Expect Willamette Victory Despite Bearcats' Fatigue After Six Straight Games

College of Idaho Has Powerful Squad Out for Conference Competition After Three-Year Rest; Football Revenge Hinted.

Northwest conference championship will be settled, as far as Willamette is concerned, tonight and Friday night when the unbeaten Bearcats mix with Anse Cornell's three-year-rest hoop squad from College of Idaho, Caldwell. After remaining out of conference competition for the past three years, Idaho is sending out an aggregation of Coyotes which is likely to give Spec Keene's super-team a run for its money second only to the struggles with Whitman college at Walla Walla last week-end. Cornell's Coyotes make up a powerful team which is said to be capable of upsetting the most certain of dopest's figures. Added to the power of these men is the revenge which they will be seeking for the overwhelming defeat which they suffered at Willamette's hands in football last fall.

If Cardinal, Seales, and Adams can show their dead-eye basket work in these games, the Jason Lee men should win by a safe margin. Hawk, Carpenter, and Gibson should be able to take good care of the defense problem. Benjamin will be on hand to relieve the forwards and center.

Willamette will find its worst enemies in fatigue and lack of grandstand support. Within the last nine days the Bearcat squad has played eight games, four of them major contests. This heavy schedule, along with the 300-mile trip to Walla Walla, has had a telling effect on the men. It is surprising, however, that they have stood up under the strain so well. The lack of spirit shown by student rooters has been a serious menace to Willamette victories in the other two games of this week. That they will come through in this crisis and give the team the much needed encouragement is scarcely doubted. The lifting of the student body ticket requirement for entrance to these two games should swell the rooting section considerably.

All odds considered, it is probable that Willamette has a little the upper hand. With the south bleachers full of students cheering the somewhat jittered Bearcats on, they are expected to come out in both contests. Unless special games should be scheduled with Pacific university, the Coyote-Bearcat clashes will be the last conference hoop meets to be seen this season in Salem.

SMALL LAD FOUND FOR PART IN "THE ENEMY"

Donald Kinser, Aged Five, Has Already Proposed to One Member of the Cast.

Little Donald Kinser, 5-year-old, has been awarded the part of Kurt in the play, "The Enemy," by Channing Pollock. Little Donald has had no previous experience in dramatics. In fact, he has never before spoken in public. However, he is quite a brilliant little chap and seems to have no fear of theatrical performances. He has already learned all of his lines and cues. When he was one year old, he was awarded the first prize, a miniature 1926, in a baby show. He has made quite a hit with the play cast, having already proposed to one of its members and been accepted.

TWO NEW FIRE PLUGS INSURE W. U. SAFETY

Two fire hydrants have just been installed bordering the Willamette campus on State street. According to information received from the state board of control, it had authorized the city to install four fire hydrants around the state house. The board stated that it had paid for the hydrants, and that the city of Salem was to do the installing and furnish the water as its part of the bargain.

EDGAR B. PIPER CHAIR COMMITTEE IS NAMED

As a memorial to Mr. Edgar B. Piper, late editor of The Oregonian and alumnus of Willamette university, a chair of English and journalism is to be established at the university. A committee has been formed including Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, president, Mr. B. F. Irvine, Mr. Walter W. R. May, Mr. J. C. Ainsworth, Mr. Ben Selling, and Mr. E. S. Collins, of Portland, Mr. R. A. Booth, Eugene, and Mr. Claude E. Ingalls, Corvallis.

WALLULAH OF 1930 HAS ART FEATURES

Pictures for Annual Being Taken this Week and Next Monday.

In 1930 the Wallulah will have more art work than any other Willamette annual has had, according to Roy Harland, editor. This art work, done by the West Coast Engraving company of Portland, will appear in a new form of borders and especially on the section headings. Seven main sections, with 2-page headings, and 26 sub-sections will carry a large part of this extra work.

Pictures for the annual are being taken each day, as the weather permits. Four organizations, according to Editor Harland, have not yet made arrangements for having pictures taken. These are Classical club, Beethoven society, Science club, and Y. W. C. A. cabinet. These are to be special group pictures.

