

WILLAMETTE SCENE

PUBLISHED FOR ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF THE WEST'S OLDEST UNIVERSITY

Winter 1987

"You're in pretty good shape For the shape you are in"

One of the presents I received last year was a copy of Dr. Seuss's best-seller, "You're Only Old Once!" In case someone out there is without a real liberal arts education, Theodor Seuss Geisel, known to millions of fans as Dr. Seuss, has written 45 books and has taught several generations of children that reading can be fun. His previous books have been classified as children's books, but his latest, with its satiric social commentary, is meant for "obsolete children."

My children grew up on Dr. Seuss. His first book, "The Cat in the Hat," was published the year I got married. Other books followed regularly. All my children laughed as they learned, and even cried when the Grinch stole Christmas.

With apologies to Dr. Seuss, my message is couched in a poor imitation of him that comes from having just read "You're Only Old Once!" I hope it makes you smile while you reflect on the continued progress of the University. Dr. Seuss's conclusion may well fit many of us, and even dear ole Willamette -- "You're in pretty good shape, For the shape you are in."

I will travel on a train;
I will travel on a plane.
Wherever I can reach a
Willamette ex
My message will follow
this one text.

This school is so great,
and so big, and so old.
The quality of faculty,
on this I am sold.
The students aren't bad, either-- or so I've been told.

This school is so great,
and so big, and so old.
We have to work diligently so it will never fold.
Send in your support right now! Be bold!

Waller is old and in need of repair.
One by one, let's take up this dare.

One brick, two brick,
three brick, four;
Windows and wall,
halls and door.
Let's redo it now,
right to the core.

Whether food for body or food for thought,
Willamette is ready,
whichever is sought.

(Some say Saga serves green eggs and ham.
I confess I'm among them,
I am, I am.)

Of food for thought, many eat quite a lot
And a few digest it, believe it or not.

I'll stand on a box;
I'll ride on a fox.
I'll shout this message to all who will hear--
"Nineteen eighty-seven will be a great year!"

Jerry E. Hudson

WILLAMETTE SCENE

PUBLISHED FOR ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF THE WEST'S OLDEST UNIVERSITY

WINTER, 1987 VOL. III, No. 4

(USPS 684-26000)

BEHIND THE SCENE

EDITOR

ANDREA G. DAILEY

CONTRIBUTORS

JERRY E. HUDSON
MICHAEL LARSON
TINA RICHARDS
DEBORAH F. WILSON

SPECIAL WRITER

R. WRIGHT COWGER

CLASS NOTES

HEATHER FRUITT

PHOTOGRAPHERS

JILL CANNEFAX
SHAN GORDON
R. JANE REEDER

ON THE COVER: SOME OF WILLAMETTE'S NEWEST LEGACIES—STUDENTS WHO ARE RELATED TO ALUMNI—CONGREGATE AT EATON HALL. WHY DID THEY CHOOSE TO CONTINUE THE FAMILY TRADITION? SEE PAGE 4. (JILL CANNEFAX PHOTO.)

PUBLISHED WINTER, SPRING, SUMMER, AND FALL BY WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY, SALEM, OREGON FOR CONSTITUENTS OF THE WEST'S OLDEST UNIVERSITY. SECOND CLASS POSTAGE PAID AT SALEM, OREGON 97301. SEND ADDRESS CHANGE TO UNIVERSITY HOUSE, WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY, SALEM, OREGON 97301.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Another view: from a place by the front windows in the Mark O. Hatfield Library, look up and see the interplay of wood, steel, light, and space.

- 4/ Willamette's newest legacies tell their story
- 6/ History: Hospital connections with the past
- 8/ Alumni conference fuels enthusiasm, ideas
- 9/ This book's time has come--after 35 years
- 10/ Exciting alumni tours
- 11/ Reunions, alumni directory
- 13/ Class notes

Willamette's legacies

Generations of scholars have made a Willamette degree part of their family tradition — sons and daughters following their parents and, sometimes, grandparents; cousins, brothers, nieces, all sharing Willamette and at the same time finding their own unique places in it.

Nearly 40 relatives — legacies — of Willamette alumni are among the students who entered the university this year. Just like other new students, their reasons for enrolling run the gamut. Some said they'd known for a long time, "maybe forever," that come autumn 1986, they'd be here. Others confessed they once were determined not to follow in the family footsteps — but found themselves here anyway, a little bemused by the turn of events.

All the students were drawn, ultimately, by Willamette's reputation for excellence.

"We've got the programs that are best in the West," says Kurt Rehfuss, a freshman from Union, OR. "I knew for a long time this was what I wanted, and I was accepted early, so I didn't even apply anywhere else."

Kurt has almost pure Bearcat blood in his veins. Besides his parents, his Willamette family includes his grandmother, NAOMA FLEET REHFUSS '32; his uncles DAVID REHFUSS '61 and DR. JOHN REHFUSS '56; and his aunt, CAROL LITCHFIELD REHFUSS '57, who's married to uncle John.

Marin Frost of Twin Falls, ID is another freshman with many alumni ties — and the conviction that Willamette's the best.

"It really was the school's reputation that brought me here," she says, "though I did talk to my family about their feelings before I made the decision." Alumni in the Frost family include her uncle, DAVID FROST '57 L'60; an aunt, BARBARA MITCHELL FROST '58; and two cousins, GRIFFITH FROST '79 and KRISTIN FROST ALBRECHT '79.

Cathryn Burles, a Portland freshman, is literally following in her father's footsteps here on campus. She's going out for track, just as her father, ROBERT BURLES '66, did, and she has the distinction of being coach Chuck Bowles' first second-generation student.

While all the legacies have been hearing about Willamette for years, first-hand experience can still provide a few surprises.

Coursework is tougher than expected, some say; "a lot tougher," one groans. On the brighter side, though, all agree the faculty are much more friendly and willing to help than the students had anticipated.

"Especially after West Point, where I went for two years before transferring, I'm really impressed by the friendly atmosphere here," says Brad Houser of Portland.

David Chan agrees. The Saratoga, CA freshman admits to having had a certain skepticism about the school before he arrived on campus. In fact, he wasn't even going to apply to Willamette but changed his mind at the last minute.

"I applied because I figured Willamette is the best academically," David says. "I thought it'd be tough, and it is. I didn't expect to get attached to the school, but now," he smiles, with a little shrug of surprise and pleasure, "I really like it."

Willamette legacies among this year's entering students include:

- 1. Kurt Rehfluss, son of Thomas G. Rehfluss '74 and Erna Jean Buzzell Rehfluss '59 of Union, OR;*
- 2. Barbara Arnold, daughter of Jerry L. Arnold '59 of Bend, OR;*
- 3. Anthony (Andy) Dorsch, son of Anthony J. Dorsch '63 and Diane L. Hunnex Dorsch '64 of Redmond, OR;*
- 4. Marin Frost, daughter of Dr. Allan R. Frost '64 of Twin Falls, ID;*
- 5. Deborah Beck, daughter of Gary L. Beck '64 and Sally Jo Plessinger Beck '65 of Salem;*
- 6. Cathryn Burles, daughter of Robert E. Burles '66 of Portland;*
- 7. David LeMaster, son of Kenneth L. LeMaster '67 of Mercer Island, WA;*
- 8. David Chan, son of Jack Fong Chan '61 of Saratoga, CA;*
- 9. Carol Mork and 10. Elizabeth Mork of Portland, sisters of Kathryn Mork Strobel '82 of Florence, OR;*
- 11. Bradley Houser, son of Douglas G. Houser '57 of Portland and brother of Brooks Houser '85 of Salem.*

Meyer, Sumner in new appointments

Franklin D. Meyer has been appointed the university's vice president for student affairs, and James M. Sumner has been named Meyer's successor as dean of university admissions.

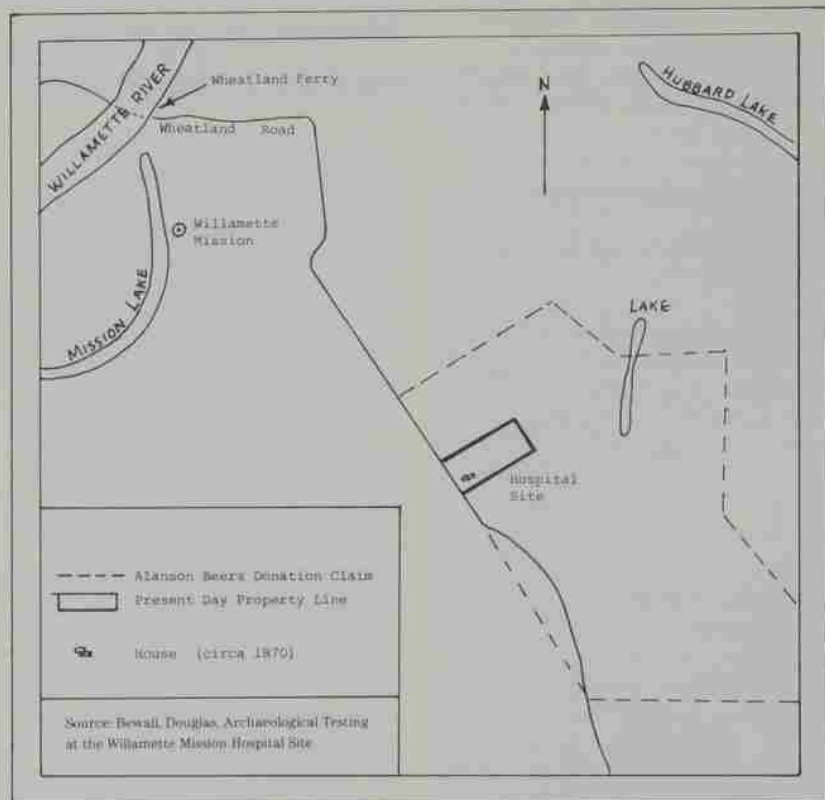

Vice president Meyer succeeds Rosemary Hart, who has returned to teaching as a member of the faculty of the Speech Department.

Meyer had been Willamette's dean of admissions since 1985, and served the previous 16 years as director of admissions for the College of Liberal Arts. Sumner had been director of university relations for three years prior to this appointment. In his 13 years with Willamette, he also has served as associate director of admissions and as director of public relations and assistant to university president Jerry Hudson.

Trustee Henderson named to new post

Thomas J. Henderson, a member of Willamette's Board of Trustees, has been elected president and chief operating officer of Guy F. Atkinson Company of California. Formerly executive vice president of the company, Henderson has been a member of the board of directors since 1983.

Guy F. Atkinson Company of California is a diversified corporation encompassing engineering and construction units in the United States and Canada as well as manufacturing operations, toxic waste treatment, communications systems, industrial pipe distribution and oil and gas development.

Hospital Connections

He pushed the shallow, dirt-filled box along the narrow passageway. He was prone, sweating, and coughing inside a dust mask, a grimy rodent burrowing into the past. It was hard work, box after box. But as he pushed each dust-treasure out for screening, the research he had done and the reasons for his being there kept surfacing in his mind.

Of the nine persons who were elected in 1842 to form the original trustee board of the Oregon Institute—later to become Willamette University—seven names live on as street names in Salem: Babcock, Campbell, Lee, Hines, Judson, Leslie, and Parrish. The three last names also appear on Salem middle schools. The eighth member of the board, George Abernethy, is remembered as the first governor of the Commonwealth of Oregon, a position he held until a territorial government was established in 1849. The final member, Alanson Beers, is part of the reason for the excavation project described above.

Beers, his wife, and three children arrived in Oregon by sea with the first small reinforcement to the Willamette mission. The party included Dr. Elijah White, Anna Maria Pittman, Susan Downing, and W. H. Willson. Beers spent most of that summer of 1837 ferrying supplies by canoe from Vancouver to the mission, building his own cabin, and later helping to build the mission hospital—which was located several thousand yards from the river—and the mission house. While his primary duty was as the mission blacksmith, Beers' responsibilities gradually expanded to include direction of the mission farming operations, and he became known as a steadfast and reliable man.

He paused in his digging to let the powdery dust settle a bit. This exploration under the Wittman house was known as Mission Hospital Site Test Unit J. After much preliminary searching, he had decided to try nine test sites in an attempt to locate evidence of the hospital, smithy, privies, and granary. He knew that the first political meeting that led to the formation of a provisional government in Oregon had taken place in the granary. Unfortunately, excavation in test site D yielded almost nothing to confirm Jesse Applegate's original survey identifying the granary site. But now, here in Unit J, relatively little surface disturbance in this claustrophobic crawl space might give promise of success in locating the hospital.

Alanson Beers stood with the majority at Champoege and was elected to the Committee of Nine, the framers of a code of laws for the new country. On July 5, 1843 those assembled were to elect a governor, but no agreement could be reached among the factions present. As a compromise, each group—missionaries, settlers, and mountain men—elected a representative to form a governing executive committee. Alanson Beers was chosen by the mission.

Following the lead of most of the missionaries, Beers began to accumulate signs of wealth. The first taxes levied in the Commonwealth were based upon ownership of "pleasure carriages, mills, clocks, watches, livestock, and merchandise." Beers admitted to 12 clocks, 60 horses, 1,260 cattle, and 8 hogs.

