

Willamette University Prospectus

SALEM, OREGON, JUNE, 1907

OFFICE OF THE
PRESIDENT OF WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY

Historical

Willamette University was established by act of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oregon, January 12, 1853. The act also provided that the Oregon Institute, founded 1844, should be included as a preparatory school. The collegiate department which had been developing for several years was formally organized in 1857. The first class was graduated in 1859.

Founded in an early day, before Oregon became a state, this institution has been a potent factor in the development of the Northwest.

Among the thousands of former students and the five hundred graduates from her different departments are numbered teachers, professors, Congressmen, Judges of County Courts, of Superior Courts, of Circuit Courts, of Supreme Courts, of United States District Courts, editors, authors, explorers, municipal officers, physicians, United States Senators, Governors, United States Attorneys, Consuls, Secretaries of State, United States Surveyors General, Presidents of State Senate, and Speakers of House of Representatives.

General Information

In all the Northwest it would be difficult to find for a college site a better place than Salem.

The health conditions are such that in five years there have been but few cases of serious illness among either the faculty or the students, and only one death has occurred for even a longer period.

The University is Christian, not sectarian, and is devoted to Christian culture.

It aims to maintain a high standard of conduct for the good of all its students.

The Student Body is the organization of all the students of the University.

The Collegian is the college paper, published weekly.

The Young Men's and the Young Women's Christian Associations are strong organizations and do effective work.

The Girls' Student Association is composed of members of the Colleges and the Academy. Its purpose is to foster social life.

The Oratorical Association of the Colleges, in connection with the Intercollegiate Association, conducts the local oratorical contests.

The Literary Societies afford opportunity for such work as is usually undertaken by such organizations. They have pleasant and well-furnished halls.

Numerous opportunities are afforded our students to exercise themselves in various intellectual contests, and great interest centers in them.

McMinnville-Willamette debate, March, 1907; won by Willamette.

Corvallis-Willamette debate, March, 1907; won by Willamette.

Whitman-Willamette debate; won by Willamette.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY PROSPECTUS

The Rhodes scholarship for Oregon, for 1907, was awarded to Mr. Edward J. Winans, of the College of Liberal Arts of Willamette University.

The President or Dean will gladly communicate with young men or young women desirous of working their way.

Worthy students in need of help have an opportunity to secure aid from several special funds and scholarships. Application should be made to the President for such assistance.

Classes in systematic gymnasium work are conducted by a competent director in the employ of the University.

Tennis, basketball, baseball, football, and field and track athletics are under the management of the students, who equip the teams and, subject to the approval of the Faculty, arrange and manage all contests.

Lausanne Hall is a home-like and elegant dormitory for young women. Board is $3.25 per week, payable weekly in advance. Rooms are from 60 cents to $1.75 per week, payable in advance.

It is gratifying to note the progress Willamette University has made in the last few years in fitting up its laboratories. Valuable apparatus is being added from time to time.

The new building for the College of Medicine is 52 by 72 feet, fully equipped.

The College of Theology has a new building 54 by 87 feet, and the College of Music will open this fall in its elegant new building, the recent gift of W. W. Brown.

Tuition is as follows:

	Per Semester.	Per Year.
College of Liberal Arts.....	$22.50	$45.00
Teachers College	22.50	45.00

College of Liberal Arts

JOHN H. COLEMAN, D. D., President

The College of Liberal Arts is recognized to be the very foundation of the University, and is the most important of all its schools and colleges, for without it a university, as such, cannot exist.

We are pleased, then, to announce that the College proper has enjoyed remarkable prosperity during the last three years.

The College offers four courses:

1. The Classical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

2. The Philosophical, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy.

3. The Literary, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Literature.

4. The Scientific, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science.

Graduates from High Schools, Academies, and Normal Schools are admitted to the Freshman class provided they have done work similar and equivalent to our own Academy courses.

Others must satisfy the Faculty of their fitness.

In the College of Liberal Arts the courses of instruction are arranged in groups as follows:

Group I. Latin, Greek.

Group II. Mathematics, Astronomy, Physics.

Group III. Biology, Chemistry, Geology.

Group IV. German, French, Spanish.

Group V. History, Economics.

Group VI. Philosophy.

Group VII. Education.

Group VIII. English.

JOHN H. COLEMAN, D. D., President
WILLIAM E. KIRK, A. M., Dean

In response to a persistent demand for well equipped teachers, Willamette University has established a Teachers College, which will sustain the same relation to the Normal School as the College of Liberal Arts to the Academy and to High Schools. Its purpose is to afford advanced students opportunities to prepare for the work of special teachers in primary, secondary and high schools, and for the duties of principals and superintendents of schools.

