

Classes Brace for Song Battle Tomorrow at 8

Registering confusion that was prevalent in all class by midweek, the sophomores attempt to work out their formation for tomorrow night's Glee in the gymnasium.

Judges' Glee Decision to End Sleepless Week of Practice

Warblers, weary from long hours of practice for the 40th Annual Freshman Glee will rehearse for the last time today and tomorrow in last-minute preparations for the big event to begin at 8 p.m., Saturday night in the campus gymnasium. Those who do not hold tickets now will miss one of the most exciting Glee's in the history of the university, Dick Endsley, Glee manager, announces.

Decorations Dreamy

Marie Glasse, decoration chairman for this year's event, said Thursday night, as decoration plans progressed, that the theme, "Serenade," will be carried out thoroughly after many hours of hard work by her committee. Colors in the backdrop for this year's staging will be predominantly pastel, she says, and "definitely on the dreamy side."

On the backdrop itself will be portraits of old Waller hall, a music scroll and dancing couples in harmony with "Serenade." An innovation this year, she announces, will be the use of special lighting and dry ice for the production of a hovering cloud effect over the stage.

The gymnasium will be stardusted with countless hanging, glittering stars. All these decorations are expected to be in place by tonight for final dress rehearsals today and tomorrow, Miss Glasse said.

Beard Winners

During Glee rehearsals today Dr. Raymond Withey, Dr. J. R. Morris and Prof. Lloyd Jones, judges for the Whisketino contest, will scan the efforts of Willamette hair farmers. Winner of the beard growing competition will be announced at Glee.

Judges for the song and marching competition have not yet been announced.

Prof. Herman Clark, "the man who walks onto the stage" bearing the winning announcement, promises that the intermission and the time during which he makes the announcement will be as suspenseful as ever. He has spent hours, he says, compiling evasive winner announcements and it is rumored that as usual, he will suspend two weekly classes of freshmen "if the freshmen win this year."

Dick Endsley, Glee manager, has announced that intermission time will be occupied with a program including a trumpet trio, featuring Vernon Sample, Robert O'Neill and Walter Dodge, with Beatrice Nagl on the piano.

Program Schedule

Endsley will open the program at 8 o'clock, introducing Jack Gunn, freshman class president. Gunn in turn will acknowledge with an introduction and presentation of the traditional event.

Seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen, in that order will then march to their seats on the main floor. Traditionally, seniors will march to their seats in caps and gowns, remove them and change seats. Parodies on songs, as in the past, on radio programs, are then in order, with each class trying to outdo the other in spontaneity and loudness. Parodies are only traditionally in order before and after the presentation of all class songs.

After the songs and drills as announced previously, by the four classes comes the suspense, the intermission program, and finally, after hours (actually minutes) the winning announcement by Clark. The losing class stands with bowed heads until the winners vociferously claim their banner and give a repeat performance of their winning song. Then Freshman Glee is over for another year, except for Blue Monday, which this year has promised a glamorous array of bets come Monday morning.

Committees Named

Assisting Manager Dick Endsley in this year's presentation of Glee are the following committee heads and committees:

Marie Glasse, decorations, assisted by Diane Allen, Helen Bond-adurer, Gloria Palo, Jacqueline Weller, Diane Proctor, Bernice Haynes, Phil Blankenship, Richard Stewart, Herb Carlson, Mary Jo Wigginton, Lorraine Allen and Nancy Welch; Dick Bennett, stage; Robert Klosterman, tickets; Jean Gilmer, programs; Robert Ross, chairs and floors; Martha DuRette, publicity; Al Laue, lights; and Douglas Coe, lights.

Executive committee for Glee this year is Carolyn Cooper, Buzz Yocom and Barbara Crawford. Honor guards will be Art Beddoe, Keith Sperry, Burnell Ambrose and Ken Nerison, and banner bearers Barbara Goldman, Louise Ulvin, Shirley Ambler and Diana Arpke.

Sayre, Mills to Participate At National Speech Tourney

Robert Sayre and Chuck Mills will represent Willamette at the second annual speech tournament sponsored by the United States Military Academy at West Point from March 31 to April 3. Dr. Herbert E. Rahe will accompany debate team on the trip.

Although selected to enter a team last year, Willamette was unable to send delegates to the tourney. From the Oregon, Washington and Idaho district will be sent teams from WU, Washington State and Gonzaga university. The alternate teams selected were Oregon State and Pacific university. The thirty-two competing teams were selected by a committee.

During the week prior to the West Point contest, the team will compete in the Tau Kappa Alpha national discussion tournament at Bloomington, Indiana.

Between the two scheduled tournaments Sayre and Mills will try to engage several other eastern colleges in debate. The team expects to be back on campus by April 10.

Religion Speaker

Dr. John Gross, ex-president of Union university, while on the campus March 15 and 16, will speak to Dr. Raymond Withey's Bible classes on the opportunities for work in the church world. Should anyone wish a personal conference with Dr. Gross, please contact Withey.