Upon deciding to close the mission Indian school and to narrow the range of secular activities, the Rev. George Gary offered Beers $1,000 to be released from the mission. Gary noted in his diary:

Thursday, July 11, 1844.
Today we made a bargain with Mr. Beers to sell him the farm which he occupies. This sale puts a heavy concern off our hands. We shall soon be able to dismiss Mr. Beers from the service of the mission...This family is a large one--1 wife and 6 children. His expenses have been nearly eight hundred dollars a year...

The agreement between the Methodist Conference and lay persons to the mission was to return the latter, if necessary, to their place of former residence in the States. Beers took the thousand dollars and rights to the mission farm instead.

Beers continued to expand his business interests. He and George Abernethy platted the town of Butteville

In connection with the excavation in 1981 of the original mission site by Dr. David Brauner of the O.S.U. Anthropology Department, archaeological testing of the mission hospital and farm site was undertaken by master's degree student Douglas Bewall. A portion of the site lies on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Witteman. Their present residence was originally constructed around 1870, apparently on the exact site of the mission hospital.

some time before 1850. Beers and several others joined together to finance the construction of the Lot Whitcomb, a commercial vessel built and launched at Milwaukie in 1850. Unfortunately the launching ceremony was diminished when a ceremonial cannon exploded, killing the schooner captain who was touching off the powder.

Beers applied for and received title to the old mission farm of 640.85 acres under the Donation Land Claim Law. He purchased the Island Mills in Oregon City, entered the flour and lumber business, and later built a wooden dormitory on the Institute site to be used for boarding students.

After Beers died in 1853, the newly chartered Willamette University purchased the Beers House dormitory for $300 and established free 10-year scholarships for each of the Beers children.

He crawled through the cobwebs into what appeared to be an old firepit, opening to headroom between two and four feet. In his mind, he pictured Lee directing Dr. White to build a hospital "on higher ground." When Charles Wilkes visited the mission in 1841, he described the hospital as a frame building...and perhaps the best structure in Oregon. By 1844, Dr. Babcock had arrived and was living in the hospital building which he also used as a clinic.

Certainly Alanson Beers lived in the building after buying the farm. As the explorer flashed a light around the small cell, he could see wooden beams with marks of the adze clearly visible. These old beams were attached to commercially sawn beams of a later period. His light played on black painted letters on one of the old beams: BEERS. What did he feel, this young digger with a mission? Perhaps ...

... he thought that our connections to our heritage are not so tenuous after all.

R. WRIGHT COWGER

Elderhostel opens in July

An exciting Elderhostel program is set for the week of July 19-25 on the Willamette campus.

Members of the university's faculty will offer three noncredit courses during the week. Prof. Julio Viamonte will teach "Understanding Opera," a comprehensive look into opera's development as an art form, with particular interest in setting opera against a framework of historical events. Russell Beaton, professor of economics, will explore "Current Issues in Energy Economics"---current problems on the world scene and future prospects. And Prof. Richard Lord will use three representative dramas to illustrate the nature of tragic optimism from ancient to modern times in his course, "The Joy of Tragedy."

Other attractions that week include the Salem Arts Festival, a very popular regional event that draws scores of artists from throughout the Northwest.

Elderhostel is open to anyone age 60 or older regardless of educational background. (If couples wish to register, only one spouse need be 60 or older.) Registration is $215 per person, which includes room and board on campus (three meals a day) and tuition. A limited number of scholarships is available.

Advance registration is required. For more information, write: Summer Conference Coordinator, University Center, Willamette University, Salem, OR 97301, (503) 370-6162.

Conference updates alumni on classroom, campus life

More than 80 alumni came back to campus last fall for the first-ever Alumni Conference sponsored by the university. During a lively two days, alumni sat in on classes, viewed special presentations, and met with faculty, staff, and students.

"We wanted to give alumni a chance to get re-acquainted with Willamette on a level deeper than a casual visit," explains Barbara Mahoney, director of alumni relations. "And of course we wanted to get their insight into how we can serve alumni better."

The classroom visits were a big hit among the alumni, Dr. Mahoney says, as were the meetings with students and faculty.

Among the suggestions for alumni programs—a university calendar, and a request to hear faculty members give talks about their disciplines.

Continuing education opportunities also ranked high on alumni's list, Dr. Mahoney says. Two programs in that area are already on the agenda; see page 9 for information about Prof. Braden's lectures on this year's plays at Ashland, and page 7 about the elderhostel on campus in July.

The Alumni Conference will be biennial. Mark your calendars now for the fall of 1988 and plan to attend!

Diane Doolan Evans '80 enjoys hitting the books again.

Barton De Lacy '75 adds his view to the discussion as Gene Lowe '49 (left) and Rich Litchfield '63 listen.

Teresa Krug Hudkins '69, associate director of admissions, emphasizes a point in her presentation.

At left, John Sherwood '64, president of the Alumni Association, expresses his thoughts. Above, Julie Mellor Reid '55 voices her enthusiasm.

"Stepping Stones"

A Pilgrim's progress into print

Dee Notson thought she'd just do a little reading that afternoon in Boston in 1952. Husband Bob, then managing editor of the Portland Oregonian, was busy at a conference. With the Boston Public Library right across the street from their hotel, Dee saw a good opportunity to research the Notson family's Pilgrim ancestors, who include the first governor of Plymouth Colony, John Carver.

That walk across a Boston street eventually led ADELIA WHITE NOTSON '25 and ROBERT CARVER NOTSON '24 on a 35-year inquiry into Pilgrim history and, this spring, to the publication of their book, "Stepping Stones: The Pilgrims' Own Story."

The book is a compendium based on the three great documents of Plymouth Plantation. They are the Bradford Manuscript, written by William Bradford during a 20-year span of the earliest Colony history; the Journal of the Pilgrims, also known as Mourt's Relation, which chronicled the first arduous year in the New World; and the Mayflower Compact, which the Notsons argue is a direct antecedent of the U.S. Constitution and the Declaration of Independence.

The book could be called a kind of rescue mission.

"Virtually no one reads the original text of these documents," says Dee Notson. "The archaic language is too difficult. My first idea was to clarify the text through foot-notes, explaining the accounts so readers would know what was really going on."

But the work wasn't that simple. New discoveries—including the true authorship of the Journal of the Pilgrims—and new questions from prospective publishers impelled the Notsons to further research and writing.

Weaker spirits might have flagged after decades of work, but the Notsons were fortified by the belief that, as Dee puts it, "the book's time would come."

"It seems fitting to us that it finally did come this year, the two hundredth anniversary of the Constitution," says Bob. "It's an important year to remember our Pilgrim heritage."

The book may be ordered directly from the publisher. Send $19.95 plus $2.00 for postage and handling to Binford & Mort, 1202 N.W. 17th Avenue, Portland, OR 97209.

Courtesy of Binford & Mort

ALUMNI DAY: MAY 16

Mark your calendar now for Alumni Day on May 16. Special reunions will honor the classes of 1937 and 1962, and reunions also will be held for classes from years ending in 7 and 2. Plan to be there!

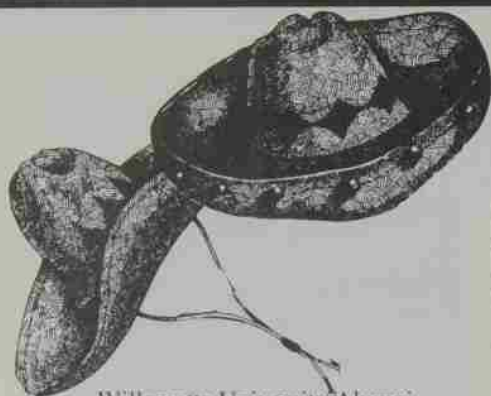

Alumni trip to Ashland set for July

Enjoy some of Ashland's finest productions and the company of your alumni friends during Willamette's Oregon Shakespeare Festival Tour this summer. The tour, led by Prof. Bill Braden of the English faculty, will be July 24-27.

In Ashland, Prof. Braden will hold preview and review discussions for each of the plays--Shakespeare's "Richard II," "Macbeth," and "A Midsummer Night's Dream;" Sam Shepard's "The Curse of the Working Class;" "She Stoops to Conquer," by Oliver Goldsmith; and "The Shoemaker's Holiday" by Thomas Dekker.

The tour cost is $250 per person and includes play tickets, transportation from and to Salem, and lodging (double occupancy) at the Columbia Hotel. For single occupancy lodging, add $30 to the tour cost.

Willamette University Alumni Association presents alumni and friends with exciting group travel options this spring and summer.

Prof. Don Breakey's tour of the Australian outdoors has been fully booked, but space is still available on two novel journeys to Spain and the Soviet Union.

Spain

Those who enjoy fine wine, gourmet food, and outstanding accommodations will find the tour of the Spanish wine country unforgettable.

Tour leader Stephen Hey, professor of sociology, has traveled extensively in Spain. His 15-day itinerary is an invitation to experience the full authentic flavor of Spanish living as well as the taste of great Spanish wines.

The group will visit several wineries and vineyards throughout the country. Most nights will be spent in medieval inns, castles, and monasteries which the Spanish government has converted to hotels.

Travelers will savor a variety of fine cuisine, including the roast lamb of Castilla, the robust Basque dishes of Rioja, and the seafood of Barcelona.

Dates: May 24-June 7

Estimated cost: $2,795 inclusive.

A deposit of $350 per person is required at the time the reservation is made; the balance is due by March 23.

Highlights: Extensive list includes visits to Madrid, Barcelona, the Costa del Sol, ancient castles and walled cities; hot air balloon trip at Arcos de la Frontera; "Capea de Torros;" Flamenco, night life, and gourmet dining.

Alumni tours depart soon for Spain, Soviet Union

Russia

An unusual four-week tour of the Soviet Union, from Moscow to Mongolia, will provide an in-depth look at Soviet culture and geography in four widely contrasting regions of the country.

This is the second tour escorted by Magda Schay, professor of Russian language, and is very different from the first. Before departure, Prof. Schay will conduct orientation seminars to acquaint tour members with the history, culture, and language of the Soviet Union.

Travelers will ride the Trans-Siberian Railway, sleep in the Gobi Desert in felt tents called yurts, and visit the world's largest freshwater lake in eastern Siberia where more than 1,000 species of unique flora and fauna live.

Other attractions include opportunities to study the Islamic architecture of Bukhara and Samarkand in the central Asian republic of Uzbekistan, and a visit with the citizens and officials of Simferopol, sister city of Salem, OR. Extended stays in Moscow and Leningrad, with theatre performances and other cultural activities, also are on the itinerary.

Dates: June 7-July 5

Estimated cost: $4,050 inclusive.

A deposit of $400 is required at the time the reservation is made; the balance is due by April 3.

Highlights: The rich culture of Uzbekistan in central Asia; vigorous Irkutsk in eastern Siberia; the oriental and remote Ulan Bator in Mongolia; the primitive beauty of the Gobi Desert. Also travel on the Trans-Siberian Railway, sightseeing and theatre in Moscow and Leningrad, and a chance to relax in the Crimean resort of Yalta.

Additional information on both tours is available from the tour leaders through the Office of Alumni Relations. Write for information using the form below, or call (503) 370-6340.

I am interested in receiving information on the following tours:

Spain Russia

Name(s)

Address

City, State, Zip

Home phone

Work phone

Class year

Date of Inquiry

Detach and return to: WU Study Tours, Alumni Office, 900 State St., Salem, OR 97301. If sending a deposit to secure a reservation, please make check payable to: WU Study Tours.

Chase is on for '62 reunion

The Class of 1962 will celebrate its 25th anniversary at a reunion during Alumni Weekend May 15-17.

Campus tours and seminars are on the agenda, as are social events and time for R&R — relaxing and reminiscing. Make it a weekend to remember, and plan now to attend.

If you are a member of the Class of '62 and have not yet received an announcement letter about the reunion, please contact PENNY VULGAS CURRIER, 3960 Deepwood Lane NW, Salem, OR 97304. Penny also will appreciate any help you can give in locating other '62 alumni.

Glee date set

What's the best remedy for the late-winter blahs? A strong dose of glee-- Freshman Glee.

This year's Glee will start at 7:30 p.m. March 14 in Cone Field House. The theme is "Serenade: Yesterday in Tune with Tomorrow," and it promises wide latitude for the singing and marching talents of Willamette's students.

General admission is $3; for those age 12 and under, it's $1.50. Tickets will be sold at the door. For more information, call the Student Activities Office, (503) 370-6463.

Alumni Directory progresses toward June publication

Harris Publishing Company is finishing its telephone calls to alumni to verify information and take orders for the new directory. The calls follow questionnaires mailed earlier asking alumni to provide updated information about themselves.

The directory will provide a complete listing of all living alumni whose current addresses are known. Each listing will include home address and phone number and business and professional information if available.

The directory is scheduled for publication in June.

If you want to order a copy and have not heard from the publisher, contact:

Harris Publishing Co. Inc.
Customer Service Dept.
3 Barker Ave.
White Plains, NY 10601

Dr. Luther has birthday, Willamette gets gift

Mrs. Helen Luther

Professor emeritus Chester Luther's eightieth birthday party ended months ago, but his family's gift just keeps on giving.

The gift—$80 contributions from Dr. Luther's wife, Helen, and each of their children—was to the Chester Luther Math Award fund at Willamette. Dr. Luther's students and former students established the fund in 1972, the year he retired as head of the Math Department. An award is made annually to a graduating senior in math.

