HISTORY OF WILLAMETTE

In 1834 nearly a dozen farm families in the lower Willamette Valley and a handful of settlers at Astoria constituted the entire white population of what is now Oregon. In this year Jason Lee and several missionary associates started a school for Indian children beside the Willamette River about 10 miles south of Salem.

Within a few years, the slowly growing group of settlers felt the need for a more advanced school to serve their own children "in order to secure the best education of the pupils in science, morality, and piety." To meet this need, a group of earnest citizens met at the home of Jason Lee in what is now Salem. At a second meeting held February 1, 1842, a body of bylaws was adopted and a board of trustees appointed.

The stated purpose of the meeting was to establish "a collegiate institution" which would "become a university." The board thus constituted has existed as a corporate entity from that day to this and the date of the action is accepted as marking the founding of Willamette University, the oldest college in the West.

The school was known at first as the Oregon Institute. After a territorial government had been established, a charter was granted to the institution in 1854 under the name of "Wallamet University." The original building (first occupied by the Institute in 1844) was a three-story frame structure which served the community as well as the school, since it was considered the most imposing edifice in the Northwest. It housed the first session of the legislature to meet in Salem and sheltered Oregon's first court under United States auspices.

In facing its responsibilities in this remote area, Willamette attempted to serve the needs of the time. In addition to the College of Liberal Arts, a College of Medicine was established in 1866, the first north of San Francisco. It operated continuously until 1913, when it merged with the medical school of the University of Oregon. The College of Law opened its doors in 1883 and was the first in the Northwest. The George H. Atkinson Graduate School of Management began classes in 1974.

Although Willamette's first century was a period of slow growth, her educational strength was revealed in the achievements of her graduates, who reflected honor and prestige on the pioneer school. More recent years are marked by the development of academic programs and facilities. Many new study opportunities and options and many new buildings have been added to a campus that has expanded to 57 acres. In the years ahead, Willamette will not only be regarded as the "oldest in the West," she will also be recognized as one of the best in the nation.

The Associated Students of Willamette University (ASWU) is the student organization designed to oversee general matters of student life at Willamette. ASWU is composed of registered students from the College of Liberal Arts (CLA), Masters of Arts in Teaching (MAT) and Tokyo International University of America (TIUA). Every registered student in the three programs pays ASWU fees each semester. As part of the Associated Students of Willamette University, students may attend ASWU-sponsored events free of charge. Students can also join ASWU clubs or organizations and have the right to vote in all ASWU elections.

ASWU is the primary source of advocacy for students at Willamette. The student government consists of the Senate, various boards and committees, and four elected student body officers; the President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer. All of these individuals are responsible for actively and effectively advocating student concerns and issues to the faculty and administration. ASWU is the student voice in University concerns and is here to serve student needs.

ASWU plans and organizes various social events for the campus, such as a weekly movie series, entertainers in the Bistro, and the Black Tie Affair. Along with the Office of Student Activities, ASWU co-sponsors Freshman Glee, Homecoming, and the Educational Programs Committee (EPC). This service is currently available in the Career Center, but will soon be networked to both the Computer Center and the Hatfield Library.

Regular workshops are offered throughout the school year to assist with writing resumes, cover letters, personal statements, graduate school applications, graduate entrance exam preparation, determining a major, job searches, and interviewing. Career Services also provides Credential Files, serving as a student's "central collection agency" for letters of recommendation, current resumes, course listings, etc.

Each semester, alumni come to campus to discuss their careers based on their majors. Anyone may attend. Juniors and Seniors are encouraged to participate in November's Alumni Career Mentor Day.

