registration Shows a Large Increase in Beginning Classes.

Prof. Von Eschen Takes Position on Medical Faculty, Replacing Dr. Thompson.

The colleges of Medicine and Law have re-opened for the new term and are in full swing. Dr. Clements, Dean of the College of Medicine, stated that at the class held at 8:30 Tuesday morning thirty-seven were enrolled. Many have arranged to join the college but have not yet registered for the term. There will probably be a small increase over last year's enrollment, although the Doctor has no definite idea as to the percentage.

Dr. Thompson has resigned from the faculty of the college and Mr. Von Eschen and Byrd will fill the vacancy for the year.

Mr. C. L. McNary of the Law school states that the registration is far from complete and no positive information could yet be given out. About thirty Juniors have registered, but there are yet many more who have signified their intentions of so doing, but have not yet fulfilled their purpose.

There will be no changes in the faculty for this year so work will be started immediately.

Class Room Facilities Increased

Christian Associations Change Quarters—Art Department Moves to Old Building.

The large growth of the Freshman classes of the past two years has required an increase in the class room facilities in Eaton Hall. With the change in the class rooms, other changes of rooms have been made.

The biological laboratories on the third floor have been greatly increased by the addition of the room formerly occupied by the Y. W. C. A. The equipment of that department has been increased.

The Y. W. rest room has been moved to the first floor and occupies the room of the art department. The rooms are fitted up by the Y. W. C. A. for the convenience of the ladies of the school. Complete repairs will be made on the room by the latter part of the week.

The Art department, which has occupied a room in Eaton Hall, has been moved to the old Chapel building. The room on the first floor formerly occupied by the College office has been refitted for the use of the College of Art.

In the near future there will be a change in the office of the Y. M. C. A. and that of Vice-President Todd and some adjustment of the location of The Collegian office. Nothing definite could be learned as to the exact location of the parties concerned.

Frances Pohle has recently been added to the force of Salem public school teachers, and will spend the winter educating the "young idea" instead of sojourning at the coast, as she had planned. She will be situated in the Richmond school, having charge of the fifth and sixth grades.

The faculty of the College of Emporia have abolished the old Freshman-Sophomore flag rush and substituted a pillow fight and cracker contest.

Europe Visited By Jacob Stocker

Jacob Stocker, '15, has returned to his studies after an exceptionally interesting summer. About July 1st he started via the Canadian Rockies and Chicago to New York. Thence by S. S. Rotterdam to Boulogne sur Mer; then on to Paris, which he declares the most beautiful city in the world. From Paris he proceeded to Switzerland, where he spent six weeks visiting friends and relatives. Zurich being his native city, much of the time was spent there. However, one extensive trip was made to the Sanits, one of Switzerland's most famous and beautiful mountains.

The return trip was made through Hamburg, down the picturesque and beloved German Rhine. Stocker's journal for the trip makes interesting reading.

Vexing Question Bothers Committee

Yell Leader Big Question Soon to be Settled.

Wanted—a yell leader. That, in brief, is one of the questions which is vexing the Executive Committee. The qualifications are exacting, the duties strenuous, and the applicants scarce. There is no end of enthusiasm and "pep" about the campus, but as yet it is altogether unorganized. The Freshmen seem willing and anxious to learn the varsity yells, but no leader has been provided for them.

No yells were given at the "Stag," none have been featured at any chapel assembly, and the alumni game was marked by a lone "locomotive," trumped up on the spur of the moment.

A good man is needed to take hold of the job of yell-leader and make the most of it. The position holds unlimited possibilities for originality and requires a certain amount of executive ability. Whoever is chosen for the place will come into a noble succession, in which the most prominent in recent years are "Brick" Harrison and Flegel, introducer of the "undertaker song" and the "locomotive" yell, and erstwhile manager of numerous successful rallies.

Meanwhile, if you have a "hunch" about your own or some other fellow's qualifications, find the ear of some member of the Executive Committee.

Student Executive Committee Elected

Committee Has Important Work in Appointing Student Body President.

On Friday, Oct. 5, the four vacancies of the executive board of the student body were filled. After a close contest, Miss Pearl Bradley, Senior; Mr. Wm. Schreiber, Senior Liberal Arts; Mr. Ivan Bellinger, Senior Medic, and Reeves, Freshman, won out. The first three named are familiar to all and student affairs can well be left in their hands. Miss Bradley has served in this capacity before and is especially capable of handling the work necessary to the office, as was seen from her previous work. Mr. Schreiber is a loyal representative of the school and well deserves the honor, as does Mr. Bellinger, who has served as football and basketball manager.