Alumni and friends are invited to join in wishing Dr. Luther a happy birthday. Greetings and contributions may be sent in care of University House.

Dr. Chester Luther

You can help Willamette University

I am interested in learning about how I can include Willamette in my estate plan. Please send me information about:

- | | | |
|--|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Bequests to Willamette | <input type="checkbox"/> Charitable remainder trusts | <input type="checkbox"/> Class endowment program |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Gift annuities | <input type="checkbox"/> Gifts of real estate | <input type="checkbox"/> Other (please specify) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Pooled life income fund | <input type="checkbox"/> Gifts of life insurance | _____ |

I would appreciate the opportunity to talk personally with a representative of Willamette University.

Name _____

Street Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Phone _____ Class Year _____

Send to:

Director of Planned Giving
Willamette University
Salem, Oregon 97301

15

KATE BARTON GAUER writes, "I am still able to live alone at 95 years of age." During the summer, Kate keeps busy raising tomatoes in the back yard of her home in Springfield, IL and roses in her front yard. She would enjoy hearing news of her classmates.

21

DR. FREDERIC ALDRICH is starting his third term as Justice of the Peace and member of the Board of Civil Authority in Richmond, VT, where he and wife Dorothy live.

23

Maj. Gen. Tracy E. Strevey, Jr. has been named to head the U.S. Army Health Services Command, the military's largest medical organization. Maj. Gen. Strevey is the son of DR. TRACY E. STREVEY, now retired from his post as vice president of the University of Southern California.

27

DR. MAE TINDALL, professor emerita of Bowling Green (Ohio) State University, is living in Carlsbad, NM. She retired from the university in 1966 after a 25-year career there. After graduating from Willamette, Dr. Tindall taught several years in elementary and secondary schools in Spokane. Then she was invited to teach at the Lincoln School, which was at that time the demonstration school for Teachers College of Columbia University. While at Columbia, Dr. Tindall completed her master's and doctoral degrees in education.

31

Former Congresswoman EDITH GREEN received the 1986 Distinguished

Alumnus Award from the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. The award is presented to an alumnus of a member institution who has achieved national prominence in his or her field. Edith was selected for the 1986 award because of her "significant contribution to the public life of the nation" and because she "championed the cause of education." Edith, who lives in Wilsonville, has received more than 30 honorary degrees and is active on the boards of several educational institutions and corporations.

33

DONALD T. CLARK's lifelong love of geographical names animates his new book, "Santa Cruz County Place Names: A Geographical Dictionary." The book was published in December by the Santa Cruz (California) Historical Society. Clark, university librarian emeritus from University of California, Santa Cruz, formerly was librarian of Harvard Business School's Baker Library and also had worked at the New York Public Library. He has taught at Harvard's Graduate School of Business, University of Western Ontario, University of Hawaii, Simmons College, and San Jose State University.

Alumni Day: May 16

Mark your calendars now for Alumni Day on May 16. Special reunions will honor the classes of 1937 and 1962, and reunions also will be held for classes from years ending in 7 and 2. Plan to be there!

35

ETHEL ADAM SCHREIBER writes that her daughter Catherine Occhiato is in her twelfth year as soloist with opera companies in three German cities — Heidelberg, Kaiserslautern, and most recently Essen. She has performed lead roles in more than 20 operas. Daughter Barbara lives in San Juan Capistrano, CA, and on Election Day gave Ethel and husband DANIEL '27 their second grandchild.

36

THE REV. LEONARD S. CLARK is completing 50 years in the Methodist ministry — 41 years of full-time service in the Idaho and Nebraska Conferences and 9 years part-time in the Desert Southwest Conference in Sun City, AZ. He and his wife Helen celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1985.

Retired physician DR. HARRY E. EMMEL writes from Friday Harbor, WA, "I was very proud of my university and my class when I attended my 50th reunion last May."

39

CHARLES M. MCKINLEY writes, "The old Alpha Psi Delta fraternity met last October. We meet again at the Holiday Inn at Portland International Airport on March 14 at 1 p.m. Anyone interested in attending should phone me at (503) 362-4081 or MALCOLM JONES '36 at (503) 363-4468." Charles and his wife MILDRED MORRISON MCKINLEY '40 have two children, MICHAEL '66 and PATRICIA MCKINLEY TIPTON '70.

DR. ROBERT WILSON was pleased to learn last summer from Rutgers University Press that the book he translated and edited, "Japan Journal: 1855-1861," will be translated into Japanese and published in Japan. Robert and MARGARET MACY WILSON live in Los Angeles and have three children and four grandchildren.

40

THE REV. BRUCE B. GROSECLOSE is providing interdenominational religious services and planning for a beautiful new chapel building at the headquarters of Cascade National Park at the head of Lake Chelan, WA. The Rev. Groseclose is the chairman of the board of directors of the Stehekin Chapel Association.

DR. JOHN S. LAUGHLIN has received the Gold Medal of the American Radium Society in recognition of his contributions, based on nuclear physics, to the treatment of cancer. Dr. Laughlin is chairman of the department of medical physics at Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York, and also professor of radiology (physics) at Cornell University Medical College. At the American Radium Society's last annual meeting in San Francisco, Dr. Laughlin delivered the Janeway Lecture; his topic was "Physical Aspects of Radiation Treatment."

41

Recently honored by the Salem YWCA as Volunteer of the Week, MARGE HERR CALDWELL has been an administrative volunteer at the YW for 34 years. In addition to serving on and heading numerous committees, she has served eight three-year terms on the YW's board of directors, including a term as president; and has developed and taught programs for volleyball and badminton. She served three years on the Salem School District's budget committee and was on a planning committee for citywide recreational programs. Today, she is chairwoman of one YW committee and a member of three others.

DICK and MARIE BENDIKSEN TATRO '40 write that they're looking forward to attending their 50th class reunions in a few years. Both are in good health and enjoying retirement in Kennewick, WA. All four of their children live in Washington State, and the Tatros enjoy visiting with them and their 10 grandchildren several times a year.

42

MADGE THOMPSON BROSHOT is secretary of the Portland chapter, Women Marines Association and a member of the Disabled American Veterans. Madge, a staff sergeant in the U.S. Marine Corps during World War II, has retired from the field of social work; husband Arthur is retired from civil engineering.

DR. ROBERT Y. DEAN has retired from his position as professor of math at Central Washington University, concluding a 40-year career as an industrial and academic mathematician. He and his wife Esther now live in Gig Harbor, WA. They intend to enjoy world travel and are involved in church activities and local service programs. Their two daughters live in the Los Angeles area.

MARGARET ANDERSON LARSON and her husband are now retired and living in the coastal town of Cloverdale, OR. Margaret welcomes any alumni to stop by and watch a sunset from their deck.

FRANCES HARRIS PARKE and her husband, Henry, attended the Mark O. Hatfield Library dedication last fall and enjoyed reunions with several of Frances's classmates and friends. The Parkes live in Sycamore, IL.

45

YVONNE MOZEE writes that she has just moved to Sitka, AK after spending a year in Europe. "Let me know if any of you cruise up this way!"

DR. WILMA FROMAN SHERIDAN, professor of music at Portland State University, has been appointed acting dean of the university's recently reorganized School of Fine and Performing Arts. Dr. Sheridan has been on the Portland State faculty since 1959. In 1977-78, she served as acting head of the music department; she was head of the department from 1981 to 1986. She has published several articles in the areas of music education, music therapy, and music education for handicapped students.

JOYCE McCLENDON ZIPPRICH lives in Dundee, OR. She taught home economics for seven years, worked in various types of offices for many years, and currently is enjoying sales work. Joyce is also involved in genealogy and is determined to learn to play the piano. Joyce and her husband love camping and fishing and are both very involved in their church. They have four grandchildren.

47

GILBERT J. CLAUSMAN has retired as librarian of New York University Medical Center Library after more than 31 years of service. Gilbert writes, "I live in a redwood ranch in Westport, CT. I intend to spend my time gardening, traveling, and going to the opera, ballet, and other musical events. Hope to be on campus in May for my 40th reunion."

DR. DONALD M. JEPPESEN was named runner-up for the 1986-87 Family Doctor of the Year Award of the American Academy of Family Physicians. He was nominated for the award after being named Oregon Family Doctor of the Year in 1985. Dr. Jeppesen has practiced medicine in Roseburg, OR for 31 years. He was a member of the Roseburg School Board from 1966 to 1980, serving as chairman four times. He also has been involved with health planning for the past 20 years and has served on the board of directors of the Western Health Systems Agency for the past six years. Dr. Jeppesen has been recognized for his support for special education and other programs for handicapped children.

48

LT. COL. DONALD A. REITZER (U.S. Army Reserves, retired) is presently the Nevada state director of the American Association of Retired Persons and is also commander of the Las Vegas chapter of the Military Order of the World Wars. Before retiring, he was an accountant with Portland General Electric. He and his wife Helen now live in Las Vegas.

LUCILE SCHWITCHENBERG WARRICK plans to retire this March after more than 37 years as a bookkeeper at The Doctors Clinic in Salem.

50

BETTY FERGUSON BREISCH is regional manager of graduate employment for DeVry, a Bell and Howell Company system of 11 institutes of technology throughout the United States and Canada. She helps place DeVry graduates in electronics and data processing positions in Northern California, Oregon, and Washington. Previously, she had been a teacher with the Shawnee Mission School District in Kansas. Betty has three daughters and a year-old grandson. She has been living in Sunnyvale, CA the past four years.

DALE and VIRGINIA BALK MCLELLAN write, "We spent a delightful weekend at Willamette at the Football Reunion of 1946-47, renewed friendships, and toured the beautiful campus." Dale manufactures contracting and mining equipment at McLeilan Industries; he and Virginia live in Burlingame, CA.

51

MARION SPARKS DABOLL'S husband, Duane, retired last July. He is developing his own photography business in Star Lake, NY, and Marion is learning to use a computer to help him. Both the DaBoll's children live in Syracuse, NY, where daughter Kate is a doctoral candidate at University of Syracuse and Liz is assistant to the CEO of a manufacturing company.

MARIE GLASSE TAPP is a ceramic designer at the Tile Design Studio in Seattle. She currently is working on "art tile" which is inspired by the Aesthetic Movement of a century ago. Specializing in the design and production of custom and stock tile, Marie is a consultant on both commercial and residential projects. She and her husband, Jesse, a physician, live in Seattle.

52

WALLACE BOE, a physical therapist, was elected mayor of Prineville, OR in the November 1986 election.

53

DR. TOM EDWARDS, professor of history at Whitman College in Walla Walla, WA, has recently published two works. The University of Washington Press published "Experiences in the Promised Land: Essays in Pacific Northwest History" which he edited. And his essay, "The Oregon Coast and Three of Its Guerrilla Organizations, 1942," appeared in the Journal of the West in July 1986.

DUANE HAGEN was a finalist last year for the annual BRAVO award from the Los Angeles Music Center Education Division. The award recognizes educators who have demonstrated outstanding achievement in arts education. Duane, who teaches at Glendale High School in Glendale, CA, was one of 11 finalists in a field of 130 nominated for the BRAVO Award.

DR. GLORIA KAINU MCFADDEN is a professor of education at Western Oregon State College in Monmouth, a position from which she plans to retire at the end of 1987.

JANE FOOSHEE SANFORD is serving her eighteenth year as a volunteer for Boy Scouts of America in Pleasant Hill, CA. She is currently serving as district advancement chairman and member of the Mt. Diablo Council Advisory Board. Husband William, who does purchasing for Lockheed Missile and Space Corp., serves with Jane on the executive board of the U.S. Air Force Academy Parents Association of Northern California. Their younger son, Robert, graduated from the academy in 1982.

54

NORMAN BATTAGLIA continues to devote most of his time to promoting jazz music in Portland, with the ultimate goal of helping to create a new industry for the city. Stormin' Norman, as he's called, puts in many hours as a volunteer announcer and jazz show producer for KMHD at Mount Hood Community College. In 1985, he hosted five one-hour television programs of jazz on Portland Cable Access; last summer, he was master of ceremonies at the Cathedral Park Jazz Festival. Besides his work as a judicial clerk in the Multnomah County Circuit Court, Norman has had three bit parts in Hollywood movies and is pursuing an acting career. In 1981 he retired from his first career — as a jet fighter pilot in the U.S. Air Force. When he retired, with the rank of lieutenant colonel, he had logged more than 5,000 flying hours.

Author's Query

I am writing a biography of Sen. Bob Packwood '54. I welcome hearing from anyone who remembers his Willamette years, especially his achievements and activities with Beta Theta Pi fraternity and the Young Republicans.

Mark Kirchmeier
403-A Seward Square SE
Washington, DC 20003

55

CAPT. RICHARD F. CHURCH, USNR-R, has been awarded the Defense Meritorious Service Award for service to the Pacific command during active duty periods from 1982-1985. Capt. Church also received the Navy Commendation Medal for his performance as commanding officer, U.S. CINCPAC DET 322 in Seattle. In civilian life, Richard is an investment officer in Portland.

