Doney Hall—New Womens Dormitory

Dr. Doney, Longtime President, Benefactor of Willamette, Dies

Word was received here Saturday morning through a telegram to President Smith of the death of Dr. Carl Gregg Doney. Dr. Doney served as president of the University from 1915 until 1934, the longest tenure of any president.

Dr. Doney's long administration was marked by a strengthening of the academic program, construction of Lausanne Hall and the gymnasium, and by the raising of $1,000,000 for endowment.

In 1924, a serious illness caused Dr. Doney to submit his resignation to the Board of Trustees, but it was not accepted. He was known as a witty and entertaining speaker, and was much in demand by various civic organizations and clubs.

An outspoken foe of liquor, he was active in the prohibition movement. Also he opposed the introduction of dancing into the University's social life. Recently Dr. Doney was honored by the University he had served so well by the

DR. W. C. DIES

The sudden death of Dr. Carl Dies, former president of Willamette University and recently resident of Columbus, Ohio, on November 4, 1936, has severed the final ties between the university and the man who, half a century ago, was the first president of the Audubon Society in Oregon.

ORIENTATION WEEK

Special assemblies, placement exams, blood tests, fraternity and sorority rush, the sale of "dink lids" — these were events marking orientation week for Willamette's new students. The special convocations, which served to introduce the administrative staff and explain campus traditions, were held especially to indoctrinate freshmen and transfer students.

Freshman women made acquaintances at a pajama party held in the basement of Lausanne Hall.

The Class of '59 began its social life in one of the mixers during Orientation Week.

New students met the administration of the university and student body at the reception in President Smith's home.

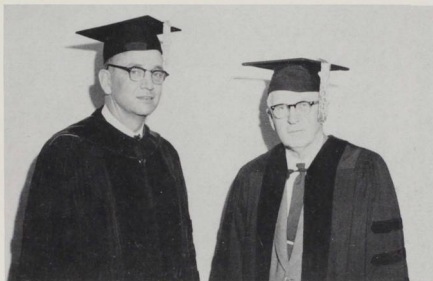

Baxter-Lausanne exchange dinners, open houses at Baxter Hall, and an all-school mixer helped the new students become acquainted. Placement exams for freshmen and transfer students, followed by individual conferences with advisors, paved the way for registration at the end of the week. Students were well prepared to begin their classes on Tuesday, September 20, after a thorough orientation and introduction to Willamette.

COMMENCEMENT

One hundred and seventy-seven students filed past President Smith to receive degrees at the 113th annual Commencement exercises Sunday afternoon. Inclement weather forced the ceremony to be held in the gymnasium. Two honorary awards, Doctor of Science, were bestowed upon Darrell Chapin and Gerald Pearson who were members of the three man inventing team of the world renowned Bell Solar battery. These men did their undergraduate work at Willamette.

Shown entering the Fine Arts building for Baccalaureate are the seniors — the class of 1956.

Dr. Eugene L. Smith received the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree and Herbert A. Templeton received the honorary Doctor of Laws degree at Baccalaureate.

HOMECOMING

Wet weather didn't dampen the spirits of those participating in the 34th Homecoming. During the previous days, committees in living organizations wielded hammers and paint brushes to whip signs into shape, struggling in the rain to get them up. By Saturday over 250 alums had returned to the campus to take part in the festivities. The weekend was especially dedicated to the Board of Trustees. Saturday afternoon the Bearcats and Lewis and Clark Pioneers entertained a full grandstand of spectators. At half time, Homecoming Hostess Peggy Buckley and manager Don Peterson welcomed the alumni and extended special greetings to the Board of Trustees; Charles E. McCulloch, president of the Board of Trustees and Verne D. Bain, president of the Alumni Association.

Professor Ralph Dobbs entertained the alumni during their morning meeting.

Winner of the men's sign contest was Baxter Hall with their interpretation of the slogan for the weekend.

Also, winning the women's sign contest was Delta Gamma with their Barney Bearcat ready to defend his rights.

Getting ready for the Homecoming barbecue on Saturday, October 29, Earl Hampton, who was in charge of Homecoming, Don Peterson, Anita Booth, and Jim Anderson stand around the chuck wagon.

Following the game, the freshmen challenged the sophomores to a tug-of-war tussle in Bush's pasture. Anxious to get rid of the traditional rook lids, the frosh were victorious and tugged the sophs into the millstream. The "Return to Paradise" theme and Bill Becker's music brought events to an end at the semi-formal dance at the Crystal Garden's Ball Room.

A tangle of players and the ball in the clear, one of the exciting moments of the Homecoming Game on Saturday afternoon.

Farrel Hyde, Jo Heald and Ladonne Jenson work on the Annual Freshman Leaf Rake assisted by an unidentified rake. The sophomores supervise the Leaf Rake which is held at 5:00 AM on the Friday morning before Homecoming.

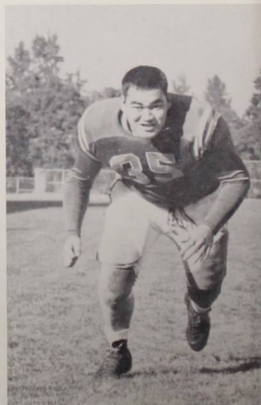

Professor Douglas delivers an inspirational pep talk in front of the gymnasium the night before the Homecoming game with Lewis and Clark.

Pep Staff is seen escorting Homecoming Hostess, Peggy Buckley, and manager, Don Peterson.

Returning alumni are honored at a dinner Saturday evening.

Sam Haina was winner of the U Man Contest sponsored by BAGS SAXs.

Halloween Sack Hop sponsored by the freshmen on Friday night, featured black and white costumes and pumpkins in keeping with the Halloween theme.

Stauney Olson and Jo Terhark, holders of McCulloch Scholarships, unveil a portrait of Charles E. McCulloch while Mr. Herbert C. Hardy, member of the Board of Trustees, looks on.

"Return to Paradise," the Homecoming dance on Saturday night, saw crowded floors as students and guests enjoyed the music and watched the awarding of trophies for the Ugly Man and sign contests.

Homecoming manager, Don Peterson, kisses Homecoming Hostess, Peggy Buckley on the cheek, showing the close harmony that existed during the weekend.

PARENTS' WEEKEND

Parents' Weekend, under the capable direction of Dave Frost, manager, was formally begun on a Friday night with the musical talent show, Varsity Varieties. Saturday, after a morning coffee hour and Parents' Association Meeting, parents and students gathered in the gym for a box lunch. During the afternoon the parents toured the campus, and then attended a one act play "A Game of Chess," presented by the drama department. Saturday evening the parents were dinner guests in the living organizations. This enabled them to meet more students and learn more about the living organizations. After dinner many braved the pouring rain to attend the football game and watch the Bearcats trounce the Whitman Missionaries 10-0. The organized activities came to an end when the parents returned to the living organizations after the game for coffee and doughnuts. However, many parents attended Salem churches Sunday morning before leaving campus.

The parents enjoyed their evening meal in the various living organizations.

Upon arrival at the campus the students had their parents register in the Cat Cavern.

Harriet Reed is lifted high in the air by Ted Primrose during one of the dance sequences while Sandi Harris and Gary Schmalle dance in the background.

Judi Barber, Gail Boden, Janet Roscoe and Marcia Cook sing the background as Dena Lampropulos sings a solo part during their number.

Against a metropolitan setting, Del Cummings at the piano and Stan Vandervaal create a little jazz.

Diane Burkland in the foreground joins with the entire cast in the finale.

An exchange dinner in the Doney dining room before one of the firesides held each fall among the living organizations.

The Sigma Chi and the Pi Phi gather in the living room of the Sig house for a taffy pull.

The Betas and the Chi Omegas play Charades in the living room of the men's house.

Warren Walker, Lorraine Landrud, Rosie Miller, Anita Booth and Jack Knapp examine some of the clothing collected for UNESCO on one of the firesides.

FIRESIDES

The firesides stood out as some of the most enjoyable activities during the first semester. These events were all-campus affairs, giving the men's and women's living organizations chances to get together for evenings of fun and fellowship. Freshmen and transfers especially appreciated the opportunities to make friends and become acquainted with other students.

Warren Walker, Celeste Gibbons and Gwen Fried call at a home to collect clothing for the UNESCO fireside.

Christmas would not be Christmas without an honest-to goodness Santa Claus. Even college students enjoy the visit of the northerner.

The Christmas tea held each year by Lausanne Hall, was as gay as ever with colorful decorations and a festive atmosphere.

CHRISTMAS PARTIES

The week before Christmas vacation brought a flurry of activity to the campus. The annual Lausanne open house and tea in December attracted many visitors who came to see the beautifully decorated doors. In the Christmas convocation the band and choir presented the Hallelujah chorus. Also, in the spirit of sharing with others, the living organizations combined and went caroling to the various state institutes. Following this was the annual sock hop with prizes awarded the couple dressed most appropriately. The week ended with a climax at the special Christmas convocation.

Sandy Wagner and Rosemary Gilbert were the winners of the religious sweepstakes ribbon in the door decoration contest held each year in Lausanne.

The annual pajama dance, sponsored by the senior class, proved to be a colorful spectacle with the many types of pajamas.

In the calm before the storm, Dr. Daniel Schulze enjoys his job announcing the Glee winners. The girls—from left to right: Sandi Harris, Dorothy Rohlfing, Gwen Fried, and Nancy Wyly—relinquished the banner to the boys—Bill Joseph, Larry Kelly, Ken Stoop, and Fred Wade—just before the winners were announced.

Del Cummings, Freshman Glee Manager, tells a little about Glee history and tradition before the singing begins.

