

SCHOLARSHIP STUDENTS TO BE ON CAMPUS

Fifteen members of this year's freshman class are attending school at Willamette under the new scholarship award plan, in effect this year for the first time.

These students are the leaders of their respective graduating classes and represent nine communities of the northwest. Besides the students from nearby cities, a student from Korea is here on a scholarship and another, from Hawaii, comes to Willamette through the University of Hawaii exchange, which also was begun this year.

The honor scholarships authorized in 1935 by the Board of Trustees was to include 25 awards distributed on a definite geographical basis throughout the northwest. They were not used to their fullest extent this year but were distributed carefully and where they would do the most good. Evidence of this is noted in the fact that about 80% of those receiving them are in school this fall.

Willamette scholarships, according to the latest authorization, are awarded on five points: character, scholarship, leadership, success in extra curricular activities, and financial need. The foreign scholarships are awarded on a somewhat different basis.

Those receiving honor scholarships are: Martha Akuda, Ervin Potter, Gretchen Spencer, all of Salem; Julia Philip, Paul Sturges, Basil Anton, Rex Pierce, and George Billings, Portland; Martha Hermann, Roseburg; Lee Verdell Ragsdale, Baker; Kathrin M. Thompson, Astoria; Howard Campbell, Dallas; Margaret Taylor, Castle Rock, Wash.; Glenna Bauersfeld, West Linn; and Neil Shaffer, Kent, Wash.

First M. E. Church Arranges Cabinet

The dawn of a new church era has come to Willamette with the appointment of Miss Mildred Bartholomew as Director of Student Activities at the First Methodist church. For the past few years Miss Bartholomew has been connected with the Wesley Foundation in Corvallis.

Plans have been made for Miss Bartholomew to devote most of her time to Willamette and Salem High school students. It is expected that her coming will cause a noticeable improvement in the religious educational program which the church has to offer students.

The First Methodist Church will hold a reception for all Willamette students Friday evening, October 4, which will be also to welcome Miss Bartholomew.

Dr. Daniel Schulze heads the general committee and other committees have been appointed. This reception is not only for the Methodist young people attending Willamette but for all students who wish to come. It is an attempt to welcome members of the student body to Willamette for the new school year.

Bartering of Waller Results In Founding of Willamette U.

One winter day in 1864, and eyed Methodist Missionary, Alvin Waller, long tired of the leaky roof and squeaky floors in the Oregon Institute, started out to shake-down his neighbors. The idea in mind of sad-eyed Mr. Waller was to erect a building without a leaky roof or squeaky floors in which the arches of surrounding territory might come and rest from their summer labors.

Finding his neighbors hard up, pioneer Waller collected whatever he could find in the way of livestock and produce; returned to the home grounds only to discover that he had forgotten to look up anyone who could quarry brick. With this goal in mind, the absent-minded builder, Waller, discovered two classish Communists in Aurora who thought in

Frats Give First Results Rushing

Names of first pledges of Willamette's three fraternities were released last night by Dr. R. M. Gatte and Dean F. M. Erickson, who are in charge of rushing of men under the new rules adopted last year.

Incomplete list from Alpha Psi Delta names Frank Guerin and Paul Sturges, both of Portland, Ernest Mosier, John Ferguson of Mason City, Wash., Glenn Heimsoth of Los Angeles, Don Hage of Roseburg, Hal Cattley of Canby, Ed Howell, Maynard McKinley and Brant Gard of Pasadena, Cal.

The freshman roster at Sigma Tau so far bears the names of Jack Atton of Helena, Mont., David Clark and Malcolm Waltman of Portland, Howard Campbell of Dallas, Karl Kahle of West Linn and Herman Estes of White Salmon, Wash.

Kappa Gamma Rho announces Leonard Olson, Robert Nelson and Ward Wieneke, all of Portland, Kendall Teisinger of Sydney, Montana, Mervin Brink of Tigard, Wilmer Willis of Los Angeles, Harlie Cornett and Vernon Forbes of Bend and Bill Fisher and Ellsworth Morley of Salem.

STUDENTS OFFERED JOBS IN CANNERIES

More Than 150 Positions Open, is Word From Dean's Office

Salem canneries yesterday came to the rescue of Willamette students who have been unable to find work when they announced that room for more than 150 persons could be found in processing plants now engaged in turning out a record run of prunes and pears.

Plants making the offer of employment were Hunt Brothers' cannery and the Oregon Packing company.

Word was sent Dean Daniel Schulze, present head of employment activity for students, and notices were posted on the university bulletin board in Eaton hall.

It is not known just how many students can have time available to enter work in the canneries, since schedules may conflict to some degree, but it is expected that a good number will take advantage of the offer of work.

BOB SMITH ELECTED TO LEAD FRESHMEN

Bob Smith, ex-editor of the Salem High School Clarion was elected temporary chairman of the freshman class at the meeting held Wednesday in Waller hall.

New Library Setup To Aid Students

A new desk has been installed in the library for Miss Etta Westenhause, librarian, who has since Dr. Franklin's retirement gained, among other titles, that of reference librarian. The desk will give Miss Westenhause a convenient place to work, and, it is hoped, will make her more accessible to students.

RETIRES

FRANKLIN RETIRES LIBRARY POSITION

Dr. Frank G. Franklin, Willamette University reference librarian was retired from service in June by action of the Board of Trustees. Although this decision is effective for the coming school year, Dr. Franklin plans to be in the library much of the time and will be available for student conferences.

After attending the Wisconsin State Normal School, Dr. Franklin received his B.L. degree at Cornell and his Ph.D. degree at the University of Chicago. He has taught in various colleges and universities in the middle west and came west to accept a position at the University of Pacific.

In 1918 he became Professor of Social Sciences at Willamette. He was made head librarian in 1921, in which position he remained until 1932. Since that time he has held the office of reference librarian.

No arrangements have been made to fill Dr. Franklin's position, and he will be glad to meet all students who wish to come to him for help. During the time he has spent as librarian, Dr. Franklin has given generously of his time and thought so that the library might be more useful to students.

SELF ATTENDS NATIONAL MEET

George Self, member of the campus Y. M. C. A., was elected secretary of the National Council of the Student Christian Association at their recent convention at Hightstown, N. J.

George left Salem on August 25. He spent five days at the Hightstown conference, a week in New York, and a day in Washington, D. C. He returned to Salem Sept. 17, and has now resumed his studies as a Junior.

The trip was made possible by his election to the office of Y. M. C. A. Northwest Field Council Chairman last spring at the Y. M. C. A. retreat at Seabeck. In that capacity he was elected to attend the National Council at Hightstown.