Real estate broker BOB DYER was named Man of the Year by the Gilroy, CA Chamber of Commerce. Bob moved to Gilroy in 1977, where he is in business with fraternity brother BOB MILLER '56. A retired Air Force officer, Dyer is a past president of the Gilroy Chamber of Commerce. He is credited with making a number of innovations in the community, including the creation of the Gilroy Hall of Fame which annually honors historical contributors to the city.

MARILYN ROBERTSON OBST is an administrative assistant in pediatric neurosurgery at the University of California Hospital in San Francisco. She is also active in the Bay Area chapter of the American Association of Neuro Science Nurses and in her spare time renovates houses.

56

THE REV. DUANE S. ALVORD spent five months last year on sabbatical in Berkeley, CA at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific, his alma mater. The Rev. Alvord is an Episcopal priest at St. John's in Chevy Chase, MD. His wife, NANCY NEWTON ALVORD '57, writes, "After 27 years of marriage, the sabbatical gave us our first experience in student apartment housing — and we loved it!"

DR. WILLIAM H. FREEMAN, JR. retired as a colonel from the U.S. Air Force last summer after 30 years of commissioned service. He had spent his last eight years of service at Air Force headquarters where he worked in the directorate of personnel plans, the Air Force combat operations center, and most recently as the first executive secretary of the Air Force's Clemency and Parole Board. For his service on the Board, he was awarded the Legion of Merit.

Fellow alumnus, the REV. DUANE ALVORD '56, attended Dr. Freeman's retirement ceremony in Washington, DC. Dr. Freeman writes, "Duane and I always did lots of giggling together, and this picture at right suggests that some things do not change with age."

DR. DONALD HOBSON has been appointed campus chaplain and associate professor of religion at Mount Union College in Alliance, OH. He will be responsible for courses in understanding the Bible, religion and the search for meaning, and biblical studies. Dr. Hobson is the author of seven articles and reviews, and has five other works in progress. He enjoys tennis, golf, and squash.

JOAN LAWSON-LOONEY is president of the Winston-Salem, NC chapter of the United Nations Association of the USA and recently has been elected to the Association's national steering committee which oversees 165 chapters. Last October, Joan represented the Association at the World Peace Congress in Copenhagen, joining 3,000 delegates from 135 countries.

MARIAN RUTLEDGE SMITH writes, "After 20 years of teaching in the Salem-Keizer School District, I have moved to Prineville, OR and am teaching Spanish at Crook County High School. The Salem teaching experience was a rewarding one, climaxed by my being selected as the 1985-86 secondary-level foreign language teacher of the year by the Confederation of Oregon Foreign Language Teachers (COFLT). I am currently on the board of directors for COFLT and am busy organizing conferences to help improve foreign language instruction in Oregon. Even though the move to Prineville meant leaving dear friends and colleagues, it was time for a change. I am really looking forward to life and teaching in 'cowboy country.'"

57

HARVEY KOEPF is doing a lot of traveling these days, both on the job as a baseball scout for the San Diego Padres and on his own time. He and his wife, Mary Ann, recently sailed their boat to Vancouver, BC, then bicycled down the Pacific Coast. They have also sailed in Hawaii and the Virgin Islands. Mary Ann still teaches physical education at Cunha Intermediate School in Half Moon Bay, CA, where she and Harvey met some 23 years ago.

DON PETERSON has been elected to the city council of Saratoga, CA. Don, who is director of leasing for a large San Francisco Bay Area developer, has been involved in many community activities over the years, most recently serving as chairman of the planning commission. His wife, Ann, has her own business. They have three children — Karin, a senior at California State University, San Diego; Kirstin, a sophomore at California State University, Chico; and K.C., a high school sophomore.

58

ROBERT BRADY recently returned to his home in Fort Collins, CO after more than four months of travel in Europe, primarily in Germany, Poland, and Czechoslovakia. Robert, a professor, scenic designer, and director of theatre at Colorado State University, also spent a semester teaching at Warwick University in England. He and his wife, Sally, have four children.

DR. EUGENE COREY and his wife, Dr. Joyce Corey, are serving as co-chairs for the Eighth International Symposium on Organosilicon Chemistry to be held in St. Louis in June. The Coreys are professors of chemistry at the University of Missouri, St. Louis.

LOANNE MUNDINGER JOHNSON is the box office manager for La Mirada Civic Theatre in La Mirada, CA. Her husband, Bill, was recently promoted to the management of Northrop Corporation. Their older son, Lowell, has graduated from California State University, Fullerton, and was married last summer. Younger son Loren is a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army, serving at Ford Ord, CA since his graduation from West Point. He plans to be married in May at West Point, where his fiancée is graduating from the U.S. Military Academy.

The fourth edition of DR. AL SIEBERT'S book, "Student Success: How to Succeed in College and Still Have Time for Your Friends," was published in January. Al also has gained recognition for his research on the "survivor personality" — how life's best survivors gain strength from adversity. Last year he was interviewed on the subject by Bryant Gumble on the Today show and by Gary Collins on Hour Magazine. He also is a frequent speaker at conventions and professional-group meetings. Keeping fit is a high priority for Al as well. In the 1986 Oregon Games, he won three bronze medals in track competition with men in his age group. Now semi-retired, Al lives on a houseboat in Portland.

59

MARY TOMLINSON KRYDER is assistant to the deputy director of the Child Health and Disability Prevention Program. Daughter Karen, in the mass communications program at UCLA, is spending her junior year in Barcelona, Spain. Karen received both a U.S. Marine Corps Military Scholarship and the Del Amo Scholarship. Mary's son, Kenneth, is a simulation specialist with Bechtel National, Inc. in San Francisco.

R. GREGORY NOKES has joined the staff of The Oregonian newspaper, Portland, as a roving correspondent reporting on national and regional issues. Previously, during 25 years with The Associated Press, he traveled the world to report on economics and international diplomacy. The last three years he was in Washington, DC as diplomatic correspondent for AP. Gregory began his journalism career with the Medford Mail in 1959 and joined AP in 1961 in Salt Lake City. He worked in AP bureaus in Puerto Rico and Buenos Aires before moving to Washington in 1971. Among the stories he's covered: six economic summit meetings, George Shultz's peace shuttle in 1983, the Reagan-Gorbachev 1985 summit in Geneva, and the Philippine elections last year. Gregory is married to Rita Flynn, a former television correspondent for ABC and CBS.

L. DONALD WILLIAMS has been named an ambassador with Team Washington, an organization created by Washington Governor Booth Gardner to help promote economic growth and international trade. Don, who is director of technology transfer for Battelle Northwest, recently traveled to Japan with the Governor and the team to promote Washington State and its products and industries. Don and CAROLYN MILLER WILLIAMS '59, a homemaker and volunteer, live in Richland, WA. They have two children — DIANA WILLIAMS ERICKSON '84 and MICHAEL WILLIAMS '86.

60

FREDERICK J. FOWLER retired from the U.S. Air Force last June with the rank of colonel. Most of his 26 years with the Air Force was spent with the Air Weather Service. After retiring, he and his wife, Carmen, returned to their home in Rolling Hills Estates, CA, in the Los Angeles area, and have traveled extensively around the country.

JUDIE HUME RAFANELLI and her husband, U.S. Army Col. Gene Rafanelli, are living in Brussels, Belgium, where Gene is with NATO. They have lived in Europe more than four years. Their daughter, Ciaria Louise, attends Radford University in Virginia.

61

Willamette's Class of 1961 marked its 25th anniversary reunion last spring, which gave class members a chance to catch up on each other's lives since graduation.

DR. JAY B. V. BUTLER spent three years in the Navy in Hawaii before going on to medical school at Tulane University. He did his residency at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis. Today Jay specializes in joint replacement and sports medicine at the Orthopedic and Fracture Clinic in Portland. He and LINDA KREBS BUTLER '62 have three children — JAY '84, Christopher, a high school senior, and Michael who is in the eighth grade. The Butlers live in Portland.

STEWART M. BUTLER is senior vice president and a member of the managing committee of Rollins Burdick Hunter, a Portland insurance brokerage. He also is a trustee of Willamette, Meridian Park Hospital, and Chamber Music Northwest, and a life trustee of Marylhurst College. He, wife Molly, and son Brendan, age 4, live in Portland.

A. ELAINE BUCKINGER CHANDLER married George Chandler in 1961 and followed his career in the Air Force. Elaine attended Pacific Northwest College of Art from 1974 to 1978 and has been a professional artist since 1980. In November 1986 Elaine exhibited her work in the Hallie Brown Ford Gallery on the Willamette campus. She and George have one son, Scott, and live in Portland.

DR. ROY E. CHAPIN has been consulting on a part-time basis for the U.S. Feed Grains Council and has traveled to Mexico and South Korea in the course of his work as a dairy nutritionist. Dr. Chapin and his wife, CAROLYN MATHIS CHAPIN '71, live in Amity, OR with their three children. There, the Chapin family business makes dog food, mink cereal, livestock minerals, and liquid feed. The company is a major supplier of dog food for Alaskan husky racing dogs; the third- and fourth-place winners in the 1,049-mile Iditarod sled dog race last year were fed rations the Chapins had specially formulated for long-distance racing.

PAUL F. DELESPINASSE earned his Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins University in 1966. In 1970-71 he was a law and political science fellow at Harvard Law School. Since 1964 he has been with Adrian College in Adrian, MI where he is now a professor of political science and computer science. He is the author of "Thinking about Politics (D. Van Nostrand, 1981). Paul and his wife, Doris, have two children — Cobie Ann, 16, and Alan, 13. Doris, a certified public accountant, also teaches at Adrian College where she is associate professor of accounting.

COL. JERRY MAY has spent his career with the U.S. Air Force with tours in the United States, Europe, and the Far East. Currently he is on assignment to the White House where he is director of space programs with the National Security Council. He has two daughters — Tracy, 20, and Tricia, 14.

SAMMIE BARKER MCCORMACK earned her Ph.D. from the University of Oregon and has taught students at every level from grade 3 to graduate school. She also has been an elementary school principal and a high school assistant principal. Currently Sammie is coordinator of curriculum and instruction for the San Diego (CA) County Office of Education, a position that actively involves her in effective schools assessment. Sammie and her husband, Ray, an assistant vice president with the Bank of Commerce, live in El Cajon, CA. Their daughter, Gail, is an insurance agent in Klamath Falls, OR, and their son, JOHN, is a student at Willamette.

GREG and LORETTA RAY MILNES lead very active lives in Hillsboro, OR. Greg is chief juvenile court judge, a position he has held since 1975. Loretta has worked as an intake counselor for the state Children's Services Division the past seven years and also does a great deal of volunteer work. Both Greg and Loretta have received honors for their work. In 1974, Greg was named Beaverton Area Junior First Citizen and one of Oregon's Five Outstanding Young Men. The following year Loretta was named Hillsboro's Outstanding Junior Woman. Greg was appointed by former Gov. Vic Atiyeh in 1982 to the state Community Corrections Advisory Committee, a position he still holds. He also is on the advisory board of St. Mary's Home for Boys and is president of the Tualatin Valley Amateur Radio Club, one of the largest in the nation. He and Loretta are active in the Oregon-Idaho United Methodist Marriage Encounter, as presenting team couple coordinators. The Milnes have three children — Sheri, 20; Wendy, 17; and Mark, 15.

DAVID P. REHFUSS joined the Foreign Service in 1966 and has served in embassies in West Africa, Southeast Asia and Korea. He, his wife, Hedy, and sons Matthew and Marc live in Fairfax, VA.

"Travel and music have been my life since I left Willamette," writes JOAN BARBER RUTKOWSKI. After graduation she moved to San Francisco where, as an office worker by day and a singer by night, she saved enough for a tour of Europe the following year. Then it was on to graduate school at University of Southern California to pursue her dream of becoming an opera singer.

After earning her degree from USC and winning vocal competitions, including the San Francisco Opera Auditions, Joan accepted a position at Whitman College where she founded an opera department.

She and GEOFFREY RUTKOWSKI '63 were married in 1967, and Joan moved to Reno where Geoffrey was teaching at the University of Nevada.

"Fortunately for me," Joan says, "Reno was forming an opera company." Joan sang with the company and taught voice there for a year before moving to Santa Barbara where Geoffrey joined the University of California as a professor of cello.

The couple still live in Santa Barbara but have traveled extensively in the years since, often on concert tours. Last year, for example, the Chinese Ministry of Culture invited Joan and Geoffrey to perform and give master classes in the People's Republic. From China, they went to the French Riviera where Geoffrey had been invited to perform.

Joan no longer sings opera but remains very much involved in music. She currently is an administrator for the Esperia Foundation in Santa Barbara which gives financial aid to musicians and musical organizations. In addition, she often is a judge in music competitions and teaches in her home.

DR. HENRIETTA NICKELS SHIRK has been appointed assistant professor of English at Northeastern University, Boston. After graduating from Willamette, Dr. Shirk earned her master's degree from Tulane University and her doctorate from Bryn Mawr.

