Ballot Foretells Student Awakening

Willamette Collegian

Vol. LVII Salem, Oregon, Friday, May 9, 1947 No. 28

2 Amendments Face SB Monday

Voting on two revisions to the constitution of the Willamette student body will take place on Monday at regular election polls in the 'Cat Cavern, Eaton hall and the Law school, Margaret Allen, ASWU second vice president, announced today.

Polls will open at 8 o'clock and remain open until four o'clock and balloting will be carried on simultaneously with that on the student body officer run-offs.

The first amendment will provide for the instigation of a judiciary committee which will serve to settle all disputes arising over the interpretation of the constitution. It is also hoped that the committee will later serve as a student disciplinary group.

Membership to the committee will consist of two members from the senior class, two from the junior class, one from the sophomore class and one from the freshman class. One member each will also be elected from the College of Liberal Arts, Music and Law. All members will be voted upon by a popular election of the student body.

The second committee sets up the procedure by which a new organization can obtain a charter from the ASWU.

On these amendments a two-thirds majority of those voting is required before the revisions may be incorporated into the constitution.

Registration For Fall Term Starts May 21

Pre-registration for students who plan to attend Willamette again next year will be held during the week of May 21 according to H. B. Jory, registrar.

The reason for this late registration date said Jory, was that the schedule for classes would have to be turned in first and this would not be done until late in the month.

Next year's anticipated enrollment on the basis of applications so far received will be approximately 1,000 or 1,100 students with about 25 or 30 former students, not enrolled since the war, returning.

Until the pre-registration of present students is complete there will be no accurate figures available pertaining to the number of present students who will return next fall Jory said. However, plans are underway to handle an expanded student body.

on the Pacific coast to be posted.

Any student desiring a summer session catalog may obtain it in the registrar's office. Students desiring catalogs mailed to others whom they believe would be interested should leave names and addresses at the registrar's office or contact Erickson.

Awards Chapel Set May 29

Thursday, May 29, has been set by Pres. G. Herbert Smith as the date for the annual Award chapel. At the assembly, which will be held in Waller hall, awards will be given in cash prizes, scholarships for next year and certificates for participation in campus activities such as forensics, drama and publications.

Tapping for Beta Alpha Gamma, sophomore women's service honorary, and Cap and Gown, senior women's honorary will also take place. Seniors who are in the upper ten percent of their graduating class will also be named to Alpha Kappa Nu and announcement of next year's senior scholars will be made at the chapel.

Approximately 17 awards, including partial tuition scholarships and cash prizes, will be awarded to high students.

Polls Reopen Monday For Run-Offs

No candidate for ASWU office received the required 51 per cent majority in this week's vote and as a consequence revotes will be held Monday all day for all four student body offices. Stuart Compton and Bill Reder are the two surviving candidates after a close race for president.

Balloting this week was the heaviest of the year. During the three days polls were open 624 students, approximately two thirds of the total enrollment, turned out for the election.

Still in the running for first vice-president are Don Douris and Bob Busick. Terry Stewart, still in running Wednesday night, notified Margaret Allen yesterday of her withdrawal from the balloting.

Chuck Mills and Helen Larson will vie for second vice-president in Monday's revote.

The two candidates still on the ballot for the office of secretary are Addyse Lane and Joyce Reeves.

Polls will be open from 8 to 4 p.m. Monday and Tuesday

Shortly after voting started Tuesday those in charge of the polls discovered that a number of unmarked ballots were missing. Immediately the polls were closed and all votes already cast were burned. The remaining blank ballots were then stamped with an identifying mark. All living organizations were notified of the action and the word was passed over the loudspeaker.

Margaret Allen, first vice-president, stated that one unmarked ballot was cast after the voting started again.

for the run-off vote on the four offices and will be located in Eaton hall, the 'Cat cavern and the law school. The BAGs and SAX will be in charge of the polls as they were last week.

Compton and Reder accompanied present student body proxy Clarence Wicks yesterday when he left by plane to attend a conference of student body presidents at Vancouver, B.C. The conference will be attended by student body presidents from universities in all western states. Student government problems and policies will be discussed at the meet. The three delegates from WU will return to the campus Sunday.

Male Students Must Live, Eat In New Dorm

All unmarried, out-of-town men will be required to live and take meals in facilities provided by the University when the new men's dorm is completed next year according to recently issued '47-'48 catalog. Permission to live off-campus will have to be obtained from the dean of students.

The catalogue states, "New fireproof Residence Halls for the housing of 224 men students are planned to be available at the start of second semester 1947-48. The building will provide a dormitory and four residence units for fraternities.

On completion of the building all unmarried out-of-town men will be required to reside and take meals in facilities provided by the University. In cases of special need where students are required to live off the campus to earn board or room, written permission must be obtained from the dean of students before the opening of college in September.

Board and room for men living in the new dormitory will cost $205 a semester.

Five Submit Petitions For 5 Publication Jobs

As of 1:30 p. m. yesterday afternoon five petitions had been turned in to Dr. Robert E. Lantz for editorships next year on various student publications. The petitions will go before the publications board Tuesday afternoon.

The deadline was at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon for the positions, which include the editorships of the Handbook, the Fusers' Guide, the Wallulah and the Collegian.

VA Arranges Uninterrupted Subsistence

In most Oregon colleges, veterans will be permitted to continue from spring term to summer session at the same school without a break in subsistence payments. Louise Cutler, veteran advisor on campus, announced this week.

This special arrangement was made by the Veterans Administration regional office in Portland. The interim between spring and summer terms must not be longer than 6 consecutive school days.

A veteran may go from spring to summer session within the six-day limitation without asking the VA for leave which would result in an interruption of subsistence payments, the bulletin stated, but, if the interim is more than six school days, the veteran must put in his request for leave at least two weeks before spring term ends, and then ask reinstatement when he re-enters school.

The Charles E. McCulloch scholarship, which will be awarded to an upperclass student who has maintained a high scholastic average the preceding years and who is in genuine need of financial aid in order to complete the University course.

The Albert prize, an award of $25, is made to a student having a record for faithful study and scholarship who has made the greatest progress in character, service and wholesome influence.

Meier and Frank of Portland will give a scholarship of $100 and other scholarships will be given to outstanding music students. The Rex A. Turner award will be given to a student who has demonstrated outstanding ability as a debater and the George Neuner prize of $25 will be given to a student who has

A petition by Richard Page was handed in for the position of Fusers' Guide editor. Page is a member of the Collegian sports staff and has written copy for the Wallulah. While at Salem high school he was sports editor of the school paper and was athletic publicity director for two years.