The first important business to come before the executive committee is the election of a president and a secretary of the student body.

Freshmen Stall— Election Held Up

Juniors Liberal Arts and Sophs Elect—Fresh and Seniors Wait.

Todd Guides Juniors, Kate Barton
Sophomores.—Rivalry
Among Freshmen.

"Oh, the visions of the great future before us leads us on to noble things!" How we enjoyed our season of proverbial bliss and ignorance when we, too, were Freshies—just plain, everyday, green Freshies. How we would revolutionize the school, smite the naughty Sophs and find the act of changing the school system a veritable gold mine of experience. 'Tis sad, but we all must learn and "Freshies come and Freshies go" but these are sure the limit.

Their last feeble attempts at class election are humorous yet pathetic. The temporary chairman is seated amid an uproar of applause. At once everyone addresses the chair and is immediately recognized. You nominate your "special," who immediately clambers upon your back and bears you to the dust. In vain the chair tries to get order, but who can stop a fight among a bunch of untrained pups? Of course, we use this just as a smile.

Because of the great enthusiasm and progressiveness, the election proper was postponed till Thursday afternoon. Probably after a few more practices the class might elect some officers. It is still quite doubtful, however.

The more sedate members of the upper classes have already secured their officers for the season. For the Juniors; Todd will hold the chairman's job; Miss Plummer will be his able assistant, while Miss Penn will record the solemn businesslike proceedings of their meetings; Mr. H. Blackwell will have charge of the class bank and is a worthy guard for such a position; Mr. Gilkey has the editorship of the Wallulah, while Mr. Ralph Homan will be the business manager.

For the Sophs, Miss Kate Barton is the worthy president; Bruce McDaniel holds the Vice-President's job, and Miss Fields, Mr. Oldenburg, Mr. Hall and Mr. Bolt are secretary, treasurer, reporter and sergeant-at-arms, respectively. The class is well organized and are getting down to business early.

The Senior class have not yet elected their officers, but are planning to do so in the near future. The Senior class this year is composed of an energetic bunch of students, who are endeavoring to leave a most glowing record behind them. Here's hoping we may keep the glow glowing.

A LITTLE FREE ADVICE.

From the numerous activities which supplement or divert from the curriculum of this, as of every other, college, there are two which we would commend to every man and woman at Willamette. They are the Christian Associations and the literary societies.

As the only distinctly religious organizations in a school whose foundations were established on the rocks of Christianity, the Young Men's and the Young Women's Christian Associations have a large place to fill. They are laying emphasis upon service, as the aim of every rightly ordered life, they are inspiring many men and women to enter distinctly religious work and many others to carry high ideals of life into every occupation, they are placing the feet of many students on a firmer foundation religiously and morally. In an avowedly Christian college, such as ours, these things may be more frankly treated in the class-room than in some institutions, but an active student organization is necessary to create an atmosphere inimical to the wrong and favorable to the right ideals and practices of the school. This work the Christian Associations are doing in various ways, but largely through the influence of their individual members.

There is no need to review the aims of the literary societies. Every student knows them. No one will deny the value of the training which they give, especially in the line of clear expression and thinking on one's feet. In many schools the literary societies have been crowded into the background by the press of other activities. We are glad that it is not so at Willamette. Her societies are thriving and we hope that her effectiveness may for long be increased by the work of these organizations. The thing for each individual student to do is to line up with one of them and take the work seriously. Then he will reap the benefits.

A NEW FRIEND AND RIVAL.

In another column will be found an account of the opening of Reed College in its own plant. This institution, starting out with excellent equipment and large endowment, is without a doubt destined to play an important part in the educational life of the Northwest. In ideals and aims it has much in common with our own school. In behalf of Willamette University students, we greet this new college and bid her welcome to the sisterhood of Oregon colleges.

A SUGGESTION.

