

GALA CARNIVAL FOLLOWS GAME

Gym Will be Scene of Noisy Post-Battle Celebration Tonight

CUP FOR BEST BOOTH

Students, Alumni, Townspeople Urged to Attend Collegiate Performance

Muriel White, chairman of the carnival committee, announces that plans for the big festival in the gymnasium are complete and urges everyone, grads, students, and others on the campus to take in this gala occasion which will begin at 10:15 tonight immediately following the football game.

All booths are vying for first honors and a 12 inch loving cup will go to the winner. Alpha Phi Alpha won it last year and the other houses are trying eagerly to take it away from the masterpiece of the Oak street sorority. It is given on the basis of originality, popularity, and cleverness and will be awarded at the Homecoming play Saturday night.

Lois Wilkes with her committee has arranged features using home-school talent and there will be plenty of noise. Hot coffee will be provided as long as the 400 cups last; so cold and thirsty persons are advised to get there early.

Following are the committees working on the carnival:

Concessions — Dorothy Rose, Sarah Dark, Isabel Childs, Jean Peterson, Tom Goyno. Decorations — Louisa Sidwell, Pauline Lockhart, Mary White, Betty Badley, Aletha Kelly, Ruth Chapman, Mildred Dreg, Winona Wendt, Margaret Haight, Kenneth Oliver, David Moser.

Food — Ruth Schreiber, Pauline Livesay, Helen Stiles, Lucile Brown, Virginia Kaiser, Bertha Babcock, Gertrude Oehler, Dorothy Shepherd, Betty Hyde, Betty McLean. Prizes — Annabel Toomey, Gertrude Beard, Eleanor Yarnes. Serpentine vendors — Kenneth Oliver, Madeline Schmidt.

Program — Lois Wilkes, Charles Glanell, Helen Childs, Helen Hanke, Dorothy Eastridge, Wesley Roeder, Judging — Marvel Edwards, Maxine Ulrich, Pearl Swanson, Dick Uppjohn. Art — Brenda Savage, Ellen Jean Moody, Jeanna Forrest. Cleanup — Eugene Smith, Ronald Hewitt, William Thome, Garfield Barnett, George Northrup, Ronald Huddick and Menakus Selander.

Muriel White will sell tickets at the main entrance of the gymnasium at two tickets for a nickel. There will be a side entrance for students. One exit at the east end of the gymnasium has been provided. Each one is advised to buy at least 25 cents worth of tickets at the door. More can be purchased from a booth in west end.

The coffee shop, a purely carnival feature, will be held in the men's wrestling room. It will be on the old tavern style and should not be missed as refreshments are needed to make a perfect night. Coffee and doughnuts will be 10 cents.

The carnival will close at 12 o'clock and doors will be shut at that time. A policeman will be on hand to see that it is done. All during the activities, several of the clubs will act as handy men. It is hoped that students will not delay the crowds, but will move on to different booths as rapidly as possible.

Two shows will arrange fun for the evening—and it will be real up-towners fun, too. So all the Alumni, town people, old friends and students are invited to spend an hour and three-quarters in a gay fun maze with calligates, tea gardens, shooting galleries, noise, "n" everything that goes to make a peppy carnival.

NEW REVISION PRESENTED FRIDAY

Honor Code Committee States Rules for Enforcement of Code

First reading of the revision of the Honor Code committee clause was Friday, October 16, at a meeting of the students of Willamette University. The purpose of the revision is so that the Law School may have a representative on the committee and to give more under classmen experience. The amendment, if voted, will go into effect next fall, when the Honor Code committee will be selected for 1932-33. At the present time the committee consists of senior, Doris Clarke, junior, Marlon "Gus" Moore, sophomore, Percy Sweet, and Eugene Smith.

The suggested revision reads as follows:

Be it enacted by the Associated Students of Willamette University:

1. That Article V, Section 2, Clause I of the by-laws of the Constitution be and is hereby amended to read:

"Enforcement of this code shall be under the direct supervision of the executive committee which shall appoint at its first meeting in October, nine students, four of whom shall be seniors, three juniors and two sophomores. One of either the junior or senior representatives shall be a student of the College of Law. These shall constitute the Honor Code Committee. The committee shall be called together by the president of A. S. W. U. within seven days, at which time one of the committee shall be elected as chairman. The committee shall organize further as it sees fit."

IF FRESHMEN WINDS ARE DISCARDED

The Sophomores have challenged the Freshmen boys to a bag rush, which will take place Friday night at the homecoming football game. This contest, which will take place during the halves of the game, is divided into three parts.

The Freshman girls have been challenged to a chariot race, which will take place at the same time as the bag rush.

Should the freshman win these events they will not be compelled to wear their "rook lids" and ribbons after homecoming. Should they lose they have to wear them until Christmas.

POSTERS ADVERTISING "SKIDDING" DISTRIBUTED

Posters advertising the homecoming play "Skidding," which will be given Saturday night, October 24, at Salem High School Auditorium, were distributed Tuesday to the stores down town.

The posters are very attractive and were stencil designed by Earl Hatch and color sprayed by Fred Blatchford. Mr. Henry received the poster prize of two complimentary play tickets.

PROF. ZILLMAN GIVES M.E. LEAGUE SPEECH

The Methodist Epworth League was favored with a very interesting program Sunday evening at the M. E. Church.

Mr. Zillman, professor of English literature at Willamette University, spoke on "Religious I. Q." In his well presented speech he brought out the fact that things one thought were more important than the things one said. Mr. Zillman closed with a poem, "Each In His Own Tongue."

Before the league meeting a number of the leaguers enjoyed "Fellowship Hour" at which an interesting skit, directed by Lulu Allen, was presented. After this refreshments were served.

Blue Key Will Hold Luncheon Meetings Monthly

Pacific University Chapter Wants to Help Handle Crowds at Games

The first meeting of Blue Key, a branch of the national Blue Key Service Fraternity, met Tuesday, October 13, directly after chapel. At this time the members decided to have a luncheon meeting the second Tuesday of the month throughout the winter. A letter from the Pacific university chapter concerning a joint meeting was discussed, and it was also decided to promote football games and help handle the crowds at the games.

According to Dwight Adams, president, the Pacific chapter suggests a meeting with the Willamette university chapter to promote greater friendship and formulate plans for handling the crowds at the football game between these two schools. The local chapter replied that a meeting at McMinnville in the near future would be favorable. At this time the leading men of the Linfield campus would be invited, since there is no Blue Key chapter there.

Blue Key has eighteen active members who have as their objective intellectual attainment, a sense of responsibility to society, and a desire to serve the school and fellow students. This year's officers are: Dwight Adams, president; Harry Anderson, vice-president; and Glen Huston, secretary-treasurer. Men of all three fraternities as well as non-fraternity men, make up the membership.

AN ENJOYABLE PLAY BILLED

Mysterious Disappearance of Mrs. Hardy of Interest to Playgoers

QUESTIONS NUMEROUS

Final Big Event of Homecoming Will be Held Tomorrow Night

A cleverly written and interesting play combined with an able cast promises to make the Thota Alpha Phi Homecoming production this year one of unusual merit. The first curtain rises at 8:15 Saturday evening in the high school auditorium and the last one does not fall until every tangle of "Skidding," a comedy in three acts, is satisfactorily straightened out.