During his trip, George saw Carl Marcy, '34, and Mrs. Marcy, formerly Mildred Kester, who is also an ex-Willamette student. At the College of Physicians and Surgeons, he saw Lowell Eddy, '34, who is studying at Columbia University, New York.

CHAPEL PERIODS TO BE UNUSUAL WITH NEW PLAN

Through the efforts of President Baxter, Willamette's historic chapel period is expected to be the most interesting and colorful feature on the campus this year.

"Within a month we plan to give the people of the Northwest as well as the student body and faculty of Willamette a chance to hear such men as Governor Martin, Earl Snell, secretary of state, Rufus Holman, state treasurer, and other noted men both state and nationally known," Baxter said.

Plans are under way to get the radio hook-up which will not only be heard by the local people on KSLM, but by the entire Pacific Northwest. When this is accomplished Willamette will hear nationally known speakers as well as high officials of this state. This will put people of the entire country in close touch with Willamette's high standard of education and it will then rank as the only radio chapel broadcast in the entire Northwest. Dr. Baxter believes that this idea will be one of the greatest advancements since his coming.

BEARCAT TO HOWL FOR FRIDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL PARADE

Rally to Begin at Eight O'clock; Is Time of City Fall Opening

University students here will make townspeople aware of their presence Friday night when, in preparation for the Willamette-San Jose grid contest on Sweetland field Saturday night, a Bearcat rally and parade will be staged at eight o'clock.

Students will gather on university grounds and will serpentine through downtown streets. At conclusion of the parade, they will return to the campus tennis courts where a giant bonfire will be lighted. Yells will be given and songs sung at the fire.

The opening rally of the year will come in conjunction with Salem's fall opening, time when merchants decorate their windows in the latest of styles. One hundred local firms are cooperating in this event.

Lee Eyerly, local aviator, will fly over the city at time of the opening and will throw from his plane a number of tickets to the football game Saturday night.

Merchants will unveil their windows at 7:30 p. m. Friday. Window cards were placed yesterday by the Salem Ad club to designate stores which are participating in the fall opening.

The Salem Kiltie band will furnish music for the event.

LEADER

BLUE KEY LOOKS FOR GREAT YEAR

Galen Dean, president of Blue Key, predicts a big year for the organization which has service as its primary objective. The club very recently took over the school's housing problem as its first project for this year. They have inspected all rooming houses which have registered at the registrar's office and will be glad to assist any freshmen to obtain living quarters in a desirable place. The information bureau in Eaton Hall is another project which has done much to aid new students. The bulletin board in Eaton Hall will be kept under the auspices of the club.

Plans for the fall include the Father and Son Banquet, joint meetings with the chapters at Oregon State and Pacific; also to assist the Salem Breakfast Club, Salem Cherrians, and Spec Keene in entertaining the San Jose football team.

Membership to the organization is taken from the upper two classes. Other officers for the year are: Kenneth Manning, vice-pres., Dwight Aden, secretary, and George McLeod, treasurer.

NEW DIRECTOR FOR WILLAMETTE BAND

Wesley Roeder, new popular director of the Willamette band this year, is expecting to have one of the largest and most colorful organizations ever representing this institution.

"With the interest and enthusiasm already shown and the great cooperation of President Baxter and the A. S. W. U., I am confident Willamette will have a band to be proud of," director Roeder said.

About 50 members have signed to be present at practice, and many more are expected to sign before Thursday when the first practice for the San Jose game starts at 4 p. m. in Chresto Cottage. Among the members signed include two state champions and popular players from Alaska, Nebraska, Montana, California, and Wisconsin.

Mr. Roeder states that new snappy uniforms will be purchased along with many new instruments. Due to the fact that the Coast Artillery Band has recently been transferred to Salem, which Mr. Roeder will also direct, many instruments from this source are obtainable.

Willamette's new 45 piece band will make its first debut at the San Jose-Willamette game. Plans are made to play popular college marches from institutions throughout the country and this will add greatly to the spirit necessary in carrying Willamette (Continued on Page 4)

Dr. Schulze Made New Dean of Men

During the past few years the need for a Dean of Men has been acute. The responsibility of the university to find work for those students who are partially or wholly dependent upon their own resources was a problem that a leader had to solve.

Dr. Daniel G. Schulze was appointed to that position by action of the board of trustees at its meeting in June. The appointment came after many students in private conferences with University administration officials have suggested that Dr. Schulze be appointed to the office. These suggestions were the direct result of the students' appreciation for Dr. Schulze's fine influence on the campus.

Through the efforts of the new Dean and his staff many positions have been filled for the university students. Throughout the year plans have been made to aid the boys in their problems through conference periods.

DEANS SEEK JOBS FOR STUDENT AID

Strenuous efforts to obtain work for Willamette students are being made under the supervision of the Deans by various members of the faculty and student body. The appeal for this sort of aid has been brought to the attention of Salem citizens through all possible channels.

Besides the newspaper publicity, students have made announcements in local churches and university representatives have called the attention of such service clubs as the Lions, the Kiwanis, and the Ad club to the need of their cooperation in securing work for students.

Six programs were broadcast last week through the cooperation of KSLM and under the direction of Dr. Schulze, the new Dean of Men. These programs took place on the stage of the Elsinore theater.

Each day a member of the faculty spoke during the broadcast. The speakers in order were, Dr. Baxter, Dr. Mathews, Dean Dahl, Dr. Schulze, Dean Erickson, "Spec" Keene, and Prof. Jones.

The skit, one installment of which was produced each broadcast by members of the Chemeketa Players, was written by Marion Minthorn. This skit is the story of a brother and sister who decided to come to school but, because of financial reasons almost abandoned their plan but were finally able to stay in school because of positions secured in local homes. Charles Cater assisted Dr. Schulze in making arrangements for this series of programs.

The skit was interspersed with music by Helen Benner, organist, and Eleanor Moore, Hazel Shutt, Ronald Craven, and Elizabeth Clements, vocalists, assisted by a group of Willamette students.

Dr. Schulze wishes it understood that, while everything possible is being done through his office to assist needy students in finding jobs, he makes no pretense of taking that burden entirely from the shoulders of the students themselves.

"That is a part of one's education," said Dr. Schulze, "and I have no wish of depriving anyone of it, even if I could, and I certainly cannot."

Campus Receives Official and Public Approval as Capitol Site

The proposed selection of the Willamette University site for the new Oregon State capitol building is now supported by the Board of Trustees of Willamette University and Governor and the State Board of Control, as well as many local organizations.

