Players Present 'Oscars' To Ellsperman, Hitchman

Ann Ellsperman and Jim Hitchman received best actress and actor awards for the school year as a result of their performance in the Willamette production "Papa Is All." These and other awards were presented at the WUP's Award Banquet Wednesday night where the organization's officers were also announced.

Best supporting actress award goes to Margie Leonard for her work in "12th Night" and the best supporting actor is Dick Geer for his work in "Papa Is All."

Best actress and actor in the one act play productions were named as Barbara Remelmeyer and Doug Graham, the award for the best acting in this division went to Sue Mellor and Kent Lawrence was named the best director.

Special awards were presented by Sue Mellor and went to Julie Mellor, Carl Blanes and Suzanne Lovely. The "senior award" was presented by Shirley Dean to "the most promising freshman," Judi Wood.

Garold Meinke received an award for the most outstanding production of the "Studio A" radio show from Bob Witham. Other radio awards went to Rollin Cocking and Tom Scheidel for their efforts in "Campus Chat-ter."

Sue Mellor and Bob Kaplan were presented tributes by Dean Graunke, drama director, for service to the theater. Dr. George Hocking and Darrel de Chaby received honors for the most contribution to the drama department for not being connected with it.

The selection of Garold Meinke as the radio manager for next year by Director Graunke was announced. Meinke's plans for the new season include bigger shows which open the way for the participation of more students.

Officers for next year's WUP's organization were revealed with Margaret Conklin automatically becoming president as she is the senior scholar. The new vice-president is Margie Leonard, the secretary-treasurer is LaVaughn Sleeper, and the historian is Judi Wood.

Theta Alpha Phi, drama honorary, also reported the students it had tapped for membership. They are Dick Geer, Garold Meinke, Ann Ellsperman, Patsy Older, George Evans, Margie Leonard, Jim Hitchman, LaVaughn Sleeper, Johanna Beckham, Barbara Remelmeyer, Ann Shidell and Margaret Conklin.

This is the first year the banquet was held by the drama group and plans call for it to be an annual event. Seventy people, including Willamette dramatists and those interested in the theater, were present at the dinner.

Barbara Remelmeyer was general chairman in charge of the banquet and Sue Mellor, who is the retiring president of WUP's, acted as the mistress of ceremonies for the evening.

Eisenhower, Stassen Resolve As Mock Convo Candidates

Eisenhower won the mock convention nomination on the fifth ballot Saturday night after five hours of speeches and demonstrations in connection with the various candidates. Stassen was selected for the vice presidential post.

Stassen opened the convention Friday afternoon with a speech in the gym. He came out in favor of a modified form of universal military training and a diplomatic academy to rank with West Point and Annapolis for future ambassadors.

Senator Carlson of Kansas, scheduled to keynote the convention, was forced to leave early due to plane reservations, so Oregon's Senator Morse took that job as well as his original post as convention chairman.

Chiding the Republicans for their "smear tactics," he warned them to stop treating labor like second class citizens.

"Let's not play partisan politics with issues; let's find out the facts," he said, declaring that

Ocean Swim Fatal For Chuck Todd

By Pete Pratt

Chuck Todd

Willamette suffered a deep loss Tuesday when Charles Kelsey Todd, Jr., a sophomore, became a victim of treacherous ocean currents near the Devil's Punch Bowl at Otter Rock while swimming with two other students during the recreation period of a biology department field trip.

According to Paul Baker, 19, also a sophomore, there was no factual basis to the statement attributed to him that Chuck had challenged him and Marguerite Dawson, 19, also a sophomore, to swim around a reef to Otter Rock. Baker said that he, Miss Dawson and Chuck were "just out swimming through the breakers," and had drifted toward jutting rocks north of the swimming area without realizing it.

The three were on their way in, Baker considerably in the lead, when they became caught in a rip tide and Chuck called for help. Miss Dawson, who is a Red Cross waterfront safety instructor, called to Baker to go in for aid, and went back herself to help Chuck. She towed him for some distance until Chuck became panicky and forced her to let go. She encouraged Chuck to swim along beside her for a while, but finally waves carried him back.

Miss Dawson, though quite cut and bruised from the rocks, reached the shore safely without aid.

Houses to Vote

All living organizations are to elect student council representatives for next year and submit the name to the student body office by 3 p. m. Wednesday, May 21. The first meeting of the new council will be held at 4 p. m. that Wednesday.

McCarthyism is a danger not only to the GOP but to the nation as well.

Earlier in the day the convention went on record as opposed to UMT and Franco Spain and in favor of immediate statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, revision of the Taft-Hartley act and adoption of the Hoover commission report.

Alabama yielded to Minnesota in the roll call so they might nominate Stassen. Arizona gave its place to Kansas to put up Eisenhower. This was followed by a noisy demonstration and parade bearing signs such as "Boston doesn't ban Ike."

After Arkansas yielded to Ohio to place Taft's name on the ballot, his supporters paraded around the gym to the accompaniment of a band. Senator Morse received a spirited ovation after he was nominated by the Oregon delegation. Other candidates up for consideration were MacArthur, Paul Hoffman and Governor McKeldin of Maryland.

Russian Film Due Tonight

"Alexander Nevsky," a Russian film on thirteenth century Russia, will be shown tonight at 7:30 p. m., in Waller hall as the last of the UNESCO sponsored foreign films this year.

A famous prince in Russian history, Alexander distinguished himself by defeating separate attacks on the country by Swedes, Germans and Manchurians. He ruled a fishing province that bordered the Black sea.

Alexander's chief victory was that over the Germans in saving the city of Novgorod, one of the only two Russian cities at the time, from attack. Pskva, the other city, had already been captured and sacked by the invading Germans.

Petitions Due Wednesday

Petitions for the posts of Homecoming and Parents' Weekend and Freshman Orientation managers will be due Wednesday. These are three separate positions to be filled this spring in preparation for the coming fall term.

Petitions should be submitted to the student body office before 3 p. m., Wednesday, and should include the candidate's past record, and future plans for the weekend or program he is petitioning for.

The student council will vote on the submitted petitions for its appointments.