Just how this pleasing final result can come about is in itself a mystery.

Mystery Involved

But more mysterious still is the love for her career which drives Miriam Hardy (Sue Pringle) to trade for it the love of her sweetheart, a part most convincingly played by Clarence Poor. However, that isn't the end of the play. Margaret Freeman and Pauline Moore as Myra and Estelle, the married daughters who have left their husbands for their mother, add a sweet domestic touch to the play. Incidentally, the mother (Betty Ogden) may come in for some sympathy on this score.

Carl Marey's political acumen places him at an advantage in the part of the distracted politician, worried not only by the forthcoming election, but also by the mysterious disappearance of his wife.

Other Characters Listed

It influences everything—this strange absence of Mrs. Hardy. Where has she gone—and why?

Even the conversation of Aunt Millie, the old maid school teacher, is shadowed by the question, "No, he isn't a cyclone! He's just Lowell Eddy, fitted amazingly well into the role of Andy, the small brother, but he manages some cyclonic disturbances, nevertheless."

Who else is in "Skidding"? Ray Rhoten as Grandpa adds a bit of sentiment while Stanley King, as Mr. Stubbins, displays enthusiasm and verbal power such as would make a variety debater cringe.

All in all, if the final showing is to be judged by recent practices, "Skidding" will be one of the most enjoyable amateur productions offered in Salem.

Y. W. CEREMONIAL HELD ON THURSDAY

Y. W. C. A. Recognition Ceremonial was conducted by cabinet members in the Chapel Thursday afternoon at 4:30. Every woman on the campus who had signed a membership card was invited to attend.

Cabinet members who assisted Miss Clarke in the conduct of the ceremony were: Dorothy Rose, Ruth Schreiber, Mary Scott, Helen Stiles, Margery Hannah, Sarah Dark, Margaret Eddy, Helen Childs, Lucile Brown, Louisa Sidwell, Helen Briechnant, and Ruth Barnes Warner. Miriam Armitage played the pipe organ.

GAME TONIGHT DRAWS CROWD

Cut Prices Prevail for Men While Women and Children Admitted Free

GRADS WILL SEE LIGHTS

Committee of Sparks and Sports Writers Publicizes Game

In accordance with the prevailing depression, the admission for Friday's football game was while women are to be admitted free.

Extensive advertising has been done for the game, which is the first Homecoming game ever staged after dark. Local merchants have co-operated with the advertising committee in displaying pictures of the teams and posters in the various store windows.

Efforts have been made to arouse wider interest in the game by stories and pictures in Portland papers.

Student enthusiasm is running high following the pep rally last night. Friday, before the game, the pep squad and the Ballyhoo Car will make their appearance in the downtown districts.

Lestie J. Sparks, graduate manager, heads the committee promoting this game. Other members co-operating with Mr. Sparks are: Isabel Childs, Collegian editor, Fred Zimmerman, sports editor of the Capital Journal, and Ralph Curtis, sports editor of the Statesman.

SOPHS CHALLENGE FROSH TO BAG RUSH

Event to Take Place Between Halves of Homecoming Game

The Freshman class held a meeting Tuesday morning after chapel to hear several announcements regarding Homecoming and other matters.

Eugene Smith, president of the Sophomore class, announced that between the halves of the Homecoming football game between Willamette and College of Idaho, there would be a Freshman-Sophomore bag contest for the boys. Ten men will compose each team. If the Freshman win they will not have to wear their rook lids any longer, but if they lose they must wear them until Christmas. Dave Moser is in charge of the Freshman team. A contest between the Freshman girls and Sophomore girls will also be held to determine whether or not the new girls will have to wear the Freshman ribbons. Details of the contest are being worked out by Betty Boylan and Clara Wright.

Forrest Mills, Freshman class president, urged all of the boys to be on hand Friday morning at 4:30 a. m., and hold to tradition by raking up the leaves on the campus. A light breakfast will be provided by the girls of the class.

Y. W. C. A. MEETS INCOMING WOMEN

Women interested in the work of the campus Y. W. C. A. attended the first regular meeting of the organization in the Y. W. C. A. room in Eaton hall last Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

For the benefit of the new women on the campus, Doris Clarke, president of the organization, explained the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. as well as telling about the work of the various committees.

Margaret Eddy, social chairman, was in charge of the tea which followed the meeting. Those who assisted in serving were: Margaret Lange, Marguerite Cox, Gladys Dodge, Nellie Perrine, Ema Wolford and Eleanor Barr.

Membership cards were passed out last Friday after chapel.

PEP BAND MAKES INITIAL APPEARANCE AT COLUMBIA GAME

Popular songs in band arrangement and regular band numbers made the initial appearance of the Willamette pep band on Sweetland field last Friday night.

The entrance of the band marching around the field in colorful Willamette sweat shirts was a complete surprise to many Salem people and was well-liked. Numbers were played between quarters and during intermissions in the game.

There were about thirty in the group. Willamette appreciates the untiring efforts of Wesley Roeder, drum major, and of Morgan Gallagher, manager, and of the members of the band in making the game more of a success and increasing the enthusiasm of the students.

INTERESTING CHAPEL SPEAKER SCHEDULED

J. Roderick DeSpain, a unique and powerful poet, will be in chapel Monday, Oct. 26, to read some of his well-known pieces. Tuesday at chapel time Professor Brobsman of the University of Idaho, who has studied northwest history and Willamette, will speak. The Beehovan society will have charge of Wednesday's chapel period.

NEWLY ORGANIZED MARRIED WOMEN NOMINATE OFFICERS

Object of Group is Mutual Helpfulness; Plan Social Functions

Willamette's newest organization, the Young Married Women's Association, promises to become one of the strong forces on the campus. The first meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Nellie Ackerman on October 16. The following were nominated for officers: Mrs. Walt Erickson and Helen Cochran Kutch for president; Susan Hall, for vice-president; Virginia Kaiser and Mary Louise Carpenter for secretary-treasurer. Election of officers will take place at the next meeting on October 31. Thereafter meetings will be held every two weeks on Saturday afternoons at the homes of the various members.

Plans for the future include social functions, the first of which will be a dinner in which the young married men of the campus will be invited.

The object of the association is mutual helpfulness. Realizing that in union there is strength the young married women on the campus have banded themselves together to assist each other over the rough places on the perilous sea of matrimony.

A. S. W. U. MEETING DISCUSSES TRIP

Amendment to Change Membership of Honor Code Committee Proposed

An amendment to the school constitution relative to the honor code committee and a special football game excursion for students were the topics of discussion at the A. S. W. U. meeting at chapel Friday morning.

Student Body President Charles Campbell, who presided at the session, presented the matter of a special train excursion to either Puget Sound or Walla Walla. A vote was taken which revealed the students to be in favor of an excursion to Walla Walla on November 26 when Willamette meets Whitman in the last football game of the season.

Ray Lafky submitted a resolution to the student body amending the present constitution in regard to the honor code committee. He stated that the law school wanted a representative on the committee and proposed to amend the rules so as to have four seniors, three juniors and two sophomores, one of the senior class representatives to be a law student. The voting on the matter will be carried over to the next meeting.

