SENIORS TO GO THROUGH FINAL ROUND JUNE 11

Seventy Three Will Gain Degrees In Law and Arts

DR. MORSE WILL SPEAK

Exercises To Be Held On Campus; Baccalaureate Sunday, M. E. Church

The Willamette Senior Class of 73 are rapidly going through the final paces preparatory to exams and graduation exercises June 11.

Today in chapel the four year students made their appearance in full regalia before the student body.

Tomorrow evening the Junior class will play host to the seniors at the annual banquet to be held in the Marion Hotel.

The commencement exercises on Monday morning at 10:00 will take place on the north campus lawn.

The address of the occasion will be given by Dr. Victor P. Morse of the University of Oregon.

Dr. Morse comes from the department of Economics and is a very able speaker.

Retiring President

Doctor Carl Gregg Doney, for the last 19 years president of Willamette University, retires at the end of this school year.

A college president has a remarkably wide range of associations, most of which are with people. The relationship which I have esteemed greatest has been with the students.

These nineteen years with you have been thrillingly beautiful; I should like to live them again and make a better job of it.

Sincerely yours, CARL G. DONEY.

SCHOLARSHIP GROUP MAY APPOINT HARDY

Herbert Hardy, senior, is being considered by the Columbia alumni committee of Portland as a candidate for scholarship awards to the Columbia school of law in New York city.

As yet, nothing official has been said by the committee in regard to final choice in the matter, but according to information received from the administration this morning, a recommendation from the committee indicates almost certain appointment.

UNIVERSITY TO RECEIVE $5000 SHARE OF WILL

Willamette university was named as the recipient of $5000 in the will of Dr. Angela L. Ford Warren, whose death occurred May 21 at her residence in Portland.

No specifications as to the use of the sum were made, and it is probable that the money will be distributed as the administration and trustees see fit.

Dr. Warren, for many years a practicing physician in Portland, left an estate estimated at $200,000.

She left bequests totaling $50,000 to educational, philanthropic, and church organizations.

Provision was made for the establishment of a fund of $10,000 to be known as the Ford Warren scholarship fund, the income of which is to be lent to deserving students to assist them in obtaining an education.

Among the bequests to institutions were: Willamette university, $5000; board of trustees of Albany college, $5000; to use on the board sees fit, and $500 for ministerial relief; Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church, $5000; YWCA of Portland, $5000; Salvation Army, $5000.

Her will was admitted to probate by Circuit Judge Taxwell.

CLASSICAL CLUB ELECTS At a short business meeting recently, the Classical club elected the following officers for next year: Gertrude Ronnicke, president; Elva Schen, vice-president; Jean McElhinny, secretary-treasurer; and Dalbert Jepson, program chairman.

TRUSTEES WILL VOTE ON DANCE QUESTION SOON

Important Problem Up For Definite Settlement June 10

ONE VOTE UNANIMOUS

Faculty Committee Decision Made and Report Forwarded

The final decision on the problem of dancing at Willamette will be handed out some time on the morning of June 10, when committees from the faculty and the board of trustees, appointed to investigate social conditions on the campus, will get together and turn in a report based on the findings of both committees.

Since the famous student committee of five went to Portland in February and confronted the board of trustees with a statement of conditions as they actually existed on the campus, and conferred individually with members of the board, committees have been at work making extended surveys of the situation.

The faculty committee, consisting of Deans Erickson and Dahl, and Professor Clark, has made a complete study of campus conditions, and has come to a unanimous decision, which, however, is being kept secret until the 10th of June.

In an interview with Amedee M. Smith, chairman of the Board of trustees, and chairman of the trustee committee conducting investigation of the problem, Smith stated that "he was doing his best to bring the committee together on one decision."

The trustee committee is composed of Amedee Smith, T. D. Yarnes, and Robert Notson.

Charges made at the February meeting of the board of trustees by a local trustee referring to allegedly "loaded" committees of the past induced the board to formulate a committee of both "Liberals" and "Conservatives".

It is known by the Collegian that one of the trustee committees is in favor of student dancing, but the attitudes of the other two members is unknown.

Press and word-of-mouth reports of the actions of both committees have been rigorously suppressed by those in charge, and the problem of musical games will remain unsolved until Saturday, June 10.

Upper Classes Name Officers

Edward Frantz was elected president of next year's senior class in recent class elections. Elcanary Yarnes was chosen vice-president of the class, Joe Scott, treasurer; and Ruth Chapman, secretary.

Ruth Chapman and Carol Fleming tied on the first ballot, and a second ballot was necessary to decide the issue.

A most unusual case existed in the race between Al Pietila and Joe Scott for treasurer of the class. All political factions were on the alert, and the election was a real race, the closeness of which is seldom found in class elections.

On both the first and second ballot Pietila and Scott tied with equal numbers of votes. It was on the third ballot that Scott received the majority.

Steve Anderson will head next year's junior class, winning the decision in a close race with Talbot Bennett. Other officers elected were Doris Unruh, vice-president; Marian Beasley, secretary; and Bruce Williams, treasurer.