'The Atom Next Door' Launches WSSF Program of Activities

With the production of the radio show, "The Atom Next Door," Sunday evening at 8:30, the World Service Student Fund will launch its program of activities. The half hour show, prepared by Joe Power, will be held at Waller hall and will be open, free of charge, to Willamette students and Salem townspeople.

Wednesday night the International Relations club will sponsor the moving picture, "Seeds of Destiny," which depicts the conditions under which foreign students are living and attending universities.

The talent production, "Toujours Gale," will wind up the week's program Friday night. Tickets for the show, in the form of small booklets, will go on sale

Monday morning and will be sold by the Willamette university Pepcats.

The World Student Service Fund was established, as part of the international organization, World Student Relief, in 1938. It was active in the aid of Chinese students during that time and since then it has extended activities to Europe, India and many other parts of the world.

The recent world war increased the need for aid to students and professors. Books, food, clothing, medical supplies and funds with which to establish living co-operatives, are all desperately needed. Many European students contracted tuberculosis and other diseases during the war. Other students have become mentally unstable after having endured the hardships of imprisonment in concentration camps.

Proceeds from the Willamette program of activities will be sent directly to World Student Service Fund headquarters at Rockefeller Center in New York City. There, all of the American contributions will be coordinated with World Student Relief, which is located in Geneva, Switzerland. World distribution will be handled from Geneva.

Kathleen Secord, chairman of the drive, emphasized the need of material contributions. She stated, "We will greatly appreciate the donation of books of all kinds and clothes for the cause of student rehabilitation throughout the world."

Fussers Guide Correction List Now in Eaton

All returning students who have changed their addresses or phone numbers other than to Baxter hall or a fraternity wing are requested to sign the list on the Eaton bulletin board today or Monday, according to Bud Holmes and Russ Tripp, Fussers Guide supplement editors for the spring semester.

New students are asked to check for correctness a list of their names, addresses and phone numbers also posted in Eaton.

This list must be completed Monday to insure the inclusion of all additions and changes to the Fusser's Guide, which will be printed in the Collegian.

Glee Ticket Notice

All Freshman Glee tickets not called for by 4 p.m., Friday, will be issued from the student body office after that time, Stuart Compton, ASWU president, said yesterday.

Any tickets remaining Friday night will be issued from Dr. Daniel Schultze's office Saturday morning.

The Big Chance

Little things often prove to be the big things. A little thing called an idea displayed itself 39 years ago in the minds of James Oakes and R. V. Ellis, and today has snowballed into such a big thing that the entire Willamette scene is thrown out of kilter the week preceding Freshman Glee, the result of the idea.

This Glee, which will see the four classes engage in their song competition tomorrow night in the gym, is truly a big thing. Everything is original, as each class writes its own song and works out its own formation. Students get up at 4 o'clock in the morning to practice singing these songs and marching to the formation. Again at noon many of them sacrifice their lunch hour for practice, and most classes also have rehearsals from 4 to 5 in the afternoon and again from 6:30 to 8:30 in the evening.

Professors (most of them, that is) slack off on their assignments during the week before Glee. Although some persist in giving tests, most realize the importance of the event, not only to the students, but to the University. Much acclaim is brought to Willamette by Freshman Glee.

Why do students go to all this work? Possibly because it is a wonderful opportunity for the entire class to pitch in and cooperate in achieving a definite goal. The scholar can show individualism in academic accomplishments, the athlete performs to the crowd's cheers and the musician has the stage to himself, as do the forensic enthusiast and the dramatist. But tomorrow night's Freshman Glee is the one chance of the school year where both the "little man" and the "big wheel" can combine to produce an event that has probably become the biggest "thing" at Willamette.

Oh for a Dull Moment

School journalism is such fun. So many things can happen. The newspaper staff is never bored. Always something happening. In fact, the Collegian staff sometimes feels like a blindfolded boxer in a ring with two other guys who aren't blindfolded; or like the man who closed the doors only to find them coming through the windows.

Last week a bunch of copy containing the top stories for the issue were lost. The loss wasn't discovered until Wednesday night. All the stories were written again in the hours around midnight.

This week, with the Glee edition on tap, precautions were taken so that no copy was lost.

Tuesday 15 gallons of nitric acid got out of hand at the Salem Engraving company where the Collegian engravings are made. The plant was disorganized and the engravers were sent home to bed after inhaling the fumes of the acid.

Wednesday night the Collegian staff didn't know whether there would be any pictures in the Glee edition. And several pictures had been planned.

The paper had to be planned two ways, with and without pictures. That's a lot of work.

Thursday, when the Collegian is set in type, the engravers promised to get out a limited number of Collegian cuts if possible. But the whole thing hinges on the arrival of more acid from Portland. It will probably arrive in time.

