Earle Potter, after some years in the L.A. area doing light opera, concert work and teaching, is happy to be back in Salem where he and his family enjoy a more stable life. His work here is accounting and tax consultant. He remarked that all this "bowing down to the I.R.S." has been instrumental to thinning out his hair! Wife Betty is a very helpful office assistant. Son David is currently managing Custom Cabinetry Shop in Bend and daughter Joyce Diane is in college in Alaska and works part time in the State Archives. Earle still is active in singing professionally in churches and mortuaries. Hopefully, in a couple of years he shall retire.

Ruth Johnson Wryn has been Librarian at Wailuku, Maui since 1964. After graduation, she attended U.S.C. getting a degree in Library Science. She then worked a few years, married and has two children. Maren lives in Honolulu and son Yorka in Linda, CA. Her home is in Paia and it takes less than five minutes to go to the beach. Ruth welcomes old friends and says her home accommodates two extra people!

Del Ramsdell has taught in Salem since 1942, first working in speech and radio broadcasting department. The past 25 years he's been in school administration and is now assistant principal at North Salem High School where he is in charge of supervising and placing student teachers from W.U. He's also on the advisory committee for the School of Education. His wife Doni teaches at McKinley. They have three children and four grandchildren. Daughter Valerie Capps is a teacher and housewife. Del, Jr. is associated with Spencer Etzel Corp. (put on conventions at fairs) in Salem and Charles is in the insurance business in St. Helens. Retirement is a couple of years hence. Del isn't rushing retirement for he's more than enjoying his work.

Jeryme Upston English announced her retirement as Women's Editor of the Oregon Statesman after 41 years on the staff this past September. During that period her files listed more than 25,000 weddings she'd written up. Everyone associated with Jeryme during those many years had only praise to contribute to her work and their association with her. As the editor said, "She had a phenomenal memory and ability to transmit her enthusiasm and interest to others in print. This formula produced a society editor par excellence. The paper was very lucky to have Jeryme all these years." (And as one who has read the paper all these years, I readily agree.) They also complimented her husband, Wheeler, who has had both patience and understanding of the demands of her job, for this contributed greatly to fulfilling it. Salem shall indeed miss her writings. She is now enjoying doing many things and there wasn't time for as a working person—friends, entertaining and volunteer civic activity add up to days with not enough hours. Later this fall she plans an active volunteer part in the Hatfield campaign and next summer a trip to Great Britain.

Ken Manning retired this past June from Blue Cross Insurance Co. He is enjoying golf and his wife Esther Gibbord is still a part-time worker for the City of Portland.

Louis B. Hershberger retired in January after 40 interesting years with the Guy F. Atkinson Company. He and his wife, Nancy, have two married children and four grandsons, and recently moved to Ashland, Oregon. Their son, John, is a Navy jet pilot presently stationed at Lemoore, CA. Daughter Patty, whose husband Harvey Gagnon is with Ford Tractor Division, is moving from Ankara, Turkey to Nairobi, Kenya on a new assignment.

1939

Margaret Tayler Anderson is the director of Rockland County Guidance Center for Women in Nyack, NY. The center helps women prepare long-term goals and helps them to define themselves as individuals.

The Tax Reform Act of 1976 was signed into law on October 4, 1976. This massive piece of legislation made sweeping changes in gift and estate tax laws. Estate taxes will now be decreased or eliminated for most people.

Willamette University has materials prepared to serve several purposes. We hope:

- to increase your awareness to the importance of tax planning by pointing out the basic techniques available for minimizing tax liabilities.
- to explain major changes made by the Tax Reform Act of 1976—with emphasis on how a particular change might affect you.
- to make you aware of the important role taxes can play in planning a gift or bequest to Willamette.

Please send me materials related to the Tax Reform Act and Wills.

We have heard from former student Carolyn Berg who is now residing in Seattle and is a social worker and program director for Echo Glen Children's Center.

James Miyashiro is a pharmacist at Tripler Hospital in Honolulu where he lives with his wife Susan.

Remember, think of that potential Willamette student and talk about your alma mater.

Didn't receive very many cards this time so . . . hope to hear from more of you next Scene.

John Henriksen is an attorney with the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation in Washington, D.C. He and his wife are living in Alexandria, VA.

Mike Landfair and wife, Daryl Daigle '67 reside in Portland where Mike is a registered representative for Foster and Marshall. The Landfairs have two daughters, Gilyn (6) and Erica (2).

Bonnie Ritchie Broyles wrote a very interesting letter about living in the Philippines. Her husband, Bill, is Vice President Credit Administrator for the Asia division of Bank of America in Manila. Their daughter, Karyn (6), attends the International School and is on the swim team. Their son, Steven, is four. The Broyles were caught in a typhoon at the beach for 10 hours and it was a very frightening experience . . . Bonnie says driving in Manila is "like a continual game of bumper cars. The lanes are marked but no one observes them. Rush hour in L.A. can't even compare." The Broyles welcome any Willamette visitors anytime.

That is all the news I have received. Rona Rumour has more news about classmates. Don't know how accurate but if your job has changed, write and let me know.