FRESHMAN GLEE

The first place Sophomores sing "Rose Magic" as their serenade song. A red rose with a green leaf was formed on a white background.

FRESHMAN GLEE

Managed by Del Cummings, the Forty-Eighth Annual Freshman Glee was presented on March 28 with serenade as the theme. Sophomores, with their song "Rose Magic" and formation of a rose took the Glee banner for the second time. With "Serenade in Silhouette" the seniors won second and escaped from their last place position of the two preceding years. The freshmen ended their first Glee with a third place earned by their rendition of "Serenade to Willamette." Fourth place went to the juniors and their song "World of Night." In addition to the traditional Glee activities — the challenge assembly, the parodies, the stalling by the seniors and the rest — was a community sing led by Dr. Paul Trueblood during the judges' deliberation.

The freshman banner guard duck as the first of the hysterical sophomores reach the platform to claim the Glee Banner when they are announced as the winners.

The heads and assistants of all Glee Committees, from left to right standing, Dean Bishoprick, Norm Dyer, John Barth, Tom Honl, Mort Hardwick, Pete Leveton, Royal Keith, Barbara Duncan, Roger Hewitt, Harriet Reed, Ken Stoop, Dave Peterson, Marg Lowe, Lynn Schrock, Nancy Lee, Bill Seawell, Bob Gilchrest. Seated are Nancy Russell, Sibyl Campbell, Walt Hubbard, Barbara Dennis, Del Cummings, Sondra Roark, June Lytle, and Dick Audley.

The second place Seniors sang their song "Serenade in Silhouette" from a formation of two red hearts pierced by a golden arrow. Inside the hearts were a bride and groom.

Formed as an old-fashioned lantern on a sky-blue background, and singing "Serenade to Willamette," the Freshmen placed third in their first Glee.

With black and white, the Juniors formed masks of tragedy and comedy super-imposed on the world. Their song was "World of the Night."

Formation leaders, Larry Willingham, freshman; Volney Sigmund, junior; Gay Hall, senior; George Hoyt, sophomore; admire the plans for one of the formations.

A truce was called while the song leaders, Dave Landis, freshman; Ron Kingsley, sophomore; Marg Huson, senior; Barbara Anderson, junior, relaxed between rehearsals.

A crisis was eliminated by the skill of Norm Dyer and Terry Lesh, members of one of the many committees that helped present Glee.

Freshman class president Royal Keith, in charge of tickets, and his assistant Martha Eagleson plan the seating arrangements for stacking in 200 more guests.

Freshmen, still groggy from their warm, comfy sacks, stagger down the risers at 5 A.M.

BLUE MONDAY

Around Glee time, faithful members of each class made bets on the outcome of the annual song contest: bets which must be paid off on Blue Monday. In addition to the entertainment offered by these payments, a central attraction of the day was the show provided by the losing class, this year the juniors, when they climaxed a noisy convocation with a chilly swim in the millstream.

'Twas a cold day for a bath was the view of Larry Willingham.

Jerry Gritch does a grand imitation of George Hoyt.

Sue Snyder, otherwise known as Miss Tarzan.

At least Carole Pfaff did not run Volney Sigmund out of town.

Jim Davis, alias Polly Adler.

Mac Baker and Roger Moorhead provided entertainment at the barbecue.

Jack Jones served as Master of Ceremonies at the coronation and invited cautious Don Dearborn, May Weekend Manager, to speak.

Willamette students and guests met in the gym for the all school barbecue.

MAY WEEKEND

Pretty dark-haired Margaret Huson reigned over the fiftieth annual May Weekend festivities this year. Her princesses were Margie Knockenhauer and Lorraine Landrud. The coronation officially opened the weekend on Friday, in front of the Fine Arts Building. Queen Margaret II was crowned by Betty Jean Joseph, 1952 queen. The all school barbecue followed with foot long hot dogs being featured. The play "Kiss Me, Kate" was presented Friday evening to a capacity crowd and was proclaimed one of Willamette's best productions. A well attended queen's tea followed in Doney Hall. Saturday's events included an academic preview for visiting high school seniors, the all campus sing, the track meet and baseball game, and the Queen's Ball. Activities concluded with the Queen's breakfast at Lausanne Hall and the departure of many visiting high school seniors for home, tired but happy.

The 1956 May Queen, Margaret Huson, is escorted to coronation ceremonies on Friday afternoon by Doug Wall.

Against the background of the Sophomore Daisy Chain, Queen Margaret II is crowned by Betty Jean Joseph, May Queen in 1952. Princesses Margie Knochenhauer and Lorraine Landrud watch as the crown is taken from crown-bearer Gordon Breakey and placed on the Queen's head.

Queen Margaret II, attended by her princesses, gives an award to Dean Benson at the track meet on Saturday, where she officiated in recognizing the winners of each event.

The Queen's Ball held in honor of Margaret II was a perfect end to a day filled with activities.

The Queen's Breakfast, served in Lausanne dining room, brought acquaintances together once again before the final parting.

The Academic Preview, held for the first time this year, was very informative to the prospective students.

The first place winners of the women's divisions of the May Weekend Sing were the Independent Women under the direction of Judy Anderson.

The women of Delta Gamma, under the direction of Anne Barber, placed second.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon placed second in the men's division. They were under the direction of Duane Alvord.

The Sigma Chis, under the direction of Page Bailey, took the first place trophy.

Beth Church asks Ted Primrose "Why don't You Behave" in a lively dance sequence during the May Weekend production of Cole Porter's musical "Kiss Me Kate."

Paul Baker and Tom Loree with Tom Larson and Myra Friesen watch Bob Braddy as he wakes from a nap during one of the backstage scenes of the play.

KISS ME KATE

Willamette's May Weekend was enhanced this year by the production of the musical extravaganza "Kiss Me Kate." The talents of the university were combined in song, dance, and dialogue to perform what many commented to be the most entertaining production in Willamette's history. This Cole Porter musical involved an acting group who let the audience eavesdrop on their trials and tribulations during the production of a Shakespearean play. This involvement of a play within a play offered snappy dialogue and such favorite numbers as "Wunderbar" and "I'm Always True To You Darlin' In My Fashion." The cast of twenty-seven, headlined by Myra Friesen, Tom Larson, Beth Church, and Ted Primrose, was again directed in a familiarly fine manner by Robert M. Putnam.

Tom Loree, left, and Paul Baker, as two somewhat less-than-refined thieves, brush up their Shakespeare in one of the short scenes of the play.

In a bizarre combination of modern and Elizabethan costumes, the cast of "Kiss Me Kate" repeats "Brush Up Your Shakespeare" as one of the curtain calls.

DEDICATION

A high point of the year for the entire Willamette family — students, faculty, administration, and alumni — was the dedication of the new buildings. Completion of the three beautiful structures marked a milestone in Willamette's history. Formal dedication took place on October 1, 1955. The day of the dedication was perfect in every respect, even to the weather. Formal ceremonies held in the new auditorium were followed by student-conducted tours of the buildings.

Charles A. Sprague, Mr. Charles E. McCulloch, Mr. Clarence M. Bishop, and the late Hon. Paul Patterson, meet on the steps of Eaton Hall before the formal dedication ceremonies.

Mr. Charles E. McCulloch speaks during the dedication ceremonies.

The academic procession leaves the Fine Arts Building after the formal dedication ceremonies of the new Auditorium and Fine Arts Building, Doney Residence Hall, and the Bishop Memorial Health Center on October 1.

CHALLENGE FUND

The Student Challenge Fund entered its third year in December, 1955, under the leadership of Volney Sigmund with the assistance of his student committee. The purpose of the fund was to raise money toward the goal of $10,000 to pay for Willamette's new buildings; the Bishop Memorial Health Center, the Auditorium and Fine Arts Building, and Doney Hall. The drive was presented to appeal to the students' sense of responsibility toward their school and what it gives to them; their donations represented the giving of themselves for the building of a better Willamette.

Dave Finlay and Doug Houser explain the importance of Campus Chest to Bud Mull while Peggy Buckley collects his contribution to this fund raising drive held each fall.

CAMPUS CHEST

The 1955 Campus Chest Drive, which was headed this year by Doug Houser, was a smashing success. Representatives in each of the living organizations were able to almost double last year's contributions through personal solicitations. The funds from this year's drive were allocated to the following sources: 10% to the YWCA, 15% to the United Fund, 10% to the National Scholarship Fund for Negro students, 45% to World University Service, and 10% to UNESCO. The original goal of $1,000 was set by the committee composed of Houser; Peggy Buckley, publicity; and Flossie Hodge, solicitations. They invited students to invest in humanity with the slogan, "Don't Pass the Buck, Share It!"

MACBETH

Shakespeare's immortal "MacBeth," directed by Mr. Robert Putnam was the first Willamette play to be presented on the stage of the new Fine Arts Auditorium. The play centers around MacBeth who committed murder in order to gain the power that he wanted. After committing the murder, MacBeth could not rest, since his conscience was bothering him, though he had been told that he would not die by human hands. Dick Geer as MacBeth and Sheila Laue gave fine performances.

MacBeth alone sees Banquo's ghost at the banquet in the evening after MacBeth had murdered Banquo.

MacBeth and MacDuff watch as the witches prophesy MacBeth's future.

Lady MacBeth persuades her husband to commit murder.

MacBeth and his attendants cluster around Lady MacBeth soon after she had recovered from fainting spell.

HOUSE OF BERNARDA ALBA

With an all-woman cast, the Willamette University players presented their second production of the year, "House of Bernarda Alba," a tragedy by Federico Garcia Lorca. The play, directed by Mr. Robert Putnam, brought to life the dramatic conflict present in Spanish families at the time of excessively strict discipline. The story ended in tragedy when the youngest daughter defied her mother and killed herself.