The schedule for taking pictures is as follows: Thursday—12:30—Group picture of Lausanne hall residents, on front steps. 3:00—Dalsh, Toth, Gmel group picture, in front of Lausanne. 3:15—Women's swimming team—city Y. M. C. A. Friday—after chapel—Women's Athletic association. 3:00—Riding clubs—at West Salem academy. Monday evening—orchestra, in Waller hall.

Mr. Harland hopes to have all pictures taken by Monday. All material for engravings and cuts is due not later than March 15. Unless unforeseen difficulties arise, the Wallulah will be ready for distribution by May week-end.

HARPAM TRANSFERRED IN U. S. FOREST SERVICE

Vernon V. Harpam, former student at Willamette university, is one of the four federal foresters of the North Pacific District to be transferred, as announced by the Portland Office of the U. S. Forest Service. Mr. Harpam, who is a native Oregonian, first entered the Forest Service on the Umpqua forest in 1907, as a forest guard. Later he became a forest ranger on the Umpqua, then serving as assistant supervisor on the Chelan forest, Washington. He then became assistant supervisor of the Deschutes; and, in 1917, became supervisor of the Ocoee forest at Prineville. Harpam now becomes forest supervisor of the Umpqua forest, where he first entered the service.

MILLSTREAM NOT TO BE CLEANED OUT AS HOPED

Further plans for the mill-stream bridge were discussed at the last meeting of the Blue Key fraternity. Tuesday noon in front of the chapel. There was some misunderstanding as to how the architecture of the mill-stream bridge at the rear of the campus should be. Construction of the new bridge has already begun. It was announced that, since the three mills that use the millstream for commercial purposes, were not willing that it should be shut off, there would be no cleaning of the stream bed by the members.

SPRING LEAVE DATE IS STILL UNDECIDED

Decree of University Senate of Methodist Denomination Results in Closing.

TO BE SETTLED TUESDAY

Provision May Be Made for Absorbing Courses, Providing for Teachers.

Changing the dates of spring vacation so that they will not come at the time of the state high school basketball tournament here is being considered by the administration. No official decision will be made until the regular meeting of the faculty next Tuesday.

From the standpoint of the tournament, according to Leslie J. Sparks, who will be actively engaged in its management, the shifting of the time of the regular spring recess is desirable and advisable. Furthermore, for purposes of advertising Willamette, the change would permit the publication of a tournament edition of the Collegian.

Chief difficulties arise from the several trips, already settled by contracts, which the glee clubs and debate teams have planned for this period. Any change in the dates of the vacation would cause the students in these activities to lose one more week of class time.

The Men and Women's Glee club and debate trips will be affected by putting spring vacation a week later. Contracts for concerts have been signed by both Glee clubs, and it will be necessary to make the trips as planned. The members of the Women's Glee club will miss two weeks of school and the members of the Men's Glee club will miss one week.

The Men's Debate team will profit by the change in date of the vacation for they are leaving March 13 to be gone two weeks, and will miss less school. The change will make no material difference to the Women's Debate team tour, according to the manager. Although debates are scheduled on March 14, 17, and 18, the manager thinks they can very easily be changed.

TWELVE JUDGES TO SEAL CLASS FATES

Two Freshmen Glee Tickets to be Given Each Student Tomorrow.

Freshman Glee tickets will be given to the class presidents tomorrow, and will be redistributed by them. Each student will receive two.

All songs were handed into the Freshman Glee committee on time this year, although the freshmen did not choose theirs until too late for the last edition of the Collegian. The words were written by Florence Marshall, Benjamin Bird composed the music.

Judges for Freshman Glee are as follows: music, Professor T. S. Roberts, Mrs. W. R. Bush, and Mrs. A. A. Schramm; words, Mrs. F. W. Power, Mr. Perry Reigelman, and Miss Ruth Bedford; rendition, Miss Ruth Bedford, Mr. A. A. Schramm, and Rev. H. C. Stover; adaptability, Mr. Ben Rieckl, Miss Ada Ross, and Mrs. Martin Ferry.

Insanity Might be Result of Reading Entire Britannica

Don't decide to read the new Encyclopedia Britannica through. For an evening's rest surely reading. You might wear your mind out. You might get reader's cramp, too, in your eyes and fingers.

If you want to read through those 24 volumes, just make up your mind that you will turn 24,000 pages and absorb about 35,000,000 words—1275 to the page. If you are not too old to see, by the time you do this, go through this "dissection on everything" and look at the 1,400 black and white full page pictures and at the 136 full page plates in full color. By that time you should be dry as dust and as old as Methuselah.