Every spring semester, the Career Services office, in cooperation with the Oregon Liberal Arts Placement Consortium, participates in a two-day Career Information and Job Fair. Students at all levels (Freshmen-Seniors and first year alums) can talk and even interview with employers for summer, internship and full-time job opportunities. THE GREEK SYSTEM: FRATERNITIES AND SORORITIES ON CAMPUS

University Center, 2nd floor, phone 6463

Scott D. Greenwood, Director, Student Activities and the University Center

There are six national men's fraternities and three national women's fraternities (sororities) at Willamette. These organizations make up what is referred to as the Greek system. Members join these organizations for a variety of reasons such as friendship, leadership opportunities, philanthropic and service opportunities, scholastic support, and a sense of belonging in a close knit, family-like atmosphere. Membership is for a lifetime. After members have graduated from college, membership in their organization and opportunities for advancement and networking continue.

The process of selecting a fraternity or sorority for membership is often referred to as "rush." This is an organized event which brings individuals interested in learning more about the Greek system together with members of each of the organizations. It is a mutual selection process and no one is guaranteed an offer for membership in an organization. Formal rush occurs during the spring semester for new students. Rush can also be an informal, casual event in which a person is invited to become a member of a particular group that s/he has become acquainted with.

The Interfraternity Council (IFC) and Panhellenic Council (PHC) are the governing bodies for the men's and women's fraternities, respectively. While each chapter is independent of another, IFC and PHC create activities and programs for the entire Greek and Willamette community, as well as broader leadership opportunities on campus.

The women's fraternities have been on Willamette's campus for over 50 years. Alpha Chi Omega and Pi Beta Phi were established in 1944 and Delta Gamma was chartered in 1945. Each chapter has a membership total of between 70-80 women. Each sorority has a unique chapter house that is university owned, but operated by local alumnae in association with the collegiate members. The chapter's local alumnae advisory board hires a full-time, live-in House Director who is responsible for supervision of the kitchen and housekeeping staff. Alpha Chi Omega and Delta Gamma each house 48 members, Pi Beta Phi houses 46.

The men's fraternities are housed in the residence halls. Each chapter has its own wing and brings its own style to its living quarters. Phi Delta Theta, originally chartered in 1946 at Willamette, went through a reorganization period and was rechartered in 1991. Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Chi were founded in 1947. Sigma Alpha Epsilon came on in 1949; Kappa Sigma in 1961; and Delta Tau Delta in 1962. Each chapter has a Fraternity House Director, employed by the University's Office of Residence Life, who lives in the chapter and assists with programming, conduct, and leadership development.

Fraternity/Sorority Membership for First Year Students

First year students may not join a fraternity or sorority until Spring Semester. First year students joining a fraternity or sorority chapter may move into the chapter house Fall Semester of the following year. Exceptions include first year students who have joined an organization replacing members away from campus for the Spring Semester because of participation in the following Willamette University sponsored programs: foreign study, exchange programs, December graduation.

FINAL EXAMINATION POLICY

Preamble: This policy seeks to promote effective preparation for final examinations and optimal conditions for the synthesis and assimilation of course materials by designating and safeguarding specific days at the end of the semester to be devoted exclusively to study. This policy further seeks to assure that the full semester is available to complete course work by reaffirming that a semester does not end until the last day of final examinations. To enhance student learning and performance and to provide an environment for the fair and positive conclusion of work undertaken in all classes, the faculty of the College of Liberal Arts agrees to adhere rigorously to it.

1. The maximum length of a final examination is three hours. Faculty members may schedule shorter examinations if they wish.
2. Faculty members are to give their written final examinations during the times indicated in the published schedule. Students are permitted to take early examinations by obtaining the instructor's approval.
3. The last written examination for a course is to be administered on the day scheduled for the course final examination. No evaluative instrument for a course, including an oral examination, is to be administered or due during the four calendar days prior to the beginning of final examinations. Final oral classroom presentations may extend into those four days but only during the regularly scheduled class times. Finally, a final examination and an additional evaluative instrument are not both to be administered and due on the scheduled day of the final examination.
4. No classes or formal class activities are to be held during the Study Days that intervene between the end of classes and the beginning of final examinations or the Study Days that are scheduled during the week of final examinations. Faculty members are to be available for consultation with students during these times.
5. Final examinations for first half-semester courses are to be administered during the last regular class period. Final examinations for second half-semester courses are to be administered during the scheduled final examination time for that class period as in full semester courses.
6. Faculty members are to make separate arrangements with each student to administer final examinations in courses not covered in the published schedule.
7. All faculty members in the College of Liberal Arts are to have on file in the library a representative sample final examination for each class taught, except in the case of a class that is being taught for the first time.

