

Final Days Bring Gloom for Students

Redecoration, Conventions Fill Schedule for Summer Vacation

Although there are still a few dark, dismal days of finals left in this school year for the underclassmen, it won't be long before the last senior has smiled condescendingly, the last No-Doz pill has been taken by a frantic freshman, and the last clothes packed and sent home.

LAST MEAL to be served in the dormitories will be lunch next Friday, and they will close Saturday morning, June 8. However, they will not stay closed very long. June 9, 400 girls will arrive for a week-long Girls' State convention and later that month 350 PEO members will inhabit them for three days. Later in the summer the National Teachers of Singing and the Oregon Methodist Men will also hold meetings on campus.

June 22 is the first day of summer school on campus. Although there will be far fewer students than during the winter, the routine will go on much the same. The Library will be open all summer, with a slight revision in hours. It will open at 8 as usual, but it will close at 4 in the afternoon.

REDECORATING will go on in between meetings and school, with Waller hall set to receive new coats of paint and a new curtain for the stage, as well as having the seats in the auditorium fixed in time for freshman assemblies next fall.

On Sunday, September 15, the fall semester will unofficially begin when the campus dormitories open their doors to incoming freshmen and returning students at 1 p. m. Orientation Week will officially begin at 8:30 the following morning.

With nothing better to do than await Sunday afternoon's commencement ceremonies and dream of their future academic freedom, seniors Dale Greenlee and Tom Murdock discuss their daily leisure activities, as freshman Bud Ritter attempts to avoid distractions from his studies in expectation of next week's final exams.

Alumni in Conclave Tomorrow For Second Time This Year

As underclassmen feverishly cram for their final examinations and seniors leisurely wait for the graduation exercises, Willamette's alumni are finishing their plans for the second alumni weekend of the year which begins tomorrow morning at 8:30.

JERRY WHIPPLE, alumni director in charge of the program, has invited all students to attend the many interesting features of the program.

From 9 to 9:30 alumni will register in the Fine Arts colonnade and, after a suggested coffee break at the Cat Cavern, the Board of Trustees will hold their annual meeting while alumni listen to a discussion, "Let's Quit Kidding Ourselves." It will be led by Dr. Charles Derthick, head of the psychology department, at 10 in the Fine Arts building.

AT 11, DR. GEORGE RIGBY, who received his BA at Willamette in 1927, will speak in a popular vein on "From Willamette to Nylon." Rigby is now with the DuPont company and was a pioneer in the development of nylon. In his talk, he will relate his experiences in carrying out industrial research and will show exhibits.

Alumni are scheduled to attend their various class reunion luncheons in campus dormitory and fraternity dining rooms at 1 p. m. They will return at 2:30 to see two movies, "Our Mr. Sun," a movie originally made for television by Bell Telephone company and narrated by Dr. Frank Baxter, and "Campus Parish."

THIS IS THE first time that "Our Mr. Sun" has been released on the West Coast. Two of Willamette's famed alumni, Daryl Chapin and Gerald Pearson, who worked on the inventions of the Bell Solar battery, will be seen briefly in the movie.

The second film deals with a situation which arose on a college campus during election time regarding what can be done and what is morally right.

AT 4, THE University band will present a pops concert on the Fine Arts colonnade.

The climax of the Saturday program will be the alumni day banquet at the Gold Room of the Marion Hotel. During the banquet, members of the classes of 1907 and 1932, who are celebrating their 50th and 25th anniversaries, will receive Matthew medallions, named in honor of James Matthews, who was a Willamette professor of mathematics for 49 years. The awards will be made by President G. Herbert Smith, Bob Clark and a group of the freshman class will present this year's winning Glee song, "In Tribute."

DR. FLOYD FIELD, Willamette graduate and presently the recording secretary of the board of directors of the Atlanta, Georgia, YMCA, will talk on "Growing Good Citizens." Gus Moore, president of the alumni executive council, will act as the toastmaster.

Colonnade Concert Scheduled For Tomorrow Afternoon at 4

Winding up this year's season, the University concert band will present the second annual Colonnade Concert tomorrow afternoon at 4 p. m. on the colonnade of the Fine Arts building. This pops concert is one of the many events scheduled for Alumni Weekend.