The old capitol had been outgrown for years and at the time of the fire it was too small to fill the needs of the state building. The new ground will be broken for the new capitol by January 1, 1936, if the present plans materialize.

If the site is bought from Willamette it would mean that the university would move to a new site on the 34-acre property known as "Bush's Pasture." With the increase in size of Willamette the present buildings are fast be-

SAN JOSE SET TO LOOSE AIR ATTACK ON WU

Warner Style of Attack May Lead to Passing Gridiron Battle

BEARCATS PRACTICE-SHY

Opening Game of Season Expected to Draw Big Crowd to Grounds

With only two weeks of regular practice under their belts, the Willamette Bearcat champions are preparing to tangle with the San Jose Staters this Saturday evening on Sweetland field.

Last year the Bearcats swarmed all over the Southern California team to win by an easy 21 to 7 score, but the coming contest promises to be a couple of different stories. The State team, which boasts 18 lettermen, will arrive in Salem today, giving themselves a couple of days to take the kinks out of their legs.

According to advance reports the San Jose team should be plenty smooth; they have a letterman in every position on the team except center, and a half-dozen extra veterans to fill in with. Ever since the first of August they have been in training, and that added to two months spring training should have them in tip-top shape.

They use the Warner style of play, which indicates that Saturday night's battle will see the southern team take to the air with an array of forward and lateral passes.

Coach "Spec" Keene will again pin most of his scoring hopes on the touchdown aces, plunging Dick Weisgerber and elusive Johnny Oravec. Last year these two tore through, around, and over opposing teams to pile up big scores in almost every game.

"Plenty of backs," was Keene's comment after watching Weisgerber, Oravec, Olson, Stone, Beard, Brandon and some other likely looking players go through their paces.

Spec is initiating a much heralded new shift which he has devised, and it is expected to fool the best of them. It has been dubbed the "Graveyard Shift," since it's either going to scare opponents to death or fool them that bad. "If the line will hold from tackle to tackle, we'll give them a real game," was his comment as to the way the game would go.

He is faced with the job of replacing five All-Conference men, most of whom came from the middle of the line. At the present time, Neurell and Williams are doing most of the passing back from the center position. In Newhouse and Vagt he has a couple of tackles who tip the scales at quite a few over 200 lbs. Woodbury, Billings and Kallie are others who are showing promise. At the guard posts, Hoyt, Yada, Becken and Patterson are all built heavy from the ground up, and should be able to open and fill lots of holes.

To the Fresh:

Speaking as a representative of the three classes who have preceded the present class—and for the rest of the student body who are not definitely allied with these groups, may I greet you Freshmen—the youngest yet largest single group of this year's student organization. The A. S. W. U. is as much for you fresh as it is for the rest of the school and I do hope—no, I know—you will become an integral part of it. We must all cooperate to the fullest to insure a successful year; and I am counting on your class for a great deal in the coming year.

Sincerely,
BRONK WILLIAMS,
Pres. A. S. W. U.

New Plan Suggested

The Collegian is not supposed to take sides on the selection of the ground for the new Oregon State Capitol. The writer believes it would not be out of place to say this much. If the "Bush's Pasture" site should be secured for Willamette University and seven hundred fifty thousand to be available for new buildings on that site which was the picture in the Governor's mind then, Willamette U. would have what amounts to a hundred acres for a campus against the present eighteen, to be located on as beautiful a spot as is conceivable. It would have entirely modern buildings and the best of new equipment. The buildings would have been erected and arranged for the purpose they would be devoted to and would have ample space for athletic activities. The spot would be centrally located and would be convenient to all facilities that are now available. Is that not a perfect setting?

Learn the Willamette Songs

Schumann-Heinks and Carusos are very rare in the college rooting section. But there is no reason why any student should not know the words of his college songs and sing them with real enthusiasm. Nothing is more disheartening than to watch a large assemblage stand and listen to half its members sing, "Fight, Bearcats, Fight," simply because the rest have never taken the trouble to learn their own official school songs. The true Willamette rally is a valuable force in molding campus spirit and in remedying a deplorable situation.

On For Willamette

Recently we heard the opinion expressed that Willamette does not sponsor enough social functions for the entire school. A new student soon becomes identified with his group and so is shut off from association with students out of his circle of friends.

This year our social life is under a new schedule. Each student should now feel that he is a member of Willamette A. S. W. U. rather than of a particular clique.

Get out students and attend the games, rallies and student body functions. Let's break up to some extent the little clique and strengthen our strong clique—Willamette University. We're off for a big year!

Back the Bearcats

Last year Willamette won the Northwest football championship. Our squad came up against the best teams in the Northwest, and when we came off the gridiron on the long end of the score we had ample reason to be proud.

Saturday night "Our team" goes out on Sweetland field against one of the best teams on the coast. Will the student body back Spec Keene and the boys? Yes! 550 A. S. W. U. people will be out backing the Bearcats against the Spartans.

LAW SCHOOL THIS YEAR STANDARDIZED

Acting on a plan formulated last year, the Willamette Law School has been modernized and its library enlarged. This summer's work has standardized the school so that it now has national recognition.

The law school library has increased its formerly cramped quarters by 50 per cent. It now includes all of the south half of the basement of Waller Hall formerly occupied by the janitor's room. This additional space has permitted rearrangement and complete cataloging of all volumes.

Standardization has been brought about largely through the adoption of the case book method of instruction, rather than the text book method, and increasing the size of the library by the addition of modern law books. These new books were made possible through the effort of the law school alumni. Two full time instructors have been added to the faculty and class programs extend throughout the entire forenoon.

Wesleyans Give Freshmen Bid

The Willamette Wesleyan organization which holds weekly meetings in Chresto Cottage, at which time lectures and discussions of popular problems are enjoyed, wishes to invite all interested freshmen and new students to their meetings which will be announced later on the bulletin board in Eaton Hall.

Dr. Baxter Speaks Oct. 11 to Teachers

Dr. Bruce Baxter has accepted an invitation to speak to the main assembly of the annual Marion county teachers' institute to be held at the senior high school building Friday, October 11.

Dramatic Stage Ready for Work

Under the supervision of Prof. Rabe the dramatic societies on the campus are looking forward to another successful year.

The Homecoming play which will be presented the first of October is the first venture for this season.

Many people who were prominent in the work on the campus last year were graduated and there are several fine openings in the field.