The stern mother of five sheltered girls was excellently portrayed by Clarine Woolery. The conflict between love and the misused moral code made the play excellent.

Bitterness and hatred are expressed by the servant while doing her daily work in the home of Bernarda Alba.

Strange silence falls on the house when the unbalanced grandmother comes from her room.

Bernarda, always cold and stern, ruled with an iron hand, even while visiting with friends.

MILITARY BALL

ROTC uniforms and frothy formals highlighted the Military Ball, first formal dance on the year's social calendar. Chosen to reign over the evening's activities were lovely Anita Booth, Little Colonel, and Martha Eagleson and Dena Lampropulus, her court.

Peeking over the shoulder of her escort, Volney Sigmund, is Little Colonel Anita Booth who received her wings during intermission.

Little Captain Martha Eagleson and escort Dave Peterson walk to the platform while receiving applause from the audience.

Little Captain Dena Lampropulos and escort Dave Gaskins are seen leaving the Military Ball after an evening of excitement and fun.

Queen Sandi Harris shown soon after her announcement.

VARSITY BALL

A highlight of the spring social season was the Varsity Ball presented by the Willamette Lettermen's Club. The announcement and crowning of Queen Sandi Harris of this year's Varsity Ball was the climax of the evening. Nancy Wylie, Gail Beyer, Martha Eagleson and Polly Dougherty composed her lovely court.

Amy Jo Blomberg is shown after she had announced and crowned Sandi Harris as queen.

Following the announcement the queen and her court danced while the orchestra played for the special occasion.

CHRISTIAN RESOURCE WEEK

Christian Resource Week this year differed from those of previous years in its decision to evaluate the religious life on campus. This survey co-operated with the National Board of Education of the Methodist Church in its exhaustive evaluation. The "Spotlight on the Search" was highlighted by a fine consultation team consisting of Doctors Roger Ort-mayer, Richard Bender, John Wesley Robb, and Harold Hutson.

Daily lecture-discussion periods were led by Doctors Roger Ort-mayer, Harold Hutson, Richard Bender, and John Wesley Robb.

The Betas at a fireside with Doctor Hutson had an opportunity to pose questions and discuss religious problems.

THE DISTINGUISHED ARTISTS' SERIES

The Distinguished Artists' Series opened this season with Blanche Thebom, soprano, and Carl Palangi, bass baritone, each presenting a fine program. The Winged Victory Chorus followed, and Artur Rubinstein, world famed pianist, closed the series. A new financial program was initiated this year in which 75 percent of the income from ticket sales was received by the artist and the remaining 25 percent retained by Willamette.

Miss Thebom, following her concert, signs autographs for some of her admirers.

Members of the delegation for the Mock United Nations are Ralph Sipprell, Perky Payne, Fred Chambers, Lou Ann Mergler, Colleen Chilcote, chairman, Joe Stewart, Kay Ruberg, Angela Cesario, and Dick Crooks. Missing are Carol Pfaff and Anita Booth.

MODEL UNITED NATIONS

This year for the first time a delegation from Willamette University was sent to the Model United Nations at Corvallis. The eleven delegates from this campus took an active part in the work that went on during the four day session at Oregon State College. Willamette represented Canada, and the delegates attempted to adopt Canada's viewpoint toward actual United Nations issues. Valuable experience was gained at the model assembly through first-hand acquaintance with the workings of the United Nations and an increased knowledge of world affairs.

DON LAWS
Convention Chairman

Members of the planning committee, Esther Gwilliam, Don Laws, Dave Barrows, Dr. Freeman Holmer, Howard Morgan and Gay Kent meet in Baxter Hall weekly.

DEMOCRATIC MOCK CONVENTION

Two hundred and fifty students from twelve Oregon colleges gathered in the Willamette University gymnasium May 11-12 for the Mock Democratic Convention. The convention was the second sponsored by Willamette University and the Oregon Citizenship Clearing House in an attempt to provide students from all Oregon colleges a chance to experience the workings of a national presidential nominating convention. During a torrid debate on the party platform, the delegation from the Southern States noisily walked out of the convention in protest of the chairman's handling of the civil rights resolution. The Southerners returned in time to make a determined effort to get Senator Lyndon Johnson as their presidential nominee, but failed as Adlai Stevenson obtained the nod with Stuart Symington chosen as his running mate.

In an attempt to win more votes over to their candidates, many of the states held demonstrations. Sitting among the confetti, the various delegates attempt to listen to the speakers.

The Southern delegation noisily entered the gym in an attempt to swing the votes to their candidate, Senator Lyndon Johnson.

Gay Kent called roll for the various candidates when it appeared that none of the nominees had a majority.

ASWU

As ASWU president, Dave Finlay has done an outstanding job of guiding the Willamette student body through a successful year. His ability as leader and organizer has encouraged school spirit and led to more active participation in student affairs. His able administration of student government has helped to develop understanding and co-operation between students and faculty. Dave has been a leader in many phases of campus life throughout his college career.

All in the line of duty, Jo Ann Bernard, this year's ASWU Secretary, took minutes at Student Council and Activities Board meetings, mimeographed and distributed the minutes, supervised the Student Body Office, served on various committees, and capably handled a big job.

As ASWU second vice-president, Dale Greenlee, worked efficiently in his capacity to plan and organize elections, and with his many new ideas encouraged Willamette students to vote.

Dave Lewis, ASWU Financial Advisor, served as a friend to the many students who came in with their various monetary problems. Mr. Lewis, though new at this job, acted like an old veteran in administering funds.

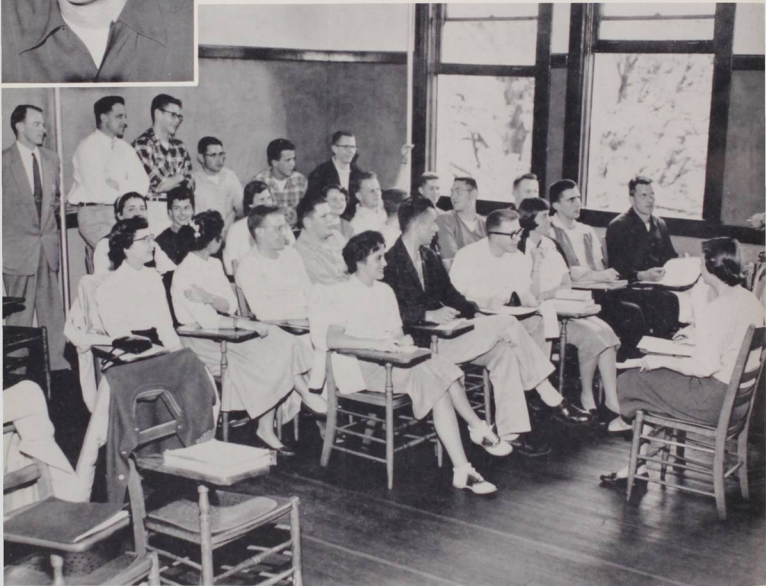

Keeping busy never seemed to be a problem for Nancy Groth, Jeanne Holmes, Maureen Day, Flossie Hodge, or Joan Lawson who were the efficient girls in the ASWU office. Besides typing for students, these girls mimeographed, checked out school publications, student body cards, glee records, and equipment for dances. The girls also served as business correspondents for the student body officers and as an information source for student affairs.

Dale Patton, as member at large of the ASWU, served as a representative of the entire student body on Student Council. His other duties were that of chairman of the Constitutional revisions committee and parliamentarian of the Student Council.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the students in action. A self-governing body, the council stimulates discussion and makes decisions that vitally affect campus life. Among the many duties of council members is the selection of qualified persons for managerial positions. The importance of this function is realized by the success of such activities as Homecoming, Parents' Weekend, Concert Series, Challenge Fund Drive, and the Blood Drive. Establishing a temporary student union, re-evaluation of the Freshman Glee rules, the status and operation of May Weekend were among important issues to come before the council for discussion in the past year.

The many social activities at Willamette are important to the students. As chairman of the activities board, Neil Causbie, ASWU first vice-president, is to be congratulated for his skillful regulation and co-ordination of the activities calendar.

ACTIVITIES BOARD

The Activities Board, composed of representatives from student living organizations, met each week to schedule approaching campus activities and discuss any problems arising from these events. Under the able leadership of First Vice President Neil Causbie, the organization avoided many conflicts by their wise coordination of Willamette's social calendar. During the year the group discussed and codified all Activities Board procedure, making it available for future members. This year, for the first time, the board granted one o'clock late permissions to women.

SENIOR CLASS

Looking toward graduation, members of the Senior Class devoted a vast amount of time and energy to the completion of academic work and passing of traditional comps and orals. Yet class spirit and enthusiasm plus tireless effort led the seniors to a second place victory in Freshman Glee. With memories of lasting friendships and event-filled years, the class enjoyed their final outing at the coast and awaited commencement.

Fall officers of the senior class are Ann White, chancellor; Jerry Patterson and Nancy Peet, court jesters; Bill Farr, prime minister; and Delpha Short, exchequer.

Taking advantage of the sunshine are the spring officers: Dean Benson, president; Margie Knockenhauer, vice president; Helen Allen, treasurer; Jeanne Holmes, secretary; June Harms and Jerry Kangas, sergeants-at-arms.

Officers for the fall semester were Dan Feller, president; Flossy Hodge, vice president; Patsy Williams, treasurer; Bob Joseph, sergeant-at-arms; and Pat Hostetler, secretary.

JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior Class returned to ol' W.U. this year with a great deal of enthusiasm and the officers immediately began to plan activities. Social functions for Juniors included a roller skating party, a party after Freshman Glee and the traditional beach trip to serve breakfast to the Seniors. They had a ball and a bath in Glee and have issued a warning to all other classes — "Look out next year." The entire campus is eagerly anticipating the return of the long missing "but never lost" Senior Bench. The Juniors will present it at Homecoming next fall.

Officers for the spring semester were Paul Edwards, vice president; Dale DeHarport, sergeant-at-arms; Barbara Anderson, secretary; Bill Neel, treasurer; and Doug Houser, president.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomore Class began the 1955-1956 year with a Christmas party at the YWCA for boys and girls of Fairview Home. The evening program included decorating a Christmas tree, games, dancing and snowball cakes. Toys were collected to be distributed to them at a later date. As Glee rolled around, the already-once-victorious Sophs threw all of their enthusiasm into their song and formation and emerged winners of "Freshman Glee." After a class party at the Pi Phi house, they serenaded the campus living organizations with their winning songs of '55 and '56. The Sophomores look back on a year of memorable events and renewed friendships and co-operation.

Fall officers of the Sophomore class were Steve Nason, vice-president; Marian Higley, secretary; Lowell Nichols, sergeant-at-arms; Darlene Snodgrass, treasurer; and Dean Short, president.

Spring officers of the Sophomore Class were Skip Alexander, sergeant-at-arms; Annette Carson, treasurer; Lowell Nichols, vice-president; Esther Gwilliam, secretary; and Jim Cain, president.

FRESHMEN

A very eventful first year began for the class of 1959 with the annual freshmen leaf rake followed that evening by a fun-filled Halloween party complete with dancing and games. At Homecoming, the tug of war with the sophomores resulted in a wet but cherished victory for the class of '59. Further class spirit was expressed in a class party at Christmas. To everyone, Freshman Glee was the most exciting event of an extremely rewarding year.

Officers for the fall semester were Gene Paterson, president; Sandi Mischke, treasurer; Bob Gilchrist, sergeant-of-arms; Lynn Schrock, secretary, and Duane Hines, vice president.

Officers for the spring semester were Gary Larson, treasurer; Sandi Harris, secretary; George Nye, vice president; Royal Keith, president; and Greg Nokes, sergeant-at-arms.

As ASWU Treasurer, Marian Rutledge has capably directed the Finance Board, cared for the student body equipment and has helped the other officers to form new policies for Willamette's student government. One of her main tasks this year was the investigation on reallocation of student body funds.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

The Publications Board coordinates the activities of the various campus publications, including the Collegian, the Wallulah, Fusser's Guide, and Student Handbook. This group is composed of the editors of The Collegian and Wallulah, the ASWU president and business advisor, two faculty representatives, and a board manager.

Dick White, editor of the Handbook, and Pete Cauble published the Handbook with the aid of Pete Loder and Anne Meeker.

STUDENT HANDBOOK

The Student Handbook is a publication issued particularly for newcomers in order to introduce the students to the rules and policies of Willamette University. It is a useful directory for various organizations and clubs on campus. With information concerning all offices and facilities of Willamette, the handbook is an invaluable aid to older students as well as to freshmen and transfer students.

Members of the staff of the Fusser's were Suzy Platt, editor Marily Morton, Mary Beebe, Fred Chambers, Mary Kramer, Carrie Gillanders and Lucy Mae Myers.

FUSSER'S GUIDE

The Fusser's Guide, containing the names, addresses, and phone numbers of students, is a popular informative booklet. It is used throughout the year as a guide to campus organizations, officers, and faculty. The Fusser's Guide was published this fall under the editorship of Suzy Platt.

COLLEGIAN

With the goal of increasing both the quantity and the quality of The Collegian and harried by the ever-present bugaboo of deadlines, the staff members and reporters of The Collegian spent long hours throughout the year covering all phases of campus activity for publication. The theory that one must put into actual practice what one learns in journalism class gives everyone interested a chance to learn by doing — and by working on The Collegian. The practical experience gained by students in working in journalism can be utilized in many other fields.

Duane Alvord, the casual Collegian Editor, types out another of his effective editorials during the wee hours of the morning.

Tuesday night bedlam is a weekly experience for staff members as The Collegian strives to beat the clock. Creating headlines, proofing galley, and rewriting copy, the Collegian staff works on the next Friday's edition.

Jotting down a last minute ad is Lewis Beatty, Advertising Manager, while Sue Kehrl, Copy Editor, contemplates a lead for a scoop.

Don Swartz, Mort Hardwick, Lewis Beatty, Gary Lockwood, and Wayne Halverson hold an advertising confab with Patsy Williams, National Advertising Manager.

Jean Martin, Feature Editor, and Peggy Cope, News Editor, struggle with the woes of headline writing.

WALLULAH

Skills in business management, writing, photography, and creative design were combined to produce the 1956 Wallulah. A tireless staff headed by Sally Jones spent spare time, convo periods, and Saturdays writing copy, indexing, selling ads, and laying out pages to meet the pressing deadlines of the year. The pictures and the brief copy written from a student point of view bring vivid recollections of the year's campus life. The Wallulah reviews activities and the people who took part in them so that the book might well serve as a photographed diary of the year for Willamette students.

Margie Wood provided the inspiration for the artistic phases of the Wallulah.

Sally Jones teamed hardwork and patience together to edit the '56 Wallulah.

Sue Snyder and Sandy Wagner take a break while editing copy for the book.

Gene Corey, Ted Neff, and Bob Taylor combine talents to produce the page layouts.

Ann Notson, index editor, spends many hours compiling a complete list of all students, faculty and organizations which appear in the Wullulah.

Vic Backlund and Doug Card, sports editors, plan the layouts and write the copy for their section.

Responsible for finding financial backing for the yearbook are the ad staff, Anita Booth, Jack Jones, Jeanne Peasley, Joyce Hill, Mary Kramer, Doug Houser, ad manager, and Jim Breathower.

Peggy Buckley, as clubs and honoraries editor, is responsible for obtaining lists of all the people.

Lewis Schaad, darkroom manager, spends many hours preparing pictures for the yearbook.

Frank Bash, Geneva Russell and Phil Henderson aid in the preparation of pictures.

Directed by Dr. Willis Gates, the Willamette University Orchestra presented its Spring Concert in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

ORCHESTRA

Among the many musical organizations on the Willamette campus is the outstanding Willamette University Orchestra composed this year of forty carefully selected musicians. The orchestra was kept busy rehearsing for three concerts, given in the new Fine Arts Auditorium for students, faculty, and Salem residents. Throughout the year more advanced members of the orchestra had the opportunity to solo with the group.

The orchestra officers were: Bill Shannon, stage manager; Amy Jo Blomberg, secretary; Carolyn Burr, vice-president; Gerry Johnson, publicity. Inset: Rebecca Hang, president.

BAND

The past year was a busy one for the Willamette University Band. Besides its traditional performances at football and basketball games, May Weekend Coronation, a spring concert, and commencement, this year's band played for the United Fund kickoff, a dedication at Parrish Junior High and South Salem High. All 45 members enjoyed a very successful tour through central and eastern Oregon. Spring activities included a clinic in Jefferson with four Oregon high school bands, and Band Weekend on the campus in April.

CHOIR

The fine Willamette A Cappella Choir has been extremely busy this year with various activities outside of the regular weekly appearances in chapel. A tour choir of approximately fifty voices selected from the ninety voice choir made two short tours in the spring. The first trip included two concerts in Portland and several in Oregon coastal towns. The second tour included concerts in Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma, Kelso, and Portland. In April about one third of the group participated with the Portland Junior Symphony Orchestra in its presentation of Vivaldi's "Gloria Mass" and Stravinsky's "Symphony of Psalms."

The choir officers for the past year have been Mac Brand, publicity chairman; Lois Monk, secretary; Glenn Hall, president; Joyce Ambler, vice president; and Tom Loree, business manager.

Members of the A Cappella Choir presented a convocation for the students in the new auditorium.

BLOOD DRIVE

Under the able chairmanship of Bob Boss and his secretary, Joan Lawson, the 1955 blood drive was a record-breaking success. Bob announced that out of the total 479 that signed up to donate, 353 were accepted. The students, put on a special diet for the day, were rewarded with a delicious turkey dinner. The entire campus, including faculty, law school, and administration combined efforts to make this year's drive a great success.

While Joan Lawson plays nurse, Tom Gail tries to decide whether to follow manager Bob Boss' lead.

CONVOCATION BOARD

Convocations are weekly Tuesday meetings of the student body whereby some type of program is planned for the entertainment, as well as educational benefits, of the students. It is this job of co-ordinating and planning of programs that fell on the Convocation Board. The members this year were: Delpha Short, manager; Bob Boss, assistant manager; Penny Lilles, secretary; Myra Friesen, publicity; and Donna Leonard, drama representative.

Lewis Bright and Mac Baker represented Willamette at a debate tournament held in Missoula, Montana.

FORENSICS

Launching the debate season by traveling to Pacific Lutheran College, the forensics group ably debated the question "Resolved that all non-agricultural industries of the United States should guarantee their employees an annual wage." This year the debate squad traveled to the College of Puget Sound and Linfield. Parts of the group went to Montana State College and Portland State College. Prizes were won throughout the Northwest in debate, oratory, discussion, impromptu, extempore, and after dinner speaking.

RADIO AND TV WORKSHOP

Radio and TV Workshop is a beginning course in the art of radio. Dramatic productions, with scripts prepared by the class, are aired once a week by members of the class. "Campus Chatter," nickname of the class entitled Radio Program Planning and Production, presents a more informal program of the individual student's choice.