The band will make its final appearance at Commencement, Sunday afternoon.

According to Maurice Brennan, director, the Saturday afternoon

173 Degrees to Be Awarded

With color, pomp, tradition, and perhaps a tinge of sadness, Willamette seniors will receive their degrees Sunday at the 115th commencement service of the University. The academic procession, scheduled to begin at 3 p. m., will find its way to McCulloch Stadium for the exercises to Elgar's traditional and stately "Pomp and Circumstance," which will be played by the University band. Following the national anthem, and the invocation, Dr. Thomas Barrows of the University of California will deliver the Commencement address.

Climaxing the service, President G. Herbert Smith will confer the 173 degrees to the members of the class of 1957, following "Chorale and Fugue" under the direction of Maurice W. Brennan.

Bachelor of arts degrees will be awarded to Donald Agnew, Richard Artz, Ardis Lien Berryhill, Malcolm Brand, James Brown, Diane Burkland, Norman Cocking, William Cozad, Richard Crittenden, Ronald P. Bachelor of science degrees will be awarded to Jack Ward, Larry Thompson and Robert Allen.

Bachelor of music recipients are Marilyn Hanthorn, Frances Eula Thompson, Barbara Freitag, and Patricia Gordon Mash.

Receiving the LL.B. degree from the college of law are Robert Marshall Redding, Richard Wallace Sablin, Roger William Emmons, Gary David Gortmaker, Beilon Earl Owens, Richard Warren Courtright, Ben Day, William Arthur Galbreath, Jesse Wallace Gutzler, Ira Winfield Jones, Thomas Jeffrey Owens, Stuart West Richardson, Richard Que Quigley, Verdon Lee Hockett, Russell Gordon Day, and James Laurence Schoenhut.

Doctor of jurisprudence degrees in law will go to Robert Batchelder and Richard Gordon Coggin.

Receiving the master of music education degree is Ronald Willard Bartlett, and the master's degree in education will be conferred upon Maynard Arnold Nelson and Darrell Lee Crossler.

Following the presentation of the diplomas, Lieutenant Colonel Edward M. Fritsch of the United States Air Force will confer the commissions of Reserve Officers upon AFROTC graduates.

With the singing of "Farewell Willamette" by Michelle Edwards, the class of '57 will officially become Willamette alums.

Fees Due Before Tests

The Business Office reminds students that all infirmity bills, tuition fees and library fines must be paid before any finals can be taken. It is also required that all overdue books be returned to the Library.

Council Picks Fall Managers

Three student managers were selected in Wednesday's student council meeting, the questions of the Glee risers rental and continuation of the 'Cat Cavern received definite action, and Dr. Noel Kaestner and Jerry Whipple were re-elected advisor and business manager respectively.

AL NICHOLS was elected convocations manager and Bob Boss received the nod to plan next fall's homecoming activities. Bob Braddy will serve in the capacity of Varsity Varieties manager and hopes to utilize a "New Faces" type of movement for continuity rather than a script. As announced previously, Varsity Varieties has been moved from Parents' Weekend to Homecoming.

Bud Mull, acting ASWU treasurer, asked for definite action on the question of renting the new Glee risers and the council approved of rental next year on a trial basis to see if such a plan would create a burden.

MULL also presented two plans for the 'Cat Cavern which has accumulated an $800 deficit this year. The plan which was accepted by the council stated that only one person will be employed in the Cavern with student help for three rush hours each day. A Cat Cavern board will be set up and specials on certain days were recommended. It was agreed that the main reason the 'Cat has not been successful is because of the no smoking rule, but it will be open during the fall semester on a trial basis.

The other plan proposed to convert the lounge of the Cavern into a new student body office, partitioning it off from the rest of the 'Cat where vending machines would replace the fountain.

In other action, plans for Orientation Week and Parents' Weekend were ratified and the new student body officers were authorized to purchase new office furniture.

Lorena Jack to Accept Position In Tacoma Private Seminary

Miss Lorena Jack, who has been the director of Willamette's dormitories for 20 years, has accepted duties starting August 1 at The Annie Wright Seminary in Tacoma.