There will be an Activities board meeting on Monday in room 21 of Eaton hall at 4 p. m., for all those interested.

Students Told Where to Vote

Local, county, state and national candidacies as well as delegates to the national convention this summer will go on the block today in Oregon's primary elections.

The polls are to open at 8 a. m. today and will continue so until 8 p. m. Students eligible to vote and who live in campus living organizations can cast their ballots at the Court House. Those of Alpha Chi Omega can vote at St. John's Lutheran church, Bishop House at the Senator hotel, Chi Omega at the Court Street Christian church and Delta Gamma and Pi Beta Phi at the Christ Evangelical parsonage at 1760 State street.

Large Vote Responds to Student Body Election

Willamette students turned out 664 strong in student body balloting last Thursday and Friday and elected Rollin Cocking over Tom Scheidel as ASWU president for 1952-53. Cocking gained the coveted post in one of the largest voting turnouts in Willamette's history.

Other results saw Jim Hitchman gain the post of first vice president over Bill Covert; Bob Stone defeated Paul Jewell in the race for second vice president; and Dick Mercer won out over Jim Bergmann for treasurer. As a result of his second running for president, Tom Scheidel automatically become member at large.

The secretarial race between Amaryllis Lilles, Mary Ellen Phillips and Marlene Vincent ended with no one getting a majority of votes, causing a run-off between the two top candidates, Miss Phillips and Miss Vincent. Miss Phillips won the post of secretary in a vote held Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

In the same election, voting was held for yell king and queen for next year. Ed Whyte and Pete Pratt, both freshmen, gained enough plurality for a run-off election between those two. Jo Taylor led in the voting for yell queen, leading Liz Gunn and Ruth Joseph who will be in the run-off with her. Lou Prediletto stated that the revoting for yell king and yell queen positions will be next Tuesday and Wednesday.

In almost all cases, the winning candidate won by a fairly wide margin, something that has usually not been the case in past years. Cocking defeated Scheidel by almost a 2-1 margin and Hitchman more than doubled the vote over Covert.

Tabulation on the voting is as follows: Cocking over Scheidel, 426 to 232; Hitchman over Covert, 445 to 218; Stone over Jewell, 377 to 287; Mercer over Bergmann, 391 to 272. For secretary, Lilles had 126 votes, Vincent 223 and Phillips 293.

Prediletto, who disclosed the tabulations, did not have the exact figures on the run-off elections, but for secretary, Miss Phillips defeated Miss Vincent by a very close margin, the only one in the elections. Miss Taylor had a wide lead over her opponents for yell queen and Whyte claimed a substantial margin over Pratt in yell king balloting.

Bob Small's Success

Last weekends Mock Republican convention, nominating, on the fifth ballot, Dwight D. Eisenhower for president, and Harold Stassen, vice president, will go down on the list of Willamette events as one of the most successful of the school year 1951-52.

To Bob Small, convention chairman, go real laurels, for, working nearly single-handedly, he organized, promoted, chaired, and coaxed the Mock Convention until it became one of the finest in the country.

Eleven Oregon colleges and universities took part in the convention. Nothing but good reports have been heard from the other schools participating. There was much speculation beforehand that the convention had been "fixed" in Ike's favor, and it seemed at first that the Portland schools had made a concerted effort to prevent his nomination. Those of us who took part in the workings of the convo are sure that it could not have been rigged. No one person would have been strong enough, though some thought they were, to swing that number of delegates to anyone.

Balloting was controlled, in that most of the delegates had instructions from the states they represented, and, at least for the first few ballots, held to the instructions. For a time, it was anybody's guess as to who the nominee would be.

This writer was astounded at the amount of politicking and real interest shown in voting resolutions and balloting. Fever pitch was reached at various points in the convention. Townspeople and students who viewed the convention were nearly compelled to stay until 1:30 a.m. when the convention closed, as all the machinery was fascinating in operation.

Many of us had our eyes opened as to what actually does happen on a convention floor. Listening over the radio could not equal this liberal education we received in a space of about 16 hours.

In four years, Willamette will again hold a Mock Convention. We hope, at that time, that every student will actively participate.

Bob Small is the one responsible for the tremendous success of the Willamette Mock Republican Convention. He can rest after a long year's work, on the satisfaction of a job well done. M.L.L.

Scarborough Attends First Washington Reunion, Tells of Students', Professors' Reminiscences

By Don Scarborough

Washington, D.C. (Special)—Willamette seems to have produced a family of former students who will never be able to forget their college days. At least, that is the impression one would have gathered from the conversations overheard this week in Washington, D.C.

Eleven graduates of Willamette held a reunion—their first since they left college—and it was almost enough to make a student want to turn professor and stay at Willamette all his life.

The meeting was organized by Prof. Chester Kaiser, Willamette's visiting professor to American university where he is studying for his doctorate in history.

11 Note Changes

The 11 attending the banquet-meeting concluded that Willamette has not always been the same school.

"I can remember when a girl who danced or a boy who smoked was automatically expelled from school," declared Mrs. Isabelle Nofsker Bove, who graduated in 1926.

"I danced my way through school and used to sneak back to Lausanne afraid that the University would learn I had been dancing that night."

Willamette graduates were the most sought-after teachers in the state, she said, because they brought a good moral philosophy as well as learning into the classroom.

Mrs. Bove, who returned to Willamette last year for a reunion, noted Willamette had "changed a lot." She regretted that Bush pasture had been "ruined" by McCulloch stadium as "that was where the boys and girls would go to spoon."

Chapel Segregated

Equipped with an amazing memory, she recalled that men and women were once seated separately in chapel and that a group of students was once forbidden by Prof. Clark to eat a box of strawberries that had begun to ferment while they were on a geology trip.

She also recalled some of her professors, Dr. Pearce, Dr. Gatlake (who would hold class under the steps at Waller hall) Miss Latimer, Professor Brown and Dr. Peck.

Others in the alumni group have become prominent men in Washington circles. Robert Sayre, who graduated in 1949 with a degree in political science, is now working in the state department on the Point IV program in Latin America. He is better remembered as the nation's top debater in 1949 and as the winner of a state department internship.