Kohler Offers Progress Test

Doctor Henry Kohler, head of the English department, has made up a series of questions which, when applied individually to each student, should indicate the progress that he or she has made during the college year.

Their purpose is to give the individual student a realization of his growth since entering college. If answered fairly by the student, they will help him to estimate the present and to contemplate the future more intelligently than he may be able to do otherwise. Special point may be given the questions by adding particular elements to suit each case.

They are:

- 1. In what ways have your mental health been better provided for through the college program?
2. How exact and sensitive has your power of observation become because of your college work?
3. To what extent is your reading more rapid and effective since you entered college?
4. Do you realize that you now think more clearly and constructively, either in connection with reading or with observation?
5. Are you conscious of more independent thinking because of college?
6. Consider how much more broadly your information extends; how much more accurate it is, both in general and in particular.
7. To what extent do you recognize a deepened ability to express yourself satisfactorily, (a) in speaking (to individuals, to groups), (b) in writing, and (c) in other creative ways?
8. Has college helped you to acquire or extend certain life-interests, which make it possible for you to eliminate the less desirable and worthy ones in feeling, thought and action?
9. In what ways has the college experience heightened or improved your social manners?
10. How has it aided in your recognition of gentleness and beauty, (a) in nature and the arts, (b) in the life about you and the every-day experience?
11. To what extent have you become aware of rightness of conduct and desirous of accepting social responsibility?
12. Has your understanding of other nations and races been enlarged and your appreciation of their worthy qualities widened?
13. Has the college experience ennobled your religious sense and deepened your awareness of the innate nobility of life?
14. Have you attained self-confidence without arrogance and become conscious of your ability to do good, responsible work?
15. To what extent have you become aware of rightness of conduct and desirous of accepting social responsibility?
16. Has your understanding of other nations and races been enlarged and your appreciation of their worthy qualities widened?
17. Has the college experience ennobled your religious sense and deepened your awareness of the innate nobility of life?
18. Have you attained self-confidence without arrogance and become conscious of your ability to do good, responsible work?

PRESIDENT NOT YET SELECTED, LATEST REPORT

The question of who will be the next president of Willamette university is, like the dance question, either undecided or being held in the vaults of editorial censorship until after the trustee meeting on June 10.

As far as the Collegian has been able to determine by investigation through as many different channels as possible, no definite choice has been made, nor has any candidate been credited with the honor of a recommendation by the board of trustees.

Since the flurry of student comment and press reporting caused by the appearance of two prominent educators on the campus here, reputedly on a speaking tour, all information relative to the possible choice of the board has been rigidly restricted.

That Doctor Doney will retire is definitely established, but beyond that, nothing is known, and only conjecture can indicate in some measure the action of the board, or the administrative policy to be followed next year.

The Collegian surmises that Dean F. M. Erickson will be given power to maintain a regency at the university for at least another year or until some choice is made by the board of trustees.

At least a dozen different men, all prominent educators, have been listed by various sources throughout the state as possible candidates for the presidential chair here, and as many different reports have been vigorously denied by the board of trustees.

At the offices of the university here, a complete silence, baffling even those generally most conversant with the situation, (Continued on page 4)

"PIRATES" SING FOR UNIVERSITY SATURDAY NITE

Light Opera Club Presents Gilbert and Sullivan Work

CAST OF 77 PERSONS

Production Brilliant In Lyrics and Humor; Is Last Big Event

The opera-going set of Willamette University will have the opportunity tomorrow night to hear "The Pirates of Penzance," by Gilbert and Sullivan, one of the most famous light operas ever written, and a masterpiece of lyrical construction.

The cast and orchestra, comprised of over 70 members, has been working steadily upon production work for the last two months, and with the culmination of this week's rehearsals will be ready to give the last major public appearance of Willamette singers and actors before graduation exercises.

The opera sparkles throughout with brilliant musical numbers, and is interesting and humorous in theme and plot. Settings are unique and beautiful, and the production promises to be outstanding among Willamette's musical successes.

The story of the opera is written around a central character, Frederick, a pirate, who was apprenticed by Ruth, a maid, by mistake as a pirate instead of a pilot, all because of Ruth's being hard of hearing.

It has long been felt, reports Eddy, that the Willamette service groups are missing the mark of usefulness because of divided effort. Each group goes its own way. The result is a lack of unity in appeal for student support and participation.

The objectives of the YM, League and the Wesleyans, for instance, the Y head points out, are quite similar with emphasis differing a little on various features of the yearly program.

GROUPS SEEK MORE UNIFIED PROGRAM

YM, League, Blue Key Will Form United Student "Service Family"

The heads of student body service and Christian organizations have for the past few days been making an intensive study of the purposes and possibilities of their groups with a view to more coordination of program next year.

Lowell Eddy, the newly named YM president; Dave Moser, head of the Epworth League, and Garfield Barnett, the Blue Key's new prexy have already done some preliminary planning. Eddy and a number of his Y cabinet members will take in the Seabeck conference in the mountains from June 11-15 where the annual study of campus service work will be conducted.

It has long been felt, reports Eddy, that the Willamette service groups are missing the mark of usefulness because of divided effort. Each group goes its own way. The result is a lack of unity in appeal for student support and participation.