Coyote Museum Wants Rare Bearcat Skin Specimens

Because seven Bearcats and Spec returned from Walla Walla with a fine collection of Missionary scalps, dare one say that the championship is certain? Because visitors from College of Puget Sound found themselves beaten twice, by a tired and ragged team, dare one think that Anse Cornell's Coyotes will let Jason Lee hoopers capture their fur coats for bounties? One is daring, indeed, if he essays to take these chances.

To be Northwest champions, Willamette men must play their most speedy, sure-shot, team work basketball tonight and tomorrow night. When the Idaho team leaves Salem, the Bearcats will have played eight games in eleven days, and will in that time have traveled over eight hundred miles. Is it any wonder that they are tired? Students of Willamette university, you belong to this team; this team belongs to you. If you take your places in the rooters' section in the gymnasium tonight, the encouragement you will give should make up for your plucky quilter's fatigue. If you stay away, and the Coyotes catch some rare specimens—Bearcat skins—the blame will be on you.

FRESHMEN, SOPHS VIING FOR HONORS

Final Interclass Debate to be Held in Chapel Period on Monday.

The finals of the interclass debate between Barney Cameron, freshman, and Hayes Beall, sophomore, will be held in chapel Monday, February 24.

The winning class in this contest will receive five points in interclass rivalry and the T. A. Livesley cup.

The question, one of special interest to students, is as follows: "Resolved, that the working student has less chance to make a success in college than the non-working student."

WHITMAN PRESS CLUB HOLDS PAPER CONTEST

About Seventy High Schools of Northwest Submit News-papers for Plaque Awards.

The Whitman Press club is again sponsoring the annual Northwest High School Newspaper contest instituted to stimulate interest in the production of better newspapers among the high schools of the Northwest. Usually about 70 papers enter the contest. Each high school submits two papers, one published between February 15 and April 1, the other selected at random from issues published at any time during the school year 1929-30.

The two winning papers are awarded silver plaques which they may keep for one year, the next ten papers are awarded certificates of honorable mention. Awards are made on the basis of 1000 points on the requisites of good journalism such as selection and treatment of news and features, editorials, advertising, and mechanics.

Last year the winners were "The Lincoln News," Lincoln High school of Tacoma and "Moran Verda," Moran High school of Rolling's Bay, Washington.

U. S. FOREST SERVICE FINDS FINANCIAL GAIN

Receipts from national forest activities in the last six months of 1929 gained nearly ten per cent over the same period in 1928, the U. S. forest service announces. The nine national forest districts received a net total of $2,245,164.03 from timber sales, grazing fees, and other forest uses during the period, an increase of $206,652.98. The North Pacific district, comprising Washington and Oregon, showed receipts totalling $236,522.28.

Twenty-five per cent of national forest receipts is turned over each fiscal year to the state for distribution to counties in which federal forests are located, in lieu of taxes, for road building and school development.

LINFIELD MEN LEARN FLYING, SALEM PORT

Linfield College, (NIP) Feb. 19.—Chester Britton and John Harris have enrolled in the school of Everly Aircraft corporation of Salem, Oregon, and will start on their courses at once. They will go to Salem three afternoons a week for instruction in aeronautics and flying. Harris recently bought an Earlecock plane and he will work with his own ship. Britton is a senior and Harris a member of the junior class.

WOMEN DEBATERS USE LIVE QUESTION

"Are Women's Business Careers Detrimental to Society?" is Topic.

Women's varsity debate squad promises some interesting competition in the near future, according to Yvonne Cornell, manager. Next Saturday night, February 22, they will compete with Pacific and Forest Grove upon the question: "Resolved, that the modern division of women from the home to business and industrial occupations is detrimental to society." Tuesday, February 26, they will meet University of Idaho, and March 5, Whitman College, both debates on Willamette's home floor. Very definite plans are being made for a tour to be made during spring vacation. This tour will include Whitman, Washington State College, at Pullman, and University of Idaho.