Some student, doubtless a Freshman, has had the unbelievable "brass" to suggest, audibly, really out loud, that the appearance of the campus could be improved by providing a few receptacles into which paper and other rubbish could be thrown. We have heard of a few small towns having a childish pride in the appearance of its grounds but no interest in the deeper things of life, who have actually followed such a plan. The city of Salem, however, has shown a commendable civic spirit by ignoring such a petty matter, and this, of course, is a university with more important interests to attend to.

FAIR PLAY.

Get the habit of patronizing Collegian advertisers. Read the ads. Go a little out of the way, if necessary, to make your purchase of a firm which is helping to support your paper. That is only fair play. They are reliable firms and deserve your patronage. Give it to them. This is one way in which you can prove your loyalty. Will you do it?

STUDENTS BOOST MILLAGE BILL.

The students and alumni have been actively engaged all summer in circulating initiative petitions and forwarding the proposed millage measure campaign, a bill that will enable the University of Oregon to obtain its appropriation every year. The alumni have been working most strenuously for the progress of the petitions.

A checking of the names on the petitions showed that the signers were noted business men and citizens of high standing throughout the state. The supporters of the measure are urging everybody to vote as it will take a majority of all votes cast to carry the bill.

The address by Rev. Dr. Bauer to the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience of young men.

The subject, "Capital Punishment from a Biblical Standpoint," was most ably discussed by the Doctor. His argument was plain and convincing. The appeal for the murderer, whom he proved to be merely a product of our own unbalanced social system, came home to each listener.

When the Doctor had concluded, it seemed evident that had that body of young men the power they would have unanimously abolished capital punishment from our system.

WILLAMETTE CLUB ORGANIZED AT HARVARD

Every student who knew Jimmie Oakes, '12, during the years he spent upon the Willamette campus, will be glad to read this characteristic letter from him, written soon after his arrival in Cambridge, where, as previously stated, he will take up post-graduate work:

"When I get more comfortably settled and keyed up to good working order, I shall be glad to furnish your paper now and then with an installment devoted to my observations of college life and manners, etc. here at Harvard. I should prefer, too, holding off writing till a later date, that my opinion may be fair and unbiased.

However, at the present time, let me inform you that a Willamette club has recently been organized at this institution. It meets at will, 81 Oxford St. Its officers are a president secretary and treasurer, all of which offices I have the honor to hold myself. The organization is peculiar in this regard, namely, that it asks no dues. I thought well to make this stipulation lest, at any time, I should fall at the wayside by defraying my own personal obligations by any monies accruing. The Club is planning to give a banquet in the very near future for the purpose of talking over old times and making jollification generally. Would that you all were to sit at this banquet with me!

Here's the best to the "Old Historic Temple" and its people!

Yours very truly,
J. B. C. OAKES.

EPWORTH LEAGUE AT HOME.

On Friday evening of this week, the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church will hold an informal reception for Willamette students. This has been an annual event for a number of years and has always proven most enjoyable. As the church of a very large proportion of University people, the First Methodist Episcopal is most anxious to make them at home among its membership and the Epworth League social is one means to that end. A most cordial invitation is extended to every student of the University to be present Friday evening to become acquainted with the young people of First Church and have a rousing good time.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

If the attendance at the first Y. W. C. A. meeting may be taken as a gauge of the support which that organization is to receive this year, the prospect is indeed encouraging. We think we are conservative in estimating the attendance Thursday at well over a hundred, for the room was filled up to the leader's desk. After the opening hymns, Miss Pennington led in prayer and the president, Miss Jessie Young, gave a most logical and helpful discussion of "The Geometry of College Life." She explained that life might be analyzed as a triangle, with the three sides of work, love and religion, and that in our hands was the chalk with which we were to draw our triangles during the coming year. Miss McMahon then sang "O Saviour of the World," and the meeting adjourned to an informal tea in courtesy to the new members.

The Y. W. C. A. will have a rare treat in their meeting on Friday of this week. Miss Fox, the Territorial Secretary of the Northwest, will have charge and will present the Bible and Mission Study work for the year. Miss Fox is much beloved by those who know her, and it is hoped that none of the new girls will fail to take advantage of the opportunity of hearing and meeting the supervisor of our work.

In regard to the Bible and Mission Study work, it might be explained for the benefit of those unfamiliar with the customs of the school, that these are offered under the Y. W. C. A. that no fee is charged, and that the time required is an hour a week for each class. This year the courses will be offered as follows:

PHILOSOSIANS RENEW WORK WITH PROGRAM AND SOCIAL

The Philodorian Society held their first open meeting Friday, October 4th, in their society halls. Many of the new girls took advantage of the opportunity to acquaint themselves with various time-honored customs of Old Willamette and with student enterprises.