The other Willamette man who won one of the 22 internships offered that year is Harold Adams, Jr., who earned his BA in 1943 and his LL.B in 1949. He is now a legislative assistant to Senator Wayne Morse.

Mark Gives Flowers

Another debater who attended the meeting was Wallace Steen McCall, who graduated in 1945. He recalled that he and Adams were the "most unbridled, unpredictable" debate team on the coast. He also recounted the argument he and "Mark" (Hatfield) once had over who should present flowers to Bidu Sayao, soprano who appeared again at Willamette this year. Hatfield won and McCall picked up the check.

He did graduate work at Yale, Paris, Heidelberg and Frankfurt and is now with the Mutual Security Agency (successor to the Economic Cooperation Administration, which handled the Marshall plan) where he is an economist and an executive secretary to W. Averill Harriman, administrator of the Mutual Security program.

McCall and Sayre exchanged caustic comments about the merits of their respective aid programs—Point IV and MSA.

Korean Alum Writes

Byung Chool Koh, a native of Korea, graduated from Willamette with a degree in political science in 1951. His family was politically active in Korea and he is still doing some writing on the subject of Korea and the Japanese peace treaty for several of the Washington papers. In addition to Korean and English, he understands Chinese and Japanese and is now translating maps of China and Korea for the army.

Royal V. Hart, a 1948 graduate in history, is now an archivist at the National Archives. His wife, Lois Lewis Hart, attended Willamette for two years until 1946 and majored in religion.

Hart recalled that he had considerable trouble staying awake in Prof. Brown's physics class. One day he started snoring. Brown told him to sleep more softly as he was keeping the rest of the class awake. Since that time he has had the "utmost respect for Prof. Brown."

Henry A. Ulvin received degrees in political science and in 1948, in law, and will take the District of Columbia bar examination in a few months.

The only two who were still attending Willamette, in addition to Professor Kaiser, were Willamette's Washington Semester students, Bob Ulrich and Don Scarborough.

Chapter Foreseen

The group hoped to form an alumni chapter, but decided to wait until the fall when possibly they could contact more of the graduates of Willamette in the Washington area. According to Kaiser, a number of important persons are included:

A consulate in the Korean embassy, a legislative assistant in the senate foreign relations committee (Carl Marcy), a minister of the United States in Portugal (Ivan White), a vice-president of American Telephone and Telegraph, a personal physician to the late President Roosevelt and several armed service personnel.

McCall also felt that any alumni group that was formed here should attempt to improve the diet of Pres. Smith. McCall, who saw Dr. Smith when he visited Washington recently, said he ate "chili, ice cream and some kind of lemon pie."

The group agreed generally that the "Willamette family" and its traditions would be hard to equal no matter where one went. Glee, classes, professors, and Willamette social life, they concluded, have made college life "the best years of our life."

Beefs - Bouquets

To the Editor:

We are anxious to explain to the students at this time our reason for the abrupt discontinuance of plans regarding the Student Rating and Evaluation Survey which we, through the Educational Policy committee, presented at a recent faculty meeting.

It was our sincere hope to promote better relations between faculty and students by offering to conduct a survey beneficial to the desires of both parties. In this survey students would have had the opportunity to frankly and constructively evaluate their professors, and professors would have been able to benefit by channelling these opinions and suggestions to practical application.

However, even though this project was approved by a majority vote at a regular faculty meeting and a student council meeting, there has been a great deal of dissension and controversy caused by those professors who either do not understand completely our plan, or who, for some reason of their own, do not wish to see such a survey take place on the Willamette university campus.

We had many sample survey sheets and valuable information collected of similar survey techniques from schools such as University of Michigan, University of California, and University of Oregon to aid us in a thorough and democratic study.

It seems a shame the survey must now be discontinued and withheld from the benefit of those who approved and wished to participate. We hope that the faculty as a whole will investigate and become acquainted with such surveys because they are becoming popular and widely used in colleges and universities throughout the United States, to the satisfaction of students and teachers alike.

Members of Cap and Gown

Dear Mary Louise,

This is the type of letter which I find rather difficult to write. The main reason for it is the fact that it applies to so many people. However, there are some people who did just about all the work on the Mock Convention and whom I would like to thank at this time. These are the people that started working on the convention with me in late October of last year and stuck with it until the present time. I will no doubt forget one or two names, but that does not mean that everyone that worked on the affair does not have my deep and sincere appreciation.

Above all, I think that George Buland deserves the greatest amount of commendation for his work. I don't think that he kept track of how many hours he put in, but, if he had, I am sure that the total would be quite amazing. Marilyn Merz, Joyce Crouch, Frances Smith, Burke Samuelson, Bob Batchelder, Bob Packwood, Daline Montag, and Sharon Perry all deserve the thanks of the entire student body. Amaryllis Lilles, Joe Benninghoff, Carolyn Matter, Bev Lytle, Fred Lincoln and Marge Aldinger are also deserving of appreciation.

To be sure there are others that made the affair a success. It is not to be thought that they do not have the thanks of this individual or any of the others that worked on the convention. I think that our only regret is the fact that more of the students here at Willamette did not take a more active interest in the convention. Our only hope is that the program will be continued four years from now.

For Men Only

is the provocative title of a film which played last week at the Elsinore theatre. Basically the film is the story of fraternity hazing and how it leads to the death of a rushee. Secondly it is the story of how the sadistic and neurotic rush chairman of a hypothetical fraternity at a hypothetical university and a luscious co-ed with nymphomaniac characteristics conspire to get rid of a professor who wishes to abolish fraternity hazing at the university. There were other complications in the plot of the film which had the effect of contributing to the distaste of this viewer.

We have the ambitious but moral professor, his ambitious wife who tries to persuade him that his meddling in the affair will lose him the deanship of the medical school. There is the stuffed-shirt college president who feels that at all costs he must not antagonize the alumnae association, the narrow-minded board of regents, the neurotic rush chairman whose father made a brilliant record at college, the out-for-a-good-time co-ed who fights convention and, evidently, any semblance of book learning. All characters and situations are overdrawn. "For Men Only" is well directed and acted by Paul Henried. It has a good cast. It is also an abortion and a presumption upon intelligent people.