'W' CLUB OFFICERS ELECTED FOR YEAR

Officers for the "W" club for the coming year were elected at a meeting held October 12. Those elected were: president, Walter Erickson; vice-president, Cecil Moore; secretary-treasurer, Guss Harmon. The club has decided to take charge of the concessions such as hot dogs and candy at the football games, and to issue the programs for the games. The proceeds from these are to help pay the salary of the assistant coach, Howard Maple.

Suggestions were given as to ways in which to influence high school graduates to enter Willamette. A discussion of social activities for the year concluded the meeting.

TAU KAPPA ALPHA SPONSORS DEBATE

The Interclass debates and the Keyes contest are sponsored by the Tau Kappa Alpha, an organization founded on the Willamette campus in 1926. This is a national honorary fraternity, of which the Willamette chapter is the only one in Oregon.

Ray Lafky, president; Lillian Beecher, vice-president, and Ralph McCullough, secretary and treasurer, are the officers of the Tau Kappa Alpha for this year. The new members are elected by the organization each year.

Tau Kappa Alpha co-operates with the speech department in sponsoring all forensics; they are judges for high school debates and entertain visiting debaters or speakers at Willamette.

FROSH CLEAN CAMPUS AND UPHOLD TRADITION

Ralph McCullough, homecoming manager, announced that according to tradition the Freshmen class would make the campus presentable for the alumni of Willamette University.

The Freshman class president, Forrest Mills, appointed Ronald Huddick as chairman of the clean up. A stunt is being planned, but as yet it is not completely worked out.

YELL KING ANNOUNCES STUDENT GAME RALLY

Lloyd Gird, yell king, announces a student rally Thursday night at 7 o'clock, starting at Waller Hall and ending downtown. A stunt is being planned, but as yet it is not completely worked out.

REMOVE CONDITIONS

Danger approaches for those who have an "Incomplete" or "Condition" received in the second semester of last year. According to Registrar Tennant if these are not removed before Saturday, October 24, failure will be the consequence. A special test is taken and if the grade is satisfactory the subject is no longer incomplete or conditioned.

35 APPLY FOR LOANS

Thirty-five students have applied for loans, amounting to $2,000. The applications for these loans are being sent to the Methodist Board.

WARM WELCOME FOR GRADS RETURNING TO OLD HAUNTS

Homecoming Weekend Game, Carnival, Banquet and Play Will Entertain Alumni

With the football game, carnival, banquet, and play to work for, everybody is busy these days. The general pep of the students is rapidly enlivening the spirit of old Willamette and by tonight it is predicted the whole student body will be an effervescing mob of "peppers" raving to entertain the flock of incoming grads.

The first official gesture on the part of the W. U. students, will be in the form of a rousing football game with the yowling coyotes from Caldwell, Idaho. The contest is slated to begin at 7:45 this evening and from all reports a large crowd is expected to attend the fracas which will be the second to be staged under the new lighting system. According to the "dope," the gridiron tussle will be a real fight and the grads, students and others present will witness the Cardinal squad playing at its best. Idaho will offer formidable opposition, according to word received, and the bears are restlessly pawing and panting as they await the call to battle.

Pop Band to Appear.

Of course, Willamette's new pep band promises to strut to the tune of snappy marches—"a la Sousa"—at the big football encounter and it is rumored that the boys have a new marching formation or two all ready to display before the spectators. Then, Wes Roeder, leader of the band, promises to keep the musicians busy at odd intervals all through the game as a supplement to the rooting action. Still another attraction, to be staged between halves, is the annual Frosh-Soph contest consisting of three events, a bag rush, a girls' chariot race, and a second bag rush. This will be a crucial battle for the Freshmen. If they lose, they must continue to wear the little caps and hair ribbons until Christmas.

Following the football game, a gala carnival will attract the fans-seekers to the university gymnasium where a riotous good time will be enjoyed. Muriel White, chairman of the carnival committee, says there will be calligates, tea gardens, shooting galleries, baby buggies, confetti, booths, whistles, balloons, noise-makers and everything else essential to a first rate carnival. The affair promises to put a glorious finish to today's Homecoming events.

Banquet Plans Made.

Extensive plans for the big Homecoming banquet have been effected to the minutest detail, according to Graduate-Manager Sparks, and prospects are bright for the attendance of a lively aggregation of grads. The dinner will be served in the Masonic Temple at 5:30 p. m., so there will be plenty of time for those at the banquet to get to the play which follows. Judge James Crawford will be at the head of the table to act as toastmaster and he promises to have some very interesting features on the program. Dr. Carl Hollingworth, president of the State Alumni Association, also promises to be on hand—all pep and enthusiasm—and sincerely urge the rest of the grads to come and "bring the family." Last year over a hundred took in the Homecoming banquet and the boosters are pulling hard for a bigger and more jubilant reunion this year than ever. Miss Leila Johnson has charge of the ticket (Continued on page 5)

ALUMNI TO SEE IMPROVED MUSEUM

New Articles Are Added to Collection, and Minerals Are Classified

The alumni will find the museum quite a different place from what they know it to be, according to Wesley Warren the assistant curator. New tables have been built, also some new cupboards. A system of classifying the exhibits has been inaugurated. Many new articles have been added. Altogether the museum has been greatly improved within the last few years, he states.

The museum is now used by the biology class, and although the geology class has been discontinued the various mineral collections on display there draw much interest and comment. The general value of the mineral exhibit has been raised by the classification of the collections.

The alumni will find added interest in the fact that many new articles are now in the museum. Among some of the more noteworthy are some fossil bones including a mammoth tooth and tusk, a sewing machine said to be the oldest in the Willamette valley, a surgical set of the type used before anaesthetics were known. The set is one made entirely for speed, and was presented by H. S. Groggard.

Many of the various implements used by the Indians are on display. Indian pipes and stone weapons of many different kinds are to be found there. The histories of several American tribes are shown there in their sequence.

Mr. Warren is anxious for the alumni to come over to the museum to note the improvements that have been made, and to see the new exhibits.

SIXTY SINGERS IN NEW CHOIR

Approximately sixty student singers signified their interest in the new university choir by attending its initial meeting Monday night.

Offered on a credit basis this organization under the leadership of Professor Cameron Marshall, director of the School of Music, and composed of interested members of both the Men's and Women's Glee clubs, promises to be the largest music group on the campus.

Monthly chapel programs are planned by the choir, while a concert of miscellaneous Christmas music is planned to precede the holidays.

After the first of the year the "Oratorio Creation" will be studied by the choir. It is planned that the group shall present this oratorio in its entirety toward the close of the season.

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWD AT NIGHT RALLY

An enthusiastic crowd of students turned out Thursday night, October 15, for the rally for Friday night's game. The students zig-zagged up State Street, escorted and exhorted by members of the Pep Staff, and sang Willamette songs on the corners of High, Liberty, and Commercial streets. At Liberty Street, they met the Willamette band, which played several numbers. The ballyhoo broadcast car on the same corner announced Friday night's game.

Later, at Sweetland Field, a full grandstand watched the Willamette and Salem High teams in a light workout, under the new flood lights. Gieke Kaiser was much in evidence.

W. U. REPRESENTATIVES AT CONFERENCE

Several Willamette students are planning to attend the student-faculty conference at Governor Hotel on Mount Hood, October 29 and November 1. The object of the conference will be to discuss student problems. The conference is under the auspices of the northwest Y. M. C. A. council. Willamette students will leave by special stage from Portland.