PLAGIARISM/ CHEATING

PLAGIARISM/CHEATING POLICY

Plagiarism and cheating are offenses against the integrity of the courses in which they occur and against the college community as a whole. Plagiarism and cheating involve intellectual dishonesty, deception and fraud, which inhibit the honest exchange of ideas. In accordance with Willamette University Standards of Conduct, students are entitled to notice of what constitutes plagiarism and cheating, and the right to appeal penalties. Plagiarism and cheating may be grounds for dismissal from the college.

Examples of plagiarism and cheating, and penalties associated with them, shall appear in the student handbook. When appropriate during the semester, such as in conjunction with assignment of a class project or review for an exam, faculty members are encouraged to discuss plagiarism and cheating and how to avoid them.

Definitions and Penalties

Cheating is any form of intellectual dishonesty or misrepresentation of one's knowledge. Plagiarism, a form of cheating, consists of representing someone else's work as one's own. All members of the Willamette University community are expected to be aware of the serious breach of principles involved in plagiarism. Ignorance of what constitutes plagiarism shall not be considered a valid defense. If students are uncertain as to what constitutes plagiarism for a particular assignment, they should consult the instructor for clarification.

A faculty member may impose penalties for plagiarism and cheating ranging from a grade reduction on an assignment or exam to failure in the course. A faculty member also may suggest that the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts initiate further action.

I. Initial Determination and Penalty

A faculty member who has reason to believe that plagiarism or cheating has occurred shall:

1. Immediately meet with the student(s) involved, provide evidence of cheating or plagiarism, discuss the matter, determine whether an infraction has occurred, and decide on a penalty. If the faculty member suspects plagiarism or cheating during a final exam period, and timely resolution is not possible, the professor shall assign the student(s) involved a grade of "T" and provide the student(s) with a written explanation. The faculty member shall meet with the student(s) no later than the first week of classes the following semester to complete the steps outlined above.
2. Within five work days (excluding holidays) of meeting with the student or students, place in a confidential file with the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts a form that details the incident, provides documentation, and indicates the penalty.

Upon receiving the form the Dean of the College of Liberal Arts:

- 1) Shall provide the student(s) a copy of the form filed by the faculty member, noting on the form the date on which it was delivered to the student. All forms in a student's file shall be destroyed at graduation or after seven years of filing, whichever comes first.
- 2) May initiate a hearing by the Academic Status Committee if the Dean believes the report of plagiarism or cheating sufficiently egregious to warrant a hearing on whether the student should be suspended or dismissed from the college.
- 3) Shall, after allowing time for an appeal, determine if there have been multiple violations. If the student's file contains two forms, the Dean shall initiate a hearing by the Academic Status Committee to determine an appropriate penalty, which can include placing the student on academic suspension for a period of time or dismissing the student from the College.

II. Student Right to Appeal Initial Determination and Penalty

A student has the right to appeal the finding of plagiarism or cheating, or the severity of the penalty imposed by the faculty member, to the Academic Status Committee within five work days of the date on which a copy of the form was delivered by the Dean to the student.

III. Academic Status Committee Hearing

The Academic Status Committee shall hold a hearing on the appeal by a student or initiative from the Dean within five work days of receipt of the notice of appeal or initiative. The hearing shall be confidential; the student, Dean, and faculty member, as appropriate, may testify and present evidence.

If, while hearing an appeal, the Academic Status Committee finds that plagiarism or cheating did not occur, then the Committee shall ask the Dean to remove the form filed by the faculty member from the student's confidential file. If the Academic Status Committee finds that the penalty should be changed, then the Committee shall determine a procedure that is fair to the faculty member and the student for changing the penalty. If the Academic Status Committee upholds the decision of the faculty member, the chair will record the decision on the form and return it to the Dean to be placed in the student's file.