Dusty Volumes Show Ingenious Bets of Old

By Leslie Parrott

A search of Collegian files proves that for the last five years, Glee bets have followed the same groove; pie in face, yelling in class every ten minutes, molasses and flour shampoo, shivering losers in pajamas and bathing suits, and such other alarming sequence which tend to humiliate the participant.

Some classes, however, have shown unique originality in their self inflicted punishment. In 1945 the students were barely saved the ignominy of, "Breaking up the legislature." One young lady clad in a sheet and carrying a light (one report says lantern and another candle) looked down from the balcony on the enraged lawmakers who realized she was looking for an honest man. She beat the sergeant-at-arms to the door. Immediately following the same session, one victim of a poor bet recited to the consternation of all, "T'was the Night Before Christmas." The same year, the late Governor Snell bought a girdle from a pink-faced Willamette coed.

One of the outstanding bets which would have had smooth running, was the threat of President Smith back in 1944. Had he lost, he would have rollerskated around the campus in the exercise of his official duties the following Monday.

It was last year that the most originality blossomed. Dave Bristow, with a flower between his teeth, lay in a coffin most of the day. Caroline Cooper set up a tent in Eaton hall where she played squaw. One professor attended classes in a tux with one blue sock and one gray. His foul smelling pipe insured complete privacy. Gerald Lawrence walked backwards all day dressed as Cupid and Kathy Secord lay flat on her back while from a standing position, a floating winner dropped chocolate pudding into her mouth.

There's still time. Place your bet. According to official records, you cannot be obnoxious. However, you can be original, maybe!

Everybody Can't Win

Introducing

In the freshman class there is a martyr, a long-suffering martyr who has the sympathy of every member of the Associated Students of Willamette university. He walks around with the preoccupied look and the bewildered expression of one lost in a fog. He carries an important-looking portfolio stuffed with schedules, manuscripts, and other official-looking documents!

This person has been endowed with a heritage—a heritage of a mountain of work and a mole-hill of appreciation. He has an unassuming air and the smile of one who has been subjected to the dungeons of horror and

I Want to Spoon -- It Must Be June

By Eeyore

"Now is the time for all good men to come out under the moon." No, that is not being right. My what is being the matter with me? Why is my heading spinning around with such gooping words as moon, spoon, June, and ru'n. Oh my, I am thinking, my brains is going soft and gooy.

Then suddenly it is hitting me that it is being near to Froshman Gleeman time and that the themes is being Serenade.

Ah ha! I am thinking, that is being why my friends is going around clutching eye openers and why I am getting all sentimental over the moon and Waller and the obstacle course down by the Mill Streaming.

Like a nut from the azure it is coming to me that perhaps the classes are needing some help on the writing of their songs. Well, I am being just the one it is seeming to me and I am therefore setting myself down with a pen and foolscap and whipping up a little song which is sounding something like this:

"Willamette you came to me
From out the blue.
Willamette I'll always be
In love with you."

This little ditty is only taking me some forty-five minutes and I am deciding that there is probably being a spark of genius in my head and that there is being no sense in me hiding my flames under a barrel. So I am sitting out under the stars and being creative.

In my dreams I am dreaming all sorts of winning songs and I am therefore deciding that my best bet is to be getting out from under the stars and scribbling my creations down for the posterity. So here is being my scribblings:

"Oh the stars tonight
Over old Waller hall,
Remind me of Willamette
And you and Fall."

"The daphne by the door
Sweet memories bring,
Reminds me of Willamette
And you and Spring."

"Then your love turned cold
And my heart did splinter,
Reminds me of Willamette
And you and Winter."

"So please return
To me your love,
And I'll work on summer

So, there is being my song and I am leaving it for what it is being worth, but if it is happening to be being the winning Glee singing I am going to be being mighty happy and maybe next year I will be being able to get a job with the greeting-card company.

Wet But Hopeful Endsley

has come out with his wits still about him.

Take a Hood River high school graduate, mix well with membership in Beta Theta Pi, put in a dash of business ambition, stir in that certain basic apathy found so often in second-semester freshmen, and you will come out with a fundamental recipe that should look a great deal like Dick Endsley, this year's Freshman Glee manager. (The latter will give a hint as to the reason for the bewildered look and the "dungeon of horror" expression.)

Dick graduated from Hood River high in 1947 with a high scholastic record and the honor of being president of his senior class. He played on the first string of the football and basketball teams and was picked "All-Around Boy" of his class. He claims to no particular ambition—even a certain lack of ambition—except that he plans a business course at Willamette. His taste in music runs toward the semi-classical and he picks "Warsaw Concerto" as his favorite composition. (Perhaps that gives an insight into his unassuming nature, "Warsaw Concerto" being a happy medium between heavy classics and hot jazz.) He has no particular hobbies since his interests run in too many channels to concentrate on any particular field.

Scene at Baxter . . .

By Inie Lou Wilhelm

In the Sigma Chi wing spring has sprung—at least so the boys think. It all comes from having such a fine view of the tennis courts. Ah me! Too bad it's too cold to wear shorts. Nevertheless two fine Sigs were undergoing treatment for dislocated backs—they live on the second floor.