Jim Brennen has submitted a petition for the position of handbook editor. Brennen has had three years of journalism, was editor of a school paper for two years and was editor of a high school annual.

Only petition submitted for the Wallulah editor was turned in by Warren James, who served as the assistant editor for this year's Wallulah. James was also editor of the 1946 handbook.

Ray Loter, who was in charge of the ad section in this year's Wallulah, is the only applicant for the post of publications manager. Loter was also ad solicitor for the Fusers' Guide and the Collegian this year.

shown ability as a orator or an extemporaneous speaker.

Four Mary L. Collins scholarships will be given to two sophomore men and two sophomore women. The Collins awards are made to sophomore men and women who have maintained a grade of 2.5 or above. Popular voting on the four was taken in chapel yesterday, and the names of the six highest will go before a faculty committee which will decide upon the four winners. Fifty-three sophomore women were eligible to compete for the scholarship and 59 men had grades above the required average.

Highest grade point maintained among the women was had by Marjorie Powell, who had a GPA 3.737. Joe Power, with a 3.812, had the highest average among the men.

Student Vets Chapel Slated For Tuesday

Tuesday's chapel period will be compulsory for veterans only. Louise Cutler, veteran's advisor on campus, reported this week. All veterans must attend the meeting at Wayne Smith Veteran's Administration training officer will be here during the period.

Summer Session Registration Date Scheduled For June 5

June fifth has been set as the date for students now enrolled at Willamette to register for the summer session. Walter E. Erickson, summer session director, announced this week that the enrollment will probably exceed that of last year, judging from questionnaires turned in by students indicating an intention to enroll.

Catalogs have been sent to all graduates now teaching in northwest high schools. Posters showing an aerial view of the campus and surrounding vicinity have also been mailed to all high schools as well as universities

"Cat" Faces Closure

"The Cavern will be closed part time if there is not more student cooperation in obtaining help." Mrs. Frank Newell, 'Cat Cavern manager, announced this week.

Beginning this week it will be necessary to close the Cavern for half hour periods during the afternoon to allow employees to catch up on a backlog of work.

Employees who can work for four hours from one to five are asked to contact Mrs. Newell. Wages are 50 cents an hour.

Poll 'Cats Climb Off Fence

Like the infiltration of dawning, Willamette scholars climbed down from their perches of lethargy this week to participate in an unprecedented turnout in Willamette's annual general elections. Well over two-thirds of the entire student body kept six-weeks' eyes propped open to cast their say in election of next year's campus leaders.

Recognition of merit is due those students who took an active part in the election along with those people who conducted balloting. It would seem that this is making a step in the right direction towards genuine student interest.

One flaw, however, to mar the bright surface was the discovery that a number of ballots were missing. Margaret Allen, second vice president of ASWU, took prompt and decisive action in closing polls and destroying all votes already cast by noon Tuesday. Further action provided stamped ballots to insure against the casting of missing ballots. She then notified all living organizations, by telephone, and the campus, by way of the loud speaking system, of her action.

Despite the efficient measures taken by those in charge of polls, there has been some speculation on campus regarding the election. Some students have suggested that any mishap such as occurred in Tuesday's balloting might influence the result of a close election and a revote might be in order.

BEEFS and BOUQUETS

Dear Editor:

Perhaps we, not being Methodist students, are not justified in this criticism, however after attending Thursday's religious chapel at First Church we were amazed and frankly disgusted.

The service in itself was perhaps not outstanding but did it warrant the boldly discourteous and even sacrilegious attitude of the students in general? In the balcony within a limited view over twenty persons smacked gum, to ignore the spit-balls and subtle roar of giggling conversation that at times drowned the speaker's message?

It seems to be popular opinion that the chapel services might be planned with a sharper eye to the interests of the students or the compulsion of attending relaxed, but until the University remedies the situation in one way or another, can't the students of Willamette as individuals find at least enough respect for others and for the purpose of the service to maintain an attitude of quiet dignity for one short hour a week?

They might even find it worth listening to; we did.

Dear Editor:

Well, for once it looks as though student body elections are going to be kept clean. Maybe the persons in charge won't succeed altogether but at least an honest effort is being made this year.

With the BAGs and SAXs in charge of elections a definite group have taken over this difficult job and is really going to town to keep everything on the up and up.

Tuesday as I was marking my ballot I heard some fellow say, "You're going to vote for—" and he named one of the candidates. He then marked his own ballot and started to shove it in the box. The SAX in charge, however, calmly took the ballot from the man and threw it out remarking as he did so, "This year the elections are going to be clean. No electioneering is allowed around the polls."

The campaigner immediately started another campaign this time madly cursing the ballot snatcher. The SAX stuck to his guns however, and things were finally squared away.

Such action should certainly be commended by anyone. And in this case the ballot happened to be for the SAX's own fraternity brother. It shows that the students at Willamette are finally getting to mean what they say about keeping elections clean.

Congratulations go to the BAGs and SAXs and every other student who is interested in seeing the best candidates win.

BETTIE OLSON, Editor

I'm Just An Ultra-Violet Ray of Sunshine

Today I am sitting in one of my nice, cool, boring classes in dear ivy covered Waller and I am listening to my professor give out with many interesting facts about Napoleon and his crossing some river called the Patomic and George Washington crossing the Alps with an elephant named Hannibal and I am thinking that I would like to get some exercise too.

Well it is being rather impossible for me to leave this class as it is being quite a ways from my seat to the door and anyway I am in no mood to become wide enough awake to bother about walking out.

The class is being over finally and I am free! I am charging madly down the stairs when I am seeing my good friend Mimmii Fishcake standing on the lawn beckoning to me. This Mimmii Fishcake is being my girl friend and she is coming about as near to being a cheese cake as any poor Willamette fish can.

We are walking up into the backyard of her sorority house and all her young friends are sitting around becoming beautifully tanned and they are being very happy to see me I am gathering. Anyway, they are greeting me with loud screams and titters. "...ek," they are saying, "why are you being a dumb enough boob Mimmii to bring that hulk with you?"

I am bowing politely to all of them and acknowledging their kind remarks. Who is knowing, some day I may be running for an office and will be most happy to have these lovely ladies for my friends. I am even thinking that I might be starting my campaign early by kissing the babies but Mimmii is not interested in my getting ahead in political circles.

Finally we are all settling down for a long spring nap in the sunshine. All these women are constantly dabbling themselves in baby oil to become a more and more lovely shade of broiled lobster they are telling me. I am thinking that I am always liking broiled lobster most especially when it is coming in such varied and lovely shapes and hues. My Mimmii, however, is not sharing my same enthusiasm for them.