MISS JACK'S position will be similar to the one she has held here and she will be in charge of dormitories and the feeding of the 200 students at the private Episcopal girls' school. Miss Jack had charge of both dormitories and meals until last year when the food service was taken over by the national University Food Service.

"I will never forget Willamette," said Miss Jack, "for more reasons than one. I was with the Willamette football team in Hawaii in December, 1941, six miles from Pearl Harbor when it was bombed by the Japanese. Yes, that was an incident it would be impossible to forget. We couldn't leave for two weeks and in the meantime I helped in the hospitals while the football players worked on guard duty."

When Is Conformity Non-Conformity?

"Come now, Arnold, don't be a non-conformist . . . you're a member of the class of 1957."

The Pause That Refreshes

Sunday the senior class will perform a more solemn Up 2-3-4, Down 2-3-4 than they presented during their last public appearance, and since commencement is the usual time of year for sentiment and general schmaltz, this would be a good time to congratulate each member, not only for academic achievement, but for the refreshing controversy provided by a thing called individuality.

Willamette has a unique personality composed of its history, traditions, and, ah yes, the necessary rules. But more important is the fact that this personality never remains static as long as new individuals appear with new ideas. Truly, the class of '57 has left a most unstatic four years to be recorded in the annals. We can laud them for individual contributions of talent and leadership, but the one thing which sets them apart as a class is that they have dared to be different, not by eccentricities, but by not always doing what was expected. Whether they were right or wrong in some instances is not important, but rather the fact that the unexpected led to much needed evaluation of time-worn tradition.

In spite of any remaining persecution complex, no doubt the seniors are feeling a bit nostalgic about now, marvelling at how fast four years have passed and perhaps wishing they could do it over again. However, we wouldn't wish this on them for as rich as a college experience is, they will never know its true value until they apply it to everyday living. Someday they will realize that some of Willamette's thinking has been incorporated into their own and when they return to the campus as alums, their brief stay is bound to be evident in inevitable change.

Other classes are collectively remembered on a bench or a sidewalk, but the memory of '57 will encompass a million laughs and not a few gray hairs. Hegel, an 18th Century philosopher, contended that every idea demands its opposite. The individuality in the Class of '57 could very well represent an opposite to the accepted idea we call Willamette, and as we wish them good luck, we sincerely thank them for stimulating controversy. It has been, in a word — refreshing.

Class of 1932 Reminisces of College Days

As the Class of 1932 returns to Willamette to celebrate the 25th anniversary of their graduation, the noble Class of 1957 prepares to leave. Though the 1957 class exactly doubles in number the returning class of 1932, the two classes stand on common ground — they have never won a Glee. Words from the past of the Willamette graduating class of 25 years ago might be appropos now. From their past to what is "now" will possibly give some insight into the futures of the members of the class of 1957.

In the days when Dr. Monk was not yet a "Dr.", and Dr. Daniel Schultze was a professor of Bible and Religion, the Creative Writing Club was "Coffee House" and it was President Carl Doney instead of President G. Herbert Smith, a Charles S. Campbell was president of the associated students. This week Mr. Campbell, who is now Dr. Campbell, is in charge of the anniversary banquet. Dr. Campbell, it seems, was quite a charmer. The 1932 Wallulah says of him: "When the Camp-bell rings — Fair Elizabeth sings." The same yearbook said of Clarence Poor (now a doctor in Oakland, California): "Clarence is a man of ideals high, for him great things we prophecy!" Tomorrow Dr. Poor will present to the University the 25th anniversary gift of the class of 1932.

All apologies to Mrs. Mergler if her name is not Faye but about Stephen Mergler (father of Lou Ann and Stephanie and now editor of the Mt. Vernon Argus) this appeared: "Stephen goes through every day, Thinking of a fairy, Faye."

Mrs. Helen Heath (Helen Breithaupt) of Heath Breithaupt Florists is now the chief co-ordinator of her class in the Salem area and in her collegiate days wrote for the Collegian. In summing up the accomplishments of her class, Mrs. Heath stated that though there were no atomic solar system inventors in the class, and that the only reason they had never won Glee was that they had all leaders and no followers (they once changed their Glee formation two hours before Glee), the class could nevertheless be proud of the "good American citizens" it had produced. "This," she said, "should be the aim of any class."