The Sigs aren't the only ones with ailments. Phi Deltas seem to be exhibiting kleptomaniacal tendencies. They really didn't need two new ash trays at the She Delta Theta initiation—especially since they were the Delta Gamma scholarship cup and Beta loving cup.

The other day one of the Independents turned up in red sweater, socks, and tie. That night they had the darndest time getting rid of the three investigators from the Un-American Activities Committee. Rest of the mob have been having an awful time trying to get into their quarters. They keep getting lost in the other four wings.

Hear that the Phi Alphas are heartbroken because they can't have beer mugs like the other boys. Balfour didn't make any provisions for Minerva chapters. If you see any of the fellows with woebegone looks—that's why.

Fireworks exploded when one of the Betas brought in two unidentified females and started showing them around the wing. Their long-suffering house mother objected when he calmly explained that he was only hiring them as wake-up girls. . . .

The field will be narrowed to five candidates Tuesday, from which the Queen will be announced the night of the Lettermen's ball, March 19.

'W' Club to Pick Princesses; Plans Progress for Formal

Five "W" club princesses, one of whom will be chosen queen to rule over the March 19 Lettermen's ball, will be announced in the next issue of the Collegian, said Earl Hampton, club president, today.

The finalists will be honored at a sock dance Tuesday, March 16, at 10 a.m., and will be featured in the society section of the Oregon Statesman. They will also be the recipients of gifts from several local merchants.

CeCe Johnson, decoration chairman, reports that tentative plans include draperies and a false ceiling, somewhat on the order of last year's theme.

Invitations have been issued to all alumni of the "W" club and Bearcat backers, including Harry Collins of the Breakfast club, Al Lightner of the Statesman, Fred Zimmerman of the Capital Journal and representatives from the Oregonian and Oregon Journal. The queen and princesses from last year have also been invited, according to Travis Cross, publicity chairman.

KOCO will broadcast for a half-hour from the dance, at which Glen Woodry's orchestra will play. Ray Loter and Cross will act as emcees for the radio program. General chairmen for the formal are Hank Ercolini and Bob Donovan.

The ten candidates now in the running are Lorraine Allen, Edith Anderson, Alene Axelson, Barbara Bates, Martha Du Rette, Kathleen Kinder, Jean Mills, Nancy Phillips, Pat Ryan and Mary Lynn Scott.

The program of varied talents consists of a combo number by Ken Jarrett, drums; Kodiak Johnson, piano; Robert O'Neill, trumpet; Dick Golten, trombone; Jack Praetor, clarinet and saxophone and Walt Beuhning, string bass. Beuhning will give out with "Mountain Music," "Am I Blue," and "Stomping at the Savoy." The Hawaiian trio, Bill Ewaliko, James Noa and Charles Nee will sing "Gone With the Wind."

Vocalist Lou Hartke sings "Lover Man" and Sharon Currier does a pianologue on "The Little Rabbit." A tap number by Pat Zosel, a violin solo, "Adoration," by Philip Blankenship, an interpretation by Jerry Igo and a rendition of "Sweet and Lovely" by the quartet, Pat Ryan, Mary Lynne Scott, Martha Benard and Marie Glasse, will also be featured.

Accompanist for the group is Barbara Halvarson. The program is under the general direction of Marion Sparks, Jack Brown and Bill Church.

Endsley WU Rotarian

Dick Endsley, Freshman Glee manager, will be Willamette University Rotarian of the month for March. Stu Compton, ASWU president, announced this week.

Endsley will be honored at the weekly luncheon meetings of the downtown organization during March. He will be introduced to the Rotarians by Bill Harris, WU Rotarian for February.

Each month an outstanding student is selected by the student council to attend the luncheons of the downtown club.

Willamette Debate Team Takes Second Place In Field of 32 at Linfield Speech Tourney

Taking four first places, five seconds, and two thirds, Willamette university debaters won second place in the 18th annual Linfield college intercollegiate forensic speech tournament at McMinnville Saturday. More than 250 orators from 32 western colleges took part in the competition.

When the curtain was rung down and the final tabulation of points made, Washington State college edged out Willamette for the sweepstakes trophy. The local orators needed one more first place to top the winners.

Speakers Cop 16 Firsts

Dr. Herbert E. Rahe, professor of speech and team coach, said that the four first places won in the tournament swells the team total to 16 for the year in forensic competition.

Winning first place trophies were Willamette orators Jack Gunn in junior men's impromptu; Jerry Igo in men's interpretation; Tom Bartlett in junior men's oratory; and Russell Tripp in after-dinner speaking for men.

Sayre, Mills Take Second

Robert Sayre, competing in spite of illness, failed to win a first place for the first time this year in intercollegiate competition, but with his partner, Chuck Mills, won second place in varsity men's debate.