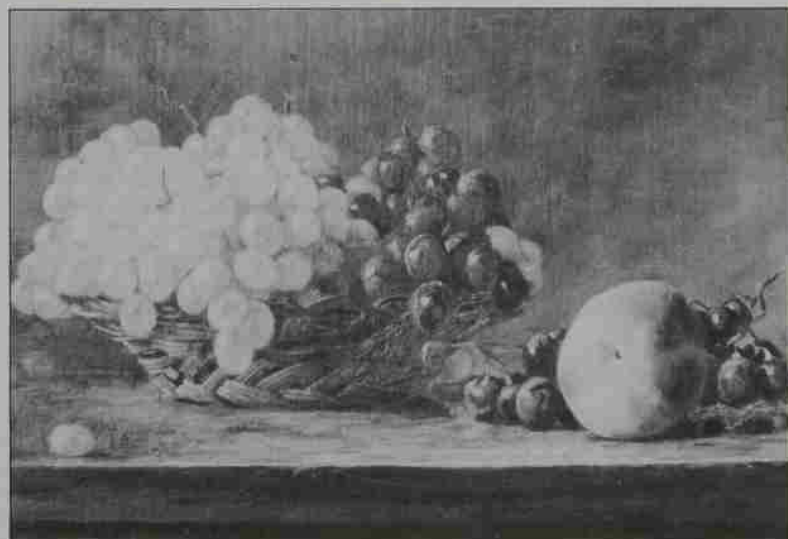

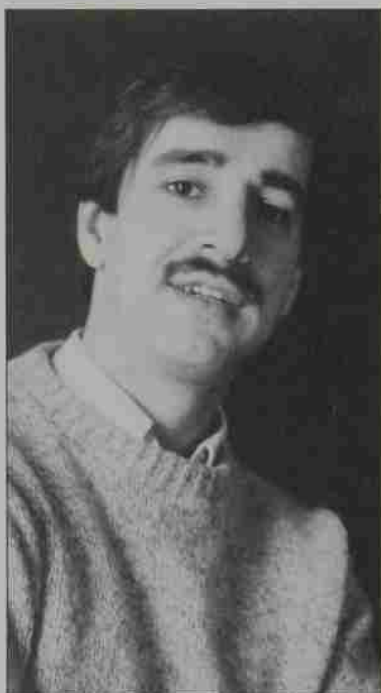

BILL SNOW earned his Ph.D. in history from University of California, Berkeley in 1969. A teacher and sculptor, he has had numerous one-man shows since 1972. Bill is now president of Pacific Coast Greenhouse Manufacturing Co. and has designed more than 700 greenhouses and passive solar systems. He also is active in the peace movement. He and his wife, Susan Gertmenian, have three children — Jessica, 21; Brett, 19; and Piper, 17 — and live in Sebastopol, CA.

SANDRA LINDQUIST WALTON was unable to attend the 25th class reunion because she was on sabbatical leave traveling around the world to research the life of a turn-of-the-century adventuress. Sandra is university archivist and an associate librarian at Sonoma State University in California, responsible for the school's special collections. Her sons, Joshua and Jonathan, are in college. Sandra says she loves to dance and draw in pastels and has also been doing some acting.

Mastering the Masters

If a picture's worth a thousand words, it's no wonder that artist DEAN LARSON '80 figured the paintings of the Masters were worth a book. Dean's book, "Studying with the Masters," has just been published by Watson-Guptill Publications, Lakewood, NJ. In the book, Dean presents step-by-step analyses and directions on the techniques used by Velasquez, Rubens, Turner, Degas, Monet, Sargent, and Matisse. Detailed sections on materials, working methods, and biographies are aimed at making readers feel as if they are working with the Masters themselves.

Dean, who now lives in Baltimore, MD, believes traditional painting has a great deal to offer the modern artist. "The questions raised and solved by the Masters are part of the process I'm now immersed in," says Dean in a recent issue of American Artist magazine, which profiled his work and views. "Only through a dialogue between research and hands-on copying can you crystallize your views on techniques."

62

ROGER N. GRABINSKI has been promoted to chairperson of the department of counseling, educational administration, and community leadership (CEACL) at Central Michigan University. The department is the only one at the university that offers strictly graduate-level programs — a master of arts degree and an education specialist degree. Roger has been with CMU since 1972.

63

GARY MANSAVAGE writes from Nairobi, Kenya: "As the assistant director, I completed a two-year assignment with the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) mission to Uganda in September. During the second year, we experienced two military coups and changes in government. Following evacuation for security reasons, I spent two months in Kenya and Ethiopia, in the latter assisting in the emergency food relief program." Gary is now in charge of the USAID program in Beirut, Lebanon.

GARY G. NOPP and his wife, Patty, have been married 22 years. Both their sons, Garin and Ryan, attend Oregon State University, Garin in business and Ryan in engineering. The Nopps enjoy hunting and fishing, and Gary writes that he's looking forward to his 25th class reunion.

64

A professor of English at Slippery Rock State University, MICHAEL KELLY enjoyed six weeks at Dartmouth College last summer studying Greek tragedy in translation through the National Endowment for the Humanities. His wife, PRISCILLA TOWER KELLY, has taken a year's leave of absence from Slippery Rock, where she is an assistant professor of English. She is now working full-time on her doctorate in rhetoric at Carnegie-Mellon University, where she also teaches one class. Their daughter, Holly, is a Tufts University political science major currently studying in Paris with the Institute of European Studies. Son Michael is a high school sophomore who, the Keilys note, seems to be majoring in sports.

PHIL KROZEK enjoys taking time off from his CPA practice in California to go mountain climbing. He climbed in Nepal in 1983 and in Ecuador last December. Daughter Kimberly and son Tim are both in college, Kimberly at UC-Santa Barbara and Tim at UC-Davis.

65

JANICE MACDONALD DECILLIS recently moved to the Northern California town of Rocklin to take a position in management with a job training agency. She is looking forward to exploring the old Mother Lode country and is developing a new hobby, photography.

KATHRYN DEWAR KEEFE writes from Wilmette, IL: "My language skills from Willamette are helping daughter Heidi with her German and son Kurt with his Spanish. My 'non-working' status qualifies me for room mother, editor of the school newspaper, rummage sale chairperson, liturgy committee, and many other things I must learn to say 'no' to!" Kathryn and her husband, Andrew, a carpenter, have five children.

JOHN G. SCHWARTZ has been appointed a judge of the Superior Court of San Mateo County by California Governor George Deukmejian. John and his wife, Joanne, live in San Mateo. Their daughter, Allison, is a junior at the University of Texas.

DR. RON SLABAUGH returned to his home town of Forest Grove, OR last summer to conduct workshops in personal growth. After graduating from Willamette, Ron earned his doctorate in biochemistry from Michigan State University where he researched the molecular mechanisms that the body uses to make proteins. He did post-doctoral work in education, specifically medical education, and went on to teach in the medical schools at Michigan State University, University of Wisconsin, University of Arkansas, and University of Massachusetts. At those schools, he served on the faculties of departments of family practice, helping to develop training programs in the then-new specialty of family practice. In 1976, Dr. Slabaugh earned a master's degree in social work, specializing in family therapy. He left medical school teaching in 1982 to establish a private clinical practice in family therapy. He and his wife, Patricia, currently operate the Center for Family Growth in Worcester, MA, a private practice offering therapy and educational programs.

CHARLES P. STOCKWELL has been appointed eastern region OEM sales manager for Parker Hannifin Corporation's Fluid Connectors Group, Cleveland, OH. In his new position, Charles will be responsible for supervising connector account sales managers in the eastern United States. Charles and his family live in Hudson, OH.

DAVID W. TEMPLETON was sorry to miss the 20th class reunion, and invites anyone going through Richland, WA or the Tri-Cities area to give him a call. David, a nuclear engineer with the U.S. Department of Energy, and his wife, Valorie, have seven children.

SUSAN MEEKER WISSER, who teaches at the Oregon State School for the Deaf in Salem, had an exciting time during the last election. She was Marion County co-chair on the Re-elect Bob Packwood campaign — "a good one with which to begin," Susan notes.

66

MIKE LANDFAIR has joined the Portland offices of Dain Bosworth as a vice president and investment officer. Previously, Mike had been a vice president and partner with Boettcher and Co. for four years.

68

After 12 years in Yuba City, CA, CHRISTY ELMORE JEFFERSON and her husband, Dennis, are moving to Reno, NV where Dennis will manage the B. Dalton Bookstore. Christy, who had been executive director of the American Heart Association of Yuba, Sutter and Colusa counties, says she and her husband are excited about all the things to do in a city — "excluding the gambling!"

69

ALAN ELLIS teaches global studies, economics, and Russian at Wilson High School in Portland. His wife, PEGGY ROBSON ELLIS '72, is a reading specialist in a Vancouver, WA elementary school. The Ellises have two children — Jessica, 8, and Elaina, 5.

Pediatric nurse practitioner LINDA LAY RICE has accepted an appointment to the faculty of the pediatrics department at the University of Washington Medical School in Seattle where she will be a teaching associate this spring. Linda completed her master's degree in nursing last summer from the University of Washington; her thesis was on relationships between maternal and preschooler self-esteem. She is busy writing for publication, doing research, seeing children in the University's pediatric clinic, and teaching a parenting course called "toddler talk" in the evenings. Husband KENNETH '68 practices law in Everett, WA and does labor relations consulting. Son EVAN is a sophomore at Willamette "and loves it;" Clark, 15, is a sophomore in high school.

70

ANN SOUTHARD BEARD is currently on the state board for the Miss California/Miss America pageant and also is vice president of the board of directors of the San Diego Master Chorale, a 120-voice classical singing group. Ann and son Jeffrey, age 10, live in La Jolla, CA.

CELIA SMITH WALKER, a research administrator with Colorado State University in Fort Collins, recently was named to receive an Education Policy Fellowship. The award, one of nine in the state for 1986-87, is sponsored by the Institute for Educational Leadership in Washington, DC. Celia's husband, Ronald, is a professor at Colorado State. The Walkers have two daughters, Amanda and Emily.

71

JACQUELYN AGEE has been named publisher of the News-Times, the weekly newspaper in Forest Grove, OR. Jackie has worked in newspaper advertising sales for 12 years, most recently as advertising director for the News-Times' sister papers, the Beaverton Valley Times and the Tigard/Tualatin Times. She is active in business-community affairs, and served as public relations chairman for the Washington County (OR) Board of Realtors for two years. Jackie also has been a member of the Tigard Chamber of Commerce's marketing committee, the Beaverton Chamber of Commerce's ambassadors committee, and the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association's advertising committee.

JAMES W. KUBITZ, owner of Kubitz Construction in Anchorage, AK, was voted into the Anchorage Assembly last fall.

DAVE THOMAS, senior primate keeper at Washington Park Zoo in Portland, recently received the American Association of Zookeepers' highest award, a citation for excellence in his overall performance in zookeeping. Dave is a 13-year veteran at the zoo. His expertise was especially valued last summer when a pair of rare Chinese golden monkeys were exhibited at the zoo. Not only did Dave have to contend with record crowds at the exhibit, but his diplomatic skills also were tested by the Chinese zoological delegation which paid extremely close attention to Dave's and the monkeys' every move. Apparently Dave succeeded well in making the monkeys feel comfortable — the pair produced the first golden monkey baby ever born outside China.

THOMAS D. "Y.T." WILLIAMS is a partner in the commercial and real estate brokerage firm of Tinetti Williams in Merced, CA. Thomas writes that he enjoyed participating in the alumni football game last year and hopes to be back again this year.

72

After 12 years at Cedar Ridge School in Sandy, OR, BETH McCANDLESS BRIAN is now in her second year teaching math at Gresham High School. Husband William is a systems analyst for Pacific Power in Portland.

DAVID and CAROLINE LANGLAIS GREGER '74 are busy renovating their new home in Portland. David is a stockbroker with Paine Webber in Portland and is active on the board of the Community Music Center. Caroline takes care of their daughters, Elizabeth and Christine, and also finds time for church and volunteer work, including serving on the board of Parent Child Services, a Head Start program. During the summer of 1985, the whole Greger family traveled to France to visit former Willamette exchange student Patrick Martellet.

SALLY RICE SANDOZ and her husband, David, are living in West Richland, WA with their two children, Bryan, 6, and Julie, 3. David is a mechanical engineer for Rockwell Hanford; Sally takes care of their children and enjoys bicycling.

73

KATHRYN DOLEZAL COZZENS is an executive secretary with Fairchild Company. Previously she had taught for six years and also had been an executive secretary with Intel Corporation. Katy currently plays violin with the San Jose (CA) Symphony. She and her husband, a teacher, have a four-year-old daughter, Kimberly.

ROLF A. JUNGE is an M.B.A. candidate at California State University, Hayward. His special area of emphasis is personnel administration and industrial relations.

MARY ANNE ROYLE is currently working part-time as a librarian in the Northern Illinois University College of Law Library. She completed her master's degree in librarianship in 1978 at Emory University, and in recent years has published various articles and spoken before national law library organizations in the United States and Canada on the subject of microcomputer applications in law libraries. Mary Anne and her husband, Blair Kauffman, live with their three young children in DeKalb, IL. Blair is an assistant professor and law library director at Northern Illinois University College of Law.

74

DAVID C. COOK is now a senior associate with Kroll Associates in San Francisco. The firm, headquartered in New York, specializes in corporate intelligence work related to company takeovers, corporate and financial crimes, corporate security, and litigation support. Previously, David was a special agent with the FBI for eight years.

LINDA KING STUCKY, husband Kent, and their children, Michala and Jacob, will be living in Jerusalem for the next five years. There they will do relief and development work with the Mennonite Central Committee. Until the move, they had been living in Goshen, IN where Kent was vice president of stewardship services with Mennonite Mutual Aid.