PEP STAFF MAKES DEBUT FRI. NIGHT

The pep staff under the direction of Lois Wilker will make their initial bow next Friday night at the C. of I. game. The staff was to have appeared at the Columbia game but were unable to do so due to an unavoidable slip-up in their plans.

Workouts have been held on Sweetland field with the "W" band and spectators at the game are assured of a novel feature in the pep staff appearance.

The staff uniforms are made up of the red "W" sweatshirts, dark skirts, and dark berets.

The personnel of the staff is as follows: Florence Marshall, Margorie Law, Helen Boardman, Carolyn Braden, Edith Sidwell, Margorie O'Dell, Lulu Allen, Lucile Summerlin, Dorothy Eastridge, Ellen Jean Moody, Ruth Chapman, Claudia Buntin, Pauline Moore, Ardath Young, Betty Boylan, Joan Evans, Betty Hyde, June Davies, Sheila Delsoil and Helen Larsen.

WELCOME HOME, ALUMNI!

A few of the "oaken-hearted fathers" are returning to the Old Historic Temple this weekend. It seems peculiar to attach this title to these men and women of varying ages. We usually think of us as the song of hoary bearded men including only Jason Lee, the Reverend Mr. Waller, and men of their generation in that much admired group. But after all, these returning alumni are also builders of Willamette and as such are deserving of veneration as well as an excellent program of entertainment.

They will find many things changed. Even last year's class will note numerous improvements. Of course, there is always the dread that they will not recognize some changes as improvements.

Tonight they will see the finest lighting system in Oregon shine upon the largest, huskiest, and withal one of the most representative football squads ever to play at Willamette.

They will see one of the largest student bodies in the history of the university. The quality of this group cannot be judged as readily as that of the football squad. Innumerable methods of judging will be employed. Hospitality, loyalty, originality and ability and willingness to work will be put to the test.

There is a greeting for every returning alumnus in the heart of every Bearcat today whether he is fighting on the football field or raking leaves; let's put that greeting on our lips and extend the "Hello Spirit" beyond the ranks of the student body to everyone on the campus over this weekend.

STUDENTS JOIN IN MOURNING

Thomas Alva Edison is dead and Willamette students join with the rest of the world in mourning the passing of the greatest human inventor of all time. When homes in various parts of the United States were plunged into darkness Wednesday night in Edison's honor, there were many young people who experienced for a moment something of what might have been their lot had he not placed humanity higher than selfish gain in giving to the world our present system of lighting.

It is altogether fitting and proper that university students should pause to consider the life of Mr. Edison. He was truly a product of modern education—a man who measured success in service. It is not with any intent of sacrilege that we say, he joined with God in saying "Let their be light."

Few of us realize just what Mr. Edison did accomplish and it seems to us that there could be no other memorial service for him at Willamette than the chapel program which is being planned by the Science Club to illustrate to a small extent the work of the great inventor who died this week.

MANY NEW VOLUMES IN LAW LIBRARY

Some Rare Old Books Are Among the Additions; Many are Gifts

Ever since Dean Roy R. Hewitt became head of our law school four years ago, it has been one of his chief aims to build up in the school an adequate law library. Prior to the time of Dean Hewitt's coming, the students had resorted for their knowledge of the law to the Supreme Court Library, which contains thousands of volumes. They still have this privilege but without a library of its own a school may not become a member of the group of standard law schools of the United States, and for this purpose a law library of 7500 volumes is required. It was with the idea in mind of having the school become a member of this association that Dean Hewitt has persevered in his efforts. When the necessity for a law library was made known, it was not long before books began coming in from places all over the state. These books were, at first, kept in Dean Hewitt's office, but when it became too full for comfort they were removed to the basement of Waller hall, where they now fill two rooms. This library has been placed under the direction of Prof. Roy M. Lockenour, who is assisted by student librarian Col. J. Marsters. During the past summer Prof. Lockenour spent many hours in rearranging the entire library, so as to make the different kinds of material more easily accessible. There are now in the library 8450 volumes valued at $24,000, and there are more coming in all the time. These books contain practically all the cases and other legal material which the average practitioner will ever be called upon to use. In addition there are many rare old books, which are now practically impossible to procure. These latter volumes are of particular interest in that they show the quaint old legal phraseology, as well as the processes by which the law has evolved to its present status. In assembling this library, purchases of books have been made, and gifts have been received from Judge A. C. Emmons, S. M. Endicott, Ronald C. Glover, I. H. Van Winkle, Albert B. Rose, Floyd D. Moore, C. H. Inman, Roy Shields, Merton DeLong, Judge Harry Belt, H. G. and R. T. Platt, Judge George H. Burnett, B. J. Skulason, W. C. Bristol, West Publishing Co., Lawyer's Co-operative Publishing Co., Senator Joseph Simon, Ray L. Smith, R. and E. B. Williams, Rodney Wilson, C. E. S. Wood, Charles H. Carey, James B. Kerr, and others. As the law library then met requirements, notices was last June sent to the association of standard law schools that the school was ready to begin its two year probation period. During this period it will be necessary for the school to abide by the rules of the association in the same manner as if it were a member, and, if at the end of that time has been found to have done so, it will then be recognized as a member of the standard group.

PORTLAND ALUMNI GROUP BANQUETS

The younger group of Portland alumni met for their monthly banquet at 6:15 p. m., Monday, October 19, at the Y. W. C. A. in Portland. Donald Grant, newly elected president, called the meeting to order. Methods of increasing membership were discussed, and it was decided to send out cards to every Portland alumnus for the next two meetings, inviting them to attend the banquet which they voted to hold again at the Y. W. C. A. The meeting is always held the third Monday of each month. The membership dues are 50c per year. Hugh McGilvra offered to print the cards for the invitation at no cost to the association.

Later, plans for Homecoming were discussed. Robert Notson and Metta Walker were in charge of the Portland committee; however, Mr. Notson was not present at the banquet as he was out of town on business. Miss Walker asked that anyone who wished to go to Salem, or anyone who would have room in their car for someone else, report to Mr. Grant, Dr. Hollingworth, or herself.

Dr. Hollingworth urged everyone to attend Homecoming. Although Saturday night would be a more convenient night for Portland people to come to the game, he suggested that they drive down for the game even though they had to return the same night; then, they could come down again for the banquet on Saturday, for the distance is not far.

Lestle Sparks, graduate manager, was called upon to tell about the game and banquet. The women voiced their pleasure when he announced that ladies would be admitted free to the game.

Ralph McCullough, manager of Homecoming, announced the play and told about the other forms of entertainment for the week-end.

Lloyd Girod, yell king, assured the group that the university students would be at the game with all their pep and support for the team.

"Midge" Hewitt, who attended the banquet in the place of the song queen, Lois Wilkes, who was unable to go, led the group in several songs, with Edith Findley as accompanist.

The Portland organization expressed much enthusiasm in regard to Homecoming, and it is believed that there will be a large representation from that city.

The other officers of the Younger Portland Alumni Association are: vice-president, Glenna Teeters; secretary, Elsie Tucker, and treasurer, Errol Proctor.

Those who attended the banquet from Salem were Edith Findley, "Midge" Hewitt, Fay Sparks, Ralph McCullough, Lloyd Girod, and Lestle Sparks.