In Passing . . . . . Bo

I was sitting in Lebold's with a couple of my graduating friends one night last week, when the following dialogue took place:

"Well, Mart," I said, "the dean seems to think that when your class graduates his job will be a whole lot easier."

"You're not going to give me that old non-conformity jazz again, are you?" he asked.

"Everybody seems to think that you're non-conformists," I answered.

He looked at me kind of seriously and said: "The real problem is why do they think that we're non-conformists? Just because we've broken every one of these 'hallowed' traditions, just because we felt Glee was for fun, just because we thought the rules were something to be looked at and did the opposite . . ."

"I mean," he continued, "I think we've given the school some character. We used Willamette instead of Willamette using us. Now by that, you can come to Willamette and get all bound up in some of its smaller rules and smaller ideas — if you do this you've got 'school spirit.' Or you could come to Willamette like we 'non-conformists' and make use of all the things and possibilities it has to offer. The thing you do is — you don't become the rules but you use the rules to make yourself more."

"How do you use them by breaking them?" I asked.

"Yeah, I suppose we've broken all of them," he mused, "but when we broke them we didn't set a tradition for the rowdies — what we did was to say that we were more, always more, than the rules. We may turn out more nicotine addicts, more alcoholics, more card-sharks, than some classes; but we'll turn out some great scientists, some good leaders, and some people who aren't bound by their own littleness. You know, it takes a great class to say 'Who's gonna win Glee?' and have enough sense to realize that Glee is more important than winning."

"Sour grapes!" I said.
"No," he asserted, "we might've won, but to win you've got to mash yourself into an organized one. We were always too individualistic, too concerned with every minute, to be trampled into a small area. We always went our own way and if tradition got in the way, it should've had enough sense to duck."

I think so too.

Jean Martin to Be Office Manager

Jean Martin has been chosen by the executive committee to be the Student Body office manager for the coming fall semester. She will replace Nancy Groth who has been manager this year.

Miss Martin, who will be a senior next year, has been active on the Wallulah and Collegian staffs, having been feature editor of the Collegian her sophomore year and editor of the Wallulah this year. She was recently selected to be a member of Cap and Gown, and has been a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Beta Alpha Gamma. In addition, she belongs to Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary, and Pi Gamma Mu, social science honorary.

The position of office manager is appointive, the choice being made by the executive committee of Student Council which is composed of the Student Body president, first and second vice presidents, member at large, secretary, and treasurer. The office manager is hired for one semester at a time.

Tales of wild horses and sunshine were brought back by tired seniors who went on their final beach trip as a class last weekend.

Blistered backs were, of course, one outcome of the weekend, but Lizz Hess and Larry Lister were determined to gain more distinction by riding those wild, untamed horses which are rented at Oceanlake. Both students were thrown by their mounts.

Keith Neubauer, a junior music education major, was recently elected the 1957-58 president of the a cappella choir. Other new officers include Nancy Lee, vice-president; Judy Anderson, secretary; and John Vale, publicity chairman.

Barbara Clark is the new president of Panhellenic Council. She replaces Elaine Gustafson, who resigned recently.

"It's a girl!" announced Dr. Frost to his English classes last Friday. His new daughter weighed 7 lbs. 7 ozs. and will be called Carol Denison Frost.

Two new honoraries have come to Willamette in the past week. One is for sophomore men and the other—surprisingly—is for sophomore women. The men members initiated qualified women last Thursday evening during a special all-campus serenade with appropriate pledge pins and music.

Temporary president of Beta Alpha Gamma is Mickey Daum, who was selected by the new initiates after a picnic dinner at the home of Mrs. Gene Williams, BAG's advisor. Permanent officers will be chosen in the fall after the final three members are tapped.

Band members picked Ron Kingsley as their president for next year and chose Jim Fisk business manager, Carolyn Miller secretary, and Norm Walters property manager.

Dan Newberry, a junior French major who will spend this summer at a French school in Middlebury, Vermont, is the newly-elected president of Phi Sigma Iota, Romance language honorary. Vice-president is Mrs. Marguerite Berg. Sue Snyder will serve as program chairman, and Jean Galbraith was chosen treasurer.