Journey Perfect Success Even Though Navy Absent

"The navy was out of town, so we didn't get into any fights, and the women bothered us so that we could hardly attend to the business at hand, but otherwise, the trip was a perfect success," said Jim Burdette and Dick Lucke, who Tuesday returned from San Diego and the annual conference of university student body presidents.

The conference lasted three days, during which time numerous problems pertaining to the management of student affairs were discussed, among them being constitutional revision, disbursement of student funds, and various phases of student government. The discussions and group conferences were all of great value, according to Burdette and Lucke, and covered every possible problem having to do with the duties connected with the office of student body president.

Twenty-nine universities and colleges were represented at the conference. Among them were the following northwestern institutions: Washington State, College of Puget Sound, Oregon State, and Willamette.

En route to San Diego, the boys visited Stanford, and spent a day on that campus. They were entertained by student residents of Sequoia hall, dormitory on the Stanford campus. While in San Diego, Lucke and Burdette crossed the border to Agua Caliente in old Mexico, and went aquaplaning in San Diego bay. The weather, according to Burdette, was all that could be hoped for—in fact, it bore out the Los Angeles chamber of commerce publications by being most "unusual".

Coming back, they visited the University of California at Berkeley, and spent some time in San Francisco, where they were entertained by Lucke's aunt and uncle.

Justice Holds Emphasis Mechanical Age Fallacy

A brilliant assembly of Judges, lawyers, and friends last Saturday evening gathered to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Willamette College of Law. The guest of honor was Judge William M. Ramsey, founder and first dean of the law school here, who has been during his distinguished career county judge, circuit judge, and associate justice of the supreme court.

Chief Justice Beals, after emphasizing the importance of Willamette in supplying the earlier members of the bench and bar of our sister state to the north, spoke on the top of "1934, An Estimate".

Commenting on the importance of the contemporary situation he said in part "The power age gives us more wonders than the lamp of Aladdin, but the intellectual, moral and spiritual destiny is more important than the mechanical age now so greatly emphasized. We want short cuts out of the morass, and sometimes short cuts are dangerous things. We should give sober constructive thought to our problems and not depend on leaders to wave magic wands. There is in our elections too much of prejudice and hysteria.

"Some persons would foment trouble so the government may come to an impasse. There are dangerous activities sapping at the foundation of the republic. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, of democracy, and of the safety of American institutions."

Justice Beals emphasized par-

A Man Retires

AT THE close of this school year, Doctor Carl Gregg Doney, president of Willamette University, will go into retirement. His last official act in the presence of the student body will be the presenting of diplomas to the graduating class of 1934.

Doctor Doney has a list of achievements of which he may well be proud. Motivated by a faith and a sense of duty too deep for most of us to understand, he has moved steadily and unswervingly in the path of the dream held by the founders of our university. For nineteen years, Doctor Doney has given his life to Willamette, and during those nineteen years of unceasing devotion to an ideal, the school has prospered, materially and spiritually. It was the work of this quiet little man that brought Willamette to a firm financial foundation, and it was his ability as an educator that gave Willamette her reputation as a school of arts and sciences.

Now, a little tired, perhaps, he goes to a much deserved rest. He can leave Willamette, for his work is done. The labor of nineteen years has been well performed, and the university has a heritage and a fame that will never die. He will not find his reward on earth, for rewards are at best a hollow ceremony—as we know reward. His reward will come from the Being who, through the years, has had a firm grip on the heart of Doctor Doney. Willamette rises in tribute to you, Carl Gregg Doney, and we bid you farewell, hoping that some day we may find the realization of such a faith as yours. After all, words are just words—we need only to look at your services of nineteen years to know what you have been to us.

Congratulations Dave

DEAR DAVE: Your first edition looks great. Aim high and stay with it. I'll always have a personal interest in the Collegian and particularly these columns. Take good care of them. They offer a rare opportunity for vigorous expression of your hopes for, and your plaudits and constructive criticisms of Willamette and its student groups. Along with my good wishes and interest goes the conviction that you will put your best efforts into the work. I know what you can do, Dave, and feel sure the Collegian will advance during the coming year. A lot will depend on your own personal labors—determination of policy and its effective expression editorially and in the news columns.

You already know the requirements of the game. Your efficient and thorough treatment of the sports angle of campus life this year has put you in touch with a large share of the students. Focus the same energy on the whole student picture and you can put out the newsmost Collegian yet. Willamette is going through a critical period. With the choice of the new president still in abeyance the future course of the university seems a bit uncertain. Student demands for social liberation are on the balance. Dean Erickson has long sought reform in the upper-division study system. He recognizes that college students aren't satisfied with the "high-schoolish" class methods now shackled on them clear through their four collegiate years. The fraternal and independent housing set-up is shaky. Service groups are striving for unity of programs.

What a time for an editor to take the controls of the student newspaper! You're just plain lucky, Dave. And you will play an important part in bringing student sentiment to the attention of trustees, faculty and the administration.