Taping one of the weekly "Campus Chatter" broadcasts are Wayne Harris, George Nelson, Ron White, Mr. Putnam, Ruth McCormick, and Emil Muhs.

Reading through one of the scripts prepared by members of their own group are the members of the Radio and TV Workshop: Wayne Harris, Ruth McCormick, Emil Muhs, Mr. Putnam, George Nelson, and Ron White.

BOOKSTORE

At the beginning of the school year the bookstore is always crowded with students in anticipation of a busy year. There one can buy all his required books and miscellaneous supplies. Such things as cards, French prints, pennants, mugs, and stuffed animals are also available in the convenient store located in the basement of Waller Hall, a central location on campus.

Mrs. Delsia Larson, assisted by Mrs. Enid Rondeau, cheerfully manage the bookstore.

Mrs. Frances Harlan assists Mrs. Hazel Schwalen in managing the Cat Cavern.

CAT CAVERN

One of the favorite locations on the campus is the always popular Cat Cavern. Here at any time of the day, students can be found talking and relaxing with their friends. Mrs. Schwalen, who ends two years as manager of the Cat, will be remembered for her lively conversation and excellent food.

PHI DELTA PHI

In 1869, Phi Delta Phi, the first professional fraternity in America, was founded to promote a higher standard of professional ethics and culture in law schools and the profession. McNary Inn of Phi Delta Phi, in its ninth year on the Willamette campus, has continued an active and successful program for the advancement of these precepts. Membership in this international legal fraternity is limited to those with high scholastic achievement.

DELTA THETA PHI

Ringle, Phil
President

Wolverton Senate of Delta Theta Phi, national legal fraternity, stimulates the attainment of high legal scholarship by presenting awards to outstanding law students. A bronze plaque is awarded the outstanding senior each year, while books are awarded the freshman who is outstanding and the freshman who has shown the greatest improvement. To further encourage and aid high scholastic ability, the fraternity has recently compiled and placed in the library of the college of law a helpful collection of past examinations. On the social side, the fraternity has sponsored a speaker series, dances, initiations, and rush parties throughout the year.

Ruling over the A.F.R.O.T.C. Military Ball, which began the busy social whirl, was Anita Booth, Little Colonel, assisted by her two Little Captains Dena Lampropulos and Martha Eagleson.

HOMECOMING HOSTESS

Greeting the returning alumni was only one of the many pleasures enjoyed by Peggy Buckley, Homecoming Hostess.

SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI

Chosen to reign over the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi festivities was Jeanine Graber with her court of Nancy Wyly and Sandra Mischke.

VARSITY BALL

Reigning over the Varsity Ball was Sandi Harris and her court Nancy Wyly, Polley Dougherty, Martha Eagleson and Gail Beyer.

MAY WEEKEND

Reigning over the many May Weekend activities was lovely Margaret Huson with her princesses, Margie Knockenhauer and Lorraine Landrud.

AWS

Each month the Associated Women Students select an outstanding girl to serve as "Coed of the Month." In the fall during Orientation Week, AWS sponsored a fashion show for the benefit of the freshman girls. Highlights of the spring season are the choice of Betty Coed and Joe College and the dance in their honor, the AWS auction, the proceeds supporting a $100 scholarship.

Each fall during Orientation Week, AWS sponsors a fashion show for the freshman girls. Carole Pfaff is shown modeling one of the many dresses.

Darlene Snodgrass and Jim Cain were named Betty Coed and Joe College by Joyce Ambler and Volney Sigmund, last year's holders of the titles.

Willie Thompson sold Gail Boden, Sandra Beasley, Gail Beyer and Sandi Harris as serving girls at the AWS auction.

PEPCATS

The Pepcats had a busy and successful year working with the Rally Squad in trying to promote more school spirit and support at athletic events. During the fall semester Pepcats made pom-poms, decorated McCulloch stadium, and had a cheering section at the games.

UNESCO

As the organization for foreign students and those interested in international affairs and world problems, UNESCO provides interesting speakers and student panels for Willamette students. Successful again this year was the clothing drive fireside in the fall. Many tons of clothing were collected by living organizations and sent to needy students abroad.

CAMPUS YWCA

The Campus YWCA focuses its attention on helping the college woman put her Christian ideals in action through campus and community service. Their program this year included the Big-Little Sister Party, a "Y" Club for freshmen, a general meeting on "The Role of the Educated Woman Today," weekly visits to Hillcrest, parties with McLaren boys, the May Weekend Queen's Breakfast, an "after Glee" mixer, clean-up for the AWS dance, and sponsoring a foreign student scholarship.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

Primrose, Ted
President

The Future Teachers of America, an organization composed of students interested in the field of education, meets each month to hear speakers in the profession and to discuss and share individual experiences. Spring and fall conferences are held with other chapters in order to enact legislation, conduct business, and elect officers. One of the local projects is the annual Christmas party given for underprivileged children.

WUPS

The Willamette University Players is a group of students interested in drama either as a career or as a sideline. At the monthly meetings they present programs which are designed to add to their knowledge of the theater. Both in backstage work and before the footlights, the Willamette University Players are dedicated workers in the drama department productions each year.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

Actively promoting an interest in political affairs and the Republican party, the Young Republican organization participated in many conclaves and conventions on both a national and state level. At the state convention Jerry Plunkett and Don Lytle were elected to serve as vice chairman and treasurer respectively, of the Oregon College League of Young Republicans.

WESLEY

The purpose of the Wesley Fellowship is to bind together Methodist and other college students interested in attaining the high ideals of Christian fellowship. Some of the year's activities included weekend retreats, picnics, participation in the Oregon Methodist Student Movement, and sponsorship of deputation teams which served many of the local churches in the conference.

The members of Wesley cabinet were first row: Bob Stevens, Mun Ludlow, Jim Davis, Carolyn Milner, Jim Warner, Ed Boothby, Donna Rohlfing, Jim Wells; second row: Paula Preuss, Dave McCready, Stan Culy, Millicent Tower, Marge Stout, Colleen Chilcote, Linda Berry, Joan Sherrill; third row: Alan MacKillop, Rev. Calvin Moore, Lois Wickersham, and Eugene Groves.

Each spring Wesley holds a Senior Banquet for the graduating seniors.

The students relax after a rugged day of skiing on the annual Wesley ski spree which is held between semesters.

The OMSM Retreat held their closing communion service on the beach at Camp Magruder.

Reverend Ken Peterson leads a discussion at the Wesley fall retreat at Silver Creek Falls.

Chapel Manager Kent Hotaling and secretary Joan Lawson meet to plan their speakers for the coming chapels.

CHAPEL COMMITTEE

The Chapel Committee selected the student ministers to lead the chapel services and clergymen of various religious affiliations who gave guidance to students in their search for stronger faith. With Dr. Thomas Bennett planning the services and Mr. Donald Gleckler directing the choir, the Chapel Committee tried to make chapel a more meaningful worship experience. Students had increased participation this year with more hymns, responses and unison prayers included in the programs.

WESTMINSTER

Westminster Club became the joint meeting of both Congregational and Presbyterian students this year as the two groups studied the Christian life and worshiped together each Sunday evening. In addition to programming in the areas of Christian faith, fellowship, and citizenship, the group stressed witness and outreach. It sponsored the campus Student Volunteer Movement study groups in December and coordinated the campus visit of Robert Thorpe who shared with students the work of SVM in Guatemalan missions.

PRESIDENT G. HERBERT SMITH

G. Herbert Smith, as president of Willamette University, is an able leader, a progressive educator, and a dependable friend. His wise counseling, ceaseless leadership, and inspiring personality have helped guide Willamette during the past fourteen years toward a distinguished role in higher education. The success of his administration during the past year is in itself a tribute to an outstanding leader.

DEAN ROBERT GREGG

Dean Robert D. Gregg, as head of the College of Liberal Arts, wisely counsels students enrolled in the college. Under his leadership and guidance, students are introduced to the various fields of knowledge which help stimulate their interests and formulate their viewpoints.

DEAN SEWARD REESE

Heading the Law School of Willamette University is Dean Seward Reese. His duties are many and have been summarized in an extensive report which is being used this summer as a guide to teach deans of law schools all over the United States. In the capacity of Dean of the Law School, Reese has traveled to Chicago, San Francisco, Portland, and Baker for legal conventions and meetings.

DEAN MELVIN GEIST

With an extensive background from music schools throughout the United States, Dean Melvin Geist is well qualified to lead the College of Music in its role as one of the outstanding schools on the coast. The interest in the music department at Willamette is such that it attracts not only music majors but many liberal art students as well.

Dean of Women, Mrs. Regina Ewalt, capably handles the multitude of responsibilities that befall a women's counselor. Through her friendly help with women's academic, social, and personal problems, she becomes an invaluable guide to many of Willamette's student body. Dean Ewalt has direct contact with the women of the school in her capacity as advisor to AWS and Panhellenic. Mrs. Ewalt, a professor, as well as dean, teaches classes in psychology.

Mr. Mark Hatfield, Dean of Students, handles all types of student problems. In addition to counseling, he serves on various campus committees concerning standards, discipline, student government, and public relations. He is an Oregon State Senator and teaches political science. A familiar figure on campus, Dean Hatfield will be remembered for his ready smile and easy-going manner. Willamette will feel the loss keenly when he leaves the university in June.

BUSINESS OFFICE

The financial matters of the university are handled by the business office in Eaton Hall. Mr. Richard P. Petrie, business manager and financial vice president of Willamette, and his assistant, Mr. Dave Lewis, are in charge of accounting for and distribution of funds.

Mr. Richard Petrie ably handles the business affairs of the university.

Mr. Dave Lewis allocates the university and students funds.