Several months ago this space criticized another film on fraternity life, "Take Care of My Little Girl," in a somewhat lighter vein. The film seemed relatively harmless; it had lovely technicolor and a raft of lovely co-eds. This latest monstrosity, however, may indicate that Hollywood is indulging in another of its numerous "fads." Film-goers are currently being bombarded with a deluge of post Civil War westerns and lush musicals. We can remember when psychological dramas and World War II films were much in vogue. The production of more films in Hollywood terms is dictated by the commercial success of those films. If "For Men Only" is a commercial success it may very well be followed by more of the same—each trying to outdo the other in over-drawn characters and situations and, eventually, in bad taste.

The film-goer who finds such films as these distasteful and even dangerous may do either of two things. He may rest secure in his knowledge that the events and characters such as depicted in the film under discussion are not significant of colleges and fraternities and can therefore be ignored, or he may take a more aggressive attitude and indicate his distaste to film makers either by boycotting such films (boycott of a minority is generally ineffectual) or by writing to film makers, who are always vulnerable to criticism and most anxious to please EVERYONE.

FROM MY VICARIOUS VANTAGE POINT in the Statesman newsroom last Saturday night (and early Sunday morning) the mock political convention seemed like a heck of a lot of fun. Every time our own Statesman reporter or the intrepid Miss Lee called I kibitzed over the phone. I heard shouts, clapping, stamping of feet and something which sounded like a gunshot which no doubt did away with the political aspirations of Senator Taft—in this convention at least. Real surprise was the upsurge of Warren as Taft men switched to him in the later votes. Warren's secretary called the Statesman from Portland Saturday night as Warren was about to fly back to California, to notify the Statesman that Warren would land in Salem en route and personally accept the nomination if such seemed apparent.

will return to the Willamette campus next year and indications are that drama next year will be as mutually satisfying for players and audiences as it was this year. Several innovations will take place in the drama department next season. The stage in the Waller auditorium will be permanently raised one foot, according to Graunke, to permit better visibility from the auditorium. Season tickets for next year's plays will be sold, which should make things easier for those who regularly attend our plays and for those who beat the bushes and the pavements prior to each performance selling tickets.

Baxter Dedicates 'Rec' Room To Memory of Chuck Todd

By Pete Pratt

Baxter hall's new recreation room will be dedicated to the memory of Chuck Todd, Willamette sophomore, who drowned Tuesday in the surf on a school field trip. At a special meeting Wednesday the men of Baxter hall cast a unanimous ballot to make the dedication.

On a pillar in the recreation room will hang his picture, bearing the circumstances of his passing. Under the picture will be mounted a bronze plaque with the following inscription:

Dedicated to the memory of

whose untiring effort and unselfish contributions in making the dream of this room a reality have been an inspiration to us all.

1952

He is survived by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Kelsey Todd, 2327 N.E. Alameda Drive, Portland; and a sister, Mrs. Virginia Todd Crofield, 22, also of Portland.

Father Visits Campus

Dr. Todd visited the Willamette campus Wednesday to talk with people familiar with the details as well as several of Chuck's close friends. He expressed the kindest attitude toward the university and said that he feels that the school is in no way responsible for the accident. He also expressed deep appreciation for the fellowship Chuck had known here at the university and expressed his thanks to Marge Dawson for her heroic efforts. Tuesday's ocean tragedy was witnessed by a number of the 88 biology, zoology, botany, comparative anatomy and human physiology students who attended the marine exploration expedition as well as a few of the approximately 60 Salem high school students who were present on a similar project. In charge of the Willamette group were Dr. Cecil R. Monk, professor of biology; Dr. Martha E. Springer, associate professor of biology; and Donald G. DeLisle, instructor of biology.

Dr. Monk has been leading similar excursions annually since 1929, with the exception of the war years, and stated, "This is the first accident ever to occur on these excursions." Dr. Monk also said that this is "to be regarded purely as an accident," and indicated that such field trips will probably be continued.

Sociology New Course

Chuck had been a pre-medical student at Willamette, but had made plans to change his major to sociology because he was interested in working to help other people.

Chuck was vice-president of the campus YMCA, a member of UNESCO, a member of Interservice Christian fellowship, a participant in Wesley fellowship, a member of the International Relations club, and a member of the Associated Men of Baxter hall. He also participated enthusiastically in intramural sports.

At Grant high school he was noted for taking an active part in the school Pep club. He has always enjoyed swimming, skiing and tennis.

Chuck's continually jovial disposition has been an inspiration to many, and his eagerness to help other people has been manifest. This latter endearing facet of his disposition was what led him to take up sociology. . . . So he could help others more. He was one of the most ardent students on the campus in the matter of the quest for knowledge.

Women Wanted

Women who desire to work in the ASWU office next year are urged to get their applications in to the student body office in the near future. Wages are 75 cents per hour.

Cal Horn Named New Ad Manager

Cal Horn, sophomore, has been appointed as next year's advertising manager of the Collegian by Stan Nelson, new publications manager.

Horn is a sophomore majoring in Economics and comes from The Dalles. He had experience as a reporter on his high school paper and has served as assistant during the past year to outgoing advertising manager Tom Edwards.

Sue Mellor, Kent Lawrence, and Barbara Remelmeyer receive awards from the Actor-Director Lab Series at the WUP's banquet Wednesday evening. Sue Mellor received the award for the best setting and make-up in "Aria de Capo," Kent Lawrence for his direction in "Sotoba Komachi," and Barbara Remelmeyer for her performance as Komachi in "Sotoba Komachi."

Hoffman Says Definite Polic Road to Peace

By Chuck Ruud

A definite peace policy as an alternative to a "hot" or "cold" war which advocates a change in the policy of Russian leaders was told by Paul G. Hoffman, chairman of the Citizen's Committee for Eisenhower to a Willamette audience.

World War III and a long period to build up our defenses to force a Russian policy change were both condemned as too costly to the United States, both in manpower and in dollars for satisfactory results. Hoffman outlined a four point positive peace policy and said that General Eisenhower as president can contribute more to the goals than any other man.