Sane editorial counsel grows out of disinterested investigation and fair consideration. Suspend judgments until you feel sure of the facts. Then mould your opinions vigorously and with full confidence. Dean Erickson, faculty members and student leaders are excellent counsellors. Keep in close touch with them. Blend their viewpoints into a balanced opinion when possible. But if the colors won't blend, pick out the most potent and champion it. Conciliation—it is necessary. But don't sacrifice effectiveness for compromise.

The recent increase in the Collegian apportionment of student funds would seem indicative of increasing confidence in the campus paper as the medium of student expression. Insure this confidence by encouraging Forum comment of representative students through the second page column. This latter was one of our aims not satisfactorily realized this year. Make it better next year.

Not everyone will like what you say in your columns. And that makes it interesting. Some of my most prized "fan-letters" are in the nature of diatribes from outraged "friends of the institution." But the commendations that sometimes make way to the editorial desk help to balance the jibes. You'll get both and appreciate them.

It's getting near press time so I'll put this five-star final squib of mine to bed. I'm turning these columns over to you with all best wishes and again full confidence that you will take good care of them. It's a real privilege to grind them out each week.

You see by this letter that I have lingered longer than I should have. But now I'll clear away the old and give free reign to the new.

Blessings on thee, Dave (an editor needs 'em) and as one nosey newshound to another—Journalistically yours, REO.

Here's A Reply, Reo, My Friend

DEAR REO: Thanks a lot for your letter. Just a while ago, as I was having my coffee and hotcakes after an all-night vigil here at the Statesman offices, I began to feel that I needed, and could use, some advice—editorially speaking. Yours came at an opportune moment, and it gave me food for thought. It must be as you say—"Aim high, and stick to it." The Collegian, under your guidance, has reached editorial heights that surpass anything of past years, and it is my job to keep the editorial page, and the general policy of the paper, on the same high level.

Reo, there is so much to this thing of editing a paper. I found that out this morning about three o'clock. I sat here sweating over editorials, tearing them up, and beginning again. Finally, about an hour later, the words I wanted to use came to me, and I pounded out a few opinions of my own—my first as editor. I've tried to make them analytical, in a sense, and to keep the balance of good editorializing. I sincerely hope that I can come up to the standards you have set for me.

Getting up the news is more fun than work. It's highly interesting to trace the march of events here on the Willamette campus. The real work comes in the formulating of stimulative thought. As you say, this campus is going to be a mecca for me, as far as editorial material is concerned. I only hope that I can keep the balance, and serve the students well in this respect. I want to give them unbiased and thoughtful work on the editorial page. I hope that I can deserve the trust the majority placed in me.

And now, Reo, "30" to you. You've done good work, and I am proud to be able to follow in your footsteps. The Collegian is the voice of the campus, and it must continue to echo what our university stands for—honesty, diligence, and faith in the ideals established many years ago by the founders of Willamette. I hope that when the time comes for me to write "30" at the end of my columns I will be able to survey my record as editor with the pride that must surely come to you when you consider your past work on the Collegian.

Good luck always, DAVE.

Hang Together—Or Hang Anyhow

A MOVE is under way to coordinate the various service groups on the Willamette campus. For the past year, these societies, national and local, have been struggling for an existence. Service is their purpose, but none of them accomplished very much. The renovation of Chresto Cottage was an outstanding performance on the part of one society, but such happenings are rare in the history of our institution. The question is not so much one of partisanship and group discrimination, but it is a question of indecision and vague conceptions of what constitutes service to the campus. We have several groups here—Blue Key, Cubs, Y.M. and Y.W., Epworth League, and others. All of them work in the dark, without definite goal, and become jealous when one of their fellow organizations gets a bright idea, and does something, or, at least, begins to do something. There are many situations on the campus that concerted drives on the part of our social and service groups would clear up. But, it seems that everyone waits for the other fellow to begin something, and consequently, nothing is begun. If, by chance a plan is fairly well constructed, and the motion to do this or that is carried, some flurry of activity is noticed. After a time, however, under the pressure of waning interest and the distant attitude of the other service groups, the project stumbles, gasps, and expires—its footprints unnoticed in the sands of time or anything else.

The effort to bring these groups together in concentrated form is a worthy happening, and should be supported by all students interested in the welfare and maintenance of such societies. Truly, they must hang together, or hang anyhow, to paraphrase the words of Ben Franklin, or somebody.

LETTERBOX

[Editor's note: All communications to the Collegian should not be over 300 words in length, and must be signed by the writer. Names will be withheld from publication on request, but will be kept on file.]

To the Editor of the Collegian:

This letter is in the nature of a complaint about an existing condition that is somewhat repugnant to discuss, but which, nevertheless, is a condition that well deserves to be changed, and is one which most students would be glad to have removed.

The condition of the men's lavatory on the second floor of Waller Hall is a disgrace to the University. How any student or visitor going to the school library on the second floor or the law school on the third floor can fail to notice the obnoxious odor is more than one can understand. What do visitors to Waller Hall think when passing along the stairway? What should be done?

First, the door should be fixed so that it will automatically close. And after the door is so fixed, it should be kept in working condition.

Second, satisfactory ventilation should be supplied in the lavatory.

Third, the toilet facilities should be kept clean and deodorized.