Other second place winners were Maxine Muckle in junior women's extemporaneous speaking; Elliott Motschenbacher in junior men's impromptu; Tom Bartlett in junior men's extemporaneous; and Barbara Burrier who tied for second in acting competition.

Three Third Placers

Betty Ferguson tied for third place in junior women's oratory; Harriet Ness placed third in after-dinner speaking for women; and Frank Washburn tied for third in speech of the occasion division.

Finalists were Grace Morton in women's interpretation, Sayre and Gunn in varsity extemporaneous, and Gunn and Motschenbacher in junior men's debate contest.

Dr. Rahe, who served on the tournament committee, and Prof. Lloyd Jones, who assisted in coaching and judging, accompanied the team to McMinnville.

A Splitting Story

Eric Bergman, Collegian reporter, had a story to write for the paper Tuesday morning. Finding the office locked he climbed through a convenient window.

His pants split many inches up the back seam from the exertion. He went to all his classes in his raincoat that day.

When asked what he would have done if he hadn't had his raincoat, large beads of perspiration broke out on Bergman's brow and he made no comment.

Gridcats Get Shirts From Bishop's

Twenty-seven lettermen of Willamette's Northwest Conference football champions were presented with emblemed sport shirts at the hall of the Willamette-C.P.S. basketball game, Friday night.

The maroon Pendleton shirts were donated by Bishop's clothing store and distributed by Dick Cooley, their advertising manager.

Bishop's also sponsored the broadcasts of the Willamette football games throughout last season.

Bearcat Defeat by Puget Sound Gives Loggers Conference Title

Loss to Lewis & Clark Ties Cats With UBC for Second

By Mulkey

Willamette's lop-sided loss to College of Puget Sound, 65-48, last week wiped out the Bearcat hopes for a possible tie for the conference crown.

Climbing the title with their victory over the Methodists, the Loggers terminated their last season in the Northwest loop the following night by dropping their final to Lewis and Clark, 85-72.

An 81-66 loss handed to Willamette by the Pioneers, allowed UBC to tie them for second.

CPS Looks Good

The rangy gang from Tacoma displayed league champion ball all the way. However, the fighting 'Cats clawed furiously in the first stanza, overcoming a six point deficit with 15 minutes gone. Ted Johnson threw in seven points in five minutes to close the half at 27-28, CPS holding the edge.

Ted Johnson of the local crew was the real spark plug for the evening. Driving all the way, Ted was responsible for 23 counters. Tom Warren picked up 8 points, while Jim Johnson accounted for seven.

Finale Lost

The Bearcats closed the current season's campaign by losing to Lewis and Clark 81-66 last Tuesday. The defeat put the Thunderbirds of British Columbia in a deadlock with the locals in the runner-up slot in conference standings.

Posting their sixth straight win, the Pioneers literally pulled themselves out of the cellar by their bootstraps to third place. Except for a 3-2 lead in the initial minutes of the fray, the Pioneers led the 'Cats all the way. Holding a comfortable halftime lead of 39-24, the Lewis and Clark outfit easily outdistanced the locals to the finish.

Again Ted Johnson fought vainly for victory, running up an impressive individual account of 22 points. Jim Johnson pulled out of his scoring slump by meshing 15 points followed by Dick Allison who netted 10.

British Columbia's swim team displayed tremendous power in winning the first Northwest Conference swim meet at the Multnomah Club last Saturday.

The Thunderbirds accounted for 69 points and every place except one. Lewis and Clark totaled 27 points for second place, and Willamette clinched third place with 14 points.

The Bearcat relay team composed of Dick Blois, Ray Atkinson, John Burleigh and Jerry Mulkey, placed second in the 440 yard free style relay and Ray Atkinson placed third in the 50 yard free style.

Frosh End 9-11 Maple Season With Two Victories, One Loss

By Reynolds

Putting the finishing touches to a 9 win, 11 loss season, the Willamette Frosh were trampled on by the smooth-working Oregon State Rooks Tuesday, at Salem high, but tipped both Silverton and Sacred Heart in recent tilts.

The Frosh's final game of the season saw the OSC Rooks take an easy 61-35 victory as the Methodist's season record dropped below .500.

Rooks Walk Away

During the first six minutes of the game the score see-sawed, but soon the Rooks leaped into the lead and easily stayed there. At the half they led 21-12.

George Crandall paced the Rooks with 18 tallies while the scoring column of the Bearkittens was led by Don Aasen's 11.

Sacred Heart Bows

Marv Goodman's Freshmen rolled to an easy win over Sacred Heart high school by a 44-31 score in the CPS prelim Friday.

The Frosh led at the end of 6 minutes 8-1, but the Sacred Heart started a come-back which fagged out with the count at 13-12. The locals led at the half 21-13. Pat Hanna walked away with the scoring honors with 10 points.

Foxes Outfoxed

Silverton high's Foxes fell to the feet of the Bearkittens 39-31 in a Thursday evening tussle. The Foxes held close to the Frosh until late in the second quarter when the locals jumped ahead 22-16 at the halftime.