Following are samples of what they are now looking forward to seeing and hearing in the original:

Student Body Band, Cornet Solo, Miss Ruth Young; First Issue of The Collegian, Miss Edith Sherwood; W. U. Glee Club, Philodorian Quartet; Student Body Meeting, Miss Margaret Graham, presiding.

A short social hour followed the program and all the girls, old and new, met and made the halls ring once more with the good old college songs.

Among the various activities since the closing of the college year last June, the work of the membership committees of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. deserves special attention. In addition to its especial duty in securing new members for the association, these committees have charge of correspondence to prospective students, the meeting of incoming students at the trains, and also the assisting of new students in finding board, rooms, and employment.

It is needless to say that the work of these committees has been carried on in a very commendable manner, under the direction of Mr. Eric Bolt and Miss Ruth Young. It is estimated that, in addition to the work of assisting new students, fully five hundred letters and cards have been sent to prospective students during the summer months.

It is this kind of personal work that has been influential in bringing many of Willamette's strongest men and women within her doors in the past, and without doubt this committee, as well as the others of no less importance, will contribute a large share in shaping and moulding the future student bodies of "Old Willamette."

The Y. W. C. A. girls have been conducting a canvass for subscription to The Collegian during the last week or two. As the work is on a commission basis they, have been doing some tall hustling and a considerable number of subscriptions have come through them in addition to those coming direct to the management.

At Thursday's chapel the Y. W. girls added a number to the list of subscribers by passing subscription cards through the assembly. A large number of students remain who have not signed up for the paper, and an effort will be made to reach all of them as soon as possible. The Y. W.

C. A. hopes a long list of subscribers for the pecuniary benefit, the paper that it may have the solid backing and support of the student body.

W. U. GLEE CLUB BEGINS PRACTICE

Several Old Members Missing—Only Two New Applicants Accepted.

The remnants of the "Varsity Glee Club" gathered for their first meeting on Wednesday at the College of Music. The business was transacted with the club's usual dispatch and prospects for the coming year discussed. Although the club lost many of its good men through graduation last year, its members are optimistic and at least one extended trip and a generally successful year are predicted. The club will commence practicing at once and will have a large and better repertoire than ever before.

The old men who are back are: R. L. Phaff, president; Dan W. Gibson, vice-president; E. C. Gilkey, treasurer; R. D. Manning, secretary; H. W. W. Clark, manager; P. F. Anderson, Glen J. McCaddam, Heck Hewitt, C. J. Hollingsworth.

Great interest has been shown in the try-outs, but as yet none have been mentioned for the club but "Toots" Booth and H. B. Jory.

WEBSTERIANS ELECT AT FIRST MEETING

Large Number of Old Members Back Forecasts Successful Year.

The Websterian Debating Society held its first regular meeting last Wednesday night, with the vice-president, Robert Minton, in the chair. After disposing of matters connected with old business, the society proceeded with the election of officers for the ensuing quarter. The results are as follows: President, Wm. Schreiber; vice-president, William Carl J. Hollingsworth; corresponding secretary, Leland R. Sackett; treasurer, Paul Irvine; critic, Bruce W. McDaniel; marshal, Geo. R. Schreiber.

A large number of applications for membership were received and a lively interest was manifested.

The "Webs" start the year with twenty-eight members, almost all of last year's membership having returned.

The first prepared program will be given tonight at 7:30 in the "Web" halls. New men who are thinking of joining the society are invited to be present.

NOT WORRIED IN THE LEAST.

"I see your son is building an air-ship."
"Yes. He has it nearly finished."
"Aren't you afraid to have him experiment with such a thing?"
"Oh, no; not at all. I overheard him promise to let your boy try the first flight with it."

COLLEGE MEN TO MEET AT EUGENE

Oregonians to Compete at Eugene for Scholarships.

October 15 and 16 were the dates set by the Rhodes Scholarship Board for the examination of all applicants for the Rhodes Scholarship. This examination is open to any unmarried male citizen of the United States, between the ages of 19 and 25, who has completed the Sophomore year in an accredited college or university. This scholarship gives the successful applicant a three years' course in Oxford University in England, and bears a value of $1,500 a year during this period.