It is sincerely hoped by many that next year this offensive and unsanitary situation will be done away with.

The Editor of the Collegian:

My little brother likes pie with milk for dinner, but he likes pie much better when he sneaks into the cupboard and makes off with a piece of pie mother has told him to leave alone; carries it out to the top of his favorite tree and with his feet dangling from a limb, eats the precious morsel crumb by crumb.

Mother is so very understanding. Perhaps that is the reason she makes such delicious pies and tells Freddie to leave them alone. She knows the pies will be good for dinner, but she also knows that Freddie likes forbidden pies better. She knows this, for when she was a little girl, she always enjoyed forbidden swims the most. It was fun to take a lunch, a swimming suit, a chaperone and go swimming in the lake; but it could not be compared with the swims just she and Mary Jones, the neighbor girl, had when they were supposed to be taking a music lesson. These swims with the cool water swishing against their warm naked bodies and the exhilarating excitement of the adventure were some of the happiest moments of her youth.

Youth likes to gamble with everyday experiences to add color and zest to living. That is the reason dancing is so alluring to us here at Willamette. Perhaps we should retract our biting criticism of the administrators. It might even be that they understand whether they realize it or not, we enjoy stolen dances much more than we would legalized dances. If we could dance any time, anywhere it would be silly to plan and scheme for an hour or two of the forbidden vice, and think of the fun we would miss. Almost everybody dances, but very few people have such a wonderful time doing it as we do here. This summer we will dance and dance as free as the wind, but all the time we will wonder why it is so colorless. It is then we will wish we were back at Willamette where dancing is really fun!

Lovely Wedding Is Outstanding Event Of Early Summer

One of the most beautiful weddings of the early summer season was solemnized Friday evening, May 26, at the First Methodist church, uniting Miss Betty-Mae Hartung, daughter of Mrs. E. E. Gilbert, and Ronald Hudkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hudkins.

Rev. R. C. Lee, of Union, performed the ceremony before an altar of palms and ferns, lighted only with tall white tapers in candelabra. Prof. T. S. Roberts played the wedding marches and accompanied Miss Lillian Scott as she sang "At Dawning" and "Because".

The bride was a picture in a white satin gown made along princess lines with tiny buttons down the back. She wore a veil and carried a prayer book from which fell a shower bouquet.

Miss Beatrice Hartung was maid of honor for her sister and wore white stratched chiffon fastened with ruffles down the back and a small red turban. She carried snapdragons. The bridesmaids were Miss Betty Vaughan, Miss Ruth Chapman, Miss Theresa Ulrich and Miss LaVon Watkins of Seattle. Their frocks were made of white taffeta along the same lines as the maid of honor's with the ruffles lined with red, small red toques with sheer brims and gloves with lined cuffs. All the attendants carried nosegays of sweet peas.

Maurice Hudkins was best man and ushers included Fred Remington, Frank Cross, Laurence Stoddard and Gus Moore.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother. The serving table was covered with a handsome lace cloth and centered with a basket of pink and white flowers, guarded by white tapers.

For going away, Mrs. Hudkins wore a smart dark blue ensemble trimmed with white. After a wedding trip to Victoria, B. C., the couple will be at home in Portland at the Wellesley Court apartments. Mr. Hudkins is connected with the A. C. Haag company.

Both young people attended Willamette U. where the bride was affiliated with Delta Phi sorority and the groom with Alpha Psi Delta fraternity.

Baseball Team Is Host at Picnic

The Willamette baseball team entertained with a jolly picnic, Friday afternoon at Hazel Green. After an afternoon of swimming and baseball, tempting food was served in real picnic style.

Those present at the affair were Misses Margaret Nunn, Dorothy Keaton, Esther Gibbard, Elva Sehon, Shirley Selmer, Constance Cartmill, Frances Stewart, Esther Black, Anna Mae Unrath and Mrs. R. S. Keene.

Pep Club To Have Supper at Chresto

At their final meeting this year, the Pep club will enjoy a delightful supper at Chresto cottage. A gay time has been planned. Election of officers will be held at this time.

Those who will attend are the Pep club members: Misses Anna Jo Fleming, Rose Naef, Esther Gibbard, Esther Black, Virginia Kaiser, Sydney Hannaford, Helen Kuedel, Betty Moffatt, Dorothy MacDonald, Wanda Landon, Nellie Perrine, Mildred Matheson, Isabel Morehouse, Rachael Yocum, Pauline Winslow, Ruth Young and Mary White.

Alpha Phi Alpha Prominent Last Week in Society

A charmingly arranged affair of Sunday afternoon was the dinner at the Alpha Phi Alpha chapter house on North Summer street given as a compliment to senior members of the house. The table was lovely with its centerpiece of pink snapdragons and blue delphiniums guarded by tall pink tapers in crystal candelabra. Small scroll place cards marked the places set for the guests. Each senior guest was presented an attractive boutonniere of pink rose buds.

An interesting program was enjoyed by the guests. Farewell toasts were given by Edythe Glaisyer.