For the present the courses offered will be largely under the control of the faculty of the College of Liberal Arts. They will include Educational Psychology, the History and Philosophy of Education, Secondary, Primary, and Kindergarten Education and aims and methods of teaching various subjects.

All students who become candidates for the degree of B. Pd. and the teacher's diploma are required to complete: (1) A major subject of 24 to 36 credits, according to the subject, (2) approved electives, and (3) six credits in General and Educational Psychology and six in the History and Principles of Education, making a total of 120 credits, the same number required of the graduates of the College of Liberal Arts.

Normal School

JOHN H. COLEMAN, D. D., President

WILLIAM E. KIRK, A. M., Principal

The Normal Course includes four years' work. This brings the standard up to that of the best Normal Schools of Oregon. Graduates of this course are accorded the same advantages by our state laws as are given to graduates of the State Schools.

Oregon Institute

(THE ACADEMY)

JOHN H. COLEMAN, D. D., President

—— ———, Principal

In addition to a complete College of Liberal Arts, Willamette University maintains a first class Academy.

The aim of the Academy is first of all to fit young people for our College of Liberal Arts or for any college or university. For this purpose the Academy offers: A Classical Course, a Philosophical Course, a Literary Course, a Scientific Course, an Engineering Course, each four years, and each designed to fit students for the corresponding college course.

The Academy also offers to persons who do not expect to take a college course an opportunity to acquire a thorough fundamental knowledge of Algebra, Geometry, Latin, French, German, Greek, English, General History, Elementary Physics, Biology, and Chemistry.

For the young person who wishes to fit himself for business the Academy offers a superior Commercial Course.

A General Preparatory Course has been devised to meet the needs of students who have not the time to spend on the severer disciplinary branches.

Beginning September, 1907, the work of the Academy will cover four years. Students now in the Academy may complete their courses under the old plan, but will be required to make 128 semester hours in the College of Liberal Arts, the same as now, before graduation. New students entering the Academy will be expected to arrange their work according to the new requirements, and upon the successful completion of the Academy course and 120 semester hours in the College of Liberal Arts will receive a degree.

The Academy offers students of the smaller high schools an excellent opportunity to complete a first-class four-year course and to receive the diploma of the Academy. Fifteen units or one hundred and fifty semester hours, according to the new plan, are required for graduation.

A unit is the credit earned by carrying a subject five times a week for one year.

For detailed description of courses see catalogue.

School of Commerce

JOHN H. COLEMAN, D. D., President

ARTHUR J. PRIDEAUX, A. M., Principal

To attain success in the modern industrial world, one must have a more specialized knowledge of commercial subjects than was necessary a decade ago, and to meet this need Willamette University offers for the first time a two-years' commercial course.

The entrance requirement will be a certificate of completion of Eighth Grade work. Any student found defective in grammar or spelling will be obliged to take those courses before being granted a diploma.

A large room in the College of Liberal Arts building has been fitted up with new desks especially for the book-keeping classes. Office furniture and appliances will be added, so that students may become familiar with actual office methods.

College of Medicine

JOHN H. COLEMAN, D. D., President

W. H. BYRD, M. D., Dean

Course of four years, leading to the degree of M. D.

College of Music

JOHN H. COLEMAN, D. D., President

R. A. HERITAGE, MUS. DOC., Dean

Piano, Voice, Stringed Instruments, Pipe Organ, Band Instruments.

School of Art

MARIE CRAIG, A. B., Principal

A course of two years. Drawing, Landscape, Flower, and Portrait Painting.

A Last Word.

In this day of sharp competition and strenuous living our young people need the best preparation for life's duties that can be secured.

Willamette aims to furnish this and to furnish it under the most favorable circumstances. Here young people will receive the kindly sympathizing help of the faculty and everything possible will be done to make their work pleasant and profitable.

Fathers and mothers may rest assured that every safeguard will be placed about their boy or girl. We do not make Methodists but we do try to make men and women with all that these terms signify.

A dean for women has been secured. Her business will be to take the place of mother so far as that is possible while the daughter is away to school.

We are sure our choice for this responsible position is a happy one and this is only another indication of our desire to furnish the best.

The almost universal testimony of the students at the end of the school year has been: "Surely it has been good to be here."

We will be glad to welcome you.