Hobart Kelley, '28, and Miss Francis Wilson of Portland were married August 11 in Hilton Memorial chapel in Chicago. Mrs. Kelley is a graduate of Whitman college and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Mr. Kelley has received his master's degree from the University of Chicago. They will make their home in Ketchikan, Alaska, where Mr. Kelley is on the high school faculty.

The marriage of Miss Florence Marshall, '33, and Hal Bolinger, '24, was solemnized August 14 at Bozeman, Montana. Mrs. Bolinger was formerly employed at the United States National bank in Salem. Mr. Bolinger is deputy county attorney at Bozeman.

Miss Madaline Schmidt, '34, and Kenneth Oliver, '35, were married August 18 at the home of Prof. and Mrs. E. S. Oliver of Salem. They are making their home at Willamette, Oregon while Mr. Oliver teaches in the West Linn-Oswego high school.

The marriage ceremony of Miss Winifred Graham and Leo Huston, ex-W. U., was performed August 25 at Bend. Mrs. Huston has been secretary to C. A. Howard, state superintendent of education, for the past eight years. Mr. Huston is connected with the Western Lumber company at Westfir.

Miss Verda McCracken, '31, was married to Elmer Edwin Young of Minneapolis, Minn., September 12. The bride has been in charge of A. A. U. W. classes in foreign languages for several seasons in Salem. Mr. Young is a professor in art at the University of Minnesota.

NECROLOGY

Dr. Myra Brown Tynan, well-known Portland doctor and assistant city physician, died in July at her home. She was the daughter of Thomas and Sarah Brown, pioneers of 1847 of Roseburg, and a sister of the late Supreme Court Judge George M. Brown, '85.

Dr. Tynan was a graduate of Willamette University Medical School with the class of '89. She also did research and post graduate work in New York city. She had been on the staff of the Portland health bureau for 17 years, and was active in civic organizations.

Surviving are her husband, P. H. Tynan, and a son, Robert P. Tynan of Portland; two brothers, Thomas and Frank Brown of Roseburg, and a sister, Mrs. Agnes Wheaton of Chicago.

W. Howard Bernhard, aged 26, ex-W. U., died in August at a Salem hospital after a serious illness of a month. Burial took place at Newport, Wash. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. William Sisson of Sunnyside, Wash., and a brother, Clayton V. Bernhard, Associated Press staff writer of Salem.

Attention Called To Library Rules

The library wishes to bring to the notice of both old and new students the rules for its use. The library is open on school days from 7:30 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. with the exception of the chapel hour, and on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The reserved section is closed to the public. Books on reserve may be gotten at the desk, and they are for use in the room only except between 9 p. m. and 8:40 a. m.

Unreserved books circulate for two weeks, and may be renewed with the permission of the librarian. Periodicals circulate for one week, except current numbers, which circulate as reserved books, and bound numbers, which do not circulate. Current numbers of some of the more popular magazines are kept at the desk, and may be gotten from the librarian. All books taken from the stack should be checked out at the desk, whether or not they are to be taken from the room. Books which the Willamette library does not

BOOKS

The opening of school finds many interesting books of all kinds on the library shelves. Among 1935 fiction received during the summer is "Deep, Dark River" by Robert Hyle, a story of a Southern negro. The situation is typical of general conditions, but Mose is an individual personality, and one to be remembered. The story of the injustices which he met in his peaceful attempts to get the simple things which for him constituted happiness makes him a sympathetic character, and very interesting to those unacquainted with the South.

Those who have not read for their instruction and amusement the now popular "100,000,000 Guinea Pigs" by Arthur Kallet and F. J. Schlink have missed a wide variety of interestingly shocking facts about foods and drugs, such as the statement that a German army officer committed suicide by eating a tube of Pebecco toothpaste. This book, which exposes the ineffectiveness of the Food and Drug Administration and the consequent worthless or harmful products that we buy, is made really interesting by the fact that actual names of familiar products are given. A similar book, that deals with cosmetics, has come out recently and is in the library. It is "Skin Deep" by Mary C. Phillips, and it is even more interesting because, while few of us make extensive use of drugs, everyone uses regularly at least a few of the products mentioned here. Girls especially should find it attractive.

"The Jungle in Sunlight and Shadow" by F. W. Champion has enjoyed some popularity among Willamette students, but it deserves still more notice. It is outstanding especially for the many beautiful photographs with which it is illustrated. Huge elephants, wild-eyed bears, queer pangolins, surprised leopards, graceful deer, and many other curious and beautiful animals photographed in their natural environment by the author illustrate the interesting text. Realizing that there might be some to whom the subject which to him is most absorbing and fascinating would be of less interest, he requests that those who do not have time to read the whole book should, besides looking at the pictures, at least "peruse and ponder" upon the last chapter, which is an attempt to invoke sympathy for what he believes wrongly regarded as the cruel jungle.

"Behind the Door of Delusion" by "Inmate Ward 8" is the story of life in an insane asylum, written by a man who for obvious reasons prefers to remain anonymous, during the time that he was an inmate. It reveals much that is not ordinarily known about life in such an institution, and tells it from the viewpoint of the inmate and his reactions to his strange environment. Dedicated "to a better understanding of those on the inside by those who are not yet locked in", it attempts to destroy some of the popular fallacies concerning the asylum and the insane. Personal interest in the author is added through the introduction of his own very difficult personal problem, and the solution to it that he finally attains.

"Good-bye, Mr. Chips" by James Hilton, which has been very popular everywhere since its publication last year, is one of the books on this year's recreational reading list. A simple and appealing story of an English schoolmaster, short enough to be read easily by busy students, it should be enjoyed by many.

own may be gotten from the state library by asking the librarian.

For the infringement of the above rules the following fines are imposed: five cents an hour or 15 cents a day for reserved books overdue; two cents a day for two week books; one cent a day for periodicals, except current numbers which are the same as reserved books. A notice is sent without charge to a person having overdue books. Failure to settle the matter will result in a second notice with an extra ten cents charged, and the third notice from the registrar adds 50 cents, and disbursement from classes will result if the book is not returned and the fine paid. The library regulations are imposed in order that the students may all enjoy the greatest benefit from the library and cooperation is requested of the students.

Shirley Temple

"Curly Top" . . . If there is one thing picture audiences like more than anything else, it's Shirley Temple's singing. Shirley sings two of her cutest, most fetching songs in the show. All Shirley's songs have been hits—"Baby Take a Bow" and others that are still being hummed and sung all over the land and on the stage and over the air. But when they hear her sing, "Animal Crackers in My Soup" and "When I Grow Up", they'll hear Shirley at her singing best!