Honored guests included Miss Edythe Glaisyer, president; Mrs. Carolyn Rutledge, Miss Margaret Morris, Miss Marjorie Drorbaugh, Miss Anna Calaba, Miss Barbara Barham, Miss Mary White and Miss Ruth Schrieber. Hostesses were Mrs. Ruth L. Reed, home mother, Miss Rose Naef, Miss Lorraine Sheldon, Miss Mary Nelson, Miss Marian Beezley, Miss Ruth Johnson, Miss Eva Cochran, and Miss Sidney Hannaford.

The members of Alpha Phi Alpha sorority gave a charming surprise shower for Miss Mildred Matheson who recently announced her engagement to Mr. Roy Fosberg of Oregon City and for Mrs. Carolyn Rutledge who was recently married.

A delightful fireside supper was the occasion at which the numerous lovely presents were presented to the two girls.

Following the supper the alumnae of the house had a meeting.

The girls of Alpha Phi Alpha sorority gave a dinner at the chapter house in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Doney and Prof. and Mrs. Erickson.

The table was lovely in its simplicity. The centerpiece of delicate pink roses was guarded by tall pink tapers in crystal candelabra. Small pointed place cards tied with dainty pink ribbons marked the places for the guests.

Besides the honor guests, those present were Mrs. Ruth L. Reed, home mother, Ruth Johnson, Mary Nelson, Marion Beezley, Lorraine Sheldon, Rose Naef, Mildred Matheson and Maxine Jewell.

Margaret Purvine Dinner Hostess

Miss Margaret Purvine was hostess at a beautiful dinner served at her home Tuesday evening. Dainty spring flowers and tall candles decorated the table.

At this time Mrs. Harley Allen, formerly Miss Frances Smullin, was presented with a gift from the Beta Chis.

The guests for the charming affair were: Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Harley Allen, Mrs. Virginia Kaiser and Misses Sue Pringle, Barbara Elliott, Mary Scott, Hortense Taylor, Clara Wright, Edith Sidwell, Anna Jo Fleming, Carol Fleming, Nellie Perrine, and Marcia Brown.

Initiate Pledges At Delta House

Seven pledges are being initiated this week into the Delta Phi sorority. Informal initiation was properly started by a court session Monday night at the chapter house. Formal initiation will be held Sunday morning, June 3d, after which the girls will attend church in a body.

Those who are being initiated are Mary Meredith, Gladstone, Mona Hedeen, Medford; Anna Mae Unrath, Roseburg; Martha Warren, Garibaldi; Jessie Pyron, Roseburg; Helen Carlson, Eugene; Naeda Carroll, Rickreall, and La Forest McDonald, Silverton.

Wedding Will Be Held June 11 at Methodist Altar

Miss Eloise White has announced the date of her marriage for Monday, June 11, to Herbert C. Hardy. The announcement was read at the Portland-Salem Beta Chi alumnae dinner, May 12, at the home of Miss Esther Ruble at Lake Oswego. The wedding will take place at the First Methodist church at 3:30 p. m., with a large reception following at the home of Miss White. The Rev. David Hardy of Halsey will perform the ceremony assisted by the Rev. Thomas Hardie of McMinnville.

Both Miss White and Mr. Hardy have been popular on the Willamette campus — Miss White graduating two years ago and belonging to Alpha Kappa Nu scholastic honorary and Beta Chi sorority, serving as vice-president in her senior year. Mr. Hardy is graduating this June. Last year he was editor of the Willamette, and he has served on the A. S. W. U. executive committee. He is a member of Sigma Tau fraternity acting as president this year.

Theta Alpha Phi Entertains With Annual Supper

Theta Alpha Phi entertained with their annual garden party Tuesday evening at the home of Dr. Gathe. Supper was served in the gardens from five until seven, followed by a one-act play, "Tickless Times." Those having part in the play were Kathleen Skinner, Peggy Haight, Ruth Chapman, Clara Wright, Ray Griffith and Bill Mosher.

Those who were pledged at the party were Louis Magin, Clara Wright, Peggy Haight, Delmar Ramsdell, Veva Garrett, and Ruth Chapman.

Speech Class Given Picnic By Rivals

The 8:40 Principles of Speech class was honored Monday evening with a picnic given by the 9:35 section of the same class, as a result of a rivalry between the two in the Parliamentary Law contest held last week. The picnic was held at Riverdale where swimming, horse shoes, baseball and games were enjoyed by the group after which Burt Cray served a delicious supper.

Prof. and Mrs. Rahe and their small son were honored guests.

Banquet Feature To Be Ship Motif

A ship idea with a color scheme of blue and white will be the motif for the Junior-Senior banquet Saturday night at the Masonic Temple. Clever blue and silver programs will mark the places for the guests. Entertainment during the dinner will be furnished by the Beta Chi String Trio, and Bernice Richman as soloist. Professor W. C. Jones will act as toastmaster for the evening and short speeches will be made by Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, Mr. Carl Marcy and Mr. Richard Lucke.

Betty Moffatt is in charge of decorations and is being assisted by Margaret Nunn and Gwendolyn Hunt. Edith Sidwell will head the invitation committee and Eleanor Yarnes and Betty Hawkins will assist her.