75

CARL COTTINGHAM has been elected to a two-year term on the board of directors of Toastmasters International. Carl, who lives in Beaverton, OR, is regional marketing director for Keystone Massachusetts, a financial services company based in Boston. He has received the Toastmasters' highest member recognition, the Distinguished Toastmaster Award.

THE REV. LESLIE D. HALL moved last fall from Pittsburg, CA to Eugene, where she is now the campus minister and director of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Oregon.

76

THE REV. D. SCOTT ALLEN was ordained a United Methodist minister last summer in Salem. He is now with the First United Methodist Church in Riverside, CA.

The work of ERIC AMIS, professor of physical chemistry at University of Southern California, Los Angeles, was profiled last September in Chemical and Engineering News, the magazine of the American Chemical Society. Eric and a graduate student at USC built a multiple lump resonator, an instrument that improves chemists' ability to test new theories about polymers. Eric and his wife, MARILYN JOHNSTON AMIS '74, have a five-year-old daughter.

KATHRYN LANTZ EUSTROM has been appointed manager of single-family programs in the Housing Division of Oregon's Department of Commerce.

NANCY NEWELL is a traffic supervisor for Sunrise Shipping Agency in Portland. Her husband, TED MEECE '73 L'76, is a partner in Deich, Hinton & Meece. Nancy and Ted enjoy traveling and recently spent three weeks driving through the French countryside.

77

Before moving to Yardley, PA last year, KIM NEWMAN LANGENBORG taught Spanish at Miramonte High School in Orinda, CA. Kim had recently completed her master's degree in Hispanic studies. She and husband Ralph, a banker, welcomed their first child last July and are expecting their second this coming July.

SUSAN H. YOUNG received her master's degree in the handicapped learner/learning disabled program at Western Oregon State College last summer. Currently, Susan teaches in the Tillamook, OR school district.

78

CELESTE A. BEHNKE, a music therapist in Sacramento, CA, recently received ongoing funding to start a fine arts program for adults with developmental disabilities. Celeste also teaches several courses, in the use of music in child development and hospice care, at local colleges. She is active in community theatre and also enjoys bodybuilding, a sport in which she plans to compete in about two years.

DR. PAUL B. (BART) DUELL is now living in Seattle where he is a senior clinical and research fellow in the division of endocrinology, metabolism, and nutrition at the University of Washington's School of Medicine. Currently he is doing lipoprotein research in addition to his clinical duties. Dr. Duell completed his internal medicine internship at the University of Chicago in 1984 and his residency at the Oregon Health Sciences University in July 1986.

JON A. READ is living in Springfield and managing a restaurant in Eugene. He writes he's "looking forward to contacting old friends and to the 10-year reunion."

DR. CAROL SCHRINER is a second-year resident in pediatrics at Children's Hospital of Wisconsin in Milwaukee. She writes, "My free time (what little there is of it) is spent riding horses, doing photography, playing my piano, and enjoying Wisconsin, which is almost as beautiful as Oregon — but not quite!"

KATHLEEN FRANCES SEWRIGHT is pursuing her Ph.D. in musicology at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where she is a teaching assistant.

79

WALT CORAM is a senior field engineer with Eastman Christensen in Anchorage, AK, where he has been in the oil field service industry since 1981. Walt writes, "I'm alive and doing fine. Survived the corporate merger and my divorce. I continue to vote Republican and do my own cooking. Life has not been boring, the pace at times blistering. I have come to respect more 'The Fiddler on the Roof.'"

JOHN R. (BOB) DELLER has been named a principal and senior vice president of the San Francisco investment management firm of Steven A. Noroian & Associates, Inc. Bob manages large private and institutional investment portfolios and also conducts seminars as part of the firm's business development program.

LINDA M. GETCHELL is an associate consultant with Touche Ross & Co. in Seattle, currently on assignment in Portland. Linda received her MBA from the University of Southern California last spring.

JEFF SWANSON and wife Cindy moved from the San Francisco Bay Area to Tampa, FL last spring, where Jeff is now an account executive with Marketech Advertising and Design. Jeff writes, "Once we got used to the heat and humidity, we realized this is a fast-growing, vibrant area. The prospects for snow skiing don't look too good, though."

80

LYNN CARLSON, a marine affairs consultant with the Intergovernmental Policy Analysis Program at the University of Rhode Island, is currently writing on the management structure of Narragansett Bay. Lynn earned her master's degree in marine affairs in 1984.

MIKE and DORIS HUDSON GILSON are now living in Anchorage, AK where Mike is the campus life director for Youth for Christ. Doris gave birth to their first child, Matthew, last summer.

DIONNE C. HERSH, D.C., completed her post-graduate chiropractic training at Life College in Atlanta, GA. She is licensed to practice in Georgia, Arizona, and Washington. She works in the Yardley Chiropractic Clinic in Renton, WA and lives on Mercer Island.

JANICE BUSH HOGUE is currently a pharmacist with Portland Adventist Medical Center. She and her husband, Dewey, have a daughter, Beth, born last July.

After a year as a management intern with United Telephone of the Northwest, headquartered in Hood River,

OR, KELLY C. SMITH now is part of the public relations team, working as a community relations coordinator. In her leisure time, Kelly enjoys tennis, golf, bicycling, photography, and vacations on tropical islands.

JENNIFER SHLAUDEMANN VANORS-DALE and husband Richard moved from Campbell, CA to Maine last December where Richard is a mechanical engineer for Saco Defense, Inc. in Saco, ME. The VanOrsdales and son Andrew, who is a year and a half old, are expecting a second child this spring.

C. SUSAN WERNER is a nurse in the Adolescent Medicine Unit at Children's Hospital in Denver. She took her nursing degree from the University of Colorado Health Sciences Center last May.

LYNN KINNEY WHITEHEAD is in her fourth year of teaching in Corvallis, this year with a fifth-grade class. Husband DON '81 continues his civil engineering studies at Oregon State University.

81

ANNETTE BADER and her husband, James Jarvis, moved to Portland last summer where they are self-employed as counselors, workshop leaders, and nutrition consultants.

LORI BOSHEARS-MORAVEK and her husband, Raymond, moved to San Ramon, CA last summer and have been enjoying life in the San Francisco Bay Area. Lori is a sheet music buyer for Tupper and Reed Music in Berkeley, and Raymond is a civil engineer with Chevron.

DAVID B. STANDIFER graduated from the University of Puget Sound last May with his degree in physical therapy. He is currently in private practice in Tacoma, WA with Physical Therapy Specialties. He and his wife, Teresa, a nurse in the cardiac critical care unit at St. Joseph's Hospital in Tacoma, are expecting their first child this spring.

FELICIA UHLEN is in the accounting and purchasing department of Oregon State University's College of Veterinary Medicine. She writes, "Moved into a house — goodbye, apartment living! Would like to hear from any other Corvallis-area alums. I'm in the book."

JOHN H. FINGER, JR., now a captain with the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General's Corps, is a legal assistance worker and trial counsel with the U.S. Army in Augsburg, West Germany. He writes, "The beer, pretzels, and skiing are all terrific. How anyone can stand to drive just 55 m.p.h. on a freeway is beyond me."

82

DANIEL E. FINDLEY has been selected as one of the winners of the 1986 Outstanding Young Men of America Awards. The award singled him out for his leadership and service to the community. Now in his fourth year of teaching at West Sylvan Middle School in Portland, Daniel has organized an "adoption" program between youth at his school and a local senior citizen residential hotel; he also has spearheaded a number of food drives. Daniel is pursuing an MBA degree in his spare time.

MARK SIMMER is a reporter for KREM-TV in Spokane, WA and also is a half-time journalism instructor at Whitworth College.

83

THERESA CHURCH is the Lincoln County (OR) adaptive physical education specialist, in charge of physical education programs for all handicapped students in the district. Theresa received her master's degree in education from Oregon State University in 1984. She makes her home in Newport and invites any of her classmates to stop by on their next visit to the beach.

The Salem Convention and Visitors Association has named CHERYL YOUNG KILDAY as director of convention sales. Cheryl is responsible for promoting convention sales and for servicing booked conventions in Salem.

84

JAY B. V. BUTLER V is a third-year medical student at Tulane University Medical School in New Orleans. Jay spent his vacation last summer windsurfing in Hawaii.

ANDY LAUDENSLAGER has been promoted into the sales management training program at Farmers Insurance Group in Portland. He joined the company in 1985 as an auto claims adjuster.

MICHELLE MENDOZA is on the orthopedic physical therapy staff at Children's Hospital in San Francisco and also works with the Muscular Dystrophy Clinic. After her graduation from University of California, San Francisco in 1985, she received training at Tufts Medical Center, Boston, on researching the effects of an experimental drug on patients with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (Lou Gehrig's Disease).

DONAL M. WELCH is completing the thesis for his master's degree in speech and language pathology at University of California, Santa Barbara. Next fall he'll attend UCLA to pursue his Ph.D. in public health and hospital administration.

85

JAMES E. BURCHELL, a second lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps, has completed the ground supply officer's course at Camp Lejeune, NC, a 12-week course in technical and leadership skills. He studied manual supply accounting procedures and basic computer systems in order to facilitate the transition from manual to mechanized supply accounting.

MATTHEW COLBERN is in the advanced jet training program at the Naval Air Station in Kingsville, TX. His wife, ROSEMARY BARAINCA-COLBERN is budget director for the Kingsville Independent School District.

Law Notes

GEORGE RHOTEN '27 is making good recovery from a stroke and can move about with the help of a walker. He and his wife, RUTH ROSS RHOTEN '25, are at home in Salem and enjoy hearing from Willamette friends. The Rhotens have two children, DAVID A. '56 and E. Merle Reeves.

HERB SWIFT '29 is practicing real estate, corporate, and probate law in his Newberg office in partnership with his son, BOB '55. Herb moved to Newberg in 1930 to go into practice with CHARLIE SWAN '29 who at that time was Newberg's city attorney. Herb later succeeded Charlie in that post and served as city attorney for 30 years. Recalling the old days, Herb notes he used to charge $1.50 for conferences and sometimes received only prunes and walnuts as payment. And as for criminal cases, he says, "You took the job whether you wanted it or not. You just did it for fun. You put in more than you got out of it."

SAM B. HARBISON '39 has been named attorney for Jackson County Federal Savings and Loan Association in Ashland. Sam, former district attorney for Marion County, has practiced law in Medford since 1952, most recently with the firm of Harbison Kellington Krack and Richmond.

JUDGE OTTO SKOPIL '41 L'46, was honored as the 1986 Legal Citizen of the Year by the Oregon Law-Related Education Project. Judge Skopil was selected for his outstanding contributions to the legal system and to the state. He was admitted to the Oregon State Bar in 1946. After 26 years as a trial attorney in both criminal and civil cases, he became a U.S. District Court judge in 1972. In 1979, he was appointed to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

DONALD McEWEN '49 and his Portland law firm of McEwen, Gisvold, Rankin & Stewart have been inducted into The Oregonian newspaper's 100 Year Club. The firm, only the third law firm in Portland to qualify for the 100

Year Club, began as Cake & Cake. Donald joined the firm in 1955 and is now senior partner.

RICHARD J. BROWNSTEIN '53 has been elected president of the Housing Development Law Institute, a national resource center in Washington, DC that focuses on legal issues facing local housing and development agencies. Richard is co-founder and partner in the Portland law firm of Gilbertson, Brownstein, Sweeney, Rask, Kerr and Grim. As president of the Institute, Richard will spearhead future "friend of the court" appearances before the U.S. Supreme Court and will direct a number of programs in the field of public housing law.

J. DAVID KRYGER '65 has been elected president of the Oregon Trial Lawyers Association. David, a partner in the Albany firm of Emmons, Kyle, Kropp, Kryger and Alexander, has worked primarily in the fields of workers' compensation and personal injury. He is a past president of the Oregon Workers' Compensation Attorneys Association and of the Oregon State Bar workers' compensation section.

JOHN L. LAMP '68 has received the Alumni Achievement Award from Washington State University for "outstanding leadership in drug awareness and prevention and for distinction in the legal profession." John, who is U.S. attorney for the eastern district of Washington, lives in Spokane. He has served as chairman of the U.S. Attorney General's National Drug Abuse Awareness and Prevention Subcommittee, and also serves on the steering committee of the Washington State Substance Abuse Coalition and on the Washington State Organized Crime Advisory Board.

DAVID DANIELSON '70 and W. CRAIG SMITH '78 have formed a new law firm in Seattle, Danielson Harrigan Smith & Tollefson. David and Craig, who specialize in admiralty law, formerly were with Lane Powell Moss & Miller.

LARRY WATTERS '76 works mainly in civil litigation at present as an assistant attorney general for the State of Washington in Seattle. He also is counsel to the state's Horse Racing Commission. He and his wife, Jody, enjoy hiking, skiing, and travel, and recently visited the Soviet Union and Finland.

JOAN E. LONG '77 has been appointed director of admissions and financial aid at The Claremont Graduate School, Claremont, CA. Long, who now lives in Upland, CA, served as assistant to the dean of Willamette's College of Law from 1977 to 1980. She left Willamette to pursue doctoral studies at Ohio State University, where she also served as coordinator of judicial programs in the student affairs office. Most recently, she had been assistant dean and director of admissions at the University of Dayton (Ohio) School of Law.