All this I am absorbing as well as a blistering sunburn on my tender back and I am thinking that my young gentlemen friends out on the golf links are really missing a great opportunity. However, I am not one to discourage them from their pleasures and if they are more interested in such games I am not to change their minds.

I am wondering, however, what they are going to be saying when I am arriving back at the Y with a sunburn and smelling of baby oil. But, when I am not really going to be bothering my head about that as long as I am happy and after all where would Napoleon have been if he'd never crossed the Delaware?

- Sweepings from the Cavern -

May day over and everyone trying madly to recover from the excitement of the big weekend. The may pole girls especially are trying to recover, not only from physical exertion but also from mental strain as that is the only kind thing that can be said to explain their sad plight last Saturday. Oh well, the whole affair really went off better than expected and the audience enjoyed the spectacle much more than if the gals had danced in their right senses.

Congratulations must go to the fellows, however, for the really fine job they did as escorts. Maybe if they'd have fallen in with the original plan and danced the light fantastic with the women, things would have gone along better.

Speaking of dances, Saturday night's big formal in the gym was really packed. Certainly was good to see a dance well populated for once in the school year, but it was a trifle difficult to move in the crush.

Big huzzahs go to Loren Winterscheid, Al Voigt, Dean Thomas and all the junior class who helped

Startling Campaigns Make ASWU Elections Turbulent

We're surprised to see our stars and stripes still flying atop Waller's flag pole . . . seems strange that the enterprising and energetic campaign managers have overlooked this spot to hang a banner. But then, one can't think of everything, although we doubt that few women on campus will forget the pound boxes of sweets so appropriately sent to the various sorority houses.

Serving as road markers for those who just might get lost on their way to the poles were the signs, "Lane Avenue" and "For-Lane Highway." That's certainly one sure way to speed through to victory. And for those who sought the best in entertainment, "The Olson Story," starring Marilee Olson as second vice-president, was offered.

Campaign speeches were all running along the same general lines in Tuesday's chapel until Bill Cook brought out a few points of interest, namely those of Janie Mathers. Stu Compton emphatically declared that he wouldn't trade his job as campaign manager . . . for Stu Compton . . . ever; not many men have the privilege of visiting girls' dorms after 10 p. m. The only discouraging part about the whole arrangement was that it was all legal.

These politicians are smooth operators, no doubt about it. Nothing like patterning publicity after that of the tuberculosis drives (you find the connection, we can't). "Reeves Walked Here" trademarks, accompanied by the unusual 5-toe foot, deluged the campus.

Elsewhere, students could not escape the mysterious sounding of a gong, which pronounced woe unto those who neglected to cast their ballot for Reid Shelton. And to anti-climax this flood of propaganda which swept over the university was the announcement that all votes cast Tuesday morning had been lost.

with the novel decorations for the May Mood Prom. After the dance all the Betas and half the school took off for Winona Chalet. Bet the management hasn't seen so many people since the grand opening. Some got so discouraged they sat in the car and prayed they'd get service in time to get home by 1:00 o'clock. Don't know about the results, they might still be sitting out there for all we know.

Still can't understand why the fellows called off their sing. Saturday night the Betas and Sigs serenaded and Monday the Phi Deltis came through with a good rendition. No fooling, they sounded plenty all right.

What a mad house this office is! People in here campaigning, people in here painting signs, people in here working, people in here trying to go on picnics, people just sitting in here, people—oh, well, you get the general idea.

Dullness of the library was shattered last Tuesday with a dull thud on the right hand side of the door. Bob Fletcher, deeply engrossed in study, leaned back a little too far and ended in a heap on the floor. Oh well, anything to relieve the mental strain of school.

At Oregon the Sig Eps have arrived at a fine solution to the problem of how to memorialize the brothers who did not come back. Seems they've decided to give as a tribute a thousand dollar contribution to the Erb Memorial Union. Sounds like a mighty fine idea, wonder if the fellows at Willamette have ever considered such a thing in connection with the Student Union to be built over in Sweetland field.

Juvenile Clinic Director Talks To Conference

Dr. James S. Plant, psychiatrist and director of the juvenile clinic in New Jersey, was the featured speaker at the ninth annual meeting of the Pacific Northwest Conference on family relations held in Portland last week.

According to Walter W. Argo, sociology professor who attended the conference, one of Plant's most interesting comments on marriage was "we don't marry individuals—we attempt to marry images and then we spend the rest of our lives trying to make him into the person we think he is."

Considerable attention was also focused on setting up a counseling service for married people and those planning to marry, Argo said.

The highlight of the conference was a panel discussion on "Today's Teen-agers and Their Parents" carried on by high school students and parents.

Others from Willamette attending the conference were Mrs. Clare Simmerville, Maryann Wittliff, Marion Reamer, Don Tasker and Howard Burleigh.

Graduates Help to Alleviate Teacher Shortage in Oregon

Although the teacher shortage in Oregon is still acute, increased salaries, retirement legislation, and action on the part of the press, educators and school and community leaders have increased teacher training figures throughout the state of Oregon.

Students at Willamette university are doing their part to brighten the overall picture of teacher training and the last year has shown a marked increase in the number of students entering teacher training. Many Willamette graduates already hold positions in Oregon public schools.

Some of Willamette's seniors doing student teaching at the present time are: Robert French and Marvin Humphreys, who teach U. S. History at Salem senior high school; Ronold Runyan, John Macy, Gilbert Kister, and Bill Hanauska, who are teaching physical education at Salem senior high Melva Williamson, Alice Rose, Elaine Cloudy, Marian Crews, and Betty Louise Sinkola, who are teaching music at Parrish junior high school; Lora Jane Curtis,

AAUP Elects New Officers

Willamette' chapter of the American Association of University Professors elected new officers this week, who will hold office until October, 1948. Chester F. Luther, former dean of men who is now in the Willamette math department was elected president of the group.

Helen Pearce, head of the English department, was named vice-president. James Simpson was elected as secretary and Bennet Ludden was chosen as the treasurer.

Social Cards Must Be Returned to Dean

A card must be turned in to the Dean of women's office for any student-social function, stating the time, place, sponsoring organization, hours of the affair, and the sponsors, says Olive M. Dahl, dean of women.

Larson Needs Summer Help

Those attending summer school who would like to work part-time in the bookstore during the session are asked to apply to Mrs. Delsia Larson, store manager. There will be about four hours of work a day.

There are still a few of this semester's text books which have not been called for in the store, according to Mrs. Larson, and students who have not picked them up should do so. Mother's Day gifts which include stationery, pen and pencil sets and plastic mounted calendars are being featured in the book store this week. There is also a supply of wrapping paper and ribbon.