The committee assigns the scholarship to one of the number who pass the qualifying examination, taking into consideration not only literary and scholastic standing, but also fondness for outdoor sports, social attainments and moral character.

The granting of this scholarship has been made possible by the will of the late Cecil Rhodes, who endowed or set aside a large sum to support these scholars. It was originally intended that one scholar should be sent from each state in the Union every year, but it has been found necessary to change this in some instances. Oregon gets two scholarships every three years. Willamette has had one representative at Oxford, Edward Winans. The Oregon examination will be held at Eugene. The schedule is as follows:

Tuesday, October 15, 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.—Translation from Latin into English.

1 p. m. to 3 p. m.—Latin prose.

4 p. m. to 6 p. m.—Arithmetic.

Wednesday, October 16, 9 a. m. to 11 a. m.—Translation from Greek into English.

1 p. m. to 2 p. m.—Latin grammar.

"CO-OP" BOARDING CLUBS POPULAR

The "varsity co-operative boarding clubs, namely the Klasse Klub and the Eaton Club, are starting out in fine shape. Eaton Club started up with twenty-two old men and five new ones. Manager Harper says the prospects are good for many more boys, especially when the law students register. The club has accommodations for fifty.

The manager has made a number of improvements about the dining room. The walls have been burlapped and papered and decorated with pennants and pictures. Curtains for the windows have been hung, making the place look very homelike.

The Kloske Klub, established by J. B. C. Oakes last year, will have, judging from the start, a very successful year. There are about twelve old members back at their troughs and fifteen new ones. The club has a capacity of only thirty members. Manager Jory reports that the club is in good shape, while the fellows are enthusiastic about the quality of the "eats" being provided.

On account of the great popularity of the "co-op" plan, it will in all probability be necessary to start another club, if not this year, at the latest next fall.

Following the election of members to the Executive Committee at Friday morning's chapel service, a resolution was presented by F. S. Francis endorsing Governor West's campaign of law enforcement. Coming when the time for the student body meeting had been overrun, the resolution failed to provoke any discussion and passed without a dissenting vote. According to Mr. Francis's statement, it was inspired by Judge Moreland's speech at the unveiling of Dr. Eaton's portrait, in which the references to the Governor's strenuous law-enforcement campaign were loudly applauded by the students.

The resolution reads as follows: Resolved, that we, the students of Willamette University, in meeting assembled, do heartily approve the campaign of law enforcement conducted by Hon. Oswald West, Governor of

VETERANS AND SUBSTITUTES
COMPOSE C. OF O. TEAM FOR NEXT SATURDAY.

According to recent dispatches emanating from the State University, the gridiron cohorts of that institution will be in the best of fighting trim when they clash with Willamette at Eugene next Saturday. The hard luck stories printed a week or more ago about injuries, slow rounding into shape and the like, have been discontinued and the condition of the team is pronounced remarkably good for this early in the season.

With only one or two exceptions the Oregon team will consist of veterans or substitutes of last year. Captain Walker, Heussner and Jones are slated for the backfield positions, with Cornell, former Washington High quarter, the strongest contender for the keystone position. The presence of Bradshaw, Hall, Fenton, Grout, Fariss and other veterans in the line will make a formidable aggregation.

Just what sort of a showing Willamette will be able to make in Saturday's contest is hard to predict. Dr. Sweetland forecasts an overwhelming defeat but there are many who believe that a strong enough defense will be built up to hold down Oregon's scoring somewhat. A victory is altogether out of the question, but this will not detract from the fighting spirit for which Coach Sweetland's teams are noted. There is enough material available so that the varsity should be strong at the latter end, but at present it is handicapped by the necessity of breaking in new men and by lack of time to perfect plays. One thing Willamette supporters can expect, that the team will be full of the Doctor's fighting spirit and that they will be game to the last whistle, no matter what the score.

This year's Oregon Agricultural College football schedule calls for eight games to be played on four fields in three states, Washington, Oregon and California. The aggies are to comply with the following program:

- Oct. 5—O. A. C. Alumni, at Corvallis.
- Oct. 12—Pacific University at Corvallis.
- Oct. 19—Multnomah Club at Portland.
- Oct. 26—Mt. Angel, at Corvallis.
- Nov. 2—Washington State at Pullman.
- Nov. 9—University of Washington at Portland.
- Nov. 16—Whitman College at Corvallis.
- Nov. 28—Occidental College at Los Angeles.