Fabian Nelson, Bearkitten center, scored 12 for high of the evening.

Fifteen Batterymen Answer First Lewis Baseball Call

Fifteen Bearcat batterymen answered Coach Johnny Lewis' initial call to baseball practice last week. Ten of the 15 are pitchers and the other five are catchers.

Of the ten chuckers, only one is a portsider, he being Bert Lund, freshman, who pitched for Lewis' Aero club Legionnaires last summer.

Three holdovers, John Olson, John Slanchik and Fred Richardson, were the only lettermen turning out. Others included Lou Scrivens, Franklin high; Ed Strothers, Newberg high; Alan with the catchers this week. However, he will have plenty of competition from Roy Harrington, Portland transfer, Dick Allison, Salem high, Bob Skirven, Harrisburg high, and Jim Wenger, who played ball in Ohio.

Bickford, Hood River high; Frank Bomber, Jefferson, and Don Waldron, Medford high. Larry Stocks, who played the infield last year for the locals, also turned out for mound chores.

Only one experienced mitman, Deke Walker, reported for duty

Cat Sub Trio Gave Club Height

Although not the tallest on the casaba courts, Bruce Barker, Dale Bates and Don Waldron were nevertheless tall firs on this year's Bearcat club with their 6' 1" heights.

All during this year's campaign, the three have lent their heights as subs to good advantage on the 'Cat club.

Barker
In the Jasons' do or die tilt last Friday with CPS, Barker broke into the lineup for the first time this season and displayed his usual steady brand of ball. At present a junior with one more year of eligibility left, Bruce lettered in the maple sport in his freshman year at Willamette in the '45-'46 season and four years of Taft high school ball before that.

Aside from basketball the 21-year old forward lettered in baseball last spring with the Bearcats and indulged in football and boxing while at Taft.

Bates
One of the few seniors on the squad this year, Dale Bates began his career at Willamette in 1942, but only for a semester. After spending two and a half years in the Air Force he returned to his old haunts to complete his education.

Though he never played basketball at Salem high, he lettered on Willamette's jayvee squad last year. Last spring he also lettered in tennis.

Waldron
One of the younger men on the squad, 19-year old Don Waldron hails from Medford where he played on Medford high's Black Tornado team which took third place in the state tournament last year.

While at Medford Don starred as an all-around athlete as he has at Willamette, playing jayvee football last fall. The tow-headed freshman plans to turn out for baseball this spring.

Lillie Holds Track Meeting Next Monday

Track Coach Jerry Lillie announced this week that he will hold a meeting for all prospective track men next Monday at 4 p.m. Practice and workout for spring track events will be held immediately, Lillie added. A handful of aspirants were already working out this week.

An intramural track meet, to be held March 27, will pit each of Willamette's four classes for school honors, and also will enable the new track coach to get a glimpse of prospective track stars.

Lillie has only three lettermen, Tom Grimm, Ralph Ohling and Don Priess, returning from last year, but hopes to pick several future track stars from this year's freshman group.

At present practices are being held on the Sweetland field track, though the Salem high track will also be used. All practice for field event men will be held on Sweetland.

A golf team meeting will follow the track meeting at 4:30 Monday afternoon, in Lillie's office. All interested golfers are urged to attend.

Rubes Win Mural Playoff By Tripping Phi Delt's Twice

By Boyce

Bouncing back after an earlier defeat at the hands of the Phi Delt's, the Rubes captured two contests from the same five Saturday morning 27-13 and 19-16 to cop the crown in the 'mural league basketball double elimination playoff.

By taking the first contest Saturday morning the Rubes evened the count with Phi Delt's at one loss apiece. Going into the quarter behind 19-10 in the second tilt, the Phi Delt's held the Rubes scoreless while picking up only six points on field goals by Bob Donovan, Roger Adams and Mary Goodman, which fell short of the nine point margin by three points.

Betas Drop Out
After grabbing two straight victories, the Betas dropped their first contest 30-18 at the hands of the Phi Delt's last Thursday.

The Betas attempted to stop the pace-setting Rubes in the second game Friday evening after the Rubes had eliminated the Sigs in the preliminary 25-9, but the Rubes managed to gather sufficient strength to halt the rampaging Betas 18-11.

Cage To Be Used

Coach Johnny Lewis announced last week that a batting cage will be constructed again this year for Bearcat batters to gain an early season batting eye.

The cage will be a slot affair which will allow three chuckers throw to three batters all at one time with no danger of being hit to any of the six. It will be constructed on the west end of Sweetland field.

Sports Orbit

by Oakes

With the playing of last Tuesday's Lewis and Clark game, in which the locals were bopped 81-66, three Bearcat casaba veterans played their last game for Willamette. They were Dale Bates, Bob Medley and Fred Richardson. Though we will undoubtedly hear plenty yet from Fred Richardson, who was a workhorse chucker for the 'Cat horsehidiers last spring, we do wish the seniors the best of luck with whatever they take up as an occupation after the June graduation.