If hearing an initiative, the Academic Status Committee shall determine an appropriate penalty.

POLICIES

POLICIES

PLAGIARISM/ CHEATING

The chair of the Academic Status Committee shall provide written notification of its action to the student, faculty member, and Dean. The decision of the Academic Status Committee shall be final.

Examples of Plagiarism and Cheating

Blatant examples of cheating include using books, notes, or other sources not expressly allowed during exams; copying on homework, in-class, or take-home exams; using any form of assistance if instructed to produce work individually; and knowingly assisting another student to engage in any of these behaviors. Examples of plagiarism include failing to cite written material that is directly quoted or paraphrased from another source, or failing to give credit for use of other's ideas, pictures, graphs, diagrams, or figures. Plagiarism can be avoided by following the rules for citation provided in writing handbooks and standard style manuals. Both are available in the college bookstore and in the reference section of the library. The Holt Handbook (3d ed., 1992), for example, contains a lengthy section on plagiarism.

In the course of preparing a paper, doing a homework assignment, preparing for an examination, or participating in a class activity, you may have questions about whether certain practices or conduct could be viewed as plagiarism or cheating. If you have questions, ask your professor! Faculty will respect your integrity for clarifying uncertainties and showing interest in avoiding these problems. The danger lies in engaging in practices or conduct that later could be called into question.

The following examples are provided to further your understanding of plagiarism and cheating. These examples are illustrative only and are not intended as a complete description of the intellectual dishonesty, deception or fraud that are prohibited under the plagiarism/cheating policy.

E.g. 1: Student A and Student B are scheduled to take an in-class examination. Student B is not doing well in the class and fears flunking the course if unable to earn at least a "C" on the exam. The professor announces that students will not be allowed to use notes or books on the exam. Student A writes notes containing key concepts and formulas and affixes them to the bottom of a shoe that will be worn to the exam. Student A then sits in a location and position that allows Student B to read the notes and formulas during the exam. Both Student A and Student B would be subject to penalties for cheating.

E.g. 2: In accordance with the professor's instructions, Student C consulted ten sources while preparing a term paper, and listed all ten sources in the bibliography. Student C also consulted two other sources, and relied on them substantially in developing the thesis of the paper and its structure, but failed to provide citations or to list them in the bibliography. Student C would be subject to penalties for plagiarism and cheating.

E.g. 3: Professor X assigned a set of homework problems and instructed students that they should neither give nor receive assistance completing the problems because Professor X wanted to use the responses to evaluate student understanding of certain concepts. Student D was unable to complete three of the problems. Student D's roommate, Student E, also was in the class and completed the problems without difficulty. When Student E was out of the room, Student D looked at Student E's class notes and paper, then copied two answers. Student D would be subject to penalties for cheating.

E.g. 4: Student F was enrolled in two classes that required preparation of term papers on topics of the student's choice. Without approval of faculty teaching the courses, Student F submitted a copy of the same paper in both classes. Student F would be subject to penalties for cheating.

E.g. 5: Student G found the following statement while doing research for a paper about law school: "The best way to prepare for the law is to come to the study of the law as a well-read person. Thus alone can one acquire the capacity to use the English language on paper and in speech and with the habits of clear thinking which only a truly liberal education can give." (Felix Frankfurter, "Advice to a Young Man Interested in Going Into Law," in Ephriam London, ed., The Law as Literature (New York: Simon and Schuster, 1960), p. 725.) Student G wrote in the paper that "only a liberal education can give a person the habits of clear thinking required for law school," and did not cite Frankfurter. Student G would be subject to penalties for plagiarism for paraphrasing without citation, which is as unacceptable as word-for-word copying.

E.g. 6: Student H was working on a programming assignment in the computer lab and was unable to complete a portion of the program. Student H accessed the account of another student in the class who had successfully completed the assignment. Student H's study of the other student's solution made it possible to complete the assignment, which Student H then represented as having been done without assistance. Student H would be subject to penalties for plagiarism and cheating.