The Opening of Reed College

The opening of the doors of the magnificent buildings of Reed College in Portland Monday, the 23rd of September, was of much significance in the annals of higher education in Oregon and the Northwest. It is seldom, indeed, that a college of such high aims and ideas is founded, and with the present endowment of three millions of dollars, Reed College has immediately become a fixed and powerful factor in raising the standards of institutions of higher learning. A strong faculty of men and women of great intellectual ability has been secured, and an exceptionally high code of entrance requirements has been adopted.

The striking architectural style of the Tudor-Gothic period has been adopted for the buildings, of which only the Arts building and the dormitory have so far been erected. The Arts building contains an assembly hall with a seating capacity of four hundred, the administrative offices, library, biological laboratories, recitation and club rooms, and is capable of accommodating a student body of one thousand members. The college dormitory, where there are rooms for over one hundred and twenty students, is uniform in architecture with that of the Arts building and resembles the attractive style of a manor house in the fourteenth century. The equipment of the dining hall and kitchen is complete to the finest detail.

The central heating and power plant is situated in the ravine several hundred feet north of the college buildings proper. A tunnel carrying water, heat, gas and electric wires connects this plant with the other buildings. Tennis courts and physical culture classes in the open air are provided for the students.

DID IT EVER OCCUR TO YOU?

The boy sat on the porch at night,
The midnight moonlight round him,
And there, without a torch, you might
Have any evening found him.

And later when his stairs he reached
With step as soft as cotton,
Quoth he, "My lit, I'll get that yet,
Though I feel awful rotten."

The steps groaned as he upward
Climbed,

The door creaked shrill and creepy,
He found his bed and fell thereon—
He was "so awful sleepy."

Next day in class he came to life
A question made him dizzy—
"I'm not prepared," he said, "Miss I've been so awful busy."

me.

Three new members have been added to the Lausanne family, making forty-one in all. Miss Lillian Manny of Portland, Miss Margaret Deering of Washington High, Portland, and Miss Frances Pohle, teacher at the Richmond school, who takes boarding school life to counteract the strenuous life of a disciplinarian.

The Cabbage Theatre was opened again Tuesday evening for the first performance of the season. Kewpies made the announcement in mysterious words at the dinner table.

"Too Many Engagements," which was so popular last year, was the first reel thrown on the screen, and received the usual hearty applause. In the second number, medical skill was given a splendid delineation in an operation performed for cancer. It was a success in every way, as the patient was entirely relieved of both cancer and tumor (two more). The house was taken down at the solos rendered by Madame McMahon but replaced again in time for refreshments. Beauty and originality characterized the costumes of both actors and audience.

About fifty girls came in to the house warming given by Ruth Young Wednesday afternoon in her room.

Carl V. Lachmund has been appointed Dean of the College of Music of the University of Oregon for the coming year.

Varsity Warriors and Alumni Tie

Alumni line was the strongest seen on the Varsity field for years. The weight and the head work were theirs and they did practically as they pleased with their lighter opponents.

For the Varsity, Francis was the star performer and the way he mixed into everything was a sight for sore eyes. He ran with the ball, dumped interference and glommed the runner with equal facility, and if he was out of any play, no one knew it. Erskine played a strong game both defensively and offensively and shows great improvement over last year. Stearns, a last year's second string man, played the other half and was especially strong in defensive work. Rowland was switched from half to full and in the new and unfamiliar position his work was very creditable. The absence of MacRae very materially weakened the backfield.

The work of the line was far from brilliant, but considering the light weight of the rush line and the new men on it their opposition to the charges of the heavy Alumni backs was encouraging and gives promise of developing at least a strong defense if not a consistent offense. Blackwell, Bolt and Francis were in their old berths at center, right tackle and right end, respectively. Drake at guard and Young, who alternated with Hepp at left end, were playing with the Varsity for the first time, as were Small and Stearns in the backfield. Robin Day, a substitute from last season's team, held down right guard. With more experience, Drake will be a formidable guard. Young did good defensive work but needs to develop more speed. Bellingher, though light for the position, was played at tackle instead of at his old position at guard.