The occupation, class, and name of each Portland member present is as follows:

Glenna Teeters, '19, teaches in Jefferson high school.
Mary Paroungian, '19, is a teacher in Grant high.

Errol Proctor, ex-'18, is a commercial artist. His wife is Blanche Baker, '18.

Donald Matthews, ex-'18, is with the U. S. Forest Service. Mrs. Matthews (Goldie Everest) is an ex-member of the class of '19. Mr. Harris and their young son were also there.

Mrs. Aetna L. Olson, '17, was accompanied by her husband, who is a teacher.

Metta Walker, ex-'19, works in the legal department of the U. S. Veterans Bureau.

Hugh McGilvra, '28, is editor of the Forest Grove News-Times of which he is part owner.

Charles Redding, '28, retiring president of the Portland alumni association, is practicing law.

Mrs. Robert Notson (Adelia White) is a member of the class of '25.

Rev. Ross Anderson, '26, is pastor of the Lincoln M. E. church.
Irene Ritchie, '28, is attending the Portland School of Applied Social Science. This school is supervised by the University of Oregon.
Geraldine Cook, '26, is teaching history and music in the high school at Gresham.
Ella Pfeiffer, '28, is teacher of English in Gresham high.
Elaine Chapin, '27, also teaches English at Gresham.
Mrs. Helen Sachs Caudill is a member of the class of '28.
Donald Grant, '29, is with the Davis & Harris Law Firm. Mrs.

Elsie Tucker, '29, is Girl Reserve secretary for the grade school girls.
Meredith Woodworth, '29, is an attorney-at-law. Mrs. Woodworth (Margaret Wood) is a member of the class of '29 also.
Dr. Harry Irvine, '15, is a physician and surgeon. Mrs. Irvine was also present.
Dr. Carl Hollingworth, '13, is also a physician.
Every Willamette alumnus in Portland should join this peppy group, if he or she has not done so already, for this organization assures a fellowship that one cannot afford to miss.

CONGRESSMAN HAWLEY TO SPEAK AT ALUMNI BANQUET

Congressman Hawley, an alumnus of Willamette, will be the main speaker at the alumni banquet which will be held at the Masonic Temple, Saturday, October 24, at 5:30 p. m. Judge James Crawford, '11, will be the toastmaster. According to Dr. Hollingworth, Judge C. A. Johns, another distinguished alumnus, may be present. Judge Johns, who has been under medical care in the East, is justice of the supreme court in the Philippines.

Other speakers will be Charles Redding of Portland and Clarence Emmons of Salem. Ronald Craven will offer vocal selections.

The speakers will make their talks brief, and the song queen, Lois Wilkes, will be there to lead the songs, so you can count upon a snappy program.

Many reservations are already in for the banquet. Remember to make yours, for your friends will be looking for you there.

CONTRAST
I plucked a rosebud tender; fair
With virgin fragrance untouched,

God plucked a rosebud tender; sweet
With virgin fragrance untouched,
fair;

There were tears and pleading as the rose,
Grew full in his hand and nestled
there.

GREY NUN

I saw you there.
And I see you still—
Kneeling among candles,
Counting your beads.

I saw you cross yourself
As you were taught to do—
Once, twice, and then again.
You were serenely beautiful.

Grey nun and frescoed wall;
You could not have been otherwise.
But you were weeping.
And tears fell upon your rosary.

I saw you clutch the cross—
I think you kissed it.
But did I hear a moan.
Or was it the wailing wind?

A candle sputtered;
Your lips moved in deeper prayer.
Why did you say
"Ave, Ave Maria,
Forgive, forgive me?"

Grey nun, why were you weeping?

THE LIGHTHOUSE
On a rock, lonely and gray as the dreary solitude of the ocean,
the sky, and the cliffs that surround it, stands the lighthouse. A single tall column it is, defying the winds that blow against it and the waves that dash themselves against the sturdy base.

Fog comes rolling from over the ocean waste. It surrounds the lighthouse and obscures the cliffs.
Then weird, dull sounds are heard. These are from the fog-horn.

Soon night shrouds this rugged loneliness. Nothing can be heard, except the unending beat of the waves upon the rocks, or the chilling whistle of the winds. But, behold! A great golden beam of light breaks the darkness. The lighthouse is again guiding the ships from the peril of the rocks.

IN THE SPRING
Life is a gay possession—
Like a kite by March winds blown Hither and yon o'er the face of the earth
Or sweet Spring Beauties strown
By Nature's hand in this month of mirth
In a forest all my own.

Life is a gay possession—
Like fresh little April showers
Turned to gold in the light of the sun
Or abundant bright May flowers
Nodding their heads when day is done
After the glowing hours.

Life is a gay possession—
Like a carnival in June
When bees hum over the clover
And the world is all in tune
To the joy which bubbles over
At dusk with a rising moon.

An Answer to "Grey Nun"
Kneeling there
At the altar
A beloved form
I knew so well—
All in black, now.
Golden hair shorn
On shrouded head.
Oh, how my heart is torn—
Crushed, for a while,
Then, catching a glimpse
Of that intangible gaze,
Of that uncertain smile—
Can it be the same one
I have loved so well?
That one is dead to me;
This is a being apart
Whose soul is above.

The bell tolls.
Heads are bowed low;
From the organ music rolls.
Then, slow—slow—
When no one sees,
I raise my head,
And simultaneously
Lowered eyes are raised to me.
Tears—there are tears
In those brown eyes so dear,
But I cannot wipe them away
As when we were small girls together.
Now, in those eyes, I see—despair.
Oh, my beloved cousin,
If only you could be
Playmates together again—
Children, careless, carefree.
Quickly the pale lids
Veil that broken plea
White lips frame the words
"Ave, ave Marie—
Forgive me, my Lord, forgive—
For a moment, regret crept in—"

—That plea was sent to God;
I had thought it was meant for me. GOLDRIANA.

COLLEGE OF LAW ONE OF FINEST

Willamette Gives Law Students Instruction With Actual Cases

One of the reasons why Willamette's College of Law is acknowledged as one of the finest in the country is that the methods of teaching are always a step or two ahead of other schools.

At a recent meeting of the State Bar Association, a professor of law in one of the universities in the Northwest read a paper on new methods of instruction. He especially stressed two supposedly new ideas. The first was the study of hypothetical cases, explaining and analyzing the different angles of law. The second was the actual use of a fashioned courtroom to train the student how to act and proceed in court.

This professor was advising the use of these modern ideas, and yet Willamette has been using both methods for five or six years. In Waller Hall on the fourth floor there is a courtroom equipped in detail as a trial court and during the proceedings there is a full jury of twelve persons, a presiding judge, and the attorneys.

Mr. Inman acts as judge. During the case he allows the attorneys for defense and prosecution to work unhindered. Only after the verdict has been turned in, does he point out the weaknesses of each case and renders his advice.

Thus does Willamette give her students the best of modern instruction and prepares them for the time when they will "swing their single to the breeze."

PURPLE AND GREEN CHICKENS HATCHED
Calgary, Alberta—(IP)—Scientists here recently produced purple and green chickens.

It was just as matter of serum. They injected the serum into eggs by means of a hypodermic needle on the 19th day of incubation.

Then the chickens were hatched, some all purple, others all green. The serum people figure they can obtain blue chickens by a mixture of the serum.