JOHN B. WILSON, '73 L'77 was elected to the Marion County (OR) District Court bench in last fall's election. Shortly after the election, Gov. Atiyeh appointed John to fill out an unexpired term on that bench, a vacancy created by the resignation of the late District Judge Thomas Beck. Before that appointment, John had been chief circuit deputy with the Marion County district attorney's office. His judicial term runs through 1990.

EVAN BOONE '78 has been appointed editor of "Government Perspectives," a publication of the Oregon State Bar for members of the bar's government law section. Evan is with the Newport law firm of Minor, Yeck, Beeson and Boone. He is a past president of the Lincoln County Bar Association and an executive board member of the bar's government law section.

PETER A. BARNETT '79 is senior employee relations consultant for the UCLA Medical Center. Previously he had spent four years in labor relations for a public utility district in Washington State and two years in employee relations for a major hospital in Fresno, CA. Peter and his family live in Canoga Park, CA and "have yet to find Los Angeles as bad as most people would lead us to believe."

STEPHEN F. MANNENBACH M/L'80 has been appointed to fill a vacancy on the Oregon State Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee; his term will expire in June. The committee advises the Juvenile Services Commission on preparing and administering the state's comprehensive juvenile services plan. Stephen also is in private practice in Dallas, OR.

MICHAEL ROSS L'80 has recently moved his practice from Monmouth, OR to Dallas, OR where he handles personal injury, business law, and criminal and traffic offenses. He also has taught business law classes at Western Oregon State College and at Linfield College. He and his wife, Karen, have two children.

GREGORY J. ENGLUND '78 L'81 was recently named Exchangeite of the Year by the Exchange Club of Portland in recognition of his outstanding service to the club and the community. His award cited his work as president of the Exchange Club Child Abuse Prevention Center, a separate nonprofit corporation located in Emanuel Hospital in Portland. Gregory is a partner in the Portland law firm of Montgomery, LeChevallier & Englund, P.C. He and his wife, Maggie, have a daughter, Katherine, born in August 1986, and a son, John, who is two years old.

BRYAN GRUETTER L'85 has joined the firm of Carey and Joseph in La Grande, OR as an associate after completing a year of clerking and apprenticeship with the firm. The firm handles a variety of cases in general practice including collections, foreclosures, insurance defense, and criminal law.

GSM Notes

ROBERT P. KINGZETT M'77 has been appointed to a two-year term on the Oregon Advisory Council on Unemployment Compensation. Robert, who lives in Klamath Falls, is the director of Jeld-Wen, Wenco Foundation. His community activities include serving on the Oregon State Scholarship Commission and as president of the Klamath Arts Council.

CLIFFORD HOCKLEY M'81 has been promoted to manager at S. Bluestone Realty in Portland. He'll be involved with both the property management and sales divisions.

CARTER MACNICHOL M'81 has been named director of the Port of Portland's planning and development department. Carter, who joined the Port in 1985 as project development manager, now directs staff work in land planning and development and real estate marketing.

ROBERTA (BOBBI) CONNER M'84 has been named head of the Small Business Administration office in Sacramento, CA. Previously Bobbi had been with the United Indians Resource and Evaluation Center in Seattle.

Marriages

RICHARD H. SCOBBA '72 and Katherine Sturdyvin were married July 12, 1986. Richard is a high school biology teacher and head track coach. Katherine is the women's athletic coordinator at the University of Portland where she is also women's tennis coach.

KAREN ANDERSON '75 married R. Scott Rickerd on July 19, 1986. Karen is with First Interstate Bank in Riverside, CA, and Scott is a salesperson at L & S Rickerd Truck Sales in El Monte, CA. The couple live in Upland, CA.

WILLIAM A. CAMERON '76 married Linda L. Anderson on Nov. 15, 1986.

MICK LUCE '70 M'76 married Bettina Baer April 12. They live in Portland where Mick is manager of Leverage Leasing and Analysis for Pacific Corp.

ED LUTTRELL '74 M'77 married Shannon Williams in July and they are residing in Seattle.

SANDRA KAYE GILLMAN '78 and James M. Russell were married Sept. 13, 1986 in Longview, WA. The couple live in Amsterdam, The Netherlands, where James is a field service engineer with Boeing.

ROSS ROBERTS '80 and Jane Heisler were married Sept. 6, 1986 in Portland.

MICHAEL R. SANDOVAL L'80 and Mary Anne Basker were married Feb. 22, 1986 in Portland. The couple live in Lake Oswego, OR.

LAURIE ANNE BINGHAM L'81 and Scott G. Miller were married May 17, 1986 in Seattle. Laurie is with the law firm of Wurdemon and Tutesh in Edmonds, WA. Scott is a registered architect in his own design services business in Bellevue, WA.

DAVID GOMBERG M'81 and Susan Stoner were married Aug. 31 at Deepwood in Salem. Dave is a hearings officer for the Department of Motor Vehicles.

DONALD L. KRAHMER '81 and Suzanne Blanchard were married Aug. 16, 1986 in Portland. Don will complete work on his law and master of management degrees at Willamette this spring. He is in the office of the corporate counsel at U.S. Bancorp in Portland. Suzanne is a sales representative for Upjohn Corp. The couple live in Charbonneau.

LAURIE BAIRD M'82 and Kevin McElroy of Salem were married last summer. Laurie is an accounting and procedures analyst for SAIF Corporation.

ERIC L. HOHLT '82 and Brenda Ann Bonk were married June 28, 1986 in Portland. The couple live in Waipio, HI where Eric is with Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. and Brenda is a dental assistant.

MARTIN RALL L'82 and Susan Gregg were married Sept. 27, 1986.

SYDNEY FOSTER '83 and JEFFREY M. HIGGINS '82 were married Nov. 29, 1986.

WAYNE LARSEN '73 M'83 was married last summer. He and wife Susan are living in Hazard, KY.

SHELLY WINN '83 and Lori Reeder were married in Milton-Freewater, OR on Aug. 16, 1986. Shelly is doing graduate work in biomedical engineering at Brown University. The couple are living in Providence, RI.

EDMUND H. BERGER L'84 married Patricia Eagle Dec. 12, 1986.

DIANE RAY '84 and Robert Dunas were married Aug. 16, 1986 in Roseburg, OR. The couple are living in Brooklyn, NY where Diane is a teacher and Robert is a crisis interventionist and freelance writer.

MARIE GREEN '85 and Martin L. Brand were married Sept. 20, 1986 in Salem. The couple are living in Salem where Marie is with Capitol Health Care and Martin is a manager for VIPS/La Casa, Inc.

KRIS HUBBELL '86 and EVERETT FRUEHLING '84 were married Feb. 22, 1986 in Salem. They are living in Chiba, Japan, where both teach English to children and adults at Tesco English School.

KATHLEEN K. RICE '86 and Lance W. Beaty were married August 17, 1986 in Portland. They are living in Salem. Lance is a student at Willamette, and Kathleen is an elementary school music teacher.

THOMAS BOLINE '81 M'83 and Linda Cloepfil were married Sept. 6, 1986 in McMinnville, OR. The couple are living in Sherwood, OR. Linda is with Cloepfil Stables, and Thomas is a sales representative for Harris/Lanier.

Births

A daughter, Laura Elizabeth, born Oct. 16, 1986 to Sharon and HENRY HEWITT L'69. Laura joins brother Adam, 3.

A daughter, Elizabeth Hale, born Apr. 18, 1986 to LYNN SHEEHY SETTLE '73 and her husband. Elizabeth joins brother Mike and sisters Erin, Jennifer, and Meredith.

WANDA MURAYAMA NAGAO '74 and husband Jim announce the birth of their second child, a daughter, Jamie Vi Yuki Nagao, born June 21, 1986. Jamie's brother, Jared, is two. Jim practices dentistry in Wailuku, on Maui where the couple have lived for two years.

BOB '75 and LYNNE HARRIS HUNTER '76 announce the birth of a son, Spencer, on July 20, 1986. Bob is city editor of the Mail Tribune in Medford.

KATHLEEN SUTHERLAND HATCHER '77 and husband John welcomed their first child, Allison Marie, on Sept. 10, 1986 in Spokane.

A daughter, Jennifer Elizabeth, was born March 9, 1986 in Seoul, Korea, to KATHRYN YOCOM MATSON '77 and GARY MATSON '78. The Matsons spent two years in Seoul before moving to Hong Kong last August, where Gary works in the international banking division of Midland Bank.

MONROE GILMOUR M'77 and his wife Fern welcomed son David Martin in September.

Clem and DORIS BOYSEN SPENNER '77 announce the birth of their son, Kent Frank, in Salem on March 19, 1986.

CAROL FARNHAM OSTERLOH '78 and husband David announce the birth of their third daughter, Megan, on Feb. 4, 1986 in La Mesa, CA. Megan's sisters are Kristin, 4, and Kimberly, 3.

MINDY GRAY FEELY '74 M'79 and TOM FEELY '74 M'79 welcomed a son, Bryan James, born last March.

JOHN MCCORMICK L/M'80 and his wife Nancy had twin boys, born in October.

A daughter, Bonnie Jean, was born to DARYL and JULIE WYCOFF MONK '80 on July 6, 1986.

CLIFF HOCKLEY M'81 and his wife Julie have a new daughter, Ellen Rachel, born August 20.

JERRY DYKES '81 M'82 and wife Tina welcome a son, Justin, born in January.

DENISE KLEIM M'82 and husband Christopher Corich have a new daughter.

KATHRYN MORK STROBEL '82 and husband JEFF "PETE" STROBEL '80 welcomed their second child, Brent Daniel Eric, on Dec. 21, 1986. The Strobels and their 18-month-old daughter, Rebekah Claire, live in Florence, OR.

MARK URSIN M'85 and his wife Beth welcomed daughter Kristina Marie, born July 21.

SCOTT BASSETT M'86 and wife Janet welcomed twin sons, Steve and Keith, born Oct. 7.

Memoriam

LOLA COOLEY METCALF '18 died Aug. 2, 1986 in Alhambra, CA after a long illness. She was active in the P.E.O. Sisterhood, serving as president of the Los Angeles Reciprocity Bureau and on the board of trustees of the California Home.

C. HAROLD NICHOLS '19 died Aug. 27, 1986 in Forest Grove, OR.

MARY E. NOTSON SACKETT '21 of Salem died Dec. 1, 1986. In 1921, she was Willamette's May Queen.

S. MARIE CORNER '22 died Aug. 3, 1986 in Des Moines, WA. Before her retirement, she had been a missionary in India for 32 years.

VIRGINIA MARGUERITE MASON '22 died July 22, 1986 in Salem. She was a high school teacher in Mill City, Woodburn, and Tillamook; she also was library supervisor for the Albany School District, retiring in 1962. She was a member of the Jefferson United Methodist Church and the Order of the Eastern Star.

GENEVIEVE FINDLEY OLIVER '23 of Mercer Island, WA died Nov. 4, 1986. She was a church organist. Survivors include her daughter MURIEL OLIVER WINTERSCHIED '48, and a sister, EDITH FINDLEY BRYDON '32.

MABEL DAVIES LABARE '24 of Hubbard, OR died Nov. 30, 1986. She had been a teacher of English, Latin and Spanish.

WILLIAM EARL SHAFER '24 of North Hollywood, CA died Aug. 31, 1986.

CARMELITA BARQUIST '25 M.A. '41 died Sept. 24, 1986 in Chico, CA where she had moved three years earlier. Carmelita taught English, biology, and science in the Salem School District for many years. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Salem and a founding member of the Delta Kappa Gamma chapter, also in Salem.

NEVA COOLEY MUNDINGER '25 died Dec. 12, 1985 in Alhambra, CA. She had been a teacher in the Salem School District and was one of the founding members of the Salem chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa. Her survivors include her daughter, LOANNE MUNDINGER JOHNSON '58.

CLASS NOTES

ELMER C. HANSEN '26 died July 12, 1986. He was retired assistant postmaster of the LaGrande, OR post office. He was active in the Masons, Scottish Rite, Elks, and Eagles, and he had been chairman of Willamette's 50-year class reunion in 1976. Survivors include his granddaughter WENDY WRIGHT '86.

DR. JOEL V. BERREMAN '27 died Sept. 19, 1986 in Medford, OR. He is survived by his wife, SEVILLA RICKS BERREMAN '28. Joel was student body president his senior year at Willamette. He earned his master's degree from University of Oregon and his doctorate in sociology from Stanford University. In the early 1930s he did archaeological research on early Indian residents of the southern Oregon coast. During World War II he worked for the Office of War Information in the United States and China. From 1946 to 1968, as a professor of sociology at University of Oregon, Joel's special interests were in race relations and social psychology. After his retirement in 1968, he and his wife moved to Brookings.

LETHA F. LANDIS MOORLAND '27 died Oct. 28, 1986 in Portland. She spent her career as a teacher in the Klamath County School District. Survivors include her son DAVID LANDIS '59 of Portland.