Charles Campbell, representing Willamette in the State Extemporaneous Speaking Contest held at Linfield on Friday, February 14, placed second among eight participants. The University of Oregon speaker took first from a close vote of the judges and the Oregon State college speaker followed Willamette at third. The other entries were, Oregon Normal School, Linfield College, Pacific University, Southern Oregon Normal, and Pacific College. Those who saw the contest say that Charles Campbell stood out among the other contestants as having exceptional naturalness and freedom of speech and gesture.

CAMPBELL PLACES SECOND IN CONTEST

One hour before he was to speak each one drew a topic. He was kept from hearing or conferring with anyone and when called upon spoke for ten minutes on his subject without using notes. Charles Campbell drew the subject, "Are the Nations of the World Ready for Disarmaments?"

The judging was all done by the coaches and each scored on the other speakers but his own. Two of the coaches ranked Charles Campbell as first place.

SIX PERSONS HOLD COLLEGIAN AWARD

Faithful, punctual work of a good quality is the requirement for the coveted Collegian pin award in the form of an old English gold "O", which forty per cent of the staff members receive every year. In 1929 16 were awarded, and in 1929 13. Besides the editor and manager, six persons now working on the staff have won this award. The rest of this year's work will largely determine those persons who will comprise the forty per cent winning this year's awards.

LIST OF DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI NOW COMPILED

In connection with the petition now being prepared in application to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, a list of distinguished alumni of Willamette has been compiled by Dr. Doney and members of the faculty. Out of about 1200 graduates a group of 125 has been listed including educators, journalists, ministers, missionaries, lawyers, and doctors.

"Seeing Sound," and "Robot Tallyman" Are at Exhibit

Students from Many High Schools are O. S. C. Guests.

Students from high schools throughout the state thronged the Oregon State college campus Friday and Saturday during the seventh annual educational exposition put on by the college for the education of high school student delegates. Elaborate exhibits were on display in the buildings of the various departments for the purpose of presenting as interestingly and quickly as possible the nature of the work in each departmental field. A miniature forest and logging camp in the Forestry building, exhibits of "bugs" and plants in biology, "seeing sound" in the physics building, and "robot tallyman," an electrical contrivance which tallied the crowds which passed it, were all typical of the spirit of the exposition. Talks on educational and vocational guidance were a part of the program during both days. The Memorial Union building was the social center of the exposition during a banquet given for the visiting students on Saturday evening and a dance on Saturday night.

KIMBALL TO CLOSE DURING 1930-1931

Change in Dates Would Hinder Students in Glee, Debate Activities.

$250,000 NOW REQUIRED

State Basketball Tournament Dates Conflict; Change is Desired.

Suspension of the activities of Kimball School of Theology, which has served continuously for 24 years, has been ordered for the year 1930-31, Dr. Edward Laird Mills of Portland, president of the board announced late Monday. Only concerted action of the part of the Methodist denomination on the coast will save the school, said Dr. J. M. Canse, president of the institution, when he confirmed the report here Monday.

The action, which was taken at the mid-year meeting of the board last Saturday, came as the result of the decree of the university senate of the Methodist denomination, requiring that all standard theological schools have an endowment of $250,000 by 1932. Kimball School of Theology, with an endowment of less than $40,000 can not meet the requirements unless an unusual effort be made by the churches, said Dr. Canse.

Dr. Canse said Monday that the action of the board in suspending the operation of the school resulted from a survey of conditions on the Pacific coast as related to the training schools for Methodist ministers. Under present requirements ministers may be graduated from Kimball School of Theology without the degree of Bachelor of Arts. By next year this privilege will be dispensed with, and the requirements revamped to make an academic degree essential.

Dr. Canse said the problem faced by western Methodists would center in the question of whether or not a properly endowed and supported school in Salem would be provided or whether the eastern theological schools such as Garrett at Chicago and Drew at Madison, New Jersey would suffice.

Dr. Canse indicated that some of the courses now offered by the Kimball school might be absorbed by Willamette university and some of the teachers provided for there. He said no official decision had been made on this point by the university.

LET THE WINGED FANCY ROAM BANISH BLUENESS

A blueness that comes not of lethargy grips us at this time of year. Winter-examinations are over. A new semester is started. We have grade slips, registrars' little souvenir gifts, which challenge us to keep up a good pace already set or to tune up an inefficient one.