He reported that the first step in the program is already in effect and satisfactory results have been attained. That is to convince the Reds that a road to military aggression will not be successful. This is exemplified by the setback of the North Koreans and the gradual buildup of European countries through the efforts of Eisenhower.

Number two in the peace plan requires that the Russians be convinced that they cannot overcome free nations through internal aggression. Next we must convince the people of Russia that we want peace and this can be accomplished by helping countries such as India make an economic recovery.

Hoffman's last point was that a demonstration must be made in America that a government "by the people" can do more good for other people of the world. He said that the increasing use of branding people as "Communists" is beginning to force a conformity in thinking on the populace which will in turn disrupt the internal strength of the United States.

He believes that Eisenhower is in a better position to promote the above peace plan because his name is respected in Europe and Russia due to World War II victories and that he is a symbol of unity throughout the world.

Faculty Forum Mock Trial Draws Senator's Comment

After receiving a recent copy of the Collegian from Professor Charles Jens showing his picture next to a caption, "What would you do if you were kicked by a horse as you approached from the rear," Senator Wayne Morse wrote a letter to Professor Jens saying, "It is too bad I cannot be at the Law school trial as an expert witness, or as a personified exhibit!"

The senator was referring to a mock personal injury trial presented by the Law school last week. The verdict of the jury, chosen from the audience, was not guilty. The trial was the last program in the faculty forum series.

In the demonstration court, John Doe, alias Eddie Nordyke was the plaintiff and Richard Roe, the defendant, was Burt Close. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant carelessly, negligently and unlawfully failed to notify the plaintiff of the horse's vicious and dangerous propensity to kick. Mr. Doe, a professional shoer of horses, was seeking damages to the amount of $10,000 for his injuries and loss of working time.

Counsel for the defendant, Carlotta Hendricks and Tom Enright argued that the plaintiff had in some way frightened the horse. Miss Hendricks, in a very dramatic appeal based on her background as a farmers daughter, convinced the jury by, referring to the horse as the defendant that this was the natural reaction of a frightened animal.

Charles Cloudy and Robert J. Jones, counsel for the plaintiff, refuted the statement by saying that the horse was of vicious nature. Several witnesses were brought in to prove this point.

Members of the third year law class acting as witnesses were Jack Farrell, James Burns and Lauren Miller. E. B. Hogan acted as judge. Among the jurors were Dr. Edward Kollmann and Professor George Edwards.

Professor Jens, director of the legal aid clinic and supervisor of the trial explained to the amused and interested audience that a jury is an impartial body with "minds as clean as a white sheet of paper." He presented various points of procedure and game background explanations throughout the demonstration.

Dr. Edward Kollmann announced that a committee is now making plans for a Faculty forum series for next year.

Chapel Date Changed

The date of awards chapel has been changed from Tuesday to Thursday. At this time the Collins scholarship recipients will be announced.

This chapel will also be the accession for tapping by the various honoraries and other awards will be given to the students.

Viktors Ziedonis, violinist, Dzidris Treimanis, cellist, and Valdemars Melkis, pianist, arrived in the United States in 1950, and have since then completed several extended concert tours throughout the United States and Canada, as well as appearing on numerous radio broadcasts and in Town hall.

The Salem concert is part of the trio's present west coast tour, with other concerts scheduled in such cities as Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and several California cities.

Thursday night's program will include Beethoven's Trio in G Flat Major, Hayden's Trio in C Major and Tchaikovsky's Trio in A Minor.

Willamette Squads Favored in Meets

Bearcat Thinclads Seek Second Conference Title

By Hal Johnson

The Willamette cinder squad, defending conference champions, will disembark this afternoon for the Northwest conference track meet tomorrow at Walla Walla with hopes of winning their second conference championship in the history of Willamette.

Coach Chester Stackhouse will finish his coaching career at Willamette in this meet as he leaves the University at the end of this school year.

Willamette's hopes are cut by the limit forced by conference rules on the manpower in the meet. Seventeen men must comprise the entire team. The 'Cats beat Lewis and Clark last weekend with manpower.

However, the champs are not too bad off. And what team would be with a line-up like this: in the 100-yard dash, Bill Van Horn, Darrell Corkery and Verne Shangle. Van Horn will also run in the 220-yard dash.

In the 440-yard run, Bob Goff and Jim Bergmann will run against the rest of the league. In the 880-yard run it will be Goff and Ralph Adams. Running the mile and two-mile will be Wally Boe, Rod Beals and Adams.

Corkery and Larry Standifer will enter both hurdle events, with Rollin Cocking also running in the lows. Mark Cotton, Goff, Bergmann and Van Horn will comprise the mile relay team.

In field events, it will be Jim Hitchman in the high jump and Ray Fretheim and Cotton in the pole vault. Hitchman and Layton Gilson will both throw the shot while Bob Hall and Stan Neperud will toss the javelin. Gilson and George Porter will enter discus competition and Shangle, Van Horn and Corkery will do the broad jumping.

Bob Hall, shown above, and Verne Shangle, Wally Boe and Mark Cotton are the four seniors who will compete for Willamette for the last time in tomorrow's conference meet in Walla Walla.

Linksters, Netters Open Play Today at Whitman

By Duane Shield

Five freshmen, two sophomores and two juniors will carry Willamette's hopes into the Northwest conference tennis and golf matches today at Walla Walla.

Lewis and Clark is the defending golf champions, but Willamette has been given the favorite's role as they have gone through six straight conference dual meets without a defeat. Whitman is rated as a dark horse, but little is known about the Washington school as they did not meet any squad from the Willamette valley this season.

The Whitman linksters will get an additional boost as none of the four Willamette valley teams have played on the Missionaries' course, but Coach Sam Vokes' squad practiced on the course yesterday as they arrived at Walla Walla last Wednesday night.

Coach Les Sparks' trio of Chuck Carter, Dave Wisnom and George Watts are favored to capture the conference singles and doubles titles. The Bearcat netters also finished conference play with a clean record. The biggest threat to Willamette is Whitman, but again little is known of the Missionaries as they do not make a trip into the Willamette valley.