Two Drives For War-Deprived People Make Headway at WU

Two drives, one for a flute to be sent to Europe and one for athletic equipment to be sent to the Philippine islands, were under way on the Willamette campus this week. The drives were initiated after letters from the impoverished were published in the Collegian several weeks ago.

Judge, Nurse To Lecture On Vocations

Bernice Orwig, registered nurse, will speak on the subject of nursing as a career, Tuesday, in room 23 at 1:30 p.m. Eaton hall. The speaker will be on campus as a part of the vocational counselling program at Willamette.

Final counselling series will be Tuesday, May 20, when George Rossman and Walter Argo will speak to students interested in law or social work as a career.

Rossman, who was scheduled at an earlier date and unable to come, will speak at 1:30 p.m. in room 27 of Eaton and Argo will speak in room 23, Eaton at the same time.

Rossman is a member of the Oregon state supreme court and Argo in addition to being on the faculty at Willamette is also prominent in social work throughout the Northwest.

The drive for athletic equipment was aided when representatives of those backing it approached living organizations and asked that discarded tennis racquets, baseballs, softballs and bats be given to the drive or that money be contributed for the purchase of new equipment. Equipment, which is collected during the campaign, will be sent to Surigao high school in the Philippines. The principal of the war-battered school is a graduate of Willamette university.

The other drive under way is headed by Prof. Bennet Ludden, a friend of the European flutist requesting the new instrument. Money needed for the flute totals about $300 of which more than $100 has already been subscribed by music students. The instrument will be purchased at a local music store and all who can possibly aid in the campaign are urged to contact Ludden as soon as possible. Appeals to living organizations for donations to this campaign were also made Monday night.

Dorm Work up to Schedule; Infirmary Rearranged in June

Turmoil of construction on the east campus is gradually changing excavations and piles of soil into the foundations of the men's dormitory. Structures of cement and wood supported by metal braces outline the H-shaped building. Several basement rooms have been completed as far as cement work is concerned.

A modern mixermobile is working at the construction site and truns out cement as a cook would mix pancakes on a large scale. Trucks dump gravel into a box on wheels, workmen add cement, and pulleys roll the cart up into a great shaker, where water is added.

It is expected that the infirmary will be completed by the first of June but will not be opened until the fall semester. Electric wiring and fixtures and plumbing are delaying construction at present in both the infirmary and Chresto.

Dormitory construction is progressing according to schedule and will probably be completed by December as originally planned.

Theme of the formal will be "Reflection" with La Fyrne Showacy of Chi Omega in charge of decorating the hall. Plans at the present time include pink clouds, quilted side walls, and a fountain in the center of the floor to carry out the theme.

Delta Gamma is in charge of the programs, refreshments and chaperones. The programs are of modernistic design. Refreshments of cookies and punch will be served throughout the evening.

Phyllis Freres of Pi Beta Phi is taking care of the orchestra, which will be Don Ziegler, of Oregon State college and his orchestra.

Alpha Chi Omega was in charge of securing the hall for the dance.

Chaperones for the dance include Miss Minnie Just, Mrs. W. E. Kirk, Mrs. Deseret Sheaffer, Mrs. Paul Weyrauch, Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lantz, Dr. and Mrs. Egbert S. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Erickson.

Two Present Dual Concert Tuesday Eve

Joan Johnston and Katherine Schissler will present a combined piano recital Tuesday evening in Waller hall at 8:15 p.m., Dean Melvin H. Geist of the music school revealed today. It is not, however, a two piano recital.

Miss Johnston will begin the dual concert by playing the Bach-Rummel "Jesus Christ the Son of God" and the Bach-Liszt "Fantana and Fugue in G minor." Katherine will respond with Ravel's "Sonatine" and the women will render Mozart's "Sonata for Four Hands in F Major" preceding intermission.

Following intermission Miss Johnston will play Arnold Bax's "Burlesque," Medtner's "Two Fairy Tales Op. 26" and Ernst Dohanyi's "Scherzo in C sharp Minor." Miss Schissler concluded the program with "Piano Variations" by Aaron Copland.

Miss Schissler came to Willamette from Salem and is now a junior in the music school. Currently she is studying music with Bennet Ludden, assistant professor of music.

Miss Johnston is a Canadian who has given several radio programs, appeared in some UBC musical productions and was the accompanist for the British Columbia Institute of Music and Drama.

Roses Reveal Engagement Of Couple

A surprise came to the Alpha Chi Omegas last Monday night when a bouquet of red roses and box of candy were presented to the house from Nan Preede and Jim Bohnenkamp announcing the couple's engagement.

Miss Preede, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred B. Preede of Bend, Ore., is a freshman at Willamette and is a member of Alpha Chi Omega. She was one of the four princesses at the Letterman's Ball last winter.

Bohnenkamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hal Bohnenkamp, is from La Grande, Ore., and is a senior, majoring in business administration.

The wedding will take place in Bend in October. They will live in La Grande where Mr. Bohnenkamp will be employed.

Betas, XO's Hold Dinners

Members and pledges of Beta Theta Pi held an exchange dinner with Chi Omega Wednesday evening. The two groups divided with half going to the Golden Pheasant as guests of the Betas and the other half staying at the Chi Omega house as guests of the Chi O's. Prof Raul Bertrand and Miss Janet Fleischauer were guests of the Betas at the Golden Pheasant.

In charge of the dinner for the Betas was Bill Edwards while Norma Hoffine acted as manager of the Chi Omega dinner.

Pi Phi Tells Nuptial Date With Candy

Announcement of the wedding date of Miss Patsy Schneider was made Monday night when a box of chocolates was passed during the house meeting to her sorority sisters.

Miss Schneider will marry Ted F. Mankertz on Sunday June 15, at the First Congregational church at 4:30 o'clock with the Rev. Seth Huntington officiating. A reception will follow in the fireplace room.

Miss Schneider is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Schneider of Salem and Mankertz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted F. Mankertz also of Salem.

Choral Festival Tonight Ends Campus Music Week Events

Topping off a campus wide celebration of National Music week, the Willamette A Capella choir will participate in the Collegiate Choral Festival in Portland public auditorium at 8:15, at which 350 voices, massed from eight northwest universities and colleges, will join in concert under the direction of Dr. Ralph Lyman, dean of music in Pomona college, Claremont, California.

Dean Melvin H. Geist of the music school announced that colleges to be represented in the choral festival are University of Portland, Lewis & Clark college, Linfield college, Pacific university, Marylhurst college, Cascade college and Willamette university.

Individual concerts of last week included piano and violin majors, Donetta Reese and Betty Kulman, in a double concert, Ralph Dobbs, assistant professor of piano, and Virginia Ward Elliot presented a concert sponsored by the Oregon Music Teacher's association.