Shirley has three new and intricate dance routines in "Curly Top". She does a tap dance atop a piano—she does a rope-skipping novelty dance and she does the cutest "Oh and Ah-inspiring Hula" that ever whirled the hearts of an audience. Two Royal Hawaiian tribes have made Shirley a princess after hearing of her "hula" dance. And she does it in a real Hawaiian grass skirt.

Bartering of Waller

communistic underlings worked with a will, but still refused to see the value of a university built by Methodists in a wilderness—at least without pay.

Nevertheless it was a proud day for jovial Mr. Waller when three years later, in 1867, he gazed upon the red brick walls of his creation. It was with greater pride when the class of '67 marched from the old leaky-roofed, crackling-floored Oregon Institute building which rested in shambles in front of the site of the gymnasium of today. Many speeches were made and proud Mr. Waller dedicated the building.

If brother Waller had looked out of the window toward the south as he was making his speech he would not have been astonished to see ducks swimming about on a slough where at present college men sometimes play football. If he had looked out of the north door he would have seen a path winding its way toward the then clear river. Branching from that path he would have seen another path leading toward his door. It was on this path that the class of 1905 built the present walk.

Had older Waller, in taking his early morning constitutional climbed to the hilltop in the south, he would no doubt have gloried in the beauty of his monument rising high above the forest that carpeted the valley as far as the eye could see. He would have breathed the aroma of the rich carpeted earth and dreamed of the future Willamette as he stood in the morning sun.

SALEM'S GREAT MORNING DAILY

INTERESTING BETROTHALS ANNOUNCED

Three prominent Willamette graduates have announced their betrothals this summer which have stirred much interest on and off the campus.

Miss Naomi Hewett has announced her engagement to Mr. Frank Lambertson of Wapato, Wn. The wedding is planned for October 20 at the home of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. F. G. Hewett, in Independence. Miss Hewett was graduated from Willamette a year ago. She was a member of Delta Phi sorority and president of the house her senior year. She was a princess in the May Festivities and active in musical circles.

Miss Naomi Hewett

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Frances Stewart and Mr. Donald Egr was made known several weeks ago at a charmingly arranged tea at the home of Miss Stewart's parents in Silverton. The announcement was revealed by tiny parchment scrolls. No date has been set for the wedding. Miss Stewart was graduated last June from the University and was active on the campus. She was affiliated with Delta Phi sorority, president of her house last year, and May Queen. Mr. Egr is now a senior and a member of Sigma Tau fraternity.

September 29, has been set for the date of the marriage of Miss Savilla Phelps and Mr. Harold Busick. The engagement was told at a tea for which Miss Ruth Pick was hostess last week. The wedding will take place in Portland with Dr. Dan Poling officiating. The bride-elect attended Willamette and was a member of Beta Chi sorority, Pi Gamma Mu, and Theta Alpha Phi, national honoraries. Mr. Busick attended Salem schools and is now in business here where the couple will make their home.

Big Sisters Enjoy Week-End At Beach Homes

Last week end the Big Sisters retreated to Neskowin at the beach homes of the Ellis Purvine's and Frank Spear's. The purpose of the trip was to make further plans in helping the freshmen this year. It was decided to make the Big Sister movement last more than one week and extend throughout the first semester.

Those making up the party were the Misses Charlotte Litchfield, Jane Bellinger, Lunelle Clapham, Hilda Crawford, Margaret DuRette, Norma Fuller, Helen Marcy, Melva Belle Savage, Marjorie Thorne, Jean Hollingworth, Ruth Yocum, Irma Oahler, Cornelia Hulst, Lucille Brainard, Helen Purvine, and Mrs. Edna Ellis.

Fraternities Busy With Rushing

At the head of the social calendar of the three Willamette fraternities the next week is the active rushing of the new men on the campus for the first time. Invitations are many and varied, including breakfasts, dinners, luncheons, and stag parties.

Monday evening the Sigma Tau's entertained with their annual taffy pull which was followed by a serenade. Tuesday a canoe party was held on the Willamette river. Dinners and informal stag parties climaxed their rushing.

Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity honored the new men with a line party followed by a supper at Tokio Sukiyaki Monday evening. A dance at the chapter house was held Tuesday night and later they went on a serenade.

Members of Alpha Psi Delta fraternity honored a group of new men on the campus Tuesday evening with a stag party downtown followed by refreshments at the chapter house. Several informal dinners concluded their entertainment.

Miss Margaret Haag spent part of her summer vacation visiting Miss Fathie Sherburne at her home in Browning, Montana.

Miss Dorothy Keeton will leave within the next two weeks for Corvallis where she will take up her studies at Oregon State.

Freshman Being Welcomed This Week On Campus

The social whirl for the freshmen began this week with receptions, teas and stag parties. The freshmen were exclusive in their parties the first of the week, but tonight the upper classmen will have a look in and will be able to take their first glimpse of the freshmen in their best "bib and tucker" at the formal Y. M. Y. W. Reception.

Monday evening the annual faculty reception was held at Lausanne Hall honoring the new freshmen. This was the first opportunity that the new students had of meeting the faculty. In the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Baxter, Dean and Mrs. Frank Erickson, Dean and Mrs. Roy Lockenour, Dean and Mrs. Daniel Schulze and Dean Olive Dahl. The evening was spent informally with games in play, directed by various professors.

The campus Y.M.C.A. was host to the freshmen men at the local Y.M.C.A. Tuesday evening. Swimming, games in the gym, and hand ball occupied the evening's entertainment which was followed by refreshments.

At the same time the Y.W.C.A. girls were hostesses for a Personality Party in the Willamette Gym. The Big Sisters and their little sisters were honored guests. Everyone came dressed in the personality they chose to represent. The purpose of the party was to get the freshmen better acquainted with each other. Games were played during the evening with Lorene Tompkins in charge. A supper was served late in the evening.

Wednesday afternoon was the scene of a charming informal tea at Christo cottage, when the Big Sisters honored their little sisters. Autumn flowers were used about the room and on the table. Mrs. Frank Spears and Mrs. Morton Peck presided at the tea table. Miss Charlotte Litchfield was in charge of serving assisted by the Misses Melva Belle Savage, Charlotte Schneller, Mary Jeannette Sargeant, Margaret Hauser, Lois Burton, Una Lee, Mildred Conlin, Jane Bellinger, Josephine Hall, and Mrs. Genevieve Vehrs.

Tonight the entire student body will trek out in their formal attire, headed for the Willamette Gym, where the Y. M. and Y. W. will be co-hosts for their annual reception. The affair will start at 8 o'clock and everyone is urged to attend in order that the freshmen and upper classmen may become acquainted.