Mrs. Dora Howard and Mrs. Naomi James confer over their daily business letters.

PUBLICITY AND ALUMNI OFFICE

Little known to the average Willamette student is the important Publicity and Alumni Office located on the first floor of the gym. The office handles publicity of traditional and special campus activities and acts as university press agent. Files of all graduates and former students are kept up to date and alumni activities are managed through the office.

Miss Julie Mellor, a former Willamette student, is in charge of the Publicity Office.

Mrs. Dorothea Travel and Sue Snyder handle the files in the Alumni Office.

DEVELOPMENT OFFICE

Jerry Whipple is responsible for gaining financial backing in order to aide the growth of Willamette.

Mrs. Lois Sigmund serves as secretary in the Development office, handling a good percentage of the paper work.

The Development office was established in order to direct and encourage the financial growth of Willamette University. Mr. Jerry Whipple and his secretary, Mrs. Lois Sigmund, conduct the activities of the office. Three groups contribute to Willamette improvements: the Oregon Conference budget for the Methodist Church, individual churches, and Challenge Fund supporters. Alumni also give through the Loyalty Fund for operating expenses such as the increase in teachers' salaries.

DORMITORIES

Doney Hall, Willamette's new women's dormitory, added one more responsibility to the already overflowing duties of Miss Lorena Jack, Director of Residence Halls. Menus, personnel, and the innumerable details of home life for five hundred students falls on the shoulders of her.

Mrs. Florence Fawk serves as bookkeeper for the residence halls.

Miss Lorena Jack
Director of Dormitories

Karen Hall cheerfully and efficiently handles the switchboard and distributes the mail in Eaton Hall.

Mrs. Brumfield, as secretary to Dean Gregg, undertakes numerous jobs which include making appointments and distributing notices.

Mrs. Ryan quickly manages routine tasks, as well as unexpected ones, which occur in the president's office, as well as acting as a consultant to many students.

Mrs. Vittitow and Mrs. Wintrow, secretaries to Dean Ewalt and Dean Hatfield coordinate appointments and aid students in finding work.

REGISTRAR'S OFFICE

The Registrar's Office keeps student records, compiles statistics, issues transcripts, operates a placement bureau, takes care of veterans' affairs, and issues semester grade reports. The office files hold student records from 1900 and teachers' class records from 1873. Mr. Jory, aside from regular duties as registrar, edits the Willamette catalogue.

Mr. Harold Jory greets the students who come in to inquire about registration.

Right: Helen Brewster, recorder and personal secretary to Mr. Jory, Mrs. Lillian Haytack, veteran's secretary, and Mrs. Cora Tiffany, in charge of placement and transcripts spend a typical busy day in the Registrar's Office.

Mr. Paeth helps to promote Willamette by visiting students throughout the Northwest.

Mrs. Vickers and Mrs. Middleton help Mr. Paeth in his duties concerning new students.

ADMISSIONS OFFICE

The Admissions Office, under the supervision of Director of Admissions Charles A. Paeth, Jr., interests prospective students in coming to Willamette by means of correspondence and consultation. Visits to high schools in Washington, Oregon, California, and Idaho are made in order to stimulate interest in Willamette. Also, through this office, prospective students are urged to visit the university in order to obtain a real picture of campus life.

Mr. Richard Yocum serves as an assistant to Mr. Paeth.

LIBRARY

Again the university library played an active part in the student life on the Willamette campus. The stacks offered an excellent place for quiet study and preparation for final exams and term papers. The large resources of the library include 57,000 volumes and a large selection of magazines and pamphlets for faculty and student use.

Mr. Samuel Keeton heads the busy library staff.

Members of the library staff are Mrs. deTierfort, Mr. Keeton, Mrs. East and Mrs. Wood.

INFIRMARY

The new University Infirmary gives efficient and quick care to all Willamette patients. The building contains modern rooms with facilities to handle 22 patients. For warm-weather convalescence the health center is equipped with a terrace overlooking the mill stream.

Serving as a physician to the many visitors to the infirmary is Dr. Ralph Purvine.

Helping the many students to recuperate with her friendly manner is Mrs. Henrietta Althoff.

ART DEPARTMENT

Acquiring basic art skills, studying past and present cultural patterns, and gaining an appreciation of contemporary concepts of art are several phases included in courses offered by Willamette's art department. The modern facilities provided in the new Fine Arts Building aid the faculty in giving a well-balanced program. Included in the art wing are classrooms with facilities for graphic arts, weaving, painting, and jewelry making, as well as a gallery where the work of the students or of prominent artists may be displayed.

PHILOSOPHY DEPARTMENT

The courses in the department of philosophy offer a profound challenge to many students. To those who take these subjects such terms as philosophy, logic, or ethics cease to be pseudo-intellectual words and become tools by which one can gain a more comprehensive understanding of humanity and the universe.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

To enable students to learn the basic skills of composition and to help them appreciate fine literature is the primary function of the English Department. Freshman composition courses emphasize grammatical correctness as well as originality of expression. Courses in English, American and World literature are provided in the advanced classes. Contemporary and comparative literature are offered, as well as courses in creative writing for both beginning and advanced students interested in the writing of short stories, verse, and novel.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

The foreign language department at Willamette offers beginning through advanced courses in Spanish, French, and German. The emphasis is on speaking and reading the language and learning of the people and traditions of the country. Students find that conversing at special lunch tables provides a practical use for their language. Literature and movies, popular with the people of the country, supplement textbooks and add interest to the classes.

HOME ECONOMICS

"An eye on the future" could well be the motto of Willamette's home economics department. Home economics students find that the variety of courses offered are valuable in preparing them to meet wisely the important challenges that modern home and family life demand. Among the courses available are clothing survey, foods survey, economics of the household, house planning, interior design, child care, and weaving. The pleasant working facilities of the department make the classes a joy for both majors and non-majors in the field.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

The department of mathematics at Willamette emphasizes the modern importance of scientific research. Mathematics courses teach the student more than the mechanical procedure used in solving problems; they stimulate individual thinking and interpretation. Through thought-provoking courses, the mathematics student is better prepared to solve the problems that confront him in many phases of his life.

PSYCHOLOGY DEPARTMENT

The aim of the Willamette psychology department is to guide the student toward greater understanding of behavior. His training in psychology enables the student to assume a position of leadership and to become better equipped as a participating member of his family, community, and nation. While the psychology student prepares for the obligations of his mature years, he finds special opportunities for practical experience through Willamette's co-operative arrangements with numerous state institutions.

JOURNALISM DEPARTMENT

Journalism students are introduced to journalism principles and techniques with an emphasis on writing ability. They find an outlet for effective use of skills in such publication as the Collegian, Wallulah, Fusser's Guide and Student Handbook. The social science-journalism majors enroll in classes dealing with humanities and social and natural sciences as well as journalism in order to give them a working knowledge of the materials and problems of present day life.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

The education department offers to the students who are preparing for teaching and other fields of education both undergraduate and graduate courses leading to certifications or degrees, as well as a program in teacher training and cadet teaching. Pre-professional aspects give students a full cultural background essential to good teaching and permits exploration into several areas of knowledge enabling future teachers to select the field of education most interesting to them.

ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

A basic knowledge of economic theories, as well as their practical applications is included in the courses offered in the economics department. Students gain a basic understanding of current economic problems, the operation of the economic system and the fundamental practices of the business world. Non-majors, as well as majors, benefit from the understanding of complexities in the financial system as taught in the courses offered.

SOCIOLOGY DEPARTMENT

The purpose of the sociology department is to give the student insight into the world he lives in — how it functions, what social forces operate in it. The department offers basic courses in the principles, concepts, and methods of six major fields of sociology. It provides introductory training in applied sociology and anthropology which leads to specific vocations in sociology or in relative fields.

SPEECH AND DRAMA DEPARTMENT

Students find an outlet for their creative ability in Willamette's fine speech and drama department. Play productions, debate teams, and radio and TV workshops provide a use for skills acquired through courses in training, interpretation, method, technique, and directing. Many of the drama students participated in the well-received dramatic productions "Macbeth" and "Kiss Me, Kate." The new Fine Arts building has facilitated the presentation of better productions for the entertainment of the Willamette student body and Salem townspeople.

J. V. FOOTBALL

Skip Alexander, dynamic little half-back, rambles for a big gain against the Linfield J. V.'s. Other identifiable Bearkittens are Jim Moore, Doug Card, Lowell Nichols, Charlie Nathan, Alexander, Rex Domaschofsky, Wes Malcolm, Chuck Colling, and Warren Walker. The future Bearcats were led to a successful season by the excellent coaching of Bob Dyer, a former Bearcat lineman.

PACIFIC

A fired-up Pacific Badger rips the helmet off the head of Windy Sequeira as his running mate, Bobby Zoelch, arrives too late to help. Willamette absorbed a surprising setback at the hands of an underdog Pacific eleven, being upset 19-6 on the Bearcats' home ground.

LEWIS AND CLARK

Windy Sequeira, Honorable Mention All-Conference Junior Halfback, finds a hole in the big Lewis and Clark forward wall and rambles for a Bearcat first down. Before a Homecoming crowd of 2,000, the Pioneers displayed a spectacular offensive machine in downing the Methodists 34-6. Coach Ted Ogdahl had his gridders fired up for this important clash, and except for several break-away runs, the Bearcats fought the Co-Conference champions on even terms.

COLLEGE OF PUGET SOUND

Windy Sequeira attempts to elude a host of College of Puget Sound Loggers in picking up a nine yard gain. The Bearcats held their own for three periods, but finally succumbed to the consistent ground game displayed by the Presbyterians by the score of 24-7.