Biology Majors At Peck Home

Prof. and Mrs. Peck entertained at a lovely dinner last week honoring the biology majors. The tables were decorated with a bowl of pink flowers surrounded by tall white tapers.

Following the serving of the delicious dinner the group enjoyed a delightful informal evening about the fireplace.

The guests were Mrs. Virginia Kaiser, Miss Helen Childs, Miss Brenda Savage, Miss Percie Miten, Miss Flint, Mr. Arthur Boechen, Mr. Ralph Foster and Prof. Monk.

SEVEN BEARGAT ATHLETES WILL FINISH CAREERS

End of Current School Year Marks Taps For College Sports

GRIBBLE, KAISER, OUT

Moore, Hartley, And Kloostr Bid 'So Long' To Spec

As the curtain rings down the current school year, it will signalize the finish for at least eight Bearcat athletes, who have been prominent in sporting activities of this institution. Five of them will walk the graduation plank and the remaining three will be prohibited from further competition because of the conference ruling allowing but four years of participation to any individual.

The football squad will mourn the passing of Gribble and Kaiser, two of the hardest smashing ends to man the flank positions on the varsity for a number of seasons. Gus Moore will leave four years of baseball achievement behind, as he surrenders the bat and ball for a sheepskin next week.

Captain Hartley and Kloostr, eloquated center, will bid farewell to their mates of the hoop team. Both have seen some three years of active service on the court, and their loss will be severely felt in basketball circles. Hartley also won considerable renown as a golfer this spring.

Claude Cook, track captain, who has not been mentioned in summaries of university meets this spring because of an unfortunate arm injury, is making his exit from the running sport. Cook holds the conference record in the mile, and has been an outstanding star for the past three seasons. George Loyd, flying broad jumper, will also terminate his track activities.

Harmon, a four year man in tennis, will forsake his racket swinging teammates in favor of a law degree as the year draws to a close.

The school will be hard pressed to replace these stellar stars in the six activities mentioned above; however these men are to be congratulated for their records, rather than mourned for their passing. Eight valuable athletes are checking out. Willamette is grateful for their contribution to her athletic reputation.

NEW BOOKS SHELVED AT SCHOOL LIBRARY

With summer comes some leisure time in which one can read to his heart's content. For those staying in Salem during the summer months, a number of new and interesting books will be available at the Willamette University library.

The list includes such books as Don Quixote, a beautiful volume with Dore illustrations; Mythology, of All Races, a four volume history of art, an unusual American history; America Through Women's Eyes, a number of biographies, including those of Bernard Shaw; "Those Earnest Victorians", the Scientist Huxley, and George Elliot.

The reference shelves have been augmented by Authors, Today and Yesterday, by Kennitz.

1. Don Quixote, famous Dore illustrations. Beautiful volume.

2. Mythology of All Races, 13 vol. 12 vol. and index. Very interesting.

3. History of Art, 4 volumes, by Faure. Beautifully illustrated.

4. America Through Women's Eyes, by Mary R. Beard. Gives new slant on American history. Very interesting.

5. Bernard Shaw, by Frank Harris. An unauthorized biography based on first hand information with a postscript by Mr. Shaw. A 1931 edition.

6. Those Earnest Victorians, by Esme Wingfield-Stratford. 1930 edition.

7. Two new biographies of Huxley. Are interesting because written from scientific point of view: (1) Huxley, Prophet of Science, by Houston Peterson. 1932 edition. (2) Huxley, by Clarence Ayres. In this book Ayres attempts "to present on the modern stage one of the most remarkable performers of the 19th century."

Gillette '35 Rows OS Tub

Leland Gillette, class of '35, popular Willamette student while attending the university here during 1932 and 33, has been cutting a niche in the hall of fame as a member of the Oregon State College varsity crew this spring.

After rowing for the Junior eight in interclass, he stepped into the varsity boat, and helped to pull the Beavers to a victory over Washington's light crew. During the Rose Festival, he will compete for the collegians against the Portland Rowing club. Gillette holds down number seven position in the State College shell.

BAKER OF WHITMAN BREAKS NW RECORD

Discus Throw Mark Is Smashed In Walla Walla Events

Willamette University track men wound up their season's competition in the Northwest conference meet held in Walla Walla over the mid-week holidays. Blond Ty Gillespie and big Bob McKerrow led their teammates in the point gathering festivities. Gillespie, a freshman speedster, romped across the tape in second position in the 880, while McKerrow's hurl in the discus went good for another runner up position. Baker of Whitman tossed the platter beyond all existing conference records in this event.

Brown checked in a third in the two mile, after pacing the field for seven laps. Vogt, another freshman product, leaped to another third in the high jump; with Barnett adding two fourths, one in the mile and the other in the two mile marathon. Jack Couror's best heave netted him a fourth in the shot put. The Salem relay artists finished as the number four combination.

Coach Sparks and Keene accompanied the squad.

Whitman waltzed to the title with 58 3/4 points with Pacific, C. P. S. College of Idaho, and Willamette finishing in that order.

May. "Aim of this study is to recount the salient incidents of a very notable life and to draw attention to the beauty and value of the works produced in the course of it, works that have been suffered to remain too long in an unmerited penumbra."