Then, jack-in-the-box, up pops a committee job. "Take your part. Make yourself useful around here—give some excuse for living." They say. And we guess they are right. "How much food will we need for this party?" "Shall the bridge be rustic?" "How much will you charge, Mr. Printer, to run off five hundred copies of this program?" In sixty seconds out of every minute, we think on these things.

Meanwhile the jack-out-of-the-box wavers, and, looking past him, we catch a glimpse of what we were going to do, of what we started to do. "Why, that outline was due yesterday, wasn't it?" "Say! the theme on organ systems in echinodermata is due tomorrow, and we have not yet read a page of it!" "How can we do six problems, before next week, when each takes at least two hours to solve?" "These irregular verbs are piling up, too."

"There will be an avalanche, soon, and if we do not get out of the way, we will be buried." . . . The blueness of lethargy is upon us. What to do? We go to sleep seeking the answer, wake up still thinking of it, and wander dazedly through days of worrying about it. Suddenly, it strikes like a thunderbolt: "Study! read, write! think!" No, the committee can not be neglected; but neither can the books!

When we realize where we stand and where we want to stand before another year is up, we find the blueness fading. The fault has been at home; books, professors, committees, offices are all right. When we adjust ourselves properly to all four, so are we.

That amendment concerning making awards to women will be presented again tomorrow. In reiteration of former statements, the Collegian now asserts its belief in the value and fairness of appropriate awards for participation in intramural sports. Furthermore, the Collegian directs your attention to editorials in the January twenty-third and February sixth issues, wherein the problems of this amendment idea are fully discussed. Associated Student funds are limited in amount. They must be used judiciously.

While a talkative and much-written-about group of men has been snatching up the headlines, a women's debate team has been preparing quietly and steadily for a series of forensic engagements. Now that their first contests are at hand, we find ourselves curious. Will woman, with her supposed continuous practice, out-talk the men? Whether, or no, she deserves the support of all.

Blue Key fraternity has found a seemingly perpetual task in its millstream bridge project. The men are right, however, in demanding that it be rustic. This motif harmonizes very well with the brush and weeds which abound along the banks of "the old millstream" beloved in song.

Skins of more than 20,000 goats were needed for leather bindings of the latest edition—the fourteenth—of the Encyclopedia Britannica. Knowledge in a nutshell is getting the world's goat, as it were.

Thanks to the state of Oregon, Willamette has two more fire hydrants, within service range of all campus buildings. Like insurance, they give an added feeling of security.

Sixteen new students are with us, waiting to be taught the "hello" tradition. The time is ripe for the seasonal rejuvenation of this happy custom.

The banging of doors in Waller basement halls becomes eery in the stillness of 4 a. m.

We are begging our printer to deliver the Collegian on time this week.

Marion County To Pick Entry For Tournament

The method of selecting Marion county's entry in the district high school basketball finals will be decided upon at a meeting in Silverton Saturday attended by Superintendent Goets of that city, Superintendent Bais of Woodburn and Principal Wolf of the Salem high school, the county committee appointed at a recent district meeting.

BOY WITH MOUSE MAKES MOTHERS HYSTERICAL

A determined little boy, aged four, with a badly frightened mouse in his hand turned the nutrition service into a first aid station for hysterical mothers yesterday.

The young visitor had been permitted to play in the "rat room" rooms in home economics hall. By manipulation of the bars on the cage he managed to get one small mouse out.

With his prey proudly held in his hand, the young conqueror was off to lay his prize at his mother's knee. But she had different ideas. So did the women who were sitting near her. A great shout went out and from the babel of voices, one was heard to shout, "Take that thing away. Take it away."

A very much astounded youngster gave up the mouse to Mrs. Elizabeth Simons, assistant in home economics.

According to a report published in the last number of the Journal of Forestry, the school of forestry at Oregon State has the second largest enrollment of any forest school in the country.

Oregon state's outstanding course in logging engineering is probably one of the main reasons for the large enrollment in its forest school.—Oregon State College, Corvallis.

SECRETARY OF STATE USE O. S. C. COLORS

Oregon State College, Corvallis, Ore.—(PIP) "Believe it or not" the Secretary of State of Oregon (although he may not realize it) has adopted the orange and black of the State college, and Beaver colors will be carried throughout the state for the whole year. But to be fair, hopes have been expressed on the campus that green and lemon yellow of the University of Oregon will be likewise honored in 1931.—U. of I., Idaho.