The freshmen trio will enter the tennis competition with Carter representing Willamette in singles and Wisnom and Watts playing in the doubles.

Willamette captured the doubles title last year as Phil Hammond and Bob Petzold stroked to the Bearcat win. Bill McKay of Whitman was last year's singles champ, but this trio will not be in this year's competition.

The freshmen who will compete in the golf match for Willamette are Dick Church and Ken Baines. Kent Myers and Ellis Von Eschen are the sophomores while the juniors are Bill Wittenberg and Dan Callaghan.

Athletes Attention

All returning athletes who received grants-in-aid this year must see John Lewis, athletic director for next year, sometime next week in the athletic office. Lewis urges that everyone come as soon as possible next week.

Freshmen Holt, Gray Pitch Bearcats To Double Victory Over OCE Wolves

Heads-up ball playing and some tight pitching gave the Willamette baseball squad two victories over the Oregon College of Education Wolves by scores of 12-10 and 6-3 last Tuesday afternoon on the Monmouth diamond.

In the first game Benny Holt was winning pitcher although Verne Vannice had to pitch to the last two batters in the seventh inning. Dave Gray went all the way in the second game to win his second game of the year.

Willamette enjoyed a 11-1 lead in the sixth inning when the Wolves scored seven times on four hits, two errors and two walks. Bruce Boatman pitched the start of the seventh, but gave way to Vannice as the losers scored two more times and had the tying run at home plate.

The Bearcats scored twice in the opening inning as Ralph Onzuka was hit by a pitched ball and Cliff Girod was safe on John Robinson's error. Onzuka then scored on Harve Koepf's ground out and Girod came in on losing pitcher Bill Paulmquist's wild pitch. Willamette cinched the game in the third and fourth innings as nine runs scored on four hits, six errors and one walk.

Willamette opened the scoring in the nightcap as John Markoskie walked, stole second and scored on Alva Brown's single. Two more runs were netted as Gray was hit by losing pitcher Bob Funk, and Denny Elsasser was safe on Bob Downing's error. They both scored as Downing committed another miscue. The final two runs for Willamette came as Girod and Markoskie both walked and scored on successive singles by Gene Jones and Brown.

OCE scored two runs in the fourth on two hits and one walk. The final run was scored in the fifth on two walks and one hit. The Wolves had no other scoring threats as Gray had them tamed the rest of the way.

Vokes' Golfers Finish Season With 9-1 Record

Coach Sam Vokes' Willamette golfers matched the Bearcat thinclads and netters as his squad won the Northwest conference dual golf match honors as they downed the Pacific Badgers 13-5 last Friday at Forest Grove.

The Bearcat link squad swept right through conference play and won three of four non-league affairs and tied for one as they finished the season with a 9-1 record. Oregon State edged the Bearcats by one point earlier in the season.

The Bearcats tied Portland last Tuesday 9-9 on the Salem course. Bill Wittenberg who was the medalist with a 72 and Ellis Von Eschen were the only Willamette winners. Ken Baines ended in a tie with his opponent, Roger Kidd, while Kent Myers, Dick Church and Dan Callaghan lost their matches.

In the Pacific match, only Wittenberg was unable to down his opponent as the other five Bearcat golfers won their matches.

Bearcats Meet Pilots Monday in Finale; Missionaries Conference Ball Champs

The Whitman Missionaries are the new Northwest conference baseball champions as they won three of four games on their season-ending road trip.

The runner-up spot went to the winner of the Willamette-remains in the running for second as they need only win over Pacific this afternoon.

The Willamette baseballers windup their season next Monday afternoon on the McCulloch diamond when they meet the Portland Pilots at 3 o'clock.

Second Three Hitter

Andy George pitched his second three hitter of the season last Saturday as the Bearcats shut out the Linfield Wildcats 3-0 on the losers' home field. George bested Stan Blank for the second time this season.

Blank who had a no-hitter for the first six innings was touched for the lone three runs of the game in the seventh on three hits, an error and a walk. Blank was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Jim Beard pitched the ninth and gave up the only other hit for the Bearcats in the ballgame.

In the fatal seventh, Dave Perlman opened the inning as he was safe on an error and Denny Elsasser walked. Then Elmer Haugen got the first Bearcat hit of the game as he drove one into centerfield scoring Perlman. George hit the third pitched ball to the third baseman and Elsasser was thrown out at home. Gene Jones was safe on an infield hit which scored Haugen. The last run came when George scored on Harve Koepf's infield hit.

Willamette Edges Out Pioneer Squad To Capture Conference Dual Honors

For the second year in a row, the Willamette thinclads have captured the Northwest conference dual honors with clean records. The Bearcats dropped previously unbeaten Lewis and Clark 69½ to 61½ last Saturday afternoon on the McCulloch oval.

The Pioneers, led by their freshman star, Caley Cook, captured nine firsts to Willamette's six, but the Bearcats made up for that by cashing in with a number of seconds and thirds.

Cook took firsts in the 100-yard dash, the low hurdles and the broad jump and was second in the high hurdles to total a high 18 points for the day. The only double winner of the afternoon was Lewis and Clark's Dick Heller who finished first in the mile run and the 880-yard run.

Other winners for Lewis and Clark in the track events were Francis Cox in the 440-yard run, Bill Anderson in the 220-yard dash and the mile relay team.

Phi Delts Retain Lead for Trophy

The Phi Delts are still out in front for the intramural sports trophy although the All-Americans placed first in the badminton standings. Softball is the only 'mural sport left which will affect the standings.

The AA's who captured their second straight badminton title are five and one-half points behind the leading Phi Delts who have 150 points. The Sigs are in third place with 139 and one-half points.

Anderson, Smith, Heller and Cox were on the winning relay squad.

Winners in the track events for Willamette were Darrell Corkery in the high hurdles and Wally Boe in the two-mile run. The Bearcats swept the two-mile as Ralph Adams and Don Empey finished behind Boe.