The University band gave a Tuesday evening performance while last Sunday night the A Capella choir rendered its full concert of the spring tour in its only Salem appearance.

Law Students Join in State Honorary Fest

Delta Theta Phi, national law fraternity, will hold its annual state founders day celebration Saturday night at the Portland air base. Wolverton Senate, Willamette's chapter of the fraternity, will be represented at the affair by most of its members and many of the alumni.

For the first time in the history of Delta Theta Phi, the fraternity's national convention will be held in Portland, Oregon. The three-day convention will begin its session on June 27th. Rupert E. Park, Dean of the Wolverton Senate of the Law school, says that the tribune of the Wolverton Senate will represent the Willamette Law school at the convention.

Advisors Get Second Six Weeks' Grades

Second six weeks' grades are in the hands of faculty advisors today, Dean Lawrence A. Riggs announced yesterday.

The grades which were compiled in the dean's office, were distributed to the faculty members this week and anyone who has a grade lower than a C is advised to see his advisor as soon as possible, according to Riggs.

Yellow cards, which were filled out by the students last week, will be filed in the advisor's office and one will be sent to parents or guardians.

Students, Professors Express Approval of Senior Orals

More than 100 senior students at Willamette have been taking orals the past month or are still preparing to take them in the next few weeks. Since Willamette is one of the few universities in the nation to require an oral examination for a bachelor degree, many students have questioned the value and significance of this stepping stone to graduation.

In orals the student selects time is usually two hours, and the entire background of the student is reviewed, with special interest on his major subject. If the senior fails to pass his oral he is given another chance in several weeks after he has more completely revived the material.

Dr. Helen Pearce, professor of English, when questioned as to her opinion on how meaningful an oral was said, "I think the value lies in opportunity for the student to review and organize material in his major field. The oral itself gives him an opportunity to become articulate, that is to express his opinions and shows his capability to think while being questioned. Some-

May Weekend Rests On Laurels

By Marilee Olson

A May moon and crackling barbecue fire started May Weekend last Thursday in a glow of excitement, which didn't abate until the final church services on Sunday. Hot dogs, cokes, a radio, and lusty singing made the watching hours lively, and although there were dark circles under participants eyes on Friday, even Stu Compton who suffered a bad burn, retained his enthusiasm.

Inter-sorority sing officially opened the festivities Friday at eleven, when the women showed the result of several weeks of early morning practices. Opinion seemed to be that the sing should be held semi-annually instead of just for May Weekend, if only for the inspiration of hearing them.

Friday morning showed promise of rain, but by noon the clouds had rolled away and the crowd adjourned to Sweetland field for the barbecue, while Ray Yocom entertained in the renowned Yocom manner. Queen Margaret Allen and her court of Mary Runyan and Elaine Cloudy were feted in the afternoon at a tea at the Chi Omega house, after which a caravan of cars rolled out to Waters park for a baseball game with University of Portland.

Curtain opened at 8:15 p.m. Friday evening to present the drama department's interpretation of Agatha Christie's exciting mystery, and the Salem high stage became the scene of eight violent deaths. Leading the unusual cast were Janie Mathers, Carl Ritchie and Joe Power.

Under Winona Dillard, the May Morning breakfast Saturday went off smoothly and on schedule, with guests luckily seated and served. Guests and alumnae were registered in the library following the breakfast.

Using Eaton hall's lawn for the site of the coronation proved to be a sure-fire move, according to alumnae comments after the program. Not only was there more space for seats, but the setting itself seemed very appropriate in which to crown lovely Queen Margaret. Spectators are still chuckling over the hilarious May pole dances, which added many laughs to the general merriment, and broke the feeling of solemn restraint. The small junior courtier running up and down the walk picking May flowers was another added attraction.

Punch and cookies in the cool University house following the coronation were exactly the right touch to end the hot afternoon, and to once more pay homage to the court. Many students found their way out to the Salem high school field for a track meet after the reception.

"May Mood," the May Weekend ball, was one of the best attended and best decorated dances of the year, judging from the dreamy expressions all the couples were wearing, and fittingly climaxed the week-end. Music was provided by Glen Williams and his orchestra.

Prof Renders Black Magic For Sightless

Prof. Murco Ringnald, whose extra-curricular hobby is performing magic, got another booking this week on the strength of his act on the WSSF benefit show two weeks ago.

But the professor isn't sure that a compliment was intended. He was asked to perform for the children at the blind school.

"How can you work illusions on an audience that can't see?" he asked. "Or is this a way of telling me how my act went over?"

Assured it was no rib and that very few of the students at the blind school are totally blind, Ringnald agreed with misgivings, and went through his act Tuesday night.

"A very appreciative audience," was his comment after his show. "The kids behaved as though they were really entertained."

On the same program Michael Carolan, campus tenor, appeared. Ringnald said his songs were especially well received.

And now the professor thinks he and Carolan should team up once again to perform next time at the deaf school. "It seems just as sensible, he said "but with the tables reversed."

Credit Tests Start May 19

New General Education Development tests are expected to arrive at the office of the dean of students so that tests may be given the week of May 19, Dean Lawrence A. Riggs announced this week.

To date, 39 veterans have signed up to take the tests which provide them, should all tests be passed, with a maximum of 24 semester hours credit.

The tests are prepared by the Armed Forces Institute to provide veterans with the opportunity to gain credit for knowledge obtained in the services. Scheduled to be given earlier in the spring term the tests were delayed because of the failure of the answer sheets to arrive.

'Cats Tangle With PU Today In Final Home Loop Contest

Today is the last chance the University has to view its Bearcat horsehiders in action as the Pacific Badgers, now residing in the cellar, will provide the opposition. Game time has been set for 2:30 p.m. at Waters Park.

After Tuesday's loss to Linfield this contest is essential if the Bearcats are to stay in the pennant race. Previously the locals pummelled the cellar dwelling Badgers by a 12-7 count at Forest Grove, three weeks ago.

Willamette's starting chucker probably will be John Slanchik, who looked good in his relief role against Linfield Tuesday. However, Fred Richardson, who beat the Badgers in the first encounter, may draw the starting assignment if Slanchik's trick elbow gives him any trouble.

Behind the plate will be dependable Ben Schaad. In recent contests Ben has been in a bad hitting slump though he still has been throwing out most of the would-be second base stealers.

In the infield it will be either Patterson or Williams at first, Hampton at second, Barker, Lakin or Cross at short and Perry at third. Barnick, Goodman and Dispensiere will probably fill up the outfield in left, center and right field respectively.