CAMPUS RECYCLING

Baxter Basement, phone 4506

Rory Greenfield, Recycling Coordinator

Willamette University acknowledges the importance of ensuring the efficient and environmentally responsible use of natural resources. In order to accomplish this, Campus Recycling will provide information and educational programs about recycling to students, faculty and staff. Also, Campus Recycling has set up a program which includes centralized pick-ups and color-coded, easily recognizable containers.

Campus Recycling has ambitious goals, such as substantial reduction in the University's garbage bill, as well as providing the Willamette community with a broader range of recycling services.

Recycling representatives will be elected for each campus residence hall. Their duties will include collecting refundable bottles and cans from their hall (the funds from which will be used for hall activities), promoting recycling awareness, watching over their hall's collection area and calling Campus Recycling if any additional services are needed.

PRESIDENT

Employment opportunities with Campus Recycling are also available to students. The job responsibilities include making regularly scheduled pickups of collection areas on campus, working on programs to increase recycling awareness, presenting educational programs and managing the receiving shed. Call the Campus Recycling office for more information.

Willamette currently collects three grades of paper, white paper (color-coded white), office pack (color-coded yellow) and mixed paper (color-coded red). These three grades provide the Willamette community with the opportunity to recycle all types of paper encountered on campus. To assist in proper sorting, posters that show samples of which type of paper belongs in each grade have been designed to hang above each grade's collection bin. The paper that Campus Recycling collects is sold to a paper broker who pays us high prices depending on how well our paper is sorted. The better the sort, the higher the price.

Sometimes, poorly sorted paper will cost us money. The money that is generated from the sale of our paper is used to help finance Willamette's recycling program. It is easy to see how important it is that everyone sort their paper into the correct grades.

In addition to paper, Campus Recycling collects glass, tin, aluminum, plastic, newspaper, cardboard, packing peanuts, block foam, wood and scrap metal. If there are any other items that you would like to recycle, please contact the office, and we can refer you to an off campus business that will take them.

Things that are not recyclable are pizza boxes or anything contaminated with food, tissues, paper towels, napkins, coffee filters, paper plates and cups, stickers, wax paper, carbon paper, laminated paper, candy or food wrappers and envelopes with plastic padding.

The recycling coordinator is available to make presentation to campus groups, as well as to answer any questions about recycling at Willamette.

This program depends on the Willamette community's involvement, so remember: Reduce, Reuse and Recycle!

PUTNAM UNIVERSITY CENTER

The Putnam University Center is the campus gathering space. It offers a place to relax, study, be entertained, buy books, check mail, get something to drink, cash a check, get information, or just watch TV. The popular Bistro Willamette, a student-run cafe, is a place to catch up with friends and is on the first floor of the UC. The other place to grab a quick bite is the Cat Cavern located on the second floor.

The UC also is the home of many offices and services you will need during your time at Willamette. These include the Associated Students of Willamette University (ASWU), Student Publications, the Womyn's Center, Mail Services, Campus Bookstore, Financial Aid, Residence Life, Greek Affairs, Student Activities and the University Center, Multicultural Affairs, Career Services, Chaplain, Campus Ministry, Community Outreach Program, International Student Affairs, and the Vice President for Student Affairs.

The University Center Information Desk, located on the 1st floor, is the place to go to find out about campus activities, cash a check, make photocopies, buy tickets to on-campus and some off-campus events, make local calls at no charge, or get supplies to make a banner for your organization.

UNIVERSITY RELATIONS

Waller Hall, phone 6340

Barbara S. Mahoney, Vice President for University Relations

The University Relations Office serves as liaison with the University's external constituencies: alumni, parents, donors, foundations, corporations, media, and the public. It has responsibility for all aspects of development: raising the funds necessary to meet operating expenses, enhance programs, build capital projects, and increase the endowment. Through the Office of News and Publications, it coordinates communication with people important to Willamette.