Miss Julia Johnson will introduce to the receiving line which will consist of George Self, President of the Y. M., Helen Knight, President of the Y. W., Dean Olive Dahl, Dean and Mrs. Schulze, and Bronc Williams.

A musical program is planned for the evening and an orchestra will play between the entertainment. Bill Lemmon will act as master of ceremonies. The cardinal and gold color scheme will be carried out in the decorations and programs.

Weddings Are Numerous During Summer Months

Weddings and engagements of several alumnae of the University have been announced during the summer months. Dan Cupid plays his part during the school year, therefore culminating many romances in the summer.

The first bride to take her vows was Miss Betty Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis of Portland, and Dr. Leslie Frewing, of Baltimore, June 5. The ceremony took place at Mount Vernon Place Church, Baltimore. The couple will make their home there where Dr. Frewing is now practicing. The couple was graduated from Willamette where both were exceptionally active in campus activities. Mrs. Frewing was a member of Delta Phi sorority and May Queen her senior year. Dr. Frewing was affiliated with Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity.

June 26 marked the date of the marriage of Miss Lucille Flannery and Mr. Harold Rose at the Pioneer Methodist Church, Portland. Miss Helen Rose, sister of the bridegroom was the bride's only attendant. The couple are now making their home in Portland. Mrs. Rose was a member of Alpha Phi Alpha sorority and Mr. Rose of Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity.

Miss Margaret Eddy became the bride of Mr. Robert Kelley at an impressive ceremony July 14 at the home of the bride's parents in Independence. Miss Marjorie Moser of Seattle was maid of honor, and Miss Patsy Conly of Portland, flower girl. The couple are residing in Independence where Mrs. Kelley teaches in the high school. Mrs. Kelly is a graduate of Willamette and was a member of Delta Phi sorority.

Coming as a surprise to their many friends was the marriage of Miss Florence Marshall and Mr. Harry Bolinger Jr., of Bozeman, Montana, at Idaho Falls, Idaho, August 14. Up until the last several months Mrs. Bolinger has made her home in Salem with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Marshall. Mrs. Bolinger is a graduate of Willamette and a member of Beta Chi sorority. Mr. Bolinger attended Montana State College and graduated from the Willamette Law School. He is a member of Delta Theta Phi, legal fraternity. The couple are making their home in Bozeman, where Mr. Bolinger is deputy county attorney.

The home of Professor and Mrs. E. S. Oliver was the scene of a lovely wedding the evening of August 18 when Miss Madeline Schmidt became the bride of Mr.

Kenneth Oliver. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver will make their home in Willamette, Oregon, where Mr. Oliver has accepted a teaching position at the West Linn high school. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver are graduates of the University and were active in journalism circles.

The last of the mid-summer brides was that of Miss Margaret Wells and Hollis Naylor, both of Portland, at the Rose City Methodist Church, with Rev. Fred Taylor officiating. Miss Hortense Taylor was the maid of honor. The couple plan to make their home in Seattle, where Mr. Naylor is doing research work at the University of Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Naylor attended Willamette, later transferring to Washington. Mrs. Naylor was affiliated with Beta Chi sorority on this campus.

Sororities End Summer Rushing

Entertaining done by the sororities of the campus during the summer months consisted mainly of informal rush parties honoring the new girls planning to enter the University this fall. Small groups of members and rushees made up line parties, breakfasts, luncheons, and swimming parties. Each sorority entertained with a large party both in Portland and in Salem.

Salem Beta Chi girls were hostesses for a picnic at Paradise Island in August. Swimming was the main diversion followed by the supper and a wienie roast. The Portland Beta Chi's entertained with a charming tea at the home of Miss Marguerite Clarke, honoring the Portland rushees. Later they were hostesses for a line party followed by a midnight supper for their guests.

A trip to the Carl Abram's beach home at Roads' End was made by the Salem Delta Phi's and a group of their rushees on Sunday in August. The day was spent informally at the beach with lunch and dinner served. The Portland Delta Phi's honored their rushees with a buffet supper and several informal parties.

Alpha Phi Alpha sorority honored their rushees with a semi-formal garden party at the home of Hilda Crawford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crawford. Dancing and games were the diversion of the evening. Punch was served from a moss colored barrel. An electric Alpha Phi Alpha pin hung above the garden pool.

Miss Betty Swift flew for the first week of September to enroll at Wellesley for the coming year.

GALA DANCE GIVEN BY SORORITIES

Climaxing the summer rush season of the sororities on the campus, an inter-society dance was held at Hazelgreen, Friday, September 13. The three sororities: Beta Chi, Alpha Phi Alpha, and Delta Phi were sponsors for the semi-formal dance. Over 200 members, rushees, and their escorts attended the affair. Simple, but effective decorations were used. Black and silver stars decorated the orchestra pit and the walls of the hall. The crests of the three sororities were made in black and silver and hung above the fireplace. Black programs with stars were given to the guests and members. Patrons and patronesses for the dance were Prof. and Mrs. Morton Peck, Mr. and Mrs. William Ellis, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Yocum.

The inter-society council served as directorate for the dance. Miss Catherine Headrick was decoration chairman, Miss Doris Unruh and Jean Cladek arranged the programs, and Miss Jeryme Upston was in charge of refreshments.

Daleth Teth Gimmel Honor New Girls

The Salem girls of Daleth Teth Gimmel were hostesses for a formal reception in the gardens of Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Gatke, honoring the Salem girls who planned to enter the University in the fall, the last of August. In the receiving line were Mrs. Robert Gatke, Dean Olive Dahl, and Miss May Rinco. The garden was beautifully illuminated with Japanese lanterns. Light refreshments were served on the terrace. A varied musical program was presented during the evening.

Schrack-Harris Leave For East

Miss Amelia Schrack has recently accepted the position of assistant dean of women at Syracuse University. She will also study personnel work while there. Miss Schrack left last week for the east and will take up her duties September 19.

Miss Schrack was exceptionally active on the campus, being a member of Beta Chi sorority, Cap and Gown, and Pi Gamma Mu.

Fred Harris, a graduate last June, left Saturday for New York where he will enter Columbia university. He will also serve as an assistant instructor at Horace Mann School in New York.

Harris was president of Kappa Gamma Rho fraternity, member of Blue Key, and Pi Gamma Mu. A year ago he was a member of the American student delegation sent to Japan during the international student conference.

Miss Doris Unruh accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Unruh, sister and brother, spent six weeks touring the Pacific Northwest and California, spending some time at the San Diego exposition.