Good Pay, Pleasant Work, Opportunity for Advancement

"Payment for a school activity? Lead me to it!" said Johnny College ten years ago. Johnny graduated with high standings, a popular fellow in a famous class. In his profession he is a leader.

And Now He Advises

Willamette students not to overlook their opportunities for service, popularity, and training to be found in reporting on the COLLEGIAN. Whether Johnny Colleges of today intend to teach, preach, write . . . whatever they will do . . . the fact remains that former members of the COLLEGIAN staff are holding positions of prominence and influence. In some cases, references were obtained because of COLLEGIAN work, in others invaluable training was received.

Places are open on the reportorial staff—some of those who sign up even at this late date will, through careful work, receive the COLLEGIAN "C" which is awarded to 40% of the staff.

MISSION PLAY FOR OREGON IS URGED

Oregon's "mission play," not yet written as such, potentially is greater in its scope and historical significance than the "mission play" which has been presented regularly at Los Angeles for many years. It was stated by R. J. Hendricks in an address at the Salem Rotary club luncheon Wednesday.

Mr. Hendricks, editor emeritus of The Statesman, was reporting on his recent trip to Los Angeles in which he made a study of the play given there. He declared that in anticipation of the centenary celebration of the missionaries' arrival, 1834, something will be done soon toward preservation of the historic values which have been neglected all these years.

Police of the city of Zonzongotla, Mexico, recently rescued a seven-year-old girl as she was about to be hacked to pieces by Indians as a sacrifice to the god of water. A recent drought has done great damage to crops.

KARL DANE and ERNEST TORRENCE in "SPEEDWAY"

HAINES ROLE SHOWS INDIANAPOLIS RACES

Thrills Given in Actual Speedway Classic Talkie Film

"Speedway," presenting William Haines in a new role in the field of sport, and a very thrilling one, auto racing, is a coming attraction at the Fox Elsinore theatre.

This new sound synchronized Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture was filmed at the Indianapolis Races, and the thrills of the great American speed classic, Keoch's sensational victory, and all the other details of the huge affair, form a thundering and dramatic background into which is woven a charming love story and a drama of sacrifice.

Harry Beaumont, who directed "The Broadway Melody," directed the new racing romance, with a notable cast. Anita Page plays the heroine, an aviatrix in love with the mechanic-driver played by Haines. Ernest Torrence appears as a veteran driver, hero of sixteen years of major racing, and Karl Dane is seen in comedy relief as the mechanic "Steve." John Miljan plays the "heavy" role, Torrence's rival in the race, and Eugene Besserer and Polly Moran and others of note are in the cast. Many of the famous drivers in the big race appear in action in the picture.

The thrilling finish of the race, several of the breath-taking accidents in the contest, and other vivid details are seen in the scenes filmed at the track, where the company remained for three weeks working on preliminary scenes and the actual race.

The new play is a story by Byron Morgan, noted as the author of the automobile stories in which the late Wallace Reid was featured. It tells of the lives, ambitions and ethics of the drivers in the big track races, with some intimate glimpses of the "inside" of the racing game.

COMMON COLDS MAY START SINUS ILLS

State Health Bulletin Gives Pointers on Nature of Nasal Ailments.

Sinus trouble is a frequent cause of chronic colds and of much ill health and lowered vitality, according to a bulletin published by the Oregon state board of health.

The sinuses are small cavities or pockets in the face bones which connect with our nasal passages. The inflammation of the membranes lining the nasal cavity may swell the small mouth of a sinus and close it. The lining of the sinus becomes inflamed and a secretion or pus is collected, which may cause much pain.

To avoid sinus trouble, avoid common colds, especially head colds, and preserve your own health and resistance by carefully observing the laws of personal hygiene.

CARDINAL AND GOLD MEETS COYOTES

Cardinal and Gold Obtains Two More Basketball Wins In Slow Tilts With C. P. S.

Bearcats Are Tired After Strenuous Series of Six Games; Contests Resemble Wrestling Matches, Logger Team Are Mostly Freshmen.