The other jobs pay in about the same proportions. After presenting the above facts it is unnecessary to say anything about Dean Clark, Dr. Franklin, or the cooperation of the students. If a student pays the university well to educate him, the university should be willing to pay him well for working for it.

In case the powers that be object to this article, the writer wishes to make it plain that the janitors had nothing to do with it. The writer is not an employee of Dean Clark and has picked up his information over a long period of time. —INTERESTED.

Brickbats and Bouquets

To the Editor:
In a recent issue of the Collegian your columnist said, "If poor housekeeping is a sign of genius, the janitors of Waller hall must rival Einstein."

It is quite evident that your columnist is either a woman or a man who has never served a term under the eye of "dean" Clark. Had the writer done so he would know the following important facts:

Student janitors are paid low wages.
Dean Clark is not the best boss to have unless one has no leaning toward a hot temper.

Dr. Franklin has his own ideas about janitorial.

The students never give the janitor cooperation.
The pay for janitors as this writer has known or found out is as follows:

W. A. A. SPONSORS W. U. BADGE SALE

The sale of 250 clever Willamette university badges is being sponsored by the Women's Athletic association as a special feature for Homecoming. The badge is a little larger than a silver dollar, and is of bronze plate, upon which has been engraved a large "W." Around the edges of the badge is engraved, "Willamette University, Salem, Oregon." It is being offered to schools along the Pacific coast by the West Coast Engraving company whose offices are in Portland, Oregon.

The Women's Athletic association is distributing the badges among its members and those who are interested and they will be sold Thursday and Friday. The Willamette Book store will also assist in the disposal of these badges.

Not only are the badges good-looking in so far as badges are good-looking, but the W is in raised cardinal rimmed with gold. It may also be used for countless purposes. For instance, it makes a clever arrangement for a ladies' handbag. It looks well upon a lapel of both dark and light suits. It may conveniently be fastened to one's leather belt, or as a stick pin for one's scarf. Lastly, it, when worn, reveals that you are a booster of Willamette university and not just a looker-on.

When the women ask you to purchase a badge for that Homecoming game and for all other games—think of the excursion—buy one. It costs only twenty-five cents and is surely worth that amount.

PROFESSOR PECK PLANS BOOK ON FLORA

In his herbarium Professor Morton E. Peck, head of the biology department, has preserved approximately eighteen thousand specimens of native Oregon plants, representing the nearly three thousand species which grow in this state. He is now classifying and arranging these species in a book on the Oregon flora, which he expects to have published in about two years. The book will be very exhaustive in its field. Professor Peck has been working on this project for twenty-three years, ever since he has been an instructor at Willamette.

Professor Peck is a graduate of Cornell College, and previous to his work here, he spent three years in research in Central America.

Alpha Phi Alpha sorority will entertain its alumnae members during Homecoming with a fire-side dinner Friday evening just preceding the football game.

The Misses Helen Hanke, Dorothy Rose, Lois German, Elizabeth R. Ogden, and Ellen Jean Moody, spent last week-end in Portland.

Gates Entertain Informally

Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Gatzke entertained informally in their home Friday evening after the Willamette-Columbia game. Halloween decorations were used about the rooms. Guests for the evening were Miss Gertrude Oehler, Miss Edith Findley, Joe Felton, Ray Griffith and Stanley Satchwell.

LAW SCHOOL PLANS VARIOUS ACTIVITIES

On Wednesday evening of last week the members of the Freshman Law class were the guests of Delta Theta Phi, national legal fraternity, at a banquet in their honor.

Dean Roy R. Hewitt is to speak before the assembled Kiwanians of Albany, Thursday noon of this week. Over the week-end he goes to Astoria for the Northwestern Oregon law-enforcement officers' conference.

It has been gratifying news to all, that several of the graduates of last year are making very good progress in the pursuit of their chosen profession.

No definite time has as yet been set for the opening of moot court, but it is expected that Prof. C. M. Inman, judge of the circuit, will issue summons for the first hearing before long.

SUNSETTERS TALK OF PRAGMATISM

The Sunset Philosophy club held a discussion of "Pragmatism" Thursday. The discussion should have been finished last Thursday, but no meeting was held, since the doors to the fifth floor of Waller were locked, and no arrangements had been made for another meeting place.

At a recent business meeting, it was decided that an open meeting for Freshman men would be held in about a month. Only three men will be accepted as members, but all are invited to attend open meeting. The exact date will be announced later.

Pins were selected for the members, but have not yet been ordered. No pledge pin has been adopted, as yet.

RAHE NOTES INCREASED ENROLLMENT IN SPEECH

Professor Rahe reports a total enrollment of 84 in the speech department. It is interesting to note the increase in one class alone, shown by the statistics taken from the enrollment for the class in principles of expression from the fall of 1929 to the fall of 1931. They are as follows: 1929-30—fall semester, 33; spring semester, 35; 1930-31—fall semester, 40; spring semester, 35; 1931-32—fall semester, 58.

Fraternity Pledges Party Hosts

The pledges of Sigma Tau fraternity were hosts to a party after the Student Body Skate on Saturday night.

The guests were the Misses Eleanor Barth, Elizabeth Boylan, Ruth Clement, Anna Jo Fleming, Carol Fleming, Edith Findley, Eleanor Henderson, Katherine Horton, Gwendolyn Hunt, Isobel Morehouse, Faith Sherburne, and Eleanor Yarnes.

Miss Oehler Honored

Miss Gertrude Oehler was the inspiration for a dinner given Wednesday evening. The affair was a complete surprise to Miss Oehler.

The dining table was centered with attractive Halloween decorations. Places were set for Miss Dorothy Bosshard, Miss Bertha Babcock, Miss Edith Findley, Miss Joan Middleton, Miss Elizabeth Clements and the honor guest, Miss Gertrude Oehler, Clifton Clemens, La Verne Shay, Willis Baldersee, Frank Bashor, Charles Campbell and Joe Felton.

COLLEGE OF LAW STUDENTS MEET

The first meeting of the law school student body was held in the moot court room on Tuesday evening, October 13. Several items of interest to those in the school were discussed.

The importance of attending the moot court sessions was stressed. One must be in attendance at least 85 per cent of the sessions during the freshman, junior, and senior years, in order to receive credit for this work.

In as much as the law school's share of the student body fee has been reduced, it was felt necessary to levy a tax on each member in order to carry out the activities contemplated for this year. The amount of the tax will be determined later.

It was considered desirable that the law school have a member on the university honor committee, and a committee of one was appointed to bring the subject before the proper authorities.

The students committed themselves to a concerted, co-operative program to bring the school into conformity with the highest law school standards.

The officers of the student body for this year are: Joe Lane, president; Eugene Ferguson, vice president; Walter Bell, secretary, and Paul Ackerman, treasurer.

Future meetings of the group will be held on the same evenings as the moot court sessions.

sale and she is ready and eager to supply all demands right away—the sooner the better!

Alfred King, manager of the Homecoming play, "Skidding," reports that the cast after several weeks of hard work is ready to present a first class comedy which promises to attract a full house. The play is to be given in the Salem High school auditorium on Saturday evening at 8:15 sharp. Manager King stresses the importance of being on time, as no seating will be done except before the play and between acts. He adds that a new type of program, altogether unique, will be printed for the play.