Tomorrow the Bearcats entrain for Monmouth where they will engage the Oregon College of Education in a nine inning tilt. Early in the season the locals spanked the Wolves 10-2 in a scrimmage contest on Sweetland Field.

Next Tuesday Willamette goes up against the league leading Lewis and Clark Pioneers. The contest will be played in Portland and is the second of a two game series with the Pioneers. In the first contest Fred Richardson set them down 3-1 with a masterful 2 hit performance.

Bearcats Drop Conference Go To Linfield Wildcats Tuesday

By Oakes

After coming from behind twice to overcome Wildcat leads, the Willamette Bearcats finally bowed to Linfield by an 8-6 count. With the loss the Bearcats lost a chance to regain sole possession of first place. The game was played Tuesday afternoon at Waters Park.

Linfield delivered the payoff blow in the eighth inning. Seeley, Wildcat shortstop, obtained life on a wide throw to first base by Barker to start things off. After being pushed to second on a sacrifice, Seeley was scored on a single to left by teammate Burr. This put the Wildcats ahead 7-6 and eventually gave them the ball game.

Slanchik Stops Wildcats

The next two batters also followed with successive singles that gave the opposition an additional run. At this point Coach Erickson called in the third Bearcat chucker of the afternoon, John Slanchik, to relieve Marv Goodman and quell the Wildcat batters for the remainder of the contest.

In the early innings of the contest the Linfield boys had solved starting chucker Fred Richardson for four runs, one in the first and three in the third. This set the stage for the first Bearcat comeback, a five run rally in the fifth inning.

Two singles by Goodman and Cross and a walk to catcher Ben Schaad filled the bases. Barker then drove the first run across the dish on a fielder's choice to the first baseman. The second run came in on Douglas' scratch hit off the pitcher's glove.

'Cats Bat Around

With the bases still loaded Williams batted in the third run while forcing Douglas at second. A moment later a wild pitch was uncorked to score the fourth run and after Barnick struck out, Hampton brought in the final score with a single to deep short.

Again in the seventh, after the Wildcats countered with two more runs in the sixth, the locals came from behind. Patterson, batting for Barnick, was hit by a pitched ball and moved to second when Hampton walked. A single to left by Dispensiere brought Patterson in with the tying and last Bearcat run.

Gene Petersen, who beat Willamette two weeks ago, was credited with the win. Marv Goodman, who relieved Richardson in the sixth inning, was charged with the loss.

One bright feature of the day was Slanchik's return to form in his two innings of relief work.

DIAMOND - - - - GEMS

By Mulkey

Coming to the squad after a slow start this season, these two capable infielders aren't exactly unknowns in the local sport circus. Big Bill Patterson holds down the first bag and Bruce Barker is covering the area between third and second.

Bill Patterson

Patterson made a faithful attempt at higher learning at Willamette back in 1941—he lasted a month before duty called and he enlisted in the Army Air Corps.

Bill made another stab at registration last fall though still feels he's not a stranger on the campus. He lettered in football, playing end, and made an impressive showing for a freshman.

Bill is a business administration major and has serious intentions of finishing his tenure here although he foresees difficulty in getting acquainted with new professors every year.

The tall rangy first sacker is married but hasn't any children. His home is in Kelso, Wash., where he was an outstanding athlete in high school. He prefers football to baseball even

WU'ers Best Vanport Monday, Lose to Portland Friday, 12-5

Breaking even in last week's non-conference games the Bearcats pounded out their second win over a hapless Vanport nine, 18 to 8, and bowed to the Portland Pilots for the second time this year, 12-5.

'Cats Outslug Vanport

Monday's contest with Vanport was a scoring festival in which the run-hungry locals collected three more runs than hits. In the third inning, with Vanport momentarily holding a 1-0 lead, the 'Cats overran the 'Ports' starting chucker with 10 runs. He dished up five walks at crucial moments while Willamette garnered five hits. The scoring parade continued in the fifth with two runs, one in the sixth, four in the seventh and one in the eighth.

Hitting stars of the game were Marv Goodman and Travis Cross, who connected for three hits apiece. Goodman drove in five runs and scored four others. In the third Marv got one of the two Bearcat triples of the afternoon with the bases full. The other three bagger came in the eighth by Hampton with nobody on.

Chucker Darryl Alder pitched an impressive six hit game and though never worried about the outcome, he was nevertheless hindered by leaky fielding support, as his teammates committed nine errors.

Pilots Drop WU Nine

Friday's May Weekend tilt was pretty much the opposite of the following Monday's tilt.

The Pilots jumped on to the offerings of John Slanchik early in the second frame for five runs. Again in the fourth the Pilots got to Slanchik and scored two more runs to drive him of the hill. Fred Richardson came in to put out the fire but before the final Pilot out was made in the game he yielded five more runs.

Willamette's batting order proved ineffectual against Barta, the Pilot heaver. Single runs in the second, fifth and sixth innings were all the Bearcats could muster at one time until they managed to bunch two hits in a row to score two runs in an abbreviated rally in the final frame.

Bill Patterson and Don Barnick collected the only Willamette extra base hits, both doubles, in the first and second innings. Short scores of last week's tilts:

Friday	R	H	E
Portland	12	14	8
Willamette	5	7	2

Barta and Scott; Slanchik, and Schaad.

Willamette	18	15	9
Vanport	8	6	7

Alder and Dickerson; Smith, Churchill and Holmes.

WU Net Squad Blanked Twice This Week by OSC, Oregon U

By Bonnington

With a full weekend coming up, Willamette's varsity net team gained some much-needed experience during the past week in matches with Oregon State and the University of Oregon.

Monday afternoon Coach Les Sparks' men took on a loaded OSC squad, coming out on the short end of a 1-0 score. Although the Bearcats didn't fare so well in the win column, by playing the Staters they picked up some practice that should come in handy in future contests. Closest match of the day was between Dave Eristow of Willamette and Al Gallagher of OSC, the Beaver winning 6-4, 4-6, 11-9.

Oregon's Webfoots, on their way to the Palouse country to take on WSC and Idaho over the weekend, stopped off in Salem long enough to administer a 7-0 licking to the local racquetees on Wednesday. A strong contender for the Northern Division PCC title, the UO netters dropped only one set, that coming in the No. 4 singles, where Bob Carey edged Willamette's Eristow 1-6, 6-4, 6-4.

This weekend's agenda finds the 'Cat racket wielders traveling to Portland today to battle the Pilots in the attempt to avenge a previous 5-4 defeat handed them by the Rose City squad.

Six-Way Track Meet Scheduled Saturday

Multnomah stadium will be the scene of much activity tomorrow afternoon when six of the local colleges meet in a Portland-sponsored track and field affair.