In the field events for the winning Bearcats, Jim Hitchman in the high jump, Ray Fretheim in the pole vault, Layton Gilson in the discus and Bob Hall in the javelin captured firsts.

Jayvees Nip Tillamook To End Short Season

Willamette's junior varsity baseballers finished their season last Saturday morning with 1-0 win over Tillamook on the McCulloch diamond to give themselves a 4-2 record.

The Bearkittens suffered a 18-3 beating at the hand of Salem last Friday afternoon on the home field as the Vikings pounded out 17 hits.

Bruce Boatman and Verne Vannice combined to limit the visiting Tillamook team with four hits. Roy Riggert gave up only three hits, but one of them was a triple by San Kerzel in the fourth inning. Kerzel scored a moment later on Jack Hande's ground out to give the Jayvees the only run of the ballgame and Boatman the win.

In the Salem game, George Connely and Roger Rook pitched for Willamette with Connely suffering the loss. Ron Whittaker was the winning hurler as he gave up five hits.

Sigs Capture Softball Championships As Phi Delts, All-Americans Follow

The big bats of the Sigs swung hard this past week as they walked off with the intramural softball championship in both the "A" and "B" leagues.

With two title-winning teams in next week's playoffs, it is going to be hard to stop the Sig machine from coping the much sought-after intramural sports trophy. Although the Phi Delts are ten and one-half points ahead of the Sigs, the Phi Delts have their "A" league runner-up team in the playoffs.

The other tournament berth went to the All-American "B" team by virtue of their 8-3 win over the SAE's last Wednesday in a playoff game.

The Sigs won the "A" league crown Monday as they handed the high-flying Phi Delts a sound 14-7 beating. Bob Witham hit two home runs to lead the Sig attack. The victory left the winners the only undefeated team in either circuit.

The SAE's lost their chance of a possible tie for an "A" league playoff position Tuesday when the All-Americans took a 12-7 decision from them.

The only other "A" circuit game of the week saw the Betas trounce Baxter 13-4.

The Sigs clinched the "B" league title Monday with a 6-2 win over Baxter on Dan Montag's no-hitter. The SAE's downed the Phi Delts 9-8 in seven innings in the only other "B" league game.

The final standings are:

Courtmen Beat Pacific In Final League Action

Oregon State dropped the Willamette tennis squad 5-2 for the second time this season last Saturday in Corvallis as the Bearcats ended regular season's play with an 8-2 record.

The Bearcat netters won the conference dual meet honors as they whitewashed Pacific 7-0 last Friday at Forest Grove. Willamette went through Northwest conference play with six straight wins.

In the Oregon State match, only Dave Wisnom and Jim Morgali were winners for Willamette. Wisnom downed Ron Carlson and Morgali stopped Norm Queen. The wins for Oregon State were Wayne Lucher over Chuck Cartier, Ken Paulson over George Watts and Irv Hill over John Ambler.

The Beavers took both doubles as Paulsen and Carlson won over Watts and Wisnom while Lucher and Hill dropped Roy Van Horn and Carter.

The winners in the Pacific match were Carter, Watts, Wisnom, Ambler and Morgali in singles. Doubles winners were Wisnom and Watts and Carter and Ambler.

YW Sister Program Planned

By Barbara Jackson

At a meeting held Wednesday afternoon in Lausanne lounge, the YWCA big and little sister program for next year was presented.

The purpose of the program is to orient women members of the freshman class and other new students with the campus, extra-curricular activities, and other information pertinent to campus living. Sophomore, junior, and senior women sign up for the big sister program, and they, as big sisters, are assigned little sisters from the incoming freshmen and new women students.

During the summer the big and little sisters will correspond. In a letter to her little sister, the Willamette student will explain the procedure of the campus, tell her what to bring to school, and what to look forward to at Willamette. Through letters the two women will get acquainted, and questions and answers will be carried through the mail.

At the beginning of orientation week the freshmen will be greeted by their big sisters upon arrival. When they enter their room at their living organization, flowers and welcome notes will be found on their desks.

Early in the orientation week a panel will be presented on sorority life. A pajama party will be held after closing hours in the dormitory in order to provide an opportunity for the new women to get acquainted. At this party, entertainment and refreshments will highlight the evening.

An informal hen party will be next on the schedule of the busy newcomers. The purpose of the party is to acquaint the women with the dormitory recreational facilities. Those participating will learn Willamette songs. Another function of the affair will be to help acquaint town students with the members of their class.

On Saturday night of orientation week a formal banquet will be held for women who did not participate in sorority rushing.

Concluding the program will be the big and little sister mixer, to be held after orientation week at the First Methodist church. Big sisters will escort their little sisters to the function where they will once again have opportunity to get acquainted.

Planning the big and little sister program this year is Charleen Asvik.

Olive Dahl Retires From WU Faculty

By Pete Pratt

Following 25 years of continuous service at Willamette university, Miss Olive M. Dahl, currently associate professor of German, will retire from active duty next month.

Miss Dahl came to Willamette in 1927 as dean of women and assistant professor of German. In 1935 she was promoted to associate professor of German and has held that position until the present. She was dean of women until her health forced her to resign the post in 1948.

Attended Four Colleges

Miss Dahl received her B.A. degree at the University of North Dakota and went on to take graduate work at various times at the University of California, Columbia university, and Wesley college, where she received her M.A. degree. In college her major interests were German, religion and sociology. At Columbia she took courses in counselling and guidance which she has made much use of ever since.

From 1922 until 1925 she was principal of the high school at Buxton, North Dakota. In 1925 and 1926 she taught at the high school in Scobey, Montana. While attending Columbia in 1926 and 1927 she was also manager of the college placement bureau in New York City where she did a great deal of work in teacher placement.

Helped Organize Delta Gamma

At the University of North Dakota Miss Dahl became a member of Delta Gamma and later was instrumental in the founding of the Willamette chapter of that organization. She is still an active alumna of that social fraternity.

She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and did the organizational work for the Central Willamette Valley association of that honorary scholarship fraternity.

Belongs to Many Groups

She is a member of the National Deans' association, past treasurer of the Western Deans' association, and a member of the AAUW. Cap and Gown was organized under her direction, and she worked as advisor to that group until her retirement from the post of dean of women. This year she was chairman of the language and literature division of the faculty. For many years she taught Sunday school in Salem.