Workouts on Sweetland

This year it again appears that the Jason baseball nine will be required to work out on bumpy Sweetland field again. Only this time the diamond will be scalped into the southeast corner of the football field instead of the northwest. However, Coach Johnny Lewis will again set up the batting cages in the west end of the field.

It was formerly hoped that the Bush pasture baseball practice field could be used, but apparently the ground hasn't settled down sufficiently enough to permit playing on it without scarring it up badly. It would have been better for the infielders however, since playing on Sweetland's hard bumpy turf caused a lot of ball-shyness last year.

Only Three Track Lettermen

With only three lettermen returning from last year's track squad, Coach Jerry Lillie's track hopes this year seem pretty slim. But Lillie, not a man to sit idly by, has cast his eye over the track experience of some of the men in school and has run across plenty of possibilities.

Officials' Maple Rating Exam Attended by Willamette Coeds

Three Willamette women, Ruth Hagelstein, Nan Wilcox, and Ellen Forslund, attended the basketball official's rating examination at Lewis and Clark college last Saturday.

Ruth Hagelstein passed the written examination but has not yet received word about the practical examination consisting of refereeing one quarter and umpiring one quarter of a game.

Success in both examinations will give her national rating as an official for women's basketball.

All other activities are crowded into the background this weekend as Freshman Glee reaches the climax tomorrow night. Following glee the freshmen will sponsor a dance in the gym for anyone who is still able to dance. Dances, picnics, and banquets are planned as soon as Glee is over. Weddings of former and present Willamette students are highlights of the week's news.

Terry Clemes, WU Grad, Spends Day on Campus

"Unless you want it above all else and are ready to give up everything for it, don't enter the acting field," said Terry Clemes, Willamette graduate who appeared in "Dream Girl" Friday evening. Returning to Salem after an absence of eight years, Miss Clemes spent a crowded day, looking over the campus, renewing acquaintances, and making radio appearances.

As she sat in the Bearcat Cavern with her leading man, Bob Herrman, and old friend Prof. Ivan Lovell, Miss Clemes exclaimed over the changes that have taken place in Willamette since her 1940 graduation.

"I wish they'd had the Cavern then," she said. "It's so much fun!"

She also reported that she had spent an enjoyable evening at the Delta Gamma house, recalling Delta Phi days.

Miss Clemes, who was known as Olive when she attended Willamette, explained her new name. "Terry started when I began flying and has stuck with me ever since." Her first experience with the legitimate stage was with a Rotary stock company in New England, when she played the part of Mary in "The Jazz Singers." Her present role in "Dream Girl" is the longest woman's part ever written, and she appears in all 22 scenes.

"You just can't do everything," Miss Clemes said as she departed to attend a tea given in her honor, "but it's certainly good to be back in Salem." She was honored at a no-host dessert at the Golden Arrow immediately following the performance.

'Future Teachers of America' Organize Willamette Branch

With the adoption of a constitution this week a new organization, the Future Teachers of America, has been established on campus.

The club, a junior branch of the National Teachers Association, is not restricted to education students who are planning to enter the teaching profession, said Dr. Russell Morris, of the education department, but any student of sophomore standing who is taking education courses may have membership in the club.

The purpose of the club, he said, is to bring education students together both socially and for the betterment of their profession. The Willamette chapter will be the third one to be established in Oregon. There is a chapter at OSC and at Southern

School of Education in Ashland. If the newly formed chapter is accepted by national headquarters, it will be known as the Bruce Bennett chapter of the Future Teachers of America.

The next meeting of the club will be March 10 at which time officers for the club will be elected.

The committee of students who are doing the ground work for the organization are Ben Schaad, temporary chairman; Patty Holtz, Marjorie Sinclair, Ted Ogdahl and Barbara Marshall. Morris, Dr. Lawrence Riggs and Dr. George Martin are faculty members.

Frosh Election

Glee practices and preparation have necessitated the postponement of the freshman class run off elections, according to Jack Gunn, frosh prexy.

Gunn urges all frosh students to revote Tuesday, March 9 on Dick Peterson and Scotty Washburn for the office of vice president; Edith Anderson and Martha Du Rette for class secretary, and Jack Eby and Burnell Ambrose for sergeant-at-arms.

Glee Tickets Scarce

Due to the increased enrollment this year, alumni members are having great difficulty in securing Glee tickets, Charles Barclay, alum secretary, said yesterday.

Although the exceptional interest shown by alumni members is gratifying, he is unable to take care of all the requests, he said.

Baxter Dedication Planned; Open House Invitations Issued

Baxter hall will be open to the public Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 19, 20 and 21, as part of formal dedication ceremonies. Invitations have been extended in the name of the university mentioning Baxter hall and the four fraternities. The reception of guests will be the responsibility of individual units, according to President G. Herbert Smith.