Newly elected leaders of Theta Alpha Phi, national drama fraternity, are: Mary Beth Van Cleave, president; Mac Baker, vice-president; Beth Guilbert, secretary, and Wayne Haverson, historian.

Fred Chambers was elected president of Young Democrats recently with Skip Alexander named vice-president, and Beth Guilbert secretary.

Alan Bartlett, Anastasia Michaelides, and William Walsh have been appointed as next year's departmental assistants in biology, announced Dr. Cecil R. Monk. Bob Taylor will also be an assistant for the second semester.

Organizations Honor Seniors As They End College Careers

Good bye to seniors was said last week as living organizations had final events to honor their graduates.

Senior residents of Doney Hall were feted at a banquet recently in the Doney dining room. Attending the event, which honored the fifteen graduates and also house-mother Mrs. Billie Wissenbach who is also completing her fourth year at Willamette, were Dean Regina Ewalt and Elmer Rieck.

At the annual Phi Delta Theta Senior Banquet Wednesday, Paul Edwards was named outstanding Phi, while Bob Withers took the award for the outstanding senior in athletics and scholarship. Pete Blewett was named winner of the outstanding Phikeia honor.

Sunday before Commencement exercises senior members of Chi Omega will be feted at the chapter house in the presence of parents and friends. At this banquet the seniors will make their annual awards, including those to the outstanding sophomore, and the outstanding junior, who will wear the senior ring during her senior year.

Monday night the senior members of Pi Beta Phi were honored both formally during the chapter meeting and informally afterwards at a traditional Pi Phi cookie shine.

Knighting ceremonies were held for the senior members of Delta Gamma recently, when the eight graduates were received into The Order of the Garter. Each was commended for her service and loyalty during her college years.

Many Plan Summer Weddings

Summertime will be wedding time for many Willamette students who have been trying to keep their minds on finals and plan weddings at the same time.

POLLEY DOUGHERTY and Bob Withers will be married September 6 in Covina, California. They will live in Salem until January, when Withers will go into the Air Force.

Geneva Russell and Darrell Wright will be married in Molalla June 9. They will live in Salem where Miss Russell will attend summer school.

PORTLAND will be the wedding place of Margaret Morton and Lowell Suckow. After the September 8 wedding, both will attend Stanford University.

Elaine Gustafson and Dale DeHarpport will be married in Eugene on June 16. Miss Gustafson will commute to Willamette next year from Portland.

AUGUST 11 is the date of Coralee Rosebury and Pete Van Horn's Salem wedding.

Wedding plans of Robert Stevens and Marilyn Ludlow, class of 1956, have been made for September 10 at Nyssa, Oregon.

MARILYN MEE and Jack Jones will be married in Palo Alto on July 17. Jones will attend the U of O graduate school next year.

Minalou Schultz and Alex Byler have chosen June 15 as their wedding date in Bend. Miss Schultz will be senior scholar in English next year and Byler will be a third year law student.

MILTON-FREEWATER is the wedding place of Jean Snow and Tal Celler who will be married June 9. Both newlyweds will be at Willamette in the fall.

Carole Pfaff and Patrick Hibbard, both of Portland, are planning a June 9 wedding in Portland and will live in Oswego.

ANN NOTSON and Rodney Cartor have planned a June 23 wedding in Portland. They will live in Salem this summer.

Newberg will be the scene of the wedding of Myrna Hoy and Joel Royal, tentatively scheduled for September 14. Miss Hoy will finish school at Lewis and Clark.

CAROL LITCHFIELD and John Rehffuss, '56, will be married June 15 at Newport. The couple will live in Los Angeles until Rehffuss finishes school.

Phyllis Kaufman and Keith Dickson plan to be married on June 16 in Oswego. Portland will be their home.

JOAN ROBERTS will marry Art Weston in Reedsport on August 24. Both students will return to Willamette.

September 15 has been set as the date for the wedding of Patricia Payne and Arthur Drake. The wedding will take place in Salem.