Miss Dahl was most instrumental in the development of counselling and guidance here at Willamette. She spent over two years in the compilation and organization of data and systems to promote this service. She is a close friend of many Willamette students and graduates, and many men as well as women came to her for both academic and personal guidance.

Taught German

German is the only subject she has taught here, but, in addition to her regular German classes, she was in charge of scientific German for pre-medical students when that course was offered.

Because of her interest and understanding of students, Miss Dahl is the first person many Willamette alumnae come to see when they return to visit the campus. According to Dr. Helen Pearce she receives so much Christmas mail that it takes her months to answer it all. She has taken an interest not only in students, but in younger faculty members as well.

Worked Overtime

Dr. Marion Morange points out that while some students get an abrupt first impression of Miss Dahl, this covers a very kind heart. While she was dean of women she spent so much time helping people that she often came to her office on Saturday and Sunday afternoons to get caught up on her regular work.

Miss Dahl intends to continue residence in Salem at her spotless home at 925 N. 5th street, where she will welcome guests who would like to drop in and see her. While she was dean of women scarcely a weekend went by that she didn't have some group or another out to her house for a little get-together or a party.

Plans Full Schedule

Her plans are to first recuperate her health, which will take a quiet year or two. Then she would like to do some traveling. She has already traveled extensively in the United States. As continuous recreation she intends to continue with a little study of language. One of her linguistic hobbies is tracing origins and meanings of names. Meanwhile she wants to become active in local and civic and church affairs.

She says, "Willamette has been a most pleasant place to work. It's been friendly and cooperative. There's a cohesion between faculty and students not found in other colleges. I have thoroughly enjoyed my years here and have never felt that I would be happier anywhere else. I shall always be an ardent Willamette booster as long as Willamette maintains its high standards." She particularly expressed her thanks to the faculty and board for their cooperative attitude.

Whitman Gets Library Post

Willamette University's librarian, Ainsley A. Whitman, was nominated vice president and president-elect of the Oregon Librarians Association in Ashland, last Saturday.

Whitman will serve as vice-president of the Association for the year of 1952-53, in preparation for serving as president for the year 1953-54.

The members of the Association held their convention in Ashland, Oregon on May 10, with the intention of developing interest in building more county and regional libraries.

The Association, which is made up of librarians of public and school libraries all over Oregon, has as its main purpose, the devising of ways and means of improving their library's service. Perhaps their finest project was the setting up of the Pacific Northwest Bibliography Center at the University of Washington. This is a system whereby any student of the northwest can obtain a reference book from any other library in the United States.

Cautions Given to Insure Swimming Safety in Future

In consideration of the many beach trips planned before the end of the semester some conditions and difficulties that swimmers will encounter and possible remedies were released to the Collegian for publication.

Contrary to popular belief that "undertow" is the most dangerous menace to the ocean visitor, a recent study by Francis P. Shepard of Scripps Institute of Oceanography says that "undertow" is merely hypothetical. The real danger to bathers lies in rip currents which are prevalent on the Oregon coast.

Rip currents "move out in narrow bands through the breakers and spread slowly into fan shapes beyond." These currents extend from the surface of the water to the sea bottom and are both inside and outside of the breakers. There are also broader currents moving shoreward next to the outgoing rips. This results in a build-up of water and production of a flow parallel to the shore.

The rips can be recognized by the "turbulence of the water along the lanes of flow." They can also be known by a change in color of the water in the surf zone where the rip current or its feeder current has eroded the bottom and changed the color due to the sediment in the water. If the rip wave does not break in the rip zone it can be detected by the brownish color of the water in the breaking wave.

Shepard reports that the best advice for poor swimmers is to keep away from large breakers and bottom irregularities which indicate the channels made by the feeder currents of the rips.

The swimmer who gets caught in the rip current should relax, conserve strength and not attempt to go to shore. He should swim at right angles to the current or parallel to the shore lines and then he will be able to touch bottom on either side of the rip channel.

If the swimmer finds himself trying to swim into a feeder current of the rip he should turn and swim to the other side. The swimmer should caution himself against entering a feeder lest it sweep him back into the rip again. He should wait for the duration of flow and then attempt to cross as the feeder current slackens its flow.

It is possible to rescue a person in the outer breaker zone by helping him stand on the bottom between wave troughs and then to swim to the shallow area where he can rest his feet on the bottom between wave crests.

Shepard further advises that the swimmer should relax and keep his head because often the rip currents are very narrow and a few strokes may take him into safer water.

Defense Program Demand Expands Job Forecast for 1952 Graduates

By Margie Leonard
Job opportunities for this year's college graduates are excellent, according to the United States Department of Labor, with defense production and employment scheduled to expand rapidly until the end of 1953.

Although production and employment for civilian use have been edging downward and may be expected to decline during much of this year, employment levels in this segment of the economy are expected to climb upward during 1953 to more than recover 1952 losses.

As usual, most of the jobs taken by this year's college graduates will be those vacated by other workers and will occur in the large industries and the areas of the heaviest concentrations of employment. The west coast is mentioned as one of these areas.

In specific fields, the demand for personnel in most of the natural sciences and in engineering was noted. The defense program, for example, has greatly increased the need for physicists, with the demand for persons with advanced training or only a bachelor's degree exceeding the supply.

Mathematics in another profession in which there is a widespread shortage of qualified personnel, with the greatest demand in educational institutions. Beside private industry and government, research program will require mathematicians and mathematical statisticians.

In the less highly specialized areas of the biological sciences such as general biology or zoology, there appears to be an adequate supply of workers, especially those without graduate training. In agronomy, entomology, microbiology, pharmacology and other highly specialized fields, the defense program has intensified the demand.

Opportunities for graduates in engineering, the largest technical profession and one of the fastest growing fields, will be excellent in the near future. The present shortage is caused by the demands of the defense program. During the next few years the supply of new engineers is likely to be far less than the demand, mostly because the flow of veterans entering colleges began to subside after 1946.