Originally designed as a two-way go between Willamette and the Pilots, the meet has since been expanded to include Linfield, Lewis & Clark, Pacific and Vanport.

The starting gun for the first event is set for 1:30 p.m.

WU Suffers Triple Link Losses, Seek Revenge From UP Today

"It's no shame to lose a couple," was the theme of the Willamette link squad this week as they posted three successive losses against Portland university, Vanport, and University of British Columbia. These setbacks lower the team's win-loss record to four losses overbalancing but two victories.

At no time, however, have the duffer 'Cats been very severely trounced, and it is most certainly with no trace of a defeatist attitude that the sextet of link performers look forward to today's return matching with the Portlanders in Pilot home territory. The Jason clubbers will travel again tomorrow and Tuesday when they engage Pacific university and Lewis & Clark college, respectively, on those dates.

Post-Season Tour

A post-season tour is being planned by the Willamette golfers for the weekend following final examination week, during which they will journey north to invade the University of Washington, Western Washington college, and the University of British Columbia.

In the Bearcat-Pilot tilt last Friday, the Willamette men took the short end of a 10-8 tally, largely through the efforts of medalist Tom Marlowe of Portland, ex-OSC amateur golfing champ.

Last Wednesday's matches with Vanport university saw the Winged V squad take a comfortable 16½-10½ victory in singles scoring, as well as a 5½-3½ edge in best ball tallying. Cassidy's 70 took medalist honors for the Vanports.

Bennett Shoots 30

This week's contest between Thunderbirds again resulted in a Bearcat defeat by a 16-11 margin, with a closer 5-4 nod on best balls, however, even in losing. Cardinal and Gold honor flew high for the day as medalist award went to Archie Schulz with a blistering par-smashing 67, while second place ribbons were taken by Bunny Bennett, whose four-under-par 68 included a record-breaking score of 30 for the initial nine.

Willamette Cinder Squad Yields to Portland By Narrow Eight Point Margin at Olinger

Staging a fine comeback following the doubtful showing made at Hayward Field a week ago, the Willamette track squad piled up a total of 60 points to come within 8 notches of copping last Saturday's three-way meet

Competing against the university of Portland and Linfield college, the Schaaque-coached harriers nabbed four first places in an attempt to overtake the well-rounded Pilot spikesters.

Individual high-point honors for the day, however, went to weight man Bill Marshall, of the third-place Linfielders, whose complete sweep of the javelin, discus and shotput, as well as a tie for winning vault in the high jump, amassed a total of 16 1/4 points, more than half of the final Wildcat scoring of 21 2/3 points.

Distance runner Ron Runyan continued his win streak for the Jasons by coming from behind to win in a 4:50 mile run, and later in the afternoon took second in the two mile event.

Rabbit Macy, the smooth running Rube of the Week, exerted a finishing sprint in the 440 to all but edge the winning Swan of Portland, who turned in an impressive 51.2 for the event. Macy also accounted for fourth spot in the 220.

Big Marv Goodman contributed his share to the Jason cause with a winning 20 foot 6 inch broad jump, a second place in both the pole vault and century dash, as well as tossing to fourth place honors in the javelin, for a total of 12 points, individual high for the Bearcats.

Paul Cookingham, reliable field man, garnered close seconds in the shotput and discus, and took third to Willamette's Jim Burgess in the javelin.

Ralph Ohling turned in a very neat 2:05 half mile trot, as well as adding a commendable leg in WU's winning mile relay, consisting of Cookingham, Grimm, Ohling and Macy. Grimm further captured a third in the mile, which was equalled by Don Preiss's third in the two-mile.

Tom Boardman was responsible for a point in each of the discus and shotput, with Art Gottfrey nabbing third in the former, while Curt Kamai took second to Riley of Portland in both high and low hurdles.

Phi Delt A's, Rubes Deadlocked In Softball Lead at Midpoint

By Page

Continuing to set the pace as the intramural men's softball title chase nears the half-way mark, the Phi Delta Theta "A's" and the Rubes stand undefeated at the top of the won-lost columns. Both managed to preserve their unblemished records last week as the fraternity lads knocked off the Papermakers 10-1 and the Rubes downed the Phi Delt "B's" 13 to 3.

Laurels Hot

Rise of the Laurel Hall Indians to a tie for second place was one of the major changes in standings for the week. Wednesday, George Nuss gave up two hits, both to Luther of the Faculty, as he garnered a 7 to 0 shutout for the lads from Laurel. Earlier in the week, Nuss had pitched a neat two-hit job against the Sigma Chi's as, belying the prediction that pitchers can't hit, Nuss, with yeoman help from Dale Morgan, was instrumental in pounding out the 10 to 3 win.

Tuesday saw the most hair-raising game of the week as the row and Joe Meier helped Reder's cause in the 10-1 victory.

Mo Fitzsimmons appeared as an outstanding candidate for "Rube of the Week" as his extra base blows were an instrumental factor in their lopsided 13 to 3 victory over the Phi Delt "B's." Mush Barbour kept the B's well subdued with his pitching while the wildness of Ray Yocom and a sieve-like infield furthered the Rubes' cause.

The Papermakers pounded three Law School pitchers, who combined walks and "ripe" pitches in an untimely combination as they bowed Monday to the boys from Washington, 9-5.

Co-Action . . . By Cannon

Recovering this week are the feminine members of the junior class from the wear and tear of the marathon which they maneuvered out of the May Pole dance. A great deal of exercise was gained from the extra additions to dance pattern and it was novel.

Reed College

A group of Willamette coeds will attend the intercollegiate play-day which will be held at Reed College in Portland tomorrow. Twelve Willamette valley schools will be represented and various sports activities will be the program for the day, such as swimming, archery, tennis, badminton, softball and volleyball. Any person interested in attending should consult gym officials immediately.

WAA Emblems

With the arrival of two women's lettermen sweaters this week, hope was raised that the letters for those women earning them this year would soon arrive also. The sweaters are white with red stripes and the letters will also be red. Receiving the sweaters are Virginia Cannon and Nan Wilcox, as a result of earning the required number of activity points. One-hundred and twenty points are necessary for earning the sweater, with an additional 300 adding one stripe.

PE Majors and Minors

On Thursday evening, all students majoring or minoring in physical education met at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Leslie Sparks. The group plans to organize as a booster in promoting play nights, co-recreation activities, intramural events, and to guide beginning students in physical education. Talks on the recent national physical education conference in Seattle was given by those who attended including Nan Wilcox, Helen Larson, Jerry Jewett, Ellen Forslund, Virginia Cannon, Jean Williams, Gale Currey and Prof. Sparks.