Katy White Bowman is alive and well, living now in Portland, looking for a job . . . and going to garage sales.

John Lorraine is Supervisor of Office Support Services for General Electric in San Jose. He and his wife, Patty, have two sons—Richard (5) and David (6).

Bob Burles owns and operates the Northwest Physical Therapy Clinic in Portland. He and his wife have three children.

Mary Lew Thede Finke teaches first grade and is working on a master's degree as a reading specialist. Her husband, Pete Finke '64, is Branch Manager for Seattle First National Bank.

Marilyn Brandt is employed by the Pacific Northwest Bell Company and is in charge of the group that conducts market and opinion research. "So if you ever receive a call or questionnaire from PNB, please answer." Marilyn is living in Seattle where she bought a house and is busy with remodeling and landscaping.

Jeff Lamoree resides in Eureka, CA where he works for Pfizer Laboratories, Pharmaceutical Sales. His business territory covers the North Coast Counties of Del Norte, Humboldt, Lake and Mendocino. Jeff also retired from the Army Reserves as a Chief Warrant Officer. He and his wife, Sharon, have two sons, Patrick (7) and Aaron (2).

George Cornwall is Director of Management Audit for OMARK Industries, Inc. This means worldwide travel which he enjoys. George, his wife Vicki, and two daughters live in Beaverton, OR.

Hope to hear from more of you next time. The following are classmates we do have addresses for but would like to know what they are doing: Nikolaus Albrecht, Bill Allen, Judith Allen, Bruce and Eileen (Doern) Anderson, Charles P. Anderson and Lane Burton Anderson. Hope they will respond or if any of you know what they are doing drop me a line. Keep the letters coming.

The class reunion held in May was a tremendous success. Many classmates started the day down in Salem viewing the changes on campus and reminiscing about the "good ole days."

The reunion dinner was held in Portland at the University Club. After much socializing and dinner, we gathered around the piano and sang our Glee songs. Accompanying us on the piano was a "New Yorker" by the name of Dave Welch.

Classmates arrived from all around the country. Dick Ludders won the award for traveling the greatest distance (Connecticut), but others came from Minnesota, California, Washington, Idaho and all over Oregon. It is easy to recognize most of our friends since they had changed so little, but there were a few. Jeff Aronson in his Fu-Manchu and shoulder-length hair won the award for having changed the most.

At present I'm putting together a reunion booklet and will be including reunion information and classnotes that have been forwarded to me via the Alum office. A reunion picture will also be included in the booklet and if plans go on schedule, you should be receiving all the news by Christmas or the first of the year.

I'm beginning to think the Scene is a better place to stay in touch with classmates than my annual Christmas cards. More of you are sending in information; keep up the good work!

Relan and Carol Blucher '71 Colley are living in Morgantown, West Virginia where he is in his first year of law school at West Virginia University. Carol is seeking employment in social work.

Terry Collins is a management trainee with Brooks, Scanlon in Bend.

Dave Conlin is a psychiatric social worker in Vancouver, B.C.

Joyce Yorozu Larson and her husband are living and going to school in Osaka, Japan. They have been there since December, 1975 and plan to return to the States via Europe by summer of '78.

Denzil Scheller owns "Shellers Painting" in Hillsboro. Now, Denzil, I'm dying of curiosity: what is it that you paint? Houses, canvas, bodies . . . let us know in a future issue, okay?

Not much mail this time, so I'll just wing it.

Turned on the tube yesterday and, what do ya know, there's Lynn Delaney dressed like a VIP singing away for Pacific Bank.

I know she's in the wrong year but if I don't say something, I'll never hear the end of it. KIRO-TV did a long-running special on "The Battered Woman" and chose to interview on TV from Harborview Medical Center's emergency room, of all people, Jenny Rough, who is a nurse, not a patient.

Nancy Wolff, who's teaching at South Salem, married ex-Willamette professor Dave Booth on October 22, so get out your yearbook and look him up. And congrats.

Anybody from Denver out there? Try and get John Wyatt to invite you over for dinner. He's working as sous-chef at a gourmet restaurant, "The Other Place." (There's one in Seattle, too; it really is fancy.) John is also playing (music, that is) in local clubs.

Carol Blucher Colley (married to Relan '70) writes from Morgantown, West Virginia that Relan attends law school there and she is employed at a local community mental health center. Their 2-year-old son Sky is going to be a brother in April. Relan plans to take the Oregon Bar when they return in three years.

Nancy Taylor Barker and George '70 and Edward, I, their son, are in Phoenix where George is an OB doctor.

Happy to have Susie Doughten back in Seattle. She got sick of commuting from Portland to Longview, and is substitute teaching while she job-hunts. She got another part-time job before, but I guess people just aren't buying vacuum cleaners these days. Lucky me, I got a demonstration before she quit!

Delwin R. Franz is teaching at North Salem High School.

Mary Lee McWain resides in Portland, OR where she is teaching at Infant Hearing Resource.

Susan Garrison Reuter is living in Salem where she is an Administrative Assistant for the City of Salem.