SHIRLEY ULINDER and Ernie Gordon plan an early September wedding. Gordon will complete law school next year and Miss Ulinder will work in Salem.

Gilchrist, Oregon is the place of the wedding of Jane Brader and Donald Palmer. The date has been set for June 30. Both students plan to attend OSC.

GRADUATING seniors, Dollie Cummings and Hugh Armstrong will be married in Woodburn on June 5. The couple will live in the Delta Gamma house this summer.

San Mateo will be the wedding place of Gordon Steindorf and Ruth Volgamore, some time in August. DON MILLER and Charlotte Kleen plan to be married in Forest Grove on June 9.

Gary Monical and Ruth Alexander will be married in Grants Pass this summer.

Won by Sigs, Phis Second

INTRAMURAL results and total points for the past year which were released by intramural manager, Dan Feller, show that the men of Sigma Chi ran off with the 1956-57 intramural crown. The Sigs wound up the season with a total of 193½ points, or, forty and one-half points ahead of their nearest rival, Phi Delta Theta.

The Phis placed second with a total of 153 points, followed by Beta Theta Pi with 141 points. Sigma Alpha Epsilon was fourth and the Rinky Dinks, who didn't participate in all sports, managed to nab the number five spot. The Law School was edged out of sixth position by the men of Baxter, when they were forced from spring sports, due to "finals".

Coaches Choose Backlund, Caruso, Moore and Frederick

GIVING ample proof of both, the keen competition in the Northwest conference baseball pennant race this year, and the respect other teams and their coaches had for the Willamette Bearcats, are the four All-Northwest conference choices picked from the fourth place Willamette team.

Although placing no better than fourth in the conference race, the Bearcat baseball club was still honored by having four of their players selected on the mythical nine. The four All-Stars—of which none are seniors—are: Vic Backlund, catcher; Frank Caruso, third base; Tom Moore, outfielder; and Johnny Frederick, pitcher.

JUST AS close as the 1957

Northwest conference race was the voting by the six coaches for all-star spots. Thus ties developed, and the team increased to 18 players. Four teams placed four players apiece. Besides Willamette, they were champion Lewis and Clark, runnerup College of Idaho, and Linfield. Whitman and Pacific collected one selection each.

In addition to a battery staff of two catchers and four pitchers, the coaches selected a pair at first and second base, five outfielders and one utility infielder, along with a shortstop and third baseman. Only four of the 18 all-stars are repeaters from last season. They are pitcher Dick Stephens, Lewis and Clark; first baseman Vern Marshall, Linfield; and outfielders Max Johnson, Whitman; and Bill Braun, Pacific.

THE PITCHING staff is comprised of Hugh Hendry, Linfield; Dick Stephens, Lewis and Clark; Don Newbill, College of Idaho; and Frederick. Sharing the catching chores with Backlund is Ron Heberger of College of Idaho. Vern Marshall, Linfield, and Ed Davison, Lewis and Clark, tied for first base position. Marty Bergan, Linfield, and Joe Johnson, Lewis and Clark, were chosen for the keystone spot.

Shortstop went to College of Idaho's Ron Morrison, Pete Ward of Lewis and Clark was picked as a utility infielder, and Caruso was given the third base position. Along with Willamette's Tom Moore, the outfield was comprised of Max Johnson, Whitman; Gordon Hammerle, Linfield; Bill Braun, Pacific, and Ed Sloan, College of Idaho.

HONORABLE mention went to catchers Bob Dixon, Pacific, and Dick Olson, Linfield; pitchers, Marv Scherpf and Carl Meeuwssen, Linfield, Ron Stempel, Lewis and Clark, Bob Perkins, College of Idaho, and Ron Barendse, Pacific. Infield positions went to Bob Becker, Whitman, and George Adams, Lewis and Clark; and outfield to Bill Acker, Lewis and Clark.

Mull Plans Tennis Tour, Enters NCAA

BUD MULL, Willamette University's tennis champion, will still be keeping the courts hot this summer. Mull, who won the Northwest conference singles championship for the fourth year in a row, plus the doubles crown, will make a tennis tour this summer.

On Mull's busy schedule are several amateur tournaments around the country, topped off by the 1957 NCAA tennis championships.