LINFIELD

A hard-running Linfield halfback is pulled down from behind by the Willamette secondary. Although sporting a new offensive system, the Bearcats were humiliated 29-0 by a fighting team of Wildcats. Even though the 1955 grid-iron schedule ended on an unhappy note, Bearcat gridders and coaches look forward to a much-improved season in 1956.

WHITWORTH

Bobby Zoelch skirts end for 15 valuable yards against the highly-touted Whitworth Pirates. This gain wasn't enough, however, for the Bearcats went down in defeat, 13-7. The Bearcats, in their curtain raiser at McCulloch Stadium, played one of their best ball games against the top-rated small college team in the Northwest.

FRESNO STATE

Quarterback Benny Holt watches in dismay as the powerful Fresno State line contains another offensive thrust of the Bearcats. In a night game at Fresno, the Bearcats were humbled 33-7 by the offensive-minded Bulldogs. However, the contest was closer than the score indicated, for Willamette more than held its own in the second half.

WHITMAN

Jerry McCallister, versatile Quarterback reels off one of Willamette's many gains as the Bearcats downed the Whitman Missionaries, 10-0. In a driving rain-storm at McCulloch Stadium, Center Chuck McClure and All-Conference Sophomore End Vic Backlund, plus the ankle-deep mud, contributed mightily in keeping the Missionaries from penetrating Bearcat territory.

COLLEGE OF IDAHO

Diving End Dean Benson watches one of the big breaks go against Willamette as the Coyote safetyman picks off a Bearcat aerial. In a thriller at Caldwell, the College of Idaho Coyotes edged the Bearcats at Willamette, 20-13, as Lady Luck was against the Bearcats throughout most of the contest.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Under new coach Jerry Long, the Bearkittens compiled a record of 7 wins and 7 losses. The future 'Cats played a fine brand of ball, several times coming from behind to win.

Members of the Bearkitten squad are, Top Row: Bill Joseph, Lorry Clark, Bruce Gustafson, Conrad Moore, Dave Gaskins, Rex Domaschofsky, Bob Klindworth. Second Row: Dean Bishoprick, manager, Dick Walsborn, Larry Willingham, Paul Osterlund, Royal Keith, Don Williams, Herb Talabere, manager, and Coach Jerry Long.

Sparkplug guard Jerry McCallister drives for a basket. McCallister won Honorable Mention All Conference honors in league balloting.

John Lewis, Athletic Director and head basketball coach.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Bearcats of coach John Lewis finished fifth in Northwest Conference competition with a 5-10 won-lost record. Though boasting the tallest team in the loop, the 'Cats were unable to win consistently.

TRACK

The Bearcat track team of 1956 featured four outstanding performers, but failed to produce consistent victories due to lack of depth. Willamette's biggest win was in a triangular meet with Portland State College and Clark J. C. Led by their four leading point getters, Dean Benson, Dale Hartman, Larry Thompson, and Dale Greenlee, Ogdahl's men finished third in the conference meet. They trailed Lewis and Clark and Whitman, and finished ahead of Linfield, Pacific, and College of Idaho. The track and field sport provided spirited competition for Willamette's track hopefuls, and exciting contests for track fans.

Coach Ted Ogdahl, head track coach and organizer of the famed Willamette Relays, guided his harriers to a third-place finish in the Northwest Conference track meet held here at Salem.

Dale Hartman takes the lead in the special mile race during the Willamette Relays.

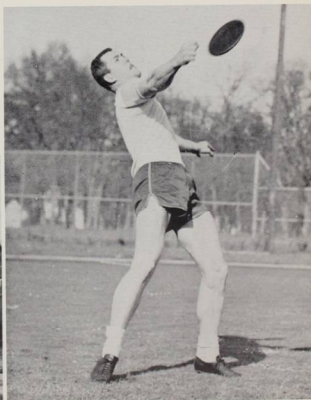

Willamette's finest hurdlers, Rand Holder, and Dean Benson, skip over the 220-yd. low hurdles in a workout. Benson holds school records in both high and low hurdles, and is the conference champion in the highs. Dean has aspirations of making the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Squad — Good luck, Dean!

Dale Hartman set school records in both the mile and 880-yard runs this spring. This year in the conference track meet, Dale was the only double winner of the day, winning in both of his specialties. Being only a sophomore, even bigger things are expected of Dale in his two remaining years of eligibility.

Dale Greenlee is shown setting a new school record in the discus.

Dean Benson races to a stirring victory in the high hurdles.

Here is a view of the Willamette Relays from the grandstand.

WILLAMETTE RELAYS

The sixth annual Willamette Relays, held March 31, were the biggest and best ever for meet director Ted Ogdahl. Two thousand participants and five thousand fans combined to form one of the nation's most spectacular sporting events of the year. Despite the earliness of the track season and the inclement weather, record-smashing performances were turned in by Oregon's Bill Dellinger and Jim Bailey in the mile run and by Willamette's own Dean Benson in the high hurdles.

In the Oregon Statesman Invitational Mile, Oregon's Bill Dellinger edges teammate Jim Bailey in the fine early-season time of 4:10. Bailey later conquered the famed John Landy at the same distance.

TENNIS

Northwest Conference tennis belonged to just one school — Willamette. The Bearcats turned the conference meet into a Willamette intrasquad contest, as the finalists were all from Coach Les Spark's squad. Archibald "Bud" Mull beat teammate Ron Butler for the conference singles championship. For the doubles championship, Bud and Ron teamed to edge Bearcats Ray Meyers and Ian MacIver. Winning every conference dual match, the Willamette netmen lost only to the powerful Portland University Pilots, and to Oregon State. Coach Sparks proved his superiority as a tennis coach, as this is the fifth straight year his racket swingers have gone undefeated in a conference dual match. This also testifies to the interest of the Willamette student body in tennis, for almost everyone can be found on the courts during the spring.

Conference action — Bud Mull, the Northwest Conference Singles Champion, and Ron Butler, the conference runner-up in singles play, tune up for an important match. This duo also won the conference doubles title.

VARSITY BASEBALL

The Willamette U. diamondmen, under the tutelage of John Lewis, opened the 1956 season in hopes of capturing the Northwest Conference championship for the second straight year. The Bearcat baseballers started impressively with wins over Oregon and Oregon State. However, when the season was still young and the 'Cats were established as definite championship contenders, a long list of misfortunes started to plague the ball club, including several key injuries which cut down on the team's winning effectiveness.

Graduating Bearcat Seniors include the following: Kneeling — Gino Pieretti, Jerry McCallister, Bill Nelson. Standing — Wes Malcolm, Pete Reed, Pete Harvey, Dale Patton.

Left-fielder Jerry McCallister takes a pre-game swing in batting practice. Jerry is an extremely versatile athlete, for he has won nine athletic letters, more than any other recent WU athlete.

Catcher Dale Patton crosses home plate for another important Willamette tally. Commonly called "Tank," the stocky catcher has just been named to the All-Conference baseball team for the second successive year.

Pitcher Brad Lucas is about to release another of his sharp breaking curve balls. As a Freshman last year, Brad proved to be the pitching find of the year.

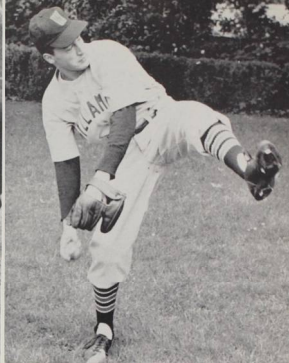

Frank Caruso is the slugging Third-baseman from Olympia, Washington, who made such an auspicious beginning in his Freshman year. Frank was named to the Honorable Mention All-Conference team, which capped a fine initial spring for the "Bear."

Center-fielder Tom Moore is another outstanding Freshman star, who led the Bearcats in base running for 1956. Big things are expected of both Frank and Tom in the years to come.

Terry Ziegelman laces out a hit against Linfield.

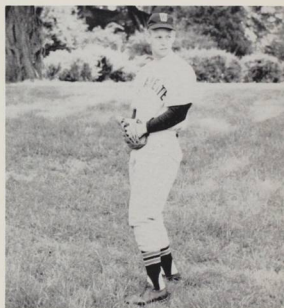

Pitcher Gino Pieretti ranks as the Bearcats' best curve-baller.

Right-fielder Ed Lipscomb races to first base following a one-base blast against Lewis and Clark.

Pitcher Dan Feller is Willamette's most consistent hurler. Dan compiled the leading won-lost record for the current club.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASEBALL

Willamette University again employed a baseball program for the Junior Varsity. Made up mostly of Freshmen and Sophomores, the team was usually guided by a Senior from the Varsity squad. Valuable experience was gained by all in this Junior Varsity baseball activity. Playing a five-game schedule, the Bearkittens won four and lost only once. This fine record is an indication of excellent Bearcat Varsities in the years to come.

The members of the 1956 golf team are as follows: Kneeling — Dave Kvale, Lowell Fox, Tom Loree. Standing — Dick Moore, Jim Gilliland, Bob Withers, Coach Jerry Long.

COACH JERRY LONG

GOLF

The Bearcats who prowl the greens and slam the divots paid off for Willamette in a big way — A Conference championship. Under the excellent guidance of their new coach, Jerry Long, the golf team not only swept the Conference championship, but also beat Oregon State College for the first time in history. The members of the golf team found it a wonderful way to pursue their favorite sport, finding competition and improvement through Coach Long's aid. Outstanding golfers were Tom Loree and Dick Moore, who made the All-Conference team. Loree was also Willamette's medalist as well as conference medalist.

Baxter Hall and the Phi Delt's fight it out in an evenly-matched contest.