Miss Margaret Nunn enjoyed two weeks cruise to Alaska and surrounding points the first part of the summer and since then has visited at Forest Grove and Marshfield with her sister and brother.

Mr. Winthrop Henderson and Mr. William Miller enjoyed a motor trip to Yellowstone National Park and visited friends in Montana.

Miss Pauline Winslow is on an extended tour of the United States and the eastern seaboard. Miss Winslow has been gone all summer and will not return to Willamette until the last of October.

Not all suckers come on sticks, although a great many come from them.

RAMBLING SHOPPER

By UNCLE WILLIE

Hi-de-ho, pals and gals! Seems sorta good to see ya back again. Guess that's because I don't owe any dough to youse guys. This little column is for the benefit of youse unfortunates what don't take less than 24 hours per week, and what wants to be on the up-and-up with the rest of your palsie-walsies.

For the benefit of our Freshmen Uncle Willie wants to drop a hint. Although Mr. Spencer has worked hard to take the silvers and rough spots off of the seating equipment in the library, your covering around your lower limbs, especially at the back of your lap, will soon assume a shine and eventually a thinness. Nothing short of an act of faith, hope or charity will keep your clothing together, then. Knowing this, from experience, Uncle Willie went shopping the other day, and what he didn't find!

Down on Commercial Street, while rambling between State and Court, he was attracted by Bishop's window display. Going inside he was immediately welcomed by a clerk who must have been slightly blind, because he said, "Are you a freshman at Willamette? Let me show you our line of green sweaters." Before he could answer, another man come up to him and smile and said "Hello, there! Glad to see you back." He was nice, that man was. His name is Mr. Cooley, boys, and he's anything but that towards you. Uncle Willie saw George McLeod in there very poignantly trying to get his number 12 KEE's into a 9 B. George finally succeeded, and after lacing up the right shoe found he had left his big toe outside, thinking all the time it was the left shoe. But what a snazzy pair of shoes he did finally steer out of there. Bishop's carry the Picture and Friendly line for only $4.95 and up. A dandy shoe for the coming social events. Uncle Willie also saw Laurence Morley trying to buy things there, so if you readers think their example is worth anything, let us ask you to profit by it.

Going around the corner on Court street and up High, we had to stop and gawk at the photos in Miller's window done by the Jetson-Miller studio. There is one in there which strongly resembles the mug of our beloved Ty Gillespie, gals, but don't block the doorway. The girls, especially, will like to roam around in Miller's, because there are so many good-looking things to buy there, embarrassing forbidding Uncle Willie from writing about some. And if you should see a handsome species of the masculine sex walking up and down the aisles, why that's Mr. Keith; so go up to him and say, "Hello, Mr. Keith, I'm from Willamette", and watch him smile. And gals, what a smile! You'll get efficient service and real buys, especially if you let him know you're from the University. "Sizzle" Sherwood, tennis champ around Newberg and points north, works in the boy's department after classes, and has a good line (er, that is, in his department. Don't take Uncle Willie wrong.) Pants and shoes and miscellaneous articles necessary to the college man are also at MILLER'S at reasonable prices.

Uncle Willie next dropped in at WARD'S (Montgomery-Ward is too hard to spell) and found the genial manager, Mr. Newman, not too busy to take a personal interest, and investigation, into what a college man and woman could buy, and at the same time save money. Although WARD'S is not the largest store, they carry a large stock of good wearables, Uncle Willie found, and so he feels he can recommend WARD'S.

By this time Uncle Willie was tired and hungry, but before going home he could not help but stop in at THE SPA to enjoy a quiet repast. Mr. Myers has watched Willamette students come and go to THE SPA for many years, and he always is eager to meet the new students and welcome back the old. He whispered into Uncle Willie's ear (the left one—it's the good one) something about a very special luscious hamburger, made of real meat and deliciously flavored and relished, for a very trivial sum. Just the thing for the "date" after the parties, dances, or shows, fellows!

And so, being mortal, Uncle Willie must go to sleep now, but if you want to take me shopping with you, why—sure!

The bigger they come the harder they fall was Willamette's motto when they arranged this year's schedule, and to prove it they started the season off with three games against opponents of the first water.

This Saturday evening they meet San Jose State, which has a team that is destined to make the big guns of the Pacific Coast league sit up and take notice. Dad DeGroot, mentor of the visiting team, boasts 18 lettermen on his squad, eight of whom are seniors and plenty tough.

It seems that DeGroot has different ideas than the majority of coaches in regards to paying athletes for their services. He openly pays their room and board, and the result of this procedure landed him on the outside of the Far West Conference. Last year he sent his team into a conference co-championship, but this year DeGroot has visions of contests with the large schools of California.

This policy hasn't done his football prospects a bit of damage, as is evident by a glance at his list of players. They have been in training for almost a month, and have worked up a smooth working combination that features plenty of wide-open play.

After this hurdle comes Oregon State, the team who won by a couple of touchdowns from Willamette last year on a mud-soaked field that almost resembled a lake. A week later, on the 5th of October, the Bearcats travel to Pullman to meet the big Washington State eleven.

After such a whirlwind start, the first conference game will be on October 19 with the College of Idaho. Then follow C. P. S., Pacific, and Whitman interspersed with open dates.

Unless more conference tilts are arranged Willamette may end up at the end of the season with four wins, no losses, and still not be champions of the Northwest Conference. Such things have happened before, since another team in the conference which has no game with the Bearcats can play the five other teams, and in the event that they win all, would be ranked above Willamette since they would have more wins to their credit.

GUESSIN' with GARY

Dear Spec:
I have been studying your play in Sunday's Oregonian and do not agree entirely with it. Why not put the mouse in the backfield? He should be better at finding holes than opening them. I like your idea of the fellow on the horse. I've had some fullbacks that should have been on horses. Why not shift the doll into the line. The men on the other team might fall for her. Don't see why you want a wing-back with B. O. I'd advise more showboaters. Is this a hidden ball play? I can't seem to tell which one has the ball.

It seems that one of Willamette's grads who now happens to be coaching in an Oregon high school sent Coach Keene the above letter. He was talking about Spec's new "Graveyard Shift" which is worrying everyone in the Northwest conference. This new shift allows passing and running combinations from the same position that should fool plenty of opponents.

Speaking of head-aches, Keene had one the other morning when he learned that Gordon Williams, veteran signal caller who laid out of school last year, had left for Stanford. Williams was at the Alpha Psi house Tuesday evening when he received a long distance call from his wife in California, collect. After a little argument, martial ties won out over football, and Gordon left the next morning at 6 bells for the sunny south.