9. Authors Today and Yesterday, by Buntz. A new and valuable edition to reference shelf.

LANDON, MORLEY TO DIRECT SCHOOL PEP

Laurence Morley, retiring Freshman class president and outstanding member of the Pep club, was elected by a large majority to fill the office of yell king for the ensuing year. It is the duty of the yell king to be present at all athletic contests and to lead the student body in school spirit.

Wanda Landon, also a member of the Pep club and a prominent woman on the campus, was elected to the office of song queen on the re-vote which was held Monday. Wanda will help Laurence lead the routers, and will install a true spirit into the student body next year.

5000 Bulletins To Be Sent Prospects

Five thousand new bulletins containing interesting write-ups and numerous pictures of Willamette university, are rapidly being mailed out to high school seniors by the assistants of Pearl Swanson, secretary to Dean Erickson.

The bulletins, made up by Dean Erickson, are printed on smooth paper and contain about twelve cuts of campus scenes, as well as some cuts of class work and biology trips taken by Prof Monk's candid camera.

The law school has also recently made up a new bulletin and it is being mailed out to many prospective lawyers by Dean R. M. Lockenour.

BEARCATS TAKE ALL NORTHWEST IN COURT GAME

Willamette tennis players swept to impressive victories in the Northwest conference tennis meet played here last Saturday. The smooth, clock-like strokes of Talbot Bennett in the men's singles, coupled with that of Anna Calaba, teamed with Isabel Morehouse, in the women's doubles and Freddy Haggeman and Harrison Winston in the men's twosomes, kept the lion's share of collegiate court honors in Salem.

Bennet won his way to the title without yielding a single set. In the semi-finals he stepped over Bedeganneta, College of Idaho ace, 6-1, 6-0; and then in the finals turned back the determined challenge of Margus, Whitman star and ranking player in Eastern Washington, 6-3, 6-4.

Haggeman and Winston followed Bennett's victory up with a championship performance on their own account, checking in as the number one doubles combination.

They handed the polished C. P. S. conference champions of 1933, Teats and Rawling, a surprising 6-4, 6-8, 6-3 lacing. Isabel and Anna were responsible for the final win, as they bested Stewart and McRae, Linfield pair, in two out of three sets 2-6, 6-4, 6-4. They gained the last round by smashing out straight set decisions.

Janet Weil, W. U. hope in the women's singles, was a first round victim, being eliminated 0-6, 1-6 by Miss Fonald, the new titleholder from Albany College. Janet put up stout resistance most of the way, but eventually succumbed to the winsome miss from Linn county, who carried dynamite in every stroke of her racket.

Whitman, C. P. S., Pacific, Linfield, Albany, College of Idaho, Oregon Normal and Willamette sent entries into the men's and women's championships.

Justice Holds

icularly that on the whole the mass of the people take the present situation too seriously. The contemporary situation is only another phase of the survival of the fittest," he said, "is a struggle, whether it be individually or in the aggregate."

In response to the toast "Retrospect and Prospect," President Doney commented on the wisdom of the founders of the College of Law and its present and future importance to the University as a whole.

Judge Ramsey, the venerable first dean, did not speak, but when introduced by the toastmaster, the entire group arose for an ovation in honor of the founder.

Chief Justice John L. Rand of the supreme court of Oregon spoke of the legal ability and commendable moral qualities of the Willamette graduates who came to the bar. In closing, he paid a high tribute to Doctor Doney, describing him as one of the ablest educators ever to serve the northwest.

The history of the law school as collected from the various available historical materials and from personal remembrances during his serving as dean was outlined by Honorable I. H. Van Winkle, attorney-general of the State of Oregon.

A member of the oldest class represented, members of the bench and bar of other law schools, and the faculty gave short toasts from the floor.

Dean Lockenour gave the closing address in the form of a farewell talk to the class of 1934, 50 years hence, in which he pointed out defects in the present system of legal education, and forecasted that in the future the law would come to be a learned and respected profession. He also predicted that the theory of teaching would change from case and text books to a reasoning based on a sociological and philosophical ideal, and that bar examinations in time would be unnecessary.

dent gatherings.

The characters: Mabel, Elizabeth Clement; Frederick, Earle Potter; Ruth, Helen Benner; the Pirate King, Richard Smart; his apprentice, Burtis Preston; sergeant, Ray Bowman; Major-General, Ralph Barber; sisters of Mabel, Dorothy Durkee and Gwyn Gallaher.

The chorus has 60 voices and the orchestra 18 members. Outstanding musical numbers are "Oh, Far Better to Live and Die," by the pirate king; "Oh, Is There Not One Maiden Fair?" by Frederick; Mabel's song "Poor Wandering One"; the humorous number of General Stanley, "I Am a Very Pattern of a Modern Major-General," the "Tarantara," of the sergeant and Mabel's ballad, "Oh, Leave Me Not to Fate."

Ticket sales have been reported as exceedingly heavy, and students are urged to see representatives of the Light Opera club and obtain their seats as soon as possible.

It is also asked that students and townspeople try to be on time for the first act.