Various groups will be divided among the units during the open house, with refreshments being served in Baxter hall. Students on the campus, faculty, faculty wives and parents of the students are invited to be guests on Friday from 2:30 to 5.

Guests from other colleges, alums, high school principles, counselors, community organizations, service clubs and all other interested persons will be greeted on Saturday from 2:30 to 5, 7:30 to 10 and on Sunday from 2:30 to 5. The general public is invited Saturday night, Smith said.

The formal dedication ceremony will be held in Waller hall Saturday at 2. The program will be announced later by Smith. The hall is expected to be entirely completed before the formal dedication.

March 8 Life To Show Art By WU Prof

Carl Hall, prominent Oregon artist and artist in residence at Willamette, will have a presentation of his work in Life magazine in the March 8 issue.

Hall, who is employed in the Elfstrom art gallery in Salem, has gained local and national fame with his vivid depictions of Oregon landscape scenes. He was recently notified of the purchase of one of his landscape oil paintings by the Whitney museum in New York City.

The Whitney museum, considered by many artists as the top jumping off place, is the greatest modern art museum in the United States. The purchase price of Hall's painting, which he named "The Cradle," is said to be $900.

Life magazine photographers were recently on the campus gathering and correlating pictures and information for possible publication.

KOCO to Air Freshman Glee

With commentary inserts of local color and background, KOCO will broadcast Freshman Glee tomorrow evening from approximately 8:15 to the end of the songfest, according to Dave Beckett, staff announcer and WU student.

Sponsored by the Pioneer Trust company, the broadcast will feature Margaret Allyn giving her impression of the event, and commentary by Jack Morgan, KOCO program director, Carl Ritchie, Joe Power and Prof. Lloyd Jones will also be on hand at one of the four mikes to add information on Glee history and tradition.

As scheduled now, Pres. G. Herbert Smith, Dick Endsley, Glee manager, and Jack Gunn, freshman class president, will make welcoming speeches to the radio audience. The exact continuity of the program is still tentative.

Toujours Gaie Talent

Rhodes to Represent Campus At College Discussion of UN

Bob Rhodes, junior and member of the campus IRC, is the representative for Willamette at the Pacific Northwest college conference at Whitman college, Walla Walla, now in progress.

This is the third annual conference and over 30 colleges from the Pacific Northwest and Canada will send representatives. Prominent speakers from business and political life are listed to participate in the meeting.

The aim of this conference, as with the two preceding meetings, has been to draw up resolutions and declarations, after due consideration, which seem representative of the opinion of the college students in this region; submit these measures to the various represented schools for vote and finally to notify the UN of the results. In this way, a reasonable cross-section of college public opinion on world affairs is sent to the UN.

Rhodes will give a report on the progress and events of this important congress next Wednesday, March 10th, at 7:30, in room 203 of Waller hall. All students are invited to discuss the results of the Whitman conference.

'Living Faith Today' Theme For Religious Emphasis Week

Religious Emphasis week, the theme of which is "Living Faith today," will be April 13 through 15, Dr. Raymond Withey announced today.

A special chapel is scheduled every morning at 10. Dr. M. Cole of the First Methodist church of Portland will speak of the general theme "What Does Religion Have to Offer College People Today?"

Tuesday evening there will be a dinner and fireside for the counselors. Wednesday evening the drama department, under the direction of Prof. Lloyd Jones, will present the three act play, "The Little Minister."

Thursday night the theme will be "Religion Through Music", with music by the a cappella choir and Ralph Dobbs, pianist.

Wednesday and Thursday afternoons will be devoted to the "Coffee Hour", which skeptics are invited to attend for frank discussions.

Withey wishes to make it clear that this is not a revival, or an effort to "cram religion down anyone's throat", but is an unbiased consideration of religion and its effects upon us and our ways of life. It is open to all WU students.

Smith Voices Dissatisfaction With Pan-Hellenic Rush Rules

Pres. G. Herbert Smith expressed dissatisfaction with the PanHellenic rushing rules when he met with the PanHellenic council last week, according to a PanHellenic spokesman.

He explained that he considered the rules unintelligible to outsiders. He also objected to "silence weeks" which set apart the organized and unorganized women of the dorms, the limited type of summer rushing outlined in the councils' rules and the registration and fee requirement for those desiring to participate in rushing.

Barclay Makes Survey of WU Grad Classes

Charles Barclay, Willamette alumni director, announced this week that he is making a survey of the graduating classes of 1923 and 1928. Barclay is conducting this survey in conjunction with the Population Reference Bureau, a non-profit scientific, educational organization.

The survey asks only two questions: Have you ever been married? and how many children have you? Already there are a number of responses.

The purpose is to take a census among college graduates determining the number of children among graduates. The Population Reference bureau is concerned about the comparative lack of offspring among graduates.

According to responses received so far, the average family consists of two children, Barclay said.

The council will meet soon after Glee, according to Joy Bushnell, president, in order to rewrite the rules, incorporating Smith's suggestions.