H. Norman Rokeberg is lease manager for the company of Jack White in Anchorage, AK.

Christopher Savereid is a design consultant for Bolt, Beranek & Newman in Cambridge, MA and is living in Boston.

Editor's Note: Much to the chagrin of the Scene staff (and I'm sure the class of '71), NewsCat Linda has requested a leave of absence. "It wouldn't be a bad idea to pass the job around," she says, "since everybody has a different group of friends." What say '71ers? Any takers? Becky Hughes is now in her second year as a teacher of English as a Second Language for the Multnomah County Intermediate Education District. She earned her M.A. from Northwestern University.

Also teaching in the Portland area is Linda Schneider, who works for the Portland Public Schools.

Richard Whitlock notes with two exclamation points that he passed his bar exam and was sworn in Sept. 26. He is currently working as an associate with the law firm of Beddoe and Hamilton in Klamath Falls.

Pam Thompson holds the position of school librarian at Annunciation School in Stockton, CA.

Steve and Debbie Hewitt Wynne have made Lake Oswego their home. Steve is working as an attorney with the firm of Black, Helterline, Beck in Portland.

Ken Jorgensen is employed as a technical representative by National CSS, Inc. in San Francisco.

Since her marriage Aug. 20, 1977 to Robert N. Suzuki, Carol Danielson Suzuki has made her home in Hilo, HI.

Robert Cohns is following a business career with Dayco Northwest in Portland.

Combining business with poetry, Andy Tillman has been raising llamas in northeastern Oregon and recently published his first book, Mountain Poems. His herd of 22 llamas is the fifth largest in the nation and still growing as he buys and sells the woolly beasts around the nation. The llamas provide him with a steady income yet leave him plenty of time for his writing.

Chris Goosman wrote to me from Japan, where she works for ICC, Willamette's sister school. Chris is a publicity consultant, Willamette program advisor, and part-time lecturer for ICC. She also teaches English full-time at a business school, where the students all bow to her. Chris' spare-time (?) activities include freelance writing, modeling, television commercials, photography, research, and travel throughout Asia.

Mary Elizabeth Schuler is a social worker for the Oregon Welfare Department, and is residing in Portland.

David Riley is another of the '75 grads in far away places. David is an English teacher for the Peace Corps in Morocco, North Africa.

Jim Scheelar works as a route salesman for Pepsi in Salem.

Patty Campbell is a management trainee for Nevada National Bank in Reno. She is engaged to Gerry Montmorency.

Steve Swart is a veterinary student at Iowa State University. Steve lives in Ames, Iowa with his wife, Kathleen, a '75 graduate of Oregon State.

Ron and Kathy Gorman Morris continue to reside in Portland, where Ron is now working as an engineer for the firm of Stevens, Thompson, and Runyan.

Carl March lives in West Lafayette, Indiana, and is working on his Ph.D. in chemistry at Purdue University.

Bob McCleary attends Boston University, and is currently making his home in Brookline, Massachusetts.

WANT TO SEE THE ONCE-IN-A-LIFETIME exhibit of the tomb treasures of King Tutankhamen this summer and fall but can't bear to face the long lines and traffic? Join Willamette alumni and friends Aug. 13-14 and Sept. 3-4 for an educational and relaxing tour of the ancient Egyptian relics.

For only $38.00 per person, you can be assured of an informative session on the Tutankhamen dynasty, a relaxing bus ride to Seattle, complete with a box lunch; an hour tour of the exhibit; dinner at the Tye Restaurant in Olympia; and be back home in Salem in time for the 11:00 p.m. news.

Sponsored by the Willamette Alumni Continuing Education Program, the King Tut Tour is being offered to all Willamette alumni on a "first come, first served" basis. The first 180 paid reservations received in the Alumni Office will have preference over the others. The next 40 will be placed on a waiting list and called if any of the original 180 change their plans. All other checks will be returned to the senders.

Schedule for the program includes:

- A Sunday (Aug. 13 and Sept. 3) evening slide program and discussion on King Tutankhamen by art history professor Roger Hull, 7-9 p.m., art history room, Art Building. Packets of information will be available at the discussion. For those wishing overnight accommodations (for Aug. 13 and 14 only), rooms will be available in Doney Hall for both nights at $5 per person, beginning at 4 p.m. No meals will be provided.
- Monday (Aug. 14 and Sept. 4) morning, air-conditioned busses leave campus at 9 a.m. with one stopping in Portland at 10 a.m. at the Jantzen Beach Shopping Center for more participants.
- A box lunch will be provided at noon with expected arrival at the Seattle Center set at 2 p.m. Informal tours of the area are planned until 3:45 p.m. (Aug. 14) and 3:15 p.m. (Sept. 4) when the group takes the 1-hour King Tut tour. Tour tickets ($4 per person) will be distributed at this time. Picture taking will not be permitted.
- Busses depart Seattle at 6 p.m. for the Tye Motor Inn and Restaurant in Olympia with a no-host social half-hour planned at 7 p.m.; dinner at 7:30 p.m.; restaurant departure, 8:30 p.m.; Portland arrival, 10 p.m.; and Salem, 11 p.m.