It begins to look as though Willamette would have to give other teams in the Northwest conference a handicap if they want any conference games. After some of the drubbings received last year, only four teams, C. P. S., Whitman, Pacific and College of Idaho were brave enough to sign up for games this year. The result is three open dates on the schedule.

And now for the very delicate subject of predictions. While in a very pessimistic mood the other day, Keene said he was afraid San Jose would win by two touchdowns. After discounting his prediction about three touchdowns, and flipping a few coins we arrived at the score of 7 to 9, Willamette. And as for the O. S. C. game, there are several fellows who are going to be disillusioned about $5 worth if the State college comes out on top. We have heard rumors that the first word in the title of this column should be "Gassin" instead of "Guessin'".

BILL BEARD OUT WITH BAD ANKLE

Bill Beard, sophomore backfield ace who was slated for a good deal of action this fall, broke his ankle Tuesday afternoon in scrimmage practice, and as a result will be out for the entire season.

He was tackled, and the sudden jerk cracked a bone, resulting in a cast and crutches for the next month. Beard said it was possible that he might go home until the second semester to let the leg heal up properly, and to save himself a year of competition in the Northwest conference.

New Courses Are Added

A required reading course, similar to one now in use by the University of Pennsylvania, has been added to the Willamette curriculum for the year 1935-36.

New courses have been undertaken and entrance requirements have become more stringent. A student must have at least sixty semester hours credit in a school of liberal arts in order to be enrolled. This new rule will automatically disbar about 19 special students, but an increased enrollment is expected to make up for this decrease.

DOUGHNUT SPORTS ARE TO START SOON

A comprehensive intramural sports program for both boys and girls; that is Graduate Les Sparks' plan for the coming year.

At the first student body meeting, which will be within the next few days, the inter-class rivalry chairman will be elected from the list of those who are majoring in physical education.

A tennis tournament for men and women comes first on the fall program, and during the winter, basketball and swimming meets are planned. In the spring the regular indoor league, along with another tennis tournament and a pass ball series is planned.

Fight, Sons of Old Willamette
Fight 'till the battle's done,
With valor ever bold for the Cardinal and the gold
Fight 'till the victory's won,
Many hearts are standing by you
With a spirit ever true,
Fight, with courage never dying,
Fight, Willamette U.

Victory for W. U.
Victory for W. U.
The bell in the tower rings.
The battle's done;
The victory's won;
Cardinal and Gold are flaming
Proudly o'er us.
Here's to the Bearcat team
Who carried our colors through!
Our song shall go
'Till the world will know
There's a victory for W. U.

Fight, Bearcats Fight
Fight bearcats, fight,
A victory for W. U.
The Cardinal and the Gold,
Victorious of old,
Shall give us a spirit ever new,
Cardinal courage shows
And Gold in our faith so true
We shout a war cry out to you!
Come on and fight, fight, fight,
Fight, fight, fight!

Transfer-Frosh Rolls Increase

Transfers from other schools are entering Willamette in greater numbers this year than has been the case for many years previously according to Mrs. Schreiber, registrar. This increased group of transfers, together with the enlarged freshman class of this year appears to be the direct result of the campaign carried on by Pres. Bexter, Prof. Jones, and other members of the faculty during last year.

other state buildings, as they will be needed in the future, but because it is centrally located with reference to the supreme court and state office buildings, the plan would develop into a series of new buildings of which all Oregonians will be proud.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Crow and small daughter are visiting friends in Salem this week. Both Mr. and Mrs. Crow are Willamette graduates. He was a member of Alpha Psi Delta and Mrs. Crow was affiliated with Beta Chi sorority.

Miss Katherine Eaton who was a member of the class of '37 will attend Oregon State college this fall.

SPORT SPOTLIGHT

By Roy Ferris
Ole Olson, the plunging full-back of the Bearcats, says that people are mistaken about his weight. "No, I don't weigh 235 lbs." he said, and added that poached eggs were a bit too light of food for his diet even after a tonsil operation. The big 205 pound back who hits like a small Kansas cyclone was anxiously hurrying to find Marilyn Miller's column in Sunday's magazine section when glaring headlines stood out on the front page. "I'll find Mrs. Keene yet, I want to have a nice long talk with her" declared Ole as he hurried along to football practice.

Assistant coach, Howard Maple, has a tough assignment trying to think up new stories everytime the little football star, John Oravec, forgets to sweep the gym floor. While in the coaches' office yesterday Maple glanced at the floor and sighted a few grains of what is called sand. He made a dash for the phone and soon had Johnny on the wire telling him the place hadn't been swept for at least a month and a half. Also that an Willamette official had just visited the gym and had stepped on some gum in the middle of the hall. Maple declared that it had been there so long that it was harder than a billiard ball and the official became slightly over-balanced and fell hard to the floor. Johnny was so enraged at being disturbed at his marble game at a nearby amusement house that the slam of the receiver was heard for blocks. When Johnny finally arrived at the coach's office he also had a good story to tell. He explained that it was only last year that he had swept the floor so often that it became thin and the University was threatened by a huge expense of replacing it. "And besides," says Oravec, "I'm sure someone has stolen the brooms."

Coach Keene is terribly worried over the tackle positions. Lack of reserves in this department has forced him to move Bill McAdams to one of the tackle posts. George Erickson has first call at the left end post if this change becomes permanent. Abbot and Phillips are also fighting hard for the position.

"Tootie" Beckon, guard, was injured in Monday's scrimmage session. Beckon had two stitches taken in his face and one tooth knocked out. He will be out of practice for a few days but will probably be able to go when the tooter blows his whistle for the Santa Jose State game.

Bill McAdams was on the bench early in the week with a painful toe operation but Bill says: "Toe or no toe I'll be out there for Wednesday's practice." Bill also stated that San Jose State has one of their strongest teams in the school's history which is mostly due to their new athletic setup. "We'll have to play the breaks and stay on our toes every second to beat San Jose. It's going to be a tough game but I believe I can get back on mine," Bill said.

Discussion Series For English Majors

Dr. Henry Kohler has arranged a series of informal afternoon gatherings to be held at his apartment in the Music Hall to acquaint the new students with the other English majors.

During the afternoons to be devoted to the meetings, Dr. Kohler has arranged with Miss Enness and Professor Marshall to furnish music for entertainment. The first of the series of parties will be held next week.

John Ross, and Bob Jeffcott, ex-W. U., spent several weeks in Salt Lake City, Utah, this summer. They toured through Yellowstone and Glacier National Park and spent some time in Boise, Idaho.