In addition to the members who spoke, other women listed as physical education major or minors include Enid Lycan Doris Gragg, Ruth Hagelstein, Zephne Given, Dorothy Richardson, Helen Stout, Marilyn Dick, Marjorie Stockman and Nancy Trask. Any women who comes under this classification but whose name was not listed should report to Miss Currey at the gym office so that her name may be included in the listing.

- CAT TALES -

By HURT

Social Bearcats . . .

Having previously proved quite competent on fields of athletic competition, several Bearcats are becoming rather prominent on the social front. John Macy, ace runner and fair-to-middling football player, was recently chosen Penny King during the WSSF drive.

Ron Runyan, smooth basketeer and miler, and Paul Cookingham, a stand-out in any sporting event, distinguished themselves in the May Weekend festivities. Runyan escorted his own wife, one of the two well-selected princesses, during the coronation, while queenly Queen Margaret was escorted by Cookingham. We're mighty proud of all of 'em, but the Rubes won't like it . . .

We Hope It's True . . .

Chuck Barclay, who just managed May Weekend to a success, adds his amen to the growing stack of complimentary remarks concerning Willamette's new baseball and basketball coach, Johnny Lewis. Chuck was acquainted with Lewis when both were attending Oregon university in '35 and '36. Aside from commenting on Lewis being exceedingly personable and having his share of good looks, Barclay says the future 'Cat mentor was very well liked by the other UO athletes, as he was always a clean player.

The 31-year-old ex-Grant high coach played on the same baseball club as Joe Gordon and Bob Koch. One thing, the University should have its share of Grant's students here in the future, as both of last year's coaches will be tutoring the WU'ers next year.

Ifs and Ills . . .

Walt Erickson's pitching woes would be lightened tremendously IF . . . Bill Hanauska had not played pro ball, and were still eligible . . . Clay Patterson had not thrown that fatal snowball, breakeaking his arm . . . Howard Olson were still eligible. These are three mighty big "ifs," but provided the named chuckers, the Jasons would have a throwing staff second to none in this vicinity.

Ollie Williams could easily apply for the "Casualty of the Year" title, as he has been constantly plagued by hard luck. It all started last summer when a thrown ball got through his glove to loosen a few teeth. This year a broken little finger continued the trend. Next, a ball caught him in the back of the head and knocked him out, and finally, when sliding into second after a pinch hit, suffered a collision that resulted in a broken plate. In spite of all this, Ollie still holds down the first sack. Hard to discourage that boy . . .

Linfield Briefs . . .

Solving the slants of Linfield's ace chucker, Gene Peterson, Willamette's hitting power displayed itself in fine shape Tuesday in the fifth inning, as the 'Cat nine batted completely around. Although that made two straight wins for the Wildcat baseballers, local enthusiasts are already looking forward to next football season . . . Travis Cross' hitting has been a potent factor in the last two games, as he collected five hits in the pair . . . Sign of a blind umpire: inability of Johnny Oravec to see Ben Schaad's big foot planted squarely in the middle of first base . . .

To the Spikesters . . .

Although the WU tennis and golf squads are having their troubles this year, Coach Elmer Schaaque's tracksters have compiled a very creditable showing. In the three meets they've entered, records show a first, second and third, all in triangular meets. Considering the shortage of manpower, and inability of certain point-getters to make trips, this is quite a mark for the University. Competition has been rough, but, even in losing, the spikesters have lost by very close margins.

Independents came from behind to garner a 3-2 win over the Betas. Chucker Stu Compton, coasting on a two-run lead, saw victory vanish with three walks, a hit, and two costly errors by the right side of the infield in the top half of the last inning. Gus Edson, pitching for the Indeps, was erratic in the early innings, but set the Beta boys down in order in the last frame to well deserve his win.

Bill Reder was found for but one blow, that by Howie Lorenz, in victory for the Phi Delt "A's" over the Papermakers. The extra base hitting of Orv Spar-

'Ten Little Indians' Slay Play-Goers

By Dona Adams

Puzzled and chilled by the murderous actions of a mysterious homicidal maniac, Willamette students, guests and townspeople riveted their attention on the modernistically designed stage of the May Weekend production, "Ten Little Indians."

Screams of excitement rippled through the audience each time another "Indian" would disappear behind the massive mantle, indicating that another of the ten cast members was about to meet his violent death. Several of the characters, having unhappily met with the murderer when he was in mood for killing, returned to the audience in order to watch the remainder of the drama.

Each character created by Agatha Christie was so unique in its background and actions that the greatest amount of ability was displayed by those portraying the roles. With the aid of grey hair and a cane, Ray Loter changed himself into the heart-sick General Mackenzie who grieved for his lost Leslie as he sat quietly brooding.

In the role of the prudish Emily Brent, Helen Snell Ward criticized the younger generation for all their sin in the exact manner that such an old maid would condemn. The gay Englishman part of Marston, played by Jack Watson, was a distinctive contrast to the serious liquor hating nerve specialist, Dr. Armstrong, taken by Henry Ulvin.

First posing under the alias name of Davis, Jim Ragland succeeded in portraying the policeman, Blore. Addyse Lane and Thomas Grimm were the typical butler and his wife in their parts of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers. Most dramatic action of the three leads came in the last few seconds of the mystery when Carl Ritchie as Sir Lawrence Wargrave revealed himself as murderer by trying to strangle Janie Mathers as Vera. Joe Power in his role of Philip Lombard rallied to the scene by shooting Wargrave.

Unusual set design and construction planned by Carl Ritchie and Joe Power attracted interest in the modern furniture featured and the dark wine drapes used as background. Sound and lighting effects accentuated the deathly atmosphere of the mystery.

Meeting Time Changed

The campus Catholic club will meet again this coming Wednesday evening at 7:00 p.m., according to group president Gene Schmidt. He wishes to announce that Chresto is now in usable condition, and as such, will be the site of the meeting.

Special notice was made of the change in nights from the customary Tuesday to Wednesday. The adjustment has been made in order to accommodate the group of students who journey bi-weekly, on Tuesday and Thursday nights, to Mt. Angel Seminary to attend ethics classes taught by Father Vincent, professor of theology and philosophy at the seminary.

Father Vincent, who obtained his Ph. D from Columbia university, stresses the Catholic viewpoint of moral philosophy and psychoanalysis in his lectures, which are given on his free time solely for the benefit of the commuting students.

The group at present is composed mainly of Gene Schmidt, Chuck Zerzan, Jim Brennan, Paul Whitmore and Tom Cooper, but an open invitation is extended to all those interested in any way to contact any of the above men for details.