Dodgers telling of the play were dropped from an airplane over the main section of town yesterday.

During the three days of Homecoming the sororities and fraternities plan to informally entertain the scores of old members who will be back to the scenes of happy college days. All houses promise the "old pals" the time of their lives.

Beta Chi will give an informal tea Saturday afternoon and a breakfast Sunday morning. Alpha Phi Alpha fire-side supper Friday evening will also attract many. Delta Phi has planned a luncheon and pledge program for Friday afternoon.

The fraternity brothers, not to be outdone by the ladies, also have made preparations to take care of their grade. The Sigma Tau gang is to stage a line party at the Silver Grille after the play on Saturday night. At the same time Kappa Gamma Rho will throw a stag party for the Kappa grads. Then on Sunday morning Alpha Psi Delta will sponsor a breakfast.

A big time for all at Homecoming!

Dr. Albert Einstein is included in the gallery of immortals which decorates the entrance to Royce hall at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The majority of the students signed up are seniors who will graduate and begin their work, but there is also a good proportion of freshmen who will spend their four years at Willamette in preparation for service.

Over sixty per cent are interested in ministry. Those signed up in this division are E. W. Dennis, '32; Edwin D. Rounds, '33; Eugene L. Smith, '34; Everett E. Cole, '34; Hayes Beall, '32; Grant Ridley, '35; Lynn E. Vaughn, '35; John J. Rudin, '34; Burton Bearss, '35; Ross Knotts, '34; Howard Teeple, '35; Glen Houston, '32; Carl E. Blackler, '32; S. Cushing, '32; Wayne Wright, '32; W. S. Burgoyne, '32; Chester Finkbeiner, '32; Clark Wood, '33; Walter Warner, '32; and Laurence A. Burdette, '35.

BEALL WRITES FOR CHURCH MAGAZINES

Articles are Noteworthy for View on International Affairs

Hayes Beall, well known Willamette student, has proven to be a rather competent feature writer. Two of his articles have appeared in nationally known church magazines. The Christian Advocate for September the third, and the Epworth Herald for September the twelfth, both contain an article written by Beall.

The Epworth Herald article was entitled, "A Leager Looks in on a 'Y' Conference." In this feature the "Leager" seemingly did considerably more than merely "look in." The story gives an interesting and complete cover of the Y conference in the east which drew delegates from all over the world.

Beall's story in the Christian Advocate, "Y. M. C. A. Courageous in 'Valley of Decision,'" gives us a definite idea as to the staunch up-holdings of high ideals by the Y. The article is complete in detail, and written in a manner which focuses attention upon itself, forcing home to the reader's mind the import of the article. The main platform for which the Y stands as expressed, is in favor of international disarmament, modification of our national alien law, and firm support of the 18th amendment.

In the C. A. story, Beall gives us a vivid picture of the gathering with its delegates from all over the world, the speakers who represented Y organizations from all the principal countries of the world, and, finally, the lasting impression that the convention made upon the various delegates in that it left them with a mind made up to do better things for their local organizations, their communities, and for the world in general.

He concluded the talk by reading Edna St. Vincent Millay's famous poem, "Renaissance."

Archeological Seminar Meets; Advance Study

Thirteen Members Enrolled In Weekly Class Under Dr. Laughlin

Under Dr. S. B. Laughlin's guidance and leadership, the Archeological Seminar has met at its home every Monday night for the purpose of intensified study, and the learning of the latest discoveries made in that field.

This is the fifth year this course has been offered to the seniors of Willamette, and, according to Dr. Laughlin this year's class is the largest. There are 13 students—two graduate students and 11 seniors.

The whole field of sociology is covered, and, in addition, the classification of races. Besides doing independent research work, each student reviews magazine articles on the subject and reviews a book each semester.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET ATTENDS RETREAT

Members of the campus Y. M. C. A. cabinet held their annual retreat Sunday, October 18, in a mountain cabin near McMinnville. At a retreat the officers formulate plans for their year's work.

Each officer was allowed a half hour conference with Ray Culver, executive secretary of the northwest association council and owner of the cabin, and another half hour with Dr. D. H. Schulze, faculty adviser. After a hike in the afternoon a cabinet meeting was held.

Members of the cabinet who made the trip are: Dr. Schulze, Hayes Beall, northwest council member; Wesley Warren, president; Grant Gridley, secretary; Garfield Barnett, treasurer; Carroll Shirk, world fellowship chairman; Walter Warren, Christian service; Ernest Denning, campus representative; and Harold Rhoten, publicity manager.

The cabin, called "The Old Mill" is to be used by Culver for Y conferences as well as his family use. A large stone fire place, now only partially built, will contain rocks from all parts of the world, including one from the Willamette campus. The cabin is on a forty acre tract—the site of an old mill which was visited by the Willamette men.

Comparing modern and olden times in relation to customs, inventions and types of people, Professor Lawrence J. Zillman spoke in chapel Thursday morning.

PROF. ZILLMAN SPEAKS ON LIFE

He stated that, in his opinion, women are today playing a more important part in both the industrial and economic world and that the future generation of women will continue to rise in business efficiency.

During the course of his speech Professor Zillman touched upon the quotation, "To live is to die a little," and briefly went on to explain the meaning of this statement.

He concluded the talk by reading Edna St. Vincent Millay's famous poem, "Renaissance."

5000 Spectators on Hand at Initial Night Game in Salem

FABER SHOWS UP WELL

Willamette Scores Early; Third Period Slack; Neihl Out-punts Locals

Under lights that turned darkness into day, 5,000 spectators watched the Fighting Irish from Portland bow in defeat to a fighting Bearcat outfit. Leslie Spark's final pistol shot found the Bearcats with seven touchdowns and four goal kicks to their credit. Willamette played an offensive game in all but the third quarter when Gene Murphy's boys, by means of a long forward pass and a completed left end run for about 30 yards pushed the white-jerseys back in their own territory. However in the fourth quarter with the starting lineup back on the gridiron, the Columbia forward wall began once more to weaken and the local boys shoved over two more touchdowns.

Willamette excelled in every department except punting. Neihl, left halfback for Columbia got off some long spiral kicks which caused the Bearcats to lose on most of the exchange of kicks. The outstanding ball carrier of the game was Erickson, Bearcat halfback. On nearly every attempt Walt carried the ball through the secondary defense. Walt also shortened the length of the Columbia punts by his fine returns—sometimes carrying the ball back to the Cannady showed up well white line of scrimmage. In the game, George gained consistently and scored one touchdown—which is remarkable when considering that he had but a second and third string line in front of him when he packed the pigskin.

Faber, although out last season, came back and displayed some fine offensive work. Both Grannis and Houck played two Columbia passes. Captain Jones, as usual, played his strong game at right tackle. Walt Erickson scored three of the Willamette touchdowns, Cannady one, Johnson one, Paul one, and Williams one.

The only Bearcat player who apparently could not get going properly was George Erickson. Several times George was tackled behind his own line of scrimmage for the same time the other backfielders were gaining fairly consistently. With additional experience and practice he may prove to be a valuable man.