EUGENE H. SILKE '30 of Woodburn, OR died in Salem on Nov. 2, 1986. A former Reynolds School District superintendent, he had worked as a teacher, coach, and administrator in various Oregon school districts. In 1940 he was hired as superintendent of the Springfield School District where he served until 1955. In 1955 he became superintendent of the Multnomah County School District. He left the district in 1961 to go into construction, managing the development of the Valley River Center in the Eugene-Springfield area. He was a charter member of the Springfield Rotary Club, a 50-year member of the Masons, active in Boy Scouts in the Springfield area, and was an Oregon representative to several regional and national committees on school issues. Survivors include his wife, DORIS PHENICIE SILKE '29, his brother PAUL SILKE '38, and his son EUGENE SILKE, JR. '54.

WILLIAM M. McALLISTER L'28, who served 20 years on the Oregon Supreme Court including seven years as chief justice, died Oct. 13, 1986 at the age of 80.

McAllister was appointed to the state's highest court in August 1956 and retired in December 1976 for health reasons. He served as chief justice from 1959 to 1966.

As head of the seven-member court he was credited with developing modern administrative court procedures to handle a congested court docket and with encouraging more efficient administration of the state's trial courts.

McAllister served on several boards of directors for private companies and was a member of the Oregon State Bar Board of Governors from 1948-51 and the state Board of Bar Examiners from 1954-56.

While on the Supreme Court, McAllister was chairman of the National Conference of Chief Justices in 1964 and 1965. In 1973 he was elected to the board of governors for the American Bar Association.

In 1976 he was the first recipient of Willamette's Distinguished Law Alumni Award.

He is survived by his wife, JEAN MIDDLETON McALLISTER '31, of Salem; a daughter, Kathryn Miller, of Portola Valley, CA; and a son, BILL L'62, of Portland.

JUDGE EDWARD O. STADTER L'30 died July 18, 1986 in Salem. He was a judge in western Oregon for nearly 25 years. He was appointed Marion County district judge in 1955 after having served as Marion County district attorney from 1948 to 1952. He was elected district judge in 1956 and re-elected in 1962 and 1968. After retiring from the bench in 1974, he served as a senior judge in 10 western Oregon counties. Judge Stadter had been a trustee of the First Presbyterian Church of Salem, a director of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, treasurer of the Marion County Health Association, and co-chairman of the Community Chest drive. He served on various Oregon State Bar committees and was president of the Marion County Bar Association and of the Oregon District Judges Association. His wife, DOROTHY ALEXANDER STADTER '36, survives him.

DR. JOHN S. GILHOUSEN '31 died July 21, 1986 in The Dalles. He was 75. Dr. Gilhouseen opened his medical practice in The Dalles in 1941 and retired in 1984. He was a member of the Evangelical Church, The Dalles Lions Club, and past president of the Community Concert Association. He had served 10 years on the District 12 school board in the 1950s and 1960s. He is survived by his wife, Inez, three children, and three grandchildren.

BEULAH J. GRAHAM '32 died Oct. 16, 1986 in Salem. She had taught for 25 years at the Chemawa Indian School and earlier had taught in Burns and at Silverton Union High School. She was a member of the Jason Lee United Methodist Church in Salem and had been a director of the Salem Civic Players and the Chemawa Players Club.

WALTER I. VINSON L'32 of San Diego, CA died April 16, 1986.

RAYMOND GRIFFITH '35 died Nov. 6, 1986.

LUMAN NEY '35 died Jan. 11, 1986. Among his survivors is his sister, HELEN NEY STANCLIFT '32.

HOWARD F. (FRANK) PEMBERTON '37 died Sept. 24, 1986 in Seattle. He served as an officer in the U.S. Navy during World War II and retired from the federal Civil Service in 1974. Among his survivors are his wife, DOROTHY ELLINGER PEMBERTON '38 of Seattle; his son, PETER PEMBERTON '68 of Ellensburg, WA; his brothers, DR. PAUL PEMBERTON '25 of West Linn, OR and DR. EARL PEMBERTON '29 of Lake Elsinore, CA; and his sisters, LAURA CORNER '26 of Des Moines, WA, HELEN PRICE '31 of Newport, OR, and MARGARET FISHER '44 of Grant Park, IL.

ALBERT H. CURREY '42 of Eugene died June 5, 1985.

JAMES DAVIDSON BURGESS '47 died Sept. 25, 1986 in Toledo, OR. He was owner of James Burgess Insurance for 35 years, retiring in 1984. He was a member of St. John Episcopal Church and the Masons, and was an Air Force veteran.

LYMAN F. SMART '47 died in Utah. GEORGE B. SANDERS '48 died in Salem Nov. 3, 1986. He served in the U.S. Army in World War II, and retired in 1981 from his position as a grievance coordinator for the state. He was a member of the Salem Elks Lodge.

DONALD R. MCMASTER '50 died July 6, 1986 in Pasco, WA.

ARTHUR A. BEDDOE '51 died June 11, 1986. Among his survivors is his wife, DOREEN LYON BEDDOE '52.

KENNETH JOHN BROWN '60 died Nov. 10, 1986 in Oregon City, OR. He was 85. Kenneth farmed in Canada for 10 years and worked for McKesson Drug Wholesale Co. for 20 years. After graduating from Willamette, Kenneth taught at Sutherlin High School and also was a social worker.

NANCY DETERING WAECHTER '68 died October 31, 1986 in Lexington, KY.

DWAYNE S. LONG '77 died May 6, 1985 in California.

To the Editor

It was with deep sadness that I read of Dr. Noel Kaestner's passing. He was a man of great integrity, wisdom, and kindness. He introduced me to my life's work and was, quite simply, the best teacher I ever met. I will never forget him.

Jeffrey L. Hicks, Ph.D. '67
Psychologist
Eugene, OR

Sen. L. B. Day

Oregon State SEN. L. B. DAY '58 died Oct. 24, 1986. He was 54.

Sen. Day left his mark in state government in a political career spanning 23 years.

"I have never seen anyone so enthusiastic about public service and so devoted for the good of the state and so aggressive for the things that he thinks are the right things to do," former Gov. Vic Atiyeh said of Day.

Day was elected to the house from south Salem's District 31 in 1964. He was re-elected in 1966 and 1968. In 1977 he was appointed to the Oregon senate to fill the term of Supreme Court Justice Wallace Carson. He was elected to the senate District 16 seat in 1978 and re-elected in 1982.

At the time of his death, Day was being challenged for re-election by state Rep. Jim Hill, D-Salem.

Day entered politics as a Democrat and changed parties in the early 1960s. After he left the Oregon House in 1971, the late Gov. Tom McCall appointed him the first director of the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality. After two years in that post, he was appointed the first chairman of the state Land Conservation and Development Commission.

Day had been employed as secretary-treasurer of Teamster Local 670 since 1958. He was former regional director of the U.S. Department of Interior.

U.S. Interior Secretary Donald Hodel, who was in Salem campaigning for Day just before he died, described the senator as a forceful leader.

"I respected him for his integrity and forthrightness," he said.

A native of Omaha, NE, Day attended the University of Nebraska before graduating from Willamette. He also attended the College of Law at Willamette. In 1975, the University awarded him an honorary degree. He served four years in the U.S. Navy.

He is survived by his wife, Cindy, and son, FRANK '85.

Margaret K. Earnhart: A friend of Willamette

Margaret Klund Earnhart, a generous friend of Willamette and its students, died July 27, 1986 in Hermiston, OR.

Mrs. Earnhart's strong ties to the United Methodist Church prompted her to include Willamette in her will some years ago, according to Dr. Harry Manley, director of planned giving. Later, with the encouragement of her husband, Richard, Mrs.

Earnhart also endowed a scholarship fund for undergraduate students.

"At the time Margaret Earnhart made these arrangements, she had never even visited the campus," recalls Dr. Manley. "But she strongly believed that an endowed scholarship fund was the most meaningful way to support Willamette."

Beware the Bearcat

The Bearcat is a fighting beast who puts his foes to utter rout.
He roams the land from west
to east, ferocious and cunning; in every bout,
the Bearcat sure will get you if you don't watch out.

Excerpt from a poem
by Read Bain

The original Willamette Bearcat, and Barney Bearcat today.

Willamette University, the oldest college in the West, can also lay claim to one of the oldest and most original nicknames: "The Bearcats."

Willamette athletic teams have been known as the Bearcats for more than seven decades. First reference to the fictitious animal was in the Nov. 17, 1915, issue of the Willamette Collegian. In a story about a football pep rally the week earlier, then-president Dr. Carl Gregg Doney referred to coach R. L. Matthews' gridders as "bearcats," possessing the tenacious fight of a bear and the agility and cunning of a cat.

J. READ BAIN, an enthusiastic basketball manager eager to promote Willamette athletics, picked up on the term and declared at a rally, "this noble animal will henceforth be the mascot of Willamette."

For 37 years, the Bearcat was a ferocious, shaggy beast with threatening claws. But in 1952 it was transformed into the milder, present-day Bearcat by alumna Nancy Stuart, publicity director at the time. It now appears with its familiar sweater and scowl and bears the name "Barney."

Although Willamette's Bearcat turns 71 this November, it is not the original Bearcat. The University of Cincinnati's Bearcat, adopted in 1914, predates Willamette's by one year.

Since 1915, six other colleges have assumed the nickname Bearcats: Northwestern Missouri State; St. Vincent College; Brescia College; Southwestern Baptist; Sam Houston State College; and McKendree State College.

MICHAEL LARSON

Each Bearcat mascot defends its school (from top): Brescia College, Southwestern Baptist University, St. Vincent College and McKendree State College.

Entrepreneur conference set April 4

Successful entrepreneurs in services, high tech, and Oregon's traditional industries will share their expertise with hundreds of would-be competitors at the Conference on Entrepreneurship to be held April 4 on the Willamette University campus.

Keynote speakers are Milton G. Koults II, president of Horizon Air; Virginia Anderson, an executive with a leading Northwest urban development firm; and K. Eric Drexler, a nanotechnologist from M.I.T. and Stanford.

Oregon Gov. Neil Goldschmidt will open the all-day conference, which is sponsored by Willamette's Geo. H. Atkinson Graduate School of Management. The governor will speak on the role of entrepreneurs in the "Oregon Comeback."

More than two dozen workshops during the day focus on a kaleidoscope of business issues and opportunities — including how to carve out profitable new niches in Oregon's most traditional industries, and emerging opportunities in international trade, franchising, and tourism.

Workshop speakers include Bruce Engel of Portland and Greg Keylock of North Bend, OR who have founded successful new businesses in the forest products industry; Ron Gowan of Corvallis and Ken Ferjancic of Port Orchard, WA whose aquaculture companies are flourishing; and Jim Rear of Eugene and Robert Mueller of Umatilla, OR who are farming new frontiers.

Spring Calendar

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|--|
| April 1 | Claude Helffer, renowned European pianist in concert. 8 p.m. Smith Auditorium |
| April 2 | Ellen Goodman, Pulitzer Prize winning columnist and author. (Sponsored by the Atkinson Lecture Series) 8 p.m. Smith Auditorium |
| April 4 | Fourth annual Conference on Entrepreneurship. Registration 7:30-8:30 a.m. Putnam University Center |
| April 5 | Willamette Woodwind Quintet, featuring pianist Jean-David Coen and the works of Martinu, Rosetti, and Francaix. 8 p.m. Hatfield Room, Mark O. Hatfield Library |
| April 6-
May 17 | Senior art exhibition — Hallie Brown Ford Gallery, Art Building. Reception: April 14, 7-9 p.m. |
| April 12 | Willamette-Community Orchestra concert, featuring pianist Anita King and works of Mozart, Elgar, and Cherubini. 8 p.m. Smith Auditorium |
| April 14 | Friends of the Library annual banquet, with guest speaker Joe Dunlop, British actor and writer. 6 p.m. Putnam University Center |
| April 24,
25, 26*, 30,
May 1, 2 | Willamette Theatre — "Skin of Our Teeth" by Thornton Wilder. 8 p.m. (*matinee, 2 p.m.)
Willamette University Theatre |
| April 25 | International Extravaganza — international fair and bazaar featuring Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band. Noon-5 p.m. Jackson Plaza; dance 9 p.m. Jackson Plaza |
| April 26 | Willamette Band and Choir Spring Concert. 3 p.m. Smith Auditorium |
| April 29,
May 1, 3 | Opera Theatre — "La Serva Padrona". 8 p.m. Smith Auditorium |
| May 16 | Alumni Day |
| May 17 | Baccalaureate and Commencement |

Highly practical matters, such as finding the right financing and choosing the right product distribution channels, are also featured topics.

Registration for the conference is $60, which includes lunch, workshop materials, and a wine and cheese reception. Student registration is $25 with a valid current student ID card. For more information, and for registration materials, call (503) 370-6724.

There's more to Willamette University than meets the eye . . .

At Willamette University, we are fortunate to have a beautiful campus. But we know that it is the learning that takes place within that makes a university great. At Willamette, we're proud of our strong commitment to the liberal arts as the basis for lifelong learning.

There's much more to Willamette than meets the eye. But we need your help to keep Willamette a great university. Please send your check today — for as much as you can.

Willamette University
Annual Funds
900 State Street
Salem, Oregon
97301
(503) 370-6340

WILLAMETTE
SCENE

PUBLISHED FOR ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF THE WEST'S OLDEST UNIVERSITY

ADDRESS CORRECTION REQUESTED