INTRAMURALS

Proving the point that athletic participation is for everyone and not just the athletes, Willamette offers a highly varied and enjoyed system of intramural sports. Under the direction of Lestle Sparks, the men's living organizations engage in a competitive pursuit of intramural trophies. With all sports completed except softball, tennis, and badminton, the Sigma Chi's and Phi Delt's are in a close battle for the championship, while the Beta's stand third.

Intramural football brings the S.A.E.'s and Baxter Hall together in a contest staged in West Salem.

Sun and good courts make tennis popular in leisure time.

Many students enjoy the close skiing facilities.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

Although the guys spend more time in athletics than do the girls, we find that the Willamette co-eds also enjoy sports as wonderful recreation. Willamette University provides a diversified gym and intramural program for women. Their activities, planned by the Physical Education Department, include such sports as tennis, bowling, dancing, volleyball, archery, swimming, and badminton. In addition, many of the gals, as well as the men take off for the smooth white slopes during the ski season.

Archery is a sport where the gals can equal the guys in enjoyment, if not in proficiency.

RALLY SQUAD

Members of the Rally Squad lead the students in yells at football games, as well as at the basketball games. Members of the squad first semester were First Row: Pat MacGregor, Sharon Allen, Marie DeFreeze, and Susie Carter. Second Row: Doug Houser, Willie Thompson and Larry Lister.

DONEY HALL

This year's women of Doney Hall have had the distinction of being the first group of girls to live in the new women's dormitory. The first few weeks were indeed busy ones for the girls as they acted as hostesses for many guests who were interested in visiting the new dormitory. The girls initiated the building with their fall house dance "Inauguration Ball." It was formal, with the girls wearing tiaras in their hair and their dates sporting brightly colored diplomatic bands across their shoulders. The spring semester was a very enjoyable one for the members of the dormitory. Suppressed desires and creative genius were exhibited at the spring costume dance, "Bridey's Blast," which derived its theme from the currently popular book. Topping off an eventful year was the first place rating that Doney girls and other independent women received in the May Weekend sing.

Couples, dressed as they were in the last life, arrived at "Bridey's Blast."

LAUSANNE HALL

During the fall semester Lausanne Hall began its activities for the year with the fall house dance, "Wood Hues," carried out in the traditional fall colors and scenes. In December the annual Christmas tea was presented for the entire campus. Highlights of the day were the beautifully decorated doors, with prizes given for the best religious and novelty themes. Lausanne Hall made history this year by serenading all the men's living organizations — in spite of a drenching rain. When May Weekend rolled around, Lausanne joined with other independents in the song contest and carried away first place. The spring house dance had the air of a gay carnival with the theme "Carousel."

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Fall activities for the women of Alpha Chi Omega began by welcoming an active pledge class. During the semester the girls took time from the academic side of life to enjoy hillsides, a Christmas party and fashion show for the girls of Hillcrest, and a highly successful formal, "The Golden Lyre Ball." The annual State Day was celebrated in October with a meeting of alumnae and actives in Portland. With finals completed, the Alpha Chis returned to school for spring term and a full schedule of activities. First on the agenda was the informal house dance, "In the 'Still' of the Night," followed by an all-campus serenade and active participation in Freshman Glee and May Weekend. Near the close of the year, the girls honored their housemother, Mrs. Elvah Stanley, who is leaving this year, with a combination birthday and farewell dinner party. The Alpha Chis ended the year's activities with their annual formal senior banquet.

Gaiety was the keynote of "The Golden Lyre Ball."

CHI OMEGA

The Chi Os' started a successful year with a tea honoring their new housemother, Mrs. Alfred Beckman. A memorable evening was spent by Chi O's and their guests at their fall house dance, "Mystic Melodies." Boating was facilitated when a new dock, built by Chi O and S A E pledges, was presented to the members. The academic sophomores emerged victorious from a scholarship challenge with the rest of the chapter and enjoyed a free meal at China City. Members and pledges enjoyed the annual, regional Eleusinian celebration sponsored by Portland alumnae honoring the sorority's founders. The annual White Carnation Ball, "Southern Serenade," held in honor of chapter seniors highlighted the spring semester. Lawn parties, boating, and badminton gave the Chi Omegas an opportunity to relax before finals.

Couples danced to haunting strains at "Mystic Melodies."

DELTA GAMMA

With twenty-three new pledges, the women of Delta Gamma quickly entered into a variety of activities. Homecoming Week-end was a special one for the D.G.'s as they won the sign contest in the women's division. After the formal fall house dance, "Paint the Town Red," thoughts were turned to studies with the result that the house was awarded the scholarship trophy for the top fall grade point average among women's living organizations. Throughout the year D.G.'s participated in work at the blind school and other special activities in their national project of aid to the blind. Girls took time out from tests and term papers to enjoy their spring costume dance, "Pocahanna's Powwow." The selection of Anita Booth, Little Colonel; Peggy Buckley, Homecoming Hostess; and Marg Huson, May Weekend Queen climaxed a year which will always hold pleasant memories for the members of Delta Gamma.

PI BETA PHI

First on the fall agenda for the women of Pi Beta Phi was Rush Week — filled with Indians, Hawaiian leis, and Pi Phi dolls. The year quickly unfolded, bringing firesides, an underwater "Shipwrecked" dance, Homecoming, a Christmas party for twenty Fairview boys, and various other events which kept the Pi Phis busy budgeting their time. In November, petite Jeanine Graber was selected by the men of Sigma Chi as their 1955 Sweetheart. The new semester brought plans for an Irish ball, "A Little Bit of Heaven," the annual Founders' Day picnic and banquet, and the Mothers' Tea. In April, lovely Sandi Harris was chosen queen of the Varsity Ball by Willamette's lettermen. Social parties were planned to show appreciation to beloved "Mrs. K." Pi Phi housemother leaving for California next year. As the year closed, the women of Pi Beta Phi gave their special "Farewell" to the graduating seniors and turned their thoughts to plans for an eventful fall.

Baxter Hall

BAXTER HALL

Reaching a high point early in the year, the men of Baxter Hall won the Homecoming sign contest based on the slogan "Bearcat Spark Stops Lewis & Clark!" Just before the holidays, the Baxter members shared their festivities with under-privileged children of the Salem area at a Christmas party and dinner, complete with Santa Claus. Fall semester the lounge and dining room were transformed with ivy and effort into a resemblance of a "Blue Bayou" for the very successful house dance. Participation in intramural sports and entry in the May Weekend Song Contest didn't slow the pace, for a complete rearrangement of the downstairs into a replica of the Blue Grotto, streets and shops of the "Isle of Capri" marked the spring dance. The Sunday following the formal dance, which featured corsages as favors for the girls, hall members and their dates trekked to Nelscott for the beach party climaxing the year.

Beta Theta Pi

BETA THETA PI

Beginning another successful year, the men of Beta Theta Pi welcomed a large, active pledge class. Their fall house dance "On the Town," featured unique costumes made by the Beta dates. Before Christmas the chapter recorded a full hour program of Christmas carols to be broadcast over the radio. Hours of study and gallons of midnight oil resulted in the winning of the men's scholarship trophy for the house. Fellowship and an informative experience were the highlights of the annual Beta Conclave in February. Heaps of confetti and a blaring band in the Beta basement added to the hilarity of the spring fireside for Mock Convention. Climax of the spring semester and a fitting close to the year was the formal house dance "Blues in the Night," with the beach trip to Neskowin on Sunday.

The girls made costumes out of two yards of material for their fall house dance.

PHI DELTA THETA

Once again the men of Phi Delta Theta enjoyed a highly successful year academically and in campus leadership. The year began with a bang as the Phis picked an enthusiastic and outstanding freshman pledge class. The fall house dance, "Pigalle," featured the atmosphere and costumes of a French waterfront dive and was the talk of the campus for days. A Christmas party for underprivileged children was the highlight of the Christmas season, with the men of Phi Delta Theta and the boys all having a wonderful time. The new housemother, "Mom" McElhinny was warmly received and is loved by all. Always outstanding in varsity sports, the Phi basketball team was heartily cheered by the brothers. The house demonstrated its brotherhood and community spirit by helping the city of Salem in an important election as part of the national Phi Delta Theta Service Day. Climaxing the year was the spring formal dinner dance, "Beyond," with the Sunday beach trip at Seaside.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

The men of S A E started off a very successful year by gaining a large pledge class during rush week. In October a member-pledge football game served to unite the members and the freshmen. Transforming the house into an Arctic wasteland complete with igloo and polar bear, the fall formal, "Polar Promenade," again revealed the artistic abilities of the fraternity. The S A E project for the year was a Christmas party given for the benefit of needy children. A number of young boys and girls were entertained, complete with Christmas dinner and gifts. Taking time out from their academic pursuits in the spring, the men of S A E helped celebrate their fraternity's 100th anniversary. Later an alumni banquet and parents' day celebration were held, during which deserving S A E's received coveted awards. Completing the year's social activities was the spring informal, "Hijacker's Hide-out," featuring life in the roaring '20's, and the annual beach trip for members, pledges, and guests.

SIGMA CHI

SIGMA CHI

Returning to school in the fall, the members of Sigma Chi greeted a large group of pledges. The first big social event of the year was the annual Sweetheart Ball, at which Jeanine Graber was crowned "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." Christmas brought with it the usual rush of pinning serenades and the traditional underprivileged children's party. Open houses and firesides took up the remainder of a Sig's time. For the fifth year in a row, the Sigs walked off with the province song trophy, also taking first place in the annual May Weekend Song contest. The start of the second semester brought with it the annual Mother-Son banquet, and the traditional spring house dance. This year the theme was "Abstraction," well carried out with the help of all the members and pledges. Following this was the traditional trip to the coast for members and their dates.