The game was marred by a considerable number of penalties by both the Willamette and Columbia players—for off-side and holding. The game, featured by loose playing and juggling by both teams, was free from any injuries. The grandstand was well filled and night football is quite a success.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC FIELD NEARLY DONE

New Field is of Ample Size and is Well Equipped For Sports

Work on the women's athletic field which was begun last spring is rapidly nearing completion and will be finished in time for Homecoming. Installation of a new drain system will complete the equipment of the field. The tiled drain is three feet deep and 215 feet long. It will have a two-foot covering of gravel. So far the plans do not include any other covering.

The new field provides ample facilities for women's sports. Its playing ground measures approximately 120 by 80 feet, and consists of three volley ball courts with equipment, a soccer field, a baseball diamond, and an archery range.

The project is being sponsored by the W. A. A. and is financed by the Women's Athletic Fund. Agitations were begun last spring by Muriel White, president of the W. A. A., who realized how sorely a woman's athletic field was needed, and saw the possibilities in the unused land northeast of the gymnasium. She interviewed Dr. Carl G. Doney, who, in turn, interviewed the Board of Trustees and gained its consent. Work was begun immediately with Dean Clarke in charge of the grading. The women's athletic field fills a long felt need. It is already being used several times each week. It will give women's sports added impetus and hold forth a greater inducement to take part in this phase of college life.

RESERVES WORK COYOTES' STYLE

Emphasis Being Placed on Defense of Anticipated Air Attack

College of Idaho plays occupy the attention of Spec Keene's Bears as they start the first lap of preparation for the encounter with the potato-fed Coyotes Friday night. A reliable scout sent Keene a full vote book of remarks on the ability of Anse Cornell's pack.

Since then assistant coaches Sparks and Deets have organized a reserve team of Bearcats in order to present the finding in a definite form. Thus the fourth stringers are dishing up the variety what it expects to meet Friday night. Particular attention is given to perfecting a never-leak defense against the anticipated shower of passes by the Idahoans. So far the defense has proved ineffectual. Led by Marsh Hartley, the reserves scored four times on the first team and on three different occasions via the air route on the third string. The fray looked plenty bad and it is contemplated that the intercepted passes which featured the game last year unless the boys play heads up, will be lacking in the battle before the homecoming crowd.

The Coyotes passing attack is not the only thing that is worrying Spec. Captain Keith Jones is not up to par because of an attack of stomach trouble.

Probably one of the most outstanding weaknesses in Willamette's game against Columbia was in the failure of the ball totters to stick by the interference until they had done their work. Besides drilling the boys on defense for an aerial attack Spec is endeavoring to drive home that the best defense is a good offense. To back up this given them a number of new plays.

LOWLY FROSH TROUCE SIG FOOTBALL OUTFIT

The lowly freshmen led by the accurate passing of Getchen, rose from the place they were hiding out to inflict a decisive victory over the Sigs. Friday, Leer was on the receiving end for both of the touchdowns that the freshmen made. Campbell, for the Sigs, looked to be the only man of the fraternity team who had previously played with a football. The brand of ball that the Sigs displayed was far from that with which they defeated the Alpha Psi team.

Cannady and Grannis Show Much Football Knowledge

"Smiling" George Excellent Student; Peoria Boy Ousts Houck

At the end of the football season last year Willamette's hope for this year was darkened by the loss of men by graduation and the knowledge that some of the boys would be unable to come back. So the bulk of the work this year is being carried by new men and fortunately the Bearcats have quite an available list.

Undoubtedly one of the best football prospects "Spec" Keene has this year is "Smiling" George Cannady. George, as has been mentioned previously, has a splendid football record in high school. His ability on the gridiron was well shown in the Columbia game last Friday. Cannady is the fastest man on the squad—in fact so fast that he has difficulty keeping behind his interference. Success in football is not entirely independent of the players personality. George illustrates this well for not only has he a smile for every one—even in the game, but his spirit is encouraging to the rest of the players. Although football means a great deal to George, he places scholarship at the head of the list. Much is to be expected from Cannady during the next four years.

The Columbia game brought another player into the limelight—Grannis—one of the husky trio from Peoria. Grannis has the fire which is essential on both the defensive and the offensive. During the game last Friday Grannis broke through the line several times to stop the opposing backs behind their own line of scrimmage. Although not sure of his position, he is fighting hard—for Bob Houck with two years' experience is right there to seize every available opportunity to beat Grannis.

FORUM DISCUSSES MISSIONARY WORK

An interesting meeting depicting the life, work, and problems of missionaries was held by the Young People's Forum of the Presbyterian last Sunday evening.

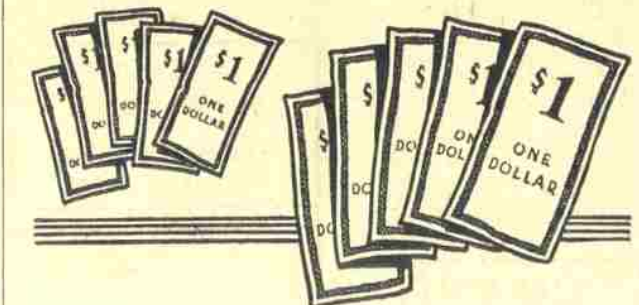

The actual discussion was preceded by three Missionary reports. Carl Cording opened the meeting with a report from a missionary station in Mesopotamia. He was followed by Charles Glanville who told in a most realistic manner the story of "Ka Tau," a Chinese orphan who was left in a small town in China to make his way as best he could. Mr. Glanville concluded his report by reading a stanza from Sam Poas' "The House by the Side of the Road." The third report was given by Paul McKiltrick, who read a humorous and informative letter from a missionary in India.

Following these reports a short discussion was held concerning "The Problems of the Missionary." A large number of young people attended the meeting.

TIE FOR PLACE IN LEAGUE STANDING

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM ORGANIZED

Willamette will add another type of team to the list of intercollegiate sports. This is the newly organized cross-country team. Meets will be held this fall culminating in a race with the Linfield college team late in November.

Cross-country running adds zest and interest to fall track practice. Many prospective as well as veteran club artists are already getting into shape. An inter-class race will be run on November 11, according to present plans. More men are needed for the team, especially freshmen are urged to come out.

CROSS COUNTRY MEN TO VIE AT HOMECOMING

Several boys are out practicing for the cross-country run to be held just previous to the Linfield game next month. It will be a three-mile run with boys from both Willamette and Linfield competing. The distance may all be run on the track or the boys may start at some out of town point and race to the track. Already five boys have signified their intention to represent Willamette.

League Standings

Upper class	3	0	1	1.000
Faculty	2	0	1	1.000
Alpha Psi Delta	3	1	0	.750
Freshmen	1	1	1	.500
Sigma Tau	1	3	0	.250
Kappa Gam, Rho	0	1	1	.000
Internationals	0	3	1	.000

With the third week of pass-ball under way, we find the faculty and the upper class eleven in a tie for first place with no defeats to their credit.

Outstanding on the faculty eleven are both Maple and Sparks who have been carrying the brunt of the attack. Among the top-notchers are the Alpha Pals also who have won three at a distasteful with a percentage of .750. The entire attack of the Alpha Pals centers around Andy Peterson, veteran ball passer for the fraternity.

The Freshman came through with a surprise victory over Sigma Tau, winning 12 to 2. Sigma Tau has won one and lost three for a percentage of .250 while the Kappas and the Internationals have not as yet broke into the victory column.