In a game which resembled wrestling more than basketball, the Bearcats gradually won Tuesday night from the Loggers 38-24. The Jason Lee men seemed even more tired than on Monday night, and actually let the Loggers outplay them the second half. Cardinal with 14 points and Adams with 7, led the scoring, but the spirited playing of Gibson and Hauk brightened up an otherwise drab game. Kendrick of C. P. S. led the visitors by scoring 8 counters, and the rest of the team divided the remainder of the score fairly even.

The game was very rough and further demonstrated the fact that it is nearly impossible for one official to adequately referee a game.

Willamette university basketball squad outplayed the College of Puget Sound Loggers 48-29 in a hard-fought session Monday night. Playing their first game since their victorious but grueling trip through Eastern Oregon, the Bearcats failed to show the fire that it had displayed earlier in the season.

The Loggers started the game with a series of long shots which twice put them in the lead in the opening minutes of play.

Scales led the scoring with 22 markers, and Cardinal found the basket for 14 points. Bowers led the visitors with 13 points. The Logger team is reported to consist entirely of freshmen, unexperienced in college play. If this game was any criterion, this team will be a real threat for conference honors next year.

H. HAUK ELECTED 'W' CLUB PRESIDENT

Harold Hauk was elected president of the "W" club at their regular meeting Monday. Mr. Hauk is a three year letterman in baseball and a four year letterman in basketball.

A committee composed of Alfred Haworth, Garnie Cranor, and Dwight Adams, was appointed to investigate the possibilities of sponsoring a play to procure funds for the club.

Tournament committees are at present being appointed to make arrangements for the state high school basketball tournament to be held here in March.

has not been how good a game the opposition puts up, but whether or not Keene's men are "on." When at their best, they can swamp a power coast-conference aggregation as decisively as the weakest independents. Even in their best games, the team has not played consistent ball. If they ever play a whole game at the hot pace they set for twelve minutes at La Grando, they will hang up an all-conference record.

YEARLINGS DEFEAT SALEM HIGH TEAM

Nutter and Kitchen Divide Scoring Honors; Play is Good but Erratic.

Playing a slow, careful game, the Willamette Rooks overpowered a scrappy Red and Black team 32-21, Monday night. Nutter of Willamette and Kitchen of Salem, shared scoring honors with eight markers apiece. Both teams played brilliant but erratic ball.

SIGNS OVERCOME EARLY UNDER-CLASSMEN LEAD

The Sigma Tau Do-Nut league team defeated the Lower Class five Tuesday noon 17 to 9. The Sigs are now tied with the Faculty for first place. The Lower Classmen took the lead, but Campbell soon put the fraternity men ahead. Both teams played the best defensive game that Do-Nut fans have seen. The blond forward of the Sigma Tau team was high point man with eight markers. The lower division men threw away their chance to win by converting only one free throw. Eugene Silke who was injured during the first round, played half of the game.

After the Bearcats finish their game Friday night, they will have completed six conference games in eight days, and counting the non-conference tilts, they would total eight games in ten days! These freak schedules are too great a drain on the reserve strength of any team, and, for the best interests of the game, should be discontinued.

Bearcats Sweep Over Missionaries in Second Game to Pile up Score of 55 to 33; Three Other Trip Games Put to Credit.

The Willamette ball tossers defeated the Whitman team 55 to 33 Saturday night in the second game of the two game series, paying the way for an uncontested Northwest conference basketball championship.

Beginning the game with a scoring spree the Bearcats accounted for 16 of their 55 points before the Missionaries found the basket. The first half ended 33 to 11.

In the second half the Whitman eaglers attempted a come back in a desperate effort to win, but the Bearcats exchanged point for point with them, and the game ended with Willamette's advantage unaltered.

Coach Nig Borleske made several substitutions in an effort to check the Bearcats' avalanche of points. The contest was featured with much rough playing. Many fouls were called, and each team lost one man on personals. Cardinal starred for Willamette, scoring nine field goals.

We are sorry to see Pacific university drop from conference basketball competition, but perhaps circumstances make it unavoidable. A case of smallpox broke out in one of the Pacific dormitories and the university was put under quarantine. This put a stop to their varsity basketball games. It was decided at the university recently that it would be best to drop from conference competition.

In less than a month basketball season will be ended, and it will soon be time for the powers that be to select an all-conference team. We would suggest that the officials could save a lot of trouble and could do much worse, if they would choose for this honor, the entire Willamette first team 'Nut said!'